"There's this idea going around that co-candidates have an advantage and that's not true," Rabinowitz said that while they each have their own constituencies to draw on for votes, they are also a liability to each other, as some voters will not like one of the candidates and not vote for them.

Rabinowitz and Rudy both said since the motion is at the bottom of tonight's agenda, it probably not even come up for a vote.

One of the other important proposals to be heard tonight also comes near the bottom of the agenda. This calls for an amendment to the SGA bylaws to require all meetings of student government bodies be open to the public.

Darling and Rudy also authored this motion, which is apparently in response to a closed SGA Coordinating Committee meeting earlier this semester. That meeting is currently being investigated by the Hampshire County District Attorney's office to determine if the session was illegal under Massachusetts open-meeting laws.

The proposal is unclear on whether it would allow governmental bodies to move into executive session, which bars all non-members of the body from the meeting. Darling said two weeks ago that he did not intend for bodies to be able to move into executive session, but this is not stipulated in the motion.

A third motion requests a voting place be put nearer to campus by Amherst officials. This motion comes from Senator Michael Greiner, who cites the large number of voters in Southwest Residential Area who would have to travel into downtown Amherst to vote.

In a meeting Monday night, Amherst selectmen postponed a decision on this proposal.

In a related proposal, Greiner directs senators to work "in a nonpartisan effort," to get students to vote in the upcoming elections.

The planned sports arena/convocation is the target of another item on tonight's agenda. The proposal, if accepted, would have the Senate state its opposition to the arena, because it will increase student fees by $100.

Another motion opposes a recent raise granted to Chancellor of Higher Education Franklyn Jennifer. The proposal criticizes the $12,000 raise because of "massive tuition and fee increases."

Yet another proposal by Rudy and Darling would require the Pledge of Allegiance to the American flag at the beginning of each meeting.

Pearl Street 584-7771
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA
SUNDAY OCTOBER 23rd
ANDREW TOSH
WITH THE ORIGINAL
PETER TOSH BAND
Door Opens 7:00 pm Showtime at 8:30
Tickets $10.00 thru Ticketron & at the door
COMING SOON DOWNSTAIRS
Nov. 3rd THE LYRES
Nov. 4th DREAMS SO REAL
Nov. 6th THE CONNELLS
Nov. 11th EVAN JOHNS and the H-BOMBS

FREE DELIVERY to AMHERST
11:30 a.m. -10:00 p.m.
mr. K's
13 North Pleasant St., Amherst
Open Hours
Mon-Thurs 11:30am-10:00pm
Fri & Sat 11:30am-11:00pm
Sundays 2:00pm-10:00pm
256-0286 256-0287

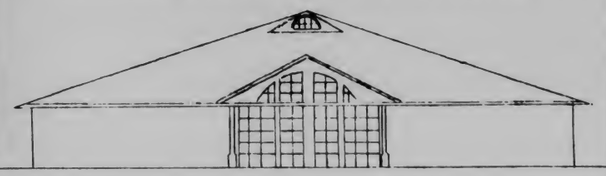
PLAY THE WALL STREET GAME
The AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge

- It's educational, fun & profitable
- Surprisingly easy to play
- You get $500,000, your own broker, and real investment experience
- Winners take in serious cash & prizes

Sponsored by UMass Investment Club
Entry Deadline October 21st
Interested? Call John Flemming at 549-0006

UMass Arts Council
GRANT PROPOSAL DEADLINE
The next deadline for submission of grant proposals for arts-related projects and events:
Wednesday, October 26
Guidelines and application forms are available at the Arts Council office and the Student Activities Office
UMass Arts Council
125 Herter Hall, 545-0202

POSITIONS AVAILABLE
ROBSHAM MEMORIAL VISITORS CENTER



QUALIFICATIONS: Good public relations and communications skills; knowledge of campus facilities and services - building locations, food services, tours, etc.; ability to access information and make appropriate referrals; comfortable and skilled in dealing with the public.*

ELIGIBILITY: Undergraduate or graduate students, preferably College Work Study eligible, with at least two semesters remaining at the beginning of the Spring Semester 1989.

PAY RATE: $5.00 per hour.

WORK SCHEDULE: Weekdays 10:00am-1:30pm, or 11:00am-2:30pm, minimum of two days per week; weekends 10:00am-3:00pm, Saturdays and/or Sundays; holidays 10:00am-3:00pm. Extended hours option available during vacations, Intersession and Summer. Evening weekday hours may be scheduled in the Spring.

STARTING DATE: On or about first week in November. A paid training period will be included.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: October 26, 1988.

POINTS OF CONTACT: Angie Wilkes, Visitors Center Receptionist or Robert N. Brooks, Director, Student Affairs Information Services, 229 Whitmore, 545-3480.

The Robsham Memorial Visitors Center, located across Massachusetts Avenue from the Whitmore Administration Building, is a newly completed University facility. Its purposes are to provide a central location from which to assist visitors to campus (especially prospective applicants) in obtaining accurate preliminary information, referrals, and materials and to set a positive tone and attitude about the University, the campus and its programs. It will also serve other purposes including being a focal point for student, faculty, and staff art works, literary achievements, etc. and meet other programmatic needs yet to be fully defined and developed. The building will open in early November.

* Obtain detailed job description at 229 Whitmore.

Insurance proposal sparks House debate

BOSTON (AP) — Senate passage early yesterday of an automobile insurance package containing $400 million in savings for customers set the stage for a final round of legislative negotiations on the long-debated issue.

House Speaker George Keverian, D-Everett, announced he was calling the House back from a four-month break next Monday to respond to an auto insurance proposal passed by the Senate shortly after midnight on a unanimous 35-0 vote.

Although other issues will likely be on representatives' minds when they check in next week - namely overriding Gov. Michael S. Dukakis' budget vetoes - the House's return will allow a conference committee to be appointed on auto insurance.

The conferees will be charged with resolving differences between the Senate bill, which contains an Insurance Division-insurance industry guarantee of 16.1 percent savings on 1989 premiums, and a House bill passed six months ago with an estimated savings of 9 percent.

Senate Insurance Chairman Linda Melconian, D-Springfield, said Senate conferees will be holding a "position of strength" entering the negotiations because of the greater cost savings in the Senate bill, even though the measure also contains more controversial provisions.

"That certainly may well be the case," agreed Rep. Joseph Mackey, D-Somerville and floor leader on the House bill. House negotiators may "recognize that in order to get a bill that has an impact they may have to modify their views and not be as intractable as (they) have been in the past."

Two key differences between the House and Senate versions involve direct payments to consumers for auto body repairs and raising the dollar thresholds for resolving claims for medical expenses and lost wages for personal injuries without litigation.

The Senate version goes beyond the House plan in increasing the so-called "tort threshold" limits, the first increase on the no-fault law in 18 years. Trial lawyers oppose raising these limits, not because it might reduce their income from representing these clients, but because it will limit their clients' access to the courts.

Both Melconian and Mackey expect extensive negotiations on the thresholds, with the Senate's further provision linking automatic increases in the future to an inflation index and not legislative perogative hanging in the balance.

They also expect dickering on a provision included in the proposal allowing direct payments to consumers for auto repairs. The controversial provision, opposed by the body shop industry, would allow insurers to provide consumers with a referral list of shops to use for their repairs.

The industry worries some shops won't get equal treatment, although the Senate plan would require insurers to list all body shops near a consumer that meet quality guidelines established by the insurance commissioner.

A direct payment proposal barely received 20 votes of support in the 160-member House in 1987, and House proponents of the measure didn't even suggest it in the House's current bill.

But Mackey, who supports direct payment, noted, "It's been a long time since we rejected the direct payment piece."

Since then, consumers have received retroactive bills from 1987 and 1988, and the insurance industry and the Insurance Division have agreed that direct payments would save about 4 percent, or more than $100 million, on 1989 rates.

Mackey said the House may be ready to accept the proposal. "The one thing about auto insurance is that it is such a frustrating, complicated issue that views change not only from legislator to legislator, but from day to day," he said.

AP photo

FIRE CHIEF RETIRES — District Fire Chief Paul Cook poses recently in a fire truck in Boston. After more than 41 years with the department and more than 50 years fighting fires, Cook will turn in his uniform at the end of October having reached the mandatory retirement age of 65.

Center for liver transplants wins permission to operate indefinitely

BOSTON (AP) — After four years on an experimental basis, the Boston Center for Liver Transplantation won approval Tuesday from the state Public Health Council to continue indefinitely.

The council's vote provides a permanent footing for an unusual program that draws on the shared talents and resources of four major Boston hospitals, which have performed 194 transplants since the program was established in January 1984.

"It's very important because it permanently puts in place a concept that we believe was a very appropriate one for providing liver transplantation here in Massachusetts," said Paul Babcock, director of planning at Deaconess Hospital.

"The Public Health Council approved a three-year demonstration program in 1984 and wanted to see how that worked before they permanently approved the center," said Babcock, who prepared the center's application for a "determination of need."

Through the center, the hospitals are able to share skills and space, thus avoiding the cost of creating a new facility at any one institution. In addition, state officials applaud the program for creating a region-wide system for evaluating patients and allocating the available organs on the basis of clinical need.

"The advantage of. . . a consortium is they're going to work together, share ideas, share training. They're going to use the same criteria. We don't want people shopping from place to place," said Joan Gorga, director of organ transplant services for the state Department of Public Health.

"They get together and discuss the patients, so you have agreement on who is the sickest and who is going to get the next organ," she said. "In some areas, if you had four competing institutions, there might be a temptation to hype up the sickness of your patients."

The center involves Children's Hospital, New England Deaconess Hospital, New England Medical Center and Massachusetts General Hospital.

Together, the hospitals operate administrative, selection and clinical committees that jointly run the program, evaluating patients, "harvest" livers from donors and perform the transplants. The administrative responsibility rotates quarterly.

"When it was set up in 1984, we saw the cost-saving as not having to expand any one institution. If you break it down into four parts, you can fit it in around the corners," Gorga said. "They convinced us in 1984 that it would not be more costly."

Since there is no other liver transplant center in the state, however, direct cost comparisons are not available. But Gorga said the "direct cost" of the typical liver transplant dropped from $97,000 in 1984 to $69,000 in 1986.

Since the Boston program began, liver transplants have been performed in Hartford and New Haven, Conn., but nowhere else in New England. The Boston center reports that 51 percent of its patients have been from Massachusetts. Most of the others are from New England and across the country, with 7 percent from abroad.

Babcock said the consortium approach was well-suited to Boston because of its many strong hospitals.

Case of recruit's death reopened

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — The Middlesex County district attorney's office has reopened the case of a police recruit who died in training three years ago in the aftermath of allegations that a thorough investigation was never conducted.

Assistant District Attorney Diane Juliar said information is being gathered to determine whether to ask for a formal inquest, The Patriot Ledger of Quincy retorted yesterday.

"The investigation is, in part, to determine whether inquest is the appropriate route to go," she said.

The thoroughness of the initial investigation is in question, she said.

James R. Whitehouse, 22, died July 9, 1985, his second day of training at the Framingham police academy in preparation to be a state trooper.

When Whitehouse died, the then-medical examiner concluded Whitehouse was a victim of heart failure because of an inherited disorder called malignant hyperthermia. State police reported Whitehouse was doing light exercise in cool weather when he collapsed.

charlie's

1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11 a.m.
• 7Days A Week • Call for Take Out • Kitchen Open 'till Midnight
Pool Table, Video Games, Juke Box, 3 Color TV's
Most Bar Seats In Town

Now Serving Homestyle Lunch & Dinner
This Week... Shepherd's Pie, Baked Ham, Meatloaf and Much More!
Great Food at Low Low Prices
BAY BREEZE $1.50 Drink of the Week
DOS EQUIS $1.50 Beer of the Month
10th Anniversary 1978 - 1988
Good Food & Drink

LEGAL PROBLEMS?
Call LSC serving the students of UMass

Housing • Family • Student Rights • Civil Rights • Workers Rights • Criminal and Consumer Law •

(We regret that we can no longer offer legal representation to students following the Trustees' August 31, 1987 decision.)

call 545-1995

WORLD/NATION

Bloodstains identified at trial

Lowell (AP) — A State Police chemist testified yesterday that there are blood stains on clothing prosecutors believe Daniel J. LaPlante wore the night he is accused of killing a Townsend mother and her two young children.

Karolyn Leclaire also said a hair found on a sock in LaPlante's bedroom matched a hair from the head of one of his young victims.

LaPlante is on trial for the shooting of Priscilla Gustafson, 33, and the drowning of her son, William, 5, and daughter, Abigail, 7, in their home on Dec. 1.

Sweat pants taken from LaPlante were stained with human blood, but the sample size was not sufficient to determine the blood type. Blood stains were also found on socks found at LaPlante's, but Leclaire could not determine if it was human blood, she said.

Leclaire also showed microscopic photos of closely matching two hairs: one taken from Abigail's head and one from LaPlante's sock.

"I determined the hair removed from the damp athletic sock found in the defendant's bedroom to be similar in every microscopic characteristic with hairs in the known head hair standard from Abigail Gustafson," Leclaire said.

But, under cross examination by defense attorney Robert Sheketoff, she said "I couldn't tell you that for certain. It could be Abigail Gustafson's hair.

AP photo

CHEMIST TESTIFIES — Chemist Karolyn Leclaire displays the necktie found at the Townsend Triple murder scene. This necktie and other items were used as ligatures according to Leclaire.

Dukakis pledges to eliminate deficit, lashes out at Bush

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Michael Dukakis pledged yesterday to wipe out the nation's $150 billion trade deficit in four years and lashed out at George Bush as a man with "no convictions, no ideas and no plans."

Dukakis drew enthusiastic crowds at stops in Michigan as aides contended the race is closer than indicated by polls pointing to a big Democratic defeat. He depicted the election as a choice between one candidate who will stand up for average Americans and one who is the champion of the well-to-do.

"George Bush cares about the people on Easy Street. I care about the about the people on Main Street," he said in a speech on the University of Western Michigan campus.

With the poll news ranging between bad and worse, Dukakis and his aides have been seeking a spark to ignite his faltering campaign. One woman in his university audience did her best to oblige.

The Democratic candidate had just finished saying, "The difference between George Bush and me boils down to this" when she loudly interrupted, "You're real and he's not."

At that, Michigan Gov. Jim Blanchard jumped out of his seat on the stage behind Dukakis and pumped his fist up and down energetically and exhorted "Let's go", while the audience cheered enthusiastically.

For one day at least, Dukakis and his candidacy seemed to be generating enthusiasm lacking since last Thursday's poorly reviewed debate performance, from Blanchard's cheerleading to crowd chants of "Duke Duke Duke".

In Saginaw, he declared that Bush "wants to help those who have it made. I want to help every American family make it."

Dukakis said Bush and the Reagan administration have done nothing to solve the root causes of the 1987 stock market plunge, which occurred one year ago today.

"We've got to end the Republican rainbow coalition of red ink for our children, pink slips for our workers, greenmail for sharp operators on Wall Street and golden executives," he added.

Dukakis moved through a three-city tour in Michigan with statewide polls showing him trailing in the race for the state's 20 electoral votes. His aides seemed far more concerned, though, about an NBC-Wall Street Journal survey showing a 55-38 Bush lead nationally.

Senior aides told reporters at every turn, as they did on Monday, that they do not believe the poll. They said other surveys show much smaller margins.

Dukakis' first speech of the day produced noticeably sharper rhetoric, along with his announcement of a goal of eliminating the trade deficit.

He said in four years the Reagan administration had created the world's largest trade deficit "and cost our workers five million jobs."

Dukakis said he would meet his goal of eliminating the trade deficit by reducing the budget deficit, increasing foreign trade, investing in education and training and putting more emphasis on research and development.

Man pleads innocent to murder

LOWELL (AP) — The fourth suspect in the shooting death of alleged Lowell bookmaker John "Jackie" McDermott pleaded innocent yesterday during arraignment in Lowell Superior Court and was ordered held without bail.

Richard "Dukey" Kenney, 30, was apprehended by State and Boston police Monday evening when he walked out of a house in the East Boston neighborhood with Leo R. Dervishian, 29, authorities said.

Dervishian was charged with being an accessory after the fact of murder.

State police Detective Lt. Robert Long, who is assigned to the Middlesex district attorney's office, said investigators had been tracking Kenney for months.

In addition to the murder charge, Kenney also pleaded innocent to assault with a dangerous weapon and armed assault.

McDermott, 58, was fatally wounded when shot twice in the living room of his home May 10. His son, Peter McDermott, 27, also was shot, but survived.

Middlesex Couty officials said the elder McDermott was killed because he had agreed to give evidence against two people charged with him in a bookmaking and loan-sharking case.

The two, William Barmoski, 48, and his wife, Donna, 41, of Billerica, are charged with killing McDermott.

Five College Students:
Call 545-2511
For ½ Price Tickets

The Royal Ballet Of Flanders
Wednesday, Oct. 19

Peter Zazofsky, violin
Friday, Oct. 21

Sydney Symphony Orchestra
Sunday, Oct. 23

Marvin Hamlisch In Concert
Thursday, Nov. 3

The Juilliard String Quartet
Saturday, Nov. 5

The Amazing Cambridge Buskers
Wednesday, Nov. 9

Peter Orth, piano
Tuesday, Nov. 15

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

DISTINGUISHED
FACULTY
LECTURE SERIES

You are cordially invited to attend
a special lecture by
Rachel K. Clifton
of the Department of Psychology
entitled
"The Development of the Auditory System in Human Infants"

What do newborn babies hear, and what early use do they make of it? As recently as two decades ago, newborn infants were believed to have limited sensory perception. Today, we know their senses are both acute and sophisticated at birth. How is the infant's auditory input processed, and how do they learn to locate the source of sound? Recent infant research has led to greater understanding of both the auditory system and brain development in general.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Bowker Auditorium, October 20, 1988
8 p.m.
Reception immediately following, Campus Center 10th Floor

Sponsored by contributions from alumni of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Automobile stolen from North Village

A student reported Tuesday his 1980 Toyota Corolla was stolen from North Village Apartments sometime since Monday.

In other incidents:

- A student reported Monday his 1979 Pontiac Grand Prix was stolen from lot 49 sometime over the weekend.
- A student reported his 10-speed bicycle worth $225 was stolen Monday from a bike rack at Cashin Residence Hall, and the chain and lock securing it had been cut off.

– THOMAS RODRIGUES

Man run down

Police to investigate

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

SPRINGFIELD – A University of Massachusetts student was listed in fair condition yesterday at Baystate Medical Center after being dragged 70 feet by a car on West Street in Amherst Sunday morning.

Jeffrey K. Florence, 19, of North Reading, now at Baystate Medical Center in Springfield, was listed in serious but stable condition after being struck by a car driven by Kayo Nonaka, 27, of 44 McClellan Street.

Florence's mother, who has been with him since the accident, said that he was doing better and was conversing with her and his brother earlier today.

Police have yet to determine why Florence, a sophomore, who lives in Washington Residence Hall, was lying in the street, or if he had been struck by another car before being hit by the vehicle driven by Nonaka.

Police said they intend to question Florence as soon as his condition and memory permits the details of what happened to him come out. Police were not optimistic about Florence's recollection of the traumatic accident.

He was first transported to Cooley Dickinson Hospital in Northampton by the Amherst Fire Department Ambulance and later transferred to Baystate.

F Y I

The FYI section is a public service announcement to the campus and community. Space is limited, so the Collegian cannot guarantee that all submissions will be published.

Fundraiser
A 25-mile bike-a-thon to benefit children with cystic fibrosis will be held on Oct. 22 on and around campus. Sponsors will donate money for research into the disease. Interested bikers may register at a table on the Campus Center Concourse. Registration ends today.

Speaker
Bill Worthy, professor and journalist in residence at the Univeristy of Massachusetts at Boston, will host a talk and slide show tonight on "The Killing of Maurice Bishop: the Real American Role in Grenada. The speech will be in Campus Center rooms 805-809 at 8 p.m. All are invited.

Internship Meeting
Representatives of the Legal Services Center and the University Internship Program are scheduled to speak from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. today in room 805 of the Campus Center. The topic of the meeting is the legal assistant internships offered at the LSC and how to apply for one for the spring semester.

Festival
Northeast Area Government is sponsoring a Pink Frolics Cartoon Festival. Shows will be at 7, 9, and 11 p.m. tomorrow in Campus Center Auditorium. There will be a $1 admission fee.

Film
"Brighton Beach Memoirs" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in room 163C of the Campus Center. Hillel is sponsoring the free showing.

Concert
Regency will appear at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Hatch. The free show is sponsored by the Board of Governors Program Council.

Meeting
The University of Massachusetts Undergraduate Student Senate is scheduled to meet at 6 tonight in room 101 of the Campus Center.

Study Abroad
The Study Abroad Fair will be from 10 a.m. to noon tomorrow on the Campus Center Concourse across from the Blue Wall Cafe. Also, visit International Programs at the William S. Clark International Center in Central Residential Area. The advising hours are from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday during the academic semesters.

Seminar
A seminar on farm animal welfare movement in Massachusetts will be at 4 p.m. today in room 202 of Paige Laboratory. Dr. Donald Black will speak at the seminar sponsored by the Department of Veterinary and Animal Sciences. Coffee will be served at 3:45 p.m.

Bible Study
The New Testament Fellowship will be having a bible study at 7 p.m. every Friday of the semester in the Campus Center. Check the event listing near the information desk on the concourse for the room number.

Discussion
The Amherst League of Women Voters will host speakers and a panel discussion tonight on the possibility of establishing a new charter for Hampshire County. Speaking will be Joseph Wilhelm of the Hampshire County Charter Commission, Merle Howes, vice-chair for the commission. Included in the panel discussion will be Barbara Ritter of the Amherst League of Women Voters, Marcia Blomberg of the Springfield Union-News, Nancy Newcombe of the Amherst Bulletin, and Michael Vito of the Daily Hampshire Gazette. The event will be held in the Amherst Regional Junior High School Library at 7:30 p.m. For more information contact Diana Romer at 253-7776.

Talk
Bertell Ollman, professor of political science at New York University will speak "In Defense of Class Analysis" tomorrow in Campus Center room 177 at 4 p.m. Sponsored by the UMass Colloquium Committee of the Department of Political Science.

FANTASY WORLD COSTUMES
HALLOWEEN COSTUME RENTALS
Mask, Accesories, Make-up
Specializing in Custom Made Adult Costumes
75 Russell Street
Sunderland 665-3639
M-F 1pm-9pm, Sat-Sun 1pm-5pm
3rd House On The Right From Old Amherst Road

GOOD FOR WEDNESDAY OR THURSDAY
Flat Street
17 FLAT STREET / BRATTLEBORO, VERMONT
802-254-8257
ADMIT ONE
Bring This Coupon

CHANGES DANCE CLUB
TONIGHT
Free Hotdogs
99¢ SPECIAL
Gin & Tonic Lite Bottles
Proper ID Required
Rt. 9 Amherst 256-8284

Amherst Cinema
Mr. North
PG
7:00 & 9:00
Senior Citizens & Children $2.00
Adults $3.50
DOWNTOWN AMHERST 253-5678

Every time you turn around, there's something new at jazzercise.
Hampshire Mall, Hadley; Interskate 91
*M•W•F • ..... 9:30 a.m.
M•Tu•W•Th ..... 5:30 p.m.
M•W ..... 7:00 p.m.
Friday ..... 6:00 p.m.
Saturday ..... 9:15 a.m.
*child care available 584-0745
Walk-ins 3.50 ea.
Mthly. passes available

TONIGHT World Series
Don't miss the excitement! The Dodgers take on Oakland at 8 pm. Free hors d'oeuvres at 9
TOP of the CAMPUS Lounge
LOUNGE HOURS:
Monday-Friday: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Saturday & Sunday: 4:00 pm-12:30 am

Same Bat Channel
Satifies all your Comic Book needs
Role Playing Games
Horror and Movie Magazines
Baseball Cards and Posters
586-8775
Hampshire Mall, Rt. 9
Hadley, MA

UNDOUBTEDLY Udelicious
AT THE HAMPSHIRE MALL
"WHEN WE GROW UP WE'LL BE OFF THE MEAL PLAN!"

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

"Well, thank God we all made it out in time. ... 'Course, now we're equally screwed."

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

IT'S FALL. THE ANNUAL FIVE SECONDS OF WILD ABANDON OUT OF AN OTHERWISE PECOROUS LIFE IS IMMINENT.
BLEAH! BLEAH! BLEAH!
THE POPE MAY NOT DO THAT SORT OF THING BUT HE THINKS ABOUT IT.
TRUST ME.

Bat Brain
By Bill Dearing

A FEW WEEKS TO THE ELECTION AND IT LOOKS LIKE GEORGE BUSH IS GOING TO WIN. IT'S A MISERABLE FACT, BUT I GUESS I SHOULD LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE.
THE BEST THING ABOUT A BUSH PRESIDENCY IS THAT HE'LL PROBABLY PRESIDE OVER THE COUNTRY DURING ITS WORST ECONOMIC PERIOD SINCE THE GREAT DEPRESSION.
THOUSANDS MORE WOMEN AND CHILDREN WILL BE LIVING IN THE STREETS, THOUSANDS MORE WILL BE JOBLESS BECAUSE OF BUSINESS LAYOFFS AND FACTORY CLOSINGS, AND NO ONE WILL BE ABLE TO AFFORD COLLEGE EXCEPT THE VERY RICH.
DOESN'T THINKING POSITIVELY MAKE YOU ALL GIDDY INSIDE?

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

DUE TO THE CONCERN OVER SEXUALLY TRANSMITTED DISEASES, THE PUBLIC IS NOW TAKING THE MOST RESPONSIBLE COURSE OF ACTION...
RUN!!
TO EDUCATE THE YOUNG PEOPLE AND PROMOTE "SAFE SEX" THROUGH THE USE OF A CONDOM...
USE COMMON SENSE OR YOU'LL GET WHAT'S COMING TO YOU!
ALTHOUGH THIS IS THE LOGICAL COURSE OF ACTION... THE EDUCATORS HAVE TO OVERCOME ONE SMALL OBSTACLE....
THE ADOLESCENT PSYCHE.
UNT UNH... I'M NOT GOIN IN!

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

HEY, DOBBS, WHATTYA DOIN'?
PLAYIN' WITH MY FATHER'S GUN COLLECTION.
NEATO! IF THERE'S ONE THING I BELIEVE IN, IT'S THE CONSITUTIONAL RIGHT OF EVERY WHITE MAN TO BEAR AS MANY ARMS AS HE GODDAM PLEASES.
YOU SAID IT. GET A LOAD OF THIS BELGIAN SELF LOADING RIFLE!
HEY! WATCH WHERE YOU'RE POINTING—
I WONDER WHAT THIS GIZMO DOES.
BLAM
OF COURSE THIS ENTIRE SITUATION COULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED, HAD MY MOTHER DEVOTED ALL HER TIME TO THE FAMILY AND NOT WORKED OUTSIDE THE HOME.

"The entire sum of existence is the magic of being needed by just one person."
–Vi Putnam

"Little do men perceive what solitude is, and how far it extendeth. For a crowd is not company, and faces are but a gallery of pictures, and talk but a tinkling symbol, where there is no love
–Francis Bacon

Daily Crossword Puzzle
Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS
1 Urchin
6 Enfold
11 Little Dipper star
13 Foul weather wear
15 Without urging 16 Delesion
17 Branch
18 Summon
20 The Power of Positive Thinking author's elvis
21 In knots
23 Subdue
24 The — love
25 Home of a Bolican witch
27 Cleaver
28 Heaving motion, asea
29 Extra charge at the pump
31 Where the Alph flows
33 Reining
34 Deface
35 Religious residence
38 Hindu wonder-workers
41 Make oneself seek
42 Moray
44 One of the Aidens
46 Elevate
47 Dickens villain
49 Askew
50 Everything
51 Loser
53 Dull resounding sound
54 Snood
56 Restrict 58 Harmonizes
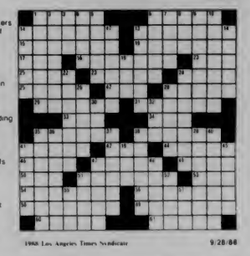
59 Chinese skiffs
60 SA wildcats
61 Quirky

DOWN
1 Defendant at Nuremberg
2 Public promenade
3 Like Carroll's hatter
4 Fleur-de-ias
5 City SW of Kalamazoo
6 "Silent Night," e g
7 Unreliable one
8 Response Abbr
9 Eschewed
10 Upstart
11 Babble
12 Sentence structure
13 Type of camera
14 Lukewarm
19 New Jersey port
22 Personal record
24 Humble wind instrument
26 Title for an MP
28 Bushmaster, e g
30 Scottish seaport
32 MDs' group
35 High-ranking ecclesiastic
36 Truth
37 Ferments
38 Cobwebbes
39 Dinghy
40 Gaunt
41 Czech capital, at home
43 Concert
45 Songs of praise
47 Absconds
48 Water nymph
51 — — Karenina
52 Verne character
55 Capek play
57 College div

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

A	C	T		V	E	E	S		C	A	W
R	O	D	T		C	A	R	L	E		C	O	M	E
C	O	M	E	T	O	N		I	R	E		A	M	E	N
S	I	P	E	A	R	M	E	N		D	E	S	E	R	T
			S	U	E	T		R	E	D	A	S
A	C	I	D	S	I	S		C	I	A	R	A	B	A	G	S
P	I	N	O		T	O	N	I	C		M	A	I	P	L	E
P	O	M	E		N	I	T	T	E	R		S	A	D	A
A	N	E	N	T		A	C	E	D	E	D		M	I	T
L	I	T	T	E	R	I	E	D		P	R	A	T	I	E	S
		O	W	N	E	R		A	R	A	L
A	A	R	D	V	A	R	K		C	R	I	M	I	T	E	S
O	L	A	N		C	O	M	E	S		A	B	O	U	T
B	A	S	E		U	N	T	I	T	S		I	N	R	E
E	I	N	S		E	I	T	T	L	E		T	O	N

9/28/88



1988 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 9/28/88

Menu

Lunch
Deli Ham on Water Roll
Clam Roll/Tartar Sauce

Dinner
Stir Fry Beef and Vegtables
Sliced Kielbasa/Horseradish Sauerkraut

Basics Lunch
Italian Tomato and Egg Sandwich
Clam Roll/ Tarter Sauce

Basics Dinner
Sauteed Tofu and Snow Peas
Rice and Cheese Stuffed Cabbage

Weather

Today: Mix of sun and clouds, in the 50's
Tonight: Partly clear, low in the 40's
Tomorrow: Varying amounts of sun, 50-55

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Tony Padovanok
Copy Editor.....Pam McCarthy
Layout Technician.....Marc Infield
Photo Technician.....Richard Bonanno
Production Supervisor.....Wendy Rae Nutter
Production Supervisor.....and George Francy
Production: Janine, Kim, Kristen, Christine, Ashe, Karen, Owen and Joe's driving that lonely road again.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Robert Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscriptions Manager

■ volleyball

continued from page 20

of the next nine points. But the Blue Devils held on long enough to tie the match at one game apiece.

"I put the subs in a difficult position. [The second game] wasn't up to the pace of the third," Ford said. "Central did improve in the second game."

"It was a really good comeback for being down 6-13, and then coming back to 13-15."

In the third game, Ford went with the starters again and performed exactly how she had hoped. No letdown, no mercy, the starters took it right to CCSU, again limiting them to only one point. While Sullivan paced the Minutewomen with four kills.

"They [UMass] really wanted to win, the was no lack of intensity. They did a really good job," Ford said.

By the fourth game, UMass was in the driver's seat with the switches set on cruise control. Smith was guiding the Minutewomen through with five kills in the final frame.

"We didn't have a lot of trouble [in the beginning of the fourth] and then I subbed. Given a second opportunity, they played very well," Ford said.

The Minutewomen wrapped up the match by winning the final game 15-6.

"It was definitely a team effort but I have to give a lot of credit to Karen Ferguson. It was an up and down game but she controlled it real well. She passed real well. She played real well," Ford said.

UMass' record is now 15-2. They will play their final home matches this weekend against Rutgers and Temple universities.

UMass setter Karen Ferguson

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

Released Patriots quarterback says he's not bitter toward team

BOSTON (AP)– Tom Ramsey said Tuesday he's not bitter about being released by the New England Patriots but he questioned the timing of the move, which could leave the Patriots with only two healthy quarterbacks.

The Patriots waived the four-year NFL veteran Monday and announced that Tony Eason, who has been on injured reserve all season recovering from surgery on his throwing arm, would be activated for Sunday's game at Buffalo.

Eason, who had nerve damage in his right arm after suffering a separated right shoulder last season, has had trouble throwing at full strength in practices.

Asked if Eason, his close friend, was surprised to learn he'd be activated this week, Ramsey said, "I think he was surprised by everything that's taken place."

Stressing that he couldn't speak for Eason, Ramsey added, "If he was healthy, he'd probably be the starting quarterback. If you're not 100 percent as quarterback, it's awfully difficult to throw the ball 60 yards down field."

He said at a news conference that "I really wasn't surprised (by the release). The timing is just a little bit obscure."

The move was announced after practice Monday, leaving the Patriots with Doug Flutie and Steve Grogan as their quarterbacks. About three hours later, the team said Eason would be activated.

Coach Raymond Berry, a longtime opponent of keeping three quarterbacks, said Eason "has been looking more and more normal every week."

Ramsey, who played sparingly in his four years with the Patriots, said he knew they wouldn't keep four quarterbacks and he indicated he didn't expect them to drop Flutie, who was a stand-out at Boston College, and is still a local hero to many fans in New England.

Ramsey started the fifth game of the season against Indianapolis but was replaced by Flutie to start the fourth quarter. Flutie led the Patriots from a 7-7 tie to a 21-17 victory and started both games since then. Berry said Flutie would start against the Bills.

Once waivers expired on Ramsey at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, he would become a free agent. Any team signing him after that deadline wouldn't have to pick up his Patriots contract and could get him for less money.

"I have no regrets. I'm not bitter," he said. "The Patriots gave me an opportunity and I'm happy for that."

"What I have to do is find a positive out of it," he added. "I'm really not surprised by what happens in this business... I'm very competitive and I want to continue playing."

Although many teams have had quarterback injury problems, Ramsey, 27, wondered if they'd be reluctant to pick him up with the season nearly half over.

"I had an opportunity last year. I started some games. It was a lot of fun," he said. "As a quarterback, it's extremely difficult being backup player."

But, he added, "I don't feel cheated in any way" by the Patriots.

■ World Series

continued from page 19

was at the bottom of its batting order.

The Dodgers' injury problems worsened as starting pitcher John Tudor and right fielder Mike Marshall each were forced from the game. Tudor, bothered by hip and elbow problems throughout the season, left in the second inning with more arm trouble, and Marshall's weak back stiffened up in the third.

AP photo

Oakland A's pitcher Bob Welch hurls against the Los Angeles Dodgers during the first inning of the third game of the World Series at the Oakland Coliseum last night.

ENJOY THE SPECTACULAR VIEW ... FINE DINING AND FRIENDLY SERVICE

OPEN DURING ACADEMIC YEAR
Lunch: Monday-Friday 11:30 am-2:00 pm
Dinner: Tuesday-Saturday 5:00 pm-9:30 pm

Call 549-6000 ext. 7639 for Reservations

Validated Parking

TOP of the CAMPUS Restaurant
11th FLOOR CAMPUS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
No. Amherst 549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

COUNCIL ON INTERNATIONAL EDUCATIONAL EXCHANGE
Presentation on CIEE's WORK ABROAD programs in • Great Britain
• Ireland
• France
• Germany
• New Zealand
• Costa Rica
• Jamaica
OCTOBER 20 at 4pm
CAREER CENTER
Fraternity/Sorority Park

We're a bit hard to find but well worth the trip!
TACO VILLA
MEXICAN RESTAURANTS
BOLTWOOD WALK, BEHIND BENETTON—DOWNTOWN AMHERST
BEER AND WINE SERVED
THIS AD WORTH 50¢ ANY OF OUR 6 COMBINATION PLATTERS...
Expires Nov 6

BMCP Radio Programming 1988-89

MONDAY	"All that Jazz"	Rick Townes
TUESDAY	"Set it Off"	Evelise
WEDNESDAY	"Mellow Madness"	Scott Thompson
WEDNESDAY	"Reports in Color"*	Thomas Mambande
THURSDAY	"Thursday Nite Throwdown"	Diamond
FRIDAY	"T.G.I.F."	Rich G.
SATURDAY	"BMCP Rap Attack"	Ice-T 6-9pm
SATURDAY	"Kevy Kev Goes House"	Kevy Kev 9-12pm
SATURDAY	"Saturday Seduction"	Colette 12-3am
SATURDAY	"Love's Interlude"	Chris Winslow 3-6am

Monday-Friday: 6-8:30pm

*8:30-9:30pm

Oakland beats LA in ninth inning

OAKLAND (AP) — Mark McGwire hit a solo home run with one out in the ninth inning as the Oakland Athletics finally broke through and beat Los Angeles 2-1 Tuesday night, cutting the Dodgers' lead in the World Series 2-1.

McGwire fouled off three 2-2 pitches before lining a drive over the left-center field for his first hit in 10 World Series at-bats.

The blow came against Jay Howell, making his first appearance since his suspension for using pine tar in Game 3 of the National League playoffs. It was the first home run Howell had given up to a right-handed batter in 112 at-bats this season.

The Athletics manaaged just five hits, but McGwire's homer was the difference in a game in which Oakland's bullpen did the job.

The Athletics escaped a bases-loaded, no-outs jam in the sixth inning and Rick Honeycutt allowed one hit in the final two innings for the victory. Howelll entered in the ninth and retired Jose Canseco on a pop-up before McGwire homered.

The Dodgers will pitch Tim Belcher in Game 4 Wednesday night against Dave Stewart in Game 4 Wednesday night, a rematch of opening-game starters.

The home team has now won 13 straight games in the World Series.

The Dodgers blew a chance to break the game open in the sixth when they loaded the bases with no outs but failed to score.

Danny Heep's double, John Shelby's single and a walk to Mike Davis finished Bob Welch, who had never lasted beyond two 2-3 innings in four postseason starts.

■ women's soccer

continued from page 20

After that goal, the Minutewomen were able to put the cruise control on for the remainder. They produced only nine shots in the game (Harvard had 11), but were never really threatened.

Roundtree continued to work her magic in the second half, setting up one of the prettiest goals in a while. Taking the ball just over the midfield line, she drove down the right side, challenged all the way by a Harvard defender. Roundtree turned on the after-burners to get by the defender, and then made a great move to serve the ball into the box.

Waiting all alone was freshman forward Michelle Wood-side, who took the pass and headed it past Reilly at 62:06, her fifth goal of the season.

Just over three minutes later, Roundtree set up the final UMass goal. Winning a ball at midfield, she dumped it to the center to Kater, who unloaded from about 30 yards over the futile jump of Reilly for her team-high seventh goal of the year. She now has 16 points, also a team best.

Sidelines: It only seems right that since No. 3 UMass beat No. 2 N.C. State on Sunday, the the Minutewomen should take over the second spot. The pollsters of the ISAA agreed, ranking UMass second with 273 points, behind North Carolina's standard perfect 300. N.C. State is third with 265, followed by Colorado College with 262 and Cal-Berkeley with 245. . . UMass is home for the rest of the year, excluding playoffs.

The Oakland bullpen, the most effective in the majors this year, did its job. Left-hander Greg Cadaret stopped lefty Mike Scioscia on a foul popup and right-hander Gene Nelson got Jeff Hamilton on a force at the plate and Alfredo Griffin on a grounder to first.

Kirk Gibson, the Dodgers'pinch hitter deluxe in Game 1, was not employed this time, even though Los Angeles

continued on page 18

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

A swarming defense helped the University of Connecticut football team defeat UMass Saturday and knock the Minutemen from the Division 1-AA Top 20 poll. The Minutemen were ninth last week.

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
800-351-0222
Or rush $2.00 to: Research Information
11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO • AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS • ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT • FOR SALE • FOUND • HELP WANTED • LOST • INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES • PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED • RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES • ROOMMATE WANTED • TRAVEL • WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30) • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

ASIAN STUDENTS MEETING 7pm room 917 Campus Center Get involved and meet new people, all are welcome

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB SOCIAL - Wednesday, October 19 3:00pm 521 Tobin Come and enjoy refreshments, meet the faculty and other members

LITTLE SISTERS OF AEPi There will be a meeting tonight Oct 19 at 7pm Usual Place

SOUTHWEST S ANNUAL BATTLE of the Bands is this Sunday, October 23rd at 12:00pm in Hampden Center. BE THERE!

CRAFT CENTER IS YOUR resource. Make all kinds of crafts, pottery, silver, silkscreen, photography, etc. Free instruction

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22 Sign up on concourse Oct 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon Anyone can do it!

CAREERS IN ADVERTISING Don't miss the! Speakers from 2 top Boston ad agencies-Campus Center 804 10/18, 8pm, everyone welcome

FREE ADVERTISING ON BI-WEEKLY calsnder for RSO and ASO. More info. Call BOG at 545-0198 or come by 817CC

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Massipirg and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-8434

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics. Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306.

APARTMENTS AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS 2 BEDROOM UNITS on 19 acres of country land. Ample off street parking and free bus service to UMass and shopping areas. Call 665-3856

AUTO FOR SALE

VW RABBIT -Green Great condition runs smooth ,great buy at $850 Please call 253-9243

1981 KAWASKI KD on/off only 800 miles $500 Call Chris 546-6163

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 speed cerk grey new tires, rims runs very well $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184

1977 BUICK SKYLARK 60,000K excellent shape. $600 or B.O. 546-8948

1981 PORSCHE, 50k miles, grey, sunroof must see. $7250 or best offer Call 665-7221 Deb

73 DODGE VAN, runs good first reasonable offer 6-6982

1975 FORD GRANADA, good running condition cheap 584-4709

80 CHEVY CHEVETTE good running condition $650 or B.O. Call 549-5137 after 5:30

77 VW DASHER New brakes new exhsust low miles must see Call 253-7388 Evea

1978 CAMARO Runs well $650. Leave message 527-5101

78 TOYOTA COROLLA - good condition dependable $550 Call Pierre 545-2569

82 FORD ESCORT 85,000 miles 4 speed excellent condition $1900/negotiable 549-7193 evenings

81 TOYOTA COROLLA excellent condition, low mileage, am/fm cass., air, 5 spd 256-0969 evenings

1970 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body. 4 new tires $2,500 Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen

CAMPUS REPS NEEDED

EARN BIG COMMISSIONS and free trips by selling Nassau/Paradise Island, Cancun, Mexico and Ski trips to Vermont and Colorado. For more information call toll free 1-800-231-0113 or in Conn 203- 967-3330

CHILD CARE NEEDED

THREE MORNINGS A WEEK for boys ages 3 and 1. $4.50/hour Near Leverett center, 10 min for UMASS Child Ed major would be ideal Call 256-6180 or 548-9845 Availsble immediately

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

D&C JOCKEY SERVICE- Over 700 CDs. Great Sound! All occasions. 549-1421

ENTERTAINMENT

JUST GOT AN snawering machine. Call me and leave a message 6-8396

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Discjockeys and large screen video dances Dorms/organizations 256-8526

FOR SALE

FOR SALE: Olympic weight bench $125 or best offer. Call Cheryl at 6-7851 or leave message

3 WOOL JACKETS, 3 leather jackets, 1 insulated winter denim jacket; men's (M) 38-40 Each one a steal 546-6982

SKI BOOTS LANGE TI $130, Nordica 960 $90. Both size 10 549-4119

KLOSS NOVA BEAM projection television $1200 Call 253-5063

ESCORT RADAR DETECTOR excellent condition w/window mt. & coil cord worth $280 asking $150 Call 6-8108

BRAND NEW ASSORTED New Balence sneakers unbeatable prices 10 prs size 9-11 will take orders 549-6496

12 SPEED UNIVEGA BIKE 1983 in great condition. New derailiers and brakes work great $175 or BO 6-6932

TRIUMPH SPITFIRE 1500 t3A on rebuilt engine Moving, must sell $800 or BO 665-7481

AMP ROLAND JC120 100w $400 firm Great condition 584-9955 Ask for Bill

ROSS 10 SPEED Excellent cond. $75 Large sige fridge exc. cond. $100, two snow tires 12 inch brand new $40/pair 549-0047

MOVING, SELLING EVERYTHING. Tables, chairs, sofa, color TV, bed snd more call 549-7193 evenings

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket Call David 1-566-8212

PIONEER DUAL STEREO cassette deck $100 call Laura at 6-8021

FOUND

GOLD WATCH NEAR BARS downtown Call Pam 256-0734

RING FOUND OUTSIDE colonial village Call 256-1191 to identify

BLACK KITTEN FOUND around Brittany Manor Apts Call to identify 546-1410

IN CAMPUS CENTER on 10/13 a gold initial charm if yours call 546-6583

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget Futons, bookcases, tables and more Hamein Furniture 1 Short St Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin We deliver

HELP WANTED

COUNTER HELP AND delivery persons (need your own car) nights and weekend 256-1616

GREENPEACE: WORK TO PRESERVE OUR EARTH The destruction of our environment is not an acceptable industry practice. Work now to stop toxic contamination, preserve our oceans and its wildlife and stop nuclear weapons testing. Select your own days to work Mon-Sun 2pm-10pm. Call 256-1439

TOXICS ARE SLOWLY killing us! Work to reduce them with MASSPIRG Earn $4.5-$65/day, full/part time Call Chris 256-0924

WORK FOR THE ENVIRONMENT Be one of the highest paid political activists in the country. Clean Water Action is paying what your dedication is worth. Earn $7-$12/hr PT&FT available. Call Chris * 549-7450

EXPERIENCED JEWELRY INSTRUCTOR wanted for spring semester. Student Union Craft Center Call Anna 545-2096

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office. 545-0865

DIRECT CARE STAFF NEEDED in Northampton, Greenfield, Springfield areas. Work with MR and MH individuals. $7.21 to $7.71 p/hr. 781-0783

OVERSEAS JOBS. Summer, yr round. Europe, S. Amer., Australia, Asia. All fields. $900 - $1200 mo. Sightseeing. Free info. Write IJC, PO Box 52 - MA01 Corona Del Mar CA 92625

LOST

LOST GOLD CHAIN WITH crucifix has lots of sintimentel value. I lost it Friday across from Townhouse Please call Jon at 546-1081

GOLD HEART LOCKET WITH picture of lisher says "Love daddy 1978" on Sat Nite either st Changes or State St Call Randi 549-8175 Very sentimental! Rewsrd if found

DENIM JACKET AT DELTA CHI on Sat Nite has bleach spot on right arm. Call 6-8157 Please

LOST JEAN JACKET AT CHANGES may have accidentally taken yours with id's Diane lock Chanice McGlynn Call 6-8703 Matt

LOST MASS LIQUOR ID Sharon Levy If found please call 253-9918 monetary reward

LOST RINGS - 2 gold rings/one coral/one turquoise/one silver/one shell. If found please please call 253-9916 Reward!

HEADPHONES/REWARD AKG240's lost in Northampton 10/11 Sentimental value Please call 586-2239 Bob

TAN JACKET, LEFT IN BARTLETT 301 ON TUE 10/11 MORNING. CALL MARK 6-8784

LOST. 10/5 orange and white cat vicinity of Mt Pleasant St. Please call. We miss him 545-2892 ask for Tracey or leave message

MOTORCYCLES

ATTENTION FOR $500 down and 83 05/mnth you can own a 1988 Kawasaki EX500 with 2700 miles 2 Shoei helmets worth $450 are free Call Mike 549-5189

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD Helmet, cover shield $850 Joe 549-7423 Evenings

PERSONALS

AX's- ONLY 3 DAYS LEFT!

UMMB COLOR GUARD Seven and a half weeks and 152 pieces of equipment later... its now time for Delaware. You have done an awesome job. Lets have a great time! Dave

BUDDY, I love you! Happy whatever. Love, Buddy

CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR newest pledges Melissa Babb, Jill Franco, Lauren George, Lisa Gilbert, Susan Kass, Anne Lowson, Cheryl Sawicke. We love you! Love, The Sisters of Delta Zeta

HEY LAMBDA CHI, although we didn't win, we had fun tryng--DZ

MYLA PLATT CONGRADS on becoming a pledge of SDT we love ya! Kirsty and Silephie

TO JAN FRIEDMAN, THE LOVE of my life I wish I was with you all the time. Love, The future JSF

PARTY WITH US- Friday nite 9 til 2- Band & Beer North Mandelle Hall Mount Holyoke college 538-2948

CHRIS ROY- Thought we'd wish U a happy 21st before U slip into a coma! Love, Lori, Dee, & Michelle

TO THE ADORABEL TUBA PLAYER on 45 field-Don't worry.. we think you're hot too

TO EVERYONE WHO helped with homecoming you are awesome! Thanks a lot! Love, Steph

MARGO, GET WELL SOON! Love, The sisters and pledges of SDT.

STACEY, DID YOU KNOW that we've been going together for over 31 million seconds?! Hope you've had as good a time as I have Love, Psul.

TRISH- YOU NEVER FALL in love, people fall in love with you. Wahh! happened? Smile, Wendy.

BOO-CFU- Remember - up there. L

UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD meeting at 7:00 tonight in the campus center!!! Fun! Excitement!! Godspell! Fame!

PHI MU DELTA, DU & SDT. Thanks for s great exchange. love the Sisters snd Pledges of Phi Mu

SUPERBROTHERS OF DELTA CHI, thanks for an awesome homecoming love the supersisters of Phi Mu

CHARLES, novelist and marathon-runner from Hampshire College--A-right--Let's go "Costume-less"! P.J

HORSE- Happy 21st. Hope you had s good day. Dave

RANDI TOOD! Congratulations on your movie role!! We are proud of you! Love the University Players

UPC STAFF- prepare to die Saturday! You will be humiliated (if we aren't first)

LISA, CHERYL, BONNIE Thanks for atways making me smile! Remember Schleppy the Cat, open the door Bonnie, cresmed gourd on toast, better get s bucket, slip nips, mrrr, and the rest I love you guys! Caryn (K)

TO ROBERT WASHINGTON, happy anniversary sweetheart! Thanks for the best three years of my life! I love you very much and sm forever yours! Love, Jenn.

CASSIE D. It was good to finally see you again Sat. at the game. I miss you & wish things were different. Even though it s been two years I still think of you often. Stay in touch. P.M.

COME TO SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA OPEN RUSH Oct 18,19,20 Call 549-8003 for more information Try Sigma!

VALERIE TYLER! Happy belated birthday! The world will never be the same now that you're 21 - Love, Deb, etc.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 ROOM IN APT NOHO 2 mins to center Nonsmoking 210/mo + utl 584-9376 Rachel or Suresh

APARTMENT MATE WANTED. Nice Northampton location Call Greg at 584-7400 message

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/sn easy going senior. If interested please call Beth st 665-4550

ROOMS AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS SUNNY IN apartment complex shared common sreas. Parking and bus Evening 665-3867

TYPING

FLYING FINGERS TYPING work done in 24 hours. Pickup/dropoff too. Call Kevin 549-0116

NO TYPING AS USUAL, highest quality typing. Call Barry, 548-9436. Reliable

TYPING. TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate 253-WORD

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL typing on word processor with spellcheck - ANYTIME! Carolyn 253-5667

ABLE TYPIST, basic editing, competitive rates, decent location 253-5202

TRAVEL

LEARN SPANISH IN GUATEMALA. One student/teacher, five hours daily, family living, excursions, seminars CXE Box 11264 Milwaukee, WI 53211 (414)372-5570

COLLEGE WEEKEND in Montreal from $39 November 11-13 Call 549-1949

WANTED

WANTED- GUITAR OR BANJO must be in fairly good condition Call MIKE 6-7115

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hurris) notes will pay money$$. Shirley 549-2710

TAKE OVER LEASE FROM Jan to Sept on 2 bdrm Apt on Main St. Prefer grad students or Prof people Call 256-8040

WANTED TO RENT

SPACE TO PARK 24 foot truck Call 253-5063

N88A6640

SPORTS

Kater's goals propel UMass past Harvard, 4-0

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

How's this for a scary thought:

The University of Massachusetts women's soccer team may be just coming into its own as a team. Seeing as how the team is already 11-1-1 and is now ranked second in the nation, that could be enough to make future opponents cringe.

But the truth is that the Minutewomen may have finally reached their full potential after the big win over North Carolina State on Sunday. UMass proved that yesterday by putting on a show in beating Harvard University, 4-0 at Boyden Field.

"It was a nice win," UMass coach Jim Rudy said. "It shows that we learned a lot this weekend."

What the Minutewomen learned was how to play aggressive, to challenge every ball and, basically, to just play with reckless abandon.

This weekend was also the coming out for some players who hadn't been making much noise previously. One is senior forward Beth Roundtree, who had a big goal against N.C. State and followed that up by getting three assists yesterday. She now has nine points on two goals and five assists.

UMass also got some big games from players off the bench. With starting midfielders Cathy Cassady (ankle) and Becky Bonzano (foot) both nursing injuries, Rudy felt it was opportune to give them some rest and to give the reserves a chance.

Thus, sophomores Kim Montgomery and Robin Runstein each got their first start of the season and filled in admirably.

Also getting the call was back-up goaltender Mary Curtis. The junior pitched a shutout in her first collegiate start (see related story this page).

The Crimson were not the most formidable opponents of the season. The team came in on a tremendous low, having lost five straight, including four shutouts. Yet, the Crimson were still up to the challenge of playing the Minutewomen in the rain.

"I was very impressed with Harvard. It's hard to believe that they're 3-7," Rudy said. "They were down four with 15 minutes left, but they were still playing like it was the World Cup."

Unfortunately for them, by that time the game was all wrapped up. UMass pretty much put the USDA seal of approval on this one before the game was 10 minutes old.

Before most of the fans had a chance to settle into the soggy Boyden bleachers, UMass picked up the ultimate game-winning goal. After a throw-in on the left side, senior sweeper Sue Montagne took the ball from about 30 yards out and hit a long serve into the box that bounced over a defender's head.

Waiting on the other side was senior forward Michelle Powers, who picked up the ball and chipped it her fourth goal of the season over the challenging Harvard goalkeeper Beth Reilly to make it 1-0, just 5:15 into the game.

The goal was especially pleasing to Rudy, being the earliest that the Minutewomen have scored all year. In fact, of the 19 goals the team had scored going into yesterday's game, only six had come before intermission.

"Even our second goal was the earliest one we'd scored," Rudy said.

That goal came less than three minutes later, just 7:51 into the contest. An errant backward pass from the Harvard sweeper to Reilly was muffed and rolled over the end line, giving the Minutewomen a corner kick from the left side. Roundtree served a great ball into the box, where sophomore midfielder April Kater headed the ball into the net for the first of her two goals.

continued on page 19

Collegian photo by Andrew Ritt

Sue Cooper and the rest of the Minutewomen delivered a victory yesterday at Boyden field, beating Harvard 4-0.

Curtis shines in her first start as UMass goalkeeper

All good things come to those who wait.

For Mary Curtis, the wait to finally get her chance has been a long one. Yesterday, the junior goalkeeper for the University of Massachusetts women's soccer team was given her first-ever collegiate start and made the most of it. She made seven saves as the Minutewomen shut out Harvard University, 4-0 at Boyden Field.

Since arriving at UMass, Curtis has had to play in the shadows of senior Carla DeSantis. Being the back-up to one of the best keepers around doesn't always bring much playing time.

Going into yesterday, Curtis had seen action in only two games this season, playing 47 minutes and allowing no goals while making two saves.

Needless to say, she was delighted to get the opportunity, and equally excited about her performance.

"It feels great, I'm just so happy," Curtis said. "It's tough playing behind Carla, but I feel that a smart coach has to play his back-up."

UMass coach Jim Rudy realized the same thing, and decided that now was as good a time as any to give Curtis a shot.

"We need to get her some game experience against a tough team, in case anything ever happened to Carla," Rudy said before yesterday's game.

Harvard wasn't the toughest opponent of all, but the Crimson did give her some work. None of the shots were terribly difficult, but Curtis handled herself well.

"She did a very adequate job," Rudy said. "She handled everything with minimal effort. She made everything look easy, even though there were some potentially difficult shots."

Yesterday's performance may have convinced Rudy to give Curtis another start. She can only hope she doesn't have to wait so long for this one.

— JIM CLARK

UMass is second in the nation

The top five in this week's Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America poll for Division I women's soccer:

1.	North Carolina	11-0-2
2.	UMass	11-1-1
3.	North Carolina State	14-1-2
4.	Colorado College	11-2-0
5.	California-Berkeley	13-3-1

Field hockey gets washed out against Dartmouth College

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

Due to very poor field conditions caused by the rain that was falling in Hanover, NH, yesterday's field hockey game between the University of Massachusetts and Dartmouth College was cancelled.

"The conditions were just too slippery," UMass coach Pam Hixon said.

The game was halted by the referees about 12 minutes into the game because the rain was coming down very hard and there did not appear to be an end to it, according to Hixon.

Hixon said that players were slipping all over the place before the referees finally decided that it was too dangerous for the players to continue play.

The game was an important one for UMass and Dartmouth because it was a New England regional game. It has not been determined whether the game will be played on a later date.

"We are working to reschedule it," Hixon said. "We're doing everything we can right now."

Next up for the Minutewomen, should this game not be rescheduled for sometime betweeen now and Saturday, will be the University of Toledo on Saturday in Springfield and then a big game with Atlantic-10 Conference rival Penn State University on Sunday at Totman Field.

Volleyball beats Central Conn. in 3

Minutewomen improve to 15-2

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

They went, they saw, they played well, and then they conquered.

The University of Massachusetts volleyball team met all their expectations, as they easily downed Central Connecticut State University 15-1, 13-15, 15-1, 15-6 in New Britain, Ct. last night.

The Central game was sandwiched between UMass' two tough conference weekends, so the key was for UMass to not look past the Blue Devils or take the match lightly.

"It doesn't make any difference who's on the other side of the net. We still have to play well to win," UMass coach Carol Ford said.

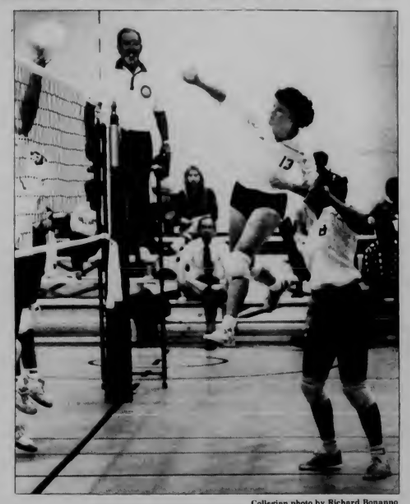
The Minutewomen had already previously beaten CCSU at Totman this year in three straight games, and although they are only 7-21, they fired themselves up for UMass.

"In the warm-up you could tell that Central was really psyched up. They were hitting the ball much harder than they did last time," Ford said.

But that was only warm-ups. UMass made a joke of the first game, exerting its dominance by only allowing Central one point. For the Minutewomen, however, Barbara Meehan (7), Julie Smith (13), and Nancy Sullivan (13) provided more than enough offense— each one chipping in three kills apiece.

Ford subbed early in the second game and UMass found itself in a dog-fight, trailing 6-9 and then 6-13 before Ford called a timeout. The Minutewomen then began to climb back into the match, capturing seven

continued on page 18



Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

The University of Massachusetts volleyball team and Barbara Meehan (above) pounded Central Connecticut University last night 3-1. The victory was UMass' third straight win and builds up momentum for the upcoming Atlantic 10 battles at Totman this weekend.

Civility Week schedule — Pages 4-7

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 31

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1988

INSIDE

- Fumes plague Hasbrouck. Page 3.
- Peter Leon on the parenting UMass. Page 11.
- UMass noseguard Joe Cullen profiled. Page 20.

Collegian photo by Janine Warner

BEST FRIENDS — Freshman Claudia Sperber with Brian the rabbit.

Senate votes No on arena and Yes on voting place

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Student Senate last night voted to oppose the sports and conference center planned for this campus and to support a voting place nearer to Southwest Residential Area.

Student fees will rise to help pay for the arena.

Speaking in favor of the motion, Senator Aram Hamparian said, "It's my concern that a large portion of the burden not fall on the students," he said. "I foresee that student fees will end up paying a portion of this."

Opponents of the non-supportive move asked if the makers of the motion did not like sports.

"We need this facility. I think this is a great thing, and we can make money from this," said Sen. Karen Flanagan, who said the arena would bring in money from conferences and concerts.

Hamparian said he was not against the arena itself, but the fee increase it will cause. He suggested the facility have a body similar to the Board of Governors to oversee it.

"If our money is going to pay for it, we ought to have a voice in it," he said.

Voting place

Sen. Michael Greiner, who authored the proposal against the arena, also asked the senate to support a voting place for national and local elections nearer to Southwest. Greiner said the present voting place for residents of Amherst's Precinct 10, which includes most of Southwest, is in the Bangs Community Center in downtown Amherst. He said students should not be forced to travel this far to vote.

"The whole gist is that this is disempowerment of students," Greiner said.

The proposal passed by unanimous consent. Greiner said this would help his case when he appears before the Amherst Selectmen to ask for the polling place.

"It's bad when I have to go up in front of the Selectmen and they say, 'Do you have any mandate from the students?' Now I can say, 'Look, the students are behind me.'"

Greiner said the voting place probably would not be approved in time for the November elections, but said he hoped it could be approved for the April 1989 elections.

Raise condemned

Greiner also co-authored a move with Student Trustee Stephanie Orefice that condemns a recent $12,000 raise for the Chancellor of Higher Education Franklyn Jenifer.

"We're in a serious bind in the state of Massachusetts now fiscally," Orefice said. In light of the recent budget cuts to the University, this raise was a poor move, she said. This proposal also passed by unanimous consent.

New justices appointed

In a move that brought much debate, the appointment of Chris McLellan, Tom Ralph, and John Sanchez as justices to the Student Judiciary was eventually approved.

The controversy concerned Speaker Robert Fadel's decision not to name the applicants who were not chosen for the posts.

"I don't understand all the secrecy around this," said Sen. Bob McDevitt.

New election put off

A plan to hold another presidential election for the Student Government Association was postponed by the senate so the Governmental Affairs Committee could set a date for the new elections.

The proposal was brought up by Sen. Brian Darling, who said it was time to resolve the controversy centering on Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz, who were elected co-presidents in March but have not taken office because of discrepanices in the SGA Constitution.

Students feel doom of likely cuts to aid program

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

Nancy Bishop left Spain nearly one year ago with the dream that she would return to college, and someday have enough financial stability to be reunited with her two children.

But the imminent termination of the Women's Administrative and General Education program may shatter this dream for her and many other non-traditional women students unless a miracle happens, she said.

"[The administration] is worried about numbers and money but not what the service provides," Bishop said. "It makes me sad but it also makes me really angry."

Mercedes Del Valle, coordinator of WAGES at the University of Massachusetts, said the program helps women with more than just applications and financial aid forms.

"Most of the women who get here, get here in a crisis," she said. "They don't have any financial resources and they need welfare and food stamps. We help them get through this bureaucracy."

Using an Spanish interpreter, public health major Wanda Cabrera said she came to WAGES with admission, financial aid applications, and a lot of questions. "I didn't know how to apply for housing and I couldn't translate the applications into English," she said.

If WAGES is shut down, the University will not have one counselor on campus for re-entry women students to use, Del Valle said.

"No one else has time to answer all the questions women bring in here. Particularly women of color — there are no other services," she said.

Cultural conflict and issue problems plagued Emma Perez, a mother of three majoring in special education, when she joined her daughter as a student at UMass.

Administrative office workers often became upset that she would accompany her daughter, she said, and often told her "to let her daughter be on her own."

"I felt a lot of fear," she said. "Parents in Puerto Rico don't just let their kids go at age 17. I didn't know what I was doing wrong."

Perez said she came to WAGES in a crisis asking for help. "I don't remember how I got to the office," she said. "WAGES really helped me with everything."

"I'm scared for other women now, too. They're not going to have any place to go," Perez said.

Bishop said the UMass campus is designed mainly for traditional students coming out of high school and does not meet the needs of non-traditional students.

"Most services don't quite know what to do with women like us," she said. "We're not just students, we're mothers and we do have jobs — not like traditional students."

Bishop said she is circulating a petition against the shutdown on campus and has collected more than 100 signatures thus far.

She and several other WAGES students are attempting to meet with Vice Chancellor Dennis Madson or his assistant, William Weitze, to discuss the problem, Bishop said.

"I want to go as a student and tell him how I feel about what's going on," she said.

"I've been here long enough to know the political aspects of this large University," Bishop said. "I hope a miracle will happen and [WAGES] isn't done away with."

Questions in racism case

Office cannot discipline for harassment

By ANTHONY PADOVANO
Collegian Staff

The question remains as to whether a University of Massachusetts Physical Plant supervisor who allegedly made racially derogatory remarks could be reprimanded or disciplined.

According to the Associate Vice Chancellor for Affirmative Action Dr. Zaida Giraldo "We don't have the power to tell anyone to stop doing anything."

Since Friday, Affirmative Action has been handling the investigation of a radio broadcast that occurred Oct. 5. The broadcast was made over Physical Plant frequency one, a channel normally reserved for supervisors, and could have been heard by anyone tuned to the frequency.

Giraldo said Affirmative Action is basically an advisory body that in-

continued on page 8

Student struck by car is stable

The University of Massachusetts student who was dragged Sunday for 70 feet by a car in Amherst was listed in stable condition yesterday at Baystate Medical Center.

Jeffery K. Florence, 19, of North Reading was struck at 3:30 a.m. Sunday on West Street by a car driven by Kayo Nonaka, 27, of 44 McClellan Street.

Wayne Godin, Florence's freshman roommate in Washington Residence Hall, said Florence's parents had removed his belongings from the room Tuesday and said Florence would not return this semester.

Godin also said Florence needed to have two more operations. His injuries included two fractured ankles, a sprained leg, third degree burns, and his spleen had to be removed. The Baystate Medical Center would not confirm the report.

Police are still investigating why Florence was lying in the middle of the street, and if he had been struck by another car previous to the one driven by Nonaka.

— THOMAS RODRIGUES

WORLD/NATION

Costa Rica declares emergency in the face of Hurricane Juan

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — The government declared a state of emergency and began evacuating coastal residents as Hurricane Joan spun toward Central America after leaving a trail of devastation in Columbia.

At least 50 people are dead, injured or missing in Columbia and tens of thousands of homes were destroyed or flooded, officials said.

Packing 95-mph winds and puzzling forecasters with its erratic course, Joan churned toward the Columbian island resort of San Andres, 500 miles north of the Colombian coast.

Manuel Obando, president of Costa Rica's National Emergency Committee, predicted the brunt of the killer storm would hit Costa Rica early yesterday.

The government evacuated homeless, elderly people and children and 86 hospital patients from Puerto Limon, an Atlantic coast port city of 8,000 people about 105 miles southeast of the capital, San Jose, Obando said.

He said 167 inmates also were evacuated from a prison and that authorities were prepared to move another 30,000 coastal residents inland as sheets of rain lashed the coast.

"If by midday we observe that there is imminent danger, we'll begin to evacuate," Obando said.

Heavy rains pushed the Reventazon and Rarritas rivers over their banks near the Pacific coast port of Puntarenas 80 miles northeast of San Jose, radio reports said.

In Panama, a hurricane watch was in effect for the north coast form Punta San Blas to Doca del Tooro of San Andres.

Long lines formed at supermarkets and pharmacies in Panama City, the capital, as people heeded warnings to stock up on supplies. The government declared a state of alert.

"Stay calm, don't become alarmed and don't panic," Colon Major Juan Fidel Macias told residents of that Atlantic port in a radio broadcast.

Traffic in the Panama Canal was not expected to be disrupted, said Panama Canal Commission spokesman Franklin Castrellon.

In Nicaragua, officials were uncertain what impact Joan would have. "We can't say the storm will directly affect Nicaragua at this moment," said Pilar Cruz, director of Nicaragua's National Meterological Service.

The National Hurricane Center in Doral Gables, Fla., said in a statement said the hurricane's center is about 290 miles southeast of San Andres.

Joan's unusual southern path had forecasters puzzling over its possible landfall.

AP photo

Neal Cassidy in hospital bed in West Bank displaying the bullet doctors removed from him.

FDA announces faster treatment approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration yesterday announced new drug approval procedures to speed development of treatments for life threatening diseases like AIDS.

In essence, the new regulation would create a mechanism for the FDA to work with drug companies in the earliest stages of a drug's development to refine preliminary tests in animals and humans to get the most useful data in the shortest possible time.

While that clearly could shorten the approval time for drugs that subsequently prove to be safe and effective, in most cases it would require a larger financial commitment from drug developers long before they have any realistic assessment of whether the drug will eventually pan out and thus enable them to recover their research investment.

FDA Commissioner Frank E. Young acknowledged at a news conference that the revised procedures would show results only if private pharmaceutical companies take advantage of new opportunities to get the FDA involved in earlier states of drug development.

The word "may" is scattered throughout the proposal, establishing clearly that it creates new options for drug companies rather than requirements in the drug approval process.

The regulation is being published in the Federal Register as an "interim rule" with a 50 day public comment period, meaning it is effective immediately.

Young said repeatedly that he did not want to "over promise" the likelihood of dramatic changes in early development of drugs for AIDS, cancer and other life-threatening diseases.

Nonetheless, he defended the agency against charges by AIDS activists that the new regulations are politically motivated to help the campaign of Vice President George Bush who has headed the Reagan administration's effort on easing regulatory red tape at the FDA and other federal agencies.

Young pointed out that Bush and Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis agreed at their first debate that they are in essential agreement on how to cope with the AIDS epidemic, including support for federal anti-discrimination to protect people carrying the AIDS virus.

Nobel Prize awarded to three Americans and three Germans

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Three Americans won the Nobel Prize in physics yesterday for discovering a way to use beams of ghostlike subatomic particles called neutrinos to peer ever deeper into the fundamental structure of matter.

Three West Germans won the Nobel Prize in chemistry for determining the structure of proteins that plants and some bacteria need to convert sunlight to energy through photosynthesis.

The Royal Academy of Sciences awarded the physics prize to Leon Lederman, Melvin Schwartz and Jack Steinberger for their work with neutrino beams.

The announcement said their work was carried out in the 1960s and "opened entirely new opportunities for research into the innermost structure and dynamics of matter."

Neutrinos are extremely tiny particles - even on the subatomic scale - with no electrical charge. They interact very weakly with other forms of matter and could easily pass through a layer of lead trillions of miles thick without being diverted from their courses, according to the Nobel citation.

"The contribution now awarded consisted among other things of transforming the ghostly neutrino into an active tool of research," the announcement said.

Lederman, who got the call from Stockholm around 6 a.m. EDT, said: "This is an experiment that was completed and published in 1961. Those poor guys in Stockholm have been puzzling over it ever since and finally decided it was good stuff.

"Someday, some kid who is now in high school will find out how to use this information to bring benefits to all of society."

Lederman, 66, said he has not decided whether to use his share of the $390,000 prize "to buy a castle in Spain or a string of race horses."

Lederman is director at the Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory in Batavia, Ill. Schwartz, 55, is a former professor at Stanford University and now president of Digital Pathways, Inc., in Mountain View, Calif.

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

Thursday is Party Night at Mikes!

Start the weekend off right!

Come to Mike's famous Friday afternoon All you can eat buffet!

$2.00 buys you:

spareribs, chicken wings, salads, fettucini alfredo, spaghetti & meatballs, turkey, potato au gratin, macaroni, dishes and more.

Busch pitchers $3.75
Coors Light 99¢
10 oz. Fuzzy Navels $1.50
10 oz. Sex on the Beach $1.50

Mikes is the place to be Thursday & Friday!

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT
Add Spice To Your Weekend!!
NOW SERVING BRUNCH
Every dish freshly prepared to order using the finest ingredients, and at prices that won't wreck the weekend budget
Saturday & Sunday 11:00 To 3:00
7 OLD SOUTH STREET NORTHAMPTON

LOCAL

Better freshman . . .

UMass improving

By HEATHER RONOVECH
Collegian Correspondent

Most freshmen remember the words of Chancellor Joseph Duffey at the Convocation on Sept. 4: "This year's freshman class is the best and brightest the University has ever seen."

Juan P. Caban, associate director of admissions at the University of Massachusetts, said the average Scholastic Aptitude Test score of the students accepted last year was 1058, a sizeable improvement from the average of 970 in 1982.

In addition, last year only 52 percent of the more than 23,000 students who applied were accepted, while in 1982 the acceptance rate was 79 percent.

Caban said, "The main reason we accepted a smaller percentage last year than in years past is because more students applied, and we naturally picked the best candidates out of the applicant pool."

Also, according to Caban, the University had to accept 15 percent of the out-of-staters who applied for this year's freshman class. The out-of-stater's average class rank was in the top 20 percent and their SAT's for verbal and math combined average totaled 1070.

Caban said, "The difference between the qualifications of the in-staters and out-of-staters wasn't that significant; the in-stater's class rank was in the top 24 percent and the SATs were a combined 1054."

In-staters seem to have different ideas about the reputation of the University. Many in-staters said UMass is a safety school where anybody can get in, others think it is a party school, and some in-staters came here for the low cost.

For example, one freshman music major, Alyson Kennedy, said, "I was accepted at Boston University, but when I thought about it, I decided that $18,000 a year for tuition was a little steep when I could pay less than $6,000 to go to UMass."

Jennifer Roser, a freshman from Newton, said she knew a lot more people who were accepted here a few years ago than this year, and, "It's definitely harder now for in-staters."

Zack Slovinsky, a sophomore film major from Needham, said, "At my high school, UMass has a pretty good reputation. I'm sure that, in four years, UMass will be right up there with the top state schools in the nation, and it will be more than just a party school."

Out-of-staters, the majority of whom hail from the Northeast, have the reputation of being better students than their in-state counterparts. Some out-of-staters had superior high school records but either did not get into their top choices, could not pay the price of a private school education, or simply liked the University from what they had read in college books like Barrons; and the Selective Guide to Colleges.

A freshman political science major from Matawan, New Jersey, Sharon Mehlman said, "I don't know what kind of reputation UMass has in-state, but in my school it was definitely not a safety school. Most of my friends were accepted at Rutgers and went there. A few people I knew who had good grades didn't even get accepted here."

Collegian photo by Chris Hosford

Senior French major Jill Davis takes notes against Metawampe Indian statue.

Hasbrouck fumes irk students

By ALLEN BERNARD
Collegian Correspondent

The roofing of Hasbrouck Laboratory at the University of Massachusetts is causing many problems for students and teachers using the facility.

Many of Susan Kleinmann's Astronomy 110 students were forced to leave last Wednesday because asphalt fumes leaked into the room, she said.

"The air was clearly polluted when I got there. And it seemed to get more polluted as the class continued," she said.

Kleinmann, an associate professor, said rooms 134 and 126 have had problems with fumes for at least a week.

During a physics and astronomy colloquium last Friday in room 126 she and her colleagues were embarrassed by the strong asphalt smell in the room, she said.

"You shouldn't have to smell tar fumes when you teach or listen," she said.

James Boylan's Ethics and Issues journalism class held on the third floor does not have problems with fumes, but noise from the construction sometimes drowns out the lecture.

The roofing, which started in the second week of October, is expected to be completed by Oct. 28, said Construction Director Edmund J. Ryan of the physical plant.

"We make every effort to try to contain (the fumes) the best we can," he said.

But, because of wind direction and high and low pressure systems, they cannot always keep the fumes from entering the building, he said.

John Czach of the Physical Plant said low pressure inside the building can cause the fumes to be drawn down into the structure.

Some of the students forced from the classroom Wednesday complained of headaches. Susan McDonald, environmental hygienist for the Department of Environmental Health and Safety said the fumes are not dangerous, but if people feel uncomfortable, they should leave the area.

"It is not one of those (chemicals) that come to mind as a serious health problem," she said. Fumes inside buildings are a chronic problem whenever roofing is done, she said.

F Y I

The FYI section is a public service announcement to the campus and community. Space is limited, so the Collegian cannot guarantee that all submissions will be published.

* * *

Fundraiser
A 25-mile bike-a-thon to benefit children with cystic fibrosis will be held on Saturday on and around campus. Sponsors will donate money for research into the disease. Interested bikers may register at a table on the Campus Center Concourse. Registration ends today.

Festival
Northeast Area Government is sponsoring a Pink Frolics Cartoon Festival. Shows will be at 7, 9, and 11 tonight in Campus Center Auditorium. There will be a $1 admission fee.

Film
"Brighton Beach Memoirs" will be shown at 7:30 tonight in room 163C of the Campus Center. Hillel is sponsoring the free showing.

Study Abroad
The Study Abroad Fair will be from 10 to noon today on the Campus Center Concourse across from the Blue Wall Cafe. Also, visit International Programs at the William S. Clark International Center in Central Residential Area. The advising hours are from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday during the academic semesters.

Bible Study
The New Testament Fellowship will be having a bible study at 7 p.m. every Friday of the semester in the Campus Center. Check the event listing near the information desk on the concourse for the room number.

Talk
Bertell Ollman, professor of political science at New York University will speak "In Defense of Class Analysis" today in Campus Center room 177 at 4 p.m. Sponsored by the UMass Colloquium Committee of the Department of Political Science.

Ingle: acting director of OHR works for Civility on campus

By JOHN SWANSON
Collegian Staff

Grant Ingle's office is a mess. Strewn on the carpet and desks are schedules, press releases and Civility Day posters. Yesterday he cleared a spot on his couch to sit for an interview.

Ingle is the acting director of the Office of Human Relations. This is the last of many weeks he has spent preparing for the 95 activities connected with Civility Day 1988, which will take place on October 27.

Ingle renounced any reference to himself as the coordinator of the events. He considers himself part of a team, which includes Susan Kahn, acting staff assistant for the office, Cindy Hardy, the administrative office manager and two work-study undergraduates.

Hardy said the office functions only as an information center for the event, while the Civility Day Coordinating Committee oversees the administration and planning of the event.

"Staff, faculty, and administration coordinated the educational part of (Civility Day). It all came together on paper in this office," she said.

Civility Day events, which will actually continue through next week, will include workshops, radio programs, concerts, films, lectures and rallies. Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young's speech will conclude the week's activities on Oct. 27.

The Office of Human Relations was created in 1982 through a recommendation of the Chancellor's Commission on Civility. Guidelines were explained in the office's annual report: "The purpose of the Office of Human Relations is to enhance the University's capacity to anticipate and respond effectively to a broad range of human relations concerns. The office promotes institutional problem-solving regarding such issues as racism, sexism, anti-Semitism, homophobia and workplace conflict. The office focuses on patterns of incidents rather than on individual grievances."

The office responds to such problems by producing "educational programs, workshops, brochures, procedures and policy proposals," according to the report.

Ingle said public universities are progressive institutions as far as the material that they teach, but they are more resistant to change than even many corporations.

"We have an institution, a small city of 32,000 people here. The mission of the office is to change the climate of the campus in a multi-cultural direction," he said.

Among the Prioritized Functions of the office is to "initiate institutional problems-solving regarding human relations issues."

Ingle said this function is twofold. First, the office must attempt to identify potential problems in the University community and prevent them before they happen. Second, if a crisis does occur, Ingle said, office employees assemble with the people involved in the incident and "figure out 'What did we do?, What went well? What needed improvement? And how should we think about responding to this kind of issue or incident next time it happens?' "

"So there are these two basic modes. My preference is to operate in the preventative mode," he said.

Ingle said he did not know whether the week's activities would be considered "The First Civility Day" or "The First Annual Civility Day."

"Dealing with social issues like racism on this campus and events like Civility Day are part of an ongoing process that we need to do continuously because we have such a high turnover in our community. It's part of our identity as an educational institution," he said.

Civility Week Schedule of Events

Civility Day 1988 Is Intended to Appreciate the Diversity of the Campus Community

Civility Day 1988 is an outgrowth of the 'Hurst Report' recommendation that the University of Massachusetts at Amherst conduct an annual observance in recognition and appreciation of the diversity in the campus community. Frederick Hurst, in investigating the racial melee which erupted in the Southwest Residential Area on October 27, 1986, suggested that the observance serve to remind the campus of that black mark in recent University history.

The Faculty Senate last year prompted the planning which led to this year's Civility Day. The Chancellor's Office and the Office of Human Relations responded by coordinating a week of events leading to the October 27 culmination. Both offices extend their gratitude to the Civility Day Coordinating Committee and to those who have stepped forward to sponsor and lead events during the week.

Coordinating Committee

The members of the Civility Day Coordinating Committee are Norman Aitken and Kyle Hoffman, Provost's Office; Jonathan Frank, AFSCME; Dick Giglio, Industrial Engineering; Grant Ingle, Human Relations; Susan Kahn, Human Relations; Andre Kandel, Residential Education; Simone Nicholson, undergraduate; Jesse Ortiz, Public Health; Susan Parker, USA and COINS; Jason Rabinowitz, Student Government Association; Masha Rudman, Education; Harlan Sturm, Spanish and Portugese; Rick Townes, Dean of Students Office; Gita van Heerden, Graduate Student Senate; and Michael Wolff, English.

Civility Day Activities 1988

Continuing Events

Photographs by Stan Sherer: "Journey into the Soul: The Spiritual Baptists of Barbados"
October 12 - November 12
10:00am - 4:00pm, Monday - Friday or by appointment Augusta Savage Gallery, New Africa House, 545-0832

Major Exhibit: Collected papers from W.E.B. DuBois October 24-28
Library Lobby, 545-0058

Buttons: "Learning Fosters Civility"
Library Service Desk, 545-0058

Information table: "Language Diversity" 10:00am - 4:00pm, Campus Center Concourse
Sponsored by the Linguistics Department, Sylvie Robidoux, 545-0889 Information about language diversity around the country and the world

Copies of "Hurst Report" and related documents
Reserve Desk Goodell Library

Documents related to the 1986 racial incident and issues raised by minority students and faculty over the past 20 years
University Archives
25th Floor University Library

Thursday, October 20

Danforth Luncheon Speakers: Betty Shabazz, Professor, Health Services, Medgar Evers College; Robert Schwartz, Education Advisor to Governor Dukakis; Don Grasso, Vice President, Danforth Foundation
11:30am - 1:00pm, Memorial Hall
Sponsored by Institute for the Advanced Study in the Humanities, Jules Chametzky, 545-2029
By invitation only

Friday, October 21

Film and Discussion: "Wrath of Grapes: Pesticides and Migrant Workers" 12:00 - 1:30pm, Campus Center 168C Sponsored by Jesse Ortiz, 545-0484

Workshop: Training Program for Teaching Assistants led by Social Issues Trainers 1:00 - 5:00pm, Herter 231 Sponsored by the Graduate Student Senate, Gita van Heerden, 545-2896 Pre-registration required

Presentation and Discussion: "Racial Harassment: What to Do and Where to Go" with representatives from Public Safety, Housing Services, Dean of Students Office, Legal Services Office and the Office of Human Relations
1:30 - 3:00pm, New Africa House
Sponsored by the Office of Human Relations, Grant Ingle, 5-0851; the Division of Student Affairs, Charri Boykin-East, 5-2300; Afrik-Am Society, Lori Edmonds; 665-3920

Film: "Movie Marathon"
8:00pm - 2:00am, Grayson TV Lounge
Sponsored by Orchard Hill Area Government, Meg Gurley, 546-6578
Films showing at 8:00pm, 10:00pm, 12:00am

Dance: "Rock Against Racism"
9:00pm, Campus Center 10th Floor
Sponsored by Young Communist League, Steven Duplisea, 527-7182

Monday, October 24

Information table: "Soviet Jewry" All day, Campus Center Concourse Letterwriting, petition-signing, bracelets signifying solidarity with Refuseniks

Film: "Super Sunday Rally for Soviet Jewry in Washington, D.C."
All day, Campus Center Concourse
Sponsored by Hillel and UJA, 545-2526

Film: "Eyes on the Prize"
9:00am - 3:00pm, Campus Center 174
Sponsored by Audio Visual Department, John Stacey, 545-2454

Workshop: "Strategies for Confronting Racism in the Workplace" led by Diane Goodman 12:00 - 1:30pm, Campus Center 101
Sponsored by the Employee Assistance Program, AFSCME, USA/MTA and PAUMA, Fran Deats, 545-0350

Panel: "International Public Health Issues" featuring international students
12:15 - 1:15pm, Skinner 18
Sponsored by Public Health, Walter Senterfidt, 584-6352

Open Forum: "Issues of Diversity with Regards to Professional Staff on Campus"
1:30 - 3:00pm, Campus Center 804
Sponsored by PAUMA, Ad Hoc Committee on Retention/Recruitment and University Life of Professional Staff on Campus, Agnes Quinones, CCEBMS, 545-0031

Presentation: "White Allies Against Racism" moderated by Diane Goodman
3:30 - 4:30pm, Campus Center 174
Sponsored by Social Issues Training Project, Jill Ullian, 256-8690

Panel Discussion: "Multilingualism and the English-Only Movement" led by Barbara H. Partee
4:30 - 6:00pm, Memorial Hall
Sponsored by the Linguistics Department, Barbara H. Partee, 545-0889
An open forum with campus and community speakers

Social: Chi Omega-Delta Sigma Theta Social
5:00 - 7:30pm, Chi Omega Chapter House, Fraternity/Sorority Park
Sponsored by Chi Omega, 545-0162
Chi Omega and Delta Sigma Theta members only

Film and Discussion: School Daze
7:00pm, Campus Center 174 Sponsored by Ebony Production, Rose Edwards, 546-8410

Lecture and Discussion: Lynora Williams, Director of the Center for Democratic Renewal 7:00pm, Student Union Ballroom
Sponsored by SGA President's Office, Jason Rabinowitz, 545-0341

Panel: "Racism and Religious Values"
7:30 - 9:00pm, Newman Center, Front Lounge
Father Richard Bondi, University Chaplain; Carolyn Jacobs, Associate Professor of Social Work, Smith College; Susan Fiske, Professor of Psychology, 545-0488

Speaker and Panel Discussion: "Arab Stereotypes in America"
7:30 - 9:30pm, 120 School of Management
Sponsored by Near Eastern Area Studies and Arabic Club, Kathleen Moore, 545-4735

Tuesday, October 25

Information table: "Ethiopian Jewry" All day, Campus Center Concourse

Workshop: "Recruiting and Retaining Minority Staff" led by Cathy Welsh, Digital Electronic Corporation

8:00 - 11:00am, Campus Center 163C
Sponsored by University Relations and Development, Ginny Rees University Relations and Development heads only

Radio Show: "Exploring the Connection Between Black Music of the 60s and Civil Rights" 9:00am - 12:00pm, WMUA 91.1FM
Sponsored by Bill Rosenblatt, Disc Jockey, 545-2876

Class: "Detecting and Overcoming Stereotypes in Children's Literature"
9:00 - 11:30am, R228 Furcolo Hall
Masha Rudman, Professor of Education Open to the public

Class: "Writing for Critical Consciousness" with instructor Vivien Sandlund, Teaching Assistant (Social Thought and Political Economy 393A)
9:30 - 11:00am, 339A Lederle Low Rise
Open to class members only

Presentation: "The Mystery of Affirmative Action" with Zaida Giraldo
10:00 - 11:30am, Campus Center 174-76 Sponsored by USA/MTA and AFSCME, Susan Parker, 545-1309

Panel Discussion: "Black Students' Experience Using the Health Center"
11:30am - 1:30pm, 2nd floor library, New Africa House
Sponsored by University Health Services, 549-2671
Open to Health Service staff only

Workshop and Discussion: "Working With People From Different Backgrounds: What Every Supervisor Needs to Know"
12:00 - 1:30pm, Campus Center 168C
Sponsored by Staff Training and Development Unit, Ange DiBenedetto and Raphy Ben Hror, 545-2031

Workshop: "Classism: The Un-Named Experience at UMass" led by Felice Yeskel
12:00 - 1:30pm, Campus Center 101
Sponsored by USA/MTA and AFSCME, Susan Parker, 545-1309

Seminar: "The Disparity in the Health Care Status of Black Americans"
12:30 - 1:30pm, Campus Center 163C
Led by William Darrity, Dean of Health Sciences, 545-1931

Speaker: "Leadership for Excellence and Equity" with Charles Willie, Professor of Urban Studies, Harvard University
1:00 - 3:30pm, Memorial Hall
Sponsored by Coalition for School Improvements, Danforth Foundations, Bob Sinclair, School of Education, 545-3642

Workshop: "Star Power"
2:00 - 5:00pm, Memorial Hall
Sponsored by the Dean of Student's Office, Eileen Stewart, 545-2684
For Student Affairs personnel only

Panel: "Managing Diversity" with Stella Nkomo, Professor, University of North Carolina; David Thomas, Wharton School of Business; Bill Hanson, Digital Equipment Company
3:00 - 5:00pm, to be announced
Sponsored by the School of Management, Marta Calas, 549-4930

Class with film: "US History: Omissions, Distortions and Stereotypes" (Introduction to Social Issues Awareness OHI191)
3:35 - 6:30pm, Brett Main Lounge

Sally Majewski, Student Development Coordinator, Residential Education
Open to the public

Colloquia: "Foucault, Derrida and Affirmative Action"
4:00pm prompt, 301 Herter Hall
Lee Edwards, Chair, Women's Studies; Nicholas Bromell, English Department; Irma McClaurin-Allen, Assistant Dean, CASIAC; Ralph Faulkingham, Anthropology; Wine and cheese

Class: "The Many Faces of Racism in Children's Literature"
4:00 - 6:30pm, R227 Furcolo Hall
Masha Rudman, Professor of Education Open to the public

Lecture and Discussion: "The Impact of Tobacco Company Marketing Upon Minority and Third World Populations" 4:00 - 6:00pm, 120 Arnold House
Led by Dr. Ted Chen, Public Health, 545-1313

Speaker and Slide Show: "The Plight of Ethiopian Jewry" with Attorney Robert Friedman
7:00 - 8:00pm, Campus Center 811-15
Sponsored by Hillel and UJA, 545-2526

continued on page 5

Civility Day Activities 1988

continued from page 4

Movie and Social: "To Kill a Mockingbird" 7:00 - 11:00pm, Campus Center 163C Sponsored by CASA and Board of Governor's Program Council, Bonnie LaMadelene, 545-0198

Speaker: James Steele
7:00pm, Student Union Ballroom
Sponsored by the Young Communist League, Steve Duplisea, 1-527-7182

Speaker: "Institutional Racism" with Dr. Sondra O'Neale, formerly with Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia
7:30 - 9:00pm, Campus Center 168
Sponsored by the Third World Caucus and the Radical Student Union
Open to the public

Speaker: "Is Black English Coming or Going: A Reply to the Labov Hypothesis" with Dr. Walter Wolfram, Co-Director, Research Division Center for Applied Linguistics and Professor, Department of Communication Sciences, University of the District of Columbia
7:30pm, Goessmann 64
Sponsored by Department of Communication Disorders, Professor Harry N. Seymour, 545-0298

Concert: "The Smithereens" with Special Guest to be announced
8:00pm, Fine Arts Center
Sponsored by the Union Program Council, 545-2892
Ticket prices: $8.00/general public; $6.00/student (bring your UMass ID).
For further ticket information contact the Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511

Lecture and Slide Presentation: "Living Hungry in America," with Dr. J. Larry Brown
8:00pm, Campus Center Auditorium
Sponsored by Distinguished Visitor Program, Margaret Arsenault, Student Activities Office, 545-3600

Video: "Racism 101"
9:00pm, Theta Chi Fraternity House
Sponsored by Theta Chi, John Zappala, 253-9015
Space limited. Please call to register

Wednesday, October 26
Information table: "Iranian Jewry" All day, Campus Center Concourse

Radio Show: "Celebrating Our Diversity: Music for Civility Day" 6:00 - 9:00am, WMUA, 91.1 FM
Sponsored by New Song Library, 586-9485 and WMUA Radio Station, 545-2876

Meeting: "Issues of Cultural Diversity Within Everywoman's Center"
10:00 - 11:45am, Wilder Hall
Sponsored by Everywoman's Center, Carol Wallace, 545-0883
Open to Everywoman's Center staff only

Presentation: "Racism in Graduate Education," with J. S. Toyama
10:00am - 12:00pm, Lederle GRC A221
Sponsored by the Office of Minority Graduate Student Recruitment, 545-3424

Staff Seminar: "Counseling in a Multicultural Environment: Issues of Civility" 10:30am - 12:00pm, Berkshire House
Sponsored by Counseling and Academic Development, Judy Davis, 545-0333
For Counseling staff members only

Speaker and Rally: "Rally for Oppressed Jewry in the Soviet Union, Ethiopia, and Iran" 12:00 - 1:00pm, Student Union Steps Sponsored by Hillel and UJA, 545-2526
Panel Discussion: "Report and Assessment of the Writing Program's Effort to Address Diversity Issues: Successes and Limitations" 12:00 - 1:30pm, Herter Hall, 3rd Floor Lounge
Sponsored by the Writing Program, Sara Stelzner, 545-1952
Materials available at event

Presentation: "Bad Blood: A Notorious Case Study in Racism in Public Health Research (the Tuskegee Study)" with Walter Senterfidt 12:30 - 1:30pm, Campus Center 163C
Sponsored by Public Health, Walter Senterfidt, 584-6352

Human Relations Forum: "Personal Experiences of Staff and Faculty Regarding Racism: Majority and Minority Views Points"
12:00 - 1:30pm, Campus Center 904-08
Office of Human Relations, 545-0851

Presentation: "The Mystery of Affirmative Action" with Martha Wharton
1:30 - 3:00pm, Campus Center 162-175
Sponsored by USA/MTA and AFSCME, Susan Parker, 545-1309

Forum: "Graduate Admissions and the Challenge of Cultural Diversity" with Judy Toyama, Graduate School; Tom Stevens, Agricultural and Resource Economics; H erb Gintis, Economics
2:00 - 4:00pm, Thompson Hall, 9th Floor Lounge Sponsored by Economics Department, Agricultural and Resource Economics, and Graduate Employees Organization, Nancy Folbre, 545-4703

Information table: "A Peaceful Coexistence: Racism, Human Rights and Animal Rights"
2:00 - 7:00pm, Campus Center Concourse
Sponsored by the Animal Rights Coalition, Cathy LeMay, 546-7079
Workshop: "Civil Rights, Discrimination and the Fair Housing Act" led by Joanne Levenson and Hilton Alers

3:30 - 5:00pm, Campus Center 163C
Sponsored by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865
Workshop will be given in English and in Spanish, if requested

Lecture and Discussion: "Presumptions in Black and White Communication" with Professor Jack Daniel, Associate Provost of Undergraduate Education at the University of Pittsburgh
3:30 - 5:30pm, E-33 Machmer
Sponsored by Communication Department, Barnett Pearce, 545-1311

Class: "Linguistics Descriptions of Black English"
(Linguistics 401)
4:00 - 5:15pm, 201 Herter Hall
Tom Roper, Linguistics Department, 545-0889
Class open to the public

Workshop: "Racism in the Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Community," with Felice Yeskel, Consultant and Trainer with DiversityWorks, a project of Cold Spring consultants, educational consultants and Madeline Peters, Coordinator of the Third World Women's Program at the Everywoman's Center
6:00 - 7:30pm, Suffolk Room, Student Union
Sponsored by the Faculty/Staff Support Group for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns and the Lesbian, Bisexual and Gay Alliance; Amerin Falk, 545-0154

Forum: "The Cape Verdean Culture" with members of Cape Verdean Student Alliance
7:00 - 8:00pm, Campus Center 163C
Chris Henry, 546-1476; Rosalina Teixeira, 546-7809

Speaker: "The Plight of Iranian Jewry" (Speaker to be announced)
Evening, Time and place to be announced
Sponsored by Hillel and UJA, 545-2625
Speaker and Panel Discussion: "Arabs in America: Living in a Multicultural Society"
7:30 - 9:30pm, Herter 231
Sponsored by Near Eastern Area Studies and Arabic Club, Kathleen Moore, 545-4735

Lecture: "A Linguistics Perspective on Language Discrimination and the University" with Juan Uriagereka, Linguistics
7:30pm, Campus Center 174
Sponsored by Tom Roper, Linguistics Department Public Lecture Series, 545-0889

Panel Discussion: "Teaching Social Issues in Sciences Courses"
8:00 - 9:30pm, Campus Center 174-76
Michael Kreisler, Physics; Linda Slakey, Biochemistry, Bruce Levin, Zoology, 545-2782

Concert: "Big Daddy Kane" with Special Guest "Boogie Down Productions"
8:00pm, Fine Arts Center
Sponsored by the Union Program Council, 545-2892; the Black Mass Communications Project, 545-2426; the Special Activities Support Fund; and the Student Government Association Finance Committee
Ticket prices: $9.00/UMass students with ID; $12.00/general public. For further ticket information contact the Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511

Thursday, October 27

Meeting: "Exploring Issues of Multicultural Organizational Development within the Office of Student Affairs" with an outside consultant
Open only to Division Heads in Student Affairs

Workshop: "Workshop to Plan and Implement UMass Covenant Against Racism"
9:00 - 11:00am, Campus Center 163C
Sponsored by Hillel, 545-2526 and Alpha Epsilon Phi, Jason Kofman 546-5134

Audiotaped Poetry Reading and Discussion: "Poetry Reading by Ntozake Shange" (author of "For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Suicide When The Rainbow Waz Enuf.")
9:30 - 10:45am, 209 Bartlett
Jennie Spencer, English Department, 545-2329
Class: "Writing for Critical Consciousness" Instructor Vivien Sandlund, Teaching Assistant (Social Thought and Political Economy 393A)
9:30 - 11:00am, 339A Low Rise
Graduate Research Center
Class members only

Class: "Civility Issues in Legal Education" with Peter d'Errico (Legal Studies 250)
9:30 - 10:20am, 116 SBA Peter d'Errico, 545-2003 Open to public with limited seating

Class: "The Society for Responsible Engineering" (310 Transportation Engineering) 9:30 - 10:45am, Engineering Lab 326A
Paul Shuldiner, Civil Engineering, 545-2688
Open to class members only

Presentation and Discussion: "The Connections Between Racism and Anti-Semitism" led by Barbara Love
11:00am - 12:00pm, Campus Center 163C
Sponsored by the Jewish Awareness/Anti-Semitism Task Force, Susan Kahn, 545-0851
Audiotaped Poetry Reading and Discussion: "Poetry Reading by Ntozake Shange" (author of "For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Suicide When The Rainbow Waz Enuf")
11:15am - 12:35pm, 203 Bartlett
Jennie Spencer, English Department, 545-2329
Class: "Towards a Theory of Law and Patriarchy" with Peter d'Errico (Legal Studies 497M)
11:15 - 12:30pm, 310 Bartlett
Peter d'Errico, 545-2003
Open to public with limited seating

Rally: "Covenant Against Racism"
Tentative speakers: Andy Bachman, Director of Student Activities, Hillel, University of Wisconsin; Ellen Shapiro, Rabbi Saul Perlmutter
12:00 - 1:00pm, Student Union Steps
Sponsored by Hillel, 545-2526 and Alpha Epsilon Phi, 546-5134 Balloon send off representing three focus groups of Oppressed Jewry

"Hands Across Campus" 1:00pm, Campus Center Pond

Speaker: "Health Needs in the Puerto Rican Community" with Maria Idali Torres, Faculty Member, Springfield College 12:45 - 1:45pm, Skinner 18
Sponsored by Public Health, Walter Senterfidt, 584-6352

Film: "A Tale of O"
1:00 - 2:15pm, Paige 202
Sponsored by Department of Communication Disorders, Charlena Seymour, 545-0131
Open to Communication Disorders majors only

Faculty, Staff, and Student Panel: "A Campus Report Card on Civility"
1:00 - 2:15pm, Campus Center 163C
Sponsored by Faculty and Staff Committee for Human Rights and a Responsible University, Gail Hall, 545-3518; Art Keene, 545-0214

Class Discussion: "Relationship Between Racism and Sexism From a Historical Perspective" (History/Women's Studies 397W) 1:00 - 2:15pm, Herter 217
Sponsored Kathy Peiss, History, 545-1330
Limited to class members

Class Discussion: "A Discussion of Prejudice and Discrimination on the Campus" (Psychology 360H, Honors Social Psychology) 2:30 - 3:45pm, 421 Tobin
Sponsored by George Levinger, Psychology, 545-0168 Class members only

Class Discussion: "Roots of Incivility and Civility" (Psychology 392D - Kindness and Cruelty: Psychological Understanding and Personal Experience) 2:30 - 3:45pm, 307 Tobin
Led by Erv Staub, Psychology, 545-0071
Open to the public

Class Discussion: "Race, Class and Feminism" (Women's Studies 301)
4:00 - 5:15pm, Herter 111
Sponsored by Kathy Peiss, History, 545-1330
Limited to class members

Presentation: "Political Views on Social Issues"
4:30 - 6:30pm, Campus Center 163C
Sponsored by the University Democrats, 545-0199

Presentation: "Women's Empowerment" with Vice Chancellor Deirdre Ling at Kappa Kappa Gamma - Alpha Kappa Alpha Social
5:30 - 7:00pm, Kappa Kappa Gamma House, 32 Nutting Avenue, Amherst
Sponsored by Heather Hartmann, President of Kappa Kappa Gamma, 545-0321 and Deb Valkenaar, Office of Greek Affairs, 545-2711
For members and pledges of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Kappa Alpha only

Chancellor's Speaker: Andrew Young, Mayor of Atlanta, former Ambassador to the United Nations
7:00pm, Campus Center Auditorium

Civility Day Activities, continued

Union Video Center schedule

continued from page 5

These tapes can be seen in the UVC screening room (201 Student Union Building) or in the back of The Hatch.

* * *

Friday, October 21

Union Video Center
201 Student Union Building
10:00 a.m. - Hopi Songs of the Fourth World

12:00 p.m. - UMass Video Update

12:30 p.m. - John Trudell & "Tribal Voices" - American Indian poet/activist reading from his work which challenges us all to look at what we are doing to the environment and, because we are a part of it, to ourselves.

1:20 p.m. - Pow-wow by the campus pond

1:30 p.m. - Movement Building - Ron LaFrance - traditional chief for the Mohawk Nation Council

John Mohawk - founding editor of Akwesasne notes, co-author of Basic Call to Consciousness, and publisher of Daybreak, an Indian world-newspaper
Jutta Ditfurth - exponent of radical ecology, leader of demonstrations and civil disobedience actions on environmental issues, and spokesperson for the West German Greens

Alfredo Syrkis - writer/political activist and one of the founding members of the Brazilian Green Party

2:30 p.m. - Jose Barreiro - on Indian Rightsand Natural Resources - from the Indigenous Press Network, co-author of Basic Call to Consciousness, editor of Daybreak, an Indian worldview newspaper. Mr. Barreiro lives and works at the experimental farm of the Indigenous Permaculture Networking Center.

4:00 p.m. - Seeds Beneath the Snow - a documentary about the peace movement. This tape is both a history and a criticism of the movement. Told through documentation of different actions and interviews with peace activists Brian Wilson, George Mizo, Charlie Liteky, and Duncan Murphy from the Veterans' Fast for Life, Elvia Alvarado Galo, Honduran Peasant Federation organizer and author of Don't Be Afraid Gringo, a 22-year-old Salvadorian activist Yanira Corea, who after being forced to leave El Salvador was kidnapped and tortured by members of the Death Squads in this country to intimidate and silence other Salvadorian refugees living in the US. By Greg Franceschi.

THE MUSTARD SEED - a multi-media coffeehouse - music/video/readings

6:00 p.m. - Andy & Steve - New Acoustic Music

6:30 p.m. - Hopi Songs of the Fourth World

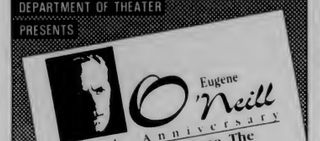
7:00 p.m. - George Koumantzelis - poet/drummer reading from his work

7:30 p.m. - Union Man - narrative video/pseudo-documentary about mythical union folk singer Dilsey Moore, played by David Del Poio. All songs written or adapted by Del Poip or Steve Saraceno. From a larger work in progress. Written, directed, and prodecued by Saraceno.

8:00 p.m. - Are You Paying Too Much for Rent? - a documentary about landlord gouging in Amherst and the experiences of tenants who have challenged their landlords to justify the rents they have been charging, most of whom had their rents lowered by the Housing Review Board, which

continued from page 7

THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
DEPARTMENT OF THEATER
PRESENTS



Eugene O'Neill
100th Anniversary
SEA PLAYS: In the Zone, The Long Voyage Home, Ile. Three short plays by the master of modern American drama
October 20 22, 26 29 at 8 pm
Matinee October 27 at 10 am
RAND THEATER FINE ARTS CENTER
TICKETS FINE ARTS CENTER BOX OFFICE 545 2511

How to run your own show.

The American Express® Card can play a starring role virtually anywhere you shop, from Tulsa to Thailand. Whether you're buying a TV or a T-shirt. So during college and after, it's the perfect way to pay for just about everything you'll want.

How to get the Card now.

College is the first sign of success. And because we believe in your potential, we've made it easier to get the American Express Card right now. Whether you're a freshman, senior or grad student, look into our new automatic approval offers. For details, pick up an application on campus. Or call 1-800-THE-CARD and ask for a student application.

The American Express Card.
Don't Leave School Without It.℠

©1988 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.

TRAVEL RELATED SERVICES

GOOD FOR WEDNESDAY OR THURSDAY
FLAT STREET
17 FLAT STREET / BRATTLEBORO, VERMONT
802-254-8257
ADMIT ONE
Bring This Coupon

Carbur's Comedy Club
ADVOCATE BEST VALLEY READERS POLL 1988 FIRST PLACE
Thursday nite live on stage at 8:45 p.m.
•Full menu available.

Jeff Shaffer

Filmore

Leo T. Baldwin

Hadley Hour
Mon.-Fri. 4-7
Free Buffalo Wings and Munchie Buffet

This Week's Drink Specials
Keoke $2.75
Molson $1.50

The Valley's Best Sunday Brunch Buffet
11-3 at Carbur's
All you can eat for $9.95

Civility Day Activities, continued

Union Video Center schedule, continued

continued from page 6

has the authority to reduce rents if they determine that a landlord is charging tenants more than a fair net operating income. Features interviews with Joanne Levenson of the UMass Off-campus Housing Office, infamous landlord advocate Richard Gold, student-tenant Pat Dillingham, and many others. By Greg Franceschi.

9:00 p.m. - Roberto Weill - Venezuelan guitarist/singer performing Latin American nueva cancion (new song) music with social and political messages

9:30 p.m. - Rob Skelton writer/editor/performer

Monday, October 24

10:00 a.m. - From Montgomery to Memphis

11:45 a.m. - Black/Labor Mobilization - documentation of a march and rally organized in response to a Klan march

12:25 p.m. - Maya Angelou writer/singer - talking about her life and work

1:15 p.m. - Bill Russell - the best center the Celtics ever had on listening and making yourself heard

2:15 p.m. - Leon Bass - Perspectives of an Eye Witness - on his experience as a black soldier during WWII, his involvement in the liberation of concentration victims, and his experiences of racism throughout his life

3:00 p.m. - Racism Yesterday & Today - This project came about as a response to the racial unrest on the University of Massachusetts campus. Sponsored by the Center of Social Issues, this video probes and allows students to voice their concerns on racism. Richard "Adisa" Jones has been the motivation and "soul" force behind this project; he did all the necessary production work. Special thanks to Enez Boyde for staying on my ass.

3:15 p.m. - Theatre with a conscience - documentation of a play written and performed by students at the University of Massachusetts about their experiences of racism. Orchestrated by Barbara Harrington and Enez Boyde.

3:45 p.m. - Black Writers' Conference - A tribute to James Baldwin. The following writers reading from their work: Chinua Achebe, Michael Thelwell, Irma McCluren-Allen, Andrew Salkey, John Wideman

Tuesday, October 25

Union Video Center
201 Student Union Building
10:00 a.m. - Jessie Jackson - 1984 speech given at Smith College

10:50 a.m. - Building Racial and Ethnic Coalitions: Michael Thelwell, Sarah Garcia, and Mel King

12:00 p.m. - UMass Video Update

12:30 p.m. - Jessie Jackson - 1988 address given at the Democratic Convention

1:30 p.m. - They Can't Break Our Union - documentary about a workers' strike in Westfield, Massachusetts by Robbie Lepzer

2:00 p.m. - Civil Disobedience - documentary about non-violent social change. Features interviews with student activists/peace workers, documentation of marches and rallies, and testimonials of UMass students about their struggles fighting to keep the CIA off their campus. A Mary Carney Production

Wednesday, October 26

Union Video Center
201 Student Union Building
10:00 a.m. - Acting Strategically - Jutta Ditfurth - spokesperson for the West German Green Party. Richard Grossman - former director of Greenpeace. Barbara Epstein - social movement historian. Carla Boggs - Social Movements and Political Power. Patricia Coleman-Burns - National Organization for an American Revolution

11:30 a.m. - Economic Alternatives - John Willoughby - economist/writer. Merle Hansen - North American Farm Alliance. Susan Meeker-Lowry - Institute for Gaian Economics. Chuck Collins - Institute for Community Economics

11:30 a.m. - Matters So Fundamental - documentary on abortion - for and against

1:00 p.m. - Thinking Ecologically - Daniel Chordorkoff - founder of the Institute for Social Ecology. David Haenke - The Bioregional Project. Nesta King - WomanEarth Feminist Peace Institute. Asoka Bandarage - Sri Lankan writer and activist
2:30 p.m. - Cesar Chavez - leader of the United Farm Workers' Union and long-time organizer of the boycott on California grapes on toxic pesticides that are being used to make California grapes look good after being shipped long distances, the genetic damage done to the children of farm workers that have been exposed to these chemicals, and what we can do to help keep these poisons, which are oil-based and do not wash off, from being used on our food

Thursday, October 27

Union Video Center
201 Student Union Building
10:00 a.m. - The First Anniversary Celebration of the Peace Pagoda

11:30 a.m. - The Third Anniversary of the Peace Pagoda

1:00 p.m. - Roots of the American Green Movement
Katsi Cook - Akwesasne Mohawk - Mother's Milk Project
Nesta King - WomanEarth Feminist - Peace Institute
Murray Bookchin - activist/writer
James Boggs - National Organization for an American Revolution

2:00 p.m. - "Laverne Houward and the Soup Company" 15 min. color -1986. This tape describes the meal program which operates form 11:30 to 1:30 on Saturdays and Sundays in teh basement of teh First Congregational Church in Amherst. The program's manager is a black woman, Laverne Howard, and she describes the soup company's history and her style of providing hardy nutritous meals.

2:15 - Racism yesterday and today.

3:00 p.m. - Seeds Beneath the Snow - see previous description (Friday, 4:00 p.m.) a history and criticism of the peace movement in the eighties.

Programming sponsored and, in most cases, produced by the Union Video Center — For further information on the Civility Week programming schedule for the Union Video Center, contact Greg Franceschi at 545-1336 or 586-5587.

* * *

Self Serve Typing
kinko's
the copy center
220 No. Pleasant St.
253-2543

BAR HARBOR
Clothing Outlet
ONE PRICE $10 STORE
JouJou Cherokee Tangiers
Diane Von Furstenberg Devon Calvin Klein Sero
Chaus Anne Klein Woolrich
Russ Togs
Super Stop & Shop Plaza
Route 9, Hadley
Free Belt with this Ad
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

NOW REPRESENTING STA TRAVEL
Student Travel Services Worldwide.
Low Airfare Rail Passes
Visa Student ID Cards
CARROLL TRAVEL
15 Cowles Lane, Amherst, MA
256-8931

What are YOU going to be this Halloween?
SCARY MASKS
• Skull
• Werewolf
• Zombie
• Reagan
The Halloween Store
Find it at FACES
amherst/northampton

Introducing the
POT BELLY DELI
Route 9 • Hadley • 584-1603
Lunchtime, Dinnertime, anytime, you'll love our authentic New York style delicacies: Homemade Salads, Hot & Cold Subs and Sandwiches...to satify your appetite and budget.
$1.00 off any sub
HOT: Chicken Parm. Meatball Sausage & Peppers
COLD: Roast Beef Ham Turkey Breast
& Many Others

Flu vaccinations delayed until Nov.

Amherst Health Director doubts flu cases will rise

By JENNIFER McKINNEY
Collegian Correspondent

Flu vaccinations will be delayed this year because medicine makers have had problems producing the B-strain of the virus, cutting production in half, according to the Massachusetts Public Health Department.

Joseph DeCinti, assistant director of the Massachusetts Public Health Department, said, "We usually like to begin innoculations the last week of September, continuing into November because people have just had a warm summer and haven't yet become susceptible to the usual winter colds and viruses."

DeCinti said the vaccinations should become available the first week of November. "We expect to get the first flu cases around the end of December or beginning of January," he said.

Betty Anderson Frederic, director at Amherst Health Department, said she doubted the delay would have any effect on the number of flu cases reported, because "it takes the vaccination about four to six weeks to become effective, which should allow enough time for bodies to develop a strong enough resistance to the virus."

According to the Amherst Health Department, groups that run the highest risk of influenza-related complications are adults with children who have chronic pulmonary cardiovascular disorders that require regular medical follow-up or hospitalization during the year before, including children with asthma, and residents of

continued on page 9

■ harassment

continued from page 1

vestigates an action and makes a recommendation to the appropriate people in charge.

In this case, a recommendation will be made to the Director of the Physical Plant, Roger Cherewatti. If he does not comply with the recommendation, she said the recommendation will move up the chain of command, all the way to Chancellor Joseph Duffey.

Affirmative Action will not initiate any legal action.

An employee at the Hampshire County District Attorney's office said racial harassment laws normally come under the Civil Rights Laws. After hearing what information is currently available to the public about the case, the employee said it might be difficult to prosecute because intent to harass or intimidate must be proven.

In the case of the Physical Plant supervisor, proving intent would be difficult because the broadcast was apparently made accidentally, the employee said.

According to the source, harassment is a criminal offense and the penalties are "rather severe."

Alan Cassella, a compliance officer at the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination, said the his organization cannot award punitive damages in cases of harassment. However, emotional distress damages can be awarded in certain cases.

But MCAD, the same organization that investigated the Southwest Residential Area brawl after the final game of the 1986 World Series, does not usually begin an investigation unless the person who claims harassment files a complaint, or persons who witnessed the harassment file a complaint. There have been occasions, however, where the three commissioners of the organization have initiated an investigation.

The difference between a District Attorney's investigation and a MCAD investigation is, for the MCAD, intent does not have to be shown.

Another sanction the commission could impose would be the issuance of a cease and desist order requiring the harassing party to stop discriminatory conduct. They could also monitor the Physical Plant's radio frequency for a predetermined period of time.

The Federal Communications Commission could not be reached yesterday to comment on what sanctions, if any, they could impose for using an open air frequency to transmit racially derogatory remarks.

Making a beer run? Run to Liquors 44!
BEER WINE LIQUORS
BUD LIGHT $9.99 in bar bottles
$14.99 BECK'S BEER case of 24 12 oz. cans
COORS $10.39 case of 24 12 oz. cans
6 PACK PILSNER URQUELL $4.49
ROLLING ROCK $9.69 ROLLING ROCK in bar bottles case of 24 12 oz. bottles
Today's Gallo
Gallo Premium Wines all flavors...3 liter bottle sale $4.99 mail-in rebate $1.50 $3.49 from the vineyards down under... AUSTRALIAN WINES
1983 WYNDHAM BIN 44 CABERNET SAUVIGNON $4.99
1987 LINDEMAN'S BIN 65 CHARDONNAY $4.99
1985 HARDY'S CAPTAIN'S SELECTION CABERNET SAUVIGNON $3.99
1987 HILL-SMITH RIESLING $3.99
— ALL PRICES NET FOR 750 ml —
KAHLUA $10.49 750 ml
McGREGOR SCOTCH $11.99 1.75L
WINDSOR CANADA'S SMOOTHEST WHISKY sale $12.99 mail in rebate $3.00 $9.49 FINAL COST
CUERVO GOLD TEQUILA $8.49 750 ml
GORDON'S GIN sale $12.99 mail in rebate $2.00 $10.99 FINAL COST 1.75 L
LIQUORS 44
SALE PRICES THUR OCT 20
9am to 11pm Monday thru Saturday
Route 9 Amherst/Hadley Line 253-9344
(at the Super Stop & Shop Plaza)
TeleCheck

Retreads Tire Sale
-Same Tread depth, width design as new Tire
-All-season traction
-Lifetime warranty
-cost efficient
P155/80 R13 -$28.95
P165/80 R13 -$29.95
P175/80 R13 -$29.95
P185/80 R13 -$30.95
P185/75 R14 -$32.95
P195/75 R14 -$32.95
P205/75 R14 -$33.95
P215/75 R14 -$33.95
P215/75 R15 -$33.95
P225/75 R15 -$34.95
P235/75 R15 -$34.95
253-9911
HADLEY TIRE & AUTO CENTER
439 RUSSELL ST., RT 9 HADLEY
Instant Credit up to $1000 for Qualified Applicants
253-9911 • Hanger One Bldg Amherst/Hadley Line

HOUSING EXEMPTION APPLICATIONS

Frosh, Sophomores and Stockbridge students who wish to live off-campus for the Spring 1989 semester should apply for an exemption from the on-campus housing regulation. Housing Exemption Applications are now available in the Housing Assignment Office, Room 235 Whitmore. Applications are due no later than Monday, October 31, 1988. Please submit all applications to the Housing Assignment Office, 235 Whitmore.

IMPORTANT NOTES:

PLEASE READ CAREFULLY

Signing a lease is not valid grounds for receiving an exemption from the on-campus housing requirement. DO NOT SIGN A LEASE UNLESS YOU HAVE RECEIVED AN EXEMPTION. Any student who signs a lease without prior approval from the Housing Assignment Office is responsible for all on-campus fees and will be required to reside on-campus.

Students who are granted an exemption will lose their housing assignment for Spring 1989 on the last day of the semester, unless prior arrangements are made with the Housing Assignment Office. Thank you.

■ flu

continued from page 8

nursing homes and other facilities housing patients of any age with chronic medical conditions.

Groups at some risk of flu-related complications are: those over sixty-five, adults and children who have needed regular medical follow-up or hospitalization during the preceding year because of chronic metabolic disease— including diabetes mellitus, renal dysfunction, hemoglobinopathies or immunosuppression; and those aged six months to 18 years who are receiving long-term aspirin therapy and, therefore may be at risk of contracting Reye's Syndrome after a flu infection.

Groups who could transmit influenza to high-risk persons are: physicians, nurses, and other personnel who have extensive contact with high-risk patients (such as primary-care and certain specialty clinicians as well as staff of chronic-care facilities and intensive-care units); providers of home care to high-risk persons (such as visiting nurses and volunteer workers); and household members of high-risk persons, including children.

The Amherst Health Department urges these groups to take advantage of the vaccine, which is free.

CHANGES DANCE CLUB
presents
THE DATING GAME
Friday Oct. 21 10-?
75¢ DRAFTS!
Prizes Include
DINNER FOR 2
TOTAL FITNESS NAUTILUS AEROBICS SELF DEFENSE
One Week Aerobics
HAMP 6 AMC MOVIE PASSES
CONTESTANTS NEEDED
Rt. 9 Amherst $2 Cover 256-8284

DISTINGUISHED FACULTY LECTURE SERIES
You are cordially invited to attend
a special lecture by
Rachel K. Clifton
of the Department of Psychology
entitled
"The Development of the Auditory System in Human Infants"
What do newborn babies hear, and what early use do they make of it? As recently as two decades ago, newborn infants were believed to have limited sensory perception. Today, we know their senses are both acute and sophisticated at birth. How is the infant's auditory input processed, and how do they learn to locate the source of sound? Recent infant research has led to greater understanding of both the auditory system and brain development in general.
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Bowker Auditorium, October 20, 1988
8 p.m.
Reception immediately following, Campus Center 10th Floor
Sponsored by contributions from alumni of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst

UPC Presents:
Tuesday, October 25
8:00 PM
Fine Arts Center
Tickets on sale
Wed. Oct. 12
SMITHEREENS With Special Guests
$6 UMASS Students
$8 General Public
Tickets on sale at the F.A.C. Box Office
MC/Visa
545-2511

GULF Stream RESTAURANT
Route 9 and University Drive, Amherst 253-9757
Lunch Tues.—Fri. 11:30-3:00 • Dinner Nightly from 5:00
"All-You-Can-Eat" LUNCH BUFFET
Tues.-Fri. 11:30-3 p.m. $4.95
Sunday-Monday-Tuesday Dinner
25% DISCOUNT *
* (Discount applies to food items purchased for dinner in the dining room. Cannot be used in conjunction with other discounts.)
with your valid Student ID
The Pink Cadillac
Oldies Dance Club
Route 9 & University Drive, Amherst 253 - 9750
Downstairs at the Gulf Stream
THURSDAY IS "COLLEGE NIGHT"
Busch Night
Hats, T-Shirts and Giveaways
Pitchers of Busch $3.50
ΣΑΜ
Invites you to join us for a drink 6 - 9 p.m. Sat. Oct. 22
Every Wednesday Enjoy Live Blues and Boogie with Evening Pro Blusica
Pitchers of Beer $5.25

The long and winding road to and from Howard Johnson's

I am sitting in a Howard Johnson's in the middle of Haverhill, at 10 p.m. on a Sunday night. The unnaturally green plants stand out against the orange venetian blinds. Something about them bothers me, but I can't figure out what it is. The windows reflect the highway lights. My car shredded a couple of belts on that same highway two hours earlier. The garageman told me he can tow it tonight but won't be able to fix it until tomorrow. My friends who live near Boston aren't at home. I'm scared and almost broke with only $13.85 stashed in various places for safe keeping.

But I am not alone. Officer Pare, my initial rescuer, called a mechanic immediately. Then instead of letting Towingman drive me to a 24-hour garage where I'd probably wait in a small room for some person (as yet undetermined) to pick me up, he brought me here instead. "A female isn't safe by herself these days."

He asked me what I did. I replied that I counseled problem kids for a couple of years, but now I am a student. He said he had a problem. He picked up a runaway this Friday. His parents don't want him back, and the Department of Social Services had "no placement available," so he spent the weekend in jail. "It's no place for a good kid." We both knew that the boy would wait there until the system was ready. As he dropped me off I saw the frustration in his eyes. He wanted to help him. I thanked him, got my stuff from the back and left.

Standing outside at the phones I felt a little lost. I called all the friends I had listed in my silver address book, but no one one was around. A Lady-Stranger overheard my distress. She kindly offered to drive me any place I needed to go. When I declined, she told me, in a very motherly tone, to go inside where it was warmer and wait.

The waitresses took over, checking in on me every half hour or so. The restaurant closes at 11 p.m., but the lobby of the motor lodge stays open all night. Sure, it'll be fine; I'll call the manager and arrange everything. Here's some tea on the house.

I am not alone here. People are taking care of me. It's nothing like the news or the "Donahue programs" say. No one tries to steal my money or compromise my virtues. We build a community and I am secure here. By counting on people, I deny the apocalypse future the "Enquire"-ing minds want me to know.

It's 10:30 p.m., and I stare at the plants. They look out of place in the autumn weather, none of them have any brown leaves. They also look too full and too regular. I puzzled it out; they in contrast to the people, aren't real.

Finally, as the restaurant is closing, I contact a once-met acquaintance. He offers me transport and a bed. I feel alright.

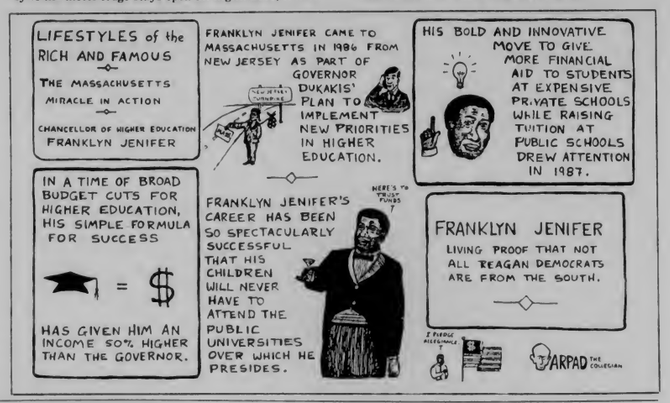
Clarinda Rose-Turner is a UMass student

In other news. . .

At the Wake Forest Debate with Michael Dukakis, Bush tried to minimize the Reagan administration's once cozy relationship with Panama's drug-trafficking dictator, Manuel Noriega, a relationship that included paying him for intelligence and other services. "It was the Reagan-Bush administration that brought this man to justice," Bush said. "And as the governor of Massachusetts knows, there was no evidence that governor — that, uh, Mr. Noriega — was involved in drugs — until we indicted him."

Reagan and Bush brought Noriega to justice? Noriega's indictment last February was engineered by enterprising Florida prosecutors, with no encouragement form the White House or Justice Department. In fact, the admininistration at first resisted the two indictments and only later decided to roll with the punches — to try and dump Noriega by inducing a Philippines-style popular insurrection. The result was the embarrassing failure that festers to this day.
— The New Republic, Oct. 7

The Collegian accepts letters and columns from the UMass and five-college community. All submissions must be typed and double spaced. Also, submissions automatically become the property of the Collegian, and may be edited for space, grammar, and clarity.



LIFESTYLES of the RICH AND FAMOUS
THE MASSACHUSETTS MIRACLE IN ACTION
CHANCELLOR OF HIGHER EDUCATION FRANKLYN JENIFER
FRANKLYN JENIFER CAME TO MASSACHUSETTS IN 1986 FROM NEW JERSEY AS PART OF GOVERNOR DUKAKIS' PLAN TO IMPLEMENT NEW PRIORITIES IN HIGHER EDUCATION.
HIS BOLD AND INNOVATIVE MOVE TO GIVE MORE FINANCIAL AID TO STUDENTS AT EXPENSIVE PRIVATE SCHOOLS WHILE RAISING TUITION AT PUBLIC SCHOOLS DREW ATTENTION IN 1987.
IN A TIME OF BROAD BUDGET CUTS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION, HIS SIMPLE FORMULA FOR SUCCESS
= $
HAS GIVEN HIM AN INCOME 50% HIGHER THAN THE GOVERNOR.
FRANKLYN JENIFER'S CAREER HAS BEEN SO SPECTACULARLY SUCCESSFUL THAT HIS CHILDREN WILL NEVER HAVE TO ATTEND THE PUBLIC UNIVERSITIES OVER WHICH HE PRESIDES.
HERE'S TO YOU, FUNDS
FRANKLYN JENIFER
LIVING PROOF THAT NOT ALL REAGAN DEMOCRATS ARE FROM THE SOUTH.
I PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE
CARPAD THE COLLEGIAN

ADVOCATE BEST OF THE VALLEY READERS POLL 1987
Every Monday Through Thursday
all you can eat buffet 5 p.m.
$6.25
Sun.-Thurs. 11-10, Fri. & Sat. 11-1 BANQUET ROOM AVAILABLE
PEKING GARDEN
A MANDARIN & SZECHUAN RESTAURANT
586-1202 on Route 9, Hadley Beneath the Wall

Whiteface Mt., Lake Placid
Invites you to Annual Olympic College Ski Weeks
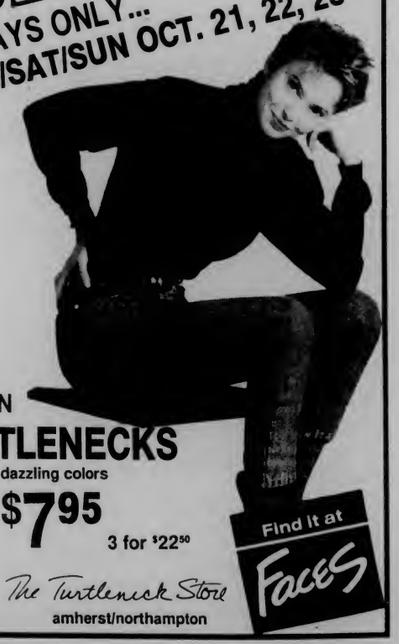
Jan. 2-6 and Jan. 9-13
- Olympic Shootout
- Olympic Obstacle
- Olympic Treasure Hunt
- Olympic Giant Slalom
- Special Ski School Lesson Rates

Bobsled Rides
Toboggan Rides
Ice Skating
Parties/Dancing
Ski Movies
Talent Night
*$65.00 -five day lift pass
For a FREE brochure call:
In NYS 800-462-6236
In other US States 800-255-5515
OLYMPIC AUTHORITY Lake Placid, New York
*College students must present a full-time student I.D. card and must be age 25 or under

SALE!
3 DAYS ONLY...
FRI/SAT/SUN OCT. 21, 22, 23


100% COTTON
TURTLENECKS
in a dozen dazzling colors
reg. $9.95 $7.95
3 for $22.50
The Turtleneck Store
amherst/northampton
Find it at FACES

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS
PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Judge's rule suspicious

A recent peculiar decision by Hampshire District Court Judge Alvertus Morse could conceivably change law enforcement by Amherst police officers for the worse.

It was on Monday that Morse ordered two University of Massachusetts students to each pay $100 as restitution for violating the open-container law. Morse reasoned that if enough students are caught with open booze bottles or cans and charged $100, eventually $5,000 would be raised to cover the overtime the Amherst police supposedly needs to carry on crackdowns each weekend.

The decision, whether the judge realized it, basically tells law enforcement officers: "The more alcohol-related arrests you make on weekends, the more money your department will get for overtime pay."

Judge Morse has turned police officers into fundraisers, and the responsibility of upholding the law for the right reasons now rests on each officer's shoulder, thanks to his short-sightedness. he law should be upheld not so the police department can acquire money for overtime through questionable means, but instead so citizens are held accountable for their actions.

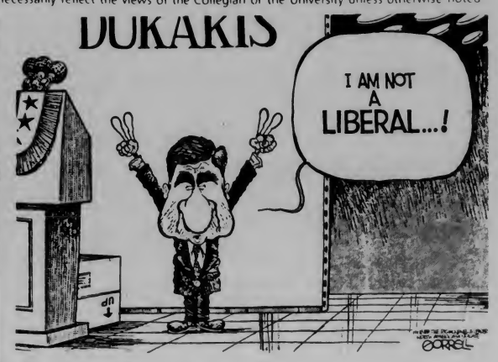
"It's not common to assess the costs of police overtime as restitution. That's unusual," said Northampton attorney Meade Borrows. "Overtime is considered to be the usual cost of the town."

The usual penalty for individuals caught with open containers is $50. Morse gave the two students a chance to keep the the violation off their records, as long as they stay out of trouble for six months.

This certainly sounds attractive. Who, some might argue, would complain about paying $100 to keep his or her record clean? The obvious problem is that regardless of how you look at it justice is being used for the wrong ends.

Anyone caught breaking the law should be punished. But this does not give judges free reign to make students, or anyone else, fund police salaries. That's what taxes are for.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian board of editors



Just my opinion

University acts as parent

This is the story of two very average guys. Joe and Mike are both 21-years-old, come from nice neighborhoods, and call their parents every other Sunday.

Joe decided not to go to college. Instead he got a job, rented an apartment, and bought a car. He has his own checking account to pay his bills and even has his own Visa card.

Peter Leon

Mike goes to college. To save money he lives on campus, has a nice bicycle and has his own checking account to pay his phone bill and any other minor expenses.

If Joe wants to have a party, he can serve alcohol.

Mike can't have a party, and he can't even have beer in his own room.

If Joe has friends stay over, even of the opposite sex, his friends can use the same bathroom.

Mike's friend's can't. The University he attends has a single sex bathroom policy.

These are just some of the differences that we, as college students, deal with everyday. A person who decides to get a job instead of attending college has all the freedoms and privileges available to them under the law. College students, though, seem to be able to extend their childhood. Certain people in this world still believe that a university can act in loco parentis, which is an archaic law giving anyone or institution the power to act as a parent. In former times it was used for capital punishment of children, today it is used to deny students their rights.

Now most administrators will never admit they believe that this law is still used or effective, but most still try to use its basic principles.

Here at UMass things are not terrible yet, but certainly they are getting worse. Take the bathroom situation. Orchard Hill, where I used to live, and the rest of campus, unless otherwise designated, were coed. Now all bathrooms in the dorms are single sex. Why? I know of very few people who have never lived in a household without sharing the bathroom with a member of the opposite sex. So why is it necessary for the sexes to be separated here? It is certainly not going to promote understanding between the sexes.

At Boston University things are terrible. The Fuhrer-like President, Silber is his name, has approved new strict visitation policies for the dormitories. A student can only sign another student of the same sex into the hall, and that student must vacate the dorm by 11 p.m. This forces people to study outside of the dorms, and so they must walk home at night. Boston University starts in Kenmore Square and continues up Commonwealth Avenue. Now it isn't the combat zone, but muggings do occur, and there have been many students mugged.

The result of these policies is students being forced to move off campus. They generally have to move into low rent apartment complexes, which become glorified "student slums." The landlords are then able to charge grossly inflated rents and not do general upkeep. Again, here at UMass things aren't that bad. Most of the complexes — Squire Village, Brandywine, Cliffside etc. — are not slums, (but they ain't cheap either). If a dispute ever arose between the landlord and student tenant, a student once was able to get legal representation, but our "big daddy" decided we couldn't have legal representation through the Legal Services Center anymore, even though we do fund it.

I guess I find it interesting that if we didn't go to school, we would have all the responsibilities, but since we do, the University takes care of us instead of teaching us about being "responsible adults."

Peter Leon is a Collegian columnist

'M' is for mouth

A crisis I'd like to have

I thought I'd had enough bad news. All week long, I read newspapers and watched the news. Fumbling politicians, poverty and homelessness, wars, the arms buildup, oppression, AIDS, cancer, famines, the declining ozone layer and increasing pollution problem, murders, rapes, and robberies filled my eyes and ears. Those who suffered the most were always the innocent.

Pamela McCarthy

Just when I thought it couldn't get worse, it did.

I was talking to my friend "Sophia"(all names have been changed to protect the innocent and not-so-innocent). Sophia had a rough week. She came down to the Collegian to rant and rave to me about her problems. The Anthropology department needed her for a million things that week; only half of her kitchen floor was installed, she had a laundry load the size of Bruce Willis's ego, she needed to hire a bulldozer to dig out a path in her room (so she could make her way to her bed), and to top it all off, she had to study for classes.

Needless to say, she was stressed.

"Well, at least I'll be able to see Rob tonight," she sighed.

"That's good," I replied soothingly. "At least you can, uh, relax tonight."

"Yeah. . .God, I can't believe how much work I have to do. . .(sigh) But I will be seeing Ralph tonight, so I can't complain too much."

"Uh, Soph, I thought Rob is coming over tonight."

"He is."

"So why'd you say Ralph is coming over?"

"Uhhh. . . because he is. . . oh, no! Pam! I've got two dates tonight!"

"Nice to see you haven't lost your touch, Soph," I said.

"WHAT AM I GONNA DO?!" I am in so much trouble."

"Oh, Soph. the weight of the world is upon your shoulders."

"Shut up!!"she screeched. "This is serious!"

"Oh, yeah, Soph. You're going to have some serious fun tonight."

"That's not funny!!"

"You're right, Soph. There is nothing funny about a woman who has the time for two dates yet no time for anything else. My heart bleeds for you."

"Pamela, I'M HAVING A CRISIS!!!"

"Oh, right. Sure. I'll just tell these people who are starving in the streets to stop feeling sorry for themselves, because my friend Sophia has two dates tonight."

"Well, it is a problem," she grumbled sullenly.

I rolled my eyes in exasperation. "Oh, God. Sophie, I know at least 300 other women who would love to have your problem."

So UMass, just remember not to feel too badly for yourselves. So what if you're being harassed? Who cares if you can't pay for school? Don't whine about being sick, poor, or mentally ill.

My friend Sophie probably has three or four dates tonight. So I'm appealing to you, the kind souls who would volunteer to relieve her of all the trauma and stress of her booming love-life. I know you'd rather be doing other things, but she just may crack under the strain.

Tough life, huh?

Pamela McCarthy is a Collegain columnist

RSO purchase sets poor precedent

The Collegian's coverage of last Wednesday's Undergraduate Student Senate meeting ("Student senate ratifies election, allocates concert, copier funds," Oct. 13) unfairly simplified the debate of the $2,750 grant to Southwest Area Government for a Gestetner machine.

My problem with the motion was not to "punish SWAG for saving students money" as some senators seem to believe. It was a procedural problem that could lead to financial problems.

The Student Government Association Finance Committee approved the allocation of the grant by a 3-2 vote. Some discussion about the amount being too high or that some of the money should be loaned instead of granted. Because the finance meeting adjourned, the senate did not vote on the allocation. But SWAG had decided to purchase a Gestetner and send the bill to the SGA.

Supporters of last Wednesday's motion argued that SWAG's purchase saved students copying costs, which I do not argue. However, no Regisitered Student Organization (and SWAG is a RSO) can purchase equipment and expect the SGA to pay for it without prior approval from the senate, not the Finance Committee.

The senate has set precedence to allow RSOs to be reimbursed for unapproved purchases. If the senate decides not to endorse similar situations with other RSOs, it will send a message to the students that SWAG is more important. If it decides to repeat last Wednesday's performance, it could bankrupt the SGA.

My friends, it is your money, through the mandatory Student Activities Trust Fund fee, which funds the SGA. It is up to you to get involved and to make sure that your money is being used fairly, correctly, and wisely.

Robb Smith
Amherst

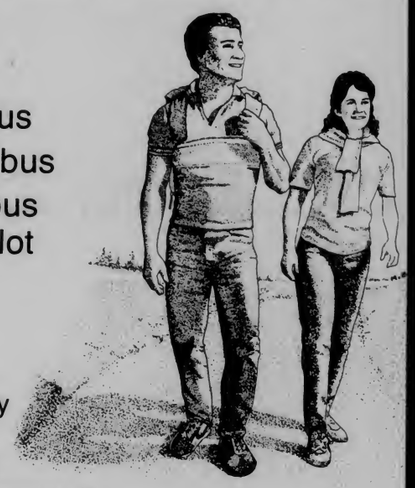
UMass Transit

In order to improve transportation in Amherst and surrounding areas, the Univeristy of Massachusetts will be conducting a Parking and Transit Study on the following dates:

Wednesday, October 26
Wednesday, November 2
Wednesday, November 9

The study will rely mainly on the responses generated from questionnaires aimed at three target audiences:

1. People who walk to campus
2. People who commute via bus
3. People who drive to campus and park in a designated lot



Once completed, questionnaires may be returned to the Campus Center Information Desk or may be folded and returned through Campus Mail Boxes located in dormitories and Administration and Departmental Offices. Please do not answer more than one questionnaire. Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

ARTS/LIVING

Newman's characters make Dreams

By GRAEME THOMSON
Collegian Correspondent

Disc Junkie

It's been five years since Randy Newman released Trouble In Paradise.

Does the term singer-songwriter make you cringe? Does the sight of the names Mark Knopfler and even worse Jeff Lynne among the production credits on an album induce you to run to the bathroom and regurgitate your breakfast? Me too . . . at least normally. But when the singer-songwriter is Randy Newman and the album is Land Of Dreams I'm afraid I have to lock most of my prejudices away in a drawer for the time being.

It's been almost five years since Newman's troubled Trouble in Paradise was released - which proved, if nothing else, that it's impossible to parody bad A.O.R. music. But now he's back with his best work since Little Criminals. Land of Dreams is a consummate character sketchbook. You'll find everthing from b-boys to hippy biker crazies to blue collar racist bigots and bevond.

"Roll with the Punches" continues in the "Rednecks" vein, its lyrical ingenuity offset by an offhand delivery set against almost drunken dixie-piano. "Bad News From Home," a standout track, works by building up an atmosphere of icy isolation in its tale of a relationsip gone bad, while "Masterman and Baby J" is surely a rebuke to Newman's own "Lonely At the Top." But best of the lot for me is "I Want You To Hurt Like I do," a stirring anthem of human solidarity. As for Mr. Knopfler and Mr. Lynne, their grubby hands are hardly in evidence except the former's on the very Dire Straits-like "It's Money That Matters" — the album's only weak track.

continued on page 16

Student Note & Printing Service

COPIES FIVE 5¢ CENTS
Students working for Students located on the top floor of the Student Union (ex-W)

SNACKSENSE

SOME FACTS ABOUT FAT

Functional Fat
Fat in your diet carries fat soluable vitamins such as A, E, D & K. It also provides essential fatty acids. Body fat protects body organs and provides insulation.

BUT, a diet high in fat is associated with an increased risk of heart attack, stroke and breast cancer. Fats are also high in calories.

How to cut down
- drink skim or low fat milk and use it in cooking too.
- substitute low fat yogurt for sour cream or use a mixture of the two.
- eat fewer fried foods and try more fruits and vegetables instead.

University Vending Services & University Health Services
Division of Health Education/University of Massachusetts/Amherst

Condom ... Sponge ... Jelly/Cream ... Pill ... Sterilization ... Vasectomy ... Natural Family Planning ... Diaphragm

Explore Your Options for Contraception

Contraception Education Workshop

Date: Monday, October 24
Time: 7:00 pm
Place: Univ. Health Services, Rm. 302

Brought to you by the Contraception Education Program and the Peer Sexuality Educators
University Health Services
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

INTERNATIONAL GALLERIES
201 N. Pleasant St., Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 253-2500

MARILYN MONROE
October 22 - November 3, 1988
Opening Reception, October 22
1:00 - 3:00 p.m.
AMHERST GALLERY

Advertisement

Since 1960, hormone levels

Pumping iron has replaced flower power. Pinstripes have replaced paisley. And Wall Street has replaced Woodstock.

But of all the major changes that have taken place since the 60's, one is hardly visible at all: the change that has taken place in the Pill.

In 1960, the Pill contained as much as 150 mcgs. of the hormone estrogen. Today, it's down to 35 mcgs. or less. That's a fraction of the original dosage.

Yet, today's Pill is as effective as yesterday's. In fact, it's still the most effective birth control available other than sterilization.

But is the Pill right for you? You should see your doctor to help you answer that. If the answer is yes, then the ultimate decision is yours. And it's important that you learn all you can about oral contraceptives.

First and foremost, what are the risks? Does the Pill cause cancer? Will it make you less fertile? Do you need to take a rest from it? These are just a few questions that have surrounded the Pill since 1960. Questions which must be addressed by you and your physician.

What about the Pill and breast cancer? Although there are conflicting reports concerning this issue, the Centers for Disease Control reported that women who took the Pill, even for 15 years, ran no higher risk of breast cancer than women who didn't. The CDC also reported that ovarian and uterine cancer are substantially less common among women who use oral contraceptives.

The Pill has been shown to have other health benefits as well. Pill users are less likely to develop pelvic inflammatory disease (tubal infections), benign breast disease and iron deficiency anemia, not to mention menstrual cramps.

But if the Pill is so effective at preventing pregnancy, can it later prevent you from having a baby when you're ready to have one? Studies indicate that if you were fertile before you took the Pill, taking it will not affect your ability to have children later. Some women may experience a short period of readjustment after discontinuing the Pill. Even so, most women usually become pregnant soon.

One piece of advice you may have heard if you're on the Pill is that you should take an occasional rest from it. Yet there's no medical basis for this advice. Furthermore, a rest could turn out to be anything but restful, since switching to a less effective form of birth control increases your chances for unplanned pregnancy.

Now that you know what the risks aren't, you should know what the risks are. For example, if you are taking the Pill, you should not smoke. Especially if you are over 35. Cigarette smoking is known to increase the risk of serious and possibly life-threatening adverse effects on the heart and blood vessels from Pill use. What's more, women with certain conditions or medical histories should not use the Pill.

Even if you're already on the Pill, you should see your doctor at least once a year. And read the patient information regularly.

Taking the Pill is easy. Deciding whether or not to take it isn't. That's why it's so important for you to make an informed decision. Continue reading everything you can about birth control methods. Seek out reliable sources. Talk to your doctor.

You've already taken a step in the right direction. Just think, since you began reading this, there's a good chance your knowledge level about the Pill has increased. Considerably.

in the Pill have dropped considerably.

A message from the Association of Reproductive Health Professionals through an educational grant from Ortho Pharmaceutical Corporation.

Iron Elf is out of Circle

By ROB SKELTON
Collegian Staff

Remember the band Circle? They released a cassette album Big Intersection almost two years ago, and are now defunct. Larry Berger and Neal Backman, guitarist and drummer respectively for Circle, have since been working on a concept called Iron Elf. What is it? Iron Elf is essentially another band, but it is complemented by much artistry. Like the Grateful Dead, "the Elf" is an experience, and it's one that everybody can check out tonight at the Hatch at 9 p.m.

If you are tempted to dismiss Iron Elf based on te above-mentioned description, you may have dismissed the band Circle also. Big mistake. Berger and Backman are much-practiced musicians, slave to no specific genre, who use music as trascendence. They play guitars and song, yet slide into percussive improvisation. They hold weekly gatherings at their house in South Amherst where they play, but they invite other to join in.

So it can be said that Iron Elf has a spiritual dimension. As so many bands lack in that department, this is the best reason to check out Iron Elf tonight at the Hatch. The other reason is Mother Henry's Kitchen, a rockin' combination of locals led by Steve Crow on guitars and vocals, who will immediately follow Iron Elf with what is billed as a set of stomping tunes including some Chuck Berry, Lou Reed and several originals.

As for the originals members of Circle, founding drummer Aram Tabackman is working in computer graphics (advertising) in L.A.; former lead guitarist Ernie Wilson is jamming with the Outskirts, local to Northampton; and founding bassist George Cook is travelling the country working for Sun Sound.

Expressions open at Smith

The Smith College Theatre Department is pleased to present Expressions of Excellence, a production which will be performed in Theatre 14 of Mendenhall Center for the Arts at Smith College Oct.20-22, 26-29 at 8 p.m.

The production is a combination of dance pieces and monologues chosen by a multi-racial cast of women to create an overview of minority women's experiences.

The production is unique because it, and the cast, evolved from the College's Bridge Program, an orientation program for first-year minority students. Expressions is directed by Theatre Department faculty member Chezia Thompson-Cager and Smith College first-year student Lucille Whitelock.

The box office will be open Monday through Friday, 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., and tickets will be available then or one hour before the performance. For more information about tickets or the production, call the box office at 585-3220.

Monroe show

International Galleries in Amherst is presenting the works of reknowned photographer Bert Stern from Oct. 22 through Nov.3, with an opening reception on Oct. 22.

The show, titled "The Last Sitting," features the complete portfolio of the last photo session of Marilyn Monroe before her untimely death in 1962.

The Best Way Off Campus
Peter Pan
Hourly Express Service, Daily to
New York City & Boston
Serving: Springfield • Worcester • Newton • Hartford • Albany
Bradley & Logan Airports
Service Throughout New England with Connecting Service Nationwide
Student Fares from
Amherst to Boston $20.95 round-trip
Amherst to New York City $34.95 round-trip
The People Professionals
Tickets and information available at: U of M at Hotel Lot #1 or #2 545-2000 | Amherst Center Bus Terminal 256-0431 | Hampshire College Book Store 549-4600 | Price Watch Parmacy So. Hadley 533-7115 | Northampton Bus Terminal Roundhouse Pl. 586-1020

For Healthier Skin
Facials
Deep Pore Cleansing Facials
Lash & Brow Tinting
Hair Removal with Warm Wax
Lip • Brow Shaping • Chin
Bikini Line • Legs
Gift Certificates Available
Licensed Aesthetician
AESTHETICS
EUROPEAN SKIN CARE
for
Men and Women
34 Main Street, Amherst
253-9879

THINK WARM
OUR "LONG JOHNS" ARE HERE!
SILK KNITS:
TOPS- $30.00
BOTTOMS- $36.00
COTTON KNITS:
TOPS- $16.00
BOTTOMS- $22.00
WOOL LEGGINGS- $16.00
COTTON TIGHTS- $10.00
PLAN AHEAD:
FOUR MONTH LAYAWAY
584-5783 • 14 Center St., N'ton • Mon-Sat 10-6, Thurs

PC CLONES
PRINTERS
SOFTWARE
ACCESSORIES
Sales • Service • Rental
DR. SOFTWARE
Software • Computers • Accessories
Pheasant Shopping Mall • 241 King Street
Northampton, MA 01061
586-3210
M-T-W & F 10-6
Thurs 10-8 • Sat 10-5

Main St RECORDS
TIRED OF THE SAME OLD HORROR MOVIES?
WE SPECIALIZE IN THE RARE AND UNUSUAL!
HOW ABOUT "DAUGHTER OF HORROR"
(NARRATION BY ED MCMAHON)
OR "CANNIBAL GIRLS"
(STARRING EUGENE LEVY AND ANDREA MARTIN)
OR "THE EXOTIC ONES"
(WITH SLEEPY LABEEF AS A MARIJUANA MONSTER)
ALL THESE AND MORE
Monday-Wednesday 9:30-6:00
Thursday-Saturday 9:30-9:00
Sunday 12:00-5:00
213 Main Street, Northampton, Massachusetts 586-5726

OPALS
For October
Come see these colors in our Amherst Gallery which photography cannot capture!
Double A opal inlayed in 14kt gold ring with 8 diamonds — $450
Onyx, blue green opal and cultured pearl earrings — $392
Handforged black jade and multi-colored gem opal pendant — $845
silverscape designs
264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324
3 Pleasant St., Northampton 584-3324
GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY

Choose Excellence . . .
LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND
The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN
TRAINING WORKSHOP
SUN., OCT. 23
Collegian Newsroom
at 3 p.m.
at least one training workshop is required for staff status
Come write for The Collegian
113 Campus Center/Ask for Sylvia

Director discusses Sea Plays

By REBECCA MORRISSEY
Collegian Correspondent

In commemoration of Eugene O'Neill's 100th birthday, the UMass Theater Department is putting on three of his early Sea Plays: In the Zone, The Long Voyage Home, and Ile.

Professor Edward Golden, director of the plays, chose those three particularly because, he said, "together they have within them the seeds of the great genius that was shown so consistently in his later plays . . . Those plays have roles that can be played convincingly by young people," Golden said. This enabled him to use more undergraduate students in the cast, he said. The play Ile especially should be done because it seemed, he said, almost made for Professors Harry Mahnken and Christine Adaire who are part of the cast.

The three short one-act plays provide "a chance for young people, in part, to connect with the man who is universally recognized as the greatest American playwright," Golden said. The plays depict the sea as "a powerful symbol of fate . . . They come from O'Neill's great, all-encompassing love of the sea." The sea often controls the fate of the characters and brings them to a "very dramatic conclusions of their lives."

"Eugene O'Neill was obsessed with the familial relationships he grew up with," Golden explained. "The three plays reflect very much, and directly, his parents. Coming right out of his own life situation adds interest and makes it very powerful."

"We have to applaud the UMass Department of Theater on celebrating O'Neill's birthday the way it should be," said Normand Berlin, dramaturg for the production. "This is the only university in the Five College Area that is properly celebrating by performing O'Neill's plays."

CC student art work unveiled

The Department of Auxiliary Services unveiled four new works of art by undergraduate artists Michael James Little and Peter Pinardi, UMass alumna Marilyn Coplin and Patricia J. Fay yesterday at the Campus Center.

These artists' works, which will be displayed in the Center, were selected in a competition which was managed by Lynn Lucas, a Longmeadow artist and student in the Graduate Interior Design program. Judges in the competition were Jo Keeley, director of University Food Services; Thad Dabrowski of Campus Center Building Services; Michael Coblyn, director of Herter Art Gallery; student Carol Harlow and manager of Campus Center Print Shop, Roy Voci.

Each artist received a $1,000 commission for their respective work, which was submitted in Sept. 1988. Robert Suprenant of Campus Center Building Operations supervised their mounting and installation.

Most of the artwork acquired by the Campus Center since 1980 has been done by student artists in the Fine Arts Department. According to William M. Harris, director of the Campus Center, art done by students are more appealing to other students. Because students tend to respect art done by their peers more than works by non-peers, there is almost no vandalism of artwork.

The works that were shown were Michael James Little's "Landscape –2," Patricia J. Fay's "House/Two Views," Marilyn Coplin's "Untitled" and Peter Pinardi's "Untitled".

The works, commissioned by the Department of Auxiliary Services, are sponsored by the department and the Arts Council.

興旺樓
Chinese Kitchen
Fast, Quality Chinese Food at an Affordable Price
Spend $10.00 on any meal and get 2 free drafts or 2 free Cokes
expires Oct. 26th—in Hadley store only
Hadley-430 Russel St., 253-2571 Northampton-150 King St., 586-8221
Help Wanted 11 a.m.—4 p.m.

Windham Hill Recording Artist
MICHAEL HEDGES
IN CONCERT
. . . moves from exquisite lyrical melody to rhythms which virtually explode out of his guitar!
Saturday, October 22 8 pm
Berkshire Performing Arts Center
40 Kemble Street, Lenox, MA
$18.00 - $15.00 - $12.00
Advance Sales - Visa MasterCard
413-637-4718

DISTINGUISHED TEACHERS AWARD NOMINATIONS
DEADLINE: NOVEMBER 4, 1988
IF YOU KNOW A FACULTY TEACHER OR TEACHING ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE WHO IS TRULY OUTSTANDING AND DESERVES RECOGNITION, SUBMIT A NOMINATION IN WRITING WITH A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF WHY YOUR NOMINEE DESERVES THE AWARD.
ANY STUDENT, PAST OR PRESENT, MAY MAKE NOMINATIONS.
SUBMIT NOMINATIONS BY FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1988
TO: DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARD COMMITTEE
GRADUATE DEAN'S OFFICE
A217 GRADUATE RESEARCH
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

■ Newman

continued from page 13

Buy it and take a journey through the land of dreams without even leaving your armchair.

Also examining that great big contradition that is the US of A are superior jazz funksters Defunkt with their second album on the Antilles label In America. If you're into shit-hot playing and positively schizophrenic arrangements then check out Joe Bowie and chums as they create what can only be described as one hell of a noise. Actually In America has probably been out here for some time, although I haven't seen it in the shops, but I thought I'd stick it in anyway because it's so wonderful.

Andrew Tosh plays Pearl St. Sunday

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

Even the death of L'Oasis doesn't explain the lack of interesting live events this weekend. Any eye-catchers that remain are all happening during the school week.

LIVEWIRE LIVEWIRE LIVEWIRE

For starters, the only big show this weekend is at Pearl Street on Sunday with the Andrew Tosh Band, who is playing with all of the original members of the Peter Tosh band before he was killed in summer '87. UPC is sponsoring two gigs next week. Tuesday, The Smithereens will be playing with special guests. Look for an interview with them this week or next. Then the next night it's Big Daddy Kane, not one of the prophets of rage, but he's house no doubt.

Maybe the reason there are no gigs tonight is because it's World Series Night at Sheehan's. But for those who couldn't care less about it, go to the Iron Horse to see Claudia Schmidt. Tomorrow night, Big Bang Theory plus Gidget Goes To Hell try to highten people's buzz at Sheehan's. The Iron Horse has Roy Block, high steeled blues. Or if you're in New York, you can see Fishbone at the Ritz. On Saturday things pick-up: Sheehan's has Little Frankie and the Premiers with Porn Richard, and at the Iron Horse the father of cool-Jazz, Mose Allison himself. Tomorrow night at the Horse is Greg Brown. Soul Jones & The Crunch are also playing at Sheehan's on Monday at 10:00.

As a club dies, another takes it's place. Look for a new club downstairs at Pearl Street in November. Also a word to bands playing in the area, Livewire wants to hear from you.

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

from NEW YORK	one way
LONDON	179
PARIS	229
ROME	259
	round trip
CARACAS	320
ST. THOMAS	260
HONGKONG	739

Taxes not included. Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes, EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
No. Amherst 549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

NOW OPEN in South Amherst
South Towne Commons
LAUNDROMAT
Ready to serve you with New State of the Art Machines
OPEN 7 DAYS 7AM - 10PM
479 WEST ST. SOUTH AMHERST

CINEMA
Mr. North
PG
7:00 & 9:00
Senior Citizens & Children $2.00
Adults $3.50
DOWNTOWN AMHERST 253-5426

Come Ride With Us.
• Motorcycles • Scooters • A.T.V.'s • Power Equipment
Valley Motorsports
584-7303
731-9965
216 N. King St., Rte. 5 Northampton, MA
The 1989 Honda Motorcycles are ready for viewing.

SOME THINGS ARE BETTER LEFT UNPLUGGED.
STRAY TOASTERS
THE MOST TERRIFYING STORY YOU'LL READ THIS YEAR IS NOW AVAILABLE AT:
Same Bat Channel
All your favorite comics!
All back issues!
Baseball cards,
Posters and Games,
Magazine Imports
Hampshire Mall, Hadley, MA 586-8775

NOTJUSTANOTHER 4 CON
SCIENCE FICTION CONVENTION
October 21-23, 1988
Campus Center and Campus Center Hotel at U.MASS.
G.O.H. Samuel R. Delany
Artist G.O.H. Tom Kidd
LOTS OF NEAT STUFF!
Check out our Killer Film and Video Programs!
Memberships are $15.00 through October 20, $17.00 at the door.
Call for membership information (413) 545-1924.

Five College Students:
Call 545-2511
For ½ Price Tickets
Peter Zazofsky, violin — Friday, Oct. 21
Sydney Symphony Orchestra — Sunday, Oct. 23
Marvin Hamlisch In Concert — Thursday, Nov. 3
The Juilliard String Quartet — Saturday, Nov. 5
The Amazing Cambridge Buskers — Wednesday, Nov. 9
Peter Orth, piano — Tuesday, Nov. 15
Desrosiers Dance Theatre — Saturday, Nov. 19
THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

3,000 SQ. FT. DANCE FLOOR — THREE BARS
Pearl Street 584-7771
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA
COMEDIANS FROM BOSTON, N.Y.C. & L.A. — WATCH THIS SPACE FOR MAJOR LIVE SHOWS
UPSTAIRS
EVERY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY D.J.'S ENJOY THE AREAS BIGGEST DANCE FLOOR AND THE HOTTEST DANCE MIX 8:30 to 1:00 AM
SUNDAY, OCTOBER 23rd
ANDREW TOSH
WITH THE ORIGINAL
PETER TOSH BAND
Door Opens 7:00 pm Showtime at 8:30
Tickets $10.00 thru Ticketron & at the door
DOWNSTAIRS
Nov. 1 BLUES JAM (every Tues.)
Nov. 3 THE LYRES
Nov. 4 WMUA presents DREAMS SO REAL two shows, all ages at 6:30
Nov. 6 THE CONNELLS
Nov 11 EVAN JOHNS & THE H-BOMBS
Nov. 12 MIGHTY SAM McCLAIN
New Orleans Mightiest Soul-Man
Nov. 18 PLATE O SHRIMP
Nov. 19 LUCKY SEVEN

James H. McManus
eating place
OPEN 24 HOURS — OPEN 24 HOURS
•BREAKFAST SERVED ANY TIME
•OPEN 6 A.M. - 3 A.M. SUNDAY - THURSDAY
•OPEN 24 HOURS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
•BEER AND WINE SERVED 'TIL MIDNIGHT
•PLENTY OF PARKING
CAMPUS PLAZA
Route 9 next to Super Stop & Shop
HADLEY/AMHERST 256-6889
We now accept Mastercard and Visa
Employment Applications Being Taken

UMass Arts Council
GRANT PROPOSAL DEADLINE
The next deadline for submission of grant proposals for arts-related projects and events:
Wednesday, October 26
Guidelines and application forms are available at the Arts Council office and the Student Activities Office
UMass Arts Council
125 Herter Hall, 545-0202

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

"Man, this is ugly — sheep and cattle never do mix well."

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

Bat Brain
By Bill Dearing

DO YOU THINK YOU'LL MISS COLLEGE WHEN YOU GRADUATE IN MAY, CHARLIE?
NO. IT'S BEEN FUN AND I'LL CAREN WITH ME A LOT OF GREAT MEMORIES,
BUT AT THE SAME TIME I'M KIND OF EXCITED ABOUT THE NEXT STAGE OF MY LIFE.
I LOOK FORWARD TO JOINING THE REST OF MY GENERATION AS WE LEAVE COLLEGE TO RETURN AND BE WHAT WE WERE FOUR YEARS AGO.
A BURDEN TO OUR PARENTS.

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

WHY IN THE WORLD AM I WAITING IN THE POURING RAIN FOR THE SCHOOL BUS TO TAKE ME SOMEWHERE I DON'T EVEN WANT TO GO?
I GO TO SCHOOL, BUT I NEVER LEARN WHAT I WANT TO KNOW.

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

DO YOU THINK HELL DO IT?
YEA, CLINSTER L' COME THROUGH!!... HERE HE COMES!
CLINSTER THESE AREN'T CONDOMS... THEY'RE MILK DUDS!!
ALRIGHT IGGMAN... YOU'RE UP AGAIN...
CHALK!
BOY... THIS IS GREAT!!!
CHALK
WHO BOUGHT THE TOOTSIE ROLLS?!

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

SAY, J. DOBB QUAYLE, WANT TO PLAY "DRUG CZAR"? I'LL BE A FOREIGN DRUG LORD AND YOU BE VICE PRESIDENT.
O.K., GEORGIE.
I'VE GOT A WHEEL BARROW FULL OF COKE. WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO?
SEIZE IT?
WRONG, STUPID. YOU CULTIVATE TIES WITH ME AND USE ME TO IMPLEMENT U.S. POLICY ABROAD!
ISN'T THAT ILLEGAL?
THERE ARE NO LAWS IN GLOBAL POLITICS. BESIDES, YOU'RE THE DRUG CZAR!
NIFTY!
IF YOU THOUGHT THAT WAS FUN, WAIT'LL WE PLAY ARMS FOR HOSTAGES.
BOY, BEIN' VICE PRESIDENT MUST BE A BLAST.

"No one has ever loved anyone the way everyone wants to be loved."
—Mignon McLaughlin

Daily Crossword Puzzle

Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

ACROSS
1 Dressing ingredient
8 The Heiney, e.g.
15 Gourmandized
16 Bon vivant
17 Eye gland
18 One who nullifies
19 Time in NYC
20 World, to a Frenchman
22 Tariff at customs
23 Coiled. Comb. form
25 Fr. holy woman
27 Pertaining to John Paul
30 Bestow knighthood upon
32 Ancient city in Syria
36 Asserts
38 Earned
40 Mythical flyer
41 Temper tantrums
43 Dispose of
44 Longfellow's spreading tree
46 Screen's Signorel
48 Weiss maker
49 Tonic's companion
51 Type of tanker
52 Ohio college town
54 High times
56 Have the lead
59 Frost and colleagues
61 Shade provider
64 Have in hand
66 Summertime refresher
69 Heloise's beloved
70 Canape supplier
71 Feels contempt for 72 Editor's needs

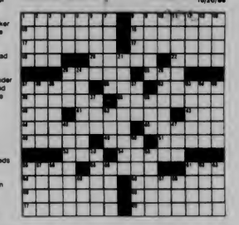
DOWN
1 Referendum
2 Currier's partner
3 Shoeshape
4 Make a faux pas
5 Talk nonsense
6 City SW of Tokyo
7 Disc jockey's disc
8 Tear into pieces
9 Fencing gear
10 Job, to a jazz player
11 The halls of Ivy
12 Bishop who won a Nobel prize
13 Run
14 Cliff dwelling
21 Chewy chocolate
23 Popular uncle
24 Mada plans in secret
26 Stress
27 Dry out
28 Greening, in Hilo
29 Walks back and forth
31 Michael Jackson hit
33 Film a Flynn
34 Net
35 Abacus at times
37 Sooth, e.g.
39 Thing, in law
42 Floor covering
45 Catch unawares
47 Deal or deed prefix
50 Printed announcement
53 Nautical direction
55 Sesame Street grouch
56 Marine fish
57 Start of a soliloquy
58 Dill, in olden days
60 Automobile pioneer
61 To be: Fr.
62 Lascivious look
63 God of war
65 Abyssinian title
67 Letter, from Athens
68 French from

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

P	R	A	M		M	O	W	E		O	A	T	E	D
L	I	R	A		O	P	A	L		E	V	A	D	E
A	G	E	S		L	E	N	A		R	I	N	G	O
C	I	D	N	I	T	R	A	G	I	B	A	D	G	E
E	R	A	S	E	R			S	A	I	D
			S	A	W		M	E		A	T	E	N
S	O	F	A		S	N	A	K	E		R	A	I	N
C	H	I	N	E	S	E		C	H	E	R	R	I	S
A	U	N	T		P	A	L	E		A	S	S	E	S
N	I	S	I		A	M		M	I
			M	E	A		N	O	T	I	S	E	S
T	I	M	I	R	E		C	A	R	O	M	O	N	T
G	R	E	E	N		T	R	E	E		W	I	N	E
A	I	R	E	D		E	L	A	N		A	D	A	M
G	R	O	O	F	S		O	P	I	L		N	I	E	S

10/20/88



Menu

Lunch
Sloppy Joe
Macaroni & Cheese

Dinner
Chicken Parmersan
Roast Pork/Gravy

Basics Lunch
Tofu Sloppy Joe
Macaroni & Cheese

Basics Dinner
Vegetable Hot Pot
Chicken Parmesan

Weather

Today: Morning clouds; afternoon sunny and cool in the upper 40s.
Tonight: Clear and cold with a low in the 20s.
Tomorrow: Mostly sunny with a high around 50.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Rick Santos
Copy Editor.....Ronn Garry
Layout Technician.....George Francy
Photo Technician.....Chris Hosford
Production Supervisor.....Florencio Terra
Production:.....Wendy Rae, Janine, Camille, Aimee Jenn, Mary, Tina, and Ronn's a Wharewarc traveller.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson
Managing Editor

David R. Mark
Editorial Editor

Robert Ciappenelli
Business Manager

Marc Infield
Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Robert Ciappenelli
Business Manager

Barbra Hindin
Advertising Manager

Daniel Munroe
Finance Manager

Debra Botzenhart
Advertising Manager

Todd Fruhbeis
Circulation Manager

Mary Huygens
Subscriptions Manager

Town seeks to tax students extra $50

Amherst Town Finance Director Nancy Maglione last week revealed a plan to impose a $50 per year excise tax on the approximately 28,000 students living in the town.

In other town news:

Amherst Selectmen, in the fight against sexism, voted 4 to 1 Tuesday night to change the council's name to the Amherst Selectboard. They are the first in the area to do so.

The Selectboard, which has three out of five women members, will still be known as the Board of Selectmen in official business due to state statutes.

The dissenting member of the board was Allen Torrey, who said the name should remain unchanged out of historical precedent and would not be recognized as the official name of the board in the eyes of the state.

– LISA JOHNSON

$1 K accident on Mass. Ave

An accident on Massachusetts Avenue at the intersection at North Pleasant Street Tuesday left both a 1979 Ford pickup truck and a 1984 Ford Tempo with damage totaling more than $1000, according to police. The truck had stopped for the red light when the car, unable to stop because of slick road conditions, struck its rear end, police reported.

In other incidents:

- Several vending machines in the basement of Gorman Residence Hall were reported vandalized and broken into Tuesday. Police are investigating the incident and have notified the respective owners of the machines.
- A student reported Tuesday his 1987 Plymouth parked in Southwest lot 50 was struck by another vehicle, damaging his bumper.

– THOMAS RODRIGUES

South of the Border Special

All menu items a la carte

Mexicali Soup
Chicken Tacos
Chili Con Carne
Mexicorn
Rice
Guacamole
Flan

BLUEWALL CAFETERIA

Thursday
October 20, 1988
11:30 am 1:30 pm

UPC in Association with BMCP

Wednesday
OCT
26

BOOGIE DOWN PRODUCTIONS

BIG DADDY KANE

In Celebration of Civility Week
8:00 p.m. FAC

$9 UMass Students
$12 General Public

Tickets sold at FAC Box Office

To Charge on MC/Visa,
call 545-2511

adirondack music

FALL CLEARANCE SALE!

The madness continues...

Adirondack Music is the small store with big savings! We got some deals that can't be beat but we're running out of space! Now's your chance to grab some great deals while we do some housecleaning...

CONCORD AT COST!

He just can't help himself!

Sometimes I wonder about my boss... Concord, about the finest maker of car audio around, at DEALER COST?! With our selection of eight different models to choose from, there really isn't much sense to consider anything else at these ridiculous prices! Save up to $300 off the normal dealer cost of any Concord deck in inventory!

Quantities are limited! They're selling FAST!

ADVENT SPEAKERS!

Quantities are VERY limited!

These are really unheard of prices! Only at Adirondack can you save $130 on a $350 pair of Prodigy's for only $219.95! Or save $150 on a $450 pair of Legacy's for only $299.95!

Last pair of MAESTRO's only $399!

JOGGERS DELIGHT!

The Toshiba RP–S9 is a AM/FM stereo designed with joggers in mind! Lightweight, hardly bigger than a credit card, yet solid and durable, this beauty will provide mile after mile of high quality sound! Comes with folding headphones and belt clip!

A $99.95 value only $49.95!

HALF PRICE SPECIALS!

No kidding! We got some MAD deals here... Try a set of mid–sized, folding Acutex Voyager VI headphones, our regular $29.95 only $14.95! Or Audio Technica SG410 walkman type headphones, usually $19.95 only $9.95! Or a set of Pickering button type headphones, our regular price of $19.95 only $9.95! Need a new cartridge to replace that old nail at the end of your tonearm?! How about an Acutex 410STR, a bargain at our usual price of $39.95, but a steal at the halprice low price of only $19.95! Need something to hold all of those cassettes and CD's that you've been collecting under your bed?! Store up to 60 CD's or cassettes in a groovy Case Logic carrying case, and save up to $20 on one of these beauties!

Trade–ins are welcome! Drag it, tow it, push it, roll it...

MasterCard adirondack music VISA

15 E. Pleasant St., Amherst 253–3100

Open Monday thru Saturday 10am to 5:30pm

Sale prices good thru Wednesday, October 26, 1988
Limited quantities. All items subject to prior sale.
No rainchecks. Not responsible for typographical errors.

Women's x-country third at H.C.

By MEG QUINN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's cross country team ran in the Holy Cross Invitational on Saturday in Worcester, expecting to place either first or second.

Instead, the team ended up third with 103 points, behind Vermont (45) and the host Crusaders (78). That wasn't bad, but coach Julie LaFreniere knows that her team can do better.

"I knew 15 seconds into the race that it was all over," said LaFreniere. "They didn't go out aggressively, and had to play catch-up the whole time."

Precious Hill, who ran first for the team, lost 20 seconds in the beginning due to a bottle-neck start. She was able to salvage a fifth place finish out of the 105 competitors in 18:31. Next were Shana Smith, who placed 13th in 18:56, and Laura LaVallee, who finished 18th in 19:13.

"They were very tight, not relaxed at all, and struggled the whole race," LaFreniere said. "They had to work their way to the front."

Kristen Peers was fourth for the team and 34th overall with a time of 19:37. Amy St. Pierre, who came in 40th in 19:44, "ran a gutsy race. She had to struggle and wasn't feeling well," LaFreniere said.

Kathy Holt crossed the line next for the Minutewomen, in 50th place in 19:58. Michelle St. Laurent was the team's eighth finisher in 20:04, and "ran very well. She was faster on this hilly course than on our flat course. She's steadily improving and brought her mile splits down significantly," LaFreniere said.

Although a bit disappointed about the final score, LaFreniere is optimistic about this Saturday's home meet against Vermont, Rhode Island and New Hampshire.

"Hopefully, we've gotten our bad race out of our system," LaFreniere said. She intends to show those teams what the Minutewomen are really capable of doing.

■ water polo

continued from page 20

The next morning is a big test against Harvard. The Crimson took a tough 9-4 decision from UMass earlier this season and the Minutemen are thinking revenge. Yarworth sees it as a pivotal game, one which could decide whether or not UMass gets the second seed in the New England Championships.

Yarworth wants to shut down Harvard's counter-attack (fast break) by pressing defensively, make them earn their passes to the holes and shut down Harvard's big gun, Mike Johnson.

The Minutemen face an even bugger challenge on Saturday night against Brown, which overwhelmed UMass earlier this season and holds the top spot in New England. Brown has an established program with a lot of California players and Yarworth is really looking just to play a tight game and put in a good showing.

The following day, UMass faces a much easier set of games, starting in the morning against Boston College. UMass proved last weekend at Amherst that they can beat the Eagles and now "want to send them a message that they can't play with us," Yarworth said. The Minutemen want to be careful of overconfidence though, as B.C. can surprise a team that slacks off against them.

ACCESSORIES TODAY

RESEARCH INFORMATION

Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects

Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD

TOLL FREE HOTLINE 800-351-0222 in CA: (213) 477-8226

Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information 11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

FREE DELIVERY to AMHERST
11:30 a.m. -10:00 p.m.

mr. K's

13 North Pleasant St., Amherst

Open Hours
Mon-Thurs 11:30am-10:00pm
Fri & Sat 11:30am-11:00pm
Sundays 2:00pm-10:00pm

256-0286 256-0287

YOUR PARTNERS IN TRAVEL
Maplewood Shops Northampton, MA
586-8953

COTTON SWEATERS

MEXICAN BLANKETS AND RUGS

$20.00

Today, 9:00 - 4:00
Campus Center Lobby

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO • AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS • ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT • FOR SALE • FOUND • HELP WANTED • LOST • INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES • PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED • RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES • ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30):• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

WANNA GAMBLE? JGA is having the second annual Vegas Night! Thursday Night! Craps-roulette-blackjack-poker See you tonite 9pm

KOREAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION meeting tonight at 6:00pm CC 168C.

INTERESTED IN TRAVELLING? Come to the National Student Exchange information session Thursday October 20, 1988 in room 165/69 in the Campus Center at 4-5pm

SYLVAN RESIDENTS check out The Many in southwest on Sunday Oct 23 at 12:00 noon Go support our favorite band

THETA CHI FRATERNITY pumkin sale. Help benefit the American Heart Assoc by purchasing pumpkins. Three tons of pumpkins be there

BIKE CO-OP MEETING tonight, 8pm. Meet in Campus Center 911-15. All are welcome to join

NSA FRIDAY NIGHT VIDEO North by Northwest Front Lounge of Newman Center 7:00pm FREE.

SOUTHWEST'S ANNUAL BATTLE of the Bands is this Sunday, October 23rd at 12:00pm in Hampden Center. BE THERE!

CRAFT CENTER IS YOUR resource. Make all kinds of crafts, pottery, silver, silkscreen, photography, etc. Free instruction

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22 Sign up on concourse Oct. 16, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Massping and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-6434

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics. Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306

APARTMENTS AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS 2 BEDROOM UNITS on 19 acres of country land. Ample off street parking and free bus service to UMass and shopping areas. Call 665-3656.

AUTO FOR SALE

81 TOYOTA COROLLA New front tires, back shocks, exhaust system must sell $700 B/O Kristin 568-4624

VW RABBIT. Green Great condition runs smooth great buy at $650 Please call 253-9243

1981 KAWASKI KD on/off only 800 miles $500 Call Chris 546-6163

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 speed carb grey new tires, rims runs very well $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184

1977 BUICK SKYLARK 80,000K excellent shape $600 or B.O. 546-8948

1981 PORSCHE, 50k miles, grey, sunroof must see. $7250 or best offer Call 665-7221 Deb

73 DODGE VAN, runs good first reasonable offer 6-6982

1975 FORD GRANADA, good running condition cheap 584-4709

80 CHEVY CHEVETTE good running condition $650 or B.O. Call 549-5137 after 5:30

77 VW DASHER New brakes new exhaust low miles must see Call 253-7388 Eves

1978 CAMARO Runs well. $650. Leave message 527-5101.

78 TOYOTA COROLLA- good condition dependable $550 Call Pierre 545-2589.

82 FORD ESCORT 85,000 miles, 4 speed excellent condition $1900/negotiable 549-7193 evenings

81 TOYOTA COROLLA excellent condition, low mileage, am/fm cass., air, 5 spd. 256-0969 evenings.

1976 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires. $2,500 Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen

CAMPUS REPS NEEDED

EARN BIG COMMISSIONS and free trips by selling Nassau/Paradise Island, Cancun, Mexico and Ski trips to Vermont and Colorado. For more information call toll free 1-800-231-0113 or in Conn 203-967-3330

CAROLINE:

ROSES ARE RED, violets are blue, the question is, do you love me too?

CHILD CARE NEEDED

THREE MORNINGS A WEEK for boys ages 3 and 1 $4.50/hour. Near Leverett center, 10 min. for UMASS. Child Ed. major would be ideal. Call 256-6180 or 549-9845. Available immediately

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE- Over 700 CDs Great Sound! All occasions 549-1421.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Disc-jockeys and large screen video dances Dorms/organizations 256-8526

FOR SALE

SKIS- DYNASTAR 185 swith marker bindings excellent condition $95 or BO Call Boot 6-8440

NEW DOUBLE CASSETTE PORTABLE radio with detachable speakers, many other extra features, need money for school $125 546-5845

70 BUICK GRAN SPORT hood w/ram sir snorkel $150 Joe 508-544-8604

FOR SALE: Olympic weight bench $125 or best offer Call Cheryl at 6-7851 or leave message

3 WOOL JACKETS, 3 leather jackets, 1 insulated winter denim jacket, men's (M) 36-40. Each one a steal! 546-6982

SKI BOOTS LANGE TI S130, Nordica 960 $90 Both size 10 549-4119

ESCORT RADAR DETECTOR excellent condition w/window mt. & cord cord worth $280 asking $150 Call 6-8108

BRAND NEW ASSORTED New Balance sneakers unbeatable prices 10 prs size 9-11 will take orders 549-6496

AMP ROLAND JC120 100w $400 firm Great condition 584-9955 Ask for Bill

MOVING, SELLING EVERYTHING: Tables, chairs, sofa, color TV, bed and more call 549-7193 evenings

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket Call David 1-568-8212

PIONEER DUAL STEREO cassette deck $100 call Laura at 6-8021

FOUND

FOUND A DENIM JACKET by the F.A.C. 549-3674. Joe

GOLD WATCH NEAR BARS downtown Call Pam 256-0734.

RING FOUND OUTSIDE colonial village Call 256-1191 to identify.

BLACK KITTEN FOUND around Brittany Manor Apts Call to identify 546-1410

IN CAMPUS CENTER on 10/13 a gold initial charm if yours call 546-6583

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget. Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St. Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin. We deliver

GO-GETTERS ONLY

EARN FROM $6000 to $15000 next summer 508-543-3706 Leave message

HELP WANTED

DISHWASHERS. Part time, flexible hours, some days and early evening shifts. Starting pay up to $.00 per hour. Apply in person. Season's Restaurant, Rt. 9, Belchertown Road, Amherst

HOST/HOSTESS Part time/flexible hours/good starting pay. Apply in person. Season's Restaurant, Rt. 9, Belchertown Road, Amherst

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information 312-741-8400 ext. A-596

SPRING BREAK TOUR PROMOTION-eecort. Energetic person, (M/F), to take sign-ups for our Florida tours. We furnish all materials for a successful promotion. Good pay and fun. Call Campus Marketing at 1-800-777-2270

COUNTER HELP AND delivery persons (need your own car) nights and weekend 256-1616

GREENPEACE: WORK TO PRESERVE OUR EARTH The destruction of our environment is not an acceptable industry practice. Work now to stop toxic contamination, preserve our oceans and its wildlife and stop nuclear weapons testing. Select your own days to work Mon-Sun 2pm-10pm. Call 256-1439

TOXICS ARE SLOWLY killing us! Work to reduce them with MASSPIRG. Earn $4.5-$6/day, full/part time Call Chris 256-0924

EXPERIENCED JEWELRY INSTRUCTOR wanted for spring semester. Student Union Craft Center Call Anna 545-2096.

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865

DIRECT CARE STAFF NEEDED in Northampton, Greenfield, Springfield areas. Work with MR and MH individuals $7.21 to $7.71 p/hr. 781-0783

LOST

LOST: GOLD CHAIN W/PENDANT Sat 10/15 near Mike's or Pub Very sentimental-Please call 549-7707 for reward.

LOST 18" GOLD CHAIN with charm reading "The Best" huge sentimental value. If found please call Paul at 6-4615.

LOST GOLD CHAIN WITH crucifix has lots of sintimental value. I lost it Friday across from Townhouse. Please call Jon at 546-1081.

LOST JEAN JACKET AT CHANGES may have accidentally taken yours with Id's Diane lock Chanice McGlynn Call 6-8703 Matt

LOST MASS LIQUOR ID Sharon Levy If found please call 253-9916 monetary reward.

LOST RINGS - 2 gold rings/one coral/one turquoise/one silver/one shell. If found please please call 253-9916. Reward!

HEADPHONES/REWARD AKG240's lost in Northampton 10/11 Sentimental value Please call 566-2239 Bob

TAN JACKET. LEFT IN BARTLETT 301 ON TUE 10/11 MORNING CALL MARK 6-8784

MOTORCYCLES

ATTENTION FOR $500 down and $3.05/mnth you can own a 1988 Kawasaki EX500 with 2700 miles 2 Shoei helmets worth $450 are free Call Mike 549-5189

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD. Helmet, cover shield $850 Joe 549-7423 Evenings

PERSONALS

AX's- ONLY 2 DAYS LEFT! YIKES!

KAREN AND JOSEPHINE, Roomate Appreciation Week is going even better than we expected. All three of us have our names up on the list. Alright!-MM

URSULA
HAPPY 21st BIRTHDAY. Love, Sybille
Legal Everywhere! -Silly Sir I lost my baby!
-Mom

MARK GRAHAM- Happy b-day a day late!!! Ara we ever on time? We love you!! (Along withe others!! Love Jamie and Anne

CONGRATULATIONS TO ALL 19 of our pledges!! We love you all!! Love, the Sisters of Sigma Kappa HAPPY BIRTHDAY WOOBIE and UBSBATM! Love Z and the Guys.

BETH S. HAPPY BIRTHDAY to my incredibly best friend! I love you. Laurie

HAPPY BIRTHDAY MAGENTA!! Love Jimmy Swagrock and Mahatma-Genedee

PENA- Ay, amor! Cuanto daria por tenerte junto a mi. Tu Doncella.

JEFF FITTON- Congratulations on your tremendous achievement! It's a good thing you look good in stripes. Love, Slob

C.W. CHEATS AT Yahtzee (Gotcha! You thought I wouldn't do it)

AMY K. Don't worry be happy. Get psyched for the weekend. A.S.

STEPHANIE KISNER Happy 21st Now you can use a real ID. Have a great day. Drink a few for me. Love Sharon.

BILLY G GOES TO COURT Thursday at 4, TV room. Prosecution by 4 o'clock club.

PHI MU WELCOMES our newest pledges, Alayna Fabrizio and Amy Porchelli. Get psyched.

IF ANYONE FINDS A DU pledge pin Contact Hollywood-thief Narc Love Phi Mu

WHAT DO YOU CALL A man and woman with no arms or legs on a grill? Frank and Pattie.

LOST: PAIR OF SNEAKERS Friday night in vicinity of Brittany 256-4967 Pete or Twig.

HEATHER HAVE YOU GOTTEN the best thing lately? ZJust cunous. Lustfully yours, Hector

SMURFETTE, SINCE YOU CAME into my life, the sun hasn't stopped shining (a few clouds, but perfection' s boring) I love you more and more each day, you are my everything. Happy 1st year, my love. The magic continues- Gagamel.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY HOWIE! Love, 11D Brandywine, 4,14, and 5 Gilreath

TO THE BROTHERS AND PLEDGES OF Theta Chi. Thanks for a super homecoming weekend. You guys are great! Love the sisters and pledges of Chi Omega

UPC- Remember, the only thing between you and a win is your line item.

CHARLES, INTELLECTUAL AND star-athlete from Hampshire college–I can't wait!! Your party girl, P.J.

YO DEA- IT'S BEEN too long-boom boom boom-I can't wait to see you Number 10 get the champagne & candles ready. Love, Chris

"HEY MICHELLE (BOOF!)"
Happy
"Birthday!"
-Love Laurie and 3FI Moore!

SUE AND SHERYL - are you satisfied now!! R&D

PARTY WITH US- Friday nite 9 til 2 Band & Beer North Mandelle Hall Mount Holyoke college 538-2948

SUPERBROTHERS OF DELTA CHI, thanks for an awesome homecoming love the supersisters of Phi Mu

COME TO SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA OPEN RUSH Oct 18,19,20 Call 549-8003 for more information Try Sigma!

ROOMATE WANTED

ROOMATE WANTED BRANDYWINE APTS. 230 month heat and hot water included. Thru December. Option to take over lease mainstream only! 549-3616

1 ROOM IN APT NOHO 2 mins to center Nonsmoking 210/mo + utl. 584-9376 Rachel or Suresh

APARTMENT MATE WANTED. Nice Northampton location. Call Greg at 584-7400 message

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550.

ROOM AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS SUNNY IN apartment complex shared common areas Parking and bus. Evening 665-3867

SERVICES

EXCELLENT WORD PROCESSING with spell check Call Gayle 256-1250.

GRAD STUDENT W/ cargo van 508-544-8604 Joe

TYPING

FLYING FINGERS TYPING work done in 24 hours Pickup/dropoff too Call Kevin 549-0116

TYPING. TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate 253-WORD

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL typing on word processor with spellcheck - ANYTIME! Carolyn 253-5667.

ABLE TYPIST, basic editing, competitive rates, decent location 253-5202

TRAVEL

LEARN SPANISH IN GUATEMALA. One student/teacher, five hours daily, family living, excursions, seminars CXE Box 11264 Milwaukee, WI 53211 (414)372-5570.

COLLEGE WEEKEND in Montreal from $39 November 11-13 Call 549-1949

WANTED

WANTED- GUITAR OR BANJO must be in fairly good condition Call MIKE 6-7115.

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hume) notes will pay money$$ Shirley 549-2710

TAKE OVER LEASE FROM Jan to Sept on 2 bdrm Apt on Main St. Prefer grad students or Prof people Call 256-8040

SPORTS

Noseguard Joe Cullen: A strong influence

By MATT GERKE
Collegian Staff

He is 5-foot-11 and 245 pounds of muscle. He can bench press over 400 pounds. The easiest thing to liken him to physically would be a fireplug.

But Joe Cullen, a noseguard on the University of Massachusetts football team, is just as strong on the inside as he is on the outside.

And that has helped him become a leader on the 1988 Minutemen, who have jumped out to a 4-2 record and a share of first place in the Yankee Conference at 3-1.

Quite a change from last year's 3-8 season in which UMass won just two conference games.

"I think we had good leadership from the captains last year," Cullen said. "This season we didn't know who the leaders would be."

So in addition to his pads, Cullen put some responsibility on his shoulders and it has paid off. He has already been game captain twice this season.

"Joe Cullen is like the E.F. Hutton of this team," UMass head coach Jim Reid said. "When he speaks, they all listen."

> "I respect Joe Cullen, members of the team respect Joe Cullen, and opponents learn to respect Joe Cullen."
> — UMass head coach Jim Reid

"It's nice of the guys to say I'm a leader," Cullen said. "I like to think I am. I try to lead by example."

Cullen's success is a good example in itself. The Weymouth native played fullback and linebacker at Quincy High. But in his senior year, when potential recruiters were on the sidelines, Cullen missed three games with injuries.

"I think [recruiters] were wary of my speed at fullback," Cullen said. "But coach Reid thought I could be a noseguard. I didn't know if I wanted to at first but then I figured I'd give it a try."

Cullen gave it a try in the 1985 Agganis All-Star Game, and was named Defensive Player-of-the-Game.

"The keys to being a good noseguard are quickness off the ball and strength," Cullen said.

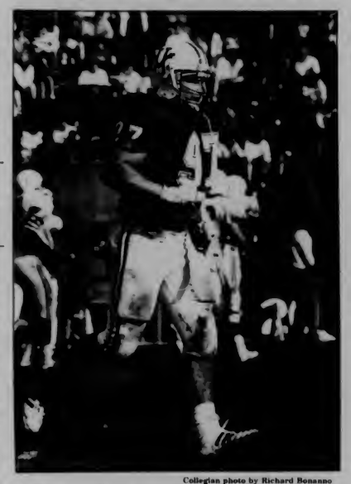
Cullen has used both to his advantage while becoming a force on the UMass defensive line.

"I respect Joe Cullen, members of the team respect Joe Cullen, and opponents learn to respect Joe Cullen," Reid said.

"Joe isn't real tall, and that limits his opportunities," UMass strength and conditioning coach Ian Pyka said. "Height is an advantage on the defensive line, but Joe makes up for it in strength."

But even after the smooth transition, Cullen still didn't earn a scholarship, and joined the Minutemen as a walk-on.

"Joe's high school coach [Jack Raymer] told me don't worry, Joe would earn a scholarship," Reid said. "I was nervous as hell because I hate to recruit that way. The best thing is that never once did Joe mention the word scholarship. But in his classes and on the field, he's gone far and above some of our scholarship athletes."



Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

Noseguard Joe Cullen has been a positive influence on the University of Massachusetts football team throughout his career.

And that has made Cullen a role model.

"A guy like Joe always promotes a better atmosphere," Pyka said. "He's good for the younger kids on the team.

"And over the summer, we worked with some local kids in the weight room," Pyka said. "They came in during testing just to watch Joe and get motivated. He is very intense and that's the way you have to be."

"Being a leader means not just on the field," Cullen said, "but on the practice field and in the weight room as well."

Ah, the weight room. One of Cullen's favorite places.

Cullen can bench press 415 pounds, squat 660 pounds, and incline bench press almost 400 pounds. He has lifted 260 pounds in the power clean.

"Joe is easily the strongest player on the team," Pyka said. "He does well in the power clean, which is a new lift for a lot of the players.

"He was going to try and squat 700 pounds this fall and I think he would have done it easily, but he had some discomfort in his knee, so we decided against it, since football is more important than squatting 700."

Cullen has developed his strength over about eight years.

> "The work ethic carries beyond football and into my personal life as well. I think the work ethic and togetherness are the main difference between this year's team and last."
> — Joe Cullen

"I've been working with weights pretty regularly since eighth grade," Cullen said. "I don't get bored. It's like another sport to me, a hobby."

It's nice to have a hobby that ties in with your training, especially during the hectic fall season, which demands complete discipline.

"The work ethic carries beyond football and into my personal life as well," Cullen said. "I think the work ethic and togetherness are the main difference between this year's team and last.

"If we just keep working hard and take one game at a time, good things will happen."

Good things have already happened to Cullen. He did earn his scholarship. But what about after next season, when he graduates?

"I'm not sure what I want to do," Cullen said. "But I might want to coach."

A job that would require a lot of leadership. Something that Cullen would have no problem with.

Field hockey notebook
Minutewomen fall to fourth in the country

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts field hockey team, despite a 8-0 win over Fairfield University last Thurday and a 3-1 win over the University of New Hampshire on Saturday, has dropped in the NCAA's rankings from the No. 4 position to No. 3.

"I don't know why or for what reason we dropped," UMass coach Pam Hixon said.

The team that took over the No. 3 spot in the poll was Northwestern University, which received 106 points in the poll. The Minutewomen received 104.

Old Dominion University, undefeated at 16-0, remained on top for the fourth week in a row, receiving 120 points. They were followed by the University of North Carolina, who received 114 points for its 13-1 record.

UMass is 12-1-1 on the year, its only loss coming to Old Dominion. The Minutewomen did receive some good news yesterday as they were given the No. 1 ranking in the Northeast.

* * *

UMass' game with Dartmouth College yesterday, which was rained out, will not be rescheduled.

For the first time in four weeks, the Atlantic 10 Player of the Week award was not given to a UMass player. Senior midfielder Pam Bustin, forward Tonia Kennedy and goaltender Cindy Cox have received that honor in the last three weeks.

This week, the award went to sophomore forward Liz Burns of St. Joseph's University. Burns scored two goals last week, while leading St. Joes to a pair of 2-1 victories over St. Louis University and La Salle College.

Water polo at N.E. Tournament

By DENNIS MADSEN
Collegian Correspondent

The next three weekends are crunch time for the University of Massachusetts water polo team.

This weekend is the New England League Tournament at Harvard. UMass' performance in this tourney will decide how the Minutemen are seeded for the following weekend's New England Championships and the Eastern Championships a week later.

The Miunutemen, 8-6 and ranked third in New England and eighth in the East, need to play tough this weekend to set up an easier trip through the following weekends.

"We want to play the best waterpolo we can," said coach Russ Yarworth. "We really want to go 4-1 this weekend or at least 3-2. If we go any less than 3-2, that means we lost to someone we shouldn't have."

The Minutemen will be working on endurance this week in practice as the tourney will force them to play five games in just under 48 hours. The ordeal starts tomorrow night against Yale.

"Our biggest job will be to get used to playing in a 30-meter pool," Yarworth said. In most of UMass' previous matches, they played in 25-meter pools and the extra 15 feet has a tendency to spread the defense out. "If we run a good counter-attack we shouldn't have a problem."

continued on page 19

Volleyball notebook
Minutewomen receive their mid-term grades

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts volleyball team is sandwiched this week between two consecutive weekends of Atlantic 10 games like bacon caught between the lettuce and tomato.

After slipping past West Virginia, last year's second-ranked conference team last Friday night, the Minutewomen pounded Duquesne University. After a brief "rest" at Central Connecticut University, and 3-1 victory, UMass must again battle to remain among conference elite.

The Minutewomen are currently third in the A-10 behind Penn State University (the 20th-ranked team in the country) and the University of Rhode Island.

At 13-2 (3-2 A-10), UMass has been plying some very good volleyball this season. With the exception of an away George Washington University letdown, it has made the grade in almost every category, as a matter of fact, here is this mid-season report card.

Cohesiveness Grade: AB With five of six seniors making up the starting lineup, the Minutewomen have moved along this season like a well-oiled machine. The teamwork and experience has really shined through for UMass. It is probably the top reason for the outstanding record.

Winning away Grade: B Although the only two losses have come from away games, UMass has proved itself capable of playing away from the NOPE-Dome. One of the losses, Penn St. was at the hands of a superior, nationally ranked team. During the last week of September, they did win five games at Colgate University in just 24 hours.

Pressure Playing Grade: A The Minutewomen have won all four matches that have gone five games. When the pressure has been on, UMass has delivered. There isn't a choke factor here.

Overall Grade: AB or B Through their first 15 games, the Minutewomen have won the games they have supposed to win. They've even won a few that could have gone either way and have delivered three conference victories.

UMass has the experience and their showing the desire to compete with the all others in the Atlantic 10 tournament in three weeks.

Brace yourselves UMass, it's going to be a wild and wooly finish.

Men's hoop team to hold open practices

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team is inviting the UMass public to come and check out the team during the next two days at Curry Hicks Cage.

Today is faculty day at the Cage, where the Minutemen will be practicing at 3:30. Refreshments will be served.

Tomorrow, UMass students are invited to the team's first intrasquad scrimmage under first-year coach John Calipari, at 5 p.m. UMass students will have the first opportunity to check out the new-look Minutemen and see what will be in store for the upcoming hoop season.

In both cases, there will be no charge for admission to these events.

Dodgers top Oakland 5-2; win World Series

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 32

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1988

INSIDE

- Amie Finkelstein on the Beatle who tried to Imagine. Page 7.
- Punchline* a knockout. Page 11.
- Minutmen try to break Delaware's grip. Page 16.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

LEAF ME ALONE — Northampton resident Marcia Wolff relaxes yesterday on Amherst Common during a break from work.

Jewish community ired over controversial visit by Rev. Louis Farrakhan

By PETER LUCHT
and THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

Members of the University of Massachusetts administration and the University's Jewish community are expressing concern over the vote by the Distinguished Visitors Program to bring Rev. Louis Farrakhan to campus next spring.

Dennis Madson, vice chancellor for student affairs, defended Farrakhan's right to speak at the university, but said DVP's funds should have been used more wisely.

"I would be happier if we spent the limited money that we have on somebody other than this person," Madson said.

The DVP voted Tuesday to contribute an $11,000 honorarium and to co-sponsor Farrakhan's visit with Phi Beta Sigma fraternity. Farrakhan has been accused of being an anti-Semite.

Rabbi Saul Perlmutter, head of the UMass Hillel Foundation, said Farrakhan has for years put the Jewish religion down, saying on one occasion he would "grind and crush Jews into bits."

"There have been no black speakers at UMass for five years. Unfortunately they picked him to be the one," Perlmutter said.

Perlmutter said Farrakhan is "vehemently opposed" to Jewish students and often speaks negatively of other people. He also said that Farrakhan was "divisive," because his speech was positive for some and negative for others.

No one from Phi Beta Sigma could be reached last night for comment.

Pat Berkley, co-chairman of the DVP committee, said Phi Beta Sigma petitioned DVP at the Sept. 27 open proposal meeting for money to bring Farrakhan to campus. Berkley said regular DVP programming is done a semester in advance but the open proposal meeting is held to allow groups to approach the DVP and ask for funding. He said the committee usually has about $3000 to divide between several groups and Phi Beta Sigma asked for more than the DVP could afford.

Berkley said since the Farrakhan petition was a program for the spring semester it was not considered. He said that the fraternity approached the DVP later and

continued on page 4

New tax may put hole in students' pockets

Increase in revenue must pass town meeting

By LISA JOHNSON
Collegian Correspondent

Amherst Finance Director Nancy Maglione last week unveiled a plan to increase revenue, including a $50 annual excise tax for college students living in Amherst.

Maglione estimated the town would receive $1.4 million per year from the near 28,000 students living in Amherst.

A spokesperson for the town hall said she thought Maglione's plan was far-fetched, "I said you got to be out of your tree lady, enough is enough."

UMass Chancellor Joseph Duffey is preparing a written statement in response to the tax proposal, according to a spokesperson from his office.

Neither Maglione or Town Manager Barry Del Castilho could be reached for comment yesterday, but Nancy Board, the administrative assistant to the board of selectmen said the tax would not go into effect until at least fiscal year 1990.

"It's a proposed means of raising revenue, in order for it to be initiated it has to go to town meeting," Board said. "If it passes town meeting it then has to go before the state for approval. It was an idea submitted to the board of selectmen and the town manager, it is up to them and the town meeting to implement it."

Board also said the tax would not be included as an article in November's town meeting. She said the earliest it would be voted on is probably next spring at the annual town meeting.

The Amherst Bulletin reported that Maglione said over half of the town's land is tax exempt, costing Amherst $11.7 million in revenues per year. UMass has $9.4 million of this non-revenue figure.

Maglione proposed to form a committee to determine the amount of contributions from Hampshire and Amherst colleges and UMass. The committee would decide if the schools would contribute money or services instead of taxes.

Maglione said the idea of a student fee came from the University's imposition of a $600 student fee to cover a budget shortfall.

Ingle, others wish success for Civility Day 1988

By JOHN SWANSON
Collegian Staff

As the events of Civility Day 1988 get underway at the University of Massachusetts, the question arises, will the message of harmony reach the people who most need to hear it?

Acting Director of the Office of Human Affairs Grant Ingle said it probably will.

"It's going to be very hard to ignore the fact that there's a week of activities concluding in Civility Day," said Ingle. "They're going to have a real hard time avoiding that because of the posters, because of WMUA, because of the (Campus) Chronicle and the Collegian. You really will have to have your head in the sand to not acknowledge that it's happening."

Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs Dennis Madson said the events will help promote a sense of community on campus.

"We can take pride in the fact that we do more about issues of social injustice and civility than any other campus in the area," he said. Madson cited the Chancellor's Commission on Civility, created in 1980, and the Year Toward Civility, in 1981, as pioneering efforts in building a sense of community on campus.

Civility Day 1988 will take place Oct. 27. Nearly 100 activities related to issues of cultural civility are taking place until then. Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young's speech will conclude the week's events.

Ingle said representatives of at least 15 colleges and universities in New England will attend the activities.

"They look to us for some leadership around dealing with racism and other issues. They want to know how we did this educational program. Some of them are coming . . . to hear what we're presenting. They also want to identify interesting speakers from this campus that they can invite to their own campus," he said.

Madson said he anticipates that there may be incidents of racial, sexual or ethnic oppression during the week, since events like Civility Day often trigger such reactions.

Susan Kahn, acting staff assistant of the Office of Human Relations, said the office is functioning as an information center for Civility Day activities. Kahn said the office and the Civility Day Coordinating Committee have tried to plan a variety of

continued on page 4

Disabled students require more accessibility on UMass campus

By DEBORAH RITTER
Collegian Correspondent

When Robert Ellis gets out of class at Goessman Laboratory late in the afternoon, he has to leave through a tunnel that leads to the Graduate Tower.

To get there he must pass through heavy fire doors.

"If no one's around to help, and usually there isn't, I pull the door open as hard as I can," Ellis said. "The door hits my chair, and when it bounces back I scoot through the opening."

Ellis is a physically disabled student at the University of Massachusetts. Though he has been here less than one year, University officials have been trying to make UMass accessible to people like Ellis for the last ten years.

Accessibility is defined in terms of access to programs, rather than access to buildings, according to Paul Appleby, director of Handicapped Affairs. UMass must, by law, allow students the opportunity to pursue any chosen field of study. If a class is held in a building that is not accessible, Handicapped Student Affairs will relocate the class.

continued on page 5

WORLD/NATION

TV ads hit Duke soft spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — An independent political committee yesterday unveiled stark TV ads featuring first-person accounts involving a prisoner who was let out on furlough under a program supported by Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis.

Meanwhile, pollster Lou Harris said Bush campaign ads attacking the furlough program and Dukakis' opposition to the death penalty have influenced more voters than anything else so far in the 1988 campaign.

In Washington, the Committee for the Presidency, a group backing Republican George Bush, said its ads would start today in three California areas and may later be used against Dukakis, the Democratic nominee, in other Western states.

One 30-second spot features Conna Cuomo, whose brother was murdered by Willie Horton. A second shows Cliff Barnes, whom Horton stabbed several months after failing to return from a weekend pass. Horton also raped Barnes' fiancee.

Both ads show Cuomo and Barnes in close-up shots, speaking in grim voices about the furlough program and saying people outside Massachusetts don't know enough about Dukakis or his record.

Bush's 9-point lead in the latest Harris poll was built mainly through his advertising, Harris said before and appearance in Rochester, N.Y. "The Bush commercials have had an enormous impact. Really more than the debates, more than anything else, they have determined the set of the election until now," he said.

Harris said 63 percent of voters see Dukakis as soft on crime as opposed to 53 percent before the Bush attacks aired, and 49 percent term the governor out of the political mainstream to 34 percent who did so before the advertising blitz.

Dukakis was not starting any new national or regional advertising yesterday, according to spokeswoman Lorraine Voles. But he was scheduled to appear today on ABC's "Good Morning America," and Dayton Duncan, his press secretary, said the campaign had purchased five minutes of time on the same network to air a speech at 9:55 p.m. tomorrow.

The new independent ads for Bush hammer home the same points the Bush campaign has been making.

"First Dukakis let killers out of prison. He also vetoed the death penalty," says Cuomo, of North Andover, in one spot. "Willie Horton stabbed my teen-age brother 19 times. Joey died. Horton was sentenced to life without parole, but Dukakis gave him a furlough. He never returned. Horton was sentenced to life without parole, but Dukakis gave him a furlough. Horton went on to rape and torture others."

AP photo

ON ALERT — Pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem guerrillas of Hezbollah, or Party of God, backed by a jeep mounted with a twin-barrelled anti-aircraft gun, patrol the hills around the Bekaa Valley yesterday, aware of possible air attacks by the Israeli forces in retaliation for Wednesday's car bomb near the Lebanese-Israeli border, in which seven Israeli soldiers were killed and nine others wounded.

State cop charged with 1981 rape

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — An Athol woman delayed reporting an alleged sexual assault by a state trooper for five years because she was too distraught, according to a therapist who treated the woman.

Psychologist Anne McComb of Amherst testified before a federal jury Wednesday that delays in revealing a sexual assault are "extraordinarily common . . . There is a high shame factor involved and it's so difficult to talk about."

Jo Ann E. Moore, who claims she was punched, sexually assaulted and denied access to a lawyer during the 1981 incident at the Russell State Police barracks, is seeking $600,000 in damages in her United States District Court suit against State Police Lt. William Shea, Jr. and troopers Patricia Driscoll and Jay Bowman.

McComb said that Moore first called her at 1 a.m., six days after the alleged July 11, 1981 incident, and showed signs of "terror and depression" when she came to her office later in the day.

In the weeks following, she said Moore began to suffer from post-traumatic stress syndrome related to the incident.

She described Moore, a 37-year-old social worker, as "a very traumatized young woman," who will require several more years of therapy.

In her suit, filed in 1983, Moore alleged that the three troopers took her into custody while she was protesting a parking ticket near a swimming hole along the Westfield River in Huntington.

Moore testified that Bowman slammed her against a cruiser, slapped a cigarette from her mouth and then fondled her while he struggled with her in a cell at the barracks. She also claimed that Shea assaulted her in the barracks and that Driscoll did nothing to prevent the alleged attacks.

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

JIM BEAM BOURBON ..... 8.99 liter
ARROW BLACKBERY BRANDY ..... 4.99 750 ml
FLAVORED SCHNAPPS (for the pocket) $1.25
Blackberry, Apricot, Coffee, Cola, Mintjulep 200ml.
PEACH SCHNAPPS...now only $3.99 750ml.
BANDIERA, NAPA RIDGE White Zinfandel
3 bottles for $10.00
BOORDS GIN 80 proof (while they last) $7.99 1.75 liter
SMIRNOFF Vodka 80 proof (compare) $12.99 1.75 liter
BACARDI Rum (silver or amber) $12.99 1.75 liter

Budweiser Kegs
$39.95 + dep.
Dos Equis $4.05 6 pk. + Miller Lite $11.49 Cse. +
MOSSEHEAD BEER
3.70 6 pk. +dep.; $12.99 cse. +dep.
FOSTER'S LAGER
$3.99 6 pk. +dep.; $1.60 + 25 oz. can

The LOWEST Prices in or about Amherst.
WE OFFER OFF CAMPUS DELIVERY...253-5441
Proper I.D. Required, always...
Please...Don't Drink and Drive!

ENJOY SUNDAY BRUNCH
11 a.m.-3 p.m.
All You Can Eat
$6.99
Sun.-Thurs. 10-10 Fri. & Sat. 11-1 Banquet Room Available
PEKING GARDEN
A MANDARIN & SZECHUAN RESTAURANT
586-1202 北京園 on Route 9, Hadley
Formerly the Wok

Amherst College presents
JOSH WHITE, JR.
FOLK, BLUES & GOSPEL!

Special Guest Anne Hills
SUNDAY, OCT. 23
8 p.m. $5 Public
$1 Amherst College
in the Campus Center
Info (413) 542-5773

Coming Oct. 30 DAVID BROMBERG $7 Public $2 Amherst College

Dr. Ruth to speak

BOG OK's therapist's lecture at UMass

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

The Board of Governors will be able to bring Dr. Ruth Westheimer to campus in November, because of a fund reallocation made during last night's meeting.

Westheimer will appear Monday Nov. 7 in the Campus Center Auditorium, according to Jeff Glassman, BOG Program Council Coordinator. About 800 people will be able to purchase tickets for the lecture, which Glassman said should be about five dollars.

"I think by bringing Dr. Ruth students can become more aware of sexual problems, and relationships," Glassman said. He said one of the things Westheimer promotes is safer sex, an important topic for students.

The board voted unanimously, with one abstention, to move $7,000 from its reserve account to the Program Council account to fund the event, which should cost a total of about $8,500.

This event is part of a new effort by the board to sponsor revenue-generating events, which board members say is a good policy.

Treasurer Joe Casali said, "I think this is a good idea, it will fiscally secure the board against any financial trouble in the future." Casali said this revenue generation would allow the board to bring more events in the future.

Glassman said he and his assistant, Bonnie LaMadaleine, contacted many campus organizations to get funding for the event. Lack of interest on these groups' part forced Glassman to ask the board for money.

"We kept getting people saying no," LaMadeleine said. "For some reason they were unwilling to help fund the event."

She said about 12 groups, including area governments, University Health Services and the Chancellor's Office had been contacted, and had refused to help out because of lack of funds. The Distinguished Visitors Program has agreed to pay for part of the cost, and Glassman is still waiting for word from the Dean of Students Office and the Commuter Area Government.

Westheimer, known for her radio program Sexually Speaking and television show, Dr. Ruth, also appeared at the University of Massachusetts in 1984.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

BANG THE DRUM SLOWLY — Members of the University of Massachusetts Minuteman marching band practice outside Warren G. McGuirk Alumni Stadium after last Saturday's game.

Computerized card catalog implemented

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

The card catalog at the University of Massachusetts Tower Library may soon be a thing of the past.

The catalog is being replaced by the "Library System for the year 2000," a computerized catalog and circulation system the library has already begun using.

The hardware for the system alone cost about $1.3 million, according to Richard Talbot, director of libraries, $1 million of which will come from the PEW Foundation.

Talbot said he hopes the system will be fully in use next semester.

Once the system is totally in use, searching for information will be a matter of working a computer terminal keyboard.

The computer screen will list the bibliographical data on a book, tell if the book is on loan, and its due date.

As well as providing information about books at the University, the system will also be connected to the libraries of the other four colleges in the area — Amherst, Hampshire, Smith, and Mt. Holyoke.

As a result of this combination of resources, information about more than four million books will be available from a single computer screen.

The system will also be accessible to anyone with a personal computer and a modem. Students will be able to look at reference information of all the colleges in the Valley from their dorm room.

As of right now, about a third of the catalog records at the UMass library have been loaded into the system.

However all book information is in the computer for the collections in the Physical Sciences Library in Lederle Graduate Research Center and the Biological Sciences Library in Morrill Science Center.

Eric Esau, the head librarian at the Physical Sciences Library, said response to the new system so far has been favorable and "almost enthusiastic."

"The most important basic change is that since the end of July, the card catalog here has been closed," Esau said. "No new information has been added to the card catalog since then. The only way for people to find information on newly acquired material is through LS/2000."

The Lederle location currently has seven public terminals, and Esau said users have found the system easy to operate and helpful.

Talbot said, as with any new system, transitions have not been easy. "It will cause headaches for all of us for a while."

The Tower library now has 13 terminals and Talbot said once all the information is loaded and the system is fully in use, more will be added.

Howdy Doody to help mall gala

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Correspondent

"Echoes of 'It's Howdy Doody time!' will ring through the mall I guarentee you," said Bob Kirk, Marketing Director at the Hampshire Mall.

It is pure coincidence that the mall will be celebrating its 10th anniversary tomorrow in the same year that the Howdy Doody show is celebrating its 40th anniversary, he said.

The process of recruiting Buffalo Bob Smith and Clarabell the Clown for the mall's celebration began last January and was finalized in March, he said. At the same time, Pyramid Foundation, the mall's owners, and Kirk were searching for a group in need of enough help.

"Cooley Dickinson Hospital in Northampton was the way to go," he said.

The hospital officials told Kirk they wanted to purchase an infant care system, which would provide a low-stress care environment where the infants could be weighed and changed in a warmed, padded place. The mall management issued a challenge grant for the hospital to raise $1000, and the mall would provide the remaining $7,700 needed to purchase the equipment.

Kirk said there are several reasons to bring Howdy Doody to the mall, what with two types of people to enjoy the fun.

"There are the professionals with children who remember Howdy Doody when they were children and want to see that again. Then there are all the college students who have a vague remembrance of Howdy Doody but just aren't real sure," he said.

Kirk said there is a great upswing in nostalgia and the show is really a classic piece of America that came into people's homes for 20 years.

"And lastly because I'm an avid Howdy Doody fan," he said.

He said that the reaction to the concept will be great because of a "child's interest in what his or her parent was laughing at when they were small."

Hobbytime at the mall will be sponsoring a Howdy Doody look-alike contest with first, second, and third place awards of gift certificates to the store. Kirk said the age of a contestant does not really matter but ideally they should be under 12. "The 35 best contestants will make up the Peanut Gallery," Kirk said. The Peanut Gallery is the audience of the show.

The mall plans to set up a type of "Hall of Fame" on the way to the management offices and public restrooms. The hall of fame will consist of poster-paint prints of hands, feet or noses of the famous persons and letters from them. The first prints and a personal letter will come from Buffalo Bob.

The hospital and mall decided that Cooley Dickinson would be the site for a preview of tomorrow's show at the mall and an ice-cream making party.

"This would give all patients a chance to see Buffalo Bob and Clarabell," Kirk said.

The preview begins tonight at 7 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria and costs $10 per person. Tickets can be obtained in Amherst through the office at 71 South Pleasant Street, or directly from the hospital.

For Your Information

The FYI section is a public service announcement to the campus and community. Space is limited, so the Collegian cannot guarantee that all submissions will be published.

Bible Study
The New Testament Fellowship will be having a bible study at 7 p.m. tonight and every Friday of the semester in the Campus Center. Check the event listing near the information desk on the concourse for the room number.

Convention
The Science Fiction Society is sponsoring a Sci Fi Convention. Registration is at 10 a.m. today in the Campus Center Auditorium. See Campus Center Daily Schedule for appropriate rooms.

Social
There will be a coffee social from 3 to 5:30 p.m. today in room 811B-15 of the Campus Center. The event is sponsored by the Lesbian, Bisexual Gay Alliance.

Scavenger Hunt
There will be a scavenger hunt at 7 tonight at the Johnson House.

Interviews
Interviews for all students seeking admission to Early Childhood Education will be held during the week of Oct. 24-28. Applications, which must be completed before an interview , may be obtained in room 354 Hills South. Directions for interview are available in the same office. Students who fail to complete the application and interview will not be considered for Jan. 1989 admission.

Cars collide; none injured

Police reported an accident on Fearing Street occurred Wednesday when a vehicle pulling out into traffic struck a second vehicle pulling out of a metered parking space. Both cars sustained damages in excess of $1000.

In other police reports:

- A step ladder worth $40 was stolen Wednesday from a vehicle parked in the Campus Center Garage.
- A student returned to his sport van parked in lot 62 Wednesday to find obscenities scratched into the paint on the door. Damages were estimated at $500.
- A Carmel, New York, man was arrested on Fearing Street Wednesday and charged with being a minor in possesion of alcohol.
- Officers responded to a fire alarm in Kennedy Residence Hall which was set off by Halloween decorations on two doors that had been set afire. There were no injuries related to the incident.

—THOMAS RODRIGUES

■ Civility Day 1988

continued from page 1

events.

"We're hoping to attract a wide range of people. We know that not everyone will come. We don't really know how else to get them involved," she said.

Hands Across UMass, a human chain of students, staff and faculty, is scheduled to take place on Civility Day at 1 p.m. Jason Rabinowitz, Student Government Association co-president-elect, said it would be difficult to ignore the event.

> "There's no way that they're not going to get the message that this campus opposes racism, this campus opposes violence and this campus stands united against those people who want to perpetuate those kinds of crimes."
> — Jason Rabinowitz

"There's no way that they're going to not get the message that this campus opposes racism," he said. "This campus opposes violence and this campus stands united against those people who want to perpetuate those kinds of crimes. So, they'll either change their minds or they'll modify their behavior."

Lori Edmonds, president of the Africom Society and coordinator of Hands Across UMass, agreed with Rabinowitz.

"People always seem to look at all the bad things, when the racism occurs, but they never look at the good side of it," she said. "People are finally starting to become aware that racism is on this campus and everywhere. A lot of people are starting to make an effort and I think it will get out to the right people just because the majority of the people are striving to end racism."

Ingle pointed out that the official title "Civility Day 1988: Focus on Racism" is not intended to exclude other issues of civility as well.

"We've asked people who are concerned about other social issues to come up with a way of linking the two," he said. "So you'll see workshops linking the connection between anti-semitism and racism, between racism and classism, (between) racism and the gay, lesbian and bisexual community."

■ Farrakhan

continued from page 1

suggested that the two groups co-sponsor the visit.

Margaret Arsenault, DVP program advisor from the Student Activities Office, said the DVP receives approximately $2.75 per student out of the $104.50 student activities fee. After the total number of enrolled students is determined, Arsenault said DVP receives more than $50,000.

The validity of the committee's vote may be in question, said Berkley, because neither co-chairman was in attendance at the meeting. He said the meeting was chaired by the two co-chairpersons-elect, Susan Miles, and Judi Kohn, who were elected this semester but will not officially assume the positions until next semester.

Berkley said that he assumed that Danielle D'Appolito, the other co-chairperson, would be present at the meeting, and that the motion would be tabled until it could be studied further.

Kohn said she thought it was all right for the committee to vote without the presence of the two chairpersons. She added that she felt the decision was legitimate because the program advisor was present and did not object to the proceedings.

"Frankly, we were ill-prepared," Kohn said.

Kohn said there was doubt on the elegibility of some of the committee members that voted at the meeting.

"The constitution says you have to be at three consecutive meetings to be a voting member," Kohn said. "Three members of the fraternity considered themselves members as of Tuesday. The question is whether the open proposals meeting, the first meeting they attended, counted as a regular meeting."

Arsenault said, "After the meeting there were some questions as to the validity of the decision. The issue is still up in the air."

"There was a lot of debate at the meeting, but members of the committee saw no reason why Farrakhan shouldn't come," Kohn said, adding that, in her opinion, by the end of the meeting more than half of those present who opposed the visit were for it.

Berkley and Kohn agreed that the DVP constitution was vague on specifics concerning proper procedure on voting and eligibility.

MassPIRG food drive raises consciousness

By BRIAN PURCELL
Collegian Correspondent

The world hunger problem was addressed last weekend during MassPIRG's annual food drive, which was held at Super-Stop and Shop in Hadley.

Shoppers were asked to donate non-perishable food for hunger relief. The drive rased about 500 pounds of food during its three day span, 200 pounds over the group's original goal, according to Debbie Silbert, project coordination for the University of Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group.

The food was donated to the Western Massachusetts Food Bank which supplies local soup kitchens in the area.

"I was very impressed at how receptive people were in the area," Silbert said.

Besides the immediate aid to hungry people, a food drive raises people's awareness on the fact that hunger exists, said Dave Lippeat, campus staff person for the group.

Bonnie Sammon, a student who worked on the drive, said "a lot of people were saying how happy they were about us taking interest in the hunger problem."

Eighteen University students worked on the project for MassPIRG. The group will continue to work on hunger relief, organizers said. The "Skip-a-meal day" will take place Nov. 17. Students are urged to give up a meal to let the unspent money go to local hunger organizations.

The group will also sponsor a benefit concert, where two bands and a comedian will perform. The concert will be held in early December at UMass, and proceeds will be donated to national hunger relief organizations.

Church program seeks to forge bonds of international friendship

By KIMBERLY ROBINSON
Collegian Correspondent

An effort to foster international friendships will be made this weekend, as the First Baptist Church of Amherst hosts participants of the Baptist Youth Partners Program.

Church Coordinator Bill Crosby said, "the original idea [of the program] was to invite young people from all around the world to share stories about what is going on in their lives and hwat they are doing."

The youths are scheduled to arrive mid-afternoon Friday, and will be in Amherst until Monday morning. They will be split into three teams, each made up of four or five international students and three Americans of different ethnic backgrounds, said Crosby.

"The program's main purpose is to get the youth in our churches and the other your that they will be talking to excited about that dialect and what is going on in other parts of the world," he said.

Youths coming to Amherst will represent Poland, Haiti, Zaire, the Philippines, and two Americans, Crosby said. Despite original plans, there will be no representatives from the Soviet Union or Nicaragua, he said, though East Germany will be represented.

"We won't know who has actually made it until they get here," Crosby said, adding that some people who wish to participate in the program may have difficulty obtaining visas in order to come to United States.

"We are doing things to raise the money for people to come over. All the kids do not have to pay their way," he said.

Crosby said one way the youths are able to afford the program is through their cooperation with Habitat for Humanity, an organization that builds and sells houses to economically disadvantaged people. Almost every nationality involved in Baptist Youth Partners has a Habitat chapter in their country, he said.

Tomorrow morning youths will work on constructing a house, Crosby said. Residents and professionals in the area have pledged to sponsor the youths for as many hours as they work, he added.

Crosby said panel discussions, dinners, and social receptions have been set up in churches in the area, and added that the public is invited.

Crosby said the best time to visit is 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the church, 434 North Pleasant Street, Amherst.

Regional briefs

● Testifying continues in LaPlante

LOWELL (AP) — A woman allegedly kidnapped by Daniel J. LaPlante during his two-day flight from police choked back tears as she recounted her abduction and escape during testimony yesterday.

Laplante, 18, is facing charges that he shot and killed a Townsend woman and then drowned her two young children in their home Dec. 1.

As the prosecution drew close to wrapping up its case yesterday, witnesses testified about their encounters with LaPlante the day he was captured.

On Dec. 3, while some 100 police were combing the Pepperell area, Pamela Makela returned home from work and LaPlante greeted her at her front door with a pistol, Makela said.

"When I opened the door there was this person standing there with a gun and he was a young kid and he motioned to me with his hands to sit down," Makela said.

After spending a short time at Makela's home making a sandwich and asking her about the police searching for him, LaPlante forced her at gunpoint to drive him away from the manhunt.

Asked if she recognized the defendant, Makela was obviously nervous and would only glance quickly in LaPlante's direction and offer brief descriptions.

● Man sentenced for drunk driving accident

DEDHAM (AP) — A man sentenced to prison for killing a 20-year-old college student in a drunken driving accident walked across the courtroom before he was to be led away to prison and tearfully embraced the father of the victim.

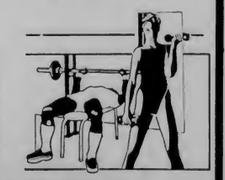
As their wives and children sobbed and burly Norfolk County Court Officers fought back tears, Antonio Fantasia, the father or the victim, told the convicted driver in halting English, "There is no revenge because I'm a father and you're a father like me.

"I know you're a Catholic, like I am a Catholic. We believe in family . . . but I think you should suffer a little because Phillip suffered. He gave the rest of his life."

John McKierman, 52, of Milton, the father of three sons, was sentenced to 15 years at the state prison in Concord in the death of Philip Fantasia, The Patriot Ledger reported yesterday. Under the terms of a sentence at Concord, he will be eligible for parole in 18 months.

McKiernan was convicted of five charges including motor vehicle homicide and drunken driving in the Aug. 2, 1987 accident that killed the college student on the way home from his job at a nearby fast food restaurant.

AMHERST RACQUET & FITNESS CENTER
• Tennis • Racquetball • Nautilus
• Aerobics • Saunas
SPECIAL!!
3 months
$69
Nautilus & Aerobics
Offer expires Oct. 31
549-4545



Sundays at The Chequers
◆NEW ENGLAND◆ COUNTRY BREAKFAST served 9am-1pm
☐ Fresh Baked Blueberry Muffins
☐ Homemade streusel coffee cake
☐ Fresh squeezed juices ☐ Eggs Benedict - The best in the Valley ☐ Griddle cakes
☐ Country style sausage & bacon.
"Just a few of the special items on our new menu."
Serving our full menu 11:30am-9pm
University Drive Amherst 549-5861

■ campus accessibility

continued from page 1

In most cases, this is an approach that works, Appleby said.

"The UMass campus has more than 400 buildings and to make them all accessible is an unrealistic goal," he said. "Renovations are always expensive and there is a constant scramble for money."

Funds for renovation projects are allocated by the Architectural Barriers Board. The board gets its money form the State Department of Capital Planning and Operations. This years budget is $120,000, said Board Chairman Ray Bender. Out of that money, $75,000 will be spent on renovations on the New Africa House, said Bender. The rest will be used to modify an upstairs bathroom at Boyden Gymnasium.

The board has a yearly emergency fund of $25,000. Bender said there is virtually no renovation that can be done for that amount.

"You can't even get a ramp and a rail for that," he said. "It's not like you can just throw it up. You have to build according to Code. A basic ramp and rail can cost over $40,000."

There are still many key locations on campus that are not accessible. CASIAC students cannot get to their advising office in Machmer Hall. The Fine Arts Center is "a disgrace," Appleby said. The second floor of the Student Union can only be reached by an extremely unreliable elevator, he said.

Elevators, which coast from $250,000-$500,000, are needed in the School of Education, Arnold House, Skinner Laboratory, Engineering Laboratory, Marcus Hall, Machmer and Stockbridge School of Agriculture, Appleby said.

Science majors have an additional requirement, he said. Laboratory benches are too high for someone in a wheelchair. Special laboratory bench modules are on order, Appleby said.

Liz Hart, president of Abilities Unlimited, said public telephones are another problem, they are too high and the cords are too short. Emergency telephone boxes are not only too high, she said, some are placed facing curbs and are completely inaccessible.

Heavy doors, particularly at the Campus Center and Whitmore Administraton Building, are difficult if not impossible for disabled students to manage alone, Hart said. At the very least she would like to see more doors equipped with electronic openers such as those found in the Tower Library and some in residence halls, she said.

"Disabled students have access to most types of campus housing," said Assistant Director of Housing John Findely.

Hart said she disagreed. "Orchard Hill and Sylvan have no accessible halls. Brett (Residence Hall, in Central) is one of the few halls where students can live with their peers, in a coed environment that has convenient access to the dining hall," she said.

Ellis said disabled students opting to "walk" (go by wheelchair) to class are challenged even before they reach a given building — by the topography of the campus. When Ellis needs to go from Brett to the center of campus, he must cross North Pleasant Street near the Fine Arts Center and then double back, he said.

"While little can be done about hills, there should be more curb cuts," Hart said.

Disabled students should be more involved in the decision making process, Hart said. She said she is distressed that there are not more disabled students working in Handicapped Student Affairs and on the Barriers Board, of which she is a member.

"People wouldn't think of having all white men on an Affirmative Action Board," she said.

Hart said she wants the University to care more about its disabled students, and spend more money on making the campus accessible. Disabled students are attracted to UMass because it has good accessibility compared to other schools, she said.

"Students come here and think its absolutely great," she said. "And it is, compared with other schools and communities — and that's the sad part, because it still is not good enough."

WHERE INDIAN FOOD IS NOT JUST CURRY
• Traditional Tandori India Cooking Seals in Fresh Foods Natural Flavors
• Complete Vegetarian Menu
• Extensive Wine List
• Bewitching Biryanis
• Enticing Curries
Lunch Tues.-Sat. 11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. Sunday 12:00-3:00 p.m.
Dinner Tues.-Thurs. & Sun 5:00 p.m.-9:30 p.m. Fri. & Sat. 5:00 p.m.-10:30 p.m.
"Indian Restaurant with Excellent Food and Service" The New England Monthly
The INDIA HOUSE RESTAURANT
45 State St Northampton, MA (413) 586-6344
207 Colchester Ave. Burlington, VT (802) 862-7800

• DRIVERS
• COUNTER CLERKS
Full & Part-Time Positions
Excellent Wage & Benefit Package
Flexible Work Schedule Can Be Arranged
Contact: Store Manager at Your Nearest Hapco Store Throughout Western Mass.
OR Personnel Manager
HAPCO AUTO PARTS
480 High St. • Holyoke, MA 01040

Coors LIGHT COMEDY COMMANDOS
FEATURING:

CAMPUS CENTER PROG. BOARD PRESENTS
COORS LIGHT COMEDY COMMANDO
DAVID NASTER
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21, 8:00 P.M., CAMPUS CENTER FRONT ROOM AMHERST COLLEGE, TICKETS $1.00 STUDENTS, $3.00 OTHERS
The SilverBullet

Amherst Farmer's Market on the Common
We're Selling:
Hanging Baskets
Plants and Herbal Products
Very Fresh Vegetables, including Pumpkins
Maple Syrup and Honey
Baked Goods
Every Saturday through November

HEY, GANG, IT'S THE FRIDAY
FUN PAGE
SWELL STUFF TO DO During DULL CLASSES!
MAKE NEAT ANIMALS OUT OF The Gum under Your SEAT.
(You MIGHT HAVE TO Chew it A little) Exercise YER TeleKinetic POWERS.
SCREAM OBScenities WHEN YOUR INSTRUCTOR writes ON THE BLACK BOARD.

Dining commons don't welcome applicants

A recent Collegian article ("Heavy manpower shortage at DCs could cost students more in long run" Sept. 20) brought to my attention the issue of understaffed dining commons. One reason they are so understaffed is because of the way they treat prospective employees.

I went to apply for a job at one of the DCs in the Southwest residential area. Instead of being treated with courtesy, I was treated with a lackadaisical attitude concerning a possible job opening. No one, not even the kitchen managers, could take the time to explain anything such as a possible job or who I should see or what I should do in order to get one. They acted as if they did not need help, which was contradictory to the article.

The article also said that if the DCs could not find enough help, they would have to hire full time employees. If this was to happen, the price of meal cards would inflate dramatically. It does not make sense to plead a problem with the public and then act as if the problem does not even exist when the public responds.

There must be a problem that exists within the food service department as a whole. If the managers of the kitchens are this unhappy, maybe the person above them is treating them wrong. On the other hand, maybe the DC staff just had a bad day. Either way, the actions of the managers were wrong and should be corrected if they expect anyone to work for them!

It does not seem fair for the kitchen staff to have this attitude. Who is going to want to work at the DCs when they will be treated badly.

R.J. Maguire
Southwest

In other news...

Memo to Governor Dukakis:
Is there anything you can do?
Here is a list of strategies, in order of decreasing plausibility and increasing (to be blunt) desperation:

Mr. Dukakis's Neighborhood: This is the cuddly "Teddy Bear" strategy that your Boston aides are trying now. For the moment, they've scrapped negative ads in favor of spots that feature you looking straight into the camera, trying to sound compassionate.

Madly Like Adlai: Maybe you should forget "tough." Go back to your roots in the 1950s liberalism of Adlai Stevenson. Say it loud, I'm left and I'm proud. Gun control? Hell, yes. Trash the Pentagon. Some polls show that many Americans agree with the 'liberal' position on those and other issues. Unfortunately, many of these people don't know they're liberal, and aren't eager to find out. And just about everyone else seems to be conservative.

The Andropov Gambit: Desperate yet? Recall for a moment how the whole world trembled when the Soviet premier had a "cold." Well, the same would happen if Bush were even slightly ill. The "President Quayle" issue — your one effective "hot button" would suddenly take on a frightening reality. Is it too cruel to hope the vice president gets a tummy ache? How about getting some of your overworked, flu-ridden workers close enough to Bush to . . . breathe on him? Never mind. If you're hopelessly behind in two weeks, you can always . . .

Quit: That's right, quit. Sure, this would be a big sacrifice. But you'd still be governor of Massachusetts. The way things are going, that's what you'll be next January anyway.

—Newsweek, Oct. 24.

Create a great Halloween COSTUME!

Choose from our inspiring selection of used clothing, gowns, hats and spectacular odds-and-ends! The stuff of memorable costumes awaits you at...

ONCE MORE WITH FEELING
Carriage Shops, 233 N. Pleasant St., Amherst • 549-3772
Open Mon.-Sat., 10-5

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT
Add Spice To Your Weekend!!
NOW SERVING BRUNCH
Every dish freshly prepared to order using the finest ingredients, and at prices that won't wreck the weekend budget.
Saturday & Sunday 11:00 To 3:00
7 OLD SOUTH STREET NORTHAMPTON

UPC in Association with BMCP

Wednesday
OCT 26
BOOGIE DOWN PRODUCTIONS

BIG DADDY KANE

In Celebration of Civility Week
8:00 p.m. FAC

$9 UMass Students
$12 General Public

Tickets sold at FAC Box Office

To Charge on MC/Visa, call 545-2511

CASE SPECIALS

MICHELOB SUITCASE	11.99
PIELS	5.99
CARLING BLACK LABEL	6.99
SCHMIDTS 16 oz. BAR BOTTLES	8.99
STROHS 30 PACK	10.99
HEINEKEN	15.99

LABATTS BLUE/ALE 12 pk. 5.99

ONES, FOURS, SIXS AND TWELVES

HAFFENREFFER 40 oz.	1.39
PURPLE PASSION 4 pk.	4.99
MICKEYS WIDE MOUTH 6 pk.	2.99
MOLSON GOLDEN 6 pk.	3.99
RED STRIPE 6 pk.	4.99
CORONA 6 pk.	4.99
SAM ADAMS 6 pk.	4.99
OLD MILWAUKEE 12 pk.	4.99
BECKS 12 pk.	7.99

Friends are worth it

HARD BARGAINS

FOUR SEASONS VODKA 1.75L	8.99
FOUR SEASONS GIN 1.75L	8.99
PEACHTREE SCHNAPPS 750 ml	5.99
ABSOLUT VODKA 750 ml	10.99
RON ROBERTO RUM 1.75L	10.00
JAQUART CHAMPAGNE 750 ml	9.99
COOKS AMERICAN CHAMPAGNE 750 ml	4.49

THERE'S NO REASON TO GO ANYWHERE ELSE

FOUR SEASONS

MC/VISA WE DELIVER

Located on Route 9, Hadley—Just beyond Burger King
OPEN MONDAY—SATURDAY 9 a.m. - 11 p.m.

584-8174

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Notes from the Campus Center Basement—

Campus ducks get harrassed

The island on the Campus Pond is looking more and more like a suburban fantasy, with its carefully groomed path and arranged stones. Actually, it's not really an island, it's an art project, called the "Isle of View," and it was completed in 1985, almost. That's great, we were all psyched to see another piece of rusty metal near the Fine Arts Center and it allows you to avoid looking at the scum that collects at that end of the pond.

Nancy Klingener

But where are the ducks supposed to go? That was the only place where they could go to get away from the eternal students, not to mention dogs and anything else that bothered them. Just imagine being a duck on our pond: not only are you very sick of popcorn, but these people keep coming up to you when you're trying to sleep, or rest, or just hang out with your buddies. The ducks have it tough enough with those nasty swans beating up on them all the time — it wasn't necessary to take away their only retreat for the sake of "art" and a shortcut.

• • •

Has anyone noticed how few personals are in the Collegian's classified section this semester? What's the matter, don't people like each other anymore? What happened to all the cute jokes and puns and coded messages? Maybe they're all getting sent through some high-tech computer system now or something. Maybe we really are the materialistic children of the 80s, and we just don't care about each other.

• • •

UMass trivia: Why is the Hatch called the Hatch? Because the UMass sports teams used to be called the Redmen, and the snack bar was called the Hatchet. A professor I know swears the restrooms were labeled "braves" and "squaws" and foreign exchange students would often be subject to humiliation after innocently walking into the wrong one.

• • •

No doubt the appearance of Louis Farrakhan on campus will spark some serious debate, anger, hurt and general ill will. This kind of situation always makes the First Amendment types (like journalists and academics) uncomfortable — you have to support free speech, and you have to condemn anti-Semitism. So the only solution is simply to not attend Farrakhan's speech. (He will get far less attention if he is not greeted with an uproar.)

• • •

Parking on campus, always a nightmare, is now nearing impossible. The old Campus Center loading dock, known affectionately as the Bat Cave, used to be pretty safe after working hours. Now, they'll nail you with a $10 ticket even at night. Yes, people legitimately pay a lot of money for reserved spaces there. But after 6 p.m., there are always enough spaces and people need a safe place to park on this campus at night. Now, you can't even park in the lot across from Hasbrouck at 8 p.m., which is ridiculous. Especially as a woman, hiking to P-lot at 1 a.m. does not make sense. So we learn dodges and take chances, and the Bat Cave is 75 percent empty by 7:30 p.m. But those parking spaces are reserved.

Nancy Klingener is a Collegian columnist

WASHINGTOON®
Mark Alan Stamaty
BUSH DESERVES to WIN and HAVE the CONSEQUENCES of the REAGAN DEFICITS FALL on TOP OF HIM.
I ACCEPT the CLEAR MANDATE of the VOTERS to TAKE the FOLLOWING ACTIONS to REDUCE the DEFICIT:
ONE: SALUTE the FLAG.
TWO: PLAY with MY GRANDCHILDREN.
SOMEDAY GRANDPA! DEBTS WILL ALL BE YOURS, SWEETHEART!
BUT IF BUSH WINS, HE'S LIKELY TO PACK THE SUPREME COURT WITH HARD-LINE RIGHT-WINGERS WHO WOULD HAUNT US FOR DECADES.
THIS ELECTION IS ABOUT IDEOLOGY!
WHICHEVER IDEOLOGY IT TAKES TO GET ME ELECTED AND REELECTED.
HE'S WRECKING THE COURTS!
THIS IS YOUR PUNISHMENT, AMERICA, FOR NOT ELECTING ME EIGHT YEARS AGO WHEN I WAS A MODERATE!
ARE WE REALLY SHIFTING FARTHER TO THE RIGHT? IS THIS REALLY ABOUT IDEOLOGY?
WHY NOT ELECT ME? I WON'T APPOINT REACTIONARY JUDGES.
YOU CAN'T BE PRESIDENT UNTIL YOU DEMONSTRATE THE EMOTIONS YOU WOULD FEEL IF YOUR WIFE WERE RAPED AND KILLED.
HE CAN'T DO IT!
HE MUST NOT LOVE HIS WIFE!
ONE THING LOGICALLY FOLLOWS THE OTHER: WE HAVE TO HAVE A REACTIONARY SUPREME COURT BECAUSE MIKE DUKAKIS DOES NOT LIKE TO SHOW HIS EMOTIONS IN PUBLIC.
CAN I TRY DOING A SCENE FROM "DEKTHVISH"?
IT'S TOO LATE! AMERICA'S IDEOLOGICAL PENDULUM HAS SHIFTED.
THAT'S HOW IT GOES. THE GREAT FORCES OF HISTORY HAD BEEN SET IN MOTION.
THIS IS THE EXPRESSION I MADE ONE TIME WHEN I HIT MY THUMB WITH A HAMMER.
IT'S TOO LATE!
I'M JUST WARMING UP! GIVE ME A CHANCE!
I'M SORRY. THE SUPREME COURT HAS STARTED OVERTURNING PRECEDENTS.
HISTORY HAS LIMITED PATIENCE

Some advice for Mike and George—

Media makes and breaks politicians

After reading two Newsweek articles earlier this week, some conclusions must be made on the relationship between the press and the politicians.

The subject is politicians — first Michael Dukakis.

The Dukakis campaign, Newsweek reports, "often assumed the media would do the work of attacking George Bush."

David R. Mark

Ironically, it was the Duke who lost the media wars — early and often. For while his campaign hoped the "liberal" media would come to his aid, his daily press conferences led to his campaign's collapse.

Bush would begin the day by blasting Dukakis on any number of issues:

"Michael Dukakis is soft on crime," he'd say.

Later:

"Governor, Mr. Bush said you're soft on crime," the reporters asked.

"I'm not soft on crime," the Duke would reply.

But the damage had been done. Television showed Dukakis on the defensive. Bush looked strong, drawing comparisons between himself and the 'liberal' Governor of Massachusetts.

Unfortunately for the United States, the way the Duke got out of this mess wasn't by going on the offensive.

It was by cancelling press conferences.

Alas, we the people lose out because the Duke campaign's strategy backfired miserably.

A little farther along in my Newsweek, there's an article on poor San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros, the great Hispanic hope who fell by the wayside when a San Antonio newspaper brought out the his affair with a married woman.

San Antonio Express-News columnist Paul Thompson was unrepentant in defending his column. Cisneros first told Thompson about Linda Medlar, the other woman, months before the column appeared. Thompson said he was told that the information on the condition that it remain secret.

Thompson said, in printing the column, that "this thing was breaking all around me, and we didn't want to be shut out. I knew more than anybody else, and I wasn't going to be shut out on some ethical punctilio. (Besides), we've got a big circulation fight going here (with rival newspaper the San Antonio Light)."

So candidates are ruined because of circulation fights. Or maybe they ruin themselves. Gary Hart had his Donna Rice, Joe Biden his Neil Kinnock, Henry Cisneros his Linda Medlar. Bush and Dukakis have Peter Jennings, Dan Rather and Tom Brokaw.

But there is a connection, sometimes dangerous, between the press and the politicians. On the one hand, they help each other. Bush and Dukakis need their television bites to get exposure, Sam Donaldson and Paul Thompson need the candidates to give them something to talk or write about.

At the same time, the political process is being dominated overwhelmingly by these 30-second sound bites and "spin doctors," who literally cheer in front of reporters on behalf of candidates.

It's an interesting campaign.

While the candidates and press help each other, I don't know if either benefits the people. Supposedly both are in the business to aid the voters.

David R. Mark is editorial editor of the Collegian

After death rock and roll genius still lives in hearts

"All we are saying is give peace a chance."

He sings these words. He sits cross-legged on the floor wearing the infamous spectacles. He strums an acoustic guitar. Next to him, always next to him, sits an Oriental woman with long?hair. She claps her hands. She smiles. She sings also. Surrounding them sit many long-haired, bell-bottomed, love-beaded people belonging to their love generation.

He would've been 48 years old this month — Oct. 9. But he has passed on. He left behind a message, one of love, and one of peace for the world. To many, the legacy of John Winston Lennon lives on.

From his beginning with the Quarrymen, to the legendary phenomenon of the Beatles, and all the way to the Plastic Ono Band, Lennon gave his heart and soul to the world through his music. As a poet, lyricist, musician, and political activist, he lived his life to the fullest, creating memories for that generation and for the years that followed.

On Dec. 8, 1981, the ex-Beatle was assassinated.

The musical world stopped for a brief moment. Millions of fans, shocked that their childhood leader had been shot, cried as though he were a part of them that was gone. They mourned the loss — the loss of a hero and musical genius.

In a world maybe a little bit better because of him, Lennon left more than most.

To his musical colleagues and his followers he left good times and memories. He left his son, Julian, who follows in his musical footsteps, remembering a father that he had just gotten close to. He left his young son, Sean, ironically born on the very same day as was he. He left his life long companion, loyal comrade, limitless friend and wife, his other half, Yoko, to carry on without him. Lennon left behind a mystery of life that softly swirls through record collections around the world.

He left hope, hope for love and peace on earth.

Amie Finkelstein

So I was born too late. I am sorry, full of regret and remorse that I was not part of his generation. I missed the Magical Mystery Tour, got lost between the Strawberry Fields and Norweigan Woods. I missed the Yellow Submarine to visit Sgt. Pepper, Eleanor Rigby and the Nowhere Man.

My tribute to Lennon began at 11 Sunday morning, listening to WBCN's (Boston) presentation of the "Lost Lennon Tapes," featuring tracks never publicly released and first cuts of well known songs never before played on the air. Between songs, WBCN aired recorded interviews with Lennon. And I listened to this until three upon arriving at the movie theater to see "Imagine," a documented biographical account of his life from his adolescence to his adulthood.

"Imagine" included clips from hundreds of hours of Yoko Ono's personal footage of Lennon's life. Those close to John throughout his life, including his Aunt Mimi, his first wife Cynthia, his sons Julian and Sean, and wife Yoko, gave personal accounts of his heroic fortitude. Never seen before musical clips were entangled between scenes of his life, beginning in Liverpool, England, to the Ed Sullivan show in the States and to his favorite place in the world, Greenwich Village, New York.

After seeing "Imagine" I caught the rest of MTV's "Happy Birthday, John Lennon" Sunday special. They mostly showed the Beatles' videos, including cuts form "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club" and "Yellow Submarine." Sneaked in were parts of "Imagine" including "Jealous Guy," a song that extracts Lennon's vulnerability. This MTV extravaganza ended at nine Sunday evening and I found I couldn't quit. I explored a five foot stack of Rolling Stone back issues and read every Lennon/Beatles interview since 1967. Then I went to sleep, to "Beatles: 1962-1966." And to the midnight sky, I said "Happy Birthday, John." The sky almost sang back: "You may say I'm a dreamer/But I'm not the only one/ I hope someday you will join us/ and the world will live as one."

And so on Oct. 9, I spent in tribute to a fantastical artist, who unfortunately I never got the chance to know. Yet through his film, his work for peace, and of course, his music that shaped a generation, I feel as though I'd surely have been his friend.

Amie Finkelstein is a UMass student

People in the News . . .

AP photo

Retired Air Force Gen. Chuck Yeager said he was duped recently into promoting a never built South Dakota theme park for military veterans.

AP photo

Talk Show host David Letterman is considering taping a segment of his show at the Mystic Marinelife Aquarium in Mystic, Conn.

AP photo

American actor-director Charlton Heston, playwrite Herman Wouk and an all-Chinese cast got a standing ovation last Tuesday night at the Chinese debut of Wouk's play "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial."

NOTJUSTANOTHER 4 CON

SCIENCE FICTION CONVENTION
October 21-23, 1988
Campus Center and Campus Center Hotel
at U.MASS.

G.O.H. Samuel R. Delany
Artist G.O.H. Tom Kidd

LOTS OF NEAT STUFF!
Check out our Killer Film and Video Programs!
Memberships are $15.00 through October 20, $17.00 at the door.
Call for membership information (413) 545-1924.

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
BEST NEW RESTAURANT
ADVOCATE BEST OF THE VALLEY READERS POLL 1988 SECOND PLACE
Thanks to the Advocate Readers for voting for us in the Best of the Valley Poll. Even though we were only open for one month when the poll was taken, we are pleased we made such a great impression in such a short time span.
FULL LIQUOR LICENSE
261 King St., Northampton•585-0202•Ample Parking
Open 7 days a week•No MSG
TAKE OUT SERVICE AVAILABLE

Murphy's UNDERGROUND EXPRESS
Our Specialty
BUFFALO STYLE CHICKEN WINGS
MILD MEDIUM HOT TURBO
10 pcs.....3.95 or PARTY BUCKETS
20 pcs.....6.95 50 pcs.....15.95
30 pcs.....10.45 75 pcs.....22.95
Served with chunky bleu cheese and fresh celery.
NEW! CHICKEN STRIP TENDERS 4.95 with 2 sauces Barbeque and Duck Sauce
ALSO FEATURING
APPETIZERS
Potato Skins.....4.25
Mozzerella Sticks...3.25
Cheesed Cauliflower2.50
Mushroom Caps.....2.25
Zucchini Circles.....1.75
SIDE ORDERS
Onion Rings.....1.75
Steak Fries.....1.50
Cole Slaw.....95
Potato Salad.....95
Macaroni Salad.....95
Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream- All Flavors-2.95
Coke-Diet Coke-Sunkist-Sprite-A&W
Cans-.65 Liters-1.35
Call Now! 549-7771
TAKE-OUT OR DELIVERY
Tues.-Thurs. 5pm-2am
Fri. & Sat. 5pm-3am
Sunday 5pm-1am
Closed Mondays
FREE DELIVERY! • Prices do not include 5% Meals Tax •

ROYAL CRANE ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
THAI, CHINESE, JAPANESE, INDIAN GOODS
Sauces and spices • Fresh noodles • Fresh Fruits and Vegetables • Pastries • Frozen, canned, dried foods frozen and dried fish • Cook Books • Woks, Rice Cookers & Implements Dishes and Giftware, Tea Sets and Sake Sets
Special orders direct from Chinatown
Over 2200 different items in stock
360 College St., Rte 9, Amherst 253-5858 Sun-Fri, 10-8; Sat 9-8

amc THEATRES
$1.95 TWILITE SHOW
NT FARMS 584-9153
STORMY MONDAY
Fri @ (5:00 @ 1:95) 7:30 10:15
Sat @ 1:45 (5:00 @ 1:95) 7:30 10:15
Sun @ 1:45 (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:15 9:45
R
THE ACCUSED
Fri @ (4:45 @ 1:95) 7:15 10:00
Sat @ 1:30 (4:45 @ 1:95) 7:15 10:00
Sun @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:00 9:30
GORILLAS IN THE MIST
Fri @ (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:15 10:00
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:15 10:00
PG Sun @ 1:30 (4:15 @ 1:95) 7:00 9:30
A Fish Called wanda
Fri @ (5:00 @ 1:95) 7:30 10:15
Sat @ 1:45 (5:00 @ 1:95) 7:30 10:15
R Sun @ 1:45 (4:15 @ 1:95) 7:15 9:45
HAMPSHIRE 584-7550
PUNCHLINE
Fri @ (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:00 9:45
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:00 9:45
R Sun @ 1:30 (4:00 @ 1:95) 7:00 9:30
IMAGINE: JOHN LENNON
Fri @ (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:15 10:00
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:15 10:00
R Sun @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:15 9:30
ALIEN NATION
Fri @ (4:45 @ 1:95) 7:30 10:15
Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 1:95) 7:30 10:15
Sun @ 1:45 (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:30 9:45
HALLOWEEN IV
Fri @ (4:45 @ 1:95) 7:30 10:15
Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 1:95) 7:30 10:15
R Sun @ 1:45 (4:30 @ 1:95) 7:30 9:45
big Tom Hanks
Fri (4:45 @ 1:95) 7:15 10:00
Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 1:95) 7:15 10:00
PG Sun @ 1:45 (4:15 @ 1:95) 7:15 9:45
RAMBO PART III
RED HEAT
R

COTTON SWEATERS MEXICAN BLANKETS AND RUGS
$20.00
Today, 9:00 - 4:00
Campus Center Lobby

BAR HARBOR Clothing Outlet
ONE PRICE $10 STORE
JouJou Diane Von Furstenberg Cherokee Tanglers Devon Calvin Klein Sero Chaus Anne Klein Woolrich Russ Togs
Super Stop & Shop Plaza Route 9, Hadley
Free Belt with this ad
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

Dukakis faults Bush on distorting record, truth

AP photo

GIVE HIM A HAND – Democratic Presidential Candidate Michael Dukakis gestures to the crowd during a campaign speech on Wooster St. in New Haven, Conn. yesterday afternoon.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Democrat Michael Dukakis drew comparisons with the Watergate scandal yesterday in accusing George Bush of distorting his record, and charged that truth " has been the first casualty of the Bush campaign".

"Above all, the truth should matter a lot in a presidential campaign because as we learned in Watergate, it matters a lot in the Oval Office," Dukakis said.

The Democratic presidential nominee, struggling to catch up with the vice president less than three weeks before the Nov. 8 election, raised the issue of abortion in depicting Bush as insensitive to the needs of struggling families.

Referring to Bush's opposition to a woman's right to an abortion in most cases, Dukakis said: "George Bush wants the government to make one of the most personal choices a woman can make. . . I believe a choice that personal must be made by the woman herself."

He recalled that Bush had said, during their first debate on Sept. 25, that he was undecided whether women who receive abortions in the event they are declared illegal should be punished as criminals.

Dukakis raised the abortion issue in a speech to telephone company employees here that was aimed at appealing to working women and struggling families.

He recalled the transgressions of the Watergate era when he renewed his complaint that the Republicans had deliberately distorted his record.

"Truth was the first casualty in the Nixon White House, and it has been the first casualty in the Bush campaign," Dukakis said.

"I believe the American people value the truth in politics. I'm going to do everything I can do to make sure truth wins and that we win on the 8th of November," he said.

Campaigning in the town where Bush attended Yale University, the Massachusetts governor strolled through an Italian neighborhood and spoke to a large street rally crowd.

Dukakis headed later for New York City to attend the annual Al Smith dinner, where he was to share the stage with Bush at a traditional bipartisan campaign event presided over by Roman Catholic Archbishop John O'Connor.

The governor seemed unperturbed when informed on his arrival here that a Hartford Courant newspaper poll showed him trailing Bush in Connecticut by 10 percentage points. "You know the polls, they go up and down," Dukakis told reporters.

But state Democratic chairman John F. Droney made clear he was unhappy about the way the Dukakis campaign was being managed.

"I just believe that the way his campaign has been handled has been bad," Droney said. "I think he should have hit harder, earlier. I don't think we've marketed the product as well as the Republicans."

Droney said other Democratic state chairmen around the country have expressed similar concerns to "the higher-ups in the Dukakis campaign."

Eye treatment scrutinized

BOSTON (AP) — A report of a profitable eye drug that may be based on faulty medical research has prompted four separate federal and state investigations.

Investigations by the House Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations and the House Human Resources and Intergovernmental Subcommittee follow a report in Wednesday's Boston Globe about research by Scheffer Tseng into treating dry eye diseases with a vitamin A ointment.

Officials, said Tseng, who reportedly made a huge profit from a drug company created largely around his research, violated rules in his studies and came up with a treatment effective only in relatively rare cases.

Tseng worked originally in Baltimore and then at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary in Boston, a Harvard Medical School teaching hospital.

Staffers with the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations have asked Harvard for records in the case and for an early meeting with Medical School Dean Daniel C. Tosteson, the Globe reported yesterday.

And, Rep. Theodore S. Weiss, D-N.Y., chairman of the other subcommittee, said, "I am especially concerned whether the National Institute of Health (which put up some money used in the research) and Harvard adequately protected the patients" involved.

James A. Hannan, president of the company involved, Spectra Pharmaceutical Service, Inc. in Hanover, issued a statement Wednesday saying, "Spectra does not believe that the (Globe) story accurately represents the events."

Massachusetts Secretary of State Michael J. Connolly said the state securities division will expand an investigation into the company.

Tseng left Boston more than two years ago and is assistant professor at the University of Miami School of Medicine.

AMHERST CINEMA
Handful of Dust
PG
2 Showings
7 & 9 p.m.
Senior Citizens & Children $2.00, Adults $3.50
DOWNTOWN AMHERST 253-5426

PLAY THE WALL STREET GAME
The AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge
• It's educational, fun & profitable
• Surprisingly easy to play
• You get $500,000, your own broker, and real investment experience
• Winners take in serious cash & prizes
Sponsored by UMass Investment Club
Entry Deadline October 21st
Interested? Call John Flemming at 549-0006

安城中國飯店
AMHERST CHINESE FOOD
—WE DO NOT USE MSG, FOOD COLORING OR CHEMICAL ADDITIVES.
• NEWLY REMODELED
• MANDARIN & SZECHUAN DISHES
• HOME STYLE COOKING
• NON-SMOKING ATMOSPHERE
• FRESH VEGETABLES FROM OUR FARM
• EACH MEAL INDIVIDUALLY PREPARED
• FULL LIQUOR LICENSE
• EAT IN OR TAKE OUT
• OPEN 7 DAYS
• RESERVATIONS AND LARGE PARTIES ACCEPTED
• NO PERSONAL CHECKS
253-7835
253-2813
62 MAIN STREET AMHERST, MA.

UMass Arts Council
GRANT PROPOSAL DEADLINE
The next deadline for submission of grant proposals for arts-related projects and events:
Wednesday, October 26
Guidelines and application forms are available at the Arts Council office and the Student Activities Office
UMass Arts Council
125 Herter Hall, 545-0202

興旺樓
Chinese Kitchen
Fast, Quality Chinese Food at an Affordable Price
Spend $10.00 on any meal and get 2 free drafts or 2 free Cokes
expires Oct. 26th—in Hadley store only
Hadley-430 Russel St., 253-2571 Northampton-150 King St., 586-8221
Help Wanted 11 a.m.—4 p.m.

DELANO'S
Proper Identification A Must
57 NORTH PLEASANT ST • 253-514
"Sunday Night Movie at Delano's"
This Week: Lethal Weapon at 9:00
(free popcorn)
Drink of the Week FUZZY NAVEL $2.00
Beer of the Month BECKS $1.75

Railroad SALVAGE Stores

SALE ENDS OCTOBER 27TH

READY MADE DRAPERIES
OPEN WEAVE • SELF-LINED • FOAMBACK
BURLINGTON HOUSE
FIRST QUALITY AND IRREGULARS
SAVE 48% TO 64%
COMPARE AT $40 - $76 75" & 100" WIDTHS NOW $26.88
COMPARE AT $80 - $93 125" & 150" WIDTHS NOW $36.88

MENS • BOYS SOCK RIOT
ABOVE & BELOW THE CALF
Sizes 8-10 & 10-13
LONG WEARING STAYS UP
Cotton Lined • Nylon/Cotton
SAVE 73%
Value $1.49 PAIR NOW 5 $2 PAIR

5 PC BATHROOM SET
ASSORTED COLORS AND TEXTURES
INCLUDES 18"x27" RUG, CONTOUR, LID COVER, TANK TOP TANK COVER
COMP. VALUE $9.95-$11.95 NOW $8

TEFLON TREATED FABRIC SHOWER CURTAINS
Makes use possible with or without liner.
Value $15.95 NOW $8.77

RUGS RUGS RUGS!
OVER 100,000 YARDS IN STOCK NOW
WE BUY BRAND NAME OVERRUNS AND CLOSEOUTS OF FULL ROLLS & ROLL BALANCES
SAVE 40% 50% 60% EVEN 70% OFF
VALUES $10 TO $30 A SQUARE YARD
NOW $6 TO $9 SQ YD

Toastmaster Heaters
RUBIE BOUGHT OVER 2000
• HEATLOGS • RADIANT • FORCED AIR •
SAVE 30% • 40% AND 50%
HERE'S JUST A FEW EXAMPLES
25" HEATLOG 4505 BTU 1320 WATTS $19.99
30" HEATLOG 5120 BTU 1500 WATTS $23.99

4 PIECE BEDROOM SUITE
CLOSEOUT
CHEST DRESSER MIRROR HEADBOARD
OUR REG $299.99 NOW $128 4 PC. SET

Wrangler CLEARANCE
LADIES LONG SLEEVE SHIRTS SHORT SLEEVE BLOUSES
CANVAS OR COTTON TWILL JEANS Junior Sizes Machine Wash
NOW $4.88 EA. Value $20
GIRLS LONG SLEEVE SHIRTS LONG SLEEVE BLOUSES
SHORT SLEEVE KNIT & MORE Toddler — 14 Made in USA
NOW $3.44 EA. Value $8

ONCE-A-YEAR BEDDING CLEAR-OUT
This is an accumulation of cancelled orders, floor samples and discontinued fabrics. Both matched and unmatched sets.
ALL FIRST QUALITY
OUR REGULAR $99.99 TO $549.99
TWIN SETS MATTRESS & FOUNDATION $75 TO $262
FULL SETS MATTRESS & FOUNDATION $90 TO $345
QUEEN SETS MATTRESS & FOUNDATION $128 TO $412
SORRY NO LAYAWAYS OR SPECIAL ORDERS • IN STOCK ONLY

WHILE 300 LAST
1500 WATT QUARTZ ELECTRIC HEATERS
Value $49.95
$24.88

ROUTE 5 EAST WINDSOR CONNECTICUT MON-SAT 10-9 SUNDAY 10-6
1131 CAMPBELL AVE EXIT 43 OFF I-95 WEST HAVEN CONNECTICUT MON-SAT 10-9 SUNDAY 10-6
ROUTE 184 GROTON CONNECTICUT MON-SAT 10-9 SUNDAY 10-6
1 CANAL STREET TURNERS FALLS MASSACHUSETTS MON-SAT 10-9 SUNDAY 12-6
HAMPSHIRE MALL ROUTE 9 HADLEY MASSACHUSETTS MON-SAT 10-9 SUNDAY 12-5

ARTS/LIVING

Non-artists' work shown at Wheeler house

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

What in the world would Auxiliary Services have to do with this art column? Well, among other things, they are responsible for the murals that you see around the Campus Center. This past Wednesday the department gave a reception for four new works, two of which were done by UMass undergraduates, and a third done by an alumnus. The other was done by a non-student.

Michael James Little, who is one of the students, has an interesting painting in a piece entitled "Landscape -2." It's not your average landscape - in fact, you can't see any land or sky in the work. Still, it's a nice painting.

Art Attack

Patricia J. Fay's "House/Two Views" is a well-done mosaic featuring two different points of view on the same house. It looked as if Fay had put in a lot of time into it. It wasn't wasted.

Alumna Marilyn Coplin contributed a very striking work, an untitled three-dimensional abstract painting. What makes this piece the most exciting of the four pieces is that parts of the work literally jump out of the frame.

Finally, undergraduate Peter Pinardi's untitled work is an abstract with metallic and plastic pieces in round pages. It has a sleek look to it. Hopefully, this and the other pieces will be released for public viewing around the Concourse soon.

In gallery news, Wheeler Gallery is showing a short exhibit (it ends Oct. 30) of drawings from students in the Residential Arts Program, as taught by artist in residence Sharon Harper. Various means and subjects are explored, from still life to fantasy. What makes this show a must-see is the fact that these students are not art majors. Nothing against them, of course, but it's interesting to see what people can do with a casual interest in drawing. Wheeler Gallery's hours are Monday-Thursday, 4-8 p.m. and Sunday, 2-5 p.m.

Next is Hampden Gallery, which is still showing Art in the Dark, an exhibit of luminous sculpture and painting, until Nov.6. Two days after that closes, on Nov.8, Altered Images will open. New England artists Terri Schatz, Stephen Petergorsky and William Parker will be the featured artists in this exhibit, which features the way they manipulate the photographic image through collage and other media. This show ends Dec. 2. For more information, call Residential Arts at 545-2803 or 545-2804.

Herter Art Gallery is showing two exhibits, both of which end on Nov. 2. The first, titled Phscelograms, by Art to the Inth, uses an art form which combines aspects of photography, holography, sculpture, computer graphics and video. Art to the Inth, which is featured in the show, is a group of Chicago artists who use Phscelograms (pronounced sco-lo-grams) to show three-dimensional objects in a three-dimensional format.

The other exhibit is a collection of work by Smith College Art Department faculty member Dwight Pogue, ranging from offset lithography to drawing, from 1983 to the present. Herter Gallery's hours are Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday, 2-5 p.m.

Finally, if you are interested in showing your own artwork, and you are a resident of Orchard Hill, a show, titled Art on the Hill will be shown on Nov.6 in Grayson Lounge. If you are interested in participating in the show, contact your cluster office to get an entry form for submitting your work. That's all for this week.

Civility Week shows

As part of Civility Week activities at the University of Massachusetts, the Union Program Councncil, in cooperation with the Black Mass Communications Project, will present rap recording artists Big Daddy Kane with Boogie Down Productions, on Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 8 p.m. at the Fine Arts Center.

Civility Week (Oct. 21-27), is intended to raise awareness of racism and celebrate multi-cultural diversity. In keeping with this theme, various student and faculty groups are presenting programs that foster an atmosphere of openness and tolerance on the UMass campus.

Antonio M. Hardy, better known as Big Daddy Kane, is out on tour in support of his debut album Long Live The Kane. Kane has also scored big for the Cold-Chillin record label with songs written for rap artists Biz Markie and Roxanne Shante.

Boogie Down Productions, featuring KRS-ONE, have taken a stand against the violence associated with rap music on their most recent album entitled By All Means Necessary.

Tickets are $9 for UMass students, and $12 for the general public, and are available only at the Fine Arts Center box office, or can be charged with MasterCard or Visa by calling 545-2511.

Michael Hedges

Hedges brings music to Lenox

By JIM COLE
Collegian Staff

Michael Hedges to play Berkshire Performing Arts Center Saturday

Whatever you do, don't try to put Michael Hedges into a specific musical category. This gifted performer and songwriter who plays the Berkshire Performing Arts Center in Lenox tomorrow night, has made his mark with his distinct approach to the guitar, and has continued to expand his horizons ever since.

His first album on the Windham Hill label, Breakfast in the Field was an impressive debut, showcasing his technique in acoustic guitar music. But Hedges was not content to stay in the same groove, expanding his range to other instruments including acoustic and electric bass, synthesizer, and flute on his album Watching My Life Go By. Vocals also became part of his repetoire, and the best of his live performances were featured on his latest release, Live on the Double Planet.

Yet despite all his innovations and acclaim, Hedges doesn't limit himself by defining his musical styles. "I do my best not to categorize my music. It keeps me open minded. I wouldn't be true to myself if I did." This is not to say that he doesn't play with titles now and then. "(In the past) I've described myself in many ways. Heavy Mental. Free-improvized jazz bee-bop . . ." The names grew too complicated to follow, and in a final summary of the whole business, Hedges said, "I try not to think about it."

Michael Hedges grew up in Oklahoma and studied piano in his early years before moving onto clarinet and finally guitar in high school. After studying classical guitar and electronic music at the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, he moved to California in 1980 to study computer music at Stanford. He heard about the fledgling Windham Hill record label, and was signed on soon after. He then married and settled in on the west coast, and the first album appeared in 1981.

With all the attention that has grown in the years since, Hedges grew weary of the frantic southern California life. "It was getting too hectic." So he "retired" to Mendicino, California, a northern coastal town far enough away from the cities. "In the hicks," he said.

Yet Hedges is far from retiring. A new piece by him appears on a sampler of Windham Hill artists, A Winter's Solstice II, in which he plays the rare harp guitar, a traditional guitar with five extra bass strings, which add resonance and a sound one must hear to appreciate. And he has not abandoned live performances either, just paced himself a bit. This Saturday is Hedges' only New England appearance this season. All seats are reserved, but tickets, ranging in price from $12 to $18, are still available. For information, the box office number is (413) 637-4718.

Michael Hedges is truly a talented musician and innovator, one of those rare musicians that are at home both in the studio and on the stage. Don't miss this chance to see him.

Hanks, Field are a knockout in Punchline

By ADAM CAMPBELL
Collegian Correspondent

Tom Hanks is turning into a real actor. Big wasn't a fluke. He really is good. In Punchline, Hanks adds a cutting edge of cynicism to his Josh Baskin man-child persona. Big gave us the story of a young boy grown up before his time; Punchline gives us a grown man still a child long after his time.

Steven Gold is an aspiring stand-up comic who has the disarming ability to sublimate all that's wrong in his life, turn his nervous energy into humor. He's the main attraction at "The Gas Station," the New York comedy club that serves as his haven from the pressing reality of medical school. He doesn't want to be a doctor. He wants to be a star.

THE SCREENING ROOM

Sally Field is Lilah Krytsick, housewife, mother and aspiring commedienne. She is the antithesis to Steven Gold. She represents domesticity, normalcy, middle-age, the suburbs, golden retrievers, home-cooked meals, station wagons, microwave ovens and cable TV.

But, like Gold, she also possesses the ability to run life through the La Machine of her mind and come up with something as palatable as Juliennned tomatoes.

This is a good movie. Every scene could serve as a textbook example of a well-written screenplay. Writer/director David Seltzer, who wrote The Omen, and wrote and directed Lucas (one of my personal favorites), is one of the very best in the business. His style of filmmaking is unabashedly candid and warm.

One feels the presence of a sure-handed, warm-hearted intelligence in viewing his films. His love for the characters is pervasive, and results in an unforgettable performance by Tom Hanks and a truly likable one by Sally Field.

What does a Polish girl get that's long and hard on her wedding night?

I'm not saying. See the movie.

Unsubstantiated Rumors and Self-indulgent Musings Department:

- Alien Nation is Midnight Run with masks.
- For a dead guy, John Lennon is pretty darned prolific.
- River Phoenix is playing Indiana Jones's little brother in Indiana Jones: The Last Crusade. Harrison Ford is reportedly hanging up his fedora after this third installment.

Does this mean we can look forward to the adventures of Indiana Phoenix or River Jones?

- This fall on "Star Trek: The Next Generation":

Whoopi Goldberg has secured a part-time job in the Enterprise lounge. Chief Security Officer's dead. Ship's doctor's gone.

Writer's strike is finally over. They need a bartender.

- Halloween IV opens today. When last we saw Michael Myers he was a smoking, charred husk. Ten years later, the fumes have subsided. But what will he look like in the obligatory unmasking scene? The answer alone should be worth the price of admission.
- Answer to the Wizard of Oz trivia question from two weeks ago: The Tin Man is holding a gun in the scene just before they arrive at the witch's castle - in the haunted forest, beside a sign that reads "I'd turn back if I were you."
- This week's super-hard, nearly-impossible, don't-even-bother-trying trivia question: What was Betty Rubble's maiden name?
- I hear disco might be coming back. More on this later.

Tom Hanks in Punchline.

Video of protests to air today in 201

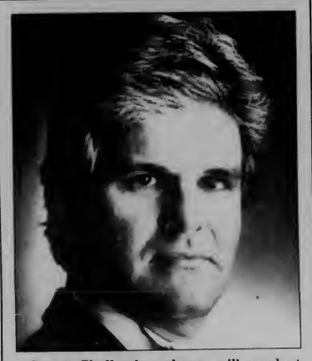
It is my experience that there are more people in this country today who are alienated . . . from the set of values . . . which may be dominant in too many instances. More people are insecure, more people are parts of the explosion which is apt to happen and which the media is guarded against.

Dave Dellinger

Seeds Beneath The Snow is a documentary about nonviolent social change by videographer/editor Greg Franceschi. The intention of this work in progress is to motivate us all, in our collective bitterness, cynicism, and desperation to take a good look at where we are as a culture, where we have been, and what kind of world we want to be living in in the future.

Among the events documented in this tape is a No Business As Usual Action against Star Wars at the headquarters of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission in Washington, a demonstration this past year at the Federal Building in Springfield, opposing the kidnap and torture of 22-year old Salvadoran activist Yanira Corea by members of death squads from El Salvador, and the Veteran's Fast For Life, an effort to motivate the rest of us to protest the policies of our government in Central America.

Seeds Beneath The Snow will be shown today at 4 p.m. in the Campus Center screening room 201.



Stuart Challender, above, will conduct Australia's Sydney Symphony Orchestra this Sunday at the Fine Arts Center. Tickets for the 7 p.m. show are available at the FAC box office. For more information, call 545-2511.

Hampshire sponsors AIDS awareness

On Saturday, Oct. 22 the Five College Aids Awareness Committee will sponsor an Aids Walk, for awareness, compassion, and unity. The march will begin at the UMass campus pond, continue through town, and culminate at the Hampshire College soccer field, with a free concert featuring some of the areas finest bands.

Although there will be a full day of live music, no speakers will be featured. The idea behind the march and concert is to be a celebration, not a fundraiser.

According to Ellen Millermack, from the Aids Awareness Committee, the goal is to "make individuals aware of the problem, and to realize their responsibilities in regards to the work that must be done in the community . . . "

Originally sponsored by Bread and Circus, the Five College Aids Awareness Committee took over recently in order to ensure that the march got off the ground.

The band line-up at the Hampshire field will be: Joe Crash and the Wiplash, Check Please, Jim K. and Company, Al Fuller Band, and Wildcat O'Halloran. WMUA's Blue Bill will emcee the show.

The show at Hampshire College begins at 1 p.m. If you wish to march, be at the UMass campus pond at 11 a.m. Please show your support for this truly worthy cause by marching. There is no charge for the concert.

Want to write for Arts? Come down to the Collegian any day and talk to Jenn, Cosmo, Kathy, or Graeme.

Following in his father's footsteps, Andrew Tosh performs with the original Peter Tosh Band this Sunday Pearl Street.

JB's Roast Beef
50 Main St., Amherst
(across from Police Station)
253-7018
HOT ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES
GREAT FOOD • GREAT PRICES • OPEN TIL 2 AM

(If this is you, take this ad to JB's for a free order of chicken fingers.)

Without JB's I climb the walls

People just don't understand me. If I don't eat JB's at least 5 times a week, I go crazy. I try to get attention so I hang out on the walls of the dorms until somebody offers to take me to JB's. I go mad over JB's roast beef sandwiches, chicken fingers and mozarella sticks. If you think my method for getting a ride to JB's is strange, you should see how I hitchhike!

Spirit Haus
338 COLLEGE ST. (RT. 9) • AMHERST • 253-5384

HEINEKEN 12 pk. Bottles	7.99 + dep.
BECKS 12 pk. Bottles	7.99 + dep.
MILLER HIGHLIFE SUITCASE CANS	10.99 + dep.
MILLER LITE SUITCASE CANS	10.99 + dep.

We have just received 70 new imported and domestic beers

SEAGRAMS 7 1.75L	12.99
CANADIAN MIST 1 Liter	8.99
SOUTHERN COMFORT 750 ml	6.99
ANDRE CHAMPAGNE 750 ml	2.99

• MEGABUCKS •
• IMPORTED & DOMESTIC KEGS, BEER & WINE •
ALWAYS ON HAND

International Business and Economics Program in Italy

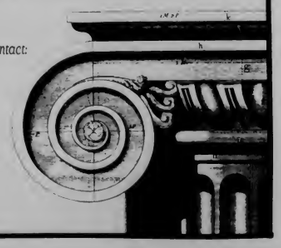
This spring spend a semester in Italy while fulfilling your junior and senior business and economics core requirements and electives.

- Quality business and economics courses taught in English
- Fully accredited courses transfer to your own university
- Live in Turin, a center of European economic activity
- Limited enrollment

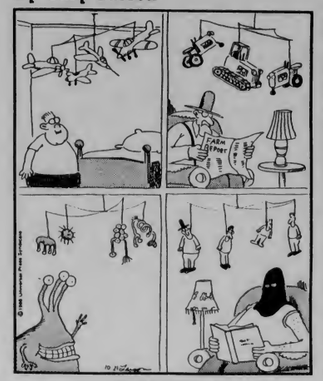
For an information packet contact:

Dr. Carmelo Urza
University of Nevada-Reno
Getchell Library
Reno, NV 89557

or call collect (702) 784-6569



The Far Side
By Gary Larson



Mobile hobbyists

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

A CONSUMER FOLLOW-UP ON THE LONG-TERM RESULTS OF "DR. OLIVER'S CAT-SWEAT SCALP TONIC AND HAIR RESTORER"!
AH... AAH...
AAH CHOO!!
YOUR DAD'S WHAT, OLIVER?
ON THE FLOOR SCREAMING AND SUCKING HIS THUMB.

"If Dan Quayle is no Jack Kennedy, who are you not?"
— Cartoonist Garry Trudeau, suggesting a debate question for Michael Dukakis

Daily Crossword Puzzle

Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

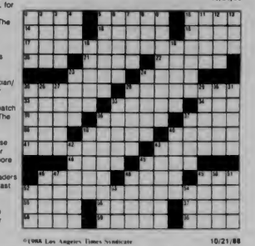
ACROSS
1 Sonoma snack
5 Togue wearers
10 Zip
14 Like Humpty Dumpty
15 Consonants connections
16 Wrapped up
17 Legislatures
20 Every
21 — of Cleves
22 Kind of wine
23 Opera house reed
24 Change, to Solti
25 "Eugene — Pushkin opus
28 Dukakis or Bentsen
32 Pyromike
33 Yeas, e.g
34 Annoy
35 Cypher
36 Stuck
37 Tibetan monk
38 Burmese statesman
39 Odin, Balder et al
40 Abominates
41 The U.S.A., for one
43 Group on The Hill
44 Declarer's choice
45 W. Samoa's capital
46 German mathematician/astronomer
48 Winners
49 Three — match
52 House on The Hill group
55 Gael
56 "The Maltese Falcon" star
57 Actress Moore
58 Hart
59 Tea-leaf readers
60 Celebes beast

DOWN
1 Forum garb
2 Bard's river
3 Guinea pig
4 Violinist Bull
5 TV sleuth
6 "Book of Songs" poet
7 One, to 6 Down
8 Screw's enveloper
9 Classified
10 From Anas to Plices
11 Old Nick's forte
12 Angler's purchase
13 Choice words
18 Fanatic
19 Kruger and Graham
23 Cyma reversa
24 Dash unit
25 Come off
26 Nary a soul
27 Finish
28 Column type
29 Lasso
30 Knight wear
31 Work on hair
33 Sojourn
36 Hayden and Manchester
37 Vocalist Cantrell
39 Harm
40 Gunsel's job
42 Greedy banker
43 Javelins
45 Scenery chewer
46 "Blood-brothers" star
47 Church area
48 Dealer's demand
49 Chamber captain
50 Verne captain
51 Land mass
52 Scarlet
53 Compass reading
54 Mountain in Crete

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

V	I	N	E	G	A	R		R	E	G	A	T	T	A
O	V	E	R	A	T	E		E	P	I	C	U	R	E
T	E	A	R	S	A	C		N	E	G	A	T	O	R
E	S	T		M	O	D	E		D	U	T	Y
		S	P	I	R	I	T		S	T	E
P	A	P	A	I	L		D	U	B		E	M	E	S	A
A	L	A	M	O	S		G	A	R	N	E	R	E	D
R	O	C		I	D	A	D	E	S		R	I	D
C	H	E	S	T	N	U	T		S	I	M	O	N	E
M	A	S	T	E	R		G	I	N		O	I	L	E	R
		A	D	A	M		O	O	M	S
S	T	A	R		P	O	E	T	S		E	L	M
C	O	N	T	R	O	L		T	I	C	E	D	T	E	A
A	B	E	L	A	R	D		C	A	T	E	R	E	R
D	I	E	T	I	S	T	S		E	R	A	S	E	R	S

10/21/88



©1988 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 10/21/88

Dreams of Celery
By The Thursday Night Club

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

I THINK PEOPLE WORRY TOO MUCH ABOUT LITTLE THINGS.
ALL THEY DO IS MAKE THEMSELVES UNHAPPY THAT WAY.
WHY GET AN ULCER OVER THINGS THAT DON'T REALLY MATTER?
LIKE THE BOOK REPORT YOU'RE SUPPOSED TO BE WRITING NOW ON THE BOOK YOU HAVEN'T READ?
EXACTLY. CASE IN POINT.

Menu

Lunch
Pizza
Fishburger on Roll

Basics Lunch
Pizza
Humus Vegetable Pocket Sandwich

Dinner
Top Round of Beef/au jus
Tuna Oriental

Basics Dinner
Cheese Nut Loaf/Mushroom Sauce
Tuna Oriental

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

IGGY'S GOTTEN..... HIS 5 BUCKS FROM EM..... HE DID IT!!...
AND HE'S TALKING TO THAT PRETTY CASHIER?!
HERE YOU GO BOYS..... A PIECE OF CAKE!!
WHAT DID SHE SAY?
NOTHIN MUCH... SHE JUST GAVE ME HER NUMBER.
PINK BOX... THAT'S ODD?
GAVE HIM HER NUMBER?
LADIES CONDOMS??? WHAT THE HECK ARE LADIES CONDOMS???
YO IGGY!!.. WAIT UP A SECOND, BUDDY!

Weather

Today: Sunny, with increasing clouds. 40 percent chance of rain, with the highs in the upper 40's.
Tonight: 90 percent chance of rain.
Tomorrow: Showers tapering off in the morning, highs near 50. 80 percent chance of rain at night.

Bat Brain
By Bill Dearing

I LIKE YOUR IDEA OF RENTING A VCR AND A MOVIE. HAVE YOU PICKED SOMETHING YET?
NO. I HATE PICKING MOVIES. YOU NEVER LIKE ANYTHING I LIKE.
THAT'S BECAUSE IT'S ALWAYS GOT TO BE SOME DUMB COMEDY, OR A VIOLENT SLASHER, JUST ABOUT OR CONS AND ROBBERS MOVIE, OR AN ARTSY FILM THAT PUTS ME TO SLEEP.
ALL RIGHT, THEN. THAT OR SOMETHING IN THE STORE. WHAT DO YOU WANT TO SEE?
"WHAT A GLORIOUS FEELING..."
NO! NOT "SINGING IN THE RAIN" AGAIN! THIS TIME I HAVE TO SAY "NO."
WHY DOES IT ALWAYS HAVE TO BE THAT MOVIE?
BECAUSE THERE IS NO OTHER MOVIE, SILLY.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....David R. Mark
Copy Editor.....Tom Rodrigues
Layout Technician.....Lisa M. Dionne
Photo Technician.....Richard Bonanno
Production Supervisor.....Lisa M. Dionne
Production:....Miriam, Mike, Ferris, Wendy-Rae, Kim, Janine, Peter, and Pam and Nancy's stud puppet is going Ware-ily.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson
Managing Editor

David R. Mark
Editorial Editor

Robert Ciappenelli
Business Manager

Marc Infield
Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli
Business Manager

Barbra Hindin
Advertising Manager

Daniel Munroe
Finance Manager

Debra Botzenhart
Advertising Manager

Todd Fruhbeis
Circulation Manager

Mary Huygens
Subscriptions Manager

■ football faces a tough Yankee Conference test at Delaware

continued from page 16

Last season, Don O'Brien kicked a field goal with seven seconds left in the game to give the Blue Hens a 37-34 victory. The Minutemen have looked like a completely different team from last year.

They leaped out to a 4-1 record before dropping their last game to the Huskies, a game in which UMass quarterback Dave Palazzi threw five interceptions and the Minutemen fumbled three times.

"I thought we played a good game overall," Reid said. "Without the turnovers, we could have won."

But in six games this season, a UMass running back has not fumbled on a running play.

"That's an awesome stat," Reid said. "I attribute it to the hard running of the running backs and coaching of Brad Hokin."

The UMass ground game has been hampered all season. Starting fullback Ted Barrett has not played yet because of a hamstring injury.

Then three weeks ago against Boston University, fullbacks David Mitchell and Jim Pastorick left the game with ankle injuries. Neither played the last two weeks.

"It affected us last week," Reid said. "We got down near the goal line a lot but we couldn't go into a goal-line offense because we don't have enough fullbacks."

Mitchell is listed as doubtful for tomorrow's game and Pastorick is questionable.

Tailback Kevin Smellie leads the Minutemen in rushing with 421 yards.

"The offensive line has been doing a great job," Reid said. "Especially Bill Buttler and Nick Salmon. They cleared the way all game last week."

The passing game has been inconsistent over the last two games. On the season, Palazzi is 96-of-178 for 1271 yards, 9 touchdowns and 13 interceptions. Nine of the interceptions have come in the last two games.

Delaware's quarterback, senior Dave Sierer, is 73-of-132 for 891 yards, 5 touchdowns and 11 interceptions. The leading rusher is fullback Tim Healy, with 403 yards and 3 touchdowns.

After losing their first two games, the Blue Hens have given their fans plenty to cheer about, winning four in a row while catching UMass.

"They treat football a little different down there," Reid said. "We'll just have to go down there and do the best we can."

■ men's soccer

continued from page 16

points) and Carl Hanks (5-4-14) both have been kept out of training because of groin injuries while freshman swingman Brett Anthony moves up to the front line from the midfield. Senior Mike McCormick and freshman Dan Lawrence ("he's been our steadiest player this year," says Gettler) help support Ginzburg, who sports a 0.98 goals-against-average and four shutouts and now holds the all-time UM shutout mark with 14.

Boston College has a 5-9-1 record and is 2-1-1 in the last four games. B.C., which could only muster four wins last year, is bigger and more organized under new coach Ed Kelly. Before coming to B.C., Kelly coached Seton Hall to the Big East Championship.

Offensively, the Eagles are led by junior co-captain Greg Schwake (6-1-13), senior David Sullivan (4-4-12) and midfielder Chris Lugossy (2-2-6). Freshman goalkeeper Mark Weinman (3-4-1, 2.25 GAA) anchors the defense with junior co-captain Stu Tallmadge, senior Ken Alleyne, and sophomore Andy Sage from Ireland.

In the recent history between the two clubs, UMass has held a commanding 4-0 advantage in the last four meetings. The Minutemen have had a relatively easy time with B.C. on the grass of Boyden Field, but have had closer encounters on the turf in Boston.

"The game's on the turf, which will be our first turf game of the year," said Gettler. "I think that's pretty tough... I'm not sure how we'll react. It (Alumni Stadium) is a smaller field and it's tougher to play, because they're used to it. It's got a big crown, so balls played into space are just going to run off the field."

On top of this is the fact that it's a road game, where UMass has had its share of problems with only a 1-4 record.

Gettler feels his team should have no pressure on them and that they should just "play, have some fun, and go knock some goals in."

PC CLONES
PRINTERS
SOFTWARE
ACCESSORIES
Sales • Service • Rental
DR. SOFTWARE
Software • Computers • Accessories
Pagpunt Shopping Mall • 241 King Street
Northampton, MA 01060
586-3210
M-T-W & F 10-6
Thurs 10-8 • Sat 10-5

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!
From NEW YORK — One way / Round trip
LONDON 179
PARIS 229
ROME 259
CARACAS 320
ST. THOMAS 260
HONGKONG 739
Taxes not included.
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes, EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

Screenprinting...
Tee Shirts, Sweatshirts, Jackets, Bumperstickers, Decals, Athletic Jerseys, Hats-
For your Group, Company or Organization
YOU NAME IT- WE SCREEN IT!
RUSH ORDERS OUR SPECIALTY
Complete Art and Design Department
screenprint specialists
47 Jackson Street, Box 771
Holyoke MA 01041
In Mass.- 413-534-5634

THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
DEPARTMENT OF THEATER
PRESENTS
Eugene O'Neill
100th Anniversary
SEA PLAYS: In the Zone, The Long Voyage Home, Ile. Three short plays by the master of modern American drama.
October 20 22, 26-29 at 8 pm
Matinee October 27 at 10 am
RAND THEATER FINE ARTS CENTER
TICKETS FINE ARTS CENTER BOX OFFICE 545-2511

INDIA TEA & SPICE CO.
INDIAN & PAKISTAN GROCERIES
Enjoy New Homemade Curry Dinners Tonight
Tandoori Chicken $3.50
Carrot Hulva $2.95
Aloo Matar Curry $3.00
Mixed Vegetable Pulao $2.95
Pakoris $1.75
Chicken Biryani $3.70
Aloo Bondas $1.50
Ready to heat and serve at home
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
9 a.m. - 6 p.m.
479 West Street, Rte. 116
South Amherst
Across the street from the Dairy Mart
Tel.: 253-2432

Self Serve Typing
kinko's
the copy center
220 No. Pleasant St.
253-2543

TIPS ON REPORTING AND WRITING
Special Focus: Developing and Keeping Sources
Monday, Oct. 24
by
Marsha Marotta
Campus Center Rm. 178
8:00 p.m.
Workshop counts toward staff status
Come write for the Collegian
113 Campus Center

Dynamite Denim "Sale"
Fashion denim jeans and jackets up to 25% OFF
Starts Friday 21st
Great Jean Styles By:
Z Cavaricci
No! Jeans
Driver
New Order
No Problem
Turtlenecks ~~$18.00~~
$13.00 now!!
Zanna SHOE BIN
north pleasant street amherst 253-2563 daily 10-6 sunday 12-5
Open Friday Nights!

■ volleyball

continued from page 16

"Temple lost to Rutgers in three. I find that very interesting, from what I had heard Temple was stronger than Rutgers," Ford said.

Rutgers has one of the premier players in the conference, Elke Voigt. While the Owls have a very young team, in fact, there isn't a senior on the entire team.

For said obviously each team would have to played differently. Against Rutgers, the Minutewomen will be keying on Voigt, as Voigt goes so go the Scarlet Knights. Against Temple, the Minutewomen will try to stop the attack from the middle and use their experience against the young Owls.

"The youngness of the team could be a factor. I'd say so far [our experience] has [worked to our advantage]," Ford said.

This weekend's games will be the final home matches for five UMass seniors: outside hitters Julie Smith, Juliet Primer, Christine McEnroe, Ann Marie Larese, and middle blocker Barbara Meehan.

"They're excited. It's going to be a real special weekend for them," Ford said.

Now they have a chance to make it even more special. Two wins will make the Minutewomen undefeated at home this year, and its a chance to grab to must wins at an important part of the season.

Spike ends: Because of sunlight problems in Totman in the afternoon, tomorrow's scheduled starting time has been moved from 4 p.m. up to noon.

■ field hockey vs. Toledo, Penn State

continued from page 16

She may be young but Penn State coach Charlene Morett, who is in her first year at the helm of the Nittany Lions, has had the confidence to play freshman Michelle Brennan in all 14 of Penn State's games.

And Brennan has proved herself worthy of the job, posting four shutouts and a 0.92 goals against average. She has made 67 saves

The Minutewomen will be led into this weekend by senior Tonia Kennedy who leads the Minutewomen with 11 goals and one assist and senior goaltender Cindy Cox, who has given up just four goals in fourteen games.

Penn State will not have an advantage on the Minutewomen as far as being rested goes. The Nittany Lions also must play on Saturday as they are scheduled to meet the University of New Hampshire at UNH.

"For them (Penn State), that is a must win situation without hesitation," Hixon said.

Should both teams gather a little momentum by winning on Saturday, Sunday's game could be an intense battle.

ACADEMY of MUSIC ON THE PARK NORTHAMPTON, MASS.
THE ONLY AREA ENGAGEMENT-CURTAIN 6:45 & 9:00
The true story of Ruth First a South African who took a stand against Apartheid in the 1960s
"TWO THUMBS UP for 'A World Apart' ...Barbara Hershey stars in an electrifying performance... quite magical. This is great work." Gene Siskel & Roger Ebert
One of the most haunting and poignant coming-of-age movies ever made. Kathleen Carroll NEW YORK DAILY NEWS
"EXQUISITE" Amy Taubin THE VILLAGE VOICE
BARBARA HERSHEY
A World Apart
PG
Limelight
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

SOME THINGS ARE BETTER LEFT UNPLUGGED.
STRAY TOASTERS
THE MOST TERRIFYING STORY YOU'LL READ THIS YEAR IS NOW AVAILABLE AT:
Same Bat Channel
All your favorite comics!
All back issues!
Baseball cards,
Posters and Games,
Magazine Imports
Hampshire Mall, Hadley, MA 586-8775
TM & © 1988 Marvel Entertainment Group, Inc. All rights reserved.

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO • AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS • ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT • FOR SALE • FOUND • HELP WANTED • LOST • INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES • PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED • RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES • ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL • WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30):• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS MEETING Monday October 24, 5:00pm in the Campus Center. We're nominating the spring musical! Be there!

DATES ARE AVAILABLE...ARE YOU? WMUA Dating Game tonight 6:30 on 91.1FM Call up and meet someone. Call 545-FM91

FAILING YOUR CLASSES? Learn a skill you can use on the street! Juggling Club meets today, 3-6, Campus Center 804

TUNE IN UMASS FOOTBALL in Delaware This Sat at 1:15 on WMUA 91.1FM

NSA FRIDAY NIGHT VIDEO North by Northwest Front Lounge of Newman Center 7:00pm FREE

SOUTHWEST'S ANNUAL BATTLE of the Bands is this Sunday, October 23rd at 12:00pm in Hampden Center. BE THERE!

CRAFT CENTER IS YOUR resource. Make all kinds of crafts; pottery, silver, silkscreen, photography, etc. Free instruction.

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22. Sign up on concourse Oct. 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Massprig and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-6434

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics. Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306.

APARTMENTS AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS 2 BEDROOM UNITS on 19 acres of country land. Ample off street parking and free bus service to UMass and shopping areas. Call 665-3856.

AUTO FOR SALE

GREAT WINTER CAR for sale '76 Ford Granada automatic PS PB good tires and exhaust. Runs well. $50 or BO 253-5956

81 TOYOTA COROLLA New front tires, back shocks, exhaust system must sell $700 BO Kristin 568-4624

VW RABBIT Green Great condition runs smooth great buy at $850 Please call 253-9243.

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 speed cark grey new tires, rims runs very well $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184

1977 BUICK SKYLARK 80,000K excellent shape $600 or B.O. 546-8948

1981 PORSCHE, 50k miles, grey, sunroof must see. $7250 or best offer. Call 665-7221. Deb

73 DODGE VAN, runs good first reasonable offer 6-8962

1975 FORD GRANADA, good running condition cheap 584-4709

80 CHEVY CHEVETTE good running condition $650 or B.O. Call 549-5137 after 5:30

77 VW DASHER New brakes new exhaust low miles must see Call 253-7388 Eves

1978 CAMARO Runs well $650 Leave message 527-5101

82 FORD ESCORT 85,000 miles. 4 speed excellent condition $1900/negotiable 549-7193 evenings

81 TOYOTA COROLLA excellent condition, low mileage, am/fm cass., air, 5 spd 256-0969 evenings.

1976 MUSTANG COUPE Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires $2,500 Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen

CAMPUS REPS NEEDED

EARN BIG COMMISSIONS and free trips by selling Nassau/Paradise Island, Cancun, Mexico and Ski trips to Vermont and Colorado. For more information call toll free 1-800-231-0113 or in Conn 203-967-3330

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE- Over 700 CDs Great Sound! All occasions. 549-1421

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Disc jockeys and large screen video dances Dorms/organizations 256-8526

FOR SALE

APPLE 11C with color monitor, 2 drives, awesome Imagewriter II color printer (240 cps), $1000's worth of programs and many extras! Must sell, $899 or BO. Call Lee at 546-4813

BARGAIN CLASSICS 68 Camaro reliable looks good $1500 also leather swivel easy chair $100 John 549-1256 11am-6pm.

4 PRINCE TICKETS for Worcester Centrum on 10/22. Best offer. Tim 549-6535.

19 SPEED BICYCLE for sale $100 545-3500 weekdays. Ask for Brian.

SKIS- DYNASTAR 185 swith marker bindings excellent condition $95 or BO Call Boot 6-8440

FOR SALE: Olympic weight bench $125 or best offer. Call Cheryl at 6-7851 or leave message.

3 WOOL JACKETS, 3 leather jackets, 1 insulated winter denim jacket, men's (M) 38-40. Each one a steal 546-8982

ESCORT RADAR DETECTOR excellent condition w/window mt. & coil cord worth $280 asking $150. Call 6-8108

AMP ROLAND JC120 100w $400 firm Great condition 584-9955 Ask for Bill

MOVING, SELLING EVERYTHING: Tables, chairs, sofa, color TV, bed and more call 549-7193 evenings

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike. 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket. Call David 1-566-8212

PIONEER DUAL STEREO cassette deck $100 call Laura at 6-8021

FOUND

FOUND: BLACK KITTEN. I've had it for a week-but can't keep it-litter-trained. Looking for responsible owner. Willing to give away-free! Call Paul at 549-9781

FOUND A DENIM JACKET by the F.A.C. 549-3674, Joe.

BLACK KITTEN FOUND around Brittany Manor Apts. Call to identify 546-1410

IN CAMPUS CENTER on 10/13 a gold initial charm if yours call 546-6583.

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St Northampton 586-7970 Bill or Damn. We deliver.

GO-GETTERS ONLY

EARN FROM $8000 to $15000 next summer. 508-543-3706 Leave message.

HELP WANTED

DISHWASHERS. Part time flexible hours, some days and early evening shifts. Starting pay up to 6.00 per hour. Apply in person. Season's Restaurant, Rt. 9, Belchertown Road, Amherst

HOST/HOSTESS Part time/flexible hours/good starting pay. Apply in person, Season's Restaurant, Rt. 9, Belchertown Road, Amherst.

COUNTER HELP AND delivery persons (need your own car) nights and weekend 253-9752

GREENPEACE: WORK TO PRESERVE OUR EARTH The destruction of our environment is not an acceptable industry practice. Work now to stop toxic contamination, preserve our oceans and its wildlife and stop nuclear weapons testing. Select your own days to work. Mon-Sun 2pm-10pm. Call 256-1439

EXPERIENCED JEWELRY INSTRUCTOR wanted for spring semester. Student Union Craft Center. Call Anna 545-2096

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0869.

LOST

LOST A WALLET WITH Alien card and social security number. If found please call Tn 549-8167 Reward $100

LOST JEAN JACKET A CHANGES may have accidentally taken yours with id's Diane lock Chance McGlynn Call 6-8703 Matt

LOST MASS LIQUOR ID Sharon Levy If found please call 253-9916 monetary reward

LOST RINGS - 2 gold rings/one coral/one turquoise/one silver/one shell. If found please please call 253-9916. Reward!

MOTORCYCLES

1981 KAWASKI KD on/off only 800 miles $500 Call Chris 546-6163.

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD. Helmet, cover shield $850. Joe 549-7423 Evenings

PERSONALS

AX's- ONE DAY TO GO AND THEN IT'S Hit the hay

VIG - NO MORE CA. DREAMIN'! Come back to UMass! - KO

BETH STOLLER - Have a wonderful birthday - We love you very much. AXO

DONNA FUHRMAN- or is that Furhman, or Farman, or...Any way I spell it, you know that I love you. You short Big Sis.

HEY OLD LADY!

PHI MU DELTA CREW. Go for it at the Head of the Charles! The Pledges

SETH, GOOD LUCK AT the Head of the Charles! Row for it! Your little brother

JEN KRESS You have made me the happiest B.F. in the world. Thank you for coming here. I love you! Tracy

GREEN HOUSE: Get psyched for an incredible year. It's going to be great

MARC, I MET YOU A COUPLE OF * Thursday nights ago at the exchange * I hope we can knock some more tana over.

HAPPY (Belated) Birthday Karl Love, Ellen, Kris, Maribeth

RANDY TODD: congrats on your movie role! We are proud of you! Love, the University Players

ISSAC JUST WANTED you to know that we love you Ethel. Leah, Rachel

MIKE DOHERTY- Sorry I've been a poophead. Hope I'm still your favorite baby sister! Love, Lin

ANDY W.- Come to KY country soon I'm tired of watching the grass grow alone! Love Mandy.

OREFICE-DEAD! Silkoff-dead! Rabinowitz-dead! Fadel-dead! Filkins-dead! You are the lamest excuse for athletes in history...sincerely, The UPC Shufflin' Crew UPC is Big and Bad

EILEEN GUINAN Happy 22nd Luv Mary

CHERYL BOUCHER WELCOME to the 21 Club finally. Drinks are on us. Lisa, Jill, Monique, and Mary.

WATCH OUT DELTA ZETA, Fran Carnes is coming to visit

KIZ- Happy day after your Birthday! (Better late than never!) We love ya! Sarah & Lynn.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ELANA Love Lisa and Dave (Pretend it's Saturday!)

THANK YOU BUNNY! For everything you've done for me. I sure do love you! YBS

HEY MANOJ! I bet your glad it's friday Love you!

EILEEN GUINANS BIRTHDAY is today Happy BDay Eileen come over later and we'll pig out on nachos and ice cream!!

UPC - TOMORROW at 4pm - you will be beaten! Good luck and may the best (raad SGA) Group win!

PARTY WITH US- Friday nite 9 til 2- Band & Beer North Mandelle Hall Mount Holyoke college 538-2948.

ROOMATE WANTED

IMMEDIATELY! Large bedroom, kitchen, living room, diningroom, cable TV, swimming pool. Located across Stop & Shop

ROOMATE WANTED BRANDYWINE APTS, 230 month heat and hot water included. Thru December. Option to take over lease mainstream only! 549-3616

1 ROOM IN APT NOHO 2 mins to center Nonsmoking 210/mo + util. 584-9376 Rachel or Suresh.

APARTMENT MATE WANTED. Nice Northampton location. Call Greg at 584-7400 message

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550.

ROOM AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS SUNNY IN apartment complex shared common areas. Parking and bus. Evening 665-3867

RSO

DO YOU HAVE GREEN thoughts? So do we. UPC presents the Smithereens Tuesday October 25 at 8pm in the FAC

SERVICES

FLYING FINGERS TYPING work done in 24 hours. Pickup/dropoff Too. Call Kevin 549-0118

EXCELLENT WORD PROCESSING with spell check Call Gayle 256-1250

TYPING

FLYING FINGERS TYPING work done in 24 hours. Pickup/dropoff too. Call Kevin 549-0118

TYPING. TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate. 253-WORD

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL typing on word processor with spellcheck- ANYTIME! Carolyn 253-5667

ABLE TYPIST, basic editing, competitive rates, decent location. 253-5202

NO TYPING AS USUAL, highest quality typing. Call Barry, 548-9436.

TRAVEL

COLLEGE WEEKEND in Montreal from $39 November 11-13 Call 549-1949.

WANTED

WANTED- GUITAR OR BANJO must be in fairly good condition Call MIKE 6-7115.

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hurna) notes will pay money$$ Shirley 549-2710

SPORTS

Minutemen face a test at Delaware

By MATT GERKE
Collegian Staff

A game against the University of Delaware.

A road game.

Either one is a task, but put the two together and that's what the University of Massachusetts football team is up against tomorrow.

At 1:30 p.m. in Newark, Delaware, the 4-2 Minutemen will face the difficult task of beating the 4-2 Blue Hens, which they have never done. Delaware has owned UMass, winning all 12 meetings between the teams.

Add that to the fact that the game will be played in a football-crazy atmosphere.

"Delaware is on a fine line," UMass head coach Jim Reid said. "They are on the border of the Northeast, where football is fun, and the South, where football is a religion. So it's not a religion, but it's pretty damn important."

The two will combine to create a hostile atmosphere for the Minutemen.

The Blue Hens breathed down the Minutemen's neck for the first five games of the season, staying a close second place behind Villanova and UMass in the Yankee Conference.

Last weekend, Delaware beat Villanova, 10-7, while the Minutemen were losing to the University of Connecticut, 35-14.

The two results created a three-way tie for first. UMass, Delaware, and Villanova are all 3-1 in the conference.

"We definitely have our work cut out for us," Reid said. "We've never beaten them. Ever."

continued on page 14

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

The Minutemen will look to push their way past Delaware tomorrow in a big Yankee Conference match-up.

Top 20 teams in town to meet with Minutewomen

No. 13 B.C., No. 19 Cornell come to Boyden

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's soccer team just can't escape these big weekends.

For the second straight week, the Minutewomen will be facing a pair of Top 20 teams, as 13th-ranked Boston College and 19th-ranked Cornell come to Boyden Field.

It shouldn't be as big a test as last weekend, when the Minutewomen had to face the top two teams in the country (at that time), North Carolina and North Carolina State, on consecutive days on the road. But the next three days should be no time to sit back and watch the leaves fall.

This afternoon, the Eagles will take their turn to try and knock off the nation's No.2 team at 2 p.m. Given the circumstances, this will be a tough game for the Minutewomen.

"They're big and they're good," UMass coach Jim Rudy said of today's opponents. "They're a tough team and they match up well."

The Eagles could easily be mistaken for their school's basketball team around the Heights, presenting a very large and solid front line. The leaders are sophomore Gina Vassallo, who leads the team with 10 goals and 2 assists, and junior Katie Connelly, with 7 goals and 6 assists. Freshman Rachel Sheridan will also be tough.

The B.C. backfield will also give UMass some problems. All-American senior co-captain Chris Garibaldi and senior Kris Johanson, whom Rudy thinks is an outstanding talent, should present the UMass attack with a tough challenge.

"They have some of the largest players I've seen," Rudy said. "They're a good side, hard tackling and very physical."

The size of the Eagles could give them an advantage in the air, as well as making them the dominant team physically.

Aside from the height factor, B.C. needs this game badly. At 10-4-1, it is still in contention for the NCAA playoffs, but losses to William and Mary, Connecticut and Cornell won't help. The Eagles will be looking for a major upset to bolster the resume.

"They've got to win. If they don't they're tourney chances are very small," Rudy said. "This is a big-time game for us."

On Sunday, Cornell rolls in for a 1 p.m. contest with the same thing in mind. Like B.C., the Big Red view this as a must-win game in order to entertain any post-season hopes.

With a record of 6-3-1, Cornell cracked the Top 20 of the ISAA poll this week, tying St. Mary's for the 19th spot. The Big Red are in the midst of one of their best seasons ever, and look to have a bright future with no seniors on their roster.

But with the playoffs still a remote possibility for this year, the Minutewomen can't tread lightly against Cornell.

Leading the Big Red attack is freshman Dina Grossman, a player that Rudy describes as "fast, a great one-on-one player with a lot of verve." Junior midfielder Jennifer Smith is also a solid player in the Cornell attack.

"They're very deliberate. They play a lot of possession and have decent speed up front," Rudy said.

UMass, 11-1-1, is coming off a pair of wins this past week. They took a huge 3-2 decision from N.C. State on Sunday and followed that with an impressive 4-0 win over Harvard here on Tuesday. The Minutewomen are playing their best ball of the year, and should be ready for the test.

Their only problem may be injuries, which have ravaged the midfield. Sophomore April Kater suffered a broken nose, while senior Cathy Cassady and sophomore Becky Bonzano both sat out the Harvard game with injuries. All three could be available for today's game.

Field hockey team to battle Toledo, Penn State

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts field hockey team will once again have a long weekend as they play back to back games tomorrow and Sunday.

Tomorrow, the Minutewomen will get a look at how the Midwest stacks up with the very powerful East Coast when they square off with the University of Toledo at Springfield College.

Gametime has been changed from 1 p.m. to 11 a.m. because of a soccer game that has also been scheduled for the afternoon. UMass coach Pam Hixon, because the Minutewomen play on Sunday, decided to play the game in the morning instead of the late afternoon.

On Sunday, UMass will return to Totman Field to take on Atlantic 10 rival Penn State. The Nittany Lions, 10-3-1, are ranked No. 11 in the country by the NCAA.

Toledo may not be ranked in the top 20 teams in the country, but with their 6-5-1 record, a win over UMass could give Toledo serious consideration of breaking into the top 20.

This could be a dangerous game for the Minutewomen if their minds wander off into thinking about Sunday's game. But don't bet on that happening. UMass has beat a lot of potentially dangerous teams before playing some of the top teams in the nation en route to its 12-1-1 record, which has earned the Minutewomen the No. 4 ranking in the nation and No. 1 in the Northeast.

This week, unlike last, when center back Kerri Fagan had to sit out with a sprained back, there is a good chance that UMass will be at full strength.

"She practiced a little yesterday (Wednesday)," Hixon said. "We'll see how she comes along for the rest of the week but I anticipate her being back."

Toledo does not have an explosive scorer. Sophomore Chris White leads the team with five goals and four assists followed by Laura Davies who has a goal and five assists.

So it could be just the game that Fagan needs to get back into shape. Should the stats be any indication, Fagan should not see much action in the defensive end.

However, on Sunday, Fagan should be very busy.

"I think it should be a very tight contest," Hixon said. "Penn State has been very erratic but their coach is very emotional, excitable, she really gets her team up for big games."

But this might not be the only big game that Penn State plays with the Minutewomen. With UMass leading the East Division of the Atlantic 10 Conference and the Nittany Lions leading the West, both teams could be on a direct collision course to meet in the Atlantic 10 Championship game which will be held the weekend of Nov. 5.

Penn State has two dangerous scorers in senior forward Lisa Bervinchak who has netted eight goals and dished out two assists. Senior Tami Worley has provided the Nittany Lions six goals and one assist. Freshman Kristin Winters has also played well for Penn State.

"Those two (Bervinchak and Winters) are excellent players in their own right and they have a young goaltender," Hixon said.

continued on page 15

Volleyball to host A-10 matches

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

It's clutch time at the Totman Gymnasium for the University of Massachusetts volleyball team — this weekend's two conference matches against Rutgers (7 p.m. tonight) and Temple universities (noon tomorrow) have become MUST wins.

There have been, and will be, bigger matches this season but few that have to be won to keep pace.

Two victories will only keep the UMass machine on track and heading for the Atlantic 10 tournament in great shape, but even just one loss can cost UMass serious tournament-ranking ground that will be difficult to make up this late in the season.

The Minutewomen are currently ranked third in the conference and, although a win over No. 2 University of Rhode Island in 10 days cannot be underestimated, these are the last two home games and two of the last three conference matches.

There is a fierce battle in the A-10 for tournament ranking and only two conference losses separate the second-ranked team from the seventh. With the season winding down and time running out, conference wins means a high conference ranking. And the difference between even just one spot higher can mean the difference from going home on Saturday or leaving on Sunday.

"Both of these teams want to come here and beat us. I think they could come in and beat us. We just want to play well. We are capable of winning these matches and [the players] want to win those matches," UMass coach Carol Ford said.

The Scarlet Knights of Rutgers have an identical conference record and would dearly love to step up from their fifth ranked position. Temple, although they are 2-2 in the A-10, need every win they can get to keep their playoff hopes alive.

"I think there could be a couple of ties in the conference before the A-10s," Ford said.

As the 2 said to the 4 and then to the 6 and so on . . . it's all even.

The Minutewomen control their own destiny, however, and that is what separates them from the rest of the pack.

"Anyone coming in here is coming to beat us. They might be thinking [our victory over] West Virginia was a fluke, and that we're on shaky ground. I don't mind when teams take us seriously," Ford said.

Both teams enter Amherst with a ton of questions to be answered.

continued on page 15

Men's soccer visits B.C.

By RIC SETO
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's soccer team continues its quest for an at-large bid to the NCAA tournament when it plays Boston College at Alumni Stadium, tomorrow at 1 p.m.

Since the last game last Saturday (a 4-0 win over Northeastern), the seven days off has been beneficial to coach Jeff Gettler and his team (8-6 overall, 1-2 in the Atlantic 10).

"This is the first time we've had a lot of time off, which is really nice," said Gettler. "I've been really happy because we've had a lot of time to train. Assuming we're not flat with the time off, it was a great time for me to re-focus the team and be able to use the practice time to hopefully get the most out of us and to get things working a little better."

Though the Minutemen may be the superior team, their top two scorers are questionable for the Saturday game. Forwards Steve Cesnek (9 goals, 3 assists, 21

continued on page 14

Civility Week begins today

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 33

MONDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1988

INSIDE

- Black Affairs. Page 5.
- Singles Scene. Page 10.
- Field hockey, women's soccer each win two. Page 16

Football loses at Delaware

By MATT GERKE
Collegian Staff

NEWARK, Del. — There were no excuses heard in the University of Massachusetts locker room Saturday following the Minutemen's 10-7 loss to the University of Delaware football team.

Some dejected faces. A few angry people. But no excuses.

And no excuses were heard for the simple reason that none exist.

It was a game there was no way the Minutemen should have lost, yet they still found a way.

Before 22,301 fans, UMass watched the Fightin' Blue Hens take the lead in the fourth quarter, then turned the ball over at the Delaware 1-yard line with 1:05 left in the game.

"What just happened I can't believe," said subdued UMass quarterback Dave Palazzi. "This is one of the toughest losses I've been in."

It was not the fact that it was a Yankee Conference loss and dropped UMass to 4-3 overall and 3-2 and into a tie with the University of Connecticut for third place in the conference.

It was not the fact that Delaware, 5-2, took over sole possession of first place in the conference with a 4-1 record.

It was the fact that UMass wasted a supreme effort from its defense, which held the Hens to 68 yards rushing and 317 yards of total offense.

Even more, it was the hard fact that Delaware has ruled the Minutemen, winning all 13 games between the teams, and that this domination was so close to ending Saturday.

"We should have won," UMass noseguard Joe Cullen said. "There's this thing about Delaware. When I was a freshman they scored with 50 seconds left to beat us. Last year, they kicked a last minute field goal."

"In order to be successful, you have to have some fortunate wins," Delaware head coach Harold "Tubby" Raymond said. "This certainly was one."

Indeed, it was not the fantastic play of Delaware, but the Minutemen's mistakes, that were responsible for the outcome.

After Don O'Brien, the kicker who was the hero of last year's game, nailed a 32-yard field goal to put the Hens on top 10-7, Chip Mitchell returned a kickoff to the 32.

Three plays later, Mitchell was on the receiving end of a 58-yard bomb from Palazzi that gave the Minutemen a first and goal from the Delaware 1.

"I thought we had a touchdown when Mitchell caught it," Reid said. "But obviously we have to score from there. We just didn't get it done."

On the first play, fullback Steve Olson fumbled, and the Hens recovered.

"Olson got hit and the ball just popped," Palazzi said.

"We kept running into mistakes today," Reid said. "The fumbles kicked our butts."

The Minutemen blew another great chance with a fumble earlier in the fourth quarter.

After the Hens scored to tie the game 7-7 with 13:09 left, Jerome Croom returned a kickoff 35 yards to the

continued on page 16

Collegian photo by Andrew Kist

JAMMING OUT — Joe Acker plays his Stratocaster recently while walking near the Tower Library.

Halloween dorm policy modified

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts administration has relaxed the Halloween guest policy this year because last fall was so successful, according to Director of Housing Services Joseph Zannini.

"It worked out fairly well [last year]," Zannini said. "We felt that we could make this minor modification."

Students living on campus will be able to have two non-residents of UMass as guests, as opposed to last year, when none were allowed. In addition, students will also be able to have two guests who live on campus.

The guests must be pre-registered at the Cluster Offices by 4 p.m. Wednesday. All regular University and Residence Hall guidelines will remain in effect over the weekend.

Use of masks or other facial disguises will only be allowed in private rooms and registered functions, since people wearing them in public areas during this weekend might be mistakenly identified as being someone else.

Zannini said another reason for the loosening of the policy was the cooperation of the area governments.

"We've had a lot of cooperation from our area govenment representatives working with us trying to make the campus and residence halls a safe place," he said.

Zannini said the administration's decision was not influenced in any way by students' outrage at the policy last Halloween.

At a rally on the Student Union steps last fall, student leaders blasted the administration for not allowing any student input when forming the policy, but Chancellor Joseph Duffey said the policy was non-negotiable.

In contrast to strong student opposition to the policy last fall, this year students are accepting the policy.

"It's an improvement over last year," said Greg Baker, 19, a resident of John Quincy Adams Tower in Southwest

continued on page 8

Duffey to hold talk

University of Massachusetts Chancellor Joseph Duffey has scheduled an open meeting at 4 p.m. today to hear suggestions and concerns from students.

All are welcome to the gathering in the Cape Cod Lounge in the Student Union Building.

Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson is also scheduled to attend the meeting.

— Collegian News Services

Farrakhan defended by supporters

By THOMAS MAMBANDE
Collegian Staff

Minister Louis Farrakhan has sparked concern and interest within the University of Massachusetts community over his prosective visit to campus next semester.

The Distinquished Visitors Program last week voted 7-5 to help sponsor the controversial leader's visit. Among those concerned about the decision were members of the Jewish community as well as University administrators.

Rabbi Saul Perlmutter, in a statement made last week, said Farrakhan is "vehemently opposed" to Jewish students and is "devisive."

As the community pondered University-sponsorship of his visit, the question has arisen: who is Louis Farrakhan and what does he stand for?

Jonathan Kaufman, author of Broken Alliance, a recently published book about black and Jewish relations, said

continued on page 5

Fulani to speak

Hopes to pick up black vote

By JOSEPH L. HILL JR.
Collegian Staff

Dr. Lenora Fulani, independent candidate for president, will speak about the importance of advancing the Black agenda in government and alternatives to the two main political parties when she comes to the University of Massachusetts tonight.

Fulani, the New Alliance Party candidate for president, will speak at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center room 165-169. She became the first woman and the first African-American to be a presidential candidate on the ballot in all 50 states and the District of Columbia when, on Sept. 14, she was certified in Mississippi.

She is the only independent presidential candidate on the ballot in all 50 states this year.

"This historic achievement has been accomplished despite the fact that independents are required to collect a colossal 1.5 million signatures as compared to a mere 50,000 required for a Republican or Democratic presidential candidate to run in every state," said Annie Roboff, press secretary for the Fulani campaign.

In an interview with the Dallas Morning News, Fulani said her bid to become president is an effort to build a national, multiracial third party. She said she hopes to pick up the "Black" vote that was behind Jesse Jackson during his run for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Fulani said the Democratic party painted a misleading picture at its national convention by trying to show that "everybody was singing and swinging together."

In an interview with the Atlanta Constitution, Fulani said she has been called upon in the past by "the Republican and Right to Life Party candidates" to repudiate the controversial Minister Louis Farrakhan for being anti-Semitic.

"It is well known that Farrakhan is 'a leader whom I respect,'" she said, adding that African-American leaders should have the same right white leaders have, namely the right to have differences without repudiating each other.

"Minister Farrakhan has made statements referring to the Jewish people or the Jewish religion, using formulation different from mine. We're different people with different views," she said.

Lenora Fulani

This is Fulani's third political campaign. In 1985, she ran for mayor of New York City and in 1986 she ran for governor of New York. In August, Fulani was unanimously nominated as president of the New Alliance Party.

At the party's convention, Fulani said the "the political establishment itself has nothing at all to do with the empowerment and enfranchisement of

continued from page 5

WORLD/NATION

Mass politicians say Duke will carry state by narrower margin

BOSTON (AP) — Michael Dukakis of Brookline will carry Massachusetts in the presidential election against Republican Vice President George Bush, according to a group that should know - Massachusetts politicians.

But the third-term governor will not enjoy the kind of victory margin or open enthusiasm for the local candidate that might be expected for a native son, according to an informal survey of state senators by The Associated press.

Many senators said Dukakis would win in their districts, but they reported discontent among their constituents as they wage their own re-election campaigns.

"I would say Dukakis will win in my district, but it's not going to be by a wide margin," said Sen. Paul Harold, a Democrat who represents Quincy, Braintree, Holbrook and Avon.

Those communities endorsed Dukakis by roughly 2-to-1 in the 1986 gubernatorial race. But since then, Dukakis has seen his standing in Massachusetts ebb, under a constant barrage of Republican criticism on the national and state levels.

Despite his problems, however, Dukakis appears to have rebounded from the depths of Labor Day, when Boston Herald poll rated Massachusetts a tie between Dukakis and Bush. In the latest statewide poll published last week, the Herald said Dukakis was leading Bush, 49 percent to 39 percent.

Several senators theorized that Dukakis is hampered by his position as the state's chief executive for 10 of the past 14 years, a role that makes him a natural lightning rod for public discontent, deserved or not.

"Under our system, the only ones who really get blamed are mayors, governors and presidents," Harold said. "So everything from seat belts to roadblocks to what is perceived as difficulties in state finances - in all these things, they look to the governor.

Sen. Salvatore Albano predicted a Dukakis victory in his district, in the traditionally Democratic cities of Somerville and Medford. But he said the governor is suffering from a daily pounding on the airwaves by hostile radio talk-show hosts.

Like several senators, Albano said he worked for Dukakis during the presidential primary season, touting the governor's virtues to his colleagues in other states.

Boston to offer school choice

BOSTON (AP) — City officials have joined in a new plan to give parents some choice in where their children attend public schools for the first time since court-ordered integration began in the early 1970's.

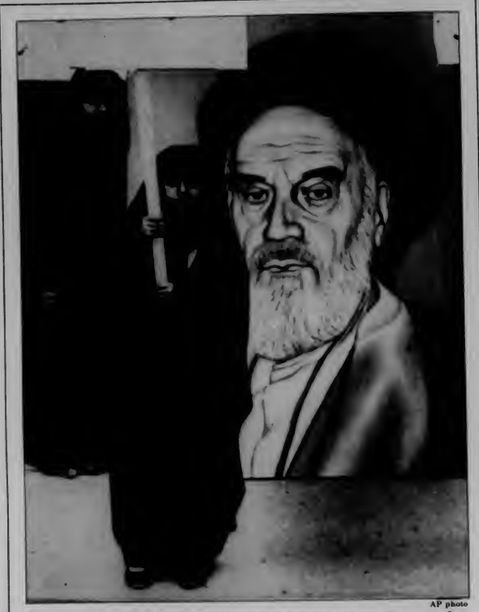
Mayor Raymond Flynn, along with School Committee President John Nucci and Superintendent Laval Wilson on Saturday disclosed the plan they said they hope to begin using for the school year beginning in 1989.

"After more than a decade of trauma and turmoil, we finally have earned the right to give parents a choice," said Nucci.

Free student choice of school assignment became possible last year after the city regained control of the schools from the US District Court, which had run them for 13 years.

"I have never been more encouraged about the direction of public education than I am today," Flynn said. "In my countless meetings with parents, their most important issue is predictability and stability in the schools."

Wilson, who applauded the concept, said the plan is just the first phase of a process that will go through December.



AP photo

BEIRUT RALLY — Young Shiite Moslem girls march yesterday during a day long rally in Beirut's southern suburb marking the fifth anniversary of the terrorist killing of 241 American servicemen.

THE LAUNDRY CLUB

This Week on BIG SCREEN

Tonight	49er's at Bears
Tues./Wed. Thursday	6pm Ferris Bueller 8pm Shoot to Kill
Friday and Saturday	6pm Beetlejuice 8pm About Last Night
Sunday	NFL/The Graduate 8pm Beetlejuice
Daily	12:30-4pm SOAPS!

Nachos Buffalo Wings Sandwiches Frozen Drinks

6 UNIVERSITY DRIVE/NEWMARKET CENTER/AMHERST/(413) 549-2640

CIVILITY DAY '88: CONFRONTING RACISM

The SGA Presidents' Office Presents

Lynora Williams

Executive Director of the Center for Democratic Renewal speaks on

'Racist Violence in the U.S. and How to Fight It'

Monday, October 24 at 7PM
Student Union Ballroom

Sponsored by the SGAS Presidents Office, Office of Third World Affairs, SGA Finance Commmittee & THe Chancellor's Fund

LOCAL

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

IT'S THE GREAT PUMPKINS — Members of Theta Chi Fraternity gather at a benefit pumpkin sale Friday.

Ex-Grenada leader remembered

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

The execution of former Grenadian leader Maurice Bishop was the pretext for the long-planned United States invasion of the Caribbean island in 1983, award winning journalist William Worthy said in a lecture last week.

Bishop was a defense lawyer who joined forces with Bernard Coard, a political ideologue, to lead the 1979 New Jewel movement in overthrowing Sir Eric Gairy, ruler of Grenada's repressive government, Worthy, a journalist-in-residence at the University of Massachusetts in Boston said.

New Prime Minister Bishop faced much US opposiiton to his efforts to boost tourism by constructing an international airport, he said.

"The country's tourism was crucial, and the airport was the most important thing they could do for the economy," Worthy said. "It was worth pouring overwhelming resources into because the country would take off."

But President Reagan claimed the airport was going to be used for military purposes. "From capitalist companies involved in the construction, that claim was ridiculed. It just didn't qualify," he said.

Grenada's armed forces consisted of "300 soldiers with guns plus a few hundred more support troops," Worthy said.

"[There was] no navy, no air force and [the island] was completely surrounded by water," he said. "Yet President Reagan was able to sell the American people on the theory that it constituted a threat to the whole Caribbean and even to the security of the US."

"I think that says something about the intellect in this country," he said.

There was universal expectation that the United States was going to invade Grenada, Worthy said. There were bombings in the country while this nation practiced air and naval exercises apparently preparing for the the invasion, he said.

"[It was] a bold and open warning to Grenada, 'this is what's going to happen to you,'" he said.

Bishop was executed six days before the US invasion and Worthy said he suspects Deputy Prime Minister Coard ordered the assassination, triggered by jealousy and a desire to replace Bishop as leader.

Worthy said Coard believed "the party had to be supreme and the masses had to go along with the party, whether they liked it or not.

"Bishop was the type of person that believed you had to bring the people along and not try to impose an ideology on them," he said.

These differences led many Grenadians to believe that Coard was attempting a takeover, Worthy said. "Bishop was surrounded by people who told him he had to watch out for Coard — that he was out to get him," he said.

"Anti-Coard people will tell you that he would solicit power while [Bishop] was out of the country," he said. Coard would also attempt to "cultivate" the army by raising their pay, he said.

"I have reservations about there being no hard evidence against Coard," he said. But, he said "my emotional belief is that he did it."

CIA linkings were also highly suspect in the execution, Worthy said, and theories suggest agency used the differences between Bishop and Coard to create their own plan where Coard would be seen as the perpetrator.

"Around the world it is pretty well-believed that the CIA had to be involved," he said. "Whether or not there were any knowing links between the Coard faction and the CIA remains to be determined."

Worthy said he and partner Randy Goodman, have been investigating Bishop's "brutal execution" on assignment for the Boston Phoenix, a weekly newspaper.

"The whole circumstances remain so murky," Worthy said.

Student Court facing several dilemmas

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

With many new justices, the Student Judiciary is trying to regain order while facing the problem of the Student Government Association presidency, a dilemma left over from last semester.

Justice Kathy White said since Clerk of Courts Paul Piccirillo was removed from office amid charges of bias, she and the other justices have been doing research on the most important question facing them — the issue of whether Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz can hold the office of Student Government Association co-presidents.

Tape controversy

Audio tapes of all of last year's hearings are currently missing, White said, making the research difficult.

"It's strange that any of the tapes are missing," White said. She said they contain testimony from the presidency hearings of last semester, which could be beneficial when the judiciary starts to hear the case again.

She had searched through the Clerk of Courts Office, and had been unable to find the tapes, she said. There was one locked cabinet that may contain the tapes, but as yet she had been unable to get the combination to the lock. "If the tapes are not in the locked area, it becomes a criminal matter," White said.

Piccirillo said the tapes are in the locked cabinet.

Presidency question

Piccirilo had set a trial for tomorrow to hear the appeal of Silkoff and Rabinowitz, but White said the Student Supreme Court, a branch of the Judiciary, would not be ready to hear the case. She said the justices were still looking into the case.

"I think it's a very touchy subject," White said.

The Coordinating Committee of the SGA, which acts as the full senate during the summer, approved Silkoff and Rabinowitz to hold office in a limited capacity on June 8. In a ruling earlier this semester, the Student Supreme Court found members of the Coordinating Committee in contempt of court for violating a restraining order issued by the court May 11. The restraining order bars Silkoff and Rabinowitz from holding office until their appeal can be heard.

As of now, Silkoff and Rabinowitz are fulfilling some of the president's duties.

White said upon initial inspection she would have to say she stands by the court's ruling that found members of the Coordinating Committee in comtempt. Whether the members of the committee are in contempt is vague because Silkoff and Rabinowitz were ratified to hold office in a limited capacity, she said.

Another issue is the ratification violated the SGA Constitution. "Our constitution says that decisions rendered by the Student Supreme Court are binding," she said.

No clerk

The matter is further complicated by the lack of a Clerk of Courts, which must be chosen by the new justices. While this person does not render actual decisions, he/she facilitates hearings. For now, White is taking on some of the duties of the clerk to prevent a backlog.

"We're not going to use the time factor as a reason to choose someone," White said. "It's very important that the person be qualified and impartial." She said she expected a new clerk would be chosen by the end of this week.

Piccirillo, meanwhile, claims his removal was unfair and politically motivated. "It was totally unprofessional," he said. "I'm so dissatisfied with their actions that I'm not even going to respond to them. They say I'm not impartial, and they're not being impartial themselves," Piccirillo said.

He also claims he was never given a chance to appear before the justices, hear the charges against him and state his case. He said he was never asked to speak to the justices. White and other justices say he was asked but declined to attend the meeting on his dismissal.

Training sessions

To aid the justices in readying for the cases they will hear soon, the Legal Services Center is offerring a series of training sessions starting today on different aspects of law.

Charles DiMare, directing attorney of LSC, said, "I think there's an absolutely critical need for these sessions. The better trained they are, the better they are able to perform their duties," he said.

DiMare said there would be six training sessions, each lasting approximately two hours. The topics to be covered by the sessions are: due process of law; judicial ethics; separation of powers; differences between trial and appelate judges; law and equity, (which concerns injunctions); and rules and regulations of the University. He said he would be teaching the sessions with Thomas Coish and Myra Orlen, also of LSC.

White was enthusiastic about the sessions: "I think they will be beneficial, and I'm looking forward to it."

DiMare said the office had offered an academic course on law until it became mired in controversy three years ago and became unable to offer the course.

Jackson may visit UMass

It is possible that ex-presidential candidate Rev. Jesse Jackson will appear Thursday at the University of Massachusetts to take part in the Hands Across UMass — Against Racism event, according to an organizer of the proceedings.

Jason Rabinowitz, co-president-elect of the Student Government Association, said, "He [Jackson] is in the area; it is possible that he will come."

The event, a proposed human chain of students, staff, and faculty beginning at 1:30 p.m. near the Campus Pond, is part of Thursday's Civility Day activities, which culminate Civility Week.

Birth control class for men offered

By JANINE WARNER
Collegian Staff

"Everything you always wanted to know about birth control: for men, only," a workshop offered by University Health Services, will be held tonight at 7 p.m. in room 302 in UHS.

Ann Grose, a nurse practitioner at UHS, said she hopes the workshop will offer men the chance to ask questions they generally don't have the opportunity to ask. There will be no women present.

"I think men sometimes hesitate to come to regular workshops because they think they'll be in the minority," she said. "When they do come, they hesitate to ask questions."

Grose said men typically have more difficulty getting information about sex and birth control. "They're supposed to know everything," she said, but "maybe they don't."

With the emphasis on protection from sexually transmitted diseases as well as pregnancy, men have the opportunity to take a more active role in choosing birth control methods, she said.

By offering a workshop for men only, Grose said, UHS is trying to offer them the chance to learn how to be a more equal partner.

"I think if men had more information, they would take more responsibility," she said.

The workshop will be facilitated by Jon Snider, a UMass student and Peer Sex Educator, and Dr. Daniel Clapp, of UHS.

Grose said men are welcome at all UHS birth control workshops, but she thinks they may be less intimidated by tonight's session, because no women will be there.

The same information will be covered, however. "We will give out all the same handouts we give to women," she said.

In addition to handouts and free condoms, a slide show, "Contraception, the choice is yours," will be presented, and a question and answer period will follow.

Grose encouraged men to attend whether they are currently in a relationship or not. "We want them to see all the contraception available to women and to learn what women are taught so they can share in the decision process together with a woman."

WORLD/NATION

Hurricane Joan kills at least 50 in Nicaragua, many homeless

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Hurricane Joan killed at least 50 people and left 300,000 homeless in its rampage across Nicaragua, officials said yesterday. Rain drenched the country while the governemnt tried to organize rescue efforts and restore communications.

The storm left another 21 people dead in Costa Rica and four dead in Panama, bringing the death toll for its six-day trip across the Caribbean to at least 111.

More than 150 people were missing.

Joan slowly weakened into a tropical storm over land, but strengthened again when it reached the Pacific. No longer an Atlantic hurricane, it was given a new name in the sequence of this year's Pacific storms - Tropical Storm Miriam.

At 2 p.m. EDT, Miriam was about 95 miles southeast of San Salvador, with maximum sustained winds of about 50 mph, according to the National Hurricane Center in Miami.

Hurricane Joan blasted into the east coast city of Bluefields with 125 mph winds early Saturday and marched across the Iowa-sized country of 3 milliom, leaving a trail of death and destruction before reaching Managua about 10 p.m. Saturday.

Bluefields, Corn Island and the southeastern Atlantic coast region "practically disappeared from the map," the Managua daily El Nuevo Diario said yesterday.

The storm felled trees, electrical towers and telephone lines as it came through the capital.

Throughout the city yesterday, people were cleaning mud-covered homes while others cut up fallen trees for fuel. Soldiers carrying picks and axes joined to clear the streets.

One death was reported in Managua, a man electrocuted by a downed power line.

Officials said there were nine dead in Bluefields, 180 miles eats of Managua. The city of about 60,000 was reported 90 percent destroyed.

President Daniel Ortega said Cuban planes were expected to bring medicine, clothes and tents to Bluefields. The city's mayor, Hennington Omeir, appealed for urgent air during a visit to London.

"We are sending out an SOS to governments, agencies, to the people in general for urgently needed help ... in whatever area - health, food, clothing, construction materials and practically everything," said Omeir, part of a Nicaraguan delegation on an official European visit.

Jackson accuses Bush camp of using racially divisive tactics

BOSTON (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson, emerging yesterday from a meeting with Democrat Michael Dukakis, pledged to work harder for the governor's presidential bid and said Vice President George Bush's campaign has been sending "ugly race-conscious signals."

Dukakis met privately for breakfast with Jackson and eight other black political leaders from around the country.

In a press conference afterward, Jackson said the black leaders "have great motivation to increase our efforts across the country because of the rather sinister campaign that's been run by the Bush-Quayle forces."

Among the racially divisive tactics in the Bush presidential campaign, Jackson said, have been repeated condemnations of the American Civil Liberties Union and a focus on Willie Horton. The black murder convict raped a Maryland woman after escaping from a Massachusetts prison furlough program.

Jackson's comments echoed those of Donna Brazile, who resigned last week as one of Dukakis' top black advisers after she told reporters that Bush should admit or deny rumors he had an extra-marital affair.

Just before her resignation, Brazile accused Bush of running a racist campaign built on the Horton incident and on code words like crime, liberalism, civil liberties and gun control.

"Here you are, using the oldest racist symbol imaginable - a black man raping a white woman while her husband watches," Brazile said.

Asked as the press conference whether he agreed with Brazile's characterization of the Bush campaign as "racist", while restating the accusation.

"There have been a number of rather blatantly race-conscious signals that have had the impact of instilling ungrounded fear in whites and alienation from blacks," Jackson said.

"The use of the Willie Horton example is designed to create the most horrible psycho-sexual fears."

"The furlough as with black and brown faces rotating in and out of jail; the use of the Jackson-Dukakis ticket symbolism, which is distortion; referring to me as a Chicago hustler; George Bush himself buying property, while a sitting vice president, with a restrictive convenant for Caucasians only, denying blacks and Jews the right to buy that property - there have been a number of rather ugly race-conscious signals sent from that campaign."

Self Serve Typing
kinko's the copy center
220 No. Pleasant St.
253-2543

Every time you turn around, there's something new at jazzercise.
Hampshire Mall, Hadley; Interskate 91
*M•W•F•Sa ... 9:30 a.m.
M•Tu•W•Th ... 5:30 p.m.
M•W ... 7:00 p.m.
Friday ... 6:00 p.m.
Saturday ... 9:15 a.m.
*child care available 584-0745
Walk-ins 3.50 ea.
Mthly. passes available

Auto Glass Center
SAME DAY SERVICE
BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE CO.
WINDSHIELDS REPLACED
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd • 549-2980
No. Amherst

Hampshire Mall Hadley
Vision Showcase
36 State St. Shelburne Falls
Your new glasses are ready and your second pair is... FREE!
Buy one pair of prescription eyeglasses at our regular price and get the second pair of the same prescription from our special selection... absolutely FREE.
Choose from hundreds of high quality frames in all of the latest styles, colors, shapes and sizes.
Offer includes first quality frames and clear, uncoated, 1st and 2nd division single vision lenses. Offer precludes previous discounts and expires November 26, 1988.
Eye exams on premises by Dr. Robert E. Delaney, Independent Doctor of Optometry 584-6888 (Hampshire Mall) • 625-2370 (Shelburne Falls)
WITH THIS COUPON
FREE Second Pair of EYEGLASSES
(WITH PURCHASE OF A COMPLETE PAIR)
Buy one pair of glasses at our regular price and get the second pair of the same prescription from our special selection, ABSOLUTELY FREE!
Includes first quality frames and single vision, clear, uncoated, 1st and 2nd division lenses. Offer precludes previous discounts.
Hampshire Mall (across from K-Mart) Hadley 584-8324
Vision Showcase
36 State St. (near Bridge of Flowers) Shelburne Falls 625-9898
Coupon expires November 26, 1988

BLACK AFFAIRS

Ambassador addresses Mozambique situation

By THOMAS MAMBANDE
Collegian Staff

One of the foremost authorities on Southern Africa spoke in the Valley on Monday at Amherst and Hampshire Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Valeriano Farao, Mozambican Ambassador to the United States, Randall Robinson, executive Director of TransAfrica, and Prexy Nesmith of the Mozambique Support Network came as part of the Five College observance of World Food Day. They spoke on Southern Africa and the role of American involvement concerning this region.

They called for active participation on the part of citizens and students in putting pressure on Congress people and other elected officials who presently run the country based on the interests of an influential few and not the majority of Americans.

"Governments do nothing because of morality or ethics. Governments act to further their own interests based upon conditions that prevail at that time," Nesmith said. He said that US leniency towards South Africa is what keeps the apartheid regime in power, and in turn, keeps the power of apartheid flexed in the neighboring region.

He also said that the conservative and ultra conservative elements within the country like Sen. Jesse Helms, Sen. Dan Burton, Jimmy Swaggart and groups like the Young Republicans, the Heritage Foundation, and other groups with similar ideologies oppose and attempt to thwart progressive policy measures toward Southern Africa.

Nesmith also stressed the importance of the Presidency. He said "If we elect George Bush in Nov. the danger to Blacks in Southern Africa will be immeasurable."

Randall Robinson pointed out the similarities between South African apartheid and racism perpetuated within the United States towards Black Americans, Latinos and other so-called minorities. He also cited the greater potential for total emancipation of the Blacks in South Africa due to the larger ratio of Blacks to Whites in the country.

Ambassador Farao criticized the United States government for what he called its lenient behavior towards Renamo, the the name for the organization which kills and destabilizes in Mozambique with help from the South African government.

"If Libya opened an office or an embassy in Washington there would be an outcry. Yet Renamo has done just that, they have an office in Washington and nothing is thought of it."

The three called for heightened political activity among students and concerned students, including Black Americans. Only with increased awareness and partaking in the political process, they maintained, will just policies ensue in Southern Africa.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

Mozambique's ambassador gave lecture here last week detailing situation in Africa.

Farrakhan's Black Agenda

Rarely seen side of minister

continued from page 1

the black Muslim leader derives most of his power from his positive message of self-affirmation to the black community, rather than a negative message about Jews.

"With his message about economic development, I think he's tapping into a general sense of frustration. I don't think that excuses what he says about Jews though," Kaufman said.

Dr. Abdul Alim Muhammad, national spokesman for Farrakhan and the Nation of Islam, defended the minister against what many in the Jewish community call attacks on their religion.

"People are in disagreement as to just what anti-Semitism means. No one that I ask seems to be able to give me a satisfactory answer to that question," he said.

Arabs are classified as a Semitic people.

"To say that Minister Farrakhan is anti-Semitic is ludicrous. Muhammad, the prophet upon whom the religion of Islam is based, was an Arab," he said.

"If you wanted to say that he is anti-anything, he is anti-evil and anti-oppression of his peoples," Muhammad said.

"The minister is harder on his peoples than on anyone else. He concentrates mostly on black people in this country, our legacy, history, our relationship to God," the spokesman said.

In a statement made at a press conference in New York held with Dr. Lenora Fulani, independent candidate for the Presidency, Dr. Muhammad outlined the premise upon which Minister Farrakhan bases his highly-publicized assertions.

"We are united behind a common cause which is being known as the Black Agenda. The Black Agenda actually represents the assertion of the human rights not only of Black people but of Latino people and other oppressed minorities in this country to breath free, to have justice and to have equal opportunity under the law," he said.

"We are not unmindful of the machinations that have been in effect to divide us, but we also know that we cannot allow language or terminology to obscure the real issues. The real issue never has been and never will be anti-Semitism. The real issue is always the full and complete liberation of our people," Muhammad said.

When asked about his views concerning the possibility of a visit by Farrakhan to campus and ire aroused on the part of some white students, Dr. Muhammad alluded to the Minister's visit to the University of Pennsylvania last year.

"Many of the white students who had initially opposed his coming after having heard him speak actually felt closer to the black students."

Dr. Muhammad said Minister Farrakhan's visit could be a catalyst for progressive discourse between black and white students. He also said white students might obtain a clearer picture of Farrakhan, unclouded by media bias and manipulation of facts.

In order for this to happen, Dr. Muhammad maintained, white students would have to be objective.

"They have to be open to the idea of listening to a black man," he said.

Fraternity does community service

By THOMAS MAMBANDE
Collegian Staff

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

Brothers of Omega Psi Phi work hard to better their community.

The Brotherhood of Omega Psi Phi plans to be a positive force on campus and within the community, according to brother Ralph Watson.

This semester the fraternity will be holding a memorial day service for Ronald Mcnair,the astronaut and scientist killed in the Challenger explosion in 1986. In addition, the Omega Psi Phi will have a Talent Hunt for Amherst area high school students in which students submit essays addressing what it means to be a scholar who is also a minority. And in early December the fraternity plans to hold its Fall Smoker to be followed by a "Study-a-Thon" to take place during the final exam period.

Omega Psi Phi continually sponsors the Charles Drew Blood Drive, the ABC Walk and Voter Registration.

The fraternity of Omega Psi Phi Inc. was founded Nov. 17, 1911, on the campus of Howard University in Washington D.C. The founders were Edgar A. Love, Frank Coleman, Ernest Everett Just and Oscar John Cooper. The principles of Manhood, Scholarship,Perseverance and Uplift were the basis for the fraternity. In spite of 77 years of existence, Omega Psi Phi has only recently appeared on campus, its first line having crossed in the spring of 1985.

Prominent members of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity include Jesse Jackson, Vernon Jordan , Michael Jordan,Charles Drew, Ronald Mcnair, Count Basie and Bill Cosby.

■ Fulani campaign

continued from page 1

African-American people and other people of this country. They don't give a damn about the people in this country."

The New Alliance Party, founded in 1979, states in its platform its dedication to organizing African-Americans, Latinos, Native Americans, Asians, women, the gay community, poor and working class people.

In September, attorneys representing Fulani filed suit against the Commission on Presidential Debates for excluding her from the presidential debates it sponsored. The Commission had stated that Fulani was not eligible to take part in the debates because she could not demonstrate a reasonable chance of winning the election.

A spokesperson for Fulani said that in excluding her from the commission-sponsored debates, there was "(an) exclusion of the people" Fulani represents.

Fulani graduated from Hofstra (N.Y.) University, and received her M.A. from Columbia University Teachers College and her Ph.D. from the City University of New York.

Center provides much needed space

By JOSEPH L. HILL JR.
Collegian Staff

The Malcolm X Cultural Center is the largest Third World Center at UMass. Students use the space to study or participate in social activities, and is a good place to just meet people, according to co-coordinator Yvette Russell.

The center originated in the late 1970s after the Third World population demanded that space for a Third World center, to be located in Southwest, be allocated. After much struggle, the space was approved, hence the Malcolm X center.

The "X" as it is affectionately called, in addition to providing students with study space,'also provides a setting for two classes, taught by Inez Boyd and Doris Clemmons respectively.

Study hours at the center are Sundays through Wednesdays, 7 to 11 p.m. Thursday nights are "Black movie" nights, where popular films that relate to a Afrikan-American theme, can be seen for free. The center is available to any organization for programming Friday or Saturday nights, but parties, unless sponsored by the center's staff, will not be allowed.

continued on page 6

By JEFF PARKS
Collegian Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Howard University is having its 17th annual Minority Conference, which will be honoring Max Robinson.

ATLANTA — Spellman University is holding an Inaugural Weekend for new President Dr. Johnnetta Cole. Cole previously held positions at the University of Massachusetts as associate provost for Undergraduate Education and professor of anthropology.

All Third World organizations and institutions in and around the Five College area are encouraged to submit information to be printed in The Pipeline

■ Malcolm X Center

continued from page 6

The center is operated by co-coordinators Yvette Russell and Theresa Jefferson. They are responsible for the supervision of the center including staff hiring and programming.

Currently, the center is experiencing a staff shortage, though this is due to a lack of advertisement about the availability of staff positions, not a lack of community participation.

The "X" has a staff that is very committed to the future success of the center, "I've seen a lot of changes, a lot of progress [the] center is my child and I've grown up with it," said Russell.

What the center needs now is suggestions; the staff needs to know what the community would like to see happen at the center, according to Russell. Other organizations should be aware of the availability of the space at the Malcolm X Cultural Center and are urged to take "advantage of it," said Russell.

Irish leaders to meet in Milton

BOSTON (AP) — Leaders of the major faiths in the Irish Republic and Northern Ireland have agreed to meet next month in Milton for a conference on peacemaking efforts titled "Christian Hope for Ireland."

The conference Nov. 5 and 6 will include a general forum with 700 American clergy and laypeople expected to attend.

The meeting on the Irish conflict grew out of plans by the Episcopal mission Church of Our Saviour to mark its 90th year, said the vicar, the Rev. James R. Hiles. The church was founded to serve the domestic servants of Milton Hill's wealthy residents; many of those servants were Irish.

"The aim is to focus on Christian hope in a desperate conflict," said Hiles.

Photo by Diane C. Marshall

AUTUMN SOUNDS — Matt Coombs, a senior at Belchertown High School, plays his sitar, a Nothern Indian instrument.

UPC Presents:

Tuesday, October 25
8:00 PM
Fine Arts Center
Tickets on sale Wed. Oct. 12

SMITHEREENS
With Special Guests "O Positive"

$6 UMASS Students
$8 General Public

Tickets on sale at the F.A.C. Box Office

MC/Visa
545-2511

Are you concerned about Eating Problems?
Drop-in for information session
No Charge • No Registration
Tuesdays, 4-5 pm
Sept. 20 - Dec. 20
Univ. Health Services RM 304
UHS Nutritionist and Mental Health Therapist will answer questions, show a film and provide general information.

GOLD RING SALE
$60 OFF 18K
$40 OFF 14K
$20 OFF 10K

Jostens Gold Sale. For one week only. Order and save on the gold ring of your choice.
JOSTENS
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING™
Date: Oct. 24, 25, 26, 27 Time: 10:00 - 4:00 Deposit Required: $25.00
Place: UNIVERSITY STORE
Meet with your Jostens representative for full details. See our complete ring selection on display in your college bookstore.

What are YOU going to be this Halloween?

COSTUMES AND ACCESSORIES
• Gorillas
• Cats
• Bunnies
• Elephants
• Dogs

The Halloween Store
amherst/northampton
Find it at Faces

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

President Bush? Yikes! It's only October!!!

"Bush has a 17-point lead over Gov. Dukakis."

"George Bush has the electoral vote completely locked up."

". . . and tonight on the evening news, Vice-President George Bush, according to our latest poll, has beaten Michael Dukakis by a landslide."

Meredith O'Brien

Wait a minute, is it my imagination or have I inadvertently misread the date? To my knowledge, it is STILL October, right? Then there must be some sort of a giant hoax going on, it isn't Nov. 8 yet! Will someone please tell these people that this isn't a "Back to the Future" rerun!

The election has not occurred yet - unless they already had it and nobody told anybody. Officially, not one registered voter has cat a vote. Then why, if I may be so bold, may I ask, is Barbara Bush picking out curtains for the Oval Office? Why is Danny shining up his new gold clubs (Daddy's gift for winning the vice-presidency)?

I don't get it.

Bush and Quayle have not been elected. We have not voted. Granted, there have been polls taken by ABC, CBS, CNN and various other media corporation, but none of them can provide an accurate representation of the American voters. Polls are unreliable because they rest with the variability of public opinion at any given time during the campaign. Who cares about "if the election were held today, who would you vote for" questions? They are very fickle.

It has been historically proven that polls can be wrong and inaccurate. Take the 1948 election. A national newspaper prematurely published its late edition with a large headline reading, "Dewey Beats Truman." How many people have seen the picture of Harry Truman holding up that newspaper the night he won the presidential election?

The real damage of saying that the election is already wrapped up is damage to the undecided voter's perspective. These people are balancing on the fence between Bush and Dukakis, and those "polls" will push them into a decision. When people see these polls and see that Bush is "supposedly" leading by a lot, and that lead keeps growing, they will vote for him. They jump on the bandwagon. Who wants to vote for the definite loser?

This is a ludicrous reason to vote for a president — though many voters do vote for this reason. People should be elected because of their stance on issues — which is usually forgotten on the nightly news or buried on page 20. They should be elected on the basis of their background and qualifications — not on who can get more cops to stand around someone and yell his name. The undecided voter should not vote by who's leading in the polls.

For a country that is supposed to be so democratic, I think that it is ridiculous to name the winner of an election weeks before the people have even voted. Why do we even bother to vote if they are already telling us who won?

Despite these stupid polls, I am still going to vote, hopefully I will prove those polls wrong.

Another 1948? Cross your fingers.

Meredith O'Brien is a Collegian columnist

Odds and ends

Learning about stress and stressing over grades

Well, it's about that time of the year.

After the first month and a half of every semester I move into my stress mode. It's acute academic anxiety.

At worst, you have the irrational fear that no matter what you do, you will flunk at least four of your classes. At best, you are convinced that in order to get halfway decent grades you must live a wretched life of studying around the clock every day for the rest of the semester.

What? You've never had this type of anxiety? Maybe it is only me. . . . No, come on, there's got to be at least one freshmen engineering major who's huddled up in the basement of the physical sciences library at Lederle twitching about an upcoming calculus exam. I've seen some of the graffiti on the desks there and although they have strong sexual overtones, I know that this is really just a mask for academic frustration.

Anyway, I am going to turn over a new leaf this semester. I've really analyzed this problem. It originates from three letters: GPA. Yes, over the past couple of years I've sacrificed a lot in an attempt to build a high grade point average — only to be mildly successful. At times, I've deprived myself of sleep, movies, time with friends and family, concerts, baseball games, and almost anything else that holds an aesthetic value for me.

Why have I done this? Just for the grades. Grades. Grades. Grades. I'm sick of grades. "Gotta get an A in economics. . . I'll kill myself if I don't get at least a B in political science."

Bob Bobala

I guess it's just typical of American society. If you want to be a good capitalist you have to go out there and compete against the world. Or, at least, you have to compete against yourself. Strive for that 4.0.

Not that I have a better way of doing it. I suppose it's competition with ourselves and each other that has made this country what it is today (Of course, you could debate if that's good or bad.). We need some system of measuring our college "experience." It's just too bad no one could think of something different than the numbers 1.0 to 4.0.

I'm not saying it's wrong to get good grades and to strive to do your best. But sometimes I have to wonder what being the best is. I find it pretty sad that over the past couple years I've been here not to learn or better myself, but to get good grades.

And for what? So that maybe I'll have an advantage when I apply for my first job? It's not worth it. I could see it if I were being specifically trained for a professional field. I'd probably have to take some "weed-out" courses in which I'd just want to do as well as I could and get through with them. But, I'm a liberal arts major. If I want to be trained for a specific, professional career, I'm going to go on to graduate school.

Yeah, I know. You need decent grades to get into graduate school. But it depends what means you use to get those ends. You don't learn very much by cramming all night just to get a good grade on an exam the next day. And besides, if you really learn, then the end result should be good grades. Unfortunately, some courses here don't work that way, but what are you going to do?

So that's the pep talk I gave myself as soon as I moved into this semester's academic stress mode. I've vowed to myself to get more out of my education than a 3.5 cum. I'm going to learn first and worry about my grades later. What an idealist, huh? Well, hey, if everybody did it, professors would be using some nice big curves in their grading. Then I could have my cake and eat it too.

Bob Bobala is a Collegian columnist

Dispelling sub-station misconceptions

Over the past few weeks I have read letters of concern published in the Collegian both supporting and opposing the so-called "Police Sub-station." I have also spent several days walking through Southwest, talking with students and listening to their concerns. What has become readily apparent to me is that an awful lot of misinformation is being shared among not only students, but some housing staff.

Most of the students when asked by me "Where is this so-called Police Station going to be?" responded by saying "fifth floor, Washington Tower." I would like to take this opportunity to hopefully stop the rampant rumors and provide a little clarity to this issue.

We are not establishing a "police sub-station" in the lobby or the fifth floor of Washington Tower. Police officers will never intrude into a student's personal effects or otherwise search a room except with permission of the student, or a search warrant. Finally, we are not seeking to increase activities utilizing the "Plain View Doctrine."

The following represents services that we will hopefully implement this month. (Incidently, October is National Crime Prevention Month, which was the reason for our projected grand opening.)

- The office will contain brochures and handouts dealing with safety, crime prevention, and related issues.
- The office's staff person will also coordinate the activities and assignments of 225 students assigned security duty in Southwest.
- The office will aid the Student Escort Service.
- The office will be in charge of dispatching of newly acquired courtesy car with professional security officer.
- The office will be in the base of operation for police officers assigned foot patrol in Southwest.
- The office will have information about student employment in Public Safety.

There will also be a desk available with a divider separating it from the student security activity. This desk will allow the police officer to meet with students who want to speak privately.

The space under discussion on the fifth floor of Washington Tower may be used for training sessions and seminars on issues relating to safety and crime prevention. This will be coordinated by Public Safety and Residential Education Staff.

It is inappropriate to automatically equate Public Safety with just the police. The Division of Public Safety consists of not only the Police Department, but the Security Department, the Department of Student Security, the Escort Service, Administrative Department and Veteran Assistance and Counseling Services.

The opening of the center in Washington, and the services offered, are a part of Public Safety's Educational Assistance and Community Enrichment Program (PEACE program). Your support is essential in our efforts to serve you.

Arthur L. Hilson
Executive Director
Division of Public Safety

The Collegian gladly accepts letters and columns from the University of Massachusetts community. All submissions should be addressed to the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, UMass. If you have any questions or comments regarding the content or editing of editorial page, feel free to call us at 545-3500. Ask for David or Pam. Thanks.

Action, not apathy, will feed the hungry

We sat and watched three years ago as the media showed us photos and printed articles about the starvation of Africa. Who could ignore the pictures we saw at home, as we squirmed uncomfortably in our seats? Here we were, surrounded by all the blessings and curses of modern society, while the destruction of millions of lives occurred in front of our eyes.

For a time we responded generously to the crisis, due to the efforts of individuals and organizations. They staged mega-celebrity events which persuaded us to act rather than passively sit by. Our monies were translated into help by the purchasing of food, the administering of medical attention, the construction of shelters, villages, and refugee camps; and the organization of self-sufficient work projects to ensure a healthier future.

Today the crisis is still with us. The media shows us fewer pictures and writes fewer articles because the public finds it all too boring. Why are we tired of giving and listening? Our basic needs are taken for granted. Rather than being satisfied with the simple pleasures of living, we move through life with the intent of gaining status, possessions, and a sort of material immortality. We live in a culture that places competition and the "me-first" attitude above positive action.

It is time to open our eyes, ears, and hearts to this and the other crises facing our world. We cannot continue on the path of apathetic ignorance any longer. We are responsible for our brothers and sisters and our planet. We can't expect any less of ourselves than working together to build and rebuild for a safe and humane future.

Timothy L. Latz
Northampton

■ Halloween policies

continued from page 1

Residential Area. "I don't think Halloween should be a special issue, though."

Baker said he expects non-University guests this weekend, but said if he has more than two, he'll somehow get them in.

Kimberly Goodman, a sophmore resident of JQA, said the policy is good compared to other schools. "I think it's pretty good, considering what it was last year," she said. "Our policy is really nothing compared to [the more stringent policies at] B.U."

Zannini said despite the new policy, the administration will always be concerned about this time of the year.

"During this time [of year] a lot of people are partying," he said. "Because of this people lose their sense of identity and because of that lose their sense of reponsibility."

Director of Public Safety Arthur Hilson also made special plans for the weekend.

"It's only reasonable to say that I will beef up security," Hilson said. "I'm sure there will be a couple of overtime slips next week."

Hilson said he intends to have both car and foot patrols.

Although he himself will not be here for the weekend, Hilson said the plans for the weekend have already been made. "I made sure that I don't leave here without the plans already set."

Hilson's main concern for any weekend is underage drinkers.

"These individuals may find that the price they have to pay is not worth it," he said. "We're going to enforce the law and people tend not to like that, but there's little choice."

Students should also be "getting the message" from the recent Amherst police crackdown, Hilson said. Amherst Police Chief Donald Maia announced two weeks ago that his department would patrol in full force, all 30 officers, each weekend until noise complaints and alcohol-related incidents drop in number.

"I believe we have mature, responsible students on campus," Hilson said. "I'm just hoping everyone behaves in a responsible way. I hope we don't have anything to regret when the weekend is over."

F Y I

The FYI section is a public service announcement to the campus and community. Space is limited, so the Collegian cannot guarantee that all submissions will be published.

Interviews

Interviews for all students seeking admission to Early Childhood Education will be held this week. Applications, which must be completed before an interview , may be obtained in room 354 of Hills South. Directions for interviews are available in the same office. Students who fail to complete the application and interview will not be considered for admission in January.

Lecture

The Politics and Race: Election Year — Reflections on Life in the United States lecture series continues at 7:30 tonight in room 10 of Seelye Hall at Smith College. Journalist Anne Braden, an organizer of southern social justice movements, is scheduled to speak tonight.

Warren Furutani, a member of the Los Angeles School Board, will speak at 4:30 tomorrow in the same room.

Meeting

A meeting for all students interested in participating in a new organization recruiting, organizing, and supporting student volunteers and community acitivism will be held from 7 to 8:30 tomorrow night in the Center for Social Issues in Moore Residence Hall in Southwest Residential Area. For futher information, call Britt at 253-2307 or 545-0472.

Meeting

A meeting of the Western Massachusetts Regional Advisory Committe of the Massachusetts Developmental Disabilities Council is scheduled from 7 to 9 tomorrow night at the Unitarian Church at 220 Main Street in Northampton. The topic will be family support services.

Contest

The 16th Annual Halloween Window Painting Contest is scheduled for Saturday.

Hike

The Pioneer Valley Group of the Sierra Club is sponsoring a hike at the Quabbin Reservoir. Those interested should meet at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Women's Federated Forest for an all-day hike from Soapstone Hill to Dana. The hike is approximately 10 miles with some moderately strenuous stretches, according to the group; there may even be some bushwacing. Hikers are asked to bring lunch and liquid. If you want to go along, call Alexandra Dawson in advance at 586-5586.

Bible Study

The New Testament Fellowship will be having a bible study at 7 p.m. tonight and every Friday of the semester in the Campus Center. Check the event listing near the information desk on the concourse for the room number.

Five College Students:
Call 545-2511
For ½ Price Tickets

Marvin Hamlisch In Concert
Thursday, Nov. 3

The Juilliard String Quartet
Saturday, Nov. 5

The Amazing Cambridge Buskers
Wednesday, Nov. 9

Peter Orth, piano
Tuesday, Nov. 15

Desrosiers Dance Theatre
Saturday, Nov. 19

Ladysmith Black Mambazo
Tuesday, Nov. 22

Quartet For The End Of Time
Saturday, Dec. 3

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Same Bat Channel
Satifies all your Comic Book needs
Role Playing Games
Horror and Movie Magazines
Baseball Cards and Posters
586-8775
Hampshire Mall, Rt. 9
Hadley, MA

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!
From NEW YORK — one way
LONDON 179
PARIS 229
ROME 259
round trip
CARACAS 320
ST. THOMAS 260
HONGKONG 739
Taxes not included.
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes, EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

The Key To Much More Than Your Room

It's the University of Massachusetts-Amherst Student Telephone Directory. And it's your key to all the products and services in the entire UMass community.

Because it's the only complete student, faculty and staff white pages directory. And it contains a classified NYNEX Yellow Pages directory. So you'll know where to buy personal products from mouthwash to makeup...clothing from T-shirts to sweat socks...and food from pizza to popcorn. Now you can shop around town without even leaving your room.

The directory also contains campus-oriented information like local bus schedules, area maps, guides to student organizations and activities and more. Plus money-saving coupons to help you through those down-to-your-last-dollar Friday nights. Best of all, it's free—so it fits right into your budget.

If you can't find your directory, look again. Because we recently sent copies to every residence hall. And for those of you living off campus, you can find the directory at the Campus Center.

The UMASS-Amherst Student Telephone Directory is one book you'll open again and again this semester. Because if you want to know where to go and what to do in the UMASS area, it's required reading.

NYNEX Yellow Pages

They're Steamy Hot at the Top!

Complimentary Hot Dogs
Tonight at 9:00

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE
11TH FLOOR • CAMPUS CENTER

Weekly drink specials and never a line at the door!

Also tonight at 9
Monday Night Football

University Food Services

Attention Commuters! Now the Dining Commons offers you an alternative to brown bagging it ...

5-MEAL Strip Tickets for hot, nutritious meals at any of the D.C.s.

- 5-Day Breakfast Strip $10.85
- 5-Day Lunch Strip $19.15
- 5-Day Dinner Strip $24.50

Strip Tickets are available at the Meal Ticket Office in Franklin Commons (Mon.-Fri.: 9 am to 5 pm) or through the cashiers in the Dining Commons.

Campus Word Search

Hidden in the diagram are 23 words related to campus life. Look up, down, diagonally, forward and backward!

BEVERAGE
BLUEWALL
BREAK
CAMPUS CENTER
CASH OPERATIONS
COFFEEHOUSE
DINNER
ENTERTAINMENT
HAMPDEN
HATCH
JOBS
LOUNGE
LUNCH
MUSIC
QUICKIE RESTAURANT
SNACK BAR
SPORTS
STAFF
STUDENT
TOP OF THE CAMPUS
UMASS
WHITMORE

C	A	S	H	O	P	E	R	A	T	I	O	N	S	M
O	B	N	A	C	D	E	E	F	O	G	T	B	O	T
F	H	A	T	O	J	C	S	K	P	L	N	E	C	N
F	E	C	C	W	H	I	T	M	O	R	E	V	A	S
E	G	K	H	M	N	S	A	P	F	U	D	E	M	T
E	N	B	Q	R	T	U	U	S	T	M	U	R	P	R
H	U	A	R	A	T	M	R	V	H	A	T	A	U	O
O	O	R	F	E	W	X	A	Z	E	S	S	G	S	P
U	L	F	B	C	N	D	N	K	C	S	F	E	C	S
S	U	S	B	O	J	N	T	H	A	M	P	D	E	N
E	N	T	E	R	T	A	I	N	M	E	N	T	N	O
K	C	L	M	N	O	P	Q	D	P	R	R	S	T	Q
T	H	V	W	E	I	K	C	I	U	Q	X	B	E	B
B	L	U	E	W	A	L	L	Y	S	Z	B	D	R	R

Attention Meal Plan Students:
Use your meal ticket at the T.O.C. Restaurant for Great Meals at Great Deals

Entrees reg. $5.75-11.25

Meal Deal price only $2.35-7.05

All students enrolled in a University Food Services' full board plan (i.e. 10, 14, or 19 meal plan) may use their meal ticket for a $3.00 credit on any dinner entree on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday evenings between 5-8:00 pm in the Top of the Campus Restaurant. Also, students will receive the usual 15% discount after the meal credit. Reservations are required two days in advance. Call 549-6000 ext. 7639 or inquire at the T.O.C. Restaurant.

TOP of the CAMPUS Restaurant
11th FLOOR CAMPUS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

ARTS/LIVING

Lennox, Green make a perfect pair; Fox a flop

By CHRIS A. MUTHER
Collegian Correspondent

Thomas Dolby "Hot Sauce"
The wizard of techno-pop has gone south of the border, or at least his music has, for this latest effort. "Hot Sauce" has all the ingredients for that perfect Latin dance song: a driving rhythm, Spanish guitars, and a few Spanish words thrown in for good measure. One taste of "Hot Sauce" will leave you hungry for more.

The Singles Scene

Poison "Every Rose Has Its Thorn"
The glamor boys of heavy metal have unleashed something we all need, another dreadful hard rock ballad. You've probably figured out already what this gem sounds like, but for you unimaginative types I'll give you the thrilling details. It starts out kind of slow, the lyrics are sappy and dull, the tempo picks up with a drum solo, and you won't believe what's next, a guitar solo! What will they think up next?

Boy's Club "I Remember Holding You"
This duo have obviously graduated from the Wham! school of pretentious pop. "I Remember Holding You" is a thinly veiled reincarnation of "Careless Whisper," only Boy's Club lack any originality. This song is typical of the Euro-trash sound that has been littering the US charts lately, all looks and no talent.

Samantha Fox "I Just Want to Have Some Fun"
This song is easily summed up in two words - bimbo rock. For years this centerfold has been trying to pass herself off as some new age disco diva with talent, and she's about as transparent as the revealing outfits she squeezes herself into. Face it Sam, your best assets aren't your vocal chords.

Feargal Sharkey "Out Of My System"
Feargal Sharkey has been crooning with one of the most lush voices in pop for years now, and has gone virtually unnoticed in the US. "Out Of My System" is a strong influx of percussion, bass, and horns that opens solid stays that way. "Out Of My System" is worth going out of your way to hear.

Annie Lennox and Al Green "Put A Little Love In Your Heart"
This classic tune is from the forth coming Bill Murray movie "Scrooged" and only a Scrooge could dislike the song. This remake of Jackie DeShannon's classic is a perfect vehicle for the soulful voices of Lennox and Green, which blend flawlessly, like the two have been singing together for years. How about the Eurythmics as a trio?

Michael Jackson "Smooth Criminal"
Reviewing a Michael Jackson song is like trying to critique a painting by Monet - almost impossible. Jackson is a musical craftsman who has been sculpting hits for years, and though people may deny they like him, you have to admit the man has talnt. "Smooth Criminal" is a traditional Jackson dance song, in addition to the little details producer Quincy Jones adds, Jackson's sense of timing and rhythm are perfect. This will most likely be the 7th hit from the Bad album and one of the biggest.

Good Luck on Exams

We want you to pass with flying colors. Just as we want you to succeed in your interview with our campus recruiter. Marriott is looking for as many bright and talented students as we can find for rewarding and challenging management positions in the lodging and food services industry.

Mark your calendars!

MARRIOTT DAY, October 27th
RM 106 Flint Lab, 10 am - 2 pm

Contact the HRI School for details. Or, call THE MARRIOTT COLLEGE HOT LINE-1-800-638-4707 ext. 82500, 8 am-5 pm EST

Marriott
We are an equal opportunity employer. M/F/V/H.

FREE

DVP PRESENTS:
Dr. J. Larry Brown

"Living Hungry in America"

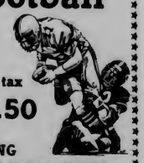
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25th
Campus Center Auditorium
8:00pm

distinguished visitors program

TIPS ON REPORTING AND WRITING

Special Focus: Developing and Keeping Sources
Monday, Oct. 24
by
Marsha Marotta
Campus Center Rm. 178
8:00 p.m.
Workshop counts toward staff status
Come write for the Collegian
113 Campus Center

PINOCCHIO'S
RISTORANTE ITALIANO
Monday Night Football Special



Large Cheese Pizza $5.50 plus tax
Tues. & Wed. Special $5.50
MUST MENTION SPECIAL WHEN ORDERING
NO COUPON NECESSARY—NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER COUPON

Amherst Insurance
ALL FORMS OF INSURANCE
AUTO, TENANT, HOME & MOTORCYCLE
253-9387
253-5555
20 GATEHOUSE ROAD
AMHERST
YOUR Independent Insurance Agent serves you first!
PIA PROFESSIONAL INSURANCE AGENT

Photo by Micki Cole

Joe Crash plays at the Red Barn at Hampshire College Saturday at an AIDS awareness concert.

Queensryche: the mind of heavy metal

By PAULA HOGAN
Collegian Correspondent

Queensryche
Operation: Mindcrime
EMI Records

There is only one way to describe Queensryche's fourth and latest release - absolutely brilliant. For those who have already heard Operation: Mindcrime, no further explanation is necessary.

But for those who haven't, this five-piece, Seattle-based band has produced an album that is so strong in lyrical/musical content that it looks to be one of the most impressive metal albums to be seen in years.

continued on page 12

Before you Buy
HALLOWEEN SUPPLIES
500 MASKS TO CHOOSE FROM
GREASE PAINTS--HANDS--FEET--WITCHES' HATS AND BROOMS--WIGS
MOUSTACHES--BEARDS--NOSES--FANGS--TEETH
TOOTH BLACK--COMPLETE OUTFITS
H.L. CHILDS & SON
Open daily and Sunday 8-5; open Thursday nights until 8:00pm
Open Sun. Oct 30 12-5; 34 Bridge St. 584-2604 Northampton

Amherst Cinema
Handful of Dust
PG
2 Showings
7 & 9 p.m.
Senior Citizens & Children $2.00, Adults $3.50
DOWNTOWN

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11 a.m.
• 7 Days A Week • Call for Take Out •
Kitchen Open 'till Midnight
Pool Table, Video Games, Juke Box, 3 Color TV's
Most Bar Seats In Town
MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL SPECIAL
10¢ Mozzerella Sticks
9 - 12
SEVEN & SEVEN $1.75
Drink of the Week
DOS EQUIS $1.50
Beer of the Month
10th Anniversary 1978 - 1988
Good Food & Drink

TIME OUT
Where The Action Is!

FREE HOT DOGS
Monday Night Football
CHICAGO BEARS VS. SAN FRANSISCO 49ERS
You deserve some Time Out
37 N. Pleasant St • Mass ID required

THE PIZZA PUB
PRESENTS
A FASHION SHOW
ON SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29
AT 9:00 PM
FALL FASHIONS BY:
PICCADILLY STREET
WOMENS CLOTHING
ONE WAY ST. TO FASHION
2nd floor Thorne's Market
Northampton, MA
HALLOWEEN PARTY
Best costume wins an outfit compliments of Picadilly St.
DANCING!
LIVE D.J.! Playing your requests
Pitchers only $3
FOOD, DRINKS & FUN
AT PIZZA PUB • ROUTE 9, HADLEY

Counseling Psychology

Boston-Bouvé College of Human Development Professions at Northeastern University offers part-time and full-time graduate degree programs in the areas of Counseling Psychology. Students may work toward a Master's degree, a Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study, or a Doctoral degree.

All counseling courses are taught by licensed psychologists. Class size is limited to encourage individual participation. The curriculum includes analytical and theoretical courses as well as practice-oriented courses. In addition to classroom work, all programs include applied experience in a supervised clinical environment.

For more information and a free brochure on the Graduate Programs in Counseling Psychology call (617) 437-2708. Or write to Graduate School, Boston-Bouvé College of Human Development Professions, 107 Dockser Hall, Northeastern University, Boston, MA 02115.

Northeastern University
An equal opportunity-affirmative action educational institution and employer

Kinison a scream in Springfield

By DEAN McCABE
Collegian Correspondent

Sam Kinison
Thursday night at Paramount in Springfield

It was a full house last Thursdady night at the Paramount Performing Arts Center in Springfield. Over 2,000 people filled the restructured theater, but there were still hundreds outside chanting "Sam! Sam! Sam!"

It got twice as noisy inside with people yelling out the comedian's trademark of "AAAAAAGGGGHHHH!"

Starting half an a hour late, Carl LaBove opened up the show to beef up the audience before Sam Kinison took the stage. Kinison has a habit of working with the best and LaBove clearly represented that. LaBove's subjects included humiliation, dating in the 80's and "drunk friends in need."

LaBove fired up the crowd with his effective impersonations of heavy-weight champ Mike Tyson and the king of rock'n'roll Elvis Presley. He said that even if Elvis was alive he wouldn't be answering those 900 numbers saying "Yes, this is Elvis, that'll be $2.75, thank you for calling."

After a half hour intermission, Kinison marched onto the stage in his deliberate manner, echoing, "AAAAAAGGGGGHHHHH!" Without any hesitation the untamed comedian led into his act, giving it to TV evangelists Jimmy Swaggart and Jim Bakker. Many regard Kinison as one of the most sexist comics ever, but he managed to channel his humor elsewhere.

Gays, TV preachers, sex therapists, AIDS victims, anti-drug and alcohol crusades often become the targets of his oppressive humor. Of the many celebrities who also caught fire from Kinison's flames were Charles Nelson Riley, Dr. Ruth, Jessica Hahn, and presidential candidate Michael Dukakis.

The crowd favored Kinison and his delivery. It seems the whole country has caught on to crude, rambunctious, obnoxious loud behavior as a new means of comedy. And it looks like Kinison is just getting started. He gives new meaning to the phrase "I'm just trying to help." The aggressive verbal slapstick beatings seem to work for him.

After talking to the man of the hour backstage he commetned "It's amazing what they let you get away with around here."

His material was new and fresh except for his so-called heartbreaking ballad called "The Breaking Song," featured on his Louder than Hell album, with which he capped off the night screaming, "I hope you slide under a gas truck and taste your own blood, die! die! I want my records back, I want my records back!"

The show was promoted by Live Productions and co-sponsored by WAQY 102 FM in Springfield. Sam Kinison is due to release his second album in three weeks, so put your helmets on for this one folks.

Photo by Dean McCabe

Sam Kinison

The New Africa House's Augusta Savage Gallery is featuring Stan Sherer's: *Journey Into The Soul:*The Spiritual Baptists of Barbados photo series, left, through Nov. 12. The Gallery hours are Monday-Friday 10 a.m.-4 p.m., or call for an appointment at 545-0932.

The Hampden Gallery features Art In The Dark: Luminous painting and Sculpture in the 1980's through Nov. 6, will the Herter and Studen Union galleries are presenting Dwight Pogue: Art To The Inth and Undergraduate Juried Art Show respectively, through Nov. 2.

■ Queensryche

continued from page 11

Having a soap-opera-like storyline, Operation: Mindcrime takes you on a trip that captures the unforgettable past of a young teenage boy. The typical "boy meets girl, falls in love, boy loses girl' plot is present in this hour-long concept but with surprising twists and turns that bring your senses to their utmost point of excitment.

According to guitarist Michael Wilton, "Lyrically, it's all one flowing story. That's what we wanted to do. But at the same time, not go too esoteric or anything. We still wanted the music to have a sort of street feel, a true metal voice."

In many ways, Operation: Mindcrime the album, successfullly achieves Queensryche's pre-determined goals. As far as the individual songs go, they have more than enough substance to stand on their own. Hot spots include "The Mission," "Eyes of a Stranger" and an 11-minute drama titled "Suite Sister Mary."

Since the very beginning, Queensryche has always been just a bit different than the so-called average heavy metal band. They actually have brains. With complicated instrumentals, ambitious production techniques, and intertwining conceptual ideas, this relatively short-lived musical family has chosen its own path to travel.

Now having secured the opeing slot for a major arena tour starting in November, Queesnryche and their Operation called Mindcrime is sure to turn a lot of heads.

DOVE Business Associates, Inc.
Dove Business Associates, Inc.
• FAST ACCURATE WORD PROCESSING
• RESUMES
• LETTERS
• THESIS
• DISSERTATIONS
• TERM PAPERS
• TEMPORARY OFFICE PERSONNEL
• COMPLETE LINE OF SECRETARIAL SERVICES
• BOOKKEEPING
• MAILINGS
Dove Business Management Services
• Complete Services for Small Businesses
79 So. Pleasant St., Amherst
256-1335 • 253-7480
Also New Offices at
90 Conz St., Northampton, MA
585-5127

College Students:
MONEY
is now available for your
EDUCATION
IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN RECEIVING
Scholarships*, Fellowships*, Grants*
YOUR ELIGIBILITY IS GUARANTEED!
regardless of financial status or academic performance.
FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL:
1-800-635-4063
A NATIONAL SERVICE COMMITTED TO HIGHER EDUCATION
*These funds DO NOT require reimbursement
ACADEMIC FINANCIAL ADVISORY PROGRAM

FANTASY WORLD COSTUMES
HALLOWEEN COSTUME RENTALS
Mask, Accesories, Make-up
Specializing in Custom Made Adult Costumes
75 Russell Street
Sunderland 665-3639
M-F 1pm-9pm, Sat-Sun 1pm-5pm
3rd House On The Right From Old Amherst Road

$2.00 OFF new clients only
Chic Cuts
• Wash + Wear Perms, Body Waves
• Coloring and Dimensional Highlighting
• Facial Waxing
• Manicure
• Facials
• Body Wraps
Expires 11/15/88
We offer a 100% money back guarantee on all of our hair care products •Redken •Nexus •Paul Mitchell make your fashion statement
Styles By Deborah
65 University Dr., Amherst
549-5610

YOUR CHOICE: $199 INSTALLED
Whistler WH500R Uniden RD95GT
YOUR NEXT TICKET MIGHT COST YOU MORE THAN A
RADAR DETECTOR!
Our remote radar detectors can save you money! Get one installed now.
We also carry K-40 and Bell radar detectors and dash mount models starting at $79.00.
CUSTOM CAR SOUND
NORTHAMPTON 141A Damon Rd. 586-5258
W. SPRINGFIELD 573 Riverdale St. 734-4995

SHEEHAN'S CAFE NORTHAMPTON
Blue Monday
Wildcat O'Hallaran Band
Tuesday 25
Open Blues Jam
No Cover
Bring Your Guitars
Thursday & Friday 27 & 28
Johny Copeland
Legendary Texas Blues
Saturday 29
Jack Smith & the Rockabilly Planet w/ Fab Motion
For More Info., 585-5149

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

Today at work that jerk Eddie Miller came up behind me at my desk and yanked my antenna... So I blasted him.
Sounds like my day. Doreen came over for lunch and she has the gall to insult my lasagna... So naturally I blasted her.
Bombardier beetles at home

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

MONDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1988... APPARENTLY TODAY IS "OFFICIAL UNITED NATIONS DAY."
...AND SO CLOSE TO HALLOWEEN, TOO! HM!
THIS IS TOM BROKAW.
AND JOHN CHANCELLOR WITH COMMENTARY. GOOD NIGHT.

Doonesbury By Garry Trudeau

RISE AND SHINE, DUCKS! UP AND AT 'EM!
MMPH!
TIME TO WORK THE STREETS! YOU'RE GOING TO MISS THE RUSH HOUR PEDESTRIAN TRAFFIC!
HERE'S YOUR LUNCH BOX. NOW GET GOIN'!
LUNCH BOX? WHAT'S IN IT?
NOTHING, REMEMBER?
OH, RIGHT. I KEEP THINKING WE'RE CAMPERS.

Calvin and Hobbes By Bill Watterson

Iggman on Campus By Drew Aquilina

HALLOWEEN IS ALMOST HERE... IT'S THE FAVORITE TIME OF YEAR...
PARTIES COSTUMES CANDY GALORE.... BUT TO US, HALLOWEEN MEANS WAR....
IGGY AND CABBY BETTER KNOWN AS THE HALLOWEENIES HAVE HIGH TECH EQUIPMENT BUT LACK EXPERIENCE IN SHAVING CREAM AND EGG COMBAT... THEIR OPPONENTS
THE DEATH SQUAD... FEATURING RADIC AND CLAMSTER. THEY HAVE COMBAT EXPERIENCE AND THE MUSCLE TO BACK IT UP!!... THEY ARE THE TEAM TO BEAT

Zero-Sum By Monte Morin

Workshop Tonight: Focus on developing sources and keeping them. By Marsha Marotta. Room 178 of the Campus Center at 8 p.m. Counts toward staff status.

Daily Crossword Puzzle

Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

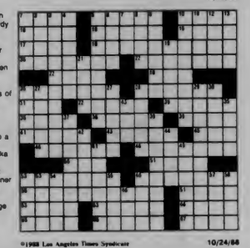
ACROSS
1 Former Dean of State
5 Lilac or orchid, e.g.
10 Diamond call
14 Continbuta, in a way
15 Dress designer Simpson
16 Silkworm of Assam
17 Shore structura
18 Pilots
20 Coarse woolen fabrics
22 Cool
23 The south of France
24 Zilch
25 Mortars' partners
26 Cruel person
31 Old English letter
32 Bar, to Bait
34 Winter month, in Madrid
36 River nymph
38 Netherlands' export
40 Highender
41 Cause consternation
43 Put in jeopardy
45 Michael Jackson hit
46 Real follower
48 Draws out
50 Actress Hagen
51 Chains, in Paris
52 Central veins of leaves
56 Cuts down
59 Seagoing vessel
61 Command to a husky
62 Trapper's take
63 Lycee pupil
64 — the bullet
65 Author Gardner
66 Observation post
67 African village

DOWN
1 Cntbotzas sharpy
2 Component
3 Fulton's Clermont et al
4 Miss Piggy's passion
5 Moat prudent
6 Harem rooms
7 "My Name is Asher —"
8 Feind
9 Victoria —
10 Coming to rest
11 Venetuelan mining town
12 Glacial snow
13 Bridge seat
19 Actor's line
21 Chlose
25 Dancer George de la —
26 Public warehouse
27 Hot compress
28 Part of the skyline
29 Hardtack
30 Dutch —
33 Cheer, in Oviedo
35 Name in early cars
37 Load to capacity
39 Thief
42 — America
44 Schubert song
47 Scratch pad
49 Bits
52 Act sullenly
53 Bakery employee
54 Secluded spot
55 Sight in the country
56 Yves' dream
57 Como —?
58 Cast off
60 Part of NYC

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

T	A	M	E	S		C	H	O	P		A	R	I	D
A	B	A	F	T		H	A	I	R		L	I	O	N	E
M	O	N	T	E	C	A	R	L	O		C	A	A	N
I	N	I		R	O	P	E		G	I	R	A	S	S	Y
L	E	A	S	E	R	S		G	R	U	N	T
			I	O	N		S	T	A	R		B	E	T
M	A	C	E	S		H	A	M	S	T	E	R	E	R	S
A	G	O	G	O		B	E	A	R	S		A	E	A	P
G	A	M	E	P	A	R	K		R	A	C	A	T	E
T	I	S	M		O	L	L	I	O		V	I	C
			D	I	M	L	A	N		R	E	V	E	L	E	D
L	O	T	I	O	N		P	I	P	E	L	I	N	E
A	B	E	D		C	A	R	B	A	T	T	E	R	Y
T	I	R	E		L	E	V	I	L		E	R	N	I	E
H	E	S	S		B	A	M	E		R	I	V	I	E	R	A

10/24/88



©1988 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 10/24/88

Menu

Sorry,
There is no menu...

Weather

Today: Cloudy, high in the 50s. Showers likely.
Tonight: Cloudy and cold, low in the upper 30s.
Tomorrow: Rain likely, high near 60.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Matt Gerke
Copy Editor.....Yana Dlugy
Layout Technician.....Florencio Terra
Photo Technician.....Andrew Rist
Production Supervisor.....Rob Levine
Production.....Wendy Rae, Tricia, Nicole, Mike, Britt and Matt's hoping to make it to Ware before dawn.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscribtions Manager

■ men's soccer falls to B.C.

continued from page 16

"I don't really know what it was," said Martin, "when it came to crunch time we didn't dominate the game . . . we were dead."

The Eagles put UMass in a 1-0 hole after 33:12 minutes of scoreless play, as Greg Schwake took a pass from David Sullivan inside of the penalty box, and snuck the ball past Ginzburg.

McCarthy set up the play with a long distance drive across the UMass midfield, setting up a rapid fire series of quick passes that eventually found Schwake all alone in front of a surprised Ginzburg.

"We weren't marked up tightly, they were able to extend the ball quickly and we couldn't recover," explained Martin of the play.

The Minutemen had controlled the ball up to that point, and responded to the goal by turning up the pressure. With the wind at their backs in the rain-soaked first half of play, the Minutemen challenged offensively several times by playing long kicks over the heads of the B.C. defense.

UMass finally burst through to tie the score with just 3:40 ticked off the clock in the second half. Halfback Pete McEvoy forwarded the ball to Brett Anthony along the right side, who was then able to tap the ball into the goal area before the right goal post. On a play that Martin described as "sensational" Carl Hanks lunged to reach the cross, redirecting the ball off his head past goalie Mark Weinman just inside the right goalpost, to tie the score at 1-1.

UMass, which has won just once in foreign territory in six attempts (the lone win a 3-2 effort at Brown a couple of weeks back), saw its record on the season drop to 8-7, while the Eagles improved to 6-9-1. Next up, the Minutemen journey south of the border to play for "personal pride," according to Martin, against the Friars of Providence College on Wednesday. Kickoff is scheduled for 2 p.m.

The Minutemen continued to control the ball immediately following the goal, before eventually fading as the finish line came into view.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

Keith Harris, a transfer from Kansas University, displays his talents in Friday's open scrimmage at Curry Hicks Cage.

■ volleyball splits A-10 contests

continued from page 16

TU served great and used a very simple offense. Very rarely did it pass the ball across a hitter, usually it was a simple set just above the net that was being rocketed at the UMass defense. It was like Temple was saying "Nothing fancy, here's what we are going to do. Stop us if you can."

The Owls jumped out to a 6-0 lead in the first game and never looked back. They dominated the rest of the first game, all of the second and the first half of the third.

In fact, the Minutewomen didn't get their first tie until 5-5 of the third game when it seemed the momentum turned toward their favor. UMass' Barbara Meehan started to knock back the powerful TU kills and it looked like UMass was ready to make a game out of it.

But the Minutewomen let the big Mo slip away almost as fast as they had gathered it. The Owls took an 11-8 lead, with their fans hooting in appreciation, it was UMass that was knocked out of its nest as Temple closed the game for a 3-0 victory.

"I knew it. No team is going to come here and just die," Ford said.

It was Friday's game that had set the tone for the rest of the weekend— although not playing at peak efficiency, UMass used its superior talent to just coast by the younger but taller Rutgers team.

The Minutewomen were red hot in the opening minutes of the first game and were hitting with tremendous accuracy. They held leads of 3-0, 9-6, and 11-9 before putting away the Lady Knights 15-11 for the first-game victory.

The second game was where Rutgers wanted to make its stand. It lead throughout the early part of the game 8-4 before a frenzied UMass offensive attack, paced by setter Karen Ferguson (four kills) and outside hitter Nancy Sullivan (five kills), took the initiative and reeled off nine of the next eleven points for a 13-10 lead.

The score was ping-ponged back and forth until the Scarlet Knights had a game point opportunity at 15-14. UMass' Julie Smith's ace tied it at 15. A missed Rutgers kill put the Minutewomen in the lead by one before Sullivan finished off RU with a kill down the right side for a two game lead.

The come-from-behind effort from UMass effectively took the wind out of the Knight's sails.

Even RU's star hitter, Elke Voigt, a multiple A-10 player-of-the-week recipiant was held by the UMass defense. Voigt was a virtual non-factor, gathering only eight kills all match.

After UMass won the third and final game Ford said "I don't think we played very well but I'm really happy we won in three."

"In the first two games I was more tense than I was in a long time," she said.

Although the final match was a disappointment for the five UMass seniors, their season at Totman has been less than disappointing. UMass has an 8-1 record at home this year, and the seniors will have a lot of memories to look back at.

"It was fun and I'm glad I did it," UMass' Ann Marie Larese said.

Meehan said "It really hasn't hit me yet, but it's been real interesting."

■ field hockey takes two

continued from page 16

Junior Kathy DeAngelis probably responded as well as anyone else to the challenge. DeAngelis netted all three of the Minutewomen's goals to raise her season total to 10.

The defense also responded by shutting down Penn State completely in the first half, not allowing Penn State one shot and only seven, most of which were weak shots in the second half.

By comparison UMass had 17 shots in the first, many of which were excellent scoring opportunities. The Lady Lions were lucky they were not down 5-0 at the half instead of 2-0.

"I think they (Penn State) were intimidated by UMass," Penn State coach Charlene Morett said. "They are a very young team."

The Lady Lions started freshman Michelle Brennan in goal. Morett has had the confidence in Brennan to start her in all 15 of Penn State's games. But today, an experienced front line was able to break Brennan.

DeAngelis broke the ice for the Minutewomen at 17:54 of the first half when Pam Bustin broke in on Brennan and hit a little squibber that DeAngelis picked up in front of an open net and knocked it home to give UMass a 1-0 lead.

At 31:26, DeAngelis got the Minutewomen an insurance goal when the officials awarded UMass a penalty stroke. DeAngelis stepped up to the ball and on the blow of the official's whistle deposited the ball into the upper left hand corner of the goal to give UMass a 2-0 lead.

The half ended with UMass in complete control, holding a 2-0 lead.

DeAngelis wasted no time in the second half in starting where she left off in the first half. At 2:13 of the second, DeAngelis picked up a loose ball in front of Brennan and tucked it home to give UMass a commanding 3-0 lead.

Penn State gave UMass a little more trouble in the remainder of the game than they had in the previous 37 minutes but it was not enough. Cox was forced to make six saves in the second half as compared to none in the first. Brennan finished off a very busy afternoon with 20 saves.

"We have to play to win every game, we can't play not to lose So I think we needed a good strong aggressive effort like we got today from everyone," Hixon said.

Stockbridge to hold hoop tryouts

The Stockbridge School of Agriculture will hold tryouts for its men's basketball team today from 4-6 p.m. at Boyden Gym, and tomorrow (7 p.m) and Wednesday (6:30 p.m.) at Curry Hicks Cage.

All candidates are asked to come prepared to play. Anyone unable to attend is asked to contact coach Jack Leaman at 228 Boyden or by calling 545-1301.

Outstanding Cooperative Education Spring Positions

--Paid Preprofessional work in your major--

General Electric Plastics, Pittsfield, MA
Resumes & transcripts due Oct 26, on-campus interviews, Oct 28.
Majors: CHEM E, ME, MBA, MKTG, with technical background

Monsato Chemical, Springfield, MA
Resumes & Transcripts due Oct 28
Majors: CHEM, BIOCHEM, CHEM E, EE, ME

On Campus Interviews!

Nov 1: New England Electric, Northampton
Majors: EE, ME
IBM E Fishkill, NY
Majors: IE
SEA Consultants, INC
Majors: CE

Nov 2: T.J. Watson Research (IBM)
Majors: SOM, MKTG, ACCTG, GBFIN, CAS, ECON

Nov 3: Keystone Financial
All Majors

Nov 15: UNISYS, WOBURN
Majors: ACCTG, MBA, GBFIN

Nov 15 Johnson & Johnson
Majors: MKTG, FOOD MTKG, COMM, CAS, ECON

For Information, call the Office for Cooperative Education, 545-2224.

LEGAL PROBLEMS?
Call LSC serving the students of UMass

Housing • Family • Student Rights • Civil Rights • Workers Rights • Criminal and Consumer Law •

We regret that we can no longer offer legal representation to students following the Trustees' August 31, 1987 decision.)

call 545-1995

Legal Services Office, University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Collegian photo by Andrew Rist

Beth Roundtree and the Minutewomen beat Boston College and Cornell this weekend at Boyden Field.

■ women's soccer sweeps a pair

continued from page 16

The big problem for UMass was the size of the opposing Eagles. Boston College featured a large, aggressive and surprisingly quick and skillful front line that gave the Minutewomen a headache for most of the game. The chief instigator was freshman Rachel Sheridan, a tough player who was involved in nearly every play.

She was also indirectly involved in UMass' sudden emergence. B.C. coach Susanna Kaplan elected to take Sheridan out for a breather about 10 minutes into the second half. Just over two minutes later, UMass got the gamer on a great play.

Senior Beth Roundtree took control of the ball in the center of the field and dished off to the right to Szetela, who drove down the sideline. With a great inside move, Szetela served into the box to a waiting Michelle Powers, who easily headed it past goalkeeper Diane Cordano for a 1-0 lead.

"Sarah's serve made the goal. It was a great header, but that serve was a piece of work," Rudy said.

The lead grew to 2-0 with about 25 minutes left as Powers dumped the ball ahead to a streaking Cathy Cassady, who slid and chipped the ball over a fallen Cordano and into the net.

Rudy also credited the quick offensive explosion to a change of offensive structure, going to a fourth midfielder — sophomore Kim Montgomery, in lieu of three forwards. The move opened up the defense and allowed the Minutewomen better penetration into the defensive zone. Rudy praised Montgomery for a good job in both games for her efforts.

"I wanted to shore up the midfield and mess up [B.C.'s] marking," Rudy said.

With the safe lead, Rudy once again went to the bench with about two minutes to play and the scoreboard clock off (the time is kept on the field with two minutes to play). At least that what everyone thought, but the referee continued play for close to five minutes, enough time for the Minutewomen to rub it in just a little more. Freshman Michele Woodside took a pass from Theresa Eastmond and cut in from the left side, dumping a shot over Cordano and into the net.

The official Bat time will say that Woodside's goal came with 30 seconds to play. It was her sixth goal, which combined with five assists gives her a team-high 17 points on the year.

UMass returns to action Thursday against Hartford in a 2 p.m game at Boyden.

Pats kicked by Bills, 23-20

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) — Scott Norwood kicked three field goals, including the game-winner with 13 seconds to play, as the Buffalo Bills edged the New England Patriots 23-20 yesterday.

The Bills drove 69 yards in their last possession before Norwood broke a 20-20 tie with a 33-yard field goal that boosted Buffalo's AFC East-leading record to 7-1.

The Patriots, who forced six turnovers in defeating previously-unbeaten Cincinnati last week, forced four more turnovers against the Bills but dropped to 3-5.

New England kicker Teddy Garcia, who had missed four of 13 extra point attempts entering the game, missed his fifth and also missed three field goal attempts, including one from 25 yards out in the first quarter.

Norwood, who has now converted eight consecutive field goal attempts, also hit from 35 and 30 yards.

The Bills snapped a 13-13 tie near the end of the third quarter after Garcia, who missed two field goal attempts in the first half, had his third try of the day blocked by Howard Ballard.

A 49-yard reception by Trumaine Johnson was the big play in a 75-yard drive that ended with Jim Kelly hitting tight end Pete Metzelaars for a 10-yard touchdown pass the gave Buffalo a 20-13 lead.

But the Patriots' defense helped New England get back in the game when cornerback Raymond Clayborn intercepted a Kelly pass, giving the Patriots the ball at the Buffalo 34.

A pass interference penalty in the end zone on the Bills' Dwight Drane moved the ball to the 1-yard line, and Robert Perryman crashed through the line for the touchdown that tied the score at 20.

FOR MEN ONLY

Explore Your Options for Contraception

Contraception Education Workshop

Date: Monday, October 24
Time: 7:00 pm
Place: Univ. Health Services, Rm. 302

Brought to you by the Contraception Education Program and the Peer Sexuality Educators University Health Services University of Massachusetts at Amherst

UNDOUBTEDLY Udelicious
AT THE HAMPSHIRE MALL

"WHEN WE GROW UP WE'LL BE OFF THE MEAL PLAN!"

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO • AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS • ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT • FOR SALE • FOUND • HELP WANTED • LOST • INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES • PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED • RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES • ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL • WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30):• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

MEET RON PAUL LIBERTARIAN for President Oct 26th Wed at 12:30pm Memorial Hall now you have a choice.

27th ANNUAL LAS VEGAS NIGHT Friday October 28th 7-11pm Gambling, prizes fun for all!

REPUBLICAN CLUB MEETING tonight 7:00 in Earthfoods Cafe If you have a conservative bone in your body, come to meeting.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS MEETING Monday October 24, 5:00pm in the Campus Center We're nominating the spring musical! Be there!

CRAFT CENTER IS YOUR resource. Make all kinds of crafts; pottery, silver, silkscreen, photography, etc. Free instruction.

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22 Sign up on concourse Oct 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce taxes in Massachusetts with Massprig and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-8434

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306.

APARTMENTS AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS 2 BEDROOM UNITS on 19 acres of country land. Ample off street parking and free bus service to UMass and shopping areas. Call 665-3856

AUTO FOR SALE

78 COROLLA 5 speed-reliable 30-35mpg must sell! $800/BO 545-0600 x39 Elaine

84 HONDA ACCORD LX 4dr Sedan power steering, brake, window, lock Cruise control, AC, alloy wheel, am/fm stereo 65000 miles $5150 549-0101

GREAT WINTER CAR for sale '78 Ford Gremada automatic PS PB good tires and exhaust. Runs well 650 or BO 253-5956

81 TOYOTA COROLLA New front tires, back shocks, exhaust system must sell $700 B/O Kristin 568-4624

VW RABBIT Green Great condition runs smooth ,great buy at $850 Please call 253-9243

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 speed cark grey new tires, rims runs very well $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184

1981 PORSCHE, 50k miles, grey, sunroof must see. 17250. or best offer Call 665-7221. Deb

1975 FORD GRANADA, good running condition cheap 584-4709.

81 TOYOTA COROLLA excellent condition, low mileage, am/fm case , air, 5 spd 256-0969 evenings.

1978 MUSTANG COUPE, Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires $2,500. Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen.

CAMPUS REPS NEEDED

EARN BIG COMMISSIONS and free trips by selling Nassau/Paradise Island, Cancun, Mexico and Ski trips to Vermont and Colorado. For more information call toll free 1-800-231-0113 or in Conn 203-967-3330

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE- Over 700 CDs Great Sound! All occasions 549-1421.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Disc-jockeys and large screen video dances. Dorms/organizations 256-8526.

FOR SALE

HOT DOG STAND!!!
In town business
Good experience-great money!!!
For more details contact
Dave or Brad 549-1594.

APPLE 11C with color monitor ,2 drives, awesome Imagewriter II color printer (240 cps), $1000's worth of programs and many extras! Must sell, $895 or BO. Call Lee at 546-4813.

BARGAIN CLASSICS 68 Camaro reliable looks good $1500 also leather swivel easy chair $100 John 549-1256 11am-6pm.

10 SPEED BICYCLE for sale $100 545-3500 weekdays Ask for Brian

AMP ROLAND JC120 100w $400 firm Great condition 584-9955 Ask for Bill

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket Call David 1-566-8212

PIONEER DUAL STEREO cassette deck $100 call Laura at 6-8021

FOUND

ONE SILVER AND TURQUOISE earring near Morrill Science Center. Call 546-6321.

FOUND: BLACK KITTEN. I've had it for a week-but can't keep it-litter-trained. Looking for responsible owner. Willing to give away-free. Call Paul at 549-9781

IN CAMPUS CENTER on 10/13 a gold initial charm if yours call 546-6583.

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget. Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hemelin Furniture 1 Short St. Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin. We deliver.

GO-GETTERS ONLY

EARN FROM $8000 to $15000 next summer. 508-543-3706 Leave message.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY

PAUL L MARC-AURELE. You are my lover you're my best friend. I love you. I know we have many more to come. Honestly Donna.

HELP WANTED

SPRING BREAK TOUR PROMOTER-escort. Energetic person (M/F) to take sign-ups for our Florida tours. We furnish all materials for a successful promotion. Good pay and fun. Call Campus Marketing at 1-800-777-2270.

MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN a big way. Keep teens out of our water! Earn approx $50/day with MASSPRIG Call Chris 256-8434.

RUN SUMMER BUSINESS. Gain veluable experience. Average pay $7000. Information Session tomorrow Room 168-170 Campus Center 2:30-5:30

DISHWASHERS. Part time, flexible hours, some days and early evening shifts. Starting pay up to 6.00 per hour. Apply in person Season's Restaurant, Rt 9, Belchertown Road, Amherst

HOST/HOSTESS Part time/flexible hours/good starting pay. Apply in person, Season's Restaurant, Rt 9, Belchertown Road, Amherst

COUNTER HELP AND delivery persons (need your own car) nights and weekend 253-9752

GREENPEACE: WORK TO PRESERVE OUR EARTH The destruction of our environment is not an acceptable industry practice. Work now to stop toxic contamination, preserve our oceans and its wildlife and stop nuclear weapons testing. Select your own days to work Mon-Sun 2pm-10pm. Call 256-1439

EXPERIENCED JEWELRY INSTRUCTOR wanted for spring semester. Student Union Craft Center. Call Anne 545-2096.

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865.

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

SPRING 1989 INTERNSHIPS with the Legal Services Center. Get hands-on experience in the legal field--work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in legal profession necessary--Training provided. Deadline to begin application process is NOVEMBER 7--Contact Legal Services today, 545-1995, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

SEIKO WATCH Reward Call Susan 545-2741

I LOST MY KEYS They're on a "big" key ring. If found please call 549-0729

LOST A WALLET WITH Alien card and social security number. If found please call Tri 549-8187 Reward $100.

LOST MASS LIQUOR ID Sheron Levy If found please call 253-9916 monetary reward.

LOST RINGS - 2 gold rings/one coral/one turquoise/one silver/one shell. If found please please call 253-9916. Reward!

MOTORCYCLES

1981 KAWASKI KD on/off only 800 miles $500 Call Chris 546-8183.

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD. Helmet, cover shield $850. Joe 549-7423 Evenings.

PERSONALS

ELISE DANICO FRO Dickinson. Happy birthday, sorry you can't vote. Love, Jesus.

DESPERATELY SEEKING Matthew Broderick look alike. Holly Hunter.

TED BARRETT- Admire you lots! Last home game-behind you, on sidelines, in black and turquoise. Wanna meet you. Reply here - Blue Eyes.

BLACK DOG GRAPHICS Halloween T-shirt sale- 100 percent cotton, only $6.99 sign-up to win Christmas Raffle-free halloween candy on the campus concourse Wed. Thurs or Fri.

HEY BRENDA, it's your party and you can cry if you wnat to, but you'll still turn 20. Sit back and enjoy it. We'll do dinner tonight. Love always, Scott

¢¢¢

Mistakes costly as UM falls to Delaware

continued from page 1

UMass 42 to give the Minutemen the ball in good position.

UMass brought the ball to the Delaware 7. On second and 2, a mix-up between Palazzi and center Al Pogarian resulted in a fumble and the Hens took over at the 5.

"The ball just got under me," Palazzi said.

The UMass defense held, but Delaware's defense did the same, and quarterback Dave Sierer led a drive that brought the Hens to the UMass 15, where O'Brien kicked the winning points.

It was one of the few times the Hens were able to drive the ball against the UMass defense. Led by sophomore linebacker Matt Tulley, who had 9 tackles, 4 for losses, and 3 sacks, the defense contained Sierer and his teammates. Tulley's performance earned him Yankee Conference Rookie-of-the-Week honors.

George Karelas added 16 tackles and John McKeown had 13.

"We owned them," McKeown said. "They were not the Delaware team we're used to playing. We beat ourselves today. We were not outplayed, outhit, or anything."

The defense provided the Minutemen's points, when sophomore cornerback Jerome Bledsoe stepped in front of a Sierer pass at the 17-yard line and returned it for a touchdown with 12:19 left in the first quarter.

The UMass offense was conservative and ineffective. Palazzi was 8-of-13 for 127 yards and an interception. Tailback Kevin Smellie was the leading rusher with 71 yards.

The Delaware offense had a tough time against the UMass defense. Sierer was 19-of-27 for 249 yards and 2 interceptions, and fullback Tim Healy was the leading rusher with 45 yards.

Aside from the touchdown, the UMass defense's biggest contribution came in the closing seconds of the first half. Delaware drove to the UMass 5, and a pass interference call on Pat Doran gave the Hens a first-and-goal on the UMass 2.

Linebacker Drew Comeau nailed Sierer for a 3-yard loss before the quarterback threw two incomplete passes. On 4th-and-goal from the 5, instead of trying a field goal, Delaware tried for the touchdown and ran an option to the left. Tulley caught Randy Holmes for a loss, and UMass went into halftime with a 7-0 lead.

"We went for the touchdown because we had a super plan that couldn't miss," Delaware head coach Harold "Tubby" Raymond said. "As it turned out, it did miss.

"The UMass defense played very well. I was surprised at the numbers they'd given up. It's still hard to believe how they've done it."

The defense certainly couldn't be faulted Saturday.

"It was definitely the best four quarters this defense has played," Cullen said.

"I have no regrets, except that we lost," McKeown said. "If you asked them if they want to play another quarter with us. I'll bet they wouldn't. The difference is they win the close ones and we don't."

But it is a difference that separates the first team from the third team in the conference. And a reality that the Minutemen will have a long week to think about.

SPORTS

Two more for field hockey

Collegian photo by Andrew Rist

The field hockey team won a pair of games this weekend, beating Toledo and Penn State.

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

It is about two weeks until the Atlantic 10 Championships will be played at Temple University. And after yesterday's 3-0 win over Penn State, the University of Massachusetts field hockey team has established itself as the team to beat in the tournament.

The Minutewomen are now 4-0 in the A-10, atop the East Division of the A-10, and 14-1-1 overall. Penn State dropped to 3-1 in the conference and still leads the West Division of the A-10. UMass is the only team in the conference that is undefeated in conference play.

This game wraps up UMass A-10 regular season schedule for the year. The Minutewomen will undoubtedly be awarded the No. 1 seed in the A-10 Championships which will be held the weekend of Nov. 5.

Penn State on paper, appeared to be one of UMass' tougher opponents of the season. They were ranked No. 11 in the country by the NCAA. Their record was 10-3-1 coming into the game.

But UMass rolled over the Lady Lions as they have over every other Atlantic 10 team. The smallest margin of victory for the Minutewomen over an A-10 rival has been three goals.

The Lady Lions were well rested for this game, their game with the University of New Hampshire having been cancelled because of the weather at UNH. UMass was not as well rested as Penn State. The Minutewomen played the University of Toledo on Saturday, and though they turned in a lackluster performance, still came away with a 4-1 victory.

"We did not play well," UMass coach Pam Hixon said. "I was very concerned after that performance yesterday, how we would play today and think they responded very well to the challenge.

continued on page 14

Minutewomen stop B.C. and Cornell

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's soccer team quietly qualified for the NCAA playoffs this weekend while taking a pair of games at Boyden Field.

The Minutewomen, by virtue of its 3-0 win over Boston College on Friday, captured the New England Regional Championship and the automatic tournament bid that comes in the package. For good measure, UMass went out and beat Cornell University, 1-0 yesterday afternoon.

The two wins boosted the team's record to 13-1-1 on the season. But neither came particularly easy against teams that were both ranked in the Top 20 in the nation coming into the weekend.

Yesterday, the Minutewomen got a late first half goal from sophomore back Sue Gaudette and then rode the efforts of the defense (11 shutouts in 15 games) against a pesky Big Red team.

"They were a tough team," UMass coach Jim Rudy said of Cornell. "I'm looking forward to playing them again."

The Big Red clung tightly to the country's number two team for the most part. Both teams had their share of chances that went astray, though UMass could be given the edge in that department.

But Cornell had the biggest chance for naught. Off a corner from the left side, the ball was loose in a goal crease scramble. A Cornell player got off a shot headed for the right side, with UMass goalkeeper Carla DeSantis out of position, but junior back Sarah Szetela made a great heads-up block to keep the Red off the board.

Finally, at 28:15, UMass got the goal it would need. Gaudette took a pass from freshman Tracy Arwood and drove down the right side. Losing control momentarily, she drove toward the crease and got off a shot that eluded goalkeeper Melissa Gambrell and slipped into the left side of the net.

After that, the offenses were pretty quiet, though UMass had to survive a flurry of four corner kicks early in the second half to preserve the shutout. With 10 minutes to play, despite being up by just one, Rudy gave his bench crew some action, and the reserves put in some quality time to finish off the game.

"At times we played good," Rudy said. "We didn't play great, but it's a win."

Friday's game was no picnic either, though the score may indicate otherwise. The Minutewomen weren't able to get on the board until midway through the second half, before putting on an offensive barrage to salt it away.

continued on page 15

Volleyball splits A-10 matches

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

It was a crazy weekend for the University of Massachusetts volleyball team: they creamed a team and got creamed, the Atlantic 10 rankings went bananas, and its hard to picture two nuttier games. . . sounds like all the ingredients for a split.

In the final at-home weekend for five of UMass' seniors, the Minutewomen slipped by Rutgers University 15-11, 17-15, 15-7 on Friday night, but couldn't complete the sweep only 15 hours later, losing to Temple University 15-9, 15-8, 15-12.

The irony was only two weeks ago it was Rutgers that slammed Temple three games to none.

"I said it last week, I thought Temple was a better team than Rutgers. I think what happened was the improvement of Temple," UMass coach Carol Ford said.

The split in the Atlantic 10 matches puts Massachusetts in a very precarious position. Before the weekend, UMass was third in the conference, Rutgers was fifth, and Temple was seventh—just hanging on thread of hope for post-season play. Now the picture is completely blurred.

"It'll [the losses] mess up the rankings. It guarantees Temple is going to go in [the A-10 tournament]," Ford said.

Although Temple didn't have one senior on its entire team, it was the Owls that played like a more veteran team than UMass. They played with poise that is usually uncharacteristic of a young team, turning back every possible UMass threat.

The Owls took advantage of every opportunity presented to them, including the sluggishness of the UMass team.

continued on page 14

Boston College slips past men's soccer, 2-1

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

On the road against Boston College in Saturday's monsoon, the University of Massachusetts men's soccer team's Achilles heel was left raw. The Minutemen again ran out of gas on the road — battling back to tie the game early in the second half before yielding to a late B.C. scoring rush that propelled the Eagles to a 2-1 victory. "We scored the goal we had to score to tie the game . . . then we slowly let it slip away," said assistant coach John Martin. "The last 15 minutes was all them, we were just kind of hanging on."

The UMass defense held its ground until, with 2:38 left to play, B.C.'s Andy Sage took a feed from Brett McCarthy and knocked the game winner past goaltender Sam Ginzburg. The goal capped a furious offensive flurry for the Eagles, who dominated the late stages of play, and left the Minutemen once again wondering where to turn for answers.

continued on page 14

'New' Minutemen showcased in open intrasquad scrimmage

The University of Massachusetts held its first open practice of the season Friday and about 200 students were on hand to judge for themselves how good the 1988-89 Minutemen will be.

"I was real happy [with the turnout]," UMass first-year coach John Calipari said. "They [the students] more or less showed their support for our players."

Although none of the coaches could comment on the matter, a seven-foot high school recruit, Randy Hagerdon, of Warwick, N.Y. was being courted by the UMass coaching staff Friday. Hagerdon reportedly has narrowed his choice of schools down to two: UMass and Boston College.

The practice, which began at 5 p.m., showcased talent both young and old for the Minutemen.

It was also a chance for UMass fans to get their first look at Calipari's three new recruits: freshmen Jimmy McCoy and Anton Brown, and junior transfer Keith Harris (not eligble to play this year).

Most of the practice consisted of an intrasquad scrimmage in which showed UMass intends to pick up the pace of this year's offense under Calipari.

"All I know is we are going to run the ball up and down the court and play exciting basketball," Calipari said.

—RONN GARRY

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 34

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1988

INSIDE

- Link up against racism. Page 3.
- Derek Leif previews the Smithereens. Page 6.
- Boyden Field's Superwomen. Page 12.

Vote on Farrakhan in question

By PETER LUCHT
Collegian Staff

The Oct. 11 vote by the Distinguished Visitors Program to bring Minister Louis Farrakhan to the University in the spring has been deemed invalid because of constitutional violations, according to Margaret Arsenault, the DVP program advisor from the Student Activities Office.

The decision to declare the vote invalid stipulated what violations of the DVP and Student Government Association constitutions had taken place.

"As it stands now, no contract will be signed and no paperwork forwarded until the issue is cleared up. It would not be fair to any member," Arsenault said.

The DVP committee met at 6 last night in room 904 Campus Center, but confusion and argument brought on by a seeming lack of knowledge of parliamentary procedure by some committee members resulted in the meeting being adjourned before a clear consensus on the problem could be reached.

The DVP constitution says graduate students may not vote in committee meetings, and the co-chairs, Patrick Berkley and Daniela D'Appolito, allege a graduate student did in fact vote. The co-chairs also claim a clause that limits the amount of money that may be spent on outside proposals prohibits DVP from sponsoring this event.

The SGA Constitution states continuing education students enjoy the same rights as other students if they pay the Student Activities Trust Fund. The co-chairs say Charles Sheffield, a Continuing Education student, did not pay into the SATF but voted on the decision to bring Farrakhan to campus. They also cited a conflict of interest by DVP members who are also members of the proposing group, Phi Beta Sigma fraternity.

Berkley, said, "The vote wasn't a legal vote. We weren't ready to make the decision at the last meeting. In order for any group to bring him it would be at great expense. Issues aside it would be financially exhaustive."

Anthony Gee, a member of Phi Beta Sigma and DVP said, "Until a motion is repealed, it stands. The commitment to Louis Farrakhan stands."

Collegian photo by Dondi Abearn

PUNK CADILLAC — Mark Millev looks over an early model Mercedes Benz for sale Saturday afternoon in downtown Amherst.

Pregnant teens in Massachusetts face tough choices

State abortion law counterproductive

By SHARON WILKEY
Collegian Correspondent

NORTHAMPTON — A Massachusetts law designed to protect the best interests of pregnant minors is instead further traumatizing them and ultimately proving ineffective, according to local experts.

The statute, enacted in April 1981, requires girls 17 and under who are seeking an abortion to first obtain either their parents permission or a Superior Court judge's authorization.

Massachusetts is the only state in New England demanding parental or judicial consent for minors seeking abortions. As a result, many teenagers travel to nearby states rather than comply with the law.

According to the Connecticut State Department of Health's Community Health Division, 282 Massachusetts residents received abortions in Connecticut clinics in 1986. An additional 226 abortions were performed on women who did not report their residence.

Colleen Currie, a Northampton attorney who represents pregnant minors during court hearings, called the mandate "outrageous."

Many teenagers do not have the cars, money or the sophistication to leave the state, and must seek authorization through the courts, Currie said.

"It puts an additional pressure on a minor when she's already going through the toughest thing she's ever been through, the toughest thing she'll probably ever go through," she said.

Ellen Story, associate director of The Family Planning Council of Western Massachusetts in Northampton, said the law is in no way fostering communication between parents and their daughters.

Most pregnant teens are terrified, Story said. All of the rules are so overwhelming that minors put off making any decisions. "Some wait so long they don't have any choices left," she said.

Sometimes, Story said, it is simply not safe for a girl to tell both parents she wants an abortion. These girls may be in an incestuous situation, or may be kicked out of their homes if they share their secret, she said.

"Girls who feel they can talk to their parents will," Story said, "Those who don't, will go to extraordinary lengths not to talk to their parents about this," she said.

If they cannot leave the state, their only

continued on page 10

Duffey faces student concerns in Q&A session

Photo by Joel Solomon

Arthur Hilson and Joseph Duffey

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

Chancellor Joseph Duffey addressed about 75 students in an open-forum style meeting held in the Cape Cod Lounge yesterday afternoon.

Students questioned the chancellor on topics ranging from painting dormitory doors to a lack of communication between students and administrators during the nearly two-hour inquiry period.

Also present to aid Duffey respond to questions were Executive Director of Public Safety Arthur Hilson and Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs Dennis Madson.

Duffey began the meeting by expressing his desire to have the University and the surrounding area respond as a region to the destruction Jamaica suffered from hurricane Gilbert and his high expectations for the events of Civility Week.

The two topics that came up most frequently during the forum pertained to Minister Louis Farrakhan's proposed visit and the pending sub-station in Washington Residence Hall in Southwest.

About the Distinguished Visitors Program's proposal to bring the controversial black speaker to campus, Duffey defended Farrakhan's right to express his views.

"I feel this campus is prepared to listen to any point of view and debate the value of the speaker though the exchange of ideas," he said.

The chancellor scarcely had time to breath between his last response and the next question as there were many students who wished to be recognized and heard.

Hilson was called upon to defend his sub-station idea which is still drawing criticism from the residents in Washington tower and other students who fear a "police state."

Both Hilson and Duffey said, contrary to what most students think, the sub-station is not there to harrass or intrude on students, but to help. Both administrators said it is important to give the station a fair trial before jumping to conclusions.

"Rumors tend to run this University," Duffey said, "If you listen to the rumors I encourage you to follow them up to substantiate or dispel them."

He also said he hoped the meeting would allow some of those rumors to be put to rest.

Duffey took notes throughout the meeting about various problems such as poor heating in dormitories, leaking bathrooms, and classroom distractions from construction. He promised to have answers by the end of the week.

WORLD/NATION

Shiite Moslem extremists repeat demands for release of hostages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Shiite Moslem extremists holding US hostages repeated their long-standing demands for the Americans' release in a new statement, threatening reprisals if the demands are not met.

The message Sunday was the second threatening statement in three days form the pro-Iranian Islamic Jihad, which holds American journalists Terry Anderson and educator Thomas Sutherland.

The three-page typewritten Arabic statement was delivered to the independent newspaper An-Nahar. A color photograph of Anderson was delivered later to a Western news agency in Beirut - the kidnappers' normal method of authenticating statements.

The picture showed Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent for the Associated Press, with a bushy beard and mustache. He wore a T-shirt and looked straight into the camera. It was similar to photographs of Anderson released April 10, 1987 and on Friday.

The statement demanded:

"A - Release of all our mujahedeen (holy warriors) from all Arab and foreign jails.'

"B - Release of all Lebanese and Palestinian Mujahedeen from Israeli jails in the occupied lands and its surrogates in south Lebanon's border enclave and (Christian) east Beriut.

"C - Withdrawal of all Israeli forces and their surrogates form south Lebanon without any conditions.

"D - Non-intervention in Lebanese domestic affairs and the discontinuation of support for partitionist and sectarian forces in Lebanon.

"E - Reconstruction of south Lebanon and Beirut. And payment of war reparations to all our oppressed people in Lebanon."

"In case of failure to meet these demands and continued support of Israel's aggression against our people the United States will pay the price very soon. This price will reflect adversely on the fate of the hostages we hold," it said.

AP photo

ARAB CONFERENCE — Iraqi President Hussein (center) greeted Egyptian President Mubarak(L) and PLO Chairman Arafat in Baghdad yesterday for talks on Middle East peace.

Kraft Inc. rejects takeover offer

GLENVIEW, Ill., (AP) — Kraft Inc. stepped up the bidding for its future by rejecting an $11 billion takeover offer from Phillip Morris Cos. and proposing to borrow billions to boost the value of its stock to more than $13 billion.

The food maker's recapitalization plan entails a one-time distribution of cash and securities to shareholders designed to boost the value of its stock to $110 a share or $13.59 billion, said chairman and chief executive John M. Richman.

That would exceed the $90-a-share cash offer made a week ago by Philip Morris, the cigarette, food and beer giant. A merger of the two companies would produce the world's largest maker of consumer products.

"We should take action to maximize shareholder value rather than accept an inadequate offer." Richman said in a statement Sunday. "We strongly believe the $90 takeover bid (by Philip Morris) ... undervalues Kraft."

In addition to taking on a huge debt load, Kraft's plan would require the sale of some of its businesses.

Philip Morris spokesman Tom Ricke, reached by telephone in New York late Sunday, said he could not comment immediately on Kraft's move.

But the company has a large amount of cash on hand plus big borrowing capabilities to answer Kraft with a higher bid.

Richman left open the possibility that the board could accept another bid.

We're a bit hard to find but well worth the trip!

TACO VILLA

MEXICAN RESTAURANTS

BOLTWOOD WALK, BEHIND BENETTON—DOWNTOWN AMHERST

BEER AND WINE SERVED

THIS AD WORTH 50¢ ANY OF OUR 6 COMBINATION PLATTERS...

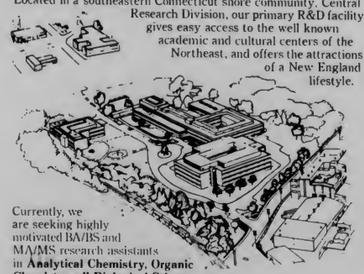
Expires Nov 6

Moving science forward at Pfizer.

The field of pharmaceuticals and healthcare is more rewarding than ever as new products create a healthier world population. As one of the leaders in this dynamic industry, Pfizer Inc., a Fortune 100 company, is committed to continuing its remarkable growth.

In bringing science to life, our international, research-based company uses advanced techniques to generate new products, new areas of revenue and career opportunities that self-directed, talented people will find stimulating and rewarding.

Located in a southeastern Connecticut shore community, Central Research Division, our primary R&D facility, gives easy access to the well known academic and cultural centers of the Northeast, and offers the attractions of a New England lifestyle.



Currently, we are seeking highly motivated BA/BS and MA/MS research assistants in Analytical Chemistry, Organic Chemistry, all Biological Sciences and Pharmacy. These positions require a strong theoretical background and relevant laboratory experience.

We offer competitive salaries and a full range of benefits including health and dental care, paid holidays and vacations, educational assistance, savings and investment plan, pension plan, relocation assistance and more.

To learn how you can be part of the future of Pfizer, stop by your Career Placement Office for our on-campus recruiting dates. Or send your resume to: Manager of Employment, Pfizer Central Research, Eastern Point Road, Groton, CT 06340.

Pfizer

An equal opportunity employer

BECKS

$1.50

EVERY NIGHT

Raffles • T-Shirts • Give Aways TONIGHT

The Spoke

35 East Pleasant St, Amherst

Propet I.D. required

LOCAL

Collegian photo by Dondi Abears

NUCLEAR DESTRUCTION — Amherst residents protest nuclear weapons Saturday afternoon on Amherst Common Saturday.

Man attacked, robbed in parking lot

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

A student reported Sunday his electric guitar and amplifier worth a total of $500 had been stolen from his room in Coolidge Residence Hall.

In other reports:

- A man returning to his car in lot 64 Saturday night was struck from behind by unknown assailants, assaulted and robbed. His vehicle also received damage from a kick. The victim was treated at University Health Services for numerous injuries he sustained.
- A leather jacket and sum of cash worth $254 was reported stolen Wednesday from a locker in Totman Gymnaisium.
- An American flag was reported stolen Friday from a flagpole at Furcolo Hall.
- A student reported his ski-jacket worth $100 stolen from Old Chapel Friday.
- A wallet containing $191 was stolen from a coach's locker in Boyden gymnaisium Friday.
- A 19-year-old Baker Residence Hall man was arrested Friday and charged with being a minor carrying alcohol.
- An 18-year-old Dedham man was arrested Friday and charged with being a minor in possession of alcohol.
- A student of Cance Residence Hall reported Saturday his portable car stereo worth $300 had been stolen from his room.
- A 19-year-old Kennedy Residence Hall man was arrested on Saturday and charged with being a minor in possession of alcohol.

Communist to offer insights on election

Will speak on economics and unemployment in Civility Day event

By JOHN SWANSON
Collegian Staff

James Steele, the national legislative and political director of the Communist Party USA, will be offering a "very special perspective" on the 1988 presidential election, according to the chairperson of the University of Massachusetts Young Communist League.

Chairperson Steve Duplisea said because Steele is black and outside the two-party system, he is able to offer insight on the issues not being addressed by either party. Steele will be "reflecting" on such issues as unemployment and the economy, Duplisea said.

"He will still give a positive urgence to the people to get out and vote," he said.

Steele will speak tonight in room 163 Campus Center at 7. His speech is entitled "Unity and Equality: What Do The '88 Elections Hold?"

Steele was national chairman of the Young Workers' Liberation League from 1976 to 1983. When the organization became the Young Communist League in 1983, Steele was the league's first chairperson. In 1985, he was appointed to the National Board of the Communist Party.

The speech, which is sponsored by the UMass chapter of the Young Communist League, is part of the Civility Day activities.

Collegian file photo

James Steele

For Your Information

The FYI section is a public service announcement to the campus and community. Space is limited, so the Collegian cannot guarantee that all submissions will be published.

Meeting

There is a meeting scheduled for today for all people who would like to help organize for "Hands Across UMass — Against Racism." The meeting is at 5 p.m. in room 163 of the Campus Center. Organizers need more than 100 people to help set up the human chain, give out materials, provide security, and speak. All students and UMass community members are welcome to attend.

Lecture

As part of Civility Week, Lynora Williams is scheduled to speak about racist violence in the United States and how to fight it. The speech is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

Lecture

Former US Ambassador to Egypt Hermann Frederick Eilts will deliver a lecture at 4 p.m. tomorrow in room 174-176 of the Campus Center. The lecture is titled, "American Foreign Policy Since Camp David: An Overview."

Interviews

Interviews for all students seeking admission to Early Childhood Education will be held this week. Applications, which must be completed before an interview, may be obtained in room 354 of Hills South. Directions for interviews are available in the same office. Students who fail to complete the application and interview will not be considered for admission in January.

Lecture

The Politics and Race: Election Year — Reflections on Life in the United States lecture series continues at 4:30 today in room 10 of Seelye Hall at Smith College. Warren Furutani, a member of the Los Angeles School Board, is scheduled to speak today.

Meeting

A meeting for all students interested in participating in a new organization recruiting, organizing, and supporting student volunteers and community acitivism will be held from 7 to 8:30 tonight in the Center for Social Issues in Moore Residence Hall in Southwest Residential Area. For futrher information, call Britt at 253-2307 or 545-0472.

Meeting

A meeting of the Western Massachusetts Regional Advisory Committe of the Massachusetts Developmental Disabilities Council is scheduled from 7 to 9 tonight at the Unitarian Church at 220 Main Street in Northampton. The topic will be family support services.

Exam schedules

The Fall 1988 Final Examination Schedule will be available beginning Friday. Copies will be delivered to students in the residence halls and will be distributed to off-campus students only in the first floor lobby of Whitmore from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday.

Contest

The 16th Annual Halloween Window Painting Contest is scheduled for Saturday. All children between the ages of 5 an 18 are invited to participate in the event, which features the decorating of merchants windows in downtown Amherst.

To enter, pick up an application in any school office or the Leisure Services and Supplemental Education Office located at 446 Main Street no later than 4:30 p.m. Wednesday. Applications will be accepted on a first come, first serve basis until all available window spaces are filled. Participants will be notified of window assigments by Oct. 26.

There is no entry fee, although participants must supply their own painting materials.

Organizers plan to link thousands of "Hands"

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

More than a 1,000 students, staff, and faculty are expected to participate in "Hands Across UMass - Against Racism" on Civility Day Thursday, culminating the week's activities.

The event will follow a noon rally on the steps of the Student Union Building. At 1 p.m. the rally participants will go to the Campus Pond and start to form the human chain that is supposed to stretch from Sylvan to Southwest Residential areas.

At 1:30, the bells of the University Chapel will chime the melodies to "We Shall Overcome," "Reach Out and Touch Somebody's Hand," and "Lift Every Voice and Sing." Speakers are planned to line the route of the chain.

Letters have been sent to professors conducting one o'clock classes Thursday urging them to bring their classes to participate in the chain and to resident assistants asking them to bring students from their floors, said Jason Rabinowitz, Student Government Association co-president-elect and an organizer of the event.

Chancellor Joseph Duffey said although he supports the event, he is not going to ask professors to bring their classes because participation in the event is completely up to the individual professor and students.

"All events of Civility Week are completely voluntary," Duffey said. "These events wouldn't be effective if that was not the case. People should feel free to participate in them or not."

Duffey said he was not sure whether he will participate. "I don't know where I'm going to be. If I'm here, then I'm probably going to participate," he said.

Rabinowitz said "hundreds of Physical Plant workers are coming," most likely as a reaction to the recent racially derogatory broadcast made by a plant worker over the division's radio frequency.

"This is a big event," Rabinowitz said. "Perhaps the biggest of the whole year."

Staff persons from Whitmore Administration Building will also participate in the event, Rabinowitz said.

Lori Edmonds, also an organizer and president of Afrik-Am Society, came up with the idea of Hands Across UMass about a month ago at a Civility Week meeting.

"Why don't we show how really unified we can be and unify as a whole," she said. "It will show how far UMass has really come."

Both Rabinowitz and Edmonds were hopeful about the event being successful. "Our goal is to have as many as 2,000 people involved," Rabinowitz said. Edmonds retorted, "I'm hoping to get 5,000, forget 2,000!"

They said the response they have gotten to the idea has been very positive and as long as people are aware of it, they will participate.

An organizational and staff meeting for the event, to which all interested students are invited, will take place at 5 p.m. tonight in room 163 of the Campus Center.

O'Neale to speak tonight

Dr. Sondra O'Neale will speak on "Institutional Racism and the Decline of America," at 8 p.m. tonight in room 168 of the Campus Center.

Her visit to the campus is sponsored by the Third World Caucus and the Radical Student Union.

Adam Stein, business manager of the Third World Caucus, said O'Neale's lecture will focus on "hidden" racism in the United States' education system.

"She has seen it," Stein said. "She can relate her experiences and point it out."

The fundamentals of life

Civility and diversity

Welcome to Civility Week, a time planned to demonstrate the cultural, racial and political diversity that exists at the University of Massachusetts, and to help students to accept it. It has everything from a group equating animal rights with racial equality to a scholarly discussion of the linguistics of Afro-American English.

Rusty Denton

Whether your bag is music, politics, film or administration, there is something here for you. The conservative factions at UMass don't seem to have organized any educational events for this week, but they had the option. Maybe next year.

As someone on the receiving end of a good deal of public rudeness, I have my own thoughts about what civility is and isn't. Civility is showing respect and courtesy to someone whose appearance, habits or thinking are different from yours. It's a lot like adjusting to marriage, in fact.

Civility isn't assuming someone is a jerk just because their views and style are on the opposite end of the spectrum from yours. Ronald Reagan and George Bush excepted, I have probably as much hate mail at UMass as anybody, but I find that in person most of my critics are intelligent people who are quite charming in their own ways. Therefore, I try to limit political comments to speaking about actions and perspectives; personal insults are both degrading and a waste of time. Conversely, that means I don't take it personally when someone disagrees with me.

That's important. That lesbian you ridicule? She just may have twice your IQ. That Black Muslim who keeps to himself? He just may be headed to pharmaceutical school and earn big bucks while you're stuck in some dead-end job. That hippie hold-over with the radical politics? He may be a real renaissance man.

For the sake of civility I respect people with whom I have differences, and I hope they do the same for me. I get a little tired of critics who try to insult me by mentioning that I'm a white male. I was born that way; so what? I don't ask other people to apologize for a few jerks who happen to share the same color or gender or politics; I'm not about to whimper and wince just because someone blames white males for all the problems of the world.

Now a statement like the one I just made leads us into all sorts of controversy and — oh dear! — confrontation. People start yelling about awareness and socialization and privilege; feelings rise to the surface. I don't see anything uncivil about heated dialogue. But I've met civility educators who are horrified of controversy, confrontation and people actually saying what they feel. I have a hard time with that: as George Bernard Shaw might observe, if you can't talk about the controversial, what else is worth discussing?

As far as speaking your mind, let me point out that avoiding controversy is a particularly "white" Anglo-Saxon stuffy phenomenon. That's an unhealthy attitude. One of the differences between New Englanders and Southerners is that in the South if people don't like you for whatever reason, they'll tell you. Up here you're seldom sure who's responsible for sabotaging your opportunities. Given the choice, which is worse: frank dislike or silent sabotage?

Now this is not to say it's okay to make racist insults in elevators (or anywhere else). What I am saying is that civility is about issues, not personality. It's about listening, not just speaking. Civility is about freedom of speech coupled with freedom from harassment. I have to commend the University for taking a whole week to talk about it. Have a civil week.

Rusty Denton is a Collegian columnist

Death makes memories

"Did you know them?" "Did you know them?"

I went back to my hometown last weekend. I just graduated in June from the high school, and I wanted to see the Homecoming festivities that were scheduled.

Erik Jones

"Yeah, Matt was my best friend." "I used to date Neal."

The first thing that hits me when I get home Friday morning are the headlines: "Two Students of Local High School Killed in Non-Alcoholic Accident."

"I played on the football team with Neal."

Matt was a sophomore, Neal a senior. Neal was the one driving the car; he had just gotten his license four months ago. I didn't know Matt. I knew Neal.

"Matt sat behind me in my biology class."

They were both Explorer Scouts with the local troop. Both played football, and both earned good grades. Neal was planning to continue in college next year.

"Neal used to pump iron with me and the gang after school."

I've been lucky. My four years there were relatively death-free, except during my freshmen year when Danny was struck by another care and killed. I guess I should consider myself lucky.

"I talked to him a couple of times after school."

The school was dumbfounded, as was the entire town. Their girlfriends were down at the office the whole day, crying. People wandered around the halls in disbelief. There was no noise. None.

"We used to say 'Hi' to each other in the halls."

All of the Homecoming events were cancelled. There was no rescheduling of either the dance or the parade. On Friday night the town was motionless. McDonald's, Friendly's, and Papa Gino's were all empty. There was very little traffic.

"Yeah, my girlfriend's sister's best friend used to see him every once in a while."

"Yeah, I know him."

"Yeah, I think I knew him."

"Yeah, I ..."

On the day after someone dies, everybody knows him.

Erik Jones is a UMass student

STUDENT AFFAIRS INFORMATION SERVICES

IDB/TIPS

For Information About Health and Safety Issues Call 'TIPS' (545-1540) and request tapes by number:

2600 Basic Student Health Plan
2610 Cold Self-Care
2605 Contraception
2615 Dental Services
2625 If You Think You're Pregnant
2660 Medical Emergencies
2645 Supplemental Health Plan
2655 Problem Drinking
2622 Eye Care Program
2630 Mental Health Services

IF YOU HAVE FURTHER QUESTIONS CALL 'IDB' (545-1555)
Information Data Bank (IDB)
Taped Information Phone Service (TIPS)

Board of Governor's Program Council

presents

VOYAGER IV
The Laser Light Rock Concert

featuring music by

Pink Floyd
Led Zeppelin
The Police
and Genesis

Tickets on Sale at Tickets Unlimited Rm. 317 Student Union and at the door

Wednesday, October 26, 1988
Campus Center Auditorium
7,9,& 11 pm - Admission $4.00

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Suddenly I became an adult

This past summer, a kid strolled into the clothing store where I worked and called me "Sir." I turned around to see who he was calling.

He said it several times — "Sir, sir" — looking straight at me. The realization hit me like a punch: ME! He was talking to me. Suddenly, I was a "sir."

Some people mark off their life in years, others in events. I am one of the latter. I did not become a man at a particular year; I did when this kid called me "Sir" last summer. It was about then that I noticed a lot of kids were addressing me as "Sir" or "Mister." I am only twenty years old for crying out loud! I am still a kid, aren't I?

Scott Green

What scares me is not only do the younger kids see me as an adult, but the older kids do too. I went out with my parents for dinner recently and had a wonderful time. But when the waiter plopped the check down in the middle of the table, my father didn't reach for it. He did nothing. Conversation continued. Then it dawned on me. I was supposed to pick up the check.

After all these years, after hundreds of meals with my parents, after thinking my dad was the one with the bucks, it had changed. I whipped out my Visa card and reached for the check. With a stroke of a pen, I was suddenly an adult.

What happened to the wild times of my youth, when I could do anything I wanted with reckless abandon, when I didn't have to worry about taking responsibility for my actions?

What happened to those famous words "When I grow up, I want to be a. . ." doctor, baseball player, or an astronaut, or whatever else you wished to be? Even now, as I prepare my resume for an investment banking job, I still want to be an astronaut when I grow up.

Just last year, I never thought I would prefer to stay home and read a book instead of going to a party, but now I find myself passing parties up. I used to think that people who listened to classical music were weird, but this spring I found myself listening to it. Maybe I'll pick up a tape of Beethoven or Mendelssohn.

I never thought I'd get caught cheating on my taxes, because really knowing about taxes was for adults. I, of course, was still a kid. The auditor bought none of it. I was a taxpayer, an adult. He all but said, "Go to jail." Another milestone.

One day I made a good toast. One day I handled a head waiter. One day I bought a car. One day I'll go to my friends' weddings. One day I'll celebrate the birth of their kids, and not too long after, their kids will pick up the check.

Perhaps the most important milestone in my life was the death of a parent. With that comes the realization that one has moved up a notch. For someone who can control everything but the clock in life, this milestone is a cruel one indeed.

I am not a kid anymore. I am an adult with adult responsibilities. I must act like an adult. . .but I still want to be an astronaut.

Scott Green is a UMass student

A pen, a pen, my kingdom for a pen

Big news, small people

Every now and then I get the sudden urge to do something a little off the wall. Some dance naked in their living room, some swim in the campus pond, and me?

I buy tabloids.

I was in the supermarket last week when this headline caught my eye: "Inside: Exclusive photo of amazing MELTING WOMAN."

Sure enough, the melting woman (an Indian women who has an incurable virus) appeared on page five of the Weekly World News. I plunked down my 65 cents and took home what I hoped would be an off-the-wall look at the world in which we live.

David R. Mark

I was correct.

Then I got to page 24.

For it was on page 24 that the Weekly World News has its letters to the editor section. It was there that this headline caught my eye:

"Stop taking nasty potshots at pansies."

Hmmn, I thought, and proceeded to read the letter.

"Editors: As a gay man and also as a human rights activist, I strongly condemn your paper's recent article insulting gay people by conjuring up the spectrum of anti-gay stereotypes. Would you do the same to black, Italians, Jews, Latinos?

Whether you know it or not, persons close to you are gay. Why do you fan the flames of ignorance? How can you live with yourself? D.S. Alburquerque, New Mexico.

— We can live with ourselves just fine. We're just happy we don't have to live with fellas like you — Editors."

Now I'm an editorial editor, and occasionally I attach an editor's note to a letter. But I would never write something as blatantly irresponsible as that.

So I decided to call them to find out if they felt they were editorially responsible.

And I got nothing.

I was told by Susan Chappell, the newspaper's executive secretary, that it was the policy of the newspaper not to talk about letters to the editor (or apparently anything else) over the phone. I persisted, trying everything every newspaper person ever asked me about how to get information.

And I still got nothing.

What I did learn, however, was that I was the first person to question the editorial response. In fact, by Chappell's response, I got the feeling they didn't see anything wrong or unusual about their answer.

So there you have it. If you want to find out why a segment of our society is ignorant — why people except stereotypes and prejudices — read what they read. Elsewhere in the Weekly World News there was a story about a "fruity dad" and an article about how a researcher discovered that single women prefer relationships with married men.

In spite of all their "big" stories, the Weekly World News is apparently written by small people.

David R. Mark is editorial editor of the Collegian

The Collegian gladly accepts letters and columns from the University of Massachusetts community. All submissions should be addressed to the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, UMass. If you have any questions or comments regarding the content or editing of editorial page, feel free to call us at 545-3500. Ask for David or Pam. Thanks.

Letters

Dying child hopes for postcards

This morning I woke up with a smile. I thought of what a lovely day it was going to be. I couldn't wait for evening to fall; I was going home for the weekend to be at a friend's wedding. As I was getting ready for class, a news item on the radio caught my attention. There's a little boy who is dying of leukemia, and has one wish; to collect enough postcards to get his name into the Guinness Book of World Records. As I listened, I ran for a piece of paper to get the address down.

His name is David. Wouldn't it be nice if he could wake up with a smile and his wish come true? The make a Wish Foundation does not want money or toys, just love and postcards to give to David. Please, help fill David's room with postcards.

Send them to:
David
c/o Make a Wish Foundation
1820 Arabin Rd.
West Palm Beach, FL 33406

Kate Isabelle
Central

Hatch's former name mistaken

I am glad to have the opportunity to correct a common misunderstanding about the Hatch. Nancy Klingener states that the original name of the Hatch was the "Hatchet" ("Campus ducks get harassed" Oct. 21). This only tells half the tale, and the worse half, at that.

The original name of the Hatch was the "Hatchet and Pipe" and until very recently the crossed symbols of war and peace (similar to the arrows and olive branches held by the American Eagle) could be seen on a glass panel at the west entrance.

One wonders why the symbol of peace was removed. It would be a shame if the Campus Center management thought that students were so literal-minded that they could not conceive of the proper use of the calumet (peace pipe). Perhaps the management was so terrified by the power of tobacco (sacred, and dangerous when abused) that they have tried to shield naive students from this awful mystery.

Bring back the pipe. Remind us of the sacred power of the allies of peace.

Thomas W. Hutcheson
Amherst

ARTS/LIVING

Smithereens keep it simple with drummer Diken

By DEREK LEIF
Collegian Staff

If you go to tonight's Smithereens concert at the Fine Arts Center, expect economy and imagination; they describe Dennis Diken's drumming, and the band's musical style.

"I guess we're rock'n'roll in the purest sense," Diken said, "just a band influenced by guys like Fats Domino, Chuck Berry, The Beatles and Elvis; very energetic and melodic rock and roll."

Diken has played with the New Jersey quartet for more than eight years, providing a spare yet powerful style that backs the band without calling attention to itself.

"If you're playing rock, your job is to present a song. The main part of that song is a melody. When you play, you play to put the song across, not to showcase your own talents. Most young drummers are busy; they want to show off their stuff. I learned to economize as time went on."

Diken has been honing his talents since the age of 11, when he got his first drum set. "I had been teaching myself on coffee cans for several years before that, to get the motions right," Diken said. "Since I was four or five I wanted to play or go into radio. I was always crazy about records. There had always been a fire burning."

In 1980, Diken, along with high school buddies Mike Messaros (bass) and Jim Babjak (guitar), answered an ad placed by guitarist/lead singer Pat DiNizio. In a press release, Messaros said "The band had its own sound from the very first moment that the four of us sat down to play together. It was a chemistry between the individuals; we were coming from the same place musically."

Diken echos Messaros's sentiments. "For the most part, we have the same attitude, the same influences, and the same basic feel for music. It's a special thing, and it helps you stand the test of time. We stuck together, even though we went six years without a recording contract."

continued on page 8

The winner of the Battle of the Bands was Too Much Fun

By COSMO MACERO JR.
Collegian Staff

The 9th annual Southwest Battle of the Bands was held this past Sunday. The five-band line-up was: The Many, Clockwork, Too Much Fun, Snakes and Ladders, and Cretin. While most of the bands turned in solid performances, it was the smooth, funky rock of Too Much Fun that took the day's prize.

Attendance for the event was strong throughout the day, and members of the Southwest Area Government expressed their satisfaction with yet another successful show.

SWAG member Alex Zarganes said, "It was good that the bands were made up mostly of UMass students. We received over 30 tapes, and the bands that participated were all good."

Too Much Fun, whose demo tape received a curiously indifferent review from Boston's Beat magazine, are a frequent attraction at area clubs here as well as in the Hub. Sincere Local Vocal congratulations are in order for their victory on Sunday.

Bad Grades played the Hatch last night. Neel Viradia, perhaps the most accomplished guitarist to take the Hatch stage in the past few years, tore up the evening with an assortment of hard edged metal runs, bubbling melodic passages, and tasteful blues phrasing. The Bad Grades versions of

continued on page 8

PC CLONES
PRINTERS
SOFTWARE
ACCESSORIES
Sales • Service • Rental
DA. SOFTWARE
Software • Computers • Accessories
Pleasant Shopping Mall • 241 King Street
Northampton, MA 01060
586-3210
M-T-W & F 10-6
Thurs 10-8 • Sat 10-5

JB's Roast Beef
50 Main St., Amherst
(across from Police Station)
253-7018
HOT ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES

JB's keeps us in line!

JB's is not just another place to eat. To us, JB's is a special night out on the town. We spend hours getting ready to go there and sometimes even buy a special dress to wear. JB's roast beef sandwiches are our favorites. They're so juicey that we all wear bibs--we're tired of dry cleaning bills. We don't eat at JB's, we chow at JB's!

GREAT FOOD • GREAT PRICES • OPEN TIL 2 AM

Auto Glass Center
SAME DAY SERVICE
BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE CO.
WINDSHIELDS REPLACED
North Amherst Motors
79 Old Sunderland Rd • 549-2680
No. Amherst
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

AMHERST CINEMA
Handful of Dust
PG
2 Showings
7 & 9 p.m.
Senior Citizens & Children $2.00, Adults $3.50
DOWNTOWN AMHERST 253-5426

DVP PRESENTS:
Dr. J. Larry Brown
"Living Hungry in America"
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25th
Campus Center Auditorium
8:00pm
distinguished visitors program
FREE

College Students:
MONEY
is now available for your
EDUCATION
IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN RECEIVING
Scholarships*, Fellowships*, Grants*
YOUR ELIGIBILITY IS GUARANTEED!
regardless of financial status or academic performance.
FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL:
1-800-635-4063
A NATIONAL SERVICE COMMITTED TO HIGHER EDUCATION
*These funds DO NOT require reimbursement
ACADEMIC FINANCIAL ADVISORY PROGRAM

NUMMO

103 New Africa House, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003. (413) 546-0061
Nummo is affiliated with the Collegian for distribution purposes only. TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1988

Nummo photo by Kevin Sibley

Michelle Joseph, freshman English major enjoys Nummo while waiting for the bus on Triangle Street.

UNICEF

An eight-page brochure called"Understanding AIDS" was mailed to 107 million homes in the United States during the month of June in an educational effort to combat the fatal disease.

The mailing, which cost US$17 million was ordered by Congress, and represents the first time the federal government has tried to contact virtually evry resident in the nation regarding a public health crisis.

The brochure describes in clear, frank language how Aquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome is transmitted and how the spread can be prevented.

'Some of the issues involved in this brocure may not be things you are used to discussing openly,' Everett Koop, the Surgeon General of the United States wrote in the introductory message. 'We all must know about AIDS. Read this brochure and talk about it with those you love.'

The brochure has received laudatory comments from dozens of medical, civic and humanitarian organizatioons, but officials are sanguine about the limits of the present campaign. Additional efforts will be required to reach street addicts,homeless people and others who are unlikely to receive the brochure, and who are at risk of contracting and spreading AIDS.

For a free copy of the brochure write: Department of Health & Human ervices, Public Health Service, Centers for Disease Control, P.O. Box 6003, Rockville,MD 20850 USA.

Two principal scientist of a team whose reasearch provided the main evidence for the theory that the AIDS virus originated in Africa are now saying that their results were based on a laboratory mistake.

IN 1985 and 1986, two new AIDS-like viruses were 'discovered'- one in African green monkeys and the other in West African people.This led the science who made the discovery to reeason that the AIDS virus descended from a virus found in green monkeys perhaps via an intermediate virus among West African people.

But now, Phyllis Kanki and Max Essex of the Harvard School of Public Health have acknowledged that their discoveries were a case of mistaken identity. In Nature,a respected British science journal, the scientists say the viruses they thought they discovered do not exist-and never did. Their results were based on accidental contamination of laboratory samples.

The publication of the green monkey theory of the origin of AIDS touched off a continuing international argument in which Africans accused Western scientists of racist attiitudes by trying to lay blame for the virus on their continent.

continued on page 2

Courtesy of Jamaica Information Service

Marcus Garvey leader of the Pan- African Movement

The Caribbean and American Antecedents of Marcus Garvey

Marcus Garvey emerged from a historical setting that began to develop early in the fifteenth century. The European awakening that had started with the Crusades, had by this time led to a movement to explore and exploit large areas of the world outside Europe. For the great states of West Africa, it was a time of tragedy and decline. Europe's era of exploration and the internal strife in Africa were contributing factors to the slave trade; the slave trade, in turn, was a contributing factor to the development of the philosophy of mercantilism that would dominate political and economic thought for the next three hundred years.

The story of the African slave trade is essentially the story of the consequences of the second rise of Europe. In the years between the passing of the Roman Empire in the eighth century, and the partial unifications of Europe within the framework of the Catholic Church in the fifteenth century, Europeans were engaged mainly in internal matters. With the opening of the New World and the expulsion of the Moors from Spain during the latter part of the fifteenth century, the Europeans started to expand into the broader world. They were searching for new markets, new materials, new manpower, and new lands to exploit. The African slave trade was created to accommodate this expansion.

In the fifteenth century, using religion as an excuse, the slavers began to set up myths that nearly always read the African out of human history, beginning with the classification of the African as a lesser being. The Catholic Church's justification for slavery was that the African was being brought under the guidance of Christendom and that he would eventually receive its blessings.

There were several competing slave systems in the New World.
In order to understand the effects of these various systems on the personality of the Africans, we have to look at each one individually. In Cuba and Haiti, the Africans were often a majority population. This is also true of certain portions of Brazil. Therefore, the system operated differently in these areas, and although it was still slavery, the African had some cultural mobility.

In South America and in the Caribbean Islands, the slave masters did not outlaw the African drum, African ornamentations, African religion, or other things dear to the African, remembered from his former way of life.

In the Portuguese areas, in the Caribbean Islands and often in South America, plantation owners would buy a shipload or half a shipload of slaves. These slaves usually came from the same areas in Africa, and they naturally spoke the same language and had the same basic culture. Families, in the main, were kept together.

If a slave on an island was sold to a plantation owner at the other end of the island, he could still wail to see his relatives. This freedom permitted a form of cultural continuity among the slaves in South America, the Caribbean Islands, Cuba and Haiti that did not exist in the United States and that later made their revolts more successful that revolts in the United States.

continued on page

Amherst's own: Creswell Gallery

By Gina Sanon
NUMMO Staff

Creswell gallery located in the Amherst Carriage shops in Amherst center is a collection of third world goods of various ethnic cultures.

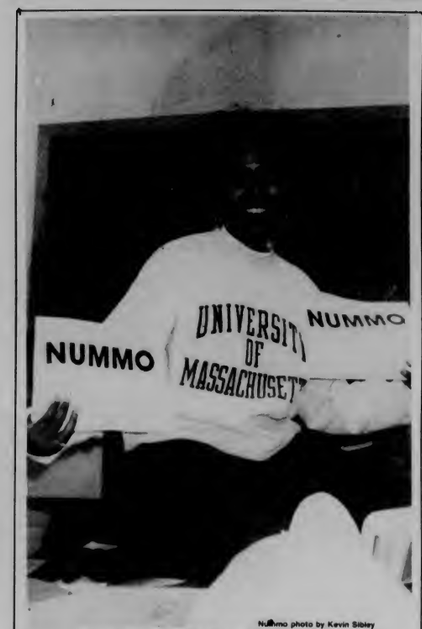
Carol Creswell, proud owner of the establishment says, "I consider the gallery a gift store rather than an ethnic museum," which is what customers say on describing the store. "I opened the gift store six years ago out of interest in the third world and the many works produced by people of color of all third world nationalites." It is a place that any person whether black or white, Indian or Chinese, out of interest can enjoy the many gift items on display. But it is also a place that a person of color can associate with because it focuses only on the third world.

In it, one can find various artworks from different countries. Like wooden carved statues from Zaire, wool tapestries from Guatamala and Mexico, African dolls, jewelry, and intruments. Also, children's games, books, unique rock collections, postcards of many famous people of color and much more are on display. The multicultural items within the store truly gives the customers a wide varierty of choices in taste.

The quality of the shop and its diversity reflects the many aspects of the third world community. Many have complimented the shop as being expressive in nature in relation to the backgrounds of people of color. Although the compliments have been good, Creswell Gallery remains to be an active shopping place for people of color. It is highly recommended that those who have not visited the gallery do so. This is definitely the place that people of color can connect with in terms of historical and contempary artifacts. As Carol Creswell states, "I hope people find my store of interest, and tell their friends that there is a store here in the pioneer valley that corresponds to the third world community alone."

Nummo Photo by Kevin Sibley

Members of Theta Chi and Kappa Alpha Psi perform community service outside Library Tower.



Nummo photo by Kevin Sibley

Wouldn't you want to be a part of this? . . . Join Nummo News.

Garvey

continued from page 1

It is no accident that Marcus Garvey had his greatest success in the United States among black Americans. There is a historical logic to this occurrence that seems to have escaped most of the interpreters of Garvey's life and this mass movement that he built. For in many ways, the scene was being prepared for Marcus Garvey for over one hundred years before he was born. There is no way to understand this without looking at the American antecedents of Marcus Garvey, that is the man, forces and movements that came before him.

Prior to the Civil War, the Caribbean contribution the the progress of African-American life was one of the main contributing factors in the fight for freedom and full citizenship in the northern United States. People from the Caribbean Islands had come to the United States during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries and the most outstanding of them saw their plight and that of the African-American as being one and the same.

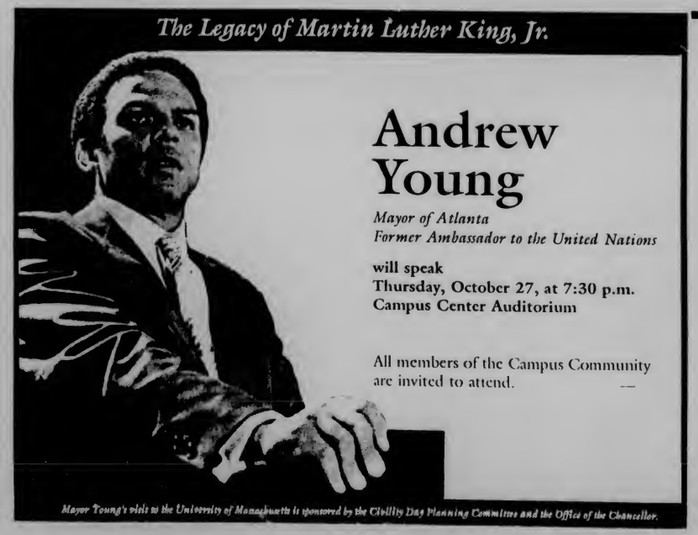
In eighteenth century America, two of the most outstanding fighters for liberty and justice were the Caribbean Islanders, Prince Hall and John B. Russwurm. When Prince Hall came to the United States, the nation was in turmoil. The colonies were ablaze with indignation. Britain, with a series of revenue acts, had stoked the fires of colonial discontent. In Virginia, Patrick Henry was speaking of liberty or death. The cry, "No Taxation Without Representation," played on the nerve-strings of the nation.

Prince Hall, immediately questioned the sincerity of the vocal white patriots of Boston. It never seemed to have occurred to them that the announced principles motivating their action made stronger argument in favor of destroying the system of slavery.

The colonists held in servitude more that a half-million human beings, some of them white; yet they engaged in the contradiction of going to war to support the theory that all men were created equal.

When Prince Hall arrived in Boston, that city was the center of the American slave trade. Most of the major leaders of the revolutionary movement, in fact, were slaveholders or investors in slave-supported businesses. Hall, like many other Americans, wondered: what did these men mean by freedom? The condition of the free black men, as Prince Hall found them, was not an enviable one. Emancipation brought neither freedom nor relief from the stigma of color. They were free in name only. They were still included in slave codes with slaves, indentured servants, and Indians. Discriminatory laws severely circumscribed their freedom of movement.

Ten years after his arrival in Boston, Massachusetts, Prince Hall was the accepted leader of the black community. In 1788 he petitioned the Massachusetts Legislature, protesting the kidnapping of free blacks. This was a time when American patriots were engaged in a constitutional struggle for freedom. They had proclaimed the inherent rights of all mankind



The Legacy of Martin Luther King, Jr.
Andrew Young
Mayor of Atlanta
Former Ambassador to the United Nations
will speak
Thursday, October 27, at 7:30 p.m.
Campus Center Auditorium
All members of the Campus Community are invited to attend.
Mayor Young's visit to the University of Massachusetts is sponsored by the Civility Day Planning Committee and the Office of the Chancellor.

AIDS Update

continued from page 1

The green monkey theory,however,is not completely dead. Three other groups of scientists-in Japan, Germany and the USA-say they have isolated an AIDS-like virus from the green monkey, but their findings have not yet been ssubjected to the review which eventually led to Kanki and Essex acknowledging their mistake.

South-North News Service reports that the sale of blood in India is a booming business, and that because hardly any of it is screened for the AIDS virus, safety of the blood supply is elusive at best.

Intense competition between private blood banks and volunteer agencies for human blood has long given incentive to impoverished Indians to sell their blood for the survival of their families and themselves. Private blood banks pay up to 25 rupees (roughly US$2) for a one pint donation.

Although it is recommended that donors give blood only once in every eight weeks, many donors do so once every few days , putting themselves and the health of those who might receive their anemic blood in danger. Because these 'professional' blood donors falsify their addresses and medical histories, it is close to impossible for clinics to check their sources thoroughly, particularly because blood is in short supply.

Neither the Red Cross Society nor private blood banks screen blood for AIDS, leaving that responsibility to the hospitals that use the blood. But as of last April, only 30 of India's government-run hoospitals screen blood for the AIDS virus.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Are you here to play or are you here to stay?

By David Moore

This article is written in the hope that it addresses individuais that gain admittance to college and aren't trying their best to excell academically. Once you are attending college you are undertaking the challenge of trying your best while studying, to get straight ºA's and commit yourself to as much study time as it takes to rank high scholastically. Many people don't yet realize that college is a place where you can grow not only mentally but also socially. It should be a place that teaches you how to think on a variety of levels and to see many sides of a story. You should never be satisfied with the version of a story that someone spoonfeeds to you. You have the knowledge to conduct your own research.

Too many students (and one is too many) fall into the trap of allowing peer pressure to dictate their lives and succumb to someone directing them that can't direct their own life. Don't let anyone but you tell you what is best for you. People that preach often times are poor examples of their own philosophy, but they will ceremoniously tell you to do what they aren't willing to do. Don't cheat yourself out of an education because you took the wrong advice and hung out with the wrong crowd.

I often wonder do we as students know or care about the sacrifices that our ancestors have made to insure a down payment that we as African Americans can have the chance to further our education. You might not appreciate the suffering and sacrifices your and my parents have made throughout their lives in hopes that one day their very own son or daughter could achieve a higher education and have a better life than they did. Whether you come from a single-parent home or double-parent home I can assure that the alternatives that your parent or parents gave up for you are much larger than substantial.

You are a part of the privileged generation that can attend college not only at a Black college, but also at a predominately white college.

You should be thankful that you no longer have to attend school and drink from the "Colored" water fountain, or be called "nigger" as you walk to and from class as if it were your own name. You can walk around campus and look whites straight in the eye, you don't have to jump off sidewalks as another student approaches.

You owe it to yourself to earn the best possible education that this institution can offer or that any institution can offer for that matter.

It doesn't matter if that institution is Harvard, Yale, Morehouse or M.I.T. You also owe it to that generation before you that gave up so that you would be able to receive.

Students, we can not afford to come to Umass and not take care of the business of obtaining a good education. We did not come here to attend the Funk-O-Thon, or Jeans & T-Shirt or other organizational happenings.

Those things should be fringe benefits not primary goals.

We are overdue to be in daily attendance at the library or some toher study area to better develop our academic pursuits. No Black student on this campus should report in for an exam and not be ready because they were out all night or all weekend at some organizational function that added to the detrimant of their academic career. I'm trying to say attend those events in moderation, not in excess.

As you concentrate on activities that will not add to your self-improvement you think of all of those that came before you that would better deserve to go here in your place. Those people stood up years ago for our right to be here today. You do not have to give up $5000-6000 yearly for a chance to throw your life away when you could have done it less expensively in your own hometown.

So after you do get accepted as a college prospect at Umass do your parents and yourself a favor and dig into your books for your entire four years or five years. Come here with the strong unyielding determination to stay and not to play!

Misnomers

Sister Wassi
Nummo Correspondent

Words have power, all of us will agree. The words we use affect our idea of the world, consciously or unconsciously.

Several phrases in common parlance here in America seem questionable to me, so let us examine them together.

What about "people of color?" A formalized flip on the old term "colored people" (which was what we used to have to call black- and brown-skinned people when it wasn't considered nice to call them black), this term is divisive and misleading. To suggest that there are only some "people of color" and some who presumably are "people of color" is silly, and contrary to the evidence of our senses. Now look—I am what is commonly referred to as a "white" person, and I am not transparent to light, like window glass. I, too, have a color—a pinkish-beige, actually. In fact, if you can find a person who is truly white, that person is very frightened, sick, or deadl Likewise, very few people are truly black, yet the term is used in this country to designate individuals with skin tones ranging from espresso brown to buttermilk yellow. Nonsense! All of us have whatever beautiful color the Creator in infinite wisdom decided to bestow upon us.

Why not just call a person whatever they really are: pink, beige, yellow, tan, coffee, or charcoal?

Now let me take by the horns that old sacred cow, "third world." Originally a political designation for those nations aligned with neither the United States nor the Soviet Union, this term has come to indicate all those persons who are not of purely Caucasian racial ancestry. How dangerous it is to promote the notion that we live in several different worlds! If there is famine in the "third world," are those of us in the "first world" unaffected and uninvolved? Certainly not! In fact, there is no "third world" or "first world," but only one world, in which all of must live. Some of us (myself included) may seem at times to be in "another world," and we may even want to believe that we are divided, but we are not. We are intermingled, intergraded, interdependent, linked for life by love or need or want. We share this marvelous planet which God has given us, one world to be a home for one people, the human race. One love, one heart, from your same.

Give Our Brothers and Sisters the Benefit of the Doubt

Charles H. Perry

We are all here together. We are attending this institution with, perhaps, different and varying goals in mind, but we are all together. For those of us who live on campus, we eat the same food, see the same buildings, read the same signs, and hear the same talk. And although there are times when you swear that you are living right in the middle of an enormous ivory Soap commercial you know that solace can be found from those brothers and sisters to whom you feel close. You deal with it. But taking care of your own difficulties, gratifying only your individual need for comfort and refuge while studying at a predominantly white university, while living in a predominantly white world, is not enough. We can't live—I mean truly live—by simply loving our friends while completely ignoring those others not belonging to a confined group. And I know you have seen "those others" out there. They are: the brothers who have chosen not to go "on line" this semester; they are the sisters who enjoy letting their hair grow naturally rather than straightening it with chemicals.

He is the brother who is too dark for the ladies who never mess with anything exceeding the limit of honey-golden brown, and she is the sister who has ignored the "taboo" of being with a white man.

"Girl, you don't want anything to do with him. His skin is so light you know he's for white, the whole white, and nothing but the white!"...How do you know?

"Man, don't even go near that brother. I know he must be gay."...So what?

"I really don't know what's up with those two. I have never seen them go near the New Africa House; they must be white-washed."...How do you know?

The list could go on for many pages, couldn't it? And the fact of the matter is that it should not exist at all. Why would we want to engage ouselves in such bitter irony? What could we possibly gain by alienating those black students who don't happen to fit into something we all have, at one time or another, foolishly built around ourselves and our individual groups?

People, give our brothers and sisters the benefit of the doubt. We are all black. Whether the shade be black, brown, red, or yellow, we are of the same. It is simply too destructive to turn to the White Game and play it ourselves. We just can't afford it.

When you see a fellow student of color on campus make the eye contact, perhaps even extend your hand, and say, "What's happening brother?" "What's happening sister?" Give our own the benefit of the doubt.

GOOD OLE DAYS

Never shall I forget-winds seepin' thru the boards as curtains float from the sills like angle wings
Still somethin' was on the stove-
a bean was in the pot, they say,
Get a bowl- grab a spoon
There's plenty more child plenty more
Scattered crumbs rest-
Maybe my mice will get it tonight,
Poor things-sittin' at their holes with waterin' mouths
I'll leave you some
The front door slammed-
You've got it Mrs'es
You done hit the double
More beans for the pot
HALLELUAH, Gods come to this house again
Pay that man at the corner
Tell him him there's more comin'
Hurry now, darks on its way
don't stop'n play
don't stop'n play
beans for the pot
beans for the pot

Barbara Black

The struggle continues. . .

By Jo Ella Costello

About three weeks ago, when riding in a car, I noticed a red and grey colored corporate van encircled with confederate flags. I telephoned the company, Country Carpenter, days later. I asked the owner if he knew the historical/political meaning of the confederate flags on his company's van. No answer. I told him that, as an African-American female from the South, I was deeply offended by the presence of that flag. To me, the Confederate flag symbolizes the Ku Klux Klan, white supremacy, terrorism, hatred, murder, torture, lynchings, brutality, and rape. Still silence on the other end of the line. When, I asked him if he agreed with the values of that the flag represented, to my horror, he said that he agreed with most of what it stood for and that he definitely favored segregation. I then asked him if he'd decorate his van with swastikas. He responded that he didn't agree with what happened in Germany, only with the South.

Immediately after I calmed down from that conversation, I telephoned the Collegian to speak with a reporter. I was connected to Yana Dlugy, the Associate News Editor, and recounted the story and asked her to have the Collegian cover the matter. She had no idea what I was talking about. I then explained to her, to which she replied with minimal surprise, that she and her former roommate had a confederate flag hanging in their dorm room last year and that they labled themselves the "Rebel Girls!"

Two days later, en route to class, I saw an Asian man who was cleaning the classrooms wearing a cap with a confederate flag and the words "Rebel" printed on it. I couldn't handle any more, so I did not talk with him.

These series of events pushed me out of a year-long writer's block.

What do people who do not identify the confederate flag with the intense hatred of the KKK see in this symbol? "Gone With the Wind", "The Dukes of Hazard", the popular country/western musical group, Alabama?, nostalgic, romantic images which are totally devoid of the real history behind it?

About five years ago, mainly out of curiosity, I attended a rally held by the Klan in downtown Austin, Texas. Though the idea of the rally inflamed most residents' emotions, the city defended the right of citizens to march and granted the Klan permission to rally. Fear, hatred, and terror wrenched my body. I heard Klan members screaming, "Niggers go back to Africa - God is on the white man's side," and "If you want to be with the super race, join the KKK!" The scene of old women wearing white suits and waving confederate flags and young babies in confederate diapers all screaming hateful things without thought, disturbed me most. Tears streamed uncontrollably from my eyes until they had completely soaked my shirt. I wanted to grab one of the Klan members and choke the shit out of him with my bare hands. Suddenly, someone who was protesting the Klan lunged forward at a Klan member. The police stopped him by beating his face in. Next, massive fighting broke out, with the police protecting the Klan and beating back the other protestors who started chanting, "Cops and Klan go hand in hand!"

I found it painfully ironic and disgusting that the system protected the rights of hatemongers and murders, while it did not protect the emotional and physical well-being of people who were the objects of Klan hatred and those peoples' allies.

And today, I see Confederate flags hanging in dorm windows. I can no longer tolerate people telling me they don't know what the flag means while they ignorantly and passively support the racists, anti-Communists, and Anti-Semites who flaunt the flag to proudly announce their hatred.

Martin Luther King, Jr. said, "The silent words of good-willed people hurts much more than the hateful words of ill-willed people." The complacency of almost everyone even the progressive campus activities - in tackling the display of the confederate flag here angers me. To people who treat me as if I am overreacting when I share my feelings about the flag with them, let a verse of Bob Marley's "Buffalo Soldier" suffice:

"If you knew your history / then you would know where I'm coming from. / Then you would't have to ask me / who the hell I think I am.

NUMMO

Garvey

continued from page 2

to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Hall dared to remind them that the black men in the United States were human beings, and as such were entitled to freedom and respect for their human personality.

It was racial prejudice which made Hall the father of African secret societies in the United States—what is now known as the "'Black Masonry." Hall first soucht initiation into the white Masonic Lodge in Boston, but was turned down because of his color. He then applied to the Army Lodge of an Irish Regiment.

His petition was favorably received, and on March 6, 1775, Hall and fourteen other black Americans were initiated in LodgeNumber 441. When, on March 17the, the British were forced to evacuate Boston, the Army Lodge gave Prince Hall and his colleagues a license to meet and function as a Lodge. Thus, on July 3, 1776, African Lodge No. 1 came into America for men of African descent.

Later, in 1843, a Jamaican, Peter Ogden, organized, in New York City, the first Odd-Fellows Lodge for Blacks.

Hall's interest did not end with the Lodge. He was deeply concerned with improving the lot of his people in other ways and sought to have schools established for the children of free Africans in Massachusetts. Of prime importance, is the fact that Prince Hall worked to secure respect for his people, and that he played a significant role in the downfall of the Massachusetts slave trade. He helped to prepare the ground-work for those freedom fighters of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries whose continuing efforts have brought the African-American closer to the goal of full citizenship.

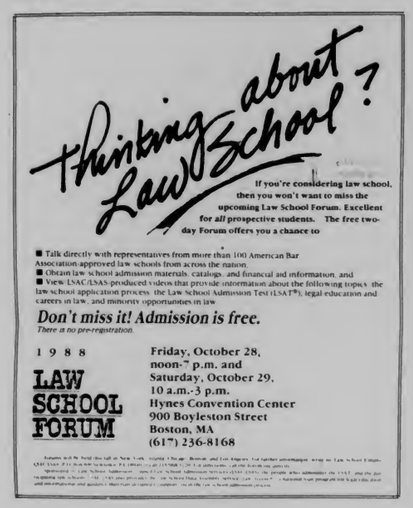
In his book, Souls of Black Folk, Dr. W.E.B.DuBois points to the role of The Caribbean in the African-American struggle. They, he says, were mainly responsible for the manhood program launched by the race in the early decades of the last century. An eminent instance of such drive and self-assurance can be seen in the achievement of John W.A. Shaw of Antigua, who in the early 1890's, passed the Civil Service Tests and became Deputy Commissioner of Taxes for the County of Queens in New York State.

On Friday, March 26, 1827, the first issue of Freedom's Journal, the first, "Negro Newspaper," in the Western world, appeared on the streets of New York City. In their ambitious first editorial, Russwurm and Samual Cornish struck a high note of positiveness that still has something to say to the African-American in his present plight. It read in part:

We wish to plead our own cause. Too long have others spoke for us. Too long has the republic been deceived by misrepresentations, in things which concern us dearly, though in the estimation of some mere trifles; for though there are many in society who exercise toward us benevolent feelings; still (with sorrow we confess it) there are others who make it their business to enlarge upon the least trifle, which tends to discredit any person of color; and pronounce anathema and denounce our whole body for the misconduct of this guilty one...Our vices and our degradation are ever arrayed against us, but our virtues are passed unnoticed...

Minister Louis Farrakhan. Dr. Leonora Fulani.

"We must seriously prepare to embark on the road to independent politics...If the two parties will not address our Black Agenda, what business do we have supporting either one of them?"
— The Final Call



If you're considering law school, then you won't want to miss the upcoming Law School Forum. Excellent for all prospective students. The free two-day Forum offers you a chance to

- Talk directly with representatives from more than 100 American Bar Association-approved law schools from across the nation.
- Obtain law school admission materials, catalogs, and financial aid information, and
- View LSAC/LSAS-produced videos that provide information about the following topics: the law school application process; the Law School Admission Test (LSAT®); legal education and careers in law; and minority opportunities in law.

Don't miss it! Admission is free.
There is no pre-registration.

1988 LAW SCHOOL FORUM

Friday, October 28, noon-7 p.m. and Saturday, October 29, 10 a.m.-3 p.m.
Hynes Convention Center
900 Boylston Street
Boston, MA
(617) 236-8168

NUMMO

Kevin Sibley
Editor-in-Chief

Simone Nicholson
Assistant Editor-in-Chief

Gina Sanon
Business Manager

Solonia Jordon
Production Manager

Cardethia Moore
Secretarial Manager

Andrea Harris
Layout Assistant

Ramani Sripada
Systems Manager

Arthur Jenison
SGA Reporter

NUMMO STAFF

Willie Vick
Brett Andrews
Lorrie Ann Evanson
Victoria Bell
Suzette Hunte
Sonja Vaughan
Lori Perry
Enjay Lowery

CHANGES DANCE CLUB

HALLOWEEN FUNK NIGHT

Music by WMUA's own KEVY KEV
October 29th, 8 p.m.

Advanced tix 256-1189 or 545-2877

Best in New York Style Club

Located on Rt. 9 next to Hunan Gardens

Proper ID required

Kappa Alpha Psi

Fraternity

FALL 1988 SMOKER
THURSDAY NOV. 3 AT 8:00 P.M.
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
CAMPUS CENTER

Kappa Proclamation

Kappa Alpha Psi is an idea. The men in the organization enhance the idea. Kappa can not make men, the men make Kappa. There is no way that you can come into the organization with the thought that Kappa can make you a man. The Big Brothers learned from their previous Big Brothers: confidence, morals and values which are significant in the development of all mankind. Kappa instills in young men those characteristics which make the individual an over achiever. Mental toughness is imperative in dealing with life experiences, and as young men aspiring to become Kappamen you must be mentally and physically tough.

Scrollers are confident, full of pride, resourceful, determined, assertive, and intense at all times. Never should they ever hold their heads bowed or display emotions of dispair. Young men of Kappa are strong and they breed little brothers who are to be equally as strong. The networking of creative minds can make for a comfortable and prosperous atmosphere for those involved. Young men of Kappa work together within the bonds of brotherhood and are in constant search of higher goals. They are not content with mediocrity or sub-par performance; or by no means do they rest on the dependent shoulders of others. They must accept full responsibility for their success and failures and are capable of holding their heads high through either extreme.

Black men are survivors, and although their life is a struggle, they must not allow the negative forces of society to deter their direction or inhibit their search for achievement. Pledging is a macrocosm of your real life experiences, magnified in a literal sense to prepare you for your expanded versions in life.

Prince pleases from Purple to Black

By CHRIS A. MUTHER
Collegian Correspondent
Prince at the Worcester Centrum
Saturday night

Prince's fans are a varied bunch. Of course there are the young, hip, up-to-date fans who are constantly trying to figure out how they can obtain a copy of The Black Album; then you have the "fans" who don't know anything has been released since Purple Rain. How does one man entertain such an assortment? Prince handles the situation with ease.

Playing center stage, or in this case theater, Prince presents a loose story to loop his music together. Arriving on stage in a car, his purple heinousness gets dirty and funky, and stays that way. "Housequake" turns the Centrum into a house party, and the crowd wild.

Unlike some acts whose concerts may sound like a greatest hits album, Prince only uses the songs which fit into the context of the show. He leaves out would-be show "Raspberry Beret," and even the recent "Alphabet Street." He turns groups of semi-related songs into medleys, sometimes cutting them too short.

During his Purple Rain Tour four years ago, a controversy was raging with the various parent and religious groups that Prince's concerts should have an R rating due to the explicit nature of the performance. Not much has been heard from these groups on this tour. Is it that Prince's shows have been cleaned up? Hardly. Prince even puts a bed on stage this time, which he uses for a sex sequence with look-a-like girlfriend Cat and then again for infamous Prince masturbation scene.

Prince borrowed from all albums for the show, but during the first set, with a few exceptions, played more recent material than the second act. In the first set, he played the popular oldies "When You Were Mine," "Head," and the incestuous "Sister." After telling the audience that the lust was over, and it was time to get serious about God, Prince erupted into the second set with hits such as "Let's Go Crazy," "U Got The Look," "Kiss," "When Doves Cry," and of course "Purple Rain."

One pleasant surprise in Prince's band was the mutli-talented Sheila E. She may be a valuable novelty to have in the band, but she is also an accomplished drummer. Although she did do a rap on her own, Prince alone sang one of her biggest hits "Love Bizzare." The role of Cat in the show could be described mostly as actress/go-go dancer.

One of the most powerful elements of the show was the continuous funkadelic crafting provided by the incredible horn section. Prince's band is to be commended on their solid performance throughout the entire production, helping Prince sound like the rock royalty he truly is.

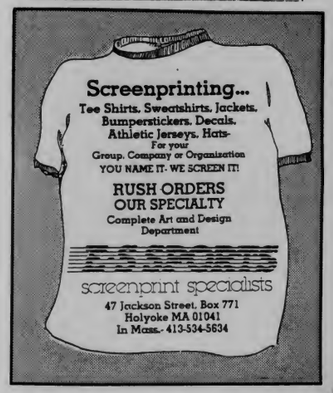
The end result of the two and a half hour show is an entertaining extravaganza that could only be carried off by one man, Prince.

Beat Cafe held in Hampden

A new art series, "The Beat Cafe" will open at Hampden Theater at UMass next Tuesday, Nov. 1 at 8 p.m. The monthly program will capture the essence of the finger-popping, round-the-clock poetry readings of the 1950's. The evening will intertwine music, theater and poetry, with inspired performances by a hip and hot combination of artists. The performers for the debut show include: The University Chamber Jazz Ensemble; jazz pianist Nick Kachulis; the Susan B. Anthony Memorial Improvisational Theater; and poetry and literataure readings by graduate students in the University's english department. for ticket information, call the Fine Arts Center Box Office at 545-2511. Admission will be $2 for students, $5 for general public.

F•R•E•E•••M•A•S•S•A•G•E
WITH 10 SESSIONS AT THE
Amherst Chiropractic Family Health Center
Dr. Virginia D. Harper D.C.
"Dedicated to treating the cause not the symptom"
6 University Drive at Newmarket Center
CALL (413) 549-6336

Come, Clean in Comfort!
Pleasant atmosphere, modern laundry facilities, plus ...
NEW EXPANDED HOURS:
Seven Days A Week, 7am - 10pm
Campus Coin-Op
107 Sunderland Rd, No. Amherst
Under New Ownership
SPEEDWASH
For a Quality Laundry
New larger Machines • Clean & Efficient, Friendly Attendants • Gas Dryers • Convenient Location
11 Pray St., Amherst, MA
549-1665
Self Service 7 Days 7am - 10pm



Screenprinting...
Tee Shirts, Sweatshirts, Jackets, Bumperstickers, Decals, Athletic Jerseys, Hats-
For your Group, Company or Organization
YOU NAME IT- WE SCREEN IT!
RUSH ORDERS OUR SPECIALTY
Complete Art and Design Department
screenprint specialists
47 Jackson Street, Box 771
Holyoke MA 01041
In Mass.- 413-534-5634

Come Ride With Us.

- Motorcycles
- Scooters
- A.T.V.'s
- Power Equipment

Valley Motorsports
584-7303
731-9965
216 N. King St., Rte. 5 Northampton, MA
The 1989 Honda Motorcycles are ready for viewing.

AMHERST DROP ZONE
ARMY/NAVY STORE
At 103 N. Pleasant ☆ 256-0039
(Behind Bart's/Next to Panda East)
For Halloween or Holiday Gift Ideas

OPEN 7 Days A Week
Mon.-Sat. 10-6
Sun. 12-5
Photo: Buck Stewart 549-5454
"A GENUINE ARMY/NAVY STORE"

Five College Students: Call 545-2511 For ½ Price Tickets

Marvin Hamlisch In Concert	Thursday, Nov. 3
The Juilliard String Quartet	Saturday, Nov. 5
The Amazing Cambridge Buskers	Wednesday, Nov. 9
Peter Orth, piano	Tuesday, Nov. 15
Desrosiers Dance Theatre	Saturday, Nov. 19
Ladysmith Black Mambazo	Tuesday, Nov. 22
Quartet For The End Of Time	Saturday, Dec. 3

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Here's An Idea.

Will you pass MACRO 436? Will that guy from last night call you? Find out the answers to these and other questions at the Hampshire Mall's PSYCHIC ENERGY FAIR!

Beginning October 25-30, Advisors will be on hand to read: palms, feet, tea leaves, and the bumps on your head.

Hampshire Mall
South Maple Street Route 9, Hadley Ma Open daily 10 to 9:30, Sunday 12-5

Local

continued from page 6

ZZTop, Gary Moore, and Rolling Stones tunes really satisfy, holding true to the original arrangements while at the same time adding a measure of excitable fury. These guys are the favorite this week.

Local Vocal

Tonight the Smithereens hit the Fine Arts Center. A great show guaranteed? Well, it's at least expected.

Bim Skala Bim? At Katina's? It's still a rumor now, but confirmation (one way or the other) is promised for next week.

The best jukebox in town is at Charlie's, with Barsie's coming in a close second. Both mix good rock'n'roll with an occasional reggae, rockabilly, or pop tune, yet neither are poisoned by painful George Michael singles. Go on down and pump a few quarters in and have a beer.

Listen to the radio. Chances are you'll hear more and more locally produced records by local bands on local record labels. This phenomena (according to the Boston Globe's Steve Morse) is not exclusive to New England. Today, record companies are willing to travel to whatever locale a hot band may be based. There was a time (not too long ago, mind you) that you had to re-locate to New York or Los Angeles if your band had any hopes of making it big. Boston, while always a terrific music city (much like Chicago), just didn't have the big labels. Well, they still don't, except maybe for Rykodisc; but it doesn't matter, because if your band's got the goods, the big wigs will be knockin' at your door, whether it's in Boston, Boulder, or . . . Belchertown. Keep rockin'.

The Smithereens play the Fine Arts Center tonight. Tickets are still available for this UPC production.

Smithereens

continued from page 6

Before their contract with Enigma records, the band released two independant EP's: Girls About Town, (1980), and Beauty and Sadness (1983), which received excellent reviews in i³Rolling Stone magazine.

In 1986 they got their contract and released their first album, Especially for You. It did extremely well with both critics and record buyers, becomming one of the top 100 LP's on 1987's i³Billboard charts. It also won a flurry of NYC music awards, including Best Debut LP.

With this year's release of Green Thoughts, Diken sees the Smithereens as a band forever sharpening their music.

"I don't think our sound or attitude has changed," Diken said. "The playing and songwriting are better. There was always a certain chemistry the band has maintained.'

For the Smithereens - and for tonight's audience at the Fine Arts Center - that chemistry means economical, intelligent, straightforward rock and roll.

O Positive opens tonight's UPC sponsored show. Tickets are $6 for students, $8 for the general public and are still available. Big Daddy Kane will perform with Boogie Down Productions tomorrow night in the Student Union Ballroom. Tickets are $9 for students, $12 for public.

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!
From NEW YORK — one way / round trip
LONDON 179 / 259
PARIS 229 / 320
ROME 259 / 360
CARACAS 320 / 480
ST. THOMAS 260 / 390
HONGKONG 739 / 1,110
Taxes not included
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes, EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

Same Bat Channel
Satifies all your Comic Book needs
Role Playing Games
Horror and Movie Magazines
Baseball Cards and Posters
586-8775
Hampshire Mall, Rt. 9
Hadley, MA

ARE YOU PREGNANT & IN NEED OF HELP?
Birthright Can Help
• FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
• Same Day Results
Services that are Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful
549-1906
Amherst Carriage Shops
In Shopping to Serve You

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

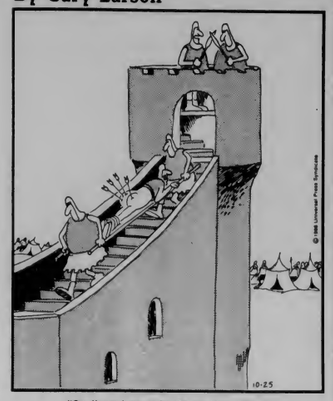
HERE IT IS! OUR BIGGEST SALE OF THE YEAR!!!
AMHERST MUSIC HOUSE
THURSDAY, OCT. 27; 10 A.M. to 12 MIDNIGHT
MIDNIGHT MADNESS SALE
ENTIRE CONTENTS OF STORE 20-50% OFF!!!
Guitars, Amplifiers, Strings, Sheet Music, EVERYTHING*
233 N. PLEASANT ST. (CARRIAGE SHOPS)
AMHERST
549-1728
*Text books not included.

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11 a.m.
7 Days A Week • Call for Take Out • Kitchen Open 'till Midnight
Pool Table, Video Games, Juke Box, 3 Color TV's
Most Bar Seats In Town
10¢ TONIGHT BUFFALO WINGS 9 - 12
SEVEN & SEVEN $1.75 Drink of the Week
DOS EQUIS $1.50 Beer of the Month
10th Anniversary 1978 - 1988
Good Food & Drink

THE UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD PRESENTS:
GODSPELL
OCTOBER 26-29, AT 8:00 PM
AND OCTOBER 29, AT 2:00 PM
BOWKER AUDITORIUM
STUDENTS $3/GENERAL ADMISSION $5
TO RESERVE TICKETS, CALL FAC BOX OFFICE
545-2511

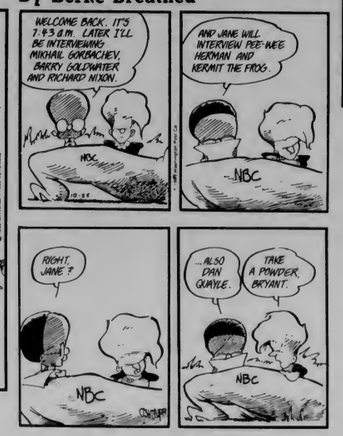
The Legacy of Martin Luther King, Jr.
Andrew Young
Mayor of Atlanta
Former Ambassador to the United Nations
will speak
Thursday, October 27, at 7:30 p.m.
Campus Center Auditorium
All members of the Campus Community are invited to attend.
Mayor Young's visit to the University of Massachusetts is sponsored by the Civility Day Planning Committee and the Office of the Chancellor.

The Far Side
By Gary Larson



"So then I says to Borg, 'You know, as long as we're under siege, one of us oughta moon these Saxon dogs.'"

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

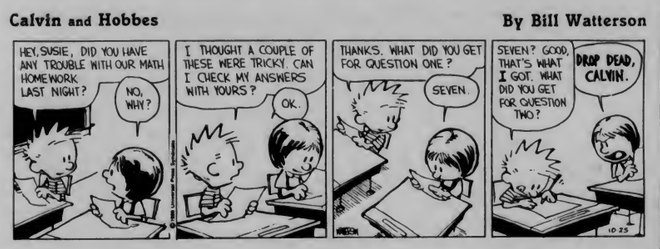


WELCOME BACK. IT'S 7:45 a.m. LATER I'LL BE INTERVIEWING MIKHAIL GORBACHEV, BARRY GOLDWATER AND RICHARD NIXON.
AND JANE WILL INTERVIEW PEE WEE HERMAN AND KERMIT THE FROG.
RIGHT, JANE?
...ALSO DAN QUAYLE.
TAKE A POWDER, BRYANT.

Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau

I'M TIRED, ALICE... I'M ALWAYS TIRED...
I KNOW, DUCKS, BUT WE GOTTA EAT. YOU WORK THIS CORNER UNTIL I GET BACK, OKAY?
OKAY... HEY!
WHAT?
GET OFF MY CORNER, LADY! FIND YOUR OWN CORNER!
ELMONT! IT'S ME! ALICE! YOUR WIFE!
OH, SORRY. I THOUGHT YOU WERE SOME GOR GEOUS HOOKER.
APOLOGY ACCEPTED. HAVE A GOOD DAY

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson



HEY, SUSIE, DID YOU HAVE ANY TROUBLE WITH OUR MATH HOMEWORK LAST NIGHT?
NO, WHY?
I THOUGHT A COUPLE OF THESE WERE TRICKY. CAN I CHECK MY ANSWERS WITH YOURS?
OK.
THANKS. WHAT DID YOU GET FOR QUESTION ONE?
SEVEN.
SEVEN? GOOD, THAT'S WHAT I GOT. WHAT DID YOU GET FOR QUESTION TWO?
DROP DEAD, CALVIN.

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

WHY ARE YOU VOTING FOR GEORGE BUSH THIS NOVEMBER?
SUSAN FEMUR, SOUTHWEST: DUKAKIS IS A WIMP."
MANUEL NORIEGA, PANAMA: "GEORGE CAN KEEP A SECRET... HEH...HEH."
KIRK BRADLEY, A.C.: ANYONE WHO WENT TO PHILLIPS ANDOVER ACADEMY IS O.K. IN MY BOOK."
AYATOLLAH KHOMEINI, IRAN: "GEORGE CAN KEEP A SECRET... HEH... HEH."

"Money is paper blood."
–Bob Hope

Daily Crossword Puzzle

Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

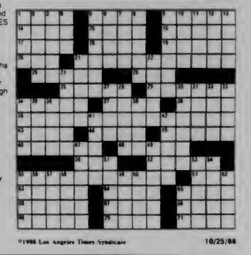
ACROSS
1 Near islands member
5 Converse
9 Would-be officer
14 Cheer for the home team
15 "The Eternal City"
16 Kicking's companion
17 Snora bird
18 Love, Spanish style
19 "The Moon s a Balloon" author
20 Play
21 Actor-singer from France
23 Old Testament book
25 Compass reading
26 Emcee s bit
29 Land of "The Lodger"
34 Intermediary
37 Irish cry
39 Ritz Brothers, e.g.
40 Star of soaps and Hollywood
43 Part of HOMES
44 Miss Kerr
45 Slip
46 Detection device
48 Vishinsky Mischa
50 Caesar' s 506
52 Rhone tributar
55 Player of tough blonde roles
61 A Chorus Line' song
63 Refuge
64 Give off
65 Golf stroke
66 Doctoral demand
67 Marathon
68 Chariot' s way
69 Upright
70 Disney sci-fi film
71 "Yanks" star

DOWN
1 Kind of rug
2 Flashlight, British style
3 Scout's master
4 Shoshonean
5 Neckwear
6 Word with body or brew
7 Andy s pal
8 Campus segments
9 Packager of a kind
10 Dismounted
11 Prima donnas
12 Symmetric
13 Incline
21 Gossip of a sort
22 Covered statuems
24 Burns
27 "Rumba" star
28 Speechify
30 Gaseous hydrocarbon
31 Movie sat worker
32 Troubles
33 Ridiculed
34 Actor Leon
35 Senator from Tennessee
36 Green land
38 Tabriz coin
41 Gall
42 Battle
47 Danish seaport
49 Hand warmer
51 Like neon
53 Path
54 Door sign
55 Ammunition
56 Lagomorph
57 Author Hunter
58 Electrical units
59 Gen. Bradley
60 Puerto —
62 Reason d' —
65 Glutton

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

R	U	S	S	C	O	L	O	R	S	A	F	E
A	I	N	T	E	A	D	E	L	E	R	I	A
P	I	E	R	N	A	V	I	G	A	T	O	R	S
S	T	A	M	I	N	S	D	I	S	T	A	I	N	T
		M	I	D	I			N	I	L
P	E	S	T	L	E	S	S	A	D	I	S	T
E	T	H		E	S	T	O	P		E	N	E	R	O
N	A	I	S		F	U	L	L	I	P		G	A	E	L
A	P	P	A	I		P	E	R	I	A		R	A	D
		E	S	T	A	T	E		E	L	I	C	I	T	S
		O	U	T	A				P	E	R	S
M	I	D	R	I	B	S		R	E	D	U	C	E	S
O	C	E	A	N	L	I	N	E	R		M	U	S	H
P	E	L	T		E	L	E	V	E		B	I	T	E
E	R	L	E		T	O	W	E	R		S	T	A	D

10/25/88



©1988 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

10/25/88

Menu

Lunch	Basics Lunch
Chicken Noodles Soup	Tuna Salad
Brocolli/Cheese Boboli	Cold Cuts
Dinner	Basics Dinner
New England Style Scrod	New England Style
Meatloaf with gravy	Scrod/Lemon
Mashed Potato	Vegetable Soup
Zucchini	Brown Rice

Weather

Today: Partly cloudy, 50's.
Tonight: Partly cloudy, 30's.
Tomorrow: Partly sunny, 50's.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor..... Tony Padovano
Copy Editor..... George Francy
Layout Technician..... Marc Infield
Photo Technician..... Dondi Ahearn
Production Supervisor..... Terry Starmer
Production: Yana, Joyce, Celia, Lauren, and Joe is on the long road to no Ware...

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscriptions Manager

■ Abortion law

continued from page 1

other legal option is to appear in court.

These court hearings are closed; only a judge, the pregnant minor, a court clerk, and a stenographer are present. The girl also has the right to have an attorney. If she cannot afford a lawyer, one is appointed for her.

Story praised the courts for their quickness and discreteness in handling each case. Judge's rulings are "usually made within 24 hours," she said, and "the girl is not sitting out on a bench in the hall with everyone knowing why she's there."

But, she added most judges believe girls who are pregnant are mature enough to give their informed consent to abortion, she said.

Currie said the main task before a judge in these cases is to determine whether or not a minor is mature enough to make an informed decision. To do this, the judge asks a series of questions about her family situation, school, jobs, and finally her abortion decision, Currie said.

If it is determined she is not mature enough to give her informed consent, the judge may still give authorization if it is in the girl's "best interest," Currie said.

Judges have consistently found pregnant minors mature enough to decide what is in their own best interest concerning their pregnancy, Currie said.

In fact, Currie said, in only one Massachusetts case has a girl been refused authorization for an abortion, and on appeal, that ruling was overturned.

The Chequers

Weekly Specials

Broiled Scrod	$7.50
London Broil	$8.95
Chicken Parmigiana	$7.95
Veggie Stir Fry	$5.95
Crock of Homade Chili	$4.95

All are served with a garden salad, basket of warm bread, choice of potato or vegetable and dessert.

Sorry, no other discounts can be used with this special. Served on Sunday 1p.m. till 9p.m., Mon-Thurs 5p.m.-9p.m.

Come and Dine with us for breakfast, lunch, dinner, or even a light bite!

Casual atmosphere, convenient location and most of all...Affordable Prices!

University Drive
Amherst ☐ 549-5861

Dr. Sondra O'Neale

SPEAKING ON

INSTITUTIONAL RACISM and the DECLINE of AMERICA

Tues. Oct. 25 8p.m.

Campus Center rm.168

sponsored by Third World Caucus and the Radical Student Union contributors: Office of Third World Affairs Educational Access and Outreach Housing Services Graduate Student Senate Undergraduate Student Government Association

LBGA Forum

LBGA Meeting

There will be a business meeting in the LBGA office, 413 Student Union Building on Tuesday, Oct. 25 at 6:30 p.m. For more information, call 545-0154.

Rap Group "Positive Image/Making Allies"

The rap group is sponsored by the Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Counseling Collective and will be help on Wednesday, Oct. 26 at 8 p.m. in the LBGA office. For more information call 545-0154.

Bisexual Rap Groups

Bisexual rap groups will be held in the LBGA office on Thursday, Oct. 27 starting at 8 p.m.

Racism Workshop

A workshop on racism in the gay, lesbian and bisexual community will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 26, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. in the Suffolk Room in the Student Union Building.

The workshop is co-sponsored by the LBGA and by the Faculty and Staff Support Group for Lesbian, Gay, and Bisexual Concerns. It is co-facilitated by Felice Yeskel of Diversity Works and by Madeline Peters, coordinator of the Third World Women's program at the Everywoman's center.

Coffee Social

A coffee social sponsored by the LBGA will be held on Friday, Oct. 28 from 3 to 5:30 p.m. in Room 811 in the Lincoln Campus Center. All are welcome and free refreshments will be served.

For more information, call 545-0154.

Counseling Services

The Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Counseling Collective provides free confidential peer counseling. Office hours for the Collective are from 1 to 7 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, from 1 to 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, and from 1 to 3 p.m. on Friday.

For more information call 545-2645.

Kohl in Moscow for talks

MOSCOW (AP) — Chancellor Helmut Kohl today began a four-day visit that is to include talks with Soviet President Mikkhail S. Gorbachev, the official Soviet news agency Tass said. Economic ties were expected to top the agenda.

Other items to be discussed included European disarmament, East-West relations, ties between West Germany and Moscow-allied East Germany, and the treatment of some 2 million Soviets of German ethnic origin.

Kohl was met at Vnukovo airport on Moscow's southwest by Soviet Premier Nikolai I. Ryzhkov, Foreign Minister Edward A. Shevardnadze and other top Soviet officials, Tass said.

Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher, Defense Minister Rupert Schholz and other Cabinet members were in delegation that accompanied Kohl on the flight from Bonn.

West German businesses are seeking to profit from what they say are growing opportunities created by Gorbachev's economic and political reforms.

Projected joint ventures range from the development of the mineral-rich Kola peninsula in the northwestern part of the Soviet Union to the construction of factories in various parts of the communist nation.

On Oct.14, the Western German Embassy in Moscow said Gorbachev and Kohl would sign an accord on "scientific cooperation in space." The embassy gave no details.

The embassy also said the two men would sign agreements on agricultural cooperation and environmental protection and that "other agreements will be signed by private firms with Soviet agencies."

Kohl last met with Gorbachev in Moscow in March 1985 when he attended the funeral of the man Gorbachev succeeded as Communist Party general secretary, Konstantin U. Cherenko.

Relations between the former World War II enemies have gradually warmed since.

FIVE COLLEGE TOUR

JIMMY CLIFF

w/ ARROW

FRIDAY NOV. 4

8:00pm S.U.B.

$13 UMASS STUDENT

$15 GENERAL PUBLIC

CASH BAR w/ ID

TICKETS ON SALE AT TIX UNLIMITED, FOR THE RECORD (FACES), MAIN ST. RECORDS

UPC PRODUCTIONS

Men's cross country second at Atlantic 10s

By JOHN STEVEN MARPLE
Collegian Correspondent

While most people took shelter from Saturday's weather and stayed indoors, the weather in New York City was clear and sunny. What's the significance of that, you ask?

Well, the University of Massachusetts men's cross country team was participating in the Atlantic 10 Conference Championships in New York Saturday.

And their performance was as bright as the New York sun.

UMass placed second in the championship with 36 points, behind Penn State University, which won with 25 points.

Rounding out the schools were West Virginia University with 84 points, Rutgers University (116), the University of Rhode Island (155), St. Bonaventure University (198) and Duquesne University (207).

Laird Cairo of Penn State won the meet with a time of 24:48, ahead of teammate Tim Frazior (25:12).

Kerry Boyle and Joe Milette of UMass were next to cross the finish line in times of 25:28 and 25:32, respectively.

"I was pleased," UMass coach Ken O'Brien said. "Penn State was ranked seventh in the country. The performance we turned in was a good one.

"Joe and Kerry both did well. They finished where I thought they would. Frazior is awful tough to beat."

In addition to Boyle and Milette, UMass placed three other runners in the top 15, with Thomas Degnan finishing sixth (25:43), Herb Heffner eighth (25:55) and Gerry Squires 14th (26:21).

"Those five men all performed well," O'Brien said. "Degnan improved rapidly from last year's meet. He was a significant performer."

Extra laps: O'Brien was very proud of the improvement his team showed over last year's score against Penn State. At last year's A-10 championship, UMass was whipped 21-54.

The Minutemen enter Friday's New England Championship in Boston as defending champions. Despite that, they are underdogs to Providence College. "They're probably the No. 3 team in the country," O'Brien said. "They have eight runners who could run in anyone's top three. We really have nothing to lose."

Crews row Head of the Charles

By RIC SETO
Collegian Correspondent

Sunday, the University of Massachusetts men's crew team participated in the 24th annual Head of the Charles Regatta. For those of you who don't know too much about crew, it's sort of like the movie Oxford Blues but a little different.

At this moment, you might be asking yourself, "What's a regatta?"

Well, it's a three-mile endurance time trial with individual boats being released at 10-15 second intervals. The Head of the Charles was a half-mile longer, starting at the Boston University Boathouse and ending at the Cambridge Boathouse.

Official results of the race will be released today.

Regattas draw the best rowers in the nation. This year, there was an added international flavor, with British, French, Canadian competitors, and even two Seoul Olympians.

The Head of the Charles is one of the world's most prestigious rowing events and is always the date circled in red on every rowing coach's fall calendar.

Michelle Gagnon, vice president of the UMass crew club, said, "From a rower's point of view, we see some amazing elite rowing. It's a lot of fun with all the boats and the big crowd."

Boats in the competition are either invited back because of their top 10 finish from the year before or are chosen by the lottery to enter the race.

Crews are divided into two divisions: lightweights and heavyweights. The light boats must have an average weight of 160 pounds and the maximum person cannot exceed 165 pounds. The heavies are just anything over that.

Boats are usually rowed by either four or eight people and are directed by the coxswain, who sits in the stern, or back of the boat.

Between the bow and the stern are seated the eight rowers, who face the coxswain. The one and two rowers sit near the bow and are usually the smoother rowers. Seats 3-6 are considered 'the engine room', according to Gagnon, or the section that really gets the boat going. Behind the powerhouses are the 7 and 8 rowers, whose role is to set the pace of the race with help from the coxswain.

The coxswain's weight does not count against the boat weight but one would prefer a light coxswain (120 pounds or so) and he or she is usually the person yelling 'Stroke, Stroke!' The ultimate goal of the coxswain, who acts like a head coach, is to achieve stroke synchronicity in the boat.

UMass crew, which are club teams that compete at the varsity level, sent three shells to the Head of the Charles: men's light fours, men's light eights, and men's heavy eights (the women's team was not chosen in the lottery and did not compete).

Water polo wins three of five over weekend

By DENNIS MADSEN
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's water polo team had an up-and-down weekend while playing in the New England Tournament at Harvard University. The up side was that the Minutemen beat all the people they knew they could. The bad side is that they didn't beat a team they really wanted to.

The weekend started well with UMass jumping on Yale for a 16-6 trouncing. The Minutemen then fell to Harvard, 10-3, and Brown University 11-5. UMass wrapped up the weekend with wins over Boston College (13-6) and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (10-9).

"We came out and set the tone for the Yale game," UMass coach Russ Yarworth said. "We played good pressure defense and had a good counterattack [fast break]."

The Minutemen came out of the gate fast against Harvard, also, building up a 2-0 lead.

But UMass blew an open-net opportunity, and the Crimson turned it into a fast break, scored, and rolled from there.

"I don't want to say that there was one play that turned the tide but from there we just crumbled. We just didn't respond well to their defensive pressure."

The Minutemen won two of their final three games over the weekend, but Yarworth saw room for improvement.

"I have yet to see the consistency we need to be an upper-echelon team. We've got to make a commitment. . .to be a better team."

■ Boyden Field

continued from page 12

But most feel that there is no supernatural presence. It has nothing to do with the alignment of the stars or the Amherst water. It's a simple matter of the program's success rubbing off.

"The players have something to do with it. People don't think that they can lose here," Rudy said.

Players like seniors Carla DeSantis, Michelle Powers, Cathy Cassady, Sue Montagne, Sue Cooper and Beth Roundtree have been around for four years and have made major contributions to the program. In their time, they have lost just six games total, so the winning ways are not left in Amherst on road trips.

Whatever the case may be, it is clear that Boyden Field and UMass women's soccer have formed a tough-to-crack partnership that has helped to produce a true dynasty.

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO
AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS
ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT
FOR SALE • FOUND
HELP WANTED • LOST

INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES
PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED
RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES
ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL
WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30):• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

DR. SONDRA O'NEALE will be speaking on Institutional Racism and the Decline of America-TODAY Tues. Oct 25 8pm Campus Center rm. 168.

THIS WEEKEND on damage incorporated-Queeneriche is gonna get close to you tune into WMUA Wednesday at 9:30 pm.

HEAR RON PAULlibertarian for president Wed. Oct.26th in Memorial Hall at 12:30 pm. Aren't you tired of big government?

CLUB COMMUNICATION MEETING TONIGHT!
Date: Tues October 26
Place: Machmer E-37
Time: 7:00pm
All members and non-members welcome
Special guest lecturer from Co-op office.

ATTENTION EXECUTIVE BOARD OF WSYL! You may lose you space! If you care contact the SAG at 545-1392 within one week.

CRAFT CENTER IS YOUR resource. Make all kinds of crafts; pottery, silver, silkscreen, photography, etc. Free instruction.

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22. Sign up on concourse Oct. 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Masspirg and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-8434.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics. Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306.

"APARTMENTS AVAILABLE"

SPACIOUS 2 BEDROOM UNITS on 19 acres of country land. Amon off street parking and free bus service to UMass and shopping areas. Call 665-3856.

AUTO FOR SALE

1981 FORD PINTO good transportation new tires clutch battery $375/best offer 549-1661 leave message

1982 TOYOTA TERCEL, 5 speed. Excellent condition, $1200/BO. Call 549-1807.

78 COROLLA 5 speed-reliable 30-35mpg must sell! $800/BO 545-0600 x39 Elaine

84 HONDA ACCORD LX 4dr Sedan power steering, brake, window, lock. Cruise control, AC, alloy wheel, am/fm stereo 65000 miles $5150. 549-0101.

GREAT WINTER CAR for sale. 76 Ford Grenada automatic PS PB good tires and exhaust. Runs well $50 or BO 253-5956

81 TOYOTA COROLLA New front tires, brkc shocks, exhaust system must sell $700 B/O Kristin 568-4624

BMW 1974 2002-maroon parents cut me off-must sell. Thousands invested. Sick stereo can be seen at Lambda Chi Bargain at $4000 call Sean at 253-9032.

VW RABBIT -Green Great condition runs smooth great buy at $850 Please call 253-9243

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 speed cark gray new tires, rims runs very well $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184.

1981 PORSCHE, 50k miles, gray, sunroof must see $7250. or best offer Call 665-7221. Deb

81 TOYOTA COROLLA excellent condition, low mileage, am/fm cass., air, 5 spd. 256-0969 evenings.

1970 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires, $2,500. Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen.

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE- Over 700 CDs Great Sound! All occasions. 549-1421.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Disc-jockeys and large screen video dances. Dorms/organizations 256-8528.

FOR RENT

SUNNY, SPACIOUS 2-BEDROOM apt in Farmhouse has an opening! 2 miles from UMass 275/mo# Female preferred must see. Call 549-5845.

FOR SALE

2 PAIRS VUARNETS: Small cateye style blue frames. One pair chipped. Why wear Phy-nays? Make offer 546-7487.

JUNO 60 PROGRAMMABLE synthesizer. Great sounds, great buy at $350 firm. Call Chad at 584-0901

SOLOMN SKI BOOTS Ladies 7½ one season old. $70 Barbara 253-3608

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406.

COMMERCIAL FUSSBALL TABLE $300 and other games 247-9005

HOT DOG STAND!!!
In town business
Good experience-great money!!!
For more details contact
Dave or Brad 549-1594

BARGAIN CLASSICS 68 Camaro reliable looks good $1500 also leather swivel easy chair $100 John 549-1256 11am-6pm

10 SPEED BICYCLE for sale $100 545-3500 weekdays Ask for Brian.

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket Call David 1-568-8212

PIONEER DUAL STEREO cassette deck $100 call Laura at 6-8021.

FOUND

ONE SILVER AND TURQUOISE earring near Morrill Science Center Call 546-6321.

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget. Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St. Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin. We deliver.

GO-GETTERS ONLY

EARN FROM $6000 to $15000 next summer. 508-543-3706. Leave message

HELP WANTED

PART TIME OFFICE ASSISTANT needed Wordprocessing or data entry experience desired. 10-15 hrs/wk flexible weekday hours. Salary commensurate with experience. Contact Annetts at Remi, 368 N Pleasant St. Amherst Ma 01002 549-1169

DISHWASHERS. Part time, flexible hours, some days and early evening shifts. Starting pay up to 6.00 per hour. Apply in person. Season's Restaurant, Rt. 9, Belchertown Road, Amherst

HOST/HOSTESS Part time/flexible hours/good starting pay. Apply in person, Season's Restaurant, Rt. 9, Belchertown Road, Amherst.

COUNTER HELP AND delivery persons (need your own car) nights and weekend 253-9752

GREENPEACE: WORK TO PRESERVE OUR EARTH The destruction of our environment is not an acceptable industry practice. Work now to stop toxic contamination, preserve our oceans and its wildlife and stop nuclear weapons testing. Select your own days to work Mon-Sun 2pm-10pm Call 256-1439

EXPERIENCED JEWELRY INSTRUCTOR wanted for spring semester Student Union Craft Center. Call Anna 545-2096.

MAKE A DIFFERENCE in a big way keep toxics out of our water earn $50/day with MASSPIRG if you're fun & articulate, call Chris 256-8434.

RUN A SUMMER business in New England. Gain valuable experience. Average pay $7,000. Information session today October 25, Room 168-170 Campus Center 2:30-5:30 pm.

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

SPRING 1989 INTERNSHIPS with the Legal Services Center! Get hands-on experience in the legal field--work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in legal profession necessary--Training provided. Deadline to begin application process is NOVEMBER 7--Contact Legal Services today, 545-1995, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

TWO KEYS ON BMW and UMass keychains if found call 256-0589

LOST MASS LIQUOR ID Sharon Levy. If found please call 253-9916 monetary reward.

LOST RINGS - 2 gold rings/one coral/one turquoise/one silver/one shell. If found please please call 253-9916. Reward!

MOTORCYCLES

1981 KAWASKI KD on/off only 800 miles $500 Call Chris 546-6183.

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD. Helmet, cover shield $850. Joe 549-7423. Evenings.

PERSONALS

WASN'T THAT SPECIAL! Happy birthday for Saturday Chris! Awesome! From the loafers who steal pencils...(car rides...coffee...!)

HILARY TRACY HAPPY 20th birthday. I hope its a good one Love Mich.

"Shell"-KOPLAN, I hope you have the best birthday ever! Finally you can stop using someone else's identity-namely mine! (Just kidding) I love ya! Enjoy! Love Sam.

THETA CHI- Thanks for the early morning fun- hopefully next time we can stay until our 12:20! Love AXO or the Morning Crew

HAPPY BELATED 21st birthday, Laurie Reich from all your roomies.

JOHN H FROM ZETA PSI Happy birthday! Hope you have a great day. Love, Kerry

CONGRATS 21st FLOOR JQA on finding the cow! From 10th floor.

LIEFSTE CARA, hartelijk gefeliciteerd met jouw laste verjaardag jouw vriend Nelson.

TO MY FAVORITE trinket salesman- it took me a while to come around, sure glad I finally did, cuz we make a great team! No more boo-boo faces & don't you-start with me! Happy Anniversary! Love always, Lisa

DEAR KEVIN Happy Birthday Have A Great Day Love DMJ.

IT'S BEEN A year
the days of two and one cannot measure
how much I love you
Happy Anniversary
PML
PS Pooh loves you too

" ATTENTION UMASS WOMEN; want to improve your social life and meet new people? If yes, BE A PIKE LITTLE SISTER! Open Rush, Wed. Oct. 26 8:30 pm

BLACK DOG GRAPHICS Halloween T-shirt sale- 100 percent cotton, only $6.99 sign-up to win Christmas Raffle-free halloween candy on the campus concourse Wed, Thurs or Fri.

" DON'T MISS OUT ON THE TIME OF your natural college life!
"MONTREAL, MONTREAL, MONTREAL"
" is going to be a haven of college
" partiers this Veterans Day Weekend.
" Plenty of spots left! Lowest prices!
" You snooze, you lose! Contact Craig
" Karl 546-1949 Deadline is fast approaching.

BEETLEJUICE THURSDAY 10/27 at 6,8,10,12pm Bartlett 65 $2.00 by IEEE/HKN.

GODSPELL- THE UMASS MUSIC Theatre Guild will be performing Godspell this Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sturday (Oct 26-29) at 8:00pm, with a matinee Sturday at 2:00pm in Bowker Auditorium. Students $3/general admission. $5 To reserve tickets call 545-2511.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, DENNIS - See, I didn't forget! Love, your cousin Lauren.

RESUME SERVICE

LASER TYPESETTING, quality paper, 48hrs. Guaranteed service, free pick-up and delivery. Best prices in town. Call today 549-4135.

ROOMATE WANTED

PUFFTON VILLAGE - large double room available Jan 1, $150-per person. Rent includes heat, gas, water. Leave message 549-0840.

IMMEDIATELY! Large bedroom, kitchen, living room, diningroom, cable TV, swimming pool. Located across Stop & Shop

1 ROOM IN APT NOHO 2 mins to center Nonsmoking 210/mo + utl. 584-9375 Rachel or Suresh.

APARTMENT MATE WANTED. Nice Northampton location. Call Greg at 584-7400 message

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550.

SERVICES

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor. Call Carolyn-leave message 253-5667.

WEIGHT LOSS OR MAINTENANCE safe, effective TopoFast 546-5369 3-8pm. TARA.

ACCURACY GUARANTEED. Reasonable, fast. Basic editing. Foreign languages. Gloria 323-5140.

FLYING FINGERS TYPING work done in 24 hours. Pickup/dropoff Too. Call Kevin 549-0116.

TYPING. TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate. 253-WORD.

ABLE TYPIST, basic editing, competitive rates, decent location. 253-5202

TRAVEL

COLLEGE WEEKEND in Montreal from $39 November 11-13 Call 549-1949.

TWO SOUTHWEST WOMEN SOUGHT

IT IS LATE SATURDAY NIGHT Sunday morning about 4 weeks ago Sept 18. Two women students ask a tall bearded black guy for a ride from the Townhouse Apartment parking lot in North Amherst to campus S West horseshoe, a gray toyota wagon. We talk about not hitching with strange men, New World Theater which you fought was awesome. Do you remember I need to talk to you. Call Mike 256-0218.

WANTED

STUDENT ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVES! The Undergraduate Admissions Office is looking for a few dynamic and articulate Juniors and Seniors to help promote the University to prospective students. Become part of the Student Rep Program for Spring 89 and interview prospective students while learning valuable skills. Applications available Oct 26 in 255 Whitmore or on the Concourse Oct 31 and Nov 1. Deadline is Nov 4.

WANTED: Spring Break representative for Natl tour company. Great benefits. Call today (612) 784-2287.

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hurna) notes will pay money$$ Shirley 549-2710.

SPORTS

Boyden: A very real home field advantage

Minutewomen unbeaten in last 38 there

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

It is 120 yards long and 75 yards wide, a maximum-sized regulation soccer field. The playing area is grass, with bleachers lining one side and a hill on the other. The entire area is surrounded by a fence.

At first glance, it doesn't seem to be anything out of the ordinary. But anyone who has become acquainted with Boyden Field knows otherwise. There is a certain mystique which engulfs this magical land, one that has been a close ally to the University of Massachusetts women's soccer team over the years.

Playing at home is a big deal, no matter the sport or who is playing. The "home-field" advantage is usually a product of the host's familiarity with the field, combined with the effects of travel for the visitors. Home-field advantage almost always gives an edge to the locals.

But there is something special about Boyden Field, something that swallows up anyone who dares venture within its confines. Many an opponent has come in with high hopes of beating the Minutewomen, only to go home confused, dazed and disappointed.

"I know I wouldn't want to come here," said UMass first-year coach Jim Rudy.

It's easy to see why. Since the Minutewomen began playing their home games at Boyden in 1982, they have run up an astounding record of 58-2-2 on their own turf. That doesn't include playoff wins over the University of Connecticut and the University of Central Florida, or a 1-0 loss in the national championship to the University of North Carolina, which were at Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium last season.

You'd have to go to Chapel Hill, NC, where that same North Carolina team has run up an unbelievable 83-0-2 record at Fetzer Field, to find better numbers than that.

The benefactor of most of that home cooking is former coach Kalekeni Banda. Banda left UMass after last season, but recalled the legend of Boyden before a recent home game.

"It's a good feeling knowing that some things are accountable," Banda said of his past success. "There's nothing better than to play here."

But what is it about Boyden Field (named after former UMass Board of Trustees Chairman Frank L. Boyden in 1964) that brings out the best in the home team? It doesn't look intimidating. There is no symbolic Boston Garden parquet floor, or (for the most part) maniacal screaming fans packing the place for every game.

It is, however, steeped with tradition.

For the past several years, the women's soccer team has been a national power. The mere thought that waiting inside is a team that has been to the Final Four each of the last five years is enough to make any team do a quick about-face and go home.

Since October 22, 1984, the Boyden saga has rolled on. On that day, Harvard University came in and handed the Minutewomen a 1-0 loss. After that time, the Minutewomen have gone 37-0-1 at home. The only blemish, that one tie, came in 1986, when the same undaunted Harvard team returned and played UMass to a 0-0 score.

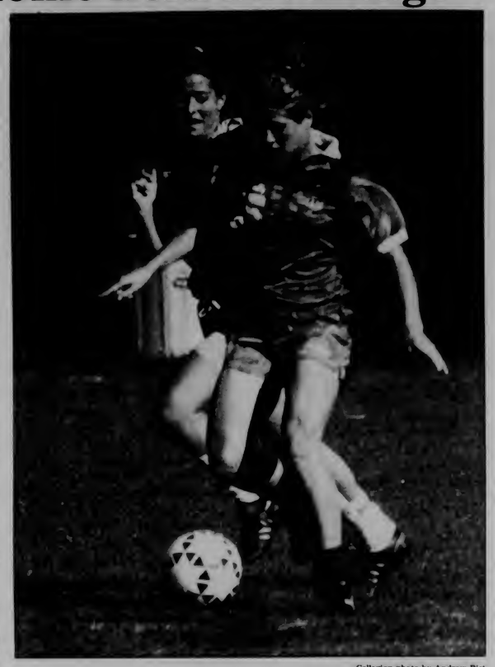
Such a streak would tend to make a team feel quite comfortable about playing at home. There is no one currently involved with this year's team who was around for that last loss.

How is such a run of success explained? Is there some ancient burial ground lurking beneath the surface, emitting its powers to those above? Or is there someone looking down from above? What sort of hocus-pocus may be going on here? Is it a jinx?

"I'm coming to believe it," said Rudy, who only recently was exposed to the aura of Boyden. "There is something there. I began to feel it in the Vermont game."

In that game, the first home game of this season, the Minutewomen fell behind 1-0 on a fluke goal, but came back to get two goals within a minute of each other to win and keep the streak alive. Both goals seemed to be a product of fate.

continued on page 11



Collegian photo by Andrew Rist

Senior midfieler Cathy Cassady (15) and her teammates on the UMass women's soccer team have not lost at Boyden Field since October 22, 1984.

Volleyball faces road match against Boston College

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

Familiar faces in distant places — the University of Massachusetts volleyball team travels tonight to Boston College to face the Eagles, who they defeated 3-1 at Totman four weeks ago.

Tonight's match won't present any surprises for the Minutewomen. They'll face the same scrappy BC team that took one game and pressed UMass in two others, losing both only 16-14.

"I don't think it was a real easy match. I think they played very well [last time]," UMass coach Carol Ford said.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

The volleyball team will square off against Boston College today at 7 p.m. in Boston.

"I'm anticipating an improvement," she said.

Although the Eagles are only 4-12, they are surely a better team than their record indicates and are coming off one of their few wins, a 3-1 victory over Yale.

BC's freshman setter, Jennifer McEnroe, the sister of UMass outside hitter Christine McEnroe, is coming off a shoulder injury but Ford said she will still present a problem for UMass.

For now, UMass is more concerned with its own performance than that of the opposition. The Minutewomen are coming off a very disappointing Atlantic 10 Conference loss to Temple University Saturday.

"We're going to use that loss as fuel," Ford said.

After easily beating Rutgers University, the Minutewomen lost an opportunity to solidify their No. 3 ranking in the A-10, and by losing Saturday slipped to the No. 4 spot behind George Washington University.

While it was by no means fatal, the loss certainly took away some of the momentum they were amassing recently.

"I want to give a lot of credit to Temple. They played very well. I knew ahead of time that Temple was going to be a very tough match," Ford said.

Now UMass is looking to adjust. Actually, re-adjust.

"We're going to go back to the basics. We're going to work on defense, passing and blocking. We're going to have a lot of repetition," Ford said.

"I just want to work on the things that we didn't do," against Temple."

The road ahead doesn't get any easier for UMass. They have no home games remaining and only one conference game left, against the University of Rhode Island on Saturday.

"I don't think there is one match that's going to be easy. We have a lot of tough teams left," Ford said.

The road to the A-10: With only 25 days until the A-10 Tournament the rankings are still up in the air. Penn State has pretty much locked up the No. 1 spot and Rhode Island is a good bet at the No. 2 spot. The Owls moved up to the seventh spot.

Sports Notice

The Stockbridge School of Agriculture will hold tryouts for its men's basketball team today at 7 p.m. and tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. at the Curry Hicks Cage.

All candidates are asked to come prepared to play. Anyone unable to attend is asked to contact coach Jack Leaman at 228 Boyden or by calling 545-1301.

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 35

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1988

INSIDE

- Security for Farrakhan questioned. Page 3.
- Zappa's latest collection reviewed. Page 11.
- Volleyball spikes Boston College. Page 16.

Simmons to leave Hampshire

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

Adele Simmons, president of Hampshire College for 11 years, will leave her position in May to become president of the Chicago-based MacArthur Foundation.

"I'm sad about leaving Hampshire, but the MacArthur Foundation is an extraordinary opportunity," Simmons said yesterday.

Dean of Faculty Penina Glazer will act as interim president while a search committee, consisting of students, faculty, staff, and trustees, looks for a replacement.

Simmons, 47, said the foundation asked her to apply for the position earlier this year and let her know she had the job 10 days ago.

The philanthropic foundation, one of the largest of its kind in the United States, awards grants annually to individuals and non-profit organizations working in one of eight areas including education, population, health, and international peace.

Simmons first came to the 18-year-old college in 1977 after holding dean's positions at Tufts and Princeton universities.

A major accomplishment attributed to Simmons, Hampshire's third president, is the Five-College Peace and World Security Program, a program devoted to peace studies.

However, she considers her major contribution to be the "strengthening of the academic program" while "maintaining creativity," Simmons told the Daily Hampshire Gazette.

She is also known for her fundraising abilities. During her tenure, the school's endowment has increased from $2 million to $10 million.

As president of the MacArthur Foundation, Simmons will be awarding grants instead of asking for money. "I've been on the asking side for so long, it will be fun to be on the giving side," she told the Gazette.

The foundation was founded in 1978 when John D. MacArthur, one of the world's wealthiest men at the time, left the bulk of his assets for its creation. MacArthur did not leave any specific instructions for the program's operation. "I figured out how to make it, you figure out how to spend it," was the only guideline MacArthur left, said a spokesman for the foundation.

Since its inception the foundation has awarded more than $550 million in grants, including a July endowment of $372,000 given to Jazz percussionist and composer Maxwell Roach, who has taught at the University of Massachusetts since 1973.

Simmons, who currently resides in Amherst with her husband John, and three children, said although she will be spending most of her time in Chicago, for the time being, her family will remain in Amherst.

The idea for Hampshire College was conceived in 1958 by faculty members of the other four colleges in the area and began operating in 1970.

The college's first president, Franklin Patterson, served until 1971, when he was replaced by Charles Longsworth, who was president until 1977.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

THE EYE — A cyclops pumpkin overlooks the valley from a porch on Graves Ave. in Northampton beneath a near-full moon Monday night.

Libertarian to speak on party, issues

By PEDRO PEREIRA
Collegian Staff

Former Republican Congressman Ron Paul wants to restore Americans' individual liberties because he says big government has taken them away.

That's why he became the Libertarian Party's candidate for president.

"The principles of individual liberty have to be even more important today because government is so big," Paul said Monday during a telephone interview. He is scheduled to speak at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow in Memorial Hall.

He said the government's use of drug tests, lie-detector tests, and spying by the CIA and FBI intrude on individual rights, which defies the founders' principles of libertarian government.

Paul called the founders' principles as applicable today as during our nation's birth.

"If there is a truth, time doesn't change the truth," he said.

Paul said he doesn't expect to win the election this year, but the Libertarian Party, which formed in 1971, will continue growing because most Americans identify with the party's principles. They just don't know enough about the party, he said.

"We are the majority right now. The majority of the American people do not support the Republicans and the Democrats," Paul said.

His visit to the University of Massachusetts will not only allow the party to spread its message, he said, but will also be an effort to recruit members.

He said this year recruiting has proven particularly effective in college campuses. He attributed the success to a lack of excitement surrounding the Republican and Democratic candidates, George Bush and Michael Dukakis.

Disillusioned with Republicans

"I came to the conclusion that the Republicans had lost credibility in their arguments," Paul said, explaining why he left the Republican Party, after four terms as a congressman from Houston, Texas.

Although Republicans deride the Democrats for spending too much, Paul said the Republicans are just as bad.

President Ronald Reagan "made Democratic spending look conservative," he said, citing the increased federal deficit during the Reagan years.

Another reason Republicans lost their credibility, he said, is the administration's insistence on meddling in international affairs.

In April, Paul issued a statement denouncing the administration's intervention in the Iraq-Iran war and the President's failure to abide by the War Powers Act.

"The United States has no business intervening in the Iraq-Iran war, especially on the side of the war's instigator, Iraq," the statement read. "A foreign policy which places US forces in the midst of warring factions is an irrational policy, and it should end."

Paul's name will be on the presidential ballot in 46 states, including Massachusetts, on Nov. 8. Other planks of his platform follow:

- Calling for a free market and balancing the federal budget. "My call for a free market is a call to abolish banking privilege and business regulation and for enforcement of the laws against fraud and the establishment of a gold standard."
- Legalizing drugs. "This would destroy not only the pusher system, but the entire underground production of drugs, which depends on high, black-market prices."
- Isolationism. "I favor a strong defense. But I'm not in favor of US intervention around the globe."
- Abolishing the income tax. "Is there a need for an income tax? Only if we perpetuate the American empire abroad and welfare-ism at home."
- Abolishing social programs. "They're all a fiction and they're a fraud, therefore they don't work. The government steals from one group to give to the other."

Charity by private institutions, he said, would be more efficient in dealing with the needy.

"I happen to believe we're a charitable nation."

Guilty verdict for LaPlante

Gets life for triple murder

By KEVIN GALVIN
Associated Press

LOWELL — Daniel LaPlante was convicted yesterday of fatally shooting a woman and drowning her two children in their home. He was sentenced to life in prison, with the judge saying he deserved the death penalty.

LaPlante smiled as he entered the courtroom and appeared to be joking with his attorney before the jury returned after more than five hours of deliberation to announce LaPlante was guilty of three charges of first-degree murder.

He stood with his hands clasped and rocked calmly on his heels as the verdicts were announced, and showed no emotion as Judge Robert A. Barton immediately sentenced him to three consecutive life sentences, saying he wanted to make sure LaPlante was never released from prison.

"There are some who would say, Mr. LaPlante, that you should receive the same sentence you imposed on the Gustafson family, that is, death by ligature or hanging." Barton said.

"But we have no death penalty in Massachusetts," he said.

"Accordingly, the sentence to be imposed is one that intends that you spend the rest of your life behind bars with no parole, no communication and no furloughs. That is, three consecutive life sentences."

LaPlante was convicted of killing Priscilla Gustafson, 33, and her two young children, Abigail, 7, and William, 5.

Andrew Gustafson returned home from work Dec. 1 to discover his wife, who had been sexually assaulted, dead of two gunshot wounds to the head in their bedroom. His children were drowned in separate bathtubs.

continued on page 2

REGION

■ LaPlante guilty

continued from page 1

After the trial, Thomas Reilly, assistant district attorney who had asked that the three life sentences be imposed, said LaPlante deserved the sentence for the nature of the crimes and the lack of empathy he has shown.

"Daniel LaPlante is a very, very dangerous person and he'll be dangerous until the day he dies. This is the best case for the death penalty I've ever seen," Reilly said. "In my belief he will be a cold-blooded killer until the day he dies. The sooner he dies the better."

Juror Renee Trench said that she felt no sympathy for LaPlante.

"Did he feel compassionate for the people (he killed)?" she asked "What's fair is fair. He won't get any compassion from me."

The Gustafson slayings rocked the town of Townsend, a community of 8,300 about five miles from the New Hampshire border.

At the time, LaPlante was free on $10,000 bail on charges of terrorizing a Pepperell family with an axe and stealing money and jewelry from their home in 1986.

Mr. Gustafson, who was at court early in the trial to testify, sat holding hands with his sisters-in-law, who cried as the verdicts were read.

He left the courthouse immediately, but Christine DeBennedits and Beth Williams choked back tears to tell reporters they were pleased by the conviction, but that it was small compensation for the loss of their sister.

"We're both glad that he was found guilty," DeBennedits said. "It isn't going to bring back Priscilla and Abby and Billy."

Williams added: "There couldn't be no justice. The only justice would be that this wouldn't have happened."

Defense attorney Robert Sheketoff, who rested his case Friday without calling a witness to counter 12 days of testimony by 50 prosecution witnesses, promises to appeal the verdict.

AP photo

Andrew Gustafson and family listen as jury finds Daniel LaPlante guilty of shooting Priscilla Gustafson and drowning her two children.

College Students:

MONEY

is now available for your

EDUCATION

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN RECEIVING
Scholarships*, Fellowships*, Grants*

YOUR ELIGIBILITY IS GUARANTEED!
regardless of financial status or academic performance.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL:

1-800-635-4063

A NATIONAL SERVICE COMMITTED TO HIGHER EDUCATION

*These funds DO NOT require reimbursement

ACADEMIC FINANCIAL ADVISORY PROGRAM

Before you Buy

HALLOWEEN SUPPLIES

500 MASKS TO CHOOSE FROM
GREASE PAINTS–HANDS–FEET–WITCHES' HATS AND BROOMS–WIGS
MOUSTACHES–BEARDS–NOSES–FANGS–TEETH
TOOTH BLACK–COMPLETE OUTFITS

H.L. CHILDS & SON

Open daily and Sunday 8-5; open Thursday nights until 8:00pm
Open Sun. Oct 30 12-5; 34 Bridge St. 584-2604 Northampton

THE UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD PRESENTS:

GODSPELL

OCTOBER 26-29, AT 8:00 PM
AND OCTOBER 29, AT 2:00 PM

BOWKER AUDITORIUM

STUDENTS $3/GENERAL ADMISSION $5

TO RESERVE TICKETS, CALL FAC BOX OFFICE
545-2511

HERE IT IS!

AMHERST MUSIC HOUSE

OUR BIGGEST SALE OF THE YEAR!!!

THURSDAY, OCT. 27; 10 A.M. to 12 MIDNIGHT

MIDNIGHT MADNESS SALE

ENTIRE CONTENTS OF STORE 20-50% OFF!!!

Guitars, Amplifiers, Strings, Sheet Music, EVERYTHING*
233 N. PLEASANT ST. (CARRIAGE SHOPS)
AMHERST
549-1728

*Text books not included.

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

Wednesday is Game Night at Mike's

CASH PRIZES

SPECIALS

Busch Pitchers.....3.75
Bud Light Bottles.....1.25
Wall Bangers.....1.75

LOSE 4" TO 14" IN ONE HOUR
STYLES BY DEBORAH'S
complete inch loss program

Offer Expires 11/15/88

Our Unique Program Helps:
• Restores elasticity to loose flabby skin • Not a water loss
• Inches off in first wrap • Lose unsightly cellulite
• Contour your body – lose from problem areas

BRING A FRIEND(s) SPECIAL
$30 each Two or more people (reg. $40 ea.)
Includes Body Wrap, Facial & Foot Massage

Only at STYLES BY DEBORAH
65 University Dr., Amherst
Call 549-5610 for appointment

LOCAL

Barn part of UMass 'heritage'

By DEBORAH RITTER
Collegian Correspondent

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

Kristen Whittle feeds Ken the boar at the UMass animal barn recently.

University of Massachusetts shepherd Kristen Whittle tends sheep, goats, and pigs in a barn that will soon be torn down to make way for the new ice hockey arena.

Although the barn is only a five-minute walk from the center of campus, it is a world away from the University's hustle and bustle. On a campus that used to be hay fields and pasture lands, the sheep barn is one of the last reminders of the University's agricultural heritage.

Visitors are greeted by three affectionate border collies that Whittle said are her most valuable assistants.

"The dogs make my job easier," she said. "One of these dogs can do the work of 10 people. Last summer I had some children from a 4-H club try to herd sheep into the barn. After 10 minutes they were ready to drop in exhaustion and the sheep were still running around. Then I told Jessie to do it. She finished the job in less than 60 seconds."

The barn is a beautiful, old structure with 12-inch beams that run from the concrete floors to the eaves of the massive hayloft. Whittle's office is comfortably cluttered. On the walls are pictures of prize-winning sheep, a poster of actor Christopher Atkins, and cobwebs.

As feeding time draws near, the animals produce a deafening roar. Ken, a 750-pound boar, hoists his front legs on the gate of his pen and bellows for food. Visitors are allowed to give him bread, but chocolate bars and the like are forbidden.

"Ken will eat absolutely anything," Whittle said. "Afterwards, I have to deal with the stomachaches."

Whittle is in charge of 150 sheep, 25 goats, 25 pigs, and 11 beef cattle. That number of animals, she said, is comparable to what a small New England farm would have.

The sheep barn is run by the Veterinary and Animal Sciences Department, but many groups use it, she said. UMass students from zoology, food science and nutrition, entomology, public health, and toxicology use the barn's animals in their studies, she said.

Smith and Hampshire colleges come to the barn to draw sheep's blood samples, she said. Sheep's blood is similar to human blood and since the recent AIDS scare, colleges have been substituting it in human physiology classes, she said.

Children from day-care centers are the barn's most frequent visitors, Whittle said.

"The lambing is going on now," she said. "Sometimes the kids get lucky and see one being born. And they always want to help with the shearing," she said.

The wool from the sheep is marketed. The barn also earns money by selling animals at the livestock auction in Whately, she said.

When Whittle heard the hockey arena will replace the barn, she said, "I've been thinking of putting little ice skates on the sheep."

A new barn will be built adjacent to the UMass dairy barn in South Deerfield. Whittle said she is dismayed at the change of locale. "The invisible 'they' has decided that all the agricultural buildings should be moved off campus. They should realize that we were here first and are an important part of the University's heritage.

"We should be where we are accessible to everyone," she said. "Our most important function on this campus is to educate people about where their food comes from. Most people don't have any idea. The producers and consumers don't know each other anymore."

People should make an effort to buy locally-produced food, Whittle said. She is an outspoken opponent of Question 3 on the Massachusetts ballot, the referendum issue which, if passed, will regulate the treatment of farm animals. Her reason for opposing the question, she said, is because she fears it will drive many small farmers out of business.

"Question 3 wants to abolish factory farming, and that's all well and good," she said. "The problem is the bill doesn't belong in Massachusetts because factory farming doesn't exist here. It occurs on large farms in the Midwest. Massachusetts has a record of humane animal treatment. Most people don't seem to know that," she said.

State farmers are already leading a marginal existence, she said. "The developers are waiting at the farmers' back doors," she said. "If we lose our local farmers, our food will come from farther away and be more expensive. We should be helping our farmers, not trying to make it impossible for them to survive," she said.

Hilson ponders security steps for Farrakhan's visit

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

While controversy rages over the potential visit of Minister Louis Farrakhan to the University of Massachusetts, Executive Director of Public Safety Arthur Hilson is deciding if he can provide adequate security should the Black Muslim leader visit the campus next semester.

Hilson started contacting other schools where Farrakhan has spoken to see what security measures have been taken there, after Phi Beta Sigma, a predominately black UMass fraternity, obtained $11,000 from the Distinguished Visitors Program to pay the fee for the visit.

Hilson said he will not announce whether he has the resources to provide the proper level of security until DVP gives him the exact date of the visit.

It is unclear whether DVP will sponsor the visit. At a meeting Monday night, the Oct. 11 vote to bring Farrakhan to campus was deemed invalid because of constitutional violations, according to Margaret Arsenault, DVP program adviser from the Student Activities Office.

"As it stands now, no contract will be signed and no paperwork will be forwarded until the issue is cleared up," Arsenault told the Collegian Monday.

Hilson said he started the security assessment because of the potential problems associated with a Farrakhan visit.

Farrakhan, the leader of the Chicago-based Nation of Islam, has often been accused of anti-Semitism by members of the Jewish community.

Said Hilson, "Our concern is how people with opposing viewpoints are going to act out their belief systems."

Hilson said Farrakhan's visit is just as big of a headache to him as when Paul Cameron, an anti-gay activist, came to campus in the spring of 1987. Cameron's appearance on campus was met with strong opposition from various organizations.

Hilson said if he finds he cannot provide adequate security for Farrakhan, he "will make a strong recommendation (against the appearance) to the chancellor."

One major problem with providing the security coverage needed is money, Hilson said, which in part depends on the location chosen for the event.

"We are talking $7,000 to $8,000 right off the top," Hilson said.

Once he has a definite location, Hilson said he can then decide what specific measures he will have to take to secure the perimeter of the location, which might increase the cost substantially. The money would have to come from the sponsors of the event, Hilson said.

As well as using UMass police officers, Hilson said he can also bring in Amherst and state police. All officers used will be paid time-and-a-half.

Once the sponsors of the lecture choose a room, Hilson said he "will work out the logistics" with them until a satisfactory location is agreed upon.

Hilson said he would prefer the lecture be held in a room with no windows, so there is no chance of anyone shattering glass and injuring someone and "in a room where we can get him out safely if we had to."

White Alliance Group battles racist attitudes

Organization helps to deal with problem

By JANINE WARNER
Collegian Staff

Diane Goodman said she felt racism was a problem on campus, and she and other whites should take responsibility for dealing with their own racist feelings.

Goodman, a doctoral student in the social issues training project, said she started the White Alliance Group last year because "there has never been anything here just for white people."

"[Racism] is really a white person's problem," she said. "It really is us who perpetuate racism."

The group is composed of "white people who wanted to look at our own racism," said Goodman, adding the group was started just after the takeover of the New Africa House last spring.

"A lot of white people were feeling hurt, confused and guilty," she said. "There was a lot of talk about what white people could do, where you could intervene, and how to deal with the bureaucracy."

In response to those feelings, Goodman started organizing the group by randomly sending out flyers to attract participants. "Several people called and we started meeting," she said.

At last Monday's meeting, past members of the group talked about their experiences in the organization.

Rachel Yeary, who works in the Tower Library, said she was feeling overwhelmed by all the things she could not do when she responded to the group's advertisement in the Campus Chronicle.

"It's a new idea for me that it's not a black person's responsibility to fix [my racist feelings] for me," she said. "Sometimes I think [blacks] have better ideas, but it's not their responsibility."

"I was feeling a lot of guilt," Yeary said, "because white people have done so many bad things over the ages and I'm a part of that," she said.

Now, having spent 10 weeks in the group, she said: "I haven't shed that [guilt], but I'm looking into how it is possible to feel proud of being white in a way that is not oppressive."

Patricia Wright said she appreciated the group because it offered a place to talk about something that's rarely discussed.

"I know that I'm a racist, that's the way I've been trained," Wright said. "It's still much easier to talk about other people's racism than my own."

Wright said she thinks it's important for whites to "purge ourselves among ourselves."

"It's productive to sort out what we can do something about," she said.

But, she added, as whites go through that process, "people of color don't need to hear our stuff."

Jill Ullian said the group offered her a time and place just to focus on racism.

"We talked about how racism hurts us as white people, how it hurts our lives too," she said.

The group will meet from 4 to 6 p.m., beginning Nov. 8, for six weeks.

Shortfall may result in budget cuts for RSOs

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

Initial projections for the Student Activities Trust Fund budget for fiscal year 1990 indicate a shortfall which may result in funding cuts to Registered Student Organizations, the Student Activities Office, and other groups.

A report released by the SGA Budgets Committee details an estimated deficit of $17,500 for 1990, increasing to a total of $435,000 by 1993.

Decreasing enrollment

Jessica Mitchell, chairwoman of the committee, said these deficit estimates may be increased because student enrollment may decrease in coming years. Fewer students would mean fewer contributors to the SATF, resulting in a smaller SATF.

Brian Crawford, who has worked closely with the projections as special assistant to Mitchell, said although there had been a decrease in enrollment of 500 students for this year, former Budgets Chairman Nate Moore had anticipated the decrease, and figured it into the budget projections for fiscal 1989.

"Because of Moore's projections, for fiscal '89, if there is any shortfall, it will be held to a minimum," Crawford said. He called this "smart business."

Sources who published the report say they are studying ways to trim the budget and increase revenue.

Potential cuts

Possibilities mentioned to alleviate budget problems include trimming RSO budgets, or reducing line item deductions such as the $50,000 concert fund, the $150,000 Legal Services Center or professional staff reductions in SAO.

Professional staff cuts to SAO are a touchy subject for Director Irene Carew because, she said, the office is already understaffed.

"The business staff is already overworked," Carew said, adding, "I wouldn't say it's necessary that the staff would be cut or increased."

Carew mentioned the SAO Planning Committee that explores possibilities for the SATF, but Crawford and Mitchell had not consulted with the committee.

"It's the job of that committee to make recommendations to the Budgets Committee to keep the trust fund healthy," Carew said.

Carew said there were many avenues to be explored, and that no cuts would be made until an investigation into those cuts could be made. She added there is a report due in about a week from the planning committee with recommendations for the SATF budget.

Fee increase

Each undergraduate pays $104 annually into the SATF, with part-time students also paying into the trust fund.

Crawford said one possibility is an increase in the fee, but this was one of the last options. "We would rather not raise the fee," he said.

Mitchell was also not enthused about a fee increase. "Eventually, sometime down the line the fee is going to have to rise. We try not to increase the fee because that puts the burden on the students, and it's not their fault," she said.

Carew said some of the most important things to look into are ways of revenue generation and fund raising by RSOs so that any cuts to student groups would have minimal impact. She said these groups are cut enough already.

Reworking the estimate

Mitchell said that for now, the estimate is being reworked to allow for a possible decrease in enrollment. She said that once a new estimate is worked out, it goes before the full Senate for approval, and then to the Board of Trustees for their approval.

Several thefts reported

A flute worth $200 was reported stolen from Herter Hall Monday.

- In other incidents:
- Three pairs of slacks worth $160 were stolen Monday from the laundry room of Leach Residence Hall.
- Eight mailboxes in Greenough Residence Hall were reported vandalized Monday.
- A handbag and cash totaling $120 was stolen from an office at University Health Services Monday.
- A wallet worth $50 was reported stolen from the computer room on the fifth floor of Tobin Hall Monday.

—THOMAS RODRIGUES

SGA to vote on boycott

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Student Senate will vote tonight on a possible boycott of Amherst stores to halt a proposed $50 tax on students by the town.

There is no date specified for the boycott, which is to be presented by Student Trustee Stephanie Orefice. She said the tax probably will not be put into effect soon, but this motion will give Amherst Selectmen a clear idea of how the students feel about the tax.

"If we can say [the boycott] is what we're going to do, then maybe the tax won't get passed," Orefice said. "This is for down the line. I think this is an issue that would be taken up by another senate . . . it would be just as easy next year to organize a boycott," she said.

Presidency

In a move that has become all too familiar in the last few weeks, two items on tonight's agenda deal with the presidency of the SGA. Senators W. Greg Rothman and Brian Darling have entered two proposals against the acting co-presidents Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz.

One proposal calls for a new election, which was also proposed last week and referred to the Governmental Affairs Committee.

In a meeting Monday with newly elected Chairman Ted Chambers, the committee voted to unfavorably recommend the new elections to the senate.

Chambers said of the new election, "I think for a senator to make that motion while we're still trying to come to a decision is irresponsible."

The second Rothman/Darling proposal condemns Silkoff and Rabinowitz for acting as co-presidents and orders them to stop using the office of SGA president.

The two have been fulfilling some of the duties of president
despite a restraining order from the Student Judiciary barring them from holding office until an appeal of their case can be heard.

The two were elected last March, but conservative members of the senate have raised issue with their running as co-presidents, which they say violates the SGA Constitution.

Silkoff and Rabinowitz were ratified to serve as presidents in a partial capacity during the summer. For now, Silkoff says the problem with the constitution has to be resolved, and the Student Judiciary has to be allowed to get back together and make a decision on the co-presidents.

"My feeling is that they're going around saying they are the SGA presidents, and the Coordinating Committee doesn't really have the power to confirm that," Rothman said.

Silkoff said, "I think it's all hype. I think it's sad that we just can't let this settle."

NOW OPEN FOR LUNCH!
PIZZA SALADS
Bruno's
LASAGNA SUBS
Steak Subs our Specialty
"We Deliver Quality"
11 a.m.—2 a.m.
256-0222 FREE DELIVERY
SEVEN DAYS A WEEK

Bruno's Free Delivery 11 a.m.-2 a.m.
Monday $1.50 Off Any Large Cheese Pizza
One Coupon Per Purchase Good on any Monday

Bruno's Free Delivery 11 a.m.-2 a.m.
Tuesday FREE liter of Pepsi w/any large pizza
One Coupon Per Purchase Good on any Tuesday

Bruno's Free Delivery 11 a.m.-2 a.m
Wednesday $1.00 OFF any Large Pizza
One Coupon Per Purchase Good on any Wednesday

Bruno's Free Delivery 11 a.m.-2 a.m.
Thursday $1.00 OFF any Large Pizza
One Coupon Per Purchase Good on any Thursday

Bruno's Free Delivery 11 a.m.-2 a.m.
Friday $1.00 OFF any Medium Pizza
One Coupon Per Purchase Good on any Friday

Bruno's Free Delivery 11 a.m.-2 a.m.
Saturday $1.00 OFF any Large Pizza
One Coupon Per Purchase Good on any Saturday

Bruno's Free Delivery 11 a.m.-2 a.m.
Sunday $1.00 OFF any Medium Pizza
One Coupon Per Purchase Good any Sunday

10 Belchertown Rd., at Rte. 9, Amherst 256-0252
The Best Chinese Buffet!
TAKE-OUT SERVICE — FULL COCKTAIL MENU
Open Sun.-Thur 11-10
Fri.-Sat. 11-11
LUNCHEON SPECIALS Mon.-Sat. 11 am-3 pm
BUFFET & SUNDAY BRUNCH
Buffet served 5-8 p.m., Mon. Thurs • Brunch served Sunday 11:30 a.m.-3 p.m.
ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.99
Children under 10 - $3.00
1) Hot and Sour Soup
2) Chicken fingers
3) Chicken Wings
4) Fried Wontons
5) Pan Fried Ravioli
6) Beef with Snow Peas
7) House Spiced Chicken
8) Sweet and Sour Chicken
9) Roast Pork Fried Rice
10) Vegetable Fried Noodles
11) Chinese BBQ Pork
12) Broccoli in Oyster Sauce
13) Shrimp and Cashew Nuts
家酒園南湖
Hunan Garden Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUAN CUISINE
256-0251
256-0252
We Deliver Every Day! 5-9:30 p.m.

Thursday Night is Student Night at Burger King
BURGER KING
Present school ID and receive 10 % off purchase not good with any other offer.
OFFER GOOD 4 p.m. to Midnight
King Street Northampton Rt. 9 Hadley
Offer Expires 12/16/88

WORLD/NATION

Civil rights activists awarded damages; KKK responsible

ATLANTA (AP) — Forty-nine civil rights activists who were pelted with rocks and bottles when they marched into virtually all-white Forsyth County were awarded nearly $1 million by a jury that found the Ku Klux Klan responsible.

A verdict unsealed in U.S. District Court yesterday also found 11 individuals responsible for attacking the activists, who marched into the county north of Atlanta on Jan. 17, 1987, and were met by the counter-demonstrators, many of them KKK members or sympathizers.

The jury reached its verdict Oct. 5, but Judge Charles A. Moye Jr. ordered it sealed to give those who brought the lawsuit time to decide whether to join Atlanta City Councilman Hosea Williams, who wanted to drop it.

Williams, who helped organize the march and was among those who filed the lawsuit, urged toward the end of the trial that it be dropped because it would impoverish the families of KKK members.

He said yesterday he would not take any money from the settlement.

"Irregardless of the court's decision, my decision not to accept one single penny of my white brothers' and sisters' possessions is a matter of conscience," Williams said. "It is also stooping lower than the KKK and other white supremacists to take away from them their hard earned material possessions, simply because they brutalized us in responding to the sickness of our capitalistic society."

In a letter Williams sent his fellow marchers during the trial, he said he had "talked" to slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. and King had told him "Jesus wanted him not to sue the Klan."

State Rep. J.E. "Billy" McKinney, who had opposed Williams' effort to drop the lawsuit, said Williams' "religion and communication with the dead should not interfere with our constitutional rights and justice."

Named as defendants in the lawsuit were the southern White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, the Invisible Empire Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and 12 individuals.

There had been 57 plaintiffs. Williams and three others dropped out during the trial and four others dropped out yesterday.

AP photo

DRIVE-THRU PRESCRIPTIONS — Nancy P. Long, a passenger in a car that jumped a curb Monday and crashed into a Nashville, Tenn. drug store, surveys the scene of the accident.

Duke loses appeal over Nat'l Guard

BOSTON (AP) — Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis, who attempted to use his power as governor of Massachusetts to block a National Guard training mission in Central America, lost an appeal yesterday challenging federal authority over the guard.

The 1st Circuit Court of Appeals issued a one-sentence order affirming a decision by District Judge Robert Keeton on May 6 that upheld federal supremacy over the National Guard.

"Having examined the briefs of the parties . . . and having had the benefit of oral argument, we affirm the judgement on the basis stated in the district court's well-reasoned opinion," the appeals court said.

Dukakis filed suit in January to block the assignment of 13 public relations specialists in the Massachusetts Guard to Honduras and Panamna for two weeks in May because of his opposition to Reagan administration policies in the region.

In his presidential campaign, Dukakis has denounced the Reagan administration for its "failed and illegal" policy of supporting the Nicaraguan Contra rebels, and he said the sending of National Guard troops to the region was an attempt to intimidate Nicaragua.

Dukakis, who was campaigning yesterday in California and Colorado, had no immediate comment on the appellate decision.

Duke puts down ad

PLEASANT HILL, Calif. (AP) — Democrat Michael Dukakis yesterday denounced a new Republican campaign commercial ridiculing him for riding in an Army tank and asserted that "we Democrats are for a strong defense."

The Massachusetts governor toured friendly territory in the San Francisco suburbs in a state where he found discouraging polls showing his GOP rival leading in the presidential race.

Dukakis responded by taking virtually every opportunity to appear on network television, while refusing to hold a news conference or take questions from reporters traveling with him.

He appeared on ABC's "Nightline" program last night for a 90-minute interview with Ted Koppel, who met him in Denver.

Dukakis' wife and children appeared on Phil Donahue's program.

Aides said Dukakis would be interviewed by Dan Rather on tomorrow's CBS Evening News program in a session expected to last 14 minutes — extraordinarily long for an evening news show. His running mate, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, will be interviewed on the same program today.

"Now they've got a tank ad — has all kinds of misstatements and outright falsehoods," Dukakis said yesterday. "We Democrats are for a strong defense."

The Bush Campaign's tank ad uses videotape of Dukakis wearing a helmet and riding in the turret of an M-1 tank at a defense contractor's plant in Sterling Heights, Mich., last month, and suggests that he is weak on defense.

Dukakis said the tank ad is part of "the distortions, the lies and the misrepresentations we've had in this campaign — and there have been many."

His campaign advisors vigorously denied the Bush's ad contention that Dukakis opposes virtually every new weapons system.

Campaign manager Susan Estrich said Dukakis favors the Trident II missile , the advanced cruise missile , the Seawolf attack submarine, the C-17 transport aircraft and the YF-22, A-23A advanced tactical fighter.

"There are lies, damn lies and George Bush's commercials," she said.

Press secretary Dayton Duncan said the ad wrongly claims that Dukakis opposes the Stealth bomber. "That's a lie," he said.
He also said the governor was wrongly accused of opposing several missile systems.

On the second day of Dukakis' tour of Northern California, a new front-page poll by the Los Angeles Times showed him falling further behind Bush in this state whose 47 electoral votes are crucial to the Democrats' chances of victory on Nov. 8.

The poll showed Bush leading Dukakis among likely voters by 53 percent to 42 percent, with only 4 percent undecided. The survey of 1,376 people had a margin of error of plus or minus four percentage points.

Dukakis aides said the Times poll didn't match its own survey results in California.

Battling the perception that California was slipping beyond his grasp, the Democratic nominee campaigned in the San Francisco Bay area, one of his strongest pockets of support, before large, enthusiastic crowds.

RESUMES
Best Prices • Great Service • Laser Typesetting
DON'T WORRY - BE HAPPY
CopyCat PRINT SHOP
228 Triangle St., Amherst
(413) 549-3840

The Legacy of Martin Luther King, Jr.
Andrew Young
Mayor of Atlanta
Former Ambassador to the United Nations
will speak
Thursday, October 27, at 7:30 p.m.
Campus Center Auditorium
All members of the Campus Community are invited to attend.
Mayor Young's visit to the University of Massachusetts is sponsored by the Civility Day Planning Committee and the Office of the Chancellor

What are YOU going to be this Halloween?
COSTUMES AND ACCESSORIES
• Musketeer
• Roman Gladiator
• Egyptian Princess
• Pirates
The Halloween Store
Find it at FACES
amherst/northampton

For Your Information

The FYI section is a public service announcement to the campus and community. Space is limited, so the Collegian cannot guarantee that all submissions will be published.

Lecture

Former US Ambassador to Egypt Hermann Frederick Eilts will deliver a lecture at 4 p.m. today in room 174-176 of the Campus Center. The lecture is titled, "American Foreign Policy Since Camp David: An Overview."

Interviews

Interviews for all students seeking admission to Early Childhood Education will be held this week. Applications, which must be completed before an interview, may be obtained in room 354 of Hills South. Directions for interviews are available in the same office. Students who fail to complete the application and interview will not be considered for admission in January.

Exam schedules

The Fall 1988 Final Examination Schedule will be available beginning Friday. Copies will be delivered to students in the residence halls and will be distributed to off-campus students only in the first floor lobby of Whitmore from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday.

Contest

The 16th Annual Halloween Window Painting Contest is scheduled for Saturday. All children between the ages of 5 an 18 are invited to participate in the event, which features the decorating of merchants windows in downtown Amherst.

To enter, pick up an application in any school office or the Leisure Services and Supplemental Education Office located at 446 Main Street no later than 4:30 p.m. today. Applications will be accepted on a first come, first serve basis until all available window spaces are filled. Participants will be notified of window assigments by today.

There is no entry fee, although participants must supply their own painting materials.

Meeting

Spitfire Color Guard, the University's competitive color guard, has scheduled an organizational meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the staff room of the Old Chapel. Topics to be discussed include membership, goals, staffing and practices. All University students up to age 21 with previous color guard experience, preferably competitive, are invited to attend.

Bible Study

The New Testament Fellowship will be having a bible study tonight at 7 and every Friday of the semester in the Campus Center. Check the event listing near the information desk on the concourse for the room number.

Hike

The Pioneer Valley Group of the Sierra Club is sponsoring a hike at the Quabbin Reservoir. Those interested should meet at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Women's Federated Forest for an all-day hike from Soapstone Hill to Dana. The hike is approximately 10 miles with some moderately strenuous stretches, according to the group; there may even be some bushwhacking. Hikers are asked to bring lunch and liquid. If you want to go along, call Alexandra Dawson in advance at 586-5586.

TAKE THE WESTOVER SHORTCUT TO NEW YORK

Six Scheduled Round Trip Non-Stop Flights to LaGuardia Daily

If you're flying to New York, why punish yourself with that long trek to the airport, going round and round a huge parking lot trying to find a parking spot? You wait in line at the ticket counter. Then wait to board. You know what it's like. Now there's a better way; a more convenient way to get there.

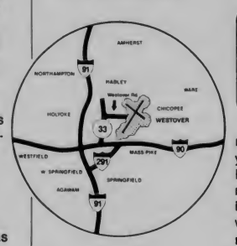
Now There's The Westover Shortcut

Two Westovers - Westover Metropolitan Airport and Westover Air. Look at all the advantages.

► It takes you less time to get to the airport. As much as 30 minutes less. Check the chart for your drive time.

► You park your car next to the terminal, just a few steps from the plane. And there's no charge for daytime parking. No waiting time for a valet van.

► You're ticketed in minutes and you're a hop, skip, and a jump from the plane.



Shortcuts to the Shortcut

From East and West of Westover, take Exit #5 on the Mass. Turnpike.

From the North, take Rt. 91 South to Exit #4 at the Mass. Turnpike Interchange. Then East to Exit #5 on Mass. Turnpike.

From the South, take Rt. 291 East to Exit #6 off Rt. 291 (Fuller Road). Then follow the Westover Metropolitan Airport symbols.

► And 45 minutes later you touch down at LaGuardia Marine Air Terminal. No huge crowds. No long hike to the outside world.

► You're flying Westover Air, a proud airline with a perfect flying safety record over its 18 years of service.

This is what you've wanted for years. No traffic snarls. No baggage hassle. No jammed parking lot. And no waiting... waiting...waiting.

The Westover Shortcut. It's the short and sweet way to get to New York.

How Long Does It Take You To Get To THE WESTOVER SHORTCUT?

Typical Driving Time To Westover (Min.)

Agawam	22	Northampton	16
Amherst	30	Palmer	18
Chicopee	10	South Hadley	11
Easthampton	18	Springfield	15
Greenfield	42	Ware	30
Holyoke	12	Westfield	20
Longmeadow	16	West Springfield	16
Ludlow	15	Wilbraham	18

Mileage provided by SH+E Inc., Consultants

LIMITED TIME SPECIAL
FREE Ground Transportation to Manhattan (and return) by Carey Express or the Water Shuttle. Limited time offer. Call for details.

Westover Metropolitan Airport

Call your Travel Agent for reservations or phone 413-593-9955

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

My observations

Symptoms of the 'nice guy syndrome'

Amid the chaos of the UMass social scene — consisting of drinking, dancing and dating (usually in that order) — there are a few strange entities that most of us have encountered but few have yet to recognize.

They are the beings that hold doors open for strangers. They always wear a smile and are ready to hear you yell and complain about anything and everything at any given time, then tell you that it will all work out for the best.

They have the disease commonly referred to by experts as the nice guy syndrome.

Who are they? Where do they come from? Are they some mutant form of life from another planet or are they some subset of the human species commonly know as man?

It is difficult to weed them out from the fraternity boys, dope dealers, beer guzzlers and the other males who are plainly "too cool" for their own good. This is because the nice guy is a master of disguise and able to mesh with any of the groups previously mentioned. This ability to conform is caused by his not stating his differences — for fear of possibly offending anybody.

This is not all bad, as his female friends are able to feel totally and completely trusting of him. The nice guy is affectionately called a "Ken Doll" or a "Safe Date."

A "Ken Doll" is a person who appears to have no sexual desires whatsoever, leaving most of his women friends to wonder if he has any testosterone in his system. A "Safe Date" is self-explanatory.

A woman feels quite confident about hanging on him, holding his hand and kissing him. When people question their platonic relationship, she answers: "Him? You've got to be kidding!"

Nancy Cohen

The major problem with finding dates for him is if his hall-mate's cousin's brother's former roommate might have an interest in the same woman, the nice guy would feel obligated to step aside so as to not intrude on someone else's chance.

If by some miracle he does find a date, he's too nice to have a one night stand and too honest to survive any kind of serious relationship. When he thinks of another woman he is compelled to immediately confess his sins to his significant other.

Detecting anger is very difficult to spot because he never wants anyone to feel put out by his insignificant problems i.e. car accidents, hospitalization or being harassed by bill collectors. One is able to go years before realizing a nice guy actually has problems. It never occurs to you.

Another benefit to having him as a friend, especially if he has nice clothes, is the ability to borrow anything, even the shirt off his back (literally, I know from personal experience).

Feel free to ask for rides, even if you want to go for a four hour drive at three in the morning. He'll take you, even if he has an 8 a.m. exam.

Worried about where your next meal is coming from? Don't dismay, your nice guy will gladly order a pizza, pick it up and hand deliver it to you at your place.

Want tickets for a show? Give him a call, he'll wait in line for five hours in the sleet for you.

I guess you understand.

If you are lucky enough to have a "special" friend like this, don't feel guilty or anxious about imposing on him and his good will. Think about it; if you didn't, someone else would. Why should someone else reap the benefits of this nice guy? That person probably wouldn't appreciate him as much as you. Right?

Nancy Cohen is a Collegian columnist

Odds and ends

More to life than safe sex

Safe sex. Safe sex. Everywhere I look, I see a new promotion for safe sex.

Last semester I returned to my dormitory every day to be accosted by explicit drawings of a nude man and his erection with explanations of the proper way to wear a condom.

My resident assistant had tacked these up on the hall bulletin board which happened to be outside my door. In deference to her wishes that nothing be torn down or mutilated on the board, and in spite of my distate, I left it where it was.

Ande Hallden

After several weeks, however, I took it down in disgust.

So what is on the bulletin board this semester? Now I come home to a "Safe Sex Menu," advising me to do everything from licking whipped cream from my "partner's" body (avoiding orifices, of course) to tooling around with a Polaroid camera.

We want to have sex with our "partners" who are having sex with others, or who have had sex with others in the past, but alas, there is AIDS and all the lovely other sexually transmitted diseases to contend with. So what's the answer? Voila! Slap a condom, dental dam or plastic wrap on the problem. Rubber and plastic products the salvation of human libido!

Sorry, guys, that's not the answer. I cannot begin to relate the countless conversations I have had with men and women who wouldn't mind waiting until marriage to have sex with the one they love, within the bounds of privately and publicly stated commitment.

"But I don't feel I can," says one guy. "Because . . . I don't know, I'm not being a real man or something if I wait." "How can I wait until I'm married?" says another woman. "How can I expect to keep a guy if I won't sleep with him?" When I asked her if she really wanted to marry someone who rejected her because of sex, she said, "Good point," and looked thoughtful, but who knows if it'll sink in.

Do you remember junior high school? A time when we worried about our bodies' development? Did we fit within the realm or normalcy? Would we be teased for a bodily overabundance or lack of this or that?

Look around you. We haven't grown up. We've traded in all that B.S. to now worry about what it is we're doing or not doing with our bodies. Where do you fit in? What are your real feelings? Are you acting on them, or are you just succumbing to that infamous peer pressure?

Ande Hallden is a UMass student

WASHINGTOON

Mark Alan Stamaty

IT'S NOT FAIR! SAID CONGRESSMAN BOB FOREHEAD BETWEEN CAMPAIGN STOPS.
MAYBE NOT, BOB, BUT IT'S HURTING YOU IN THE POLLS
I EXPECT A CHALLENGER TO DO SOME NEGATIVE CAMPAIGNING, BUT CALLING ME A "DAN QUAYLE TYPE" IS GOING OVER THE LINE!
THIS GUY IS RUTHLESS!
THAT DAY BOB'S CHALLENGER LAUNCHED A NEW ATTACK:
WE ALL REMEMBER WONDERFUL DAYS AT LAKE WETTWATTA IN SUMMERS GONE BY...
...AND WE'VE ALL SHARED THE TERRIBLE SHOCK IN THE SUMMER OF 1988...
NO BATHING
VIOLATORS WON'T HAVE TO BE PUNISHED. THE LAKE WILL TAKE CARE OF THAT
...WHEN OUR BELOVED LAKE CAUGHT FIRE AND BURNED FOR THREE DAYS WHILE EVERYONE ASKED HOW SUCH A CATASTROPHE COULD HAVE HAPPENED...
...WELL, YOU DON'T HAVE TO ASK ANY LONGER BECAUSE OUR VERY OWN CONGRESSMAN, BOB FOREHEAD, IS THE AUTHOR OF THE PROPOSED "DUMPING RIGHTS ACT," WHICH, IF IT EVER PASSES, WOULD CREATE MORE BURNING LAKES AND RIVERS...
...IN OUR COMMUNITY AND ACROSS THE NATION!
WHAT A CHEAP SHOT!
WE'VE GOT TO HIT BACK FAST!
BOB WENT ON TV THE NEXT NIGHT
MY OPPONENT'S ATTEMPT TO TURN THE LAKE WETTWATTA FIRE INTO A POLITICAL ISSUE IS PURE DEMAGOGUERY!
...IT WASN'T MY POLICY POSITIONS THAT CAUSED THAT FIRE. THAT FIRE WAS THE FAULT OF ONE CARELESS INDIVIDUAL WHO DROPPED A LIT MATCH INTO THE LAKE!
LATER, BOB MET WITH HIS ADVISERS.
THAT WAS GOOD, BUT WE STILL HAVE A PROBLEM
THIS YEAR THE ENVIRONMENT IS SUDDENLY A SEXY ISSUE. YOU'VE GOT TO PLAY IT.
BUT I HAVE ONE OF THE WORST ENVIRONMENTAL RECORDS IN CONGRESS!
NO MATTER. YOU'VE GOT TO TALK ABOUT YOUR "DEEP CONCERN" FOR THE ENVIRONMENT.
BUT HOW COULD I SAY THAT AND KEEP A STRAIGHT FACE?!
STUDY THIS.
BOB'S ADVISER HANDED HIM A VIDEO TAPE.
IT CONTAINED RECENT CLIPS OF GEORGE BUSH...
I AM DEEPLY COMMITTED TO SAVING AND PRESERVING OUR ENVIRONMENT!
WOW! WHAT A PERFORMANCE! HOW DOES HE PULL OFF SUCH AN OUTRAGEOUS FLIP-FLOP WITHOUT BREAKING DOWN IN HYSTERICAL LAUGHTER?!
PRACTICE LOTS OF PRACTICE!

Professors fail to give test for knowledge

Tests. They are everyone's nemesis. Well almost everyone's.

It is that time of the semester. It is time for midterms. It is the time when sleep in unknown, memory cells are overloaded and self indulgences are a thing of the past. It is time to make the grade. But in all honesty, when all is said and done, does making the grade really mean making an A? Maybe not.

In the shadow of the coffee achievers, the future professionals struggle to perform to the best of their academic ability. Why? Because that is what we are programmed to do, that is what we are told is right. Good grades will be the means to our ultimate end, whatever our ultimate end may be.

My question is this: Does an individual's performance accurately reflect that individual's knowledge? I say no. No, I know the answer is no. I am a case study.

For almost a week, my study group worked together. In the beginning, not one of us knew all the answers. At the end of the week, after much debating and problem solving, we knew it all. We had studied, argued and discussed. We challenged the answers. What we had done was learned the way one really learns. We did not just memorize what we were taught. We thought about it and expanded on it. Isn't that what higher education is all about? Finally each of us knew it all. Really. So what happened?

Michelle Bernard

It is more or less what you expected. You recognize the problems because you have done them all before. You have anticipated the worst your professor could give you and now it's there on the test.

You see a problem that you explained to the others. Of course, this will be the problem you get wrong. Somewhere, somehow, in the mad rush to produce the ultimate answer to the ultimate question in less than two hours, what you know gets scrambled between your mind and your number two pencil.

You answer the question incorrectly. John, to whom you had earlier explained the problem, answers it right. He is one of the few, the proud, the test performers.

Perhaps test-taking abilities are a state of mind. Maybe they are inborn and neatly cultivated abilities.

I do not possess such abilities. I can see a problem in ways others may not see it and I can solve it, but can I take a test on it? Maybe, maybe not.

One study group member proposes the question, "Everyone of us went into that test knowing the answers. How come only one of us could produce them?"

John responds, "I psyched out the test. I was confident, controlled and I mastered it."

After a moment of reflection, another group member responds, "I was unsure, spontaneous and I flunked it."

Which is more important, what you can do on a test or what you know? Is one a reflection of the other? We live in a society where academic institutions and the job market overemphasizes numbers, not knowledge.

Too often, grades are used to compare knowledge when all they really compare is test-taking ability.

Michelle Bernard is a UMass student

The Collegian gladly accepts letters and columns from the University of Massachusetts community. All submissions should be addressed to the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, UMass. If you have any questions or comments regarding the content or editing of editorial page, feel free to call us at 545-3500. Ask for David or Pam. Thanks.

Steele fears bleak future with GOP victory

If minorities, women and the working class think things have been bad during the Reagan Administration, they can only get worse if George Bush is elected, said to the national legislative and political director of the Communist Party USA.

James Steele, former chairperson of both the Young Workers Liberation League and the Young Communist League, addressed an audience of about 50 in Campus Center room 163 last night.

Steele said the few who'd profit from a Republican administration would far outnumber those who would suffer.

"This administration has sought to bring the sunset on equal rights, voting rights, women's rights, labor rights and abortion rights," he said.

Although Steele would not defend the conservative slant of Michael Dukakis' campaign, he encouraged students to get out and vote against the Republican ticket. Steele said the nationwide student vote could be large enough to determine the margin of victory in the election.

"It's been a campaign devoid of issues, steeped in negativism and reeking of pseudo-patriotism. Bush, in my judgement, ought to be defeated on those grounds alone, and then made to spend time going through Civility Week for 52 weeks a year for the rest of his life," Steele said.

—JOHN SWANSON

Jewish rally to be held

Hundreds of balloons will be released at noon today from the Student Union Building steps as part of rally that is to be the final event of Oppressed Jewry Awareness Week.

The events of the week which started Monday have already included two information tables in the Campus Center; one on Soviet Jewry and one on Ethiopian Jewry; as well as a lecture by Robert Freedman on the struggle of the Ethiopian Jews.

The week is being sponsored by the United Jewish Appeal, a part of the University of Massachusetts Hillel Foundation. UJA discusses issues and sponsors Jewish community. It also raises money for Jewish needs throughout the world.

"Our goal is to educate the people," said UJA Chairman Barrie Evans. "We can make a change by writing to congressmen and leaders of countries where Jews are being denied their human rights."

Three different colored balloons will be released at the rally, each one representing one of the three oppressed groups: Soviet Jews, Ethiopian Jews, and Syrian Jews. There will also be an information table on the plight of Syrian Jewry all day today in the Campus Center.

—JONATHAN WAXLER

The Mount Sinai School of Medicine of CUNY offers Ph.D and MD-Ph.D training in ten major subspecialties that encompass cutting edge areas of the biomedical sciences. The research laboratories are located in twelve participating departments as well as three interscience facilities for molecular biology.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL OF BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES
MOUNT SINAI SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
OF THE CITY UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

neurobiology and immunobiology. Students may enter in flexible research rotations that expose them to a broad range of laboratories in their areas of interest. Some of the faculty research interests include:

- Human Gene Mapping
- Molecular & Biochemical Genetics of Human Diseases
- Molecular biology of DNA & RNA tumor viruses
- Genetics and biology of influenza viruses
- Molecular mechanism of cellular and viral replication
- Molecular mechanism of viral host interaction
- mRNA transcription, processing and stability in vivo and in vitro
- Gene expression of exocrine gland-specific secretory proteins
- Isolation and characterization of gene-specific regulatory DNA binding proteins
- Transgenic animals and mammalian gene expression
- Macrophage and neutrophil physiology
- Immunological mechanisms of liver diseases
- Molecular basis of generation of antibody diversity
- Development and regulation of mammalian lymphoid system
- Pharmacology and molecular biology of neuropeptide processing enzyme
- CNS regulation of cardiovascular function
- Developmental neurobiology of growth factors and their receptors
- Neuroendocrinology of stress and reproduction
- Molecular basis of neurodegenerative diseases
- Neurotransmitter receptor pharmacology isolation and characterization
- G proteins and receptors involved in signal transduction at the cell surface
- Computerized image analysis of biomedical systems
- Synthesis and cellular sorting of protein hormone precursors
- Membrane biophysics
- Biochemistry of ATP synthesis
- Steroid hormones: transport and mechanism of action
- Growth factor structure and activity
- Physiology of electrolyte transport
- Growth factors and peptide hormones
- Molecular biology of plasma membrane receptor

The Mount Sinai Campus
The Mount Sinai School of Medicine is conveniently located on Central Park at East 98th Street. Students take advantage of the larger scientific community of the New York Metropolitan area and enjoy the cultural and recreational opportunities afforded by a mid-Manhattan setting.

Financial Aid
Mount Sinai supports its Ph.D students with a stipend and paid tuition and makes housing available in a new facility adjacent to the campus.

For further information and application contact: Ms. Jomarie Alano, Box 1022, Graduate School of Biological Sciences, (13), Mount Sinai School of Medicine, One Gustave L. Levy Place, New York 10029-6574.

MOUNT SINAI The Mount Sinai Medical Center of New York

The Witches' Gallery
YOUR HALLOWEEN HEADQUARTERS

THE UNHOLY TRIO...
MICHAEL IS BACK HALLOWEEN IV
JASON'S SHOP OF HORRORS! Jason's mask and the sadistic tools of his trade. Mask only, regular or glow in the dark. Now $5.98
FREDDY SLASHES! A real nightmare. The complete outfit including sweater, glove, hat and mask available.
HALLOWEEN HORRORS! WITCHES, GHOSTS & GOBLINS!
SPIDER IN WEB
HALLOWEEN CARDS—FUNNY & SCAREY! More than 50,000 at every store. Choose from Hallmark, Recycled and many more.
ALF—THE FRIENDLY ALIEN! Just one of the hundreds of Halloween masks available at Card Gallery.
NIXON, CARTER, REAGAN! Plus hundreds of other masks. Nobody has more than Card Gallery. We've got all the scary ones, too!
COSTUMES FOR ADULTS! Pirates, Ninja, Elvis plus many more. We've got tons of costumes, even at the last minute. Card Gallery has everything you need for Halloween.
JUST FOR KIDS—CLOWNS AND PRINCESSES! Card Gallery has a complete selection of costumes for children. Available in all sizes with accessories to match.
TRICK OR TREAT-SWEETS! Milk chocolate almond, Reese's or Kit Kat 30 pieces to a box. Regular price $3.39. Now $2.39
SNAKES, RATS, BATS, MICE! Hundreds to choose from... Priced from 99¢

CARD gallery
NOW WITH 14 EXCITING STORES TO SERVE YOU
IN CONNECTICUT: MIDDLETOWN (Route 66-West in Walbaum's Plaza) WEST HARTFORD (Corbins Corner) EAST HARTFORD (Putnam Plaza) MANCHESTER (Parkade) SYLVAN (Rt. 6, Mart Plaza) TORRINGTON (Parkade) SOUTHINGTON PLAZA (Edwards) BRISTOL (Shop Rite Plaza) FAIRFIELD (Circle Plaza) NEW INGTON (Larchmere Plaza) SUPER CARD GALLERY—EATFIELD (Federal Outlet Mall—Between Bob's & Channell) IN MASSACHUSETTS: SPRINGFIELD (Hampshire Square) WESTFIELD ACROSS FROM CALDOR) HADLEY/AMHERST (Campus Plaza—Near the STOP and SHOP)

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

from NEW YORK	one way
LONDON	179
PARIS	229
ROME	259
	round trip
CARACAS	320
ST. THOMAS	260
HONGKONG	739

Taxes not included.
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes, EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

Self Serve Typing
kinko's
the copy center
220 No. Pleasant St.
253-2543

ARTS/LIVING

Big Daddy Kane performs at the Fine Arts Center tonight.

Rap is no fad, says Kane; Hip-hoppers hit FAC tonight

By COSMO MACERO JR.
Collegian Staff

There was a time when many folks in the industry viewed rap music as a truly curious phenomenon. You couldn't help thinking it was just a silly fad back in the days of the Sugar Hill Gang and "Rappers Delight." But heck, anything was a welcome break from that disco-era misery.

Well, rap has come full circle in the last 10 years, and it's anything but a fad. The addictive percussive beats, confident attitude, and thoughtful lyrical phrasing have made today's rap artists among the most heralded.

Tonight at the Fine Arts Center, rap artist Big Daddy Kane will hip-hop his way to center stage. Opening up the show will be fellow rappers Boogie Down Productions. As a songwriter, lyricist, and producer for the all rap Cold Chillin record label, Big Daddy Kane (alias Antonio M. Hardy) has proved an invaluable asset, and is on tour now supporting his debut album Long Live The Kane.

Kane is clearly a product of the rap era. A native of the urban Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, he draws inspiration from his life experiences and rap artists such as the Furious Five, Grandmaster CAV and Kool-Moe Dee. Inspiration? Yes. Imitation? No.

"When I was younger, I looked up to those guys as role models. I don't emulate their styles," Kane said.

All artists have influences, and Big Daddy Kane does find reggae particularly suited for incorporation into the rap style.

"I don't really listen to rap. I think reggae is really good to listen to if you're into rapping," he said.

And as for rock'n'roll, a la Run DMC, Kane said "No, I've never really listened to much rock." Kane's style is more of a roots type, urban ethnic brand. Slick, smooth, and very cool.

"I think rap has changed completely. It's gone from original street rap, to today's commercial style and digital sampling. Now there's elements of pop and reggae in

continued on page 10

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
No. Amherst 549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

ATTENTION: NSE Students
You have to make plans for alternative housing during the Thanksgiving break. To get out of the hassle, attend the NSE New York Trip, Nov. 23-27. Sign up today by dropping off a $100 deposit required by Friday, Oct. 28. First come, first serve. (NSE Office: E-26, Machmer, 545-2191).

All staff Meeting
Newsroom ★ Graphics ★ Business
Collegian Newsroom
Friday Oct. 28 at 3:00

Training Workshop
CC 901
Sun. Oct. 30 at 3:00
At least one training workshop is required for Staff Status
Come write for the Collegian 113 Campus Center ask for Sylvia

DELANO'S
Proper Identification A Must
57 NORTH PLEASANT ST • 253-514
Drink of the Week
JACK DANIELS & COKE $2
Beer of the Month
BECKS $1.75
Wednesday Night is Jack Daniels Night!!
Spaten Octoberfest available for a limited time!

興旺樓
Chinese Kitchen
Fast, Quality Chinese Food at an Affordable Price
This Week Lunch Special
Baby Shrimp & Meat Sauce
with white rice $3.25
with soup $3.95
also-a 80 oz. pitcher of draft beer is only $3.95
Glass 75¢ Offer Good Only In Hadley
Hadley-430 Russel St., 253-2571 Northampton-150 King St., 586-8221
Help Wanted 11 a.m.—4 p.m.

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11 a.m.
• 7Days A Week • Call for Take Out • Kitchen Open 'till Midnight
Pool Table, Video Games, Juke Box, 3 Color TV's
Most Bar Seats In Town
Now Serving Homestyle Lunch & Dinner
This Week...Veal Parmesan, Stuffed Chicken, American Chop Suey, Tacos, Macaroni & Cheese
ALL UNDER $4.00!!
Great Food at Low Low Prices
Seven & Seven $1.75 Drink of the Week
DOS EQUIS $1.50 Beer of the Month
10th Anniversary 1978 - 1988
Good Food & Drink

Kane

continued from page 9

rap. People once thought rap was a phase or a fad, but it's now a major part of the music industry."

The evolution of rap is certainly worthy of investigation. What started as an ethnic quality of inner city life-styles has become a big faction in a mega-million dollar business. Breakdancing has gone the way of hula-hoops, but rap has made a distinct musical and cultural contribution to American society.

Kane has penned tunes for fellow Cold Chillin artists Biz Markie, Roxanne Shante and has recently worked with Rick James. In spite of his gifted writing abilities, Kane plans to embark on an all-out recording and performing career.

"Basically, right now I'm planning on just working myself. I did songs for Roxanne and the thing with Rick James, but I'm doing my own thing now."

Clearly, Big Daddy Kane is in control of more than just his vocal chords. While he virtually awed the front office of Cold Chillin Records with his knack for penning terrific raps, they are equally excited about his prospects as a recording artist in his own right. If the success he's already had is any indication of what lies ahead, they won't be disappointed. In the realm of hip hoppers, Big Daddy Kane is among the hippest.

Tonight's Fine Arts Center show begins at 8 p.m. Tickets are $9 for UMass students and $12 for the general public.

Boogie Down Productions opens for Big Daddy Kane tonight in the FAC. Tickets are still available for this UPC show.

What are YOU going to be this Halloween?

PERSONALITY MASKS:
• Ronnie • Max Headroom
• Spuds • Nixon
• Lincoln • Einstein

Sorry, no Dune Lynn Masks

The Halloween Store
amherst/northampton
Find it at FACES

WELCOME TO:
Mark's HALLOWEEN AT UNDERGROUND EXPRESS
WITH
BUFFALO WINGS FROM HELL!!!
MILD MED HOT TURBO

10 pcs.....3.95
20 pcs.....6.95
30 pcs.....10.45
& Party Buckets
50 pcs.....15.95
75 pcs.....22.95
served with our Chunky Bleu Cheese and fresh celery!

New! Chicken Strip Tenders ONLY 4.95!
w/BBQ & Duck Sauce or have them Buffalo Style!

OTHER FRIGHTFUL FEATURES

HAUNTED APPETIZERS
Couch Potato Skins 4.25
Monsterella Sticks 3.25
Cheesed Gooleyflower 2.50
Monster Mushrooms 2.25
Screaming Zucchini Circles 1.75

DARKSIDE ORDERS
Onion Ring Shackles 1.75
Wooden Steak Fries 1.50
Massacroni Salad .95
Potato Head Salad .95
Cole Slawter .95

DEADLY DESSERTS
Ben & Jerry's All Flavors
I SCREAM! 2.95

BEWITCHING BEVERAGES
Coke-Diet Coke-Sprite
Sunkist-A&W Cans-.65 Ltrs.-1.35

TAKE OUT OR DELIVERY
Tues.-Thurs. 5pm-2am
Fri.& Sat. 5pm-3am
Sunday 5pm-1am
Closed Mondays
549-7771
Prices do not include 5% meals tax

* Closed Halloween- So have a good night and remember to watch out for the Turbo Chicken From Hell!

ALPHA PHI OMEGA PRESENTS
The 27th ANNUAL
LAS VEGAS NIGHT

Blackjack
Roulette
Over and Under
And More!

Win Real Prizes! Donated By Area Merchants

Place: C.C.A. Time: 7-11 Price: $4.00
Date: Fri., Oct. 28

Proceeds benefit The Equestrian Therapy Center

THE ORIGINAL LAS VEGAS NIGHTTheme James Bond's World

Zappa proves he can do it on CD

By JAMES MALOY
Collegian Correspondent

Frank Zappa
You Can't Do That on Stage Anymore, Vol. 2
Rykodisc (CD)

Over the past 22 years, Frank Zappa has proven himself to be one of the most intensely creative, forward-thinking and humorous individuals in the world of music. He has released over 40 albums which run the gamut from gut-level rock to the edge of modern classical music, with many interesting points in between. And he has done this outside of the rock mainstream, surviving the sleazy workings of the music industry with the support of a body of hard-core fans. You tend to either love or hate him.

You Can't Do That on Stage Anymore is a typically ambitious Zappa project - over thirteen hours of live music from the past 20 years, released only on CD in six double-disc sets. The series aims to present a huge body of previously unreleased music and new arrangements of older material; the first volume consisted of assorted songs from as early as 1968 (with his first band, The Mothers) to the most recent touring band, which featured David Lee Roth's guitarist extraordinaire Steve Vai.

Volume Two was released this week, and unlike the first volume, features a concert in its entirety: the legendary show in Helsinki, Finland in 1974. The band Zappa had assembled at this time was the most technically proficient outfit he had ever had, and featured George Duke on keyboards and Genesis drummer Chester Thompson. By the time they hit Helsinki, they had been touring for over a year, and could play even the most musically demanding material in their sleep.

And so the concert is a killer. At certain points on this disc I found my jaw dropping in sheer disbelief at what I was hearing. Zappa's guitar playing is the best of his career, and the amount of musical interplay between band members is astonishing. Some of the songs on this disc (like "Approximate" and "Don't you Ever Wash that Thing?"), combine the most radical elements of avant-garde 20th century classical music, modern jazz, and Hendrixian guitar madness; in music like none that had ever been played. But as cerebral and weird the music can get, it is always played with a real sense of humor and passion. Emerson, Lake and Palmer sound like mechanical dolls in comparison.

And that brings up the more well-known aspect of Zappa's music: the funny stuff. Frank is known for throwing lots of off-color humor into his material, and this disc is no exception to that rule. "Room Service" features an improvised dialogue between Frank and a Russian hotel clerk, played by sexist Napoleon Murphy Brock; "Stinkfoot" and "Approximate" also feature Zappa's unique sense of humor. But the funniest moment comes when a Finnish fan, apparently mistaking Frank for Gregg Allman, requests "Whipping Post" in broken English. The version of "Montana" that follows makes fun of the request, among other things, and features a jam that rivals the intensity of the best Led Zeppelin.

So the question you're asking now is, well, should I buy this thing then? Not if you expect easily digested pop songs. But if you have a taste for some of the most awe-inspiring mutant rock music ever attempted by a band, featuring elements of funk, jazz, and truly deviant guitar noise, then jump on it! How many other bands do you know of that can play the Finnish national anthem off the top of their heads and turn it into James Brown rave-up? You Can't Do That on Stage Anymore is an accurate title, but Volume Two makes it clear that no one aside from Frank Zappa could have done it all.

Toots' makes Memphis; Maxi's marred

By SISTER WASSI
Special To The Collegian

Toots In Memphis
Toots Hibbert
Mango Records

Move over, Otis Redding! Here comes Toots Hibbert! It seems that Mango Records has finally accepted Toots (of Maytalls fame) for what he is . . . a reggae bluesman. Recorded in Memphis over a 10-day period, these tracks merge the roots reggae Dunbar/Shakespeare drum and bass with the soulful Joe Mulherin/Jim Spake/ Andrew Love brass complement. The result is powerful, unique music which carries Toots to the apotheosis of his persona . . . the Jamaican soul man par excellence.

Hibbert's husky silk-and-velvet voice and legendary phrasing here reach the peak of expression. After the tantalizing vocal intro of the Redding cover tune "Dreams To Remember," the band just socks into the reggae beat, and it is clear something special is happening.

Toots In Memphis could easily be titled "Toots The Lover." In contrast to the spiritual themes of previous albums Pass The Pipe and Reggae Got Soul, almost every one of these songs deal with some facet of romantic love.

Toots himself is a very loving, vital man, and he handles this material with charm and authority. Over the throbbing, pounding backup of "hard to Handle," Toots promises, "I can give you what you want, but you got to come home with me!" "Precious baby, you're mine." he

continued on page 12

Undergraduate art displayed in SU

By REBECCA MORRISSEY
Collegian Correspondent

The All University Undergraduate Juried Art Exhibit in the Student Union Art Gallery opens today with a reception.

The works, all done by student undergraduates, will represent a wide range of media including paintings, drawings, prints, photographs, collages and sculptures.

The show, which was open to all university undergraduates, was organized by UMass senior art major Jane Brady who said its purpose was "for undergraduates to get some kind of recognintion for their artistic merit."

Entries were limited to three per student and a lot of students did enter three works, Brady said. Over 100 works were submitted in all, but less than half will be in the final show. Even so, "it is a good way to see what the undergraduates will be doing in the art department," she said. "I can't wait to put the show up."

Prizes for the show will be $75 for first place; $50 for second place and $25 for third.

"We're excited about it because there are not many juried shows for undergraduates to enter their works in. We weren't sure how the showing was going to be," Brady said.

The exhibit was sponsored by a grant from the UMass Arts Council and UARTS, a student-run club for undergraduate art majors, helped with the intake of works as well as with setting up the show.

The jurors were Carolyn Arnold, Arts Coordinator at Hampshire College, and Felice Carvano, sculptor and coordinator at Art Space Gallery in Greenfield. The exhibit will begin with a reception on Oct. 26th and will run through Nov. 4th. Gallery hours are Monday through Friday 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

GOOD FOR WEDNESDAY OR THURSDAY
FLAT STREET
17 FLAT STREET / BRATTLEBORO, VERMONT
802-254-8257
ADMIT ONE
Bring This Coupon

Board of Governor's Program Council
presents
VOYAGER IV
The Laser Light Rock Concert
featuring music by
Pink Floyd
Led Zeppelin
The Police
and Genesis
Tickets on Sale at Tickets Unlimited Rm. 317 Student Union and at the door
Wednesday, October 26, 1988
Campus Center Auditorium
7,9,& 11 pm - Admission $4.00

WE DO IT LIKE YOU'D DO IT
BURGER KING
99.3 TRICO SERVICES
WIN A $7,500 SCHOLARSHIP!
TRICO SERVICES 99 Industrial Drive Northampton, MA 01060 413-584-3900
WE DO IT LIKE YOU'D DO IT
BURGER KING
Northampton
Easthampton
Hadley
LISTEN TO 99.3 WHMP-FM FOR ALL THE DETAILS!

■ Toots

continued from page 11

exalts on "Precious Precious," with vocal imporvisations so perfectly pitched andinflected on ly liesteres with hearts of stone will fail to be moved.

The album closes with a Toots original, "See it My Way." The reggae rhythm energizes funky chording as Toots pleads, "I was free with the love, I gave you all my heart, won't you try and see it my way?" Listen to him sing and you will.

Maxi Priest
Maxi Priest
Virgin Records

The debut album by this brown-skinned, dreadlocked Englishman, this offering was clearly intended to appeal to the popular audience, as opposed to dyed-in-the-wool reggae fanatics. Priest has a soft, sweet pop voice and smooth, confident delivery. He is backed by the same Sly Dunbar/Robbie Shakespeare rhythm team that probided the firm reggae foundation for Toot's smashingly successful new release. The great Jamaican saxophonist, Dean Frazer, appears on almost every track. The entire engineering resources of Virgin Records must have been called out, and even Beres Hammond, a highly respected Jamaican singer, sits in for a tune.

So why doesn't it work? These tunes are terribly overproduced, from the synthetic drum lines programmed by Dunbar to the heavy reverb on Priest's vocals. Each track is undisputably boring. With the possible exception of the Cat Stevens cover "Wild World," these songs are predictable, easy-listening reggae which generate no excitement.

"Marcus," a rather unrealistic ode to Garvey, has some energy, thanks to a strong horn section. But "It Ain't Easy" is marred by Michael Jacksonesque squeaks and squeals, and by trite rhymes like "when I was a boy I never had much joy."

"Problems," the saga of a difficult love affair, gives faint echoes of the Mighty Diamonds without the Diamonds' authenticity. Even on "Some Guys Have All the Luck," the well-woven backups become merely soporific.

In attempting to appeal to everyone, poor Maxi ends up appealing to nobody in particular. Skip this one and buy another copy of Toots in Memphis for a friend.

Laser rock show tonight in CCA

The Board of Governors Program council will present "Voyager IV" tonight in the Campus Center Auditorium.

This laser light rock concert features Pink Floyd, Led Zeppelin, The Police and Genesis and will be shown at 7, 9 and 11 p.m. Tickets are $4 and are on sale at the door.

★★★★★★★★★★★★

Wednesday is reggae-day at Katina's on route 9 in Hadley. Tonight Winston Grennan, King of Reggae Drums, will perform with Ska-Rocks Band.

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE

Here's another TOC extra
Wing-Ding
Hot and spicy chicken wings FREE every Wed. night at 9:00

Weekly drink specials and never a line at the door!

Lounge Hours:
Mon-Fri: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat-Sun: 4:00 pm-12:30 am

11th Floor Campus Center • (413) 549-6000 ext. 7634
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

THE HANGING FIRE COLLEGE TOUR

JIMMY CLIFF
w/ ARROW

FRIDAY NOV. 4
8:00pm S.U.B.

$13 UMASS STUDENT
$15 GENERAL PUBLIC
CASH BAR w/ ID

TICKETS ON SALE AT TIX UNLIMITED, FOR THE RECORD (FACES), MAIN ST. RECORDS

MC PRODUCTIONS

GOLD RING SALE

$60 OFF 18K
$40 OFF 14K
$20 OFF 10K

Jostens Gold Sale. For one week only. Order and save on the gold ring of your choice.

JOSTENS
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING™

Date Oct. 24, 25, 26, 27 Time 10:00 - 4:00 Deposit Required $25.00
Place UNIVERSITY STORE

Meet with your Jostens representative for full details. See our complete ring selection on display in your college bookstore.

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

"Hey, Bob ... did I scare you or what?"

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

WELCOME BACK, I'M JANE PAULEY. IT'S 8:15 HERE IN NEW YORK...
LET'S-
...CHECK THE WEATHER WITH WILLARD SCOTT...
THPPPT.
WILLARD!
HELGA KRUPER, 146 YEARS YOUNG TODAY!

Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau

UH-OH... ANOTHER ONE...
GOOD MORNING, SIR!
WOULD YOU HAPPEN TO HAVE A SPARE #18 IN MY SUBSCRIPTION TO THE "NATIONAL REVIEW" IS ABOUT TO LAPSE!
HEE, HEE! THAT'S NOT A BAD RAP. I'M GOING TO GO FOR IT, YOUNG LADY.
BLESS YOU, SIR. YOU'RE ONE IN A THOUSAND!
THOUSAND WHAT?
POINTS OF LIGHT. I'VE ALREADY MET FOUR OF 'EM TODAY!

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

EVER SIT AND WATCH ANTS?
LOOK AT THIS ONE. HE'S CARRYING A CRUMB THAT'S BIGGER THAN HE IS, AND HE'S RUNNING.
AND IF YOU PUT AN OBSTACLE IN FRONT OF HIM, HE'LL SCRAMBLE LIKE CRAZY UNTIL HE GETS ACROSS IT. HE DOESN'T LET ANYTHING STOP HIM.
I JUST CAN'T IDENTIFY WITH THAT KIND OF WORK ETHIC.

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

"We're just going to work hard, and we're going to win."

—Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis, responding to questions about his standings in the polls.

Daily Crossword Puzzle
Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

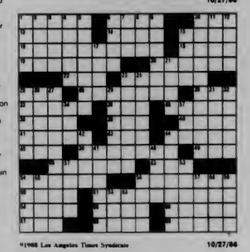
ACROSS
1 Troublemaker in Troy
6 Muscat's capital
10 Moo
13 Solo
14 "New — into old bottles"
15 Broad-topped hill
16 Road for sweethearts
18 Always
19 Record players
20 Protect
22 Explosive initials
23 Chicle gum
25 100%
28 Gets away
30 Golf teacher
33 Society idols
35 Cool
36 November birthstone
38 Etna outpouring
39 Stout
40 Choir member
41 Europe's 2nd largest lake
43 Swamp
44 Dutch painter
45 Salt
46 Accelerate
49 Compass reading
50 Actor David Ogden
52 Thing, in law
54 Remove
56 Flying ace Don of WW II
60 Fishes of the future
61 Affectionate
64 Seven —
65 Eden dweller
66 Expunge
67 High mountain
68 Soaks
69 Charters

DOWN
1 Chums
2 Thanks —
3 Wander
4 Torpid
5 Tranquilizes
6 Hooters and screechers
7 Actress Farrow
8 — Arbor, Mich.
9 Hackle
10 Tomatoes
11 Sign
12 Charge
15 Went away
17 Tossports
21 Word with near or far
23 Surrey money receivers
24 Add on
25 Apponion
26 Vine
27 Amorous grand jets?
29 Scarab
31 Prices
32 Upper atmosphere layer
34 Nitpick
37 Tidbit for Dobbin
42 Onent
44 Stephen, the poet
47 Hawker
48 1934 Nobel prizewinner
51 Flip
53 Hoard
54 Heavenly bear
55 Coward of nots
56 Muffins
57 Popular name in Moscow
58 "— we forget...": Kipling
59 Gives a once-over
62 Lyric poem
63 Barrel

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

C	I	A	G	L	E		R	O	S	I	N		T	I	M	E	N
R	U	I	N		E	M	I	E		M	E	T	O
E	R	I	A	S		E	A	G	L	E		E	R	G	O
M	A	N	N	A		P	R	O	M		N	E		A	V	E	M
E	S	T	A	T	E	S				E	L	A
				A	D	D		C	L	A	S	S	I	C
S	A	L	E	M		G	A	L	L	Y		D	E	A	L
O	N	E		D	I	A	R	I	E	S		A	S	I	A
L	O	A	F		E	Y	E		N		T	A	P	E	R
D	E	P	A	R	T	E	D		B	O	W
				T	R	E	A		R	E	G	A	I	N	I	A
D	I	S	M	E	N	T	I	P	O	R	A	I	N
R	O	U	E		N	O	S	E		E	C	O	I	N
E	W	E	R		S	W	E	E	S	E		N	I	N	E
W	A	D	I	S		N	E	I	S	S		S	I	T	E	N

10/27/88



©1988 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Menu

Lunch	Basics Lunch
Food	Food
Dinner	Basics Dinner
Food	Food

Weather

Today: Partly sunny, high in the 40's.
Tonight: Clear and cold, low near 30.
Tomorrow: Sunny, cool, high in the mid 40's.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Jim Clark
Copy Editor.....Pam McCarthy
Layout Technician.....Marc Infield
Photo Technician.....Richard Bonanno
Production Supervisor.....Wendy Rae Nutter
Production Supervisor.....George Francy
Production: Kim, Christine, Owen, Ashe, Kristin, and Joe - Ware's he going???

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Frubbels, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscriptions Manager

WORLD/NATION

Rescuers go all out in attempt to free two trapped whales

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Soviet icebreakers yesterday neared two whales trapped in the high Arctic as rescuers prepared "Operation Breakthrough," a go-for-broke attempt to smash through an ice wall blocking the animals' path to open seas.

The vessels were reported about 20 miles northeast of Point Barrow before first light in Barrow, about noon EDT, said Coast Guard spokesman Ken Freeze in Alameda, Calif.

A helicopter was being prepared to take representatives of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the Coast Guard to the ship, along with an interpreter, Freeze said.

The Soviet news agency Tass, in a dispatch from Moscow, said the larger of the two icebreakers, the Admiral Makaarov, had been slowed by heavy ice and by fog which reduced visibility to less than 200 yards.

Meanwhile, ice experts were trying to find a way through the pressure ridge and rescuers were trying to coax the whales over a shoal between them and ridge. The whales retreated from the shoal Monday.

Anticipating the imminent arrival of two Soviet icebreakers, the ice specialists were taking soundings Monday of the water depth on either side of the ridge, a jumbled mass of ice chunks about 200 yards wide and some 30 feet high.

The skipper of a US Coast Guard icebreaker assigned to act as liaison with the Soviets and a National Weather Service analyst were among those looking for a place where the icebreaker could punch through the ridge.

The California gray whales must get through the icy tangle if they are to reach an open lead, or pathway, through the ice.

The whales, stranded about 100 yards offshore more than two weeks ago by shifting ice about 13 miles northeast of Barrow, were about four miles from the ice ridge. A third whale disappeared Friday and is presumed dead.

AP photo

One of two trapped California gray whales swims in a man-made opening in the Arctic Ocean ice as two native whalers move ice away

D.A. says cadet death probe was professional

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — The district attorney says a professional investigation was conducted when a police cadet died during training in 1985, but an inquest has been requested to resolve any medical questions.

"Without any conclusions being drawn at this time, I believe that an inquest will aid in fully, completely and fairly answering any lingering questions in this matter," Scott Harshbarger, Middlesex County district attorney, said in a statement released Monday.

James Whitehouse of Braintree died on the second day of his training at the state police academy in Framingham. His cause of death was listed as cardiac arryhthmia due to malignant hypothermia, said Tom Samoluk, Harshbarger's spokesman.

At this time, authorities said the death may have been caused by a genetic condition.

Samoluk said Harshbarger requested Framingham District Court Judge Robert C. Campion for the inquest after his office helped Chief Medical Examiner Brian Blackbourne in re-examining Whitehouse's death.

Training methods at a state police academy in Agawam have come under fire since 16 kidney problems associated with dehydration, including one who fell into a coma, during training last month.

The condition of the sickest cadet, Timothy Shepard, has been upgraded from critical to serious. He was the only cadet to suffer heat stroke.

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT
Add Spice To Your Weekend!!
NOW SERVING BRUNCH
Every dish freshly prepared to order using the finest ingredients, and at prices that won't wreck the weekend budget.
Saturday & Sunday 11:00 To 3:00
7 OLD SOUTH STREET NORTHAMPTON

Bear Street 584-7771
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA
HALLOWEEN WEEKEND
Sunday Night Halloween Party
$300 1st Prize
Monday
Toni Childs
call Iron Horse for details
OPENING Nov. 1
DOWNSTAIRS CLUB

CINEMA
Handful of Dust
PG
2 Showings
7 & 9 p.m.
Senior Citizens & Children $2.00, Adults $3.50
DOWNTOWN AMH PST 253 5426

17th Annual HALLOWEEN SALE
Thurs. 27th thru Mon. Oct. 31
Treats
On Shoes, Clothing and Accessories for Women — in Downtown Amherst
Open Friday Nights
Zanna
SHOE BIN
north pleasant street amherst 253-2563 daily 10-6 sunday 12-5

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

FANTASY WORLD COSTUMES
HALLOWEEN COSTUME RENTALS
Mask, Accesories, Make-up
Specializing in Custom Made Adult Costumes
75 Russell Street
Sunderland 665-3639
M-F 1pm-9pm, Sat-Sun 1pm-5pm
3rd House On The Right From Old Amherst Road

Same Bat Channel
Satifies all your Comic Book needs
Role Playing Games
Horror and Movie Magazines
Baseball Cards and Posters
586-8775
Hampshire Mall, Rt. 9
Hadley, MA

THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
DEPARTMENT OF THEATER
PRESENTS
Eugene O'Neill
100th Anniversary
SEA PLAYS: In the Zone, The Long Voyage Home, Ile, Three short plays by the master of modern American drama
October 20-22, 26-29 at 8 pm
Matinee October 27 at 10 am
RAND THEATER FINE ARTS CENTER
TICKETS FINE ARTS CENTER BOX OFFICE 545 2511

■ X-C

continued from page 16

Cathy Crocker and Amy St. Pierre, due to illness and injury, were able to beat UVM who was also missing one top runner. Both teams are expected to be healthy by the championships.

At the N.E. meet last year, UMass took 8th place while UVm finished 9th. This year, however, LaFreniere hopes to finish third with UVM 4th.

"Both programs have taken huge steps over the year. We've both had key recruits and are better teams," LaFreniere said. "I don't think they believed they could win the quad meet, but the fact that they did, and without a full team, may give them a new outlook for the New Englands."

The Minutewomen are now 6-2 with the championships at Franklin Park in Boston coming on Saturday at noon.

■ field hockey

continued from page 16

sophomore Sue Mercik and senior Katherine Flint.

Mercik leads BU in scoring with nine goals and two assists. Flint has scored two goals and has dished out five assists. But UMass will also have to stop BU's Sally Maxwell.

"I think Sally Maxwell certainly is the key," Hixon said. "There is no doubt about it."

Gutheil, from her left back position will be the key for the Minutewomen in shutting down Maxwell. "Chris will really have to do a good job against Sally," Hixon said.

Defensively, the key for the Terriers will be goaltender Lisa Heywood. In 13 games, Heywood has recorded 9 shutouts and her goals against average is just 0.45. Statistically, Heywood is the best goaltender that the Minutewomen have faced this year.

However, the best goalie that the Minutewomen have seen this season is their own, Cox. Cox, a senior transfer from Purdue University, has given up just five goals in 16 games since winning the battle for the starting goaltender from Desmond. That figures to a 0.31 goals against average.

UMass is 14-1-1 on the season, which is pretty amazing considering that the Minutewomen have played back to back games three times this year and about half of those games have been against Top-20 opponents.

UMass' only loss was to Old Dominion University. The Minutewomen are unbeaten in their last eight games but now is no time to let up.

"I think now its a matter for us of executing and continuing to do well under pressure," Hixon said. "For me that's our next level, to continue to play to win and not just not to lose."

The Minutewomen have jumped out a to big lead over most of their opponents and when they have been in close games, have come through when it came down to crunch time.

■ soccer

continued from page 16

funny personality in terms of when it's up and when it's down. I don't know whether it's going to be two beaten teams (today), or we're going to show some stuff."

The Friars of Providence, since surging out to a 5-1-1 record to open the year, have dropped six of their last seven contests to fall to 6-7-1.

Gettler sees today's contest as an opportunity to improve on UMass 1-5 record on the road. "Providence is down right now," said Gettler, "they've lost a lot of tough games lately and I think psychologically they're a team ready to be beaten."

The Friars, who most recently lost to Boston University 4-2 on Saturday, are led offensively by Pat Kocourek who has nine goals on the season. Sweeper fullback Seamus Purcell landed third team All-American accolades last season, and poses a threat to score ("he's got that freedom," envied McCormick) as well as an obstruction to UMass's offensive efforts.

"We'll probably try and mark him to keep him out of the game because I feel he's their best player, and their most dangerous player," said Gettler of Purcell.

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
800-351-0222
in Calif. (213) 477-8226
Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information 11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

COTTON SWEATERS
MEXICAN BLANKETS AND RUGS
$20.00
Today, 9:00 - 4:00
Campus Center Lobby

you turn around, there's something new at jazzercise
Hampshire Mall, Hadley, Inierskate 91
*M•W•F• 9:30 a.m.
M•Tu•W•Th 5:30 p.m.
M•W 7:00 p.m.
Friday 6:00 p.m.
Saturday 9:15 a.m.
* child care available 584-0745
Walk-ins 3.50 ea
Mthly. passes available

GOBBLE UP A SPECIAL THANKSGIVING AIRFARE!
CALL: 586-8953 TODAY BEFORE SOMEONE ELSE GOBBLES THEM UP!
YOUR PARTNERS IN TRAVEL
Maplewood Shops Northampton, MA
586-8953

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO
AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS
ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT
FOR SALE • FOUND
HELP WANTED • LOST

INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES
PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED
RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES
ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL
WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30)• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

THIS WEEK ON DAMAGE INCORPORATED- Queenkrystal is gonna get close to you. Tune into WMUA Wednesday at 9:30pm.

QUESTION 3 PROPOSES PROTECTIVE regulations for Massachusetts farm animals. Learn more - get involved. Animal Rights Coalition meets Thursdays 4pm SU308.

MEET RON PAUL LIBERTARIAN for President Thur Oct 27 at 12:30 in Memorial Hall. The choice for liberty.

CRAFT CENTER IS YOUR resource. Make all kinds of crafts: pottery, silver, silkscreen, photography, etc. Free instruction.

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22. Sign up on concourse Oct 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Massping and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-6434

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics. Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306

APARTMENTS AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS 2 BEDROOM UNITS on 19 acres of country land. Ample off street parking and free bus service to UMass and shopping areas. Call 665-3656.

AUTO FOR SALE

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 spd Dark grey new tires, rims runs very well. $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184.

1982 PLYMOUTH new brake work, runs well $400/BO Matt 665-4431

BMW 1974 2002 - maroon Parets cut me off- must sell. Thousands invested. Sits, stereo. Can be seen at Lamda Chi Alpha. Bergain at $4000. Call Sean at 253-9932

1981 FORD PINTO good transportation new tires clutch battery $375/best offer 549-1681 leave message

1982 TOYOTA TERCEL, 5 speed. Excellent condition, $1200/BO. Call 549-1607

78 COROLLA 5 speed-reliable- 30-35mpg must sell! $800/BO 545-0600 x39 Elaine

GREAT WINTER CAR for sale '78 Ford Grenada automatic PS PB good tires and exhaust. Runs well. 650 or BO 253-5956

81 TOYOTA COROLLA New front tires, back shocks, exhaust system must sell $700 B/O Kristin 568-4624

1981 PORSCHE, 50k miles, grey, sunroof must see. $7250 or best offer Call 665-7221 Deb

81 TOYOTA COROLLA excellent condition, low mileage, am/fm cass., ar, 5 spd 256-0969 evenings

1970 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body. 4 new tires. $2,500 Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE- Over 700 CDs Great Sound! All occasions! 549-1421

ENTERTAINMENT

KLUBKAVE D.J. SERVICES - Professional music system at unbeatable prices - 546-6618.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Discpckays and large screen video dances Dorms/organizations 256-8526.

FOR RENT

SUNNY, SPACIOUS 2-BEDROOM apt in Farmhouse has an opening! 2 miles from UMass. 275/mo# Female preferred must see. Call 549-5845

FOR SALE

HALLOWEEN MAKEUP FOR SALE Conletti, hairspray, blood, kits, etc. Call Steve 546-8536

MINOLTA MAXXUM 7000 Includes auto flash, 50mm lens and carrying case. 8 months old. $400.00 or B O 549-8214.

SKI BOOTS, KOFLACH CE PRO, rear entry, sir fit. Men's size 10 $50 546-8035.

1980 HONDA ACCORD. New parts B O Gary 253-5907

GREAT JIMMY PAGE TICKETS for show in Worcester, Mass. Saturday Oct. 29 Base price. Call Tim at 549-4600 x250.

LARGE WOOD BEDROOM DRESSER - Cheap call Caryn 549-4942

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406

COMMERCIAL FUSSBALL TABLE $300 and other games 247-9005

HOT DOG STAND!!!
In town business
Good experience-great money!!!
For more details contact:
Dave or Brad 549-1594

10 SPEED BICYCLE for sale. $100 545-3500 weekdays. Ask for Brian.

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket. Call David 1-568-8212

PIONEER DUAL STEREO cassette deck $100 call Laura at 6-8021

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget. Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St. Northampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin We deliver.

GO-GETTERS ONLY

EARN FROM $8000 to $15000 next summer. 508-543-3706 Leave message

HELP WANTED

GRASSROOTS ARE BACK and now it pays. Work with Clean Water Action and be the highest paid activist in the region. We guarantee $7-10/hr Work on a Mass recycling bill and stop pesticide poisoning. Communication and Poli-Sci majors encouraged to apply. Call Chris 549-7450.

HANDYPERSON NEEDED for an RSO office Geisel/action project. Contact Mary 6-6672 and leave message

MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN A BIG WAY. Keep toxics out of our water. Ear approx $50/day with MASSPIRG. If you're fun and articulate, Call Chris 256-8434

PART TIME OFFICE ASSISTANT needed. Word/processing or data entry experience desired. 10-15 hrs/wk flexible weekday hours. Salary commensurate with experience. Contact Annette at Rem's, 358 N Pleasant St. Amherst Ma 01002 549-1199

DISHWASHERS. Part time, flexible hours, some days and early evening shifts. Starting pay up to 8.00 per hour. Apply in person. Season's Restaurant, Rt. 9, Bechertown Road, Amherst.

HOST/HOSTESS Part time/flexible hours/good starting pay. Apply in person, Season's Restaurant, Rt. 9, Belchertown Road, Amherst.

GREENPEACE: WORK TO PRESERVE OUR EARTH The destruction of our environment is not an acceptable industry practice. Work now to stop toxic contamination, preserve our oceans and its wildlife and stop nuclear weapons testing. Select your own days to work. Mon-Sun 2pm-10pm. Call 256-1439.

EXPERIENCED JEWELRY INSTRUCTOR wanted for spring semester. Student Union Craft Center. Call Anne 545-2096

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865

LOST

REWARD! LIQUOR ID & DRIVERS LIC lost 10/14 Please call N. Turney 6-4726

BROWN LEATHER BOMBER JACKET please call 548-6230 Reward.

LOST MASS LIQUOR ID Sharon Levy If found please call 253-9916 monetary reward

LOST RINGS - 2 gold rings/one coral/one turquoise/one silver/one shell. If found please please call 253-9916. Reward!

MOTORCYCLES

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD. Helmet, cover shield $850 Joe 549-7423. Evenings.

PERSONALS

PIKES - YOU NEVER KNOW WHEN YOU could be facing your killer. Be very, very careful. We're better than you think. Do you even know what you've gotten yourselves into?

DONNA FUHRMAN
you receive so many interesting personals! Why?!? Meet me at the Newman Copy machines Oct 30 8pm. Reply if you want to meet at another time.

MERLE (aka IFC Pres) - Thank you for all your help and support. You are s really good friend. M from AX

MATH 102 - GEOMETRY TUTOR needed $4 or 5 an hour. Help! 6-6158

CASSIE D. - Congratulations on getting pinned! Love the Sisters and Pledges of SDT

SHANNON C. MILLER You're the best thing to enter my life. I love you sooo much! 2-26-92 Love always, Stephen

THANK YOU, ST. JUDE, you're help was very much appreciated

MICHAEL S. THANKS FOR tucking me in last Thursday night. You were right, I should have kept my head up! Sorry I yelled at you! Pam

HEY LISA!
Happy birthday!
Love Beth, Leslie, and Brenda

LISA HAVE A GOOD ONE- happy birthday! The Big Guy

STACEY, 10/26/86 seems like two days ago! I love you, Chris

ANNIE- Happy birthday to the girl who has the biggest underwear shirts on the 10th floor of JA. Love, the girls

DAN- Happy 20th birthday!! Have a happy day! Love, Cindy and Valerie

OX- SORRY ABOUT the other night! I had a blast--hope you did too! (Thanks for not writing on my forehead.) Mery

MELANIE MACKLOW - You're hint was taken! Here's your own personal! You're one of the best friends a person could have- I love you much!!! Lara! always a friend

DEAR PINK CONDOM CLUB Thanks for the protection- from the cold! c/o Champion

MICHELLE, HAPPY BIRTHDAY I love you very much. You are so special and I hope you have the best 21st birthday. Love Meagle.

B.A.D. OR L. I can't believe we get along sooohooo well, living together. I love you. Truly yours.

DEE- HAPPY 20th. Go out and make it a great one! Love Lori.

SANDY SUNDAY PUB Friday scorpion bowls and tackling til 4 hugs lin alg call me your new friend.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY BRUNO - Prepare to be scarred. Love, your buddy

LYN- I CAN'T BELIEVE it's been 8 months. Time flys when I'm with you. Think you can put up with me for another 7½ years? I hope so!! I LOVE YOU- Pat

TO KARA FROM CHI OMEGA - Have a great day! Remeber your Big Hoot loves you- Shel

TO "Slick", the Stud Eskimo in 416 James. You can suck my nose anyday. ME!

ATTENTION UMASS WOMEN-
* Want to improve your social life and *
* meet new people? If yes, BE A PIKE * LITTLE SISTER! Open rush, Wed. Oct 26 8:30pm.

TODAY HAPPY ONE AND ONE! Let's put the past behind and treasure the future. I love you! Woofer

FOR A GOOD SCARE Don't miss Lambda Chi Alpha's Haunted House Thurs Oct 27, Fri Oct, 28, and Halloween night! 7-9pm 374 N. Pleasant St. A $1 donation will be asked, to benefit the Visiting Nurse Associations Aids Support Program.

HEY STUDMUFFIN - (A.K.A Greg Remmes) Happy 21st birthday - Love Shelly and Kelly

HAVE YOU EVER WONDERED WHAT your dreams meant? Analysis by two quasi professionals who have nothing better to do. Joanne-Nancy 6-9733.

KATIE B. HAPPY BIRTHDAY! You can still have the time of your life! Third floor rules! Live, Jenn

JEN TURNER TO THE GIRL who loves big fellas, happy birthday- sorry so late. Love your roomies. Mart and Kel

LEARN HOW TO STOP worrying and love the bomb: See Dr. Strangelove. Nov. 7 SUB.

TO THE GENTLEMEN OF PIKE- What comes between you and your jeans? It's certainly not your BVD's because they are all at Chi-O

WE WORSHIP YOU PAM RALSTON Love Amy and Beverly

GOOSPELL CAST AND CREW: Prepare ye for a great success! Good luck from the Universilty Players.

PAM BE A WOMAN AND go sick because you are 21. Happy birthday. Love BC Brandywine

PAM RALSTON IS QUEEN for the day because she is 21. So everyone worship her.

KATIE "ROTINI HEAD" check* Tiernan Want a diet coke?

ANDY- HAPPY 8 MONTHS! Hope there will be 6 more! You are the best, Comoll! Love ya! Donna.

BLACK DOG GRAPHICS Halloween T-shirt sale- 100 percent cotton, only $6.99 sign-up to win Christmas Raffle-free halloween candy on the campus concourse Wed, Thurs or Fri.

BEETLEJUICE THURSDAY 10/27 at 6,8,10,12pm Bartlett 65 $2.00 by IEEE/HKN

GOOSPELL- THE UMASS MUSIC Theatre Guild will be performing Godspell this Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sturday (Oct 26-29) at 8:00pm, with a matinee Sturday at 2:00pm in Bowker Auditorium. Students $3/general admission. $5 To reserve tickets call 545-2511.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, DENNIS - See, I didn't forget! Love, your cousin Lauren.

RESUME SERVICE

LASER TYPESETTING, quality paper, 48hrs. Guaranteed service. Free pick-up and delivery. Best prices in town. Call today 549-4135

ROOMATE WANTED

ROOMATE WANTED TO share two bedroom Belchertown apartment on busline. Must be older (25ish), non-smoking, no pets. 250. Inclusive. 323-5593

ONE OR TWO FEMALE ROOMATES needed to take over lease for Southwood townehouse apartment for Spring semester. Call Julie 253-3231

2 ROOMATES NEEDED for Townhouse while Southwood apt. 253-3650

PUFFTON VILLAGE - large double room available Jan 1, $150 per person. Rent includes heat, gas, water. Leave message 549-0840

APARTMENT MATE WANTED. Nice Northampton location. Call Greg at 584-7400 message

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interessed please call Beth at 665-4550.

SERVICES

FLYING FINGERS TYPING work done in 24 hours. Pickup/dropoff too. Call kevin 549-0118.

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor. Call Carolyn-leave message 253-5967.

WEIGHT LOSS OR MAINTENANCE safe effective Topp'Fast. 546-5369 3-8pm TARA.

ACCURACY GUARANTEED. Reasonable, fast. Basic editing. Foreign languages Gloria 323-5140.

FLYING FINGERS TYPING work done in 24 hours. Pickup/dropoff Too Call Kevin 549-0116.

TYPING. TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate. 253-WORD

ABLE TYPIST, basic editing, competitive rates, decent location. 253-5202

TOLL-FREE LONG DISTANCE

'88-'89 AT&T 800 DIRECTORIES. Cut your long distance bills with over 60,000 toll-free 800 numbers compiled into a national phone book published by AT&T. Get prompt information on products and services, the best prices on anything from coast to coast, immediate access to government agencies, businesses, organizations and more, all toll-free. Call before November 1 and save $2 off the $9.95 cover price. Pays for itself in just your first few calls! Contact Mark at 549-2671.

TRAVEL

COLLEGE WEEKEND in Montreal from $39 November 11-13 Call 549-1949.

TWO SOUTHWEST WOMEN SOUGHT

IT IS LATE SATURDAY NIGHT Sunday morning about 4 weeks ago Sept 16. Two women students ask a tall bearded black guy for a ride from the Townhouse Apartment parking lot in North Amherst to campus S West/ horseshoe, a gray toyota wagon. We talk about not hitching with strange men, New World Theater which you bought was awesome. Do you remember. need to talk to you. Call Miss 256-0218

WANTED

STUDENT ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVES! The Undergraduate Admissions Office is looking for a few dynamic and articulate Juniors and Seniors to help promote the University to prospective students. Become part of the Student Rep Program for Spring 89 and interview prospective students while learning valuable skills. Applications available Oct 24 in 255 Whitmore or on the Concourse Oct 31 and Nov 1. Deadline is Nov 4.

WANTED: Spring Break representative for Natl tour company. Great benefits. Call today (612) 784-2297.

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Huma) notes. will pay money$$. Shirley 549-2710

SPORTS

Minutewomen squeeze by Boston College, 3-2

Eagles give UMass all it can handle

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

It only gets harder from here. The University of Massachusetts volleyball team can't afford to lose or even not-win-convincingly their non-Atlantic 10 matches. That's why last night's five-game victory over Boston College could carry larger implications.

The Minutewomen had to pull out all the stops to beat the inspired BC squad 15-11, 12-15, 3-15, 15-2, 15-6.

UMass handled the Eagles fairly, although again not convincingly, easy when the two teams met four weeks ago. In September, the Minutewomen topped the Eagles 3-1, so what happened at the other end of the Mass Pike?

UMass coach Carol Ford said she thought that although BC did improve, UMass did not play the way it is capable of playing.

"I was furious. They didn't play up to their potential. There's no excuse for that at this time of the season," Ford said.

The first game was fairly even, Ford said. Both UMass and BC were playing good offense and good defense.

"It was pretty even throughout. We had to do our best to beat them. [The match] kept going back and forth," Ford said.

UMass' Nancy Sullivan and Barbara Meehan led the way in the first with six and five kills respectively.

The second game is where it began to get a little rocky. The Minutewomen led early (9-7) but couldn't put away the high flying Eagles. "It was a lack of passing," as UMass let the game slip away, Ford said. "We just didn't play well at the end of the third game."

UMass tried to gather itself and make a last ditch effort at taking the game when it called timeout at 12-14, but it just didn't have the fire power. Only senior Juliet Primer had more than two kills (3) for the Minutewomen in the second game.

The third game was not a pretty sight for the Minutewomen, according to Ford.

"We lacked enthusiasm. The BC kids were playing their hearts outs but we didn't do anything back," Ford said.

The Eagles, who were supposed to be easy prey for the Minutewomen, were now perched on a 2-1 lead. They were only one game away from getting their revenge on UMass.

"If we lost [the match] it wouldn't have changed the way I felt. Even if we won it wouldn't have changed," Ford said.

Fortunately for them, the Minutewomen put their serious faces on for the last two games — only allowing eight points total in the final two frames.

"We just dominated throughout [in the last two games]. It was good serving, good passing, good defense," Ford said.

The Minutewomen were paced by Primer, who had 10 kills in the both of the last games. She also led the team in total kills with 16.

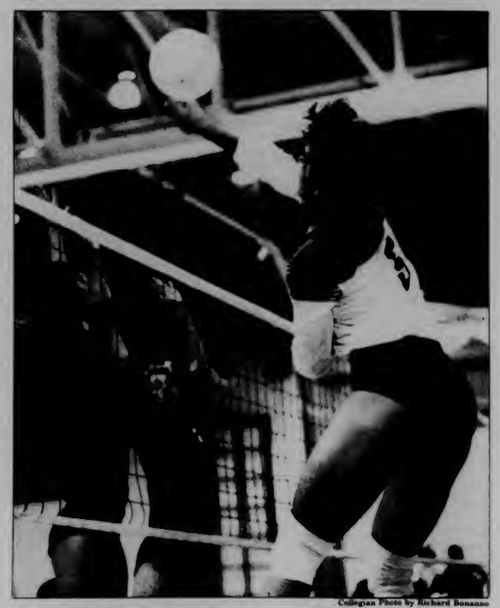
The victory wasn't as sweet as Ford had hoped.

"To me, they played really poorly and didn't play as a team," she said.

Of course the night wasn't a total loss. After all, a win is a win is a win, and last night's match raises UMass record to 16-3. Now if the Minutewomen can just pick up the intensity in the final weeks before the Atlantic 10 tournament, they could put on a late season surge.

"They're going to be working very hard this week. To me, that is very important," Ford said.

UMass' next game is Saturday at the University of Rhode Island, UMass' last conference opponent.



Collegian Photo by Richard Bonanno

It took all five sets for the Minutewomen to knock back BC last night.

Club Sports

The University of Massachusetts rugby team continued its drive toward the New England title by beating Babson University 28-0 Saturday at Lower Boyden field.

The victory was the third in row for the UMass B side and also the third consecutive shutout. The team will be travelling to Worcester this weekend to keep up its winning ways at the New England Championship Tournament.

Cross country takes third place at home, gears for New England's

By MEG QUINN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's cross country team is psyhed. They've worked all season toward this Saturday's New England Championships, and have just clinched an important win to give them the confidence boost they needed.

In last Saturday's home quad meet, they edged the University of Vermont by one point, 43-42, but lost to the Universities of Rhode Island (71) and New Hampshire (58).

"They were very competitive, got out to a quick and ran hard. It was the opposite scenario of last week's race at Holy Cross," (where the Minutewomen lost), UMass coach Julie LaFreniere said.

Precious Hill took off with the front of the pack and came across the line in second place with a time of 17:59. LaFreniere said she was impressed with Hill's mile average of 5:48. Shana Smith came in fourth overall in 18:09, with Laura LaVallee sixth (18:20). She was closely followed by Kristin Peers, who was 17th in 18:57, and Lynn Kirchoff, who was 18th in 19.05. Special recognition goes to Anna Montouri, UMass' no. 6 runner, who came in 19th place in a time of 19:20. LaFreniere said she made the difference in the final score. If she hadn't held off Vermont's 7th runner, UVM would have edged the Minutewomen by one point.

UVM is the team the Minutewomen have their eyes on for the N.E. Championships. UMass, missing two of their top runners,

continued on page 15

Minutemen head for PC

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Providence College has dropped out of sight in the Big East, and the University of Massachusetts faces an equal fate in the Atlantic 10 — if neither of the participants in this afternoon's soccer match are going to see post-season action, what's there to get excited about?

"What are we playing for?" echoes UMass assistant coach John Martin. "Good question . . . personal pride."

"Eleven and seven," answers senior captain Mike McCormick, predicting the best possible final record the Minutemen could achieve if they were to win their three remaining games.

"I'm not sure sometimes what motivates this team," adds head coach Jeff Gettler. "This team has shown a

continued on page 15

No. 3 ranked field hockey to take on B.U.

Last home game for eight UMass seniors

Collegian Photo by Richard Bonanno

In possibly the last home game of the season, the no. 3 ranked field hockey team will host BU today at 2 p.m.

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

It is possible that today will be the last chance for anyone on this campus to see the No. 3 field hockey team in the nation play.

Today's 2 p.m. game with Boston University is the last regular season home game on the schedule for the University of Massachusetts field hockey team.

But the season will not end for the Minutewomen after this game. They will finish up their regular season schedule at the University of Connecticut on Saturday and then it is on to the Atlantic 10 Championships the following weekend at Temple where the Minutewomen will be the No. 1 seed.

Barring any disasters by the Minutewomen in these last two games and the A-10s, UMass will be going to the NCAA Tournament after the A-10s.

As the rankings stand right now, the Minutewomen are the No. 1 team in the Northeast region and if that should hold up, they certainly should have a chance to host an opening-round game.

But that is not guaranteed. Last season, Providence was the No. 1 team in the Northeast region but the the NCAA decided that the preliminary round was to be played at the University of New Hampshire.

So for senior co-captains Ruth Vasapolli and Pam Bustin and seniors Tonia Kennedy, Kathy Derwin, Julie Stuart, Chris Gutheil, Susan Desmond, and Cindy Cox, this could be their last chance to play in front of the home crowd.

And this will be a very big game for the Minutewomen. BU is currently 9-3-1 on the year and ranked No. 18 in the nation by the NCAA. Two of their losses have come to the No. 1 and and No. 2 teams in the nation, Old Dominion University and the University of North Carolina.

The Terriers are currently ranked No. 4 in the Northeast. Today's game is crucial for BU if it wishes to be invited to the NCAA Tourney.

"It is a must for them to win in order to have any hope of getting into the championship at this point," UMass coach Pam Hixon said.

With that in mind, the Terriers should arrive in Amherst today with fire in their eyes. Their top two offensive threats are

continued on page 15

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 36

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1988

INSIDE

- Sister Wassi profiled. Page 3.
- Pam McCarthy on Top 40 Radio. Page 10.
- Field hockey beats B.U. Page 20.

Civility week expected to end hand in hand today

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

Culminating Civility Week, a human chain, more than 1,000 strong, is expected to stretch from Sylvan to Southwest Residential areas at 1 p.m. today.

The event, "Hands Across UMass — Against Racism," will follow a noon rally at the Student Union Building, after which participants will walk to the Campus Pond to form the chain.

Despite some speculation earlier in the week, the Rev. Jesse Jackson will not be appearing for the event.

Jason Rabinowitz, Student Government Association co-president-elect and an organizer of the event, told the Collegian yesterday that Jackson will be in New York City speaking at the United Nations instead. "He will be with us in spirit," Rabinowitz said. "I guess the United Nations beats UMass."

At 1:30, the bells of the University Chapel, located near the pond, will chime melodies to "We Shall Overcome," "Reach Out and Touch Somebody's Hand," and "Lift Every Voice and Sing." Rabinowitz said flyers with the words to the songs will be handed out. Speakers are planned to line the route of the chain.

Letters have been sent to professors conducting one o'clock classes urging them to bring their students outside to participate, Rabinowitz said. He also said 200 children from Mark's Meadow Elementary School will be coming as well.

Employees from the Whitmore Administration Building and the Physical Plant are also going to participate, Rabinowitz said.

Lori Edmonds, also an organizer and president of Afrik-Am Society, came up with the idea of Hands Across UMass about a month ago during a Civility Day meeting.

She said she wanted to do something that "will show how really unified we can be."

"It will show how far UMass has really come," Edmonds said.

Rabinowitz and Edmonds were hopeful about getting enough people to complete the chain. "Our goal is to have as many as 2,000 people involved," Rabinowitz said.

Photo by Joel Solomon

The south side of the Student Union Building reminds passers-by about the "Hands Across UMass" event.

Civility Day was instituted by the University as a result of one of the recommendations made in the Hurst Report after a brawl erupted in Southwest in fall of 1986 after a World Series game, in which the New York Mets beat the Boston Red Sox.

BOG tells vendors to stop selling questionable T-shirts on concourse

Legality of possible copyright infringement questioned

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

A character strongly resembling Calvin of the comic strip Calvin and Hobbes holding a marijuana pipe, or bong, pictured on a T-shirt was for sale in recent weeks on the Campus Center concourse.

Aside from whether the bong, or what goes in it is legal, is the shirt itself legal?

The Board of Governors has asked the vendor to stop selling the shirts until a determination can be made as to whether the sale is a copyright infringement.

Sellers of the shirts have mixed reactions, but officials for the companies involved are unanimous in their disapproval of the shirts.

"We would take action to have it stopped," Arthur Hoyt said. Hoyt is sales manager for Universal Press Syndicate, which holds the copyright for Calvin and Hobbes, syndicated cartoon characters created by Bill Watterson.

Hugh Hall, of Black Dog Graphics and producer of the shirts, has a different view, he has, however, agreed to stop selling the shirts until he has consulted with the Legal Services Center to find out if he is breaking a law.

In what he claimed would be his last day on the concourse for a while, Hall was offering his shirts for $5, yesterday, which he said is his "going out of business price."

Hall explained Friday why he thought his shirts are not illegal: "A bootleg is a straight copy, but a 'gaffe' is taking a piece of artwork and using it in a different way. It's not the most ethical thing in the world, but it's not illegal, either," Hall said. He said he changed the original art-

continued on page 16

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

T-shirt vendor displays product on concourse yesterday.

Mayor Young to speak tonight

Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young is scheduled to speak at 7:30 tonight in the Campus Center Auditorium. The lecture is the final event of Civility Week.

Young, 56, was a top aide to the late Dr. Martin Luther King during the 1960s and served as ambassador to the United Nations during the Carter administration.

He is also an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ.

— Collegian Staff reports

Senate blasts tax, tailgating policy

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Student Senate last night approved with no oppositition items taking shots at Chancellor Joseph Duffey's tailgating policy and Amherst's proposed $50 tax on students.

The condemnation of the tax, authored by Student Trustee Stephanie Orefice, calls for a boycott of Amherst businesses if the tax is passed by Amherst Selectmen.

Orefice said no plans were set for the boycott yet. She said plans would be forthcoming from the Student Government Association's Public Policy Committee.

Speaking about the motion, Sen. Michael Greiner said he had received the support of the Amherst Chamber of Commerce. Orefice confirmed this, saying businesses in Amherst probably were fearing a boycott by students.

Tailgating policy condemned

The move to condemn the tailgating policy at home football games declares this Saturday a campus wide "Tailgating Day."

Greg Rothman, one of the authors of the proposal, said, "We've spent all semester living under the tyranny of Chancellor Duffey's tailgating policy. We've been silent up to now and now it's time to take a stand."

Presidency

The question of SGA co-presidents-elect Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz came up once again in last night's meeting.

Rothman also had a hand in a motion which reprimands Silkoff and Rabinowitz for acting as co-presidents and

continued on page 5

CAMPAIGN 88

Latest polls show Bush in double-digit lead

Bush continues to lash at Duke

(AP)—Republican George Bush sounded like a man counting down the hours to victory in the race for the White House yesterday as he renewed his pledge not to raise taxes. Democrat Michael Dukakis vowed "to work, to campaign, and to win" despite the odds against him.

The latest news from the pollsters was anything but good for the Democrats. A Washington Post survey in Maryland— one of the nation's most Democratic states— showed Bush with a nine-point lead, on top of two national polls Tuesday that showed a double-digit Democratic deficit.

The vice president began his campaign day in Detroit, where he said Dukakis sounds like a man "just itching to repeal" the income tax cuts of the Reagan era. The vice president also defended his call for a capital gains tax cut from Dukakis' criticism.

"It's not a tax break for the rich. It is a break for those who want to have a job in this country," he said.

Dukakis advisers insisted the campaign's own polling reflects a closer race than the Bush lead in national polls. Said the candidate, "The pollsters are not going to call this election. It's the people who are going to be voting."

He added he would go "on across this country to work, to campaign and to win."

Bush optimistically looked beyond the election.

"If I am elected in 13 days, 8 hours and 22 minutes from now ... I will work with Congress— got to do that —telling them the American people in electing me, voted against a tax increase" he said. "Now let's sit down together, honor the people's decision, and hold spending increases to the rate of inflation."

Bush also contended that there have been a "staggering" number of jobs created as a result of Reagan-era tax cuts.

"My opponent thinks they were a disaster," Bush said. "Those sound to me like the words of someone who is just itching to repeal one of the most successful economic policies in our history."

President Reagan ventured into Democratic Maryland and said Dukakis has unjustly accused Bush of running a negative campaign.

"Well, I think they're squirming because George has shown America how far outside the mainstream they really are," Reagan said in Baltimore.

Bush's running mate, Dan Quayle, was asked about a CBS-New York Times poll that indicated he was the most unpopular of the four men at the top of the presidential tickets.

Quayle said Dukakis is "the person that is unpopular in America. . .he's dragging his ticket down."

AP Photo

MAKING HIS POINT— Republican presidential candidate George Bush gestures as he addresses The Women's Economic Club and The Economic Club of Detroit yesterday during a joint luncheon session in Detroit.

Duke vows to win despite odds

(AP)—Michael Dukakis insisted yesterday he is making "real progress" and shrugged off a double-digit deficit in new polls. Republican George Bush renewed his charge that Dukakis lacks the necessary experience to govern the nation.

"The pollsters are not going to call the election," Dukakis said in a statement to reporters in Denver. "It's people who are going to be voting."

Dukakis met with Hispanic leaders in Colorado before traveling to Illinois. Democratic running mate Lloyd Bentsen was stumping in Montana and California.

With less than two weeks remaining until Election Day, Dukakis insisted in a late-night television interview Tuesday that there was still time for him to overtake front-runner Bush.

But when asked shortly after the program about polls showing him trailing by 13 and 14 percentage points, the Democratic nominee simply replied, "Forging ahead."

In the 90-minute interview on ABC's "Nightline," questioner Ted Koppel asked Dukakis what Bush had done to "nail your hide to the wall thus far." The Democratic nominee failed to challenge Koppel's assesment of the White House race before answering the question.

"Two things," Dukakis said. "the Bush campaign made a very careful and deliberate decision way back in the spring to run a tough, attacking, negative campaign. And they've been doing it ever since and perhaps I responded too late, perhaps I should have been out there attacking or counter-attacking from the beginning."

He also criticized republican advertising and charged Bush with running a campaign "loaded with distortion and misrepresentation and falsehoods."

Earlier Tuesday, Bush defended his campaign ads against the Dukakis attacks.

"Because he was trying to run away from his record, I have factually pointed out where he stands on the record," Bush said during a campaign stop in Akron, Ohio. "And I am not going to be deterred. I am going to keep doing that honestly, factually."

KITTY HELPS HER HUBBY— Kitty Dukakis, wife of the Democratic presidential candidate for president, smiles while campaigning for her husband in Philadelphia on Monday.

Halloween !
we've got the goodies at:
A·J·Hastings, Inc.
Newsdealer and Stationer
"Conveniently located in the center of Amherst"
45 South Pleasant Street
OPEN: Weekdays 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Sundays, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

ATTENTION
WINTER SESSION STUDENTS
ENGLISH 112
PLACEMENT TEST

For students planning to take English 112 during Winter Session 1989

Test will be administered

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1988
7 p.m., Room 206, Bartlett Hall

No one will be admitted into English 112 without this test. Bring ID and pen or pencil. This test is administered free of charge.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

LOCAL

Campus DJ Sister Wassi is vocal on racial harmony

By TOM CIAMPI
Collegian Correspondent

Think about it: everywhere there is conflict. Whether the battle is over personal freedoms, the implementation of policy, or the rights to a piece of land; from some distant vantage point, these struggles among ourselves must appear to be tragically and lamentably senseless.

Not afforded such a vantage point, but well aware of the divisiveness of confrontation just the same, Sister Wassi, creator of "One Love Radio," has spent her two-and-a-half years on the air pleading for unity, understanding and love among all of the "brothers and sisters" of the world.

"It's OK to love each other and have friends from different backgrounds. It's normal, natural and desirable."
— Sister Wassi

Sister Wassi said she believes confidently that the "polarizations we see today between races, between sexes, and between nations will become irrelevant when we realize that we are essentially one people on one planet. The most important things that we can do are to communicate, to contact, and to enjoy one another."

She said US values are a hindrance to a greater understanding and higher regard for other races and creeds. She said the American ideal of individualism has evolved into widespread public apathy, where personal privacy is a more cherished value than striving to benefit the common good through personal achievement. Individualism has transformed itself into isolationism, she said.

"Our culture places so much emphasis on the individual, which is good up to a point. But at the same time, you find yourself really wandering around in the wilderness, and people have a real thirst for spiritual sharing that isn't being met," she said.

"One Love Radio" encourages people to quench that thirst, she said. It is primarily a reggae radio program whose "1,000 watts of love vibration" are broadcast on WMUA, from 9 a.m. to noon Thursdays.

Sister Wassi preempted musical programming in the weeks following the racial incidents on campus to encourage student dialogue and to urge students to continue developing better relations between different racial groups. One show in particular, during the New Africa House occupation, was critical of the refusal by the black students to allow non-blacks to participate in the occupation.

Collegian file photo

Sister Wassi on the air in WMUA studio

Sister Wassi viewed the blacks' separatism as a hostile gesture to concerned whites, herself included. While the black students were protesting this campus's alleged tacit exclusion of minorities, they were at the same time, she said, excluding other minorities and sending bad messages to any students on campus that might be sympathetic to their cause.

The racial disputes, she said, have created a "terrible barrier to better race relations on campus. There are lots of whites, lots of blacks and lots of people from other nations that would like to move more freely with one another. We go on the air and say 'It's OK to love each other and have friends from different backgrounds. It's normal, natural, and desirable.'"

As you might have guessed, Sister Wassi is not Jamaican. She has however, lived among Jamaicans for 15 years, and is aware of the struggles against disease, hunger and oppression. Sister Wassi said she has dedicated her time to promoting love in this country, a country full of opportunity, freedom and wealth, where one would expect to be free of prejudice and injustice.

She has spent a lot of time in the badly depressed areas of the Caribbean, where people struggle every day to get enough to eat. In Haiti, she was so moved by the scenes of absolute poverty and destitution, that she would walk through the crowds with a handkerckief hiding the tears she wept, not wanting to add insult to the injury of the impoverished Haitian people.

One Love Radio uses the themes of reggae music — spiritual awareness, love, unity, hope — to promote peace and to improve relationships in our culture. The music's mellow rhythms ease tensions and spread warmth, while its messages imply jubilation, brotherhood, respect and joy.

Sister Wassi and her partner, Brother Sugar, are eager to spread their message beyond the Pioneer Valley, and are currently hoping to start a nationwide broadcast of One Love Radio.

"One Love Radio up to now has been more successful than I had ever dreamed," she said. "This is a show whose time has really come."

Of her role as a DJ, she said, "I am there to praise God. I am there to unite people, to open the door to love. We dare to talk about God, about peace, and that assures us of impact."

Pro-life plans blockade

Anti-abortion group wants to close clinics

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

BOSTON — Operation Rescue, a militant anti-abortion organization, will launch a surprise blockade Saturday of an unnamed abortion clinic in their second demonstration in the metropolitan area.

In efforts to locate and defuse the demonstration, pro-choice activists and clinics have organized emergency telephone lines, counter demonstrations and regular contacts with area police regarding clinic security.

Constance Smith, member of the Operation Rescue, whose protests are sweeping more than 30 states, said the "rescuers" will not use physical force but will blockade a clinic until they are moved by police. She refused to name the clinic targeted for "rescue" this week.

Saturday, three people were arrested for disorderly conduct at the blockade of Gynecare, an abortion clinic in Brookline. The brunt of the protest was deterred because of bad weather and the arrival of more than 56 police officers.

Smith said Operation Rescue has escalated in this country during the last six months, and she expects a larger turnout for Saturday. "We are just beginning," she said. "We speak nothing and do nothing but pray and keep our minds on God. It is not for our benefit that we are doing this."

The rescue is not meant to bring drama but to initiate education, Smith said. "We have parents and resources to help raise children and provide an alternative [to abortion]."

The rescuers will blockade the clinic in order to insure that no abortions will be performed that day, Smith said.

"We want God to help these babies not to be killed. They're our children, our future," she said. "We do not want the decision of life or death to be in the hands of man. It is not our right."

Leslie Loveless, public relations coordinator for Planned Parenthood in Cambridge, said clinics in Brookline and Worcester are preparing staff members and warning patients of the possible disruption.

"Operation Rescue is a desperate organization intentionally breaking the law," Loveless said. "They're very harassing and intimidating," she said. "[There are] hundreds of people chanting 'don't kill your baby.' That's not discussion, that's extreme intimidation," she said.

Smith, who was arrested for protesting in Atlanta, said she will risk being jailed again for their cause. "I don't want to go back, but I will," she said.

Women who opt for abortions are succumbing to pressure, Smith said. "You think you have a choice, but you're under so much influence, you don't have a choice."

continued on page 16

Rally ends Oppressed Jewry week yesterday

By CHRIS WILLEY
Collegian Correspondent

Balloons representing different races of oppressed Jews were launched by ralliers shortly after noon yesterday from the Student Union steps.

The rally was the last event of Oppressed Jewry Week, sponsored by the United Jewish Appeal (UJA). UJA is a part of the Univeristy of Massachusetts Hillel Foundation.

The three main groups the UJA discussed were Soviet Jews, Syrian Jews, and Ethiopian Jews.

The UJA provides housing, classes and guidance for Jewish students fleeing oppressive countries. The group has adopted several of these students already, and is in the process of trying to adopt at least two others this year.

One of the the main projects the group mentioned that has helped Jews escape oppressive countries was Operation Moses. During this effort, 10,000 Jews fled from Ethiopia to Israel. However, according to one of the speakers, Scott Kramer, 15,000 to 35,000 Jews are still there. The ones left are the old that could not make the journey the Jews had to make on foot, he said.

Rabbi Saul Perlmuter said we need to complete Operation Moses, and get the families that have been divided back together. "Let our people go," Perlmuter said.

The balloons were launched to represent a hope of reuniting the Jews everywhere, Perlmuter said. The balloons came in three different colors, each representing a different race of oppressed Jews.

Oppressed Jewry Week is occuring at the same time as Civility Week, which is being celebrated to promote racial awareness.

The group said Civility Week is the perfect time to be thinking about oppressed Jews. Chairperson Barrie Evans said, "May all people everywhere be able to express themselves and not be oppressed."

Photo by Joel Solomon

Balloons after being released at yesterday's rally against Jewish oppression.

Series brawl one year ago today

Today is the second anniversary of a post-World Series brawl in Southwest Residential Area that left 10 students injured and seemed to unearth dormant racial tensions at the University of Massachusetts.

The riot erupted about 12:15 a.m., after the N.Y. Mets defeated the Boston Red Sox in the seventh game of a tight World Series. Witnesses that night said hundreds of students had gathered on the pyramids near John Quincy Adams and Washington towers before the fighting began.

Chancellor Joseph Duffey asked Judge Frederick A. Hurst of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination to investigate the brawl and recommend what measures the University could take to prevent future violence.

By 1 a.m., 10 students were in need of medical attention. One black student was beaten by what witnesses described as "a mob of white students." The student, Yancey Robinson, was treated the next day for injuries to his abdomen, extensive cuts and bruises, and a twisted knee-cap.

Hurst, who conducted months of interviews, concluded that the brawl was racially-motivated and avoidable. Among his recommendations were beefed-up security, a mandatory course on civility and multi-culturalism, and a yearly observance of the event — Civility Day.

— RICK SASSON

adirondack music

NIKKO SUPER SALE!

Here's your chance to score a great deal on some NIKKO equipment! Save $50 on a Nikko CD300R remote control, 3 beam laser pickup CD player now only $249.95! Fully programmable, super low distortion, this unit is a real quality piece. Save $80 on the D–60W dual dubbing deck! With six motors, excellent frequency response, and random programming, this unit is a super buy at only $249.95! If it's a turntable you need, buy the Nikko P–3 belt drive, semi–automatic turntable for our regular low price of $99.95 and we'll through in a FREE Pickering cartridge! WOW! If that's not the cat's meow, how about saving $100 on a NR–750 48 watts per channel, digital AM/FM reciver?! No kidding! At only $199.95, this is a great buy on a super receiver!

TOSHIBA DIGITAL WALKMAN!

It walks, it talks, it makes coffee in the morning... The Toshiba KT–4868 walkman might even cook you breakfast! Well, not really, but it is one of the finest walkmans we've come across. With digital AM/FM tuning and 10 memory preset stations, the radio section can't be beat! Even though it doesn't really walk or talk, it could wake you up in the morning with its' built in alarm clock! Wait till you hear the cassette section on this beauty! With Dolby NR, auto reverse, and a 3 band EQ, it's really hard to beat! All this for only $169.95!

Supercharged FM!

Tired of lousy FM signals? Do you lose the station when someone walks in front of the stereo? Do those concrete walls of doom prevent you from enjoying your favorite station?! We got the solution! The Parsec Beam Booster amplified indoor FM antennae is here! With a minimum of 20dB gain, finally you'll be able to listen to those weak stations in full glorious stereo! Cut thru those walls for only $39.95!

MasterCard adirondack music VISA

15 E. Pleasant St., Amherst 253–3100

Open Monday thru Saturday 10am to 5:30pm

Sale prices good thru Wednesday, November 2, 1988

Limited quantities. All items subject to prior sale.

No rainchecks. Not responsible for typographical errors.

WATROBA'S

MEAT GROCERY LIQUORS

SUNDERLAND RD.
NO. AMHERST, MA

Grocery Specials

Pepsi–Diet or Regular	$2.99 + dep.
Fig Newtons, 16 oz.	$1.79
Ritz Cracker, 12 oz.	$1.59
Triscuit or Wheat Thins, 16 oz.	$1.89

★★★★★★★★

Deli Specials

Louis Rich Gourmet Style Turkey Breast	$3.49
Land O Lakes Domestic Swiss	$2.49

★★★★★★★★

Meat

Store-Made Italian Sausage–Hot or Sweet	$1.99 lb.
Top Round Steak	$2.49 lb.
Top Round Roast	$2.29 lb.

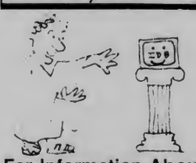
★★★★★★★★

Store hours: Mon.-Sat. 8AM-11PM; Sun. 8AM-9PM

Grocery 549-0933 Liquor 549-6565

STUDENT AFFAIRS INFORMATION SERVICES

IDB/TIPS



For Information About Legal Issues and Services Call 'TIPS' (545-1540) and request tapes by number:

2480 Community Legal Education
2487 False ID's
2485 Leases, Signing and Breaking
2422 Legal Services Center
2490 Sexual Harassment
2482 Small Claims Court
2491 Used Car Protection
2425 Ombuds Office
2493 Operating Under the Influence
2483 Security Deposits

see page 17 of the Student Telephone Directory for a complete listing of TIPS tapes

IF YOU HAVE FURTHER QUESTIONS CALL 'IDB'(545-1555)

Information Data Bank(IDB)

Taped Information Phone Service(TIPS)

Animal care ques. aspects debated

By ALLEN BERNARD
Collegian Correspondent

Question 3 on the November ballot, if approved, will bring about changes in the way Massachusetts' farmers are allowed to treat, transport and house their animals.

Advocates of Question 3 say the state needs laws to protect farm animals, but opponents say the bill is vague, unnecessary and that adequate protection already exists under current law.

On one side are the proponents and sponsors of Question 3, Citizens for Humane Farming, and on the other are numerous state and private agencies including the Massachusetts Farm Bureau, the Governor, the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture, and the Amherst Farm Bureau.

Question 3 has three major objectives:

'Ban the use of the "veal crate" in which veal calves are held and reared prior to slaughtering.

'Prohibit the practice of grinding or suffocating unwanted male chicks in the hatchery industry.

'Allowing only humane procedures in animal castration or or dehorning operations.

If Question 3 is passed, the Governor will have to appoint a scientific advisory board. The board would make only non-binding recommendations to the food and agriculture commissioner.

continued on page 6

■Senate

continued from page 1

orders them to discontinue using the president's office, title, and SGA/senate equipment. The results of the March 15 election, which Silkoff and Rabinowitz won, has not been ratified by the full senate.

The proposal had not been voted on at press time.

Rothman said until the election results of the two are ratified, SGA Speaker Robert Fadel is president.

"I don't want to walk by [the president's office] and see Shari and Jason answering phones and acting like campus presidents," Rothman said.

Rothman introduced his motion on a lighthearted note, saying, "Shame on you. I'm gone for a semester, and not only do you almost elect a communist and my good friend Shari..." At which point someone in the audience yelled out, "They were elected."

Addressing the senate, Rabinowitz said he and Silkoff were acting as presidents. "To get up here and say that nothing's getting done is unfair to us. Our record, I believe, is a good one."

He added that despite not getting paid for the work they are doing and frequent challenges to their presidency, they were trying to get things done.

Another Rothman proposal calling for new presidential elections did not get voted on because of time constraints.

Long announcements

The senate took nearly three hours to get through the announcement portion of the agenda last night because senators tried to suspend the rules to consider items not on the agenda.

One of these items was a covenant introduced as part of Civility Week. The covenant, which was approved by the senate, is a public statement that is intended to bind students together.

OUTRAGEOUS ANIMATION
THE WORST CARTOONS EVER!
Pleasant St. Theater
For One Week Only!
Weekdays at 7 & 9 p.m.
Friday at 6, 8, & 10 p.m.
Saturday & Sunday at 4, 6, 8, & 10 p.m.

DOMINO'S PIZZA
Inside Help Wanted
Great Pay!
Lots of Fun!
Flexible Hours
Wow! What a Job!!!
256-8911

PC CLONES
PRINTERS
SOFTWARE
ACCESSORIES
Sales • Service • Rental
DR. SOFTWARE
Software • Computers • Accessories
Pergament Shopping Mall • 241 King Street
Northampton, MA 01060
586-3210
M-T-W & F -10-6
Thurs 10-9 • Sat 10-5

GOOD FOR WEDNESDAY OR THURSDAY
FLAT STREET
17 FLAT STREET / BRATTLEBORO, VERMONT
802-254-8257
ADMIT ONE
Bring This Coupon

ACADEMY OF MUSIC ON THE PARK NORTHAMPTON, MASS.
ONLY AREA SHOWING ENDS THURSDAY NOV. 3rd
CURTAIN AT 6:45 and 9:00
The true story of Ruth First a South African who took a stand against Apartheid in the 1960s
SPECIAL GRAND JURY WINNER–CANNES FESTIVAL '88
★★★★ One of the most haunting and poignant coming-of-age movies ever made" Kathleen Carroll NEW YORK DAILY NEWS
"TWO THUMBS UP for 'A World Apart' ...Barbara Hershey stars in an electrifying performance... quite magical. This is great work" Gene Siskel & Roger Ebert
BARBARA HERSHEY
A World Apart
PG
"EXQUISITE" Amy Taubin THE VILLAGE VOICE
From Atlantic
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

CARROLL TRAVEL
15 Cowles Lane, Amherst, MA
256-8931
Round Trip

from N.Y.—Paris	$455
N.Y.—Copenhagen	$419
N.Y.—Rome	$530
N.Y.—London	$340
N.Y.—Amsterdam	$420
N.Y.—Frankfurt	$470

tax not included

THE HANGING FIRE COLLEGE TOUR
JIMMY CLIFF
w/ ARROW
FRIDAY NOV. 4
8:00pm S.U.B.
$13 UMASS STUDENT
$15 GENERAL PUBLIC
CASH BAR w/ ID
TICKETS ON SALE AT TIX UNLIMITED, FOR THE RECORD(FACES), MAIN ST. RECORDS
IMC PRODUCTIONS

UNIVERSAL CAFE
EVERY TUESDAY BLUES JAM w/ [illegible] & Blue Bill FREE
THURSDAY NOV. 3 THE LYRES w/ The Malarians $5
FRIDAY NOV. 4 DREAMS SO REAL w/ The Grave Gods
All ages show sponsored by WXOJ 5:30 p.m. Nighttime Show at 9:30 p.m. $5 Arista recording artists from Athens GA
SATURDAY NOV. 5 COMEDY with LAs, NYs and Boston's Finest 8-10 pm
AFTERWARDS THE INCREDIBLE CASUALS
$7.1[illegible] Comedy & Music, $5 for Music
SUNDAY NOV. 6 THE CONNELLS
Nov. 10 LOOSE CABOOSE NOV. 11 EVAN JONES & THE H-BOMBS
NOV. 12 [illegible] NOV. 17 RUMPTRUCK
DEC. 1 THE JAMES COTTON BAND DEC. 9 TREAT HER RIGHT
U.J.'s downstairs at Northampton 584-7771

Car speakers stolen

A student reported Tuesday that his car stereo and speakers worth a total of $300 had been stolen from the vehicle while parked in Fraternity/Sorority Park.

In other police reports:

- A leather jacket worth $300 was reported stolen from a student's room in Brett Residence Hall.
- A vehicle in lot 22 sustained $100 in damages when one of its windows was smashed Tuesday.
- A student reported her wallet, silver earrings and a walkman cassette player worth $100 stolen from a locker in the Curry Hicks women's locker room.
- A small stove fire was reported Tuesday in a residence apartment in Emerson Residence Hall. A Staff member put out the cooking oil fire with an extinguisher.

— THOMAS RODRIGUES

Question 3

continued from page 5

Other provisions in the legislation call for any new farm construction costing more than $10,000 to be reviewed by the scientific advisory board. Opponents say this would significantly slow the process of building new structures.

Other regulations are present to "ensure" humane practices in housing, transportation, diet, inspection and slaughter but specifics on how to achieve these ends are not given.

Opponents of the legislation say additional regulations will only hurt Massachusetts farmers and the legislation implies wrongly that farmers currently use inhumane practices in dealing with their animals.

Proponent Jennifer Arthur, spokeswoman for Citizens for Humane Farming, said the legislation was introduced by her group because they believe farm animals require better protection than current law provides.

She said veal calves are fed anemic diets lacking vitamins and iron to keep their flesh unnaturally pale. To keep the animals healthy, they must be given antibiotics, she said.

Some egg hatcheries in the state rid themselves of unwanted male chicks by placing then in large plastic bags to suffocate, Arthur said.

She said hatcheries confine egg-laying hens in battery cages with up to 6 birds to a cage. This type of confinement causes the birds to live in a space smaller than an 8 by 11 inch piece of paper, she said.

Although humane castration and dehorning of farm animals is a main point in the bill, Arthur said she believes most farmers already practice humane techniques.

Charles A. Costa, assistant commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture, disagreed with most of the claims in the legislation.

Costa disputed the assertion that veal calves are fed anemic diets. He said the calves receive either milk or a formula similar to what human babies drink.

Antibiotics are only used on farm animals when there is the threat of diseases and keeping animals on antibiotics is not common practice, Costa said.

Dr. Donald Black, head of the Department of Veterinary and Animal Sciences at the University of Massachusetts said, "If the guidelines are followed (giving antibiotics) is not a bad practice."

Costa said none of the local hatcheries he has visited dispose of male chicks through suffocation. The hatcheries have gas chambers for this purpose, Costa said.

Confining egg-laying hens to battery cages is a common practice in the industry, Costa said. This type of confinement has been researched extensively and has been found to be the most efficient method, he said.

The hens have food and water in front of them at all times and are free to move within the cages, Costa said.

Black said although farmers would probably have better production with fewer hens per cage, they use this method to acquire 10 cents per Massachusetts resident to assist farmers who are not in compliance. But where these funds will come from is not stated.

"I'm not opposed to the idea behind (the legislation)," Black said. "The problem with new regulations is that it puts farmers in Massachusetts at a disadvantage."

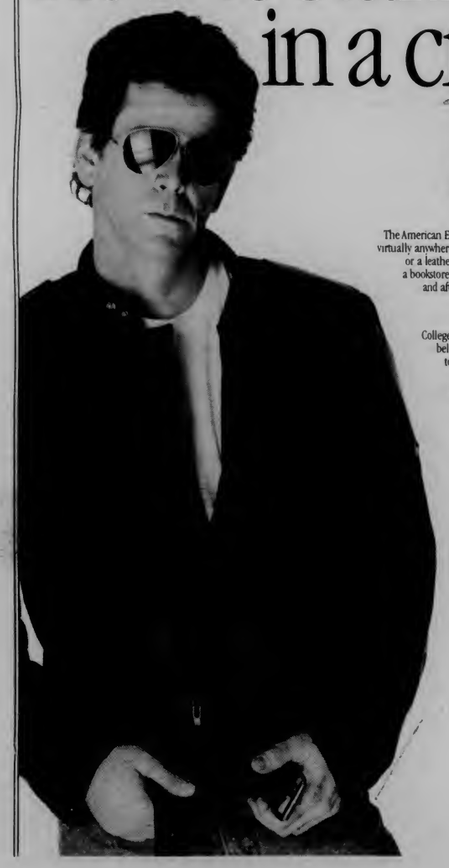
"I think what will happen is a great many of then will leave the state."

Costa said, "We feel that we don't have any problem with (farm) animal abuse in Massachusetts. We don't see any reason to have additional regulations."

Arthur said, "There needs to be humane standards set for farm animals. Right now, they are not adequately protected under the law."

BAR HARBOR
Clothing Outlet
ONE PRICE $10 STORE
JouJou Cherokee Tangiers
Diane Von Furstenberg Devon Calvin Klein Sero
Chaus Anne Klein Woolrich
Russ Togs
Super Stop & Shop Plaza
Route 9, Hadley
Free Belt with this ad
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

How to stand out in a crowd.



The American Express® Card gets an outstanding welcome virtually anywhere you shop, whether it's for a leather jacket or a leather-bound classic. Whether you're bound for a bookstore or a beach in Bermuda. So during college and after, it's the perfect way to pay for just about everything you'll want.

How to get the Card now.

College is the first sign of success. And because we believe in your potential, we've made it easier to get the American Express Card right now. Whether you're a freshman, senior or grad student, look into our new automatic approval offers. For details, pick up an application on campus.

Or call 1-800-THE-CARD and ask for a student application.

The American Express Card. Don't Leave School Without It.℠

TRAVEL RELATED SERVICES

The Best Way Off Campus
Peter Pan
Hourly Express Service, Daily to
New York City & Boston
Serving: Springfield • Worcester • Newton • Hartford • Albany
Bradley & Logan Airports
Service Throughout New England with Connecting Service Nationwide
Student Fares from Amherst to
Boston $20.95 round-trip
New York City $34.95 round-trip
The People Professionals
Tickets and information available at:
U-Mass Hotel Tel #1 or #2 545-2006 549-6000
Amherst Center Bus Terminal 256-0431
Hampshire College Book Store 549-4600
Price Watch Pharmacy So. Hadley 533-7115
Northampton Bus Terminal Roundhouse Pl. 586-1030

Five College Students:
Call 545-2511
For ½ Price Tickets

Marvin Hamlisch In Concert	Thursday, Nov. 3
The Juilliard String Quartet	Saturday, Nov. 5
The Amazing Cambridge Buskers	Wednesday, Nov 9
Peter Orth, piano	Tuesday, Nov. 15
Desrosiers Dance Theatre	Saturday, Nov. 19
Ladysmith Black Mambazo	Tuesday, Nov. 22
Quartet For The End Of Time	Saturday, Dec. 3

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

UMass students need to increase their awareness of AIDs

By PAUL PIERCE
Collegian Correspondent

With the AIDS virus afflicting more people every day, attention needs to be given to the level of awareness of students at the University of Massachusetts, said Jane McCusker, professor of public health at UMass.

McCusker is very active in AIDS research, on and off campus. Among her involvements are directing the newly formed University of Massachusetts AIDS Research Unit (UMARU), researching the disease in the Boston Area, and being a member of the AIDS action committee on campus.

Students at the University may have some false ideas about the spread of AIDS, and setting the issue straight will be no easy task, she said.

"It's a difficult group to motivate because many do not perceive themselves to be at risk from the virus, and some are not. But they do have these misconceptions they're spreading around," she said.

In one of the pamphlets distributed by the American Red Cross, some misconceptions were addressed with truths: it is impossible to acquire AIDS from donating blood; all equipment used to draw blood is sterile; AIDS cannot be transmitted from person to person through casual contact, use of bathroom facilities, and sneezing on or handling dishes of a person with AIDS.

McCusker said AIDS education at UMass would involve a strategy. One method is being tested by her and other researchers in Worcester.

"Worcester's community-wide program is one of only two in the nation," McCusker said. "It tries to identify drug users and their sexual contacts wherever they might surface in the community — in clinics, drug treatment programs, in jail, on the street — and to provide AIDS education and, often, voluntary antibody testing."

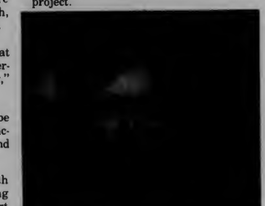
The effort in Worcester, still in its beginning stages, seems to be working. The infection rates among drug users there a year ago were 15 to 16 percent. Today they are hovering around 19 to 20 percent which, according to McCusker, is encouraging.

"We're hoping we can hold it at that level, rather than up around 60, 70, 80 percent as it is in New York and New Jersey," she said.

One of the reasons for its success may be the more one-to-one aspect of the enhanced strategy, rather than just pamphlets and TV commercials.

"The strategy is carried out by a health educator," McCusker said. "She's trying some role-playing situations, in an effort to get people thinking about what are some of the barriers to practicing safe drug use or safe sex," she said.

None of McCusker's research, which includes studying AIDS-related behavior among gay men in Boston, involves AIDS awareness among the general population. Her concentration has been on specific groups of people, such as the gay men in Boston, and drug users in the Worcester project.



Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno
AIDS researcher Jane McCusker

All staff Meeting
Newsroom ★ Graphics ★ Business
Collegian Newsroom
Friday Oct. 28 at 3:00

Training Workshop
CC 901
Sun. Oct. 30 at 3:00
At least one training workshop is required for Staff Status
Come write for the Collegian 113 Campus Center ask for Sylvia

10% OFF
Breakfast Items with this coupon.
GOOD TILL JANUARY 31, 1989
Breakfast at Bart's HOMEMADE
Fresh baked daily— muffins, scones, rolls, crescents, coffeecake and more...
Award Winning Coffee
Pleasant surroundings, fast service. Take out available.
AMHERST Bolwood Walk OPENS M-F 7:30 Sat. 9:00, Sun 11:00
NORTHAMPTON Across from Academy of Music OPENS M-F 7:30 Sat. 8:00, Sun. 9:00
Bart's ...it's more than ice cream!

HERE IT IS!
OUR BIGGEST SALE OF THE YEAR!!!
AMHERST MUSIC HOUSE
THURSDAY, OCT. 27; 10 A.M. to 12 MIDNIGHT
MIDNIGHT MADNESS SALE
ENTIRE CONTENTS OF STORE 20-50% OFF!!!
Guitars, Amplifiers, Strings, Sheet Music, EVERYTHING*
233 N. PLEASANT ST. (CARRIAGE SHOPS)
AMHERST
549-1728
*Text books not included.

ADVOCATE BEST OF THE VALLEY READERS POLL 1987 FINALIST
Every Monday Through Thursday
all you can eat buffet 5 p.m.
$6.25
Sun.-Thurs. 11-10, Fri. & Sat. 11-1 BANQUET ROOM AVAILABLE
PEKING GARDEN
A MANDARIN & SZECHUAN RESTAURANT
586-1202 on Route 9, Hadley (behind the Wall)

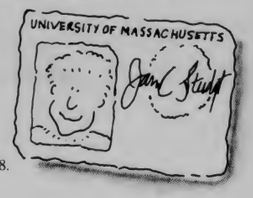
What are YOU going to be this Halloween?
SCARY MASKS
• Skull
• Werewolf
• Zombie
• Reagan
The Halloween Store
Find it at Faces
amherst/northampton

AN I.D. WHOSE TIME HAS COME

Any Cassette Or LP $6.99
Any Compact Disc $12.99

Hurry into Record Town. For the next 4 days your Student I.D. will save you up to 30% on the hottest LPs, Cassettes and CDs.

Present your valid University of Massachusetts Student I.D. at Record Town and receive any LP or Cassette (regularly priced up to $9.99) for $6.99 or any single-album Compact Disc (regularly priced up to $16.99) for only $12.99. Limit 3. Not valid with other offers. Offer expires 10/30/88. Offer good at our Hadley location only.



Record Town - the only music and video store you'll ever need.

No I.D. Necessary for Pictured Titles.

record town
MUSIC & VIDEO
Hadley, Hampshire Mall • 586-6351.

VISA MasterCard DISCOVER

Kohl reviews talks with Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — Chancellor Helmut Kohl of West Germany said yesterday the Soviet Union has agreed to release all people regarded as political prisoners within the next 10 weeks.

Kohl made the statement at a news conference at which he reviewed the results of 10 hours of talks he held this week with Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev and other top Soviet officials.

During his discussions, Kohl said, "the Soviets confirmed that they would release before the end of the year all people who could be considered political prisoners."

When asked how many people that could involve, Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher of West Germany replied, "We are not in a position to give final figures."

Many Western governments have given lists to the Soviets of people they regard as jailed or held in psychiatric institutions for their political or religious beliefs.

When asked if the pledge had come from Gorbachev himself, Kohl said only it was made "during the talks." His remarks in German were translated into English by the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

Last year, Soviet authorities released at least 300 prisoners who were being held on charges such as anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda or slandering the Soviet state. Most Estonian and Lithuanian nationalists who were being imprisoned for their views have been released this year.

The ruling Communist Party and government are reviewing the Soviet penal code, and the United States has repeatedly urged that the Soviets abolish those laws most often used to hold political prisoners.

Amnesty International, the London-based human rights group, said last month the number of people imprisoned in Soviet labor camps, psychiatric hospitals or exiled for their political beliefs numbered about 200, compared to 10,000 a few years ago.

Soviet officials contend that all but a few people classified in the West as political prisoners have been released since a review of such cases began in February, 1987.

They also say the law under which they were charged, forbidding dissemination of anti-Soviet propaganda or agitation, is being softened in the revision of the Soviet criminal code.

SOVIET CONFERENCE— West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl during a news conference yesterday in Moscow at the end of his official visit to the Soviet Union

MARITHÉ FRANÇOIS GIRBAUD
20% OFF THIS WEEK
Casablanca
OPEN SEVEN DAYS
Mon-Weds 10-6, Thurs-Fri 10-8, Sat 10-6, Sun 12-6
28 Main St., Northampton, MA (413)584-0806

NOW OPEN in South Amherst
South Towne Commons
LAUNDROMAT
Ready to serve you with New State of the Art Machines
OPEN 7 DAYS 7AM 10PM
479 WEST ST SOUTH AMHERST

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
No. Amherst 549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

WORLD/NATION

Soviets help US with whales

ABOARD THE ADMIRAL MAKAROV (AP) — Two Soviet icebreakers flying US and Soviet flags worked yesterday to smash through an ice ridge as dawn approached on what rescuers hope will be freedom day for two whales imprisoned in ice for nearly three weeks.

"The whales seemed to be doing fine," Rear Adm. Sigmund Petersen of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration said this morning. "It's like they expected something to be happening. Everything seems to be coming together," he said.

Rescuers had one of their best days yet Tuesday as the unprecedented international effort to save the two California gray whales neared a climax. They succeeded in moving the huge mammals around a shoal that had stymied progress for three days.

As darkness fell Tuesday, the mammals were only about two miles from the water being opened by the Soviet ships.

The whales could be free by late this afternoon if things go as well today as they did the day before, said NOAA rescue coordinator Ron Morris.

Petersen said "the cooperation has just been fantastic. The Soviets came in here with a very positive attitude and went to work immediately."

Later yesterday, rescuers planned to use a tractor-like device propelled by pontoon augers to cut the relatively thin ice remaining between the whales and the icebreakers' farthest advance.

Contamination report criticized

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Plutonium particles floating in the air inside a key nuclear weapons facility contaminated two employees and a Department of Energy inspector on Sept. 29, a federal official said.

Earl Whiteman, who supervises a 60-person Energy Department office at Rocky Flats, gave the report Tuesday night before 300 workers, plant critics and others, as he explained the incidents of the past few weeks.

But most of the audience said they left dissatisfied with Whiteman's answers about contamination.

"We may sometimes not be good at explaining everything," Whiteman told the sometimes hostile crowd. "But we damn well tell the truth."

The response was boos and catcalls from half the audience.

Whiteman focused on the Sept. 29 incident that led to the closing of Building 771, the main production facility at the nuclear weapons plant. The three people inhaled plutonium through their noses.

Whiteman said the three people walked into Room 114 without wearing required respirators, they didn't see a warning sign so they walked near a bin storing plutonium waste.

But then he said the bin never released plutonium in the air, which prompted confusion about why the trio was exposed to plutonium.

His answer was that it's not uncommon for Rocky Flats to operate at 1 percent of the maximum allowable airborne radiation limit.

The First Annual BODY SHOP
5 K Halloween Fun Run

October 29 at 10:00 am
Starts in front of McGuirk Alumni Stadium

Prizes to 1-2-3 male and female in the following categories:

J. Adams members
Kennedy members
Totman members
Non-members
Over 25 years old

Plus 1-2-3 for Best Halloween Costume

Sign up at all three Body Shops or from 9-10 am at the run site

Free to Body Shop members
$5 entry fee for non-members

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN!

TIME WHEN THE TEXTBOOK ANNEX MUST BEGIN TO RETURN UNSOLD FALL COURSE BOOKS TO THE PUBLISHERS
RETURNS START
OCTOBER 28
DON'T WAIT TO GET A NECESSARY BOOK - YOU MAY BE DISAPPOINTED!
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
HOURS
MON-FRI 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

the UNIVERSITY STORE's
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
@ physical plant bldg

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Q-What's wrong with this picture?

Operation rescue a lot of things — but not helpful to women

On Oct. 29 Operation Rescue will further torment women who decide to have abortions by blockading clinics nationwide. They will most likely be somewhere in Western Massachusetts on that day, but they refuse to let anyone know where they're going to be.

The born-again-conservative group has been sitting in at small, easily disruptable clinics around the country for the last year. These are the same people who brought you the first clinic bombings, whose literature boasts of rises in medical complications among women having abortions at clinics they blockade, and who want to save your soul by making you a mother.

Daria Casinelli

The issue of abortion is many-sided and painful and the born-agains' habit of focusing only on the spiritual end of the problem only complicates matters.

When it comes down to it no one wants to have an abortion and the assumption on these people's part that these women have just "made a mistake" and not given the matter and their lives some long hard thought is insulting, dehumanizing and downright ghoulish.

Their fascination with fetuses in jars, abortions gone wrong and premature infants is at most an interesting social phenomenon and at the worst borders on psychopathy. I'll save my musing on Christian housewives who spend inordinate amounts of time thinking about such things for my first soap opera.

Abortion has happened in every civilization since time began only because no civilization has ever provided women with the resources for true reproductive freedom.

As long as single motherhood is not a viable option then abortion must be a viable option. As long as there is no safe, reliable contraceptive available to everybody, then abortion must be an option. As long as information about and control over our bodies is in any way shape or form in someone else's hand, then abortion must be an option.

That is because control over one's body is the first axiom of freedom. It comes before freedom of speech, before freedom of religion, and way before freedom of the market. Without the right to control one's own body all other freedoms are meaningless.

And then there is the spiritual end of it. The born-again accuse feminists of all manner of horrible and evil things, everything from devil worshipping to communism.

But worst of all they accuse us of having no religion. I don't think I've ever met a religion more devoid of humanity, spirit and heart that Christian fundamentalism. The failure to be able to put oneself in someone else's shoes is the first step to fascism. The ability to do so, on the other hand, is the first step to knowing God.

To be with other people, to understand their life, and their choices is to understand that when there is no choice, there is no sin. We all know women who should never become mothers. To choose to become a mother when you know in your heart that it is the wrong thing to do is to commit an act not worthy of a true human being.

I'm not asking anyone to "favor" abortion, instead think about how much you'd like nationalized health care, day care on demand, a guaranteed minimum income, and safe reliable contraception. Now forget about church and think about God.

Daria Casinelli is a UMass student

We need your help

Nov. 8 is election day — a chance to cast your vote in the presidential election.

But before that, the Collegian is putting together a special election package on the presidential and congressional candidates. We'll also have all sides of the referendum questions.

But to do that, we need your help. What do you think? If you have opinions on the election or the questions, send them to the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, UMass. Keep your submissions short, and please turn them in by Tuesday, Nov. 1. Thanks.

'M' is for mouth

Misery is 40 hours each week of Top 40 radio

I still have nightmares about it. For months, I've been trying to forget. I hate being traumatized in such a horrible way. Yet time and time again, I hear a droning voice in my head, like the nightmarish voice I was subjected to over the summer. Occasionally I get flashbacks.

Pamela McCarthy

It's been hard, but I have survived.

It all started with my summer job. . .

I love music. The right kind of music can turn a dull, drab workday into an eight-hour party.

The place where I worked over the summer seemed to have the same philosophy, because they played a radio, not that canned elevator crap that should be used as torture for convicted murderers in solitary confinement. Needless to say, I was happy about this.

Then I found out exactly what kind of station it was.

It played the same 10 songs in a row. It had commercials that sounded exactly like the songs. The songs were all similar. The lyrics were pretty insipid. And the disk jockeys would yak on and on while a song played. It was . . . TOP 40 RADIO!!!!

For a while, I thought I could stand it. After all, just because I don't like Top 40 music doesn't mean I can't listen to it for eight hours a day, five or six days a week. Why that's only 40 to 48 hours of. . . uh, excuse me for a minute, the world is getting fuzzy. . .

I'm okay now. I just remember the feeling of horror that calculation gave me. But I didn't think it would be so bad.

Oh, how naive I was.

I was stupid enough to believe that there would be some variety. This means more than just the same 10 songs played over and over again, every hour, on the hour. I didn't ask for much. I didn't expect all sorts of musical genres or anything like that, just some different songs. That's all.

The only problem was, all of the new songs that hit the Top 40 sounded exactly like the ones that left the Top 40. I was trapped in a room with sounds of wailing singers and synthesizers. The worst part was neither was on key.

But wait, that's not all.

I can still hear the obnoxious voice of the disk jockey. Oh Lord, how I learned to hate those few voices that would announce the newest nightclub opening or rattle on about a sale at Tello's (always to a Janet Jackson song, of course). I'm not sure whether I want to kiss them for or kill them for droning on and on while the song was beginning. I can imagine what these people must have been told: "Now look, people don't listen to this station because we play music. They love the sound of your voices. So talk it up! The music is secondary. Don't worry about it. It doesn't matter, only you matter. They love the sound of your voice."

I can recite "Dirty Diana" by Michael Jackson perfectly. I know every word, note, and beat of that song. This is not because I love Michael Jackson with an obsessive passion. This is not because I thought the song was even bearable. After listening to the song every hour, on the hour, eight hours a day, five or six days a week, it was subliminally planted into my brain. My roommate tells me I sing it in my sleep.

Gee, and isn't it funny how I always sing it during the nights I'm having that recurring dream. . .

I am in a room with a scarred old monster in a Nazi uniform. "Tell me what you know, or I'll give you the punishment!" he threatens.

"Never!" I retort defiantly.

"You asked for it," he says, and pulls out a radio. Not just any radio, mind you, but one that plays "Dirty Diana" over and over and over and —

AAAAAUUUUUGGGGHHHH!!!

My appointment with the shrink is next week.

Pamela McCarthy is an associate editor of the Collegian

In other news. . .

"I don't think Solomon could solve the problems of Chelsea," says Carmella Oliver, a parent in the industrial Boston suburb. "Education is no a priority here." Luckily, it may not take a Solomon — just nearby Boston University, which has offered to run the city's failing school system. The plan could be ratified as soon as next month and go into effect this winter. When that happens, B.U. will become the first private institution to take over and manage a public school system.

—Time magazine, Oct. 31.

Just my opinion

Americans just aren't represented in elections

Back when our founding fathers were putting the constitution together they decided that the people shouldn't have the power to elect the president directly. Instead the people would elect learned men to the electoral college and have them make the decision.

It seems the founders had little faith in the people.

Peter Leon

Today (believe it or not) we still have this archaic, obnoxious, worthless group of people choosing our president.

Now maybe that isn't so important — after all only once in the last 100 years has a president lost the popular election and won the presidency because he had the right amount of electoral votes.

But then again. . .

How are these people chosen by us, the people, to choose the president? It is a simple formula. To decide the number of electoral votes a state is given, you simply take the number of representatives the state has in Congress and then add two for the Senate.

So here in Massachusetts we have 13 electoral votes, 11 for our representatives and two for our senators.

The whole idea is to keep each state somewhat equal. It goes back to the idea of states vs. the federal government. By giving a minimum number of votes to each state, today that number is three, each state will have some representation.

But it's the people who should have the representation — 'one man one vote.' Equality among the states seems stupid if the people aren't equal. If the vote were direct it would represent the whole country, not a collection of people elected to the college by a majority of votes in their district.

Essentially that leaves out the people who are in the minority in that district.

That may be a reason why some people don't vote. If you lived in a district with a majority of one party, would it be worth your while to go and vote, even though it would have little or no effect?

The preamble to the Constitution goes "We the people, in order form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence (sic), promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

Admittedly it wasn't "the people" who wrote the Constitution, (actually it was a bunch of white, educated, land holding males) but it was something designed to adapt and change with the needs and wants of the people.

The people ought to be heard, all of them. The districts, as they are designed today, can easily favor one party or another.

What is worse is when there is a close margin — 49.9 percent of the people of the district will go unheard for the election.

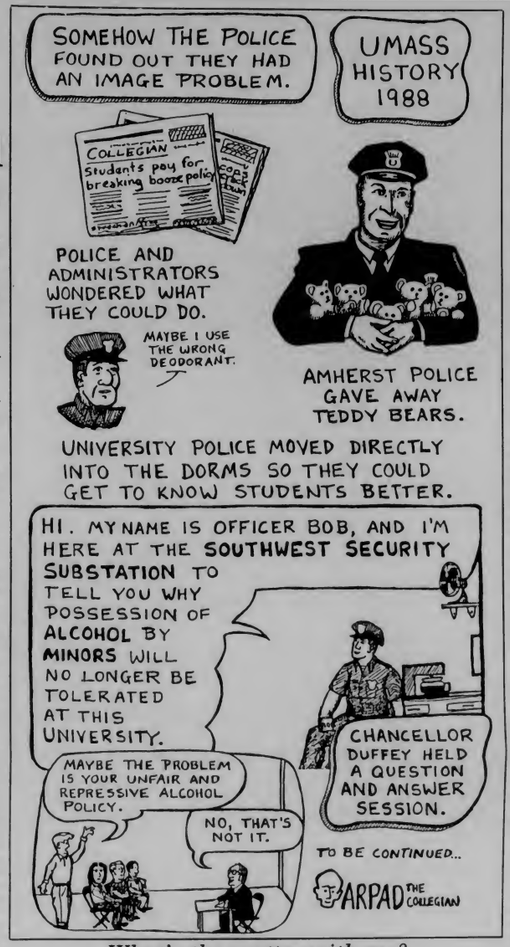
Sure we will hear about the popular election, but it means little since it has no binding power. The people have been left on the wayside.

Isn't this country about the people and not the states? It is about the farmers, the doctors, the McDonald's workers and the petroleum exchange engineers. This country is supposed to be a country by the people and for the people. But how can it be when the people can't even elect the president of their own country?

The way to fix this inequality in our democratic society is to abolish the electoral college.

This will take a Constitutional amendment, and certainly can't be done in time to prevent George Bush being elected, but maybe in time for 1992. By then maybe we will also have candidates qualified and worthy of the office of president.

Peter Leon is a Collegian columnist



SOMEHOW THE POLICE FOUND OUT THEY HAD AN IMAGE PROBLEM.
UMASS HISTORY 1988
COLLEGIAN
Students pay for breaking booze policy
POLICE AND ADMINISTRATORS WONDERED WHAT THEY COULD DO.
MAYBE I USE THE WRONG DEODORANT.
AMHERST POLICE GAVE AWAY TEDDY BEARS.
UNIVERSITY POLICE MOVED DIRECTLY INTO THE DORMS SO THEY COULD GET TO KNOW STUDENTS BETTER.
HI. MY NAME IS OFFICER BOB, AND I'M HERE AT THE SOUTHWEST SECURITY SUBSTATION TO TELL YOU WHY POSSESSION OF ALCOHOL BY MINORS WILL NO LONGER BE TOLERATED AT THIS UNIVERSITY.
MAYBE THE PROBLEM IS YOUR UNFAIR AND REPRESSIVE ALCOHOL POLICY.
NO, THAT'S NOT IT.
CHANCELLOR DUFFEY HELD A QUESTION AND ANSWER SESSION.
TO BE CONTINUED...
ARPAD THE COLLEGIAN

What's the matter with me?

A strang-ah at UMass

I have lived in Massachusetts all my life. Part of the reason I chose to go to school here is so I would feel somewhat comfortable in my surroundings — knowing where I was.

So, I ask, why do I sometimes feel like a foreigner?

That answer is easy. It's my accent.

Jim Clark

People from other states are quick to point out the flaws in my speech. The mere mention of certain words are sure to bring me ridicule from outsiders.

Of course, this is what has come to be known as a "Yankee" accent. It is the butt of jokes from nearly everyone who has ever had to listen to it, and decipher what is being said.

I tend to believe my case of it is a lot worse than others. That's probably my father's fault. Because he is a native of Maine, I seem to have inherited the "Down East" version and carefully blended it with the Boston style to create a special breed that drives people nuts.

The common joke affiliated with the Yankee accent is the old "pahhhk the cahhh in Hahhhvud yahhhd" line. This is the best example people can come up with, even though I've never actually heard it used in conversation, and it doesn't really have any bearing in life. Just like "the quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog." A nice sentence to use when learning how to type, but it really makes no sense.

The key to the accent, for those who haven't been sharp enough to detect it yet, is the absence of the letter 'R.' There are other fine characteristics, but this is the biggie.

The reasoning behind this sort of drawl appears to be comfort. Basically, I'm lazy, and trying to enunciate an 'R' takes too much extra time and effort. Why waste time trying to draw up the "rrr" sound when I can get on to bigger and better things?

Frankly, I have discovered that pronouncing the 'R' to the fullest is awkward, and probably burns a lot of excess calories (if any biochemistry majors can prove this for me, I'd appreciate it). Go ahead. Try saying it as it's spelled. "Harrvarrd." Sounds stupid, doesn't it?

Throughout time, English has been altered for comfort. Certain things that technically are not grammatically correct are now accepted, merely because they make conversation easier. 'Gonna' is fine, as are contractions like 'aren't' and 'won't.' Heck, even 'ain't' has been allowed every once in a while.

I'm not saying that the supreme being governing the English language should abolish the 'R' completely. That would be insane. Words like river, run, roll and Rumplestiltskin would become "iver," "un," "oll," and "umplestiltskin." Boy, would that make communicating difficult.

Just cut me some slack. I've never aspiyahhd to be on telahvision, so I won't evah change my ways. Plus, this is my state, and I can speak like I want. If you don't like it — well, I don't cay-ah.

Jim Clahhk is a Collegian columnist

The PVTA provides bus rides from hell

I should have taken the hint when the PVTA delivered me to my first destination, the Haigis Mall. A MALL, without a Friendly's or a Fotomat? What a disappointment. (I wanted to do some serious shopping that day.) Then I thought, everyone must make this mistake. The PVTA remained a celebrated savior of sore feet — I would try again.

Alise S. Harfield

After visiting a friend in Northeast on a rainy Wednesday, I hustled to the stop in front of the GRT where a dozen or so wet people were flowing in. I reached the glass doors in time for them to shut in my soggy face, and caught the driver shrugging his shoulders, sporting a look that said, "Sorry, sucker." As I opened my mouth to voice an obscenity, my breath created a foggy film on his glass doors from the cold. If I'd only thought quicker, I know I could have written a nasty message with my finger, like my brother and I used to do on the windshield of mom's car when she wasn't looking.

My next attempt began downtown. From the bench in front of Faces, I recognized the "Campus Shuttle" sign, and assumed the bus would indeed shuttle all over campus. Once seated, the ride was so comfy that I hardly noticed every passenger vacate at Haigis. The the driver said, "This rowt is over."

"Excuse me?"

"You have to get out. Every bus terminates at the mall."

I took him at his word, however poorly pronounced, and vowed never to make assumptions.

The next encounter was purely accidental. I was at an off-campus party with a friend; our ride had deserted us.

"No problem. Take the shuttle, be home in no time."

After 15 minutes, I discerned the lights of the bus pouring through the chilly darkness. We hurried on the bus and asked if it was going to Southwest.

No answer.

"Excuse me, is this bus going to UMass?"

Dirty look, slight nod of head.

In 15 minutes we were at Fearing Street, still a ways from home. When my friend suggested we get out I replied, "The walk will be shorter if we wait until Haigis Mall, WHERE EVERY BUS TERMINATES."

We reached a mall all right — the Hampshire Mall. We probably passed every mall I used to work in, we were so far away from campus. Eventually, we stopped at the party where we had left only an hour before. About a hundred people stumbled in, creating a "Standing Room Only" situation. I became worried about the safety of my right shoulder. In a very short time, it had progressed from being the life supporter of a 200 pound inebriated man, to the lucky recipient of his sneezes. Meanwhile, one of my contact lenses was starting to come loose from the funny-smelling smoke that prevailed. I asked a neighbor for a squirt of saline.

"Use spit. Same thing."

I WILL NEVER AGAIN RIDE THIS BUS.

So I fibbed. I became determined to make a go of this. I boarded a safe bus, one that had a route I knew. It stopped at Orchard Hill, where I needed to go for a meeting. I even wore a pair of heels, because I was confident in not having to walk to my destination. I watched the driver get out and walk around the bus. "Probably just checking for dirt," I thought. The first stop was right near my dorm — an omen, in retrospect. From there we stopped at a series of deserted places I would have avoided had I been the driver. To make a long trip short, we wound up back at the GRT in time for the driver to get out again. I saw why he did — to change the sign to "Orchard Hill." What a trickster.

On my way out, I noticed some loose change on the floor in front of the doors. I bent down to pick it up, despite the doors crushing my sides. I didn't mind; the money was worth the pain. I put it in my "used car" piggybank.

Alise S. Harfield is a UMass student

ARTS/LIVING

Public's affairs are EPMD's Business

By GRAEME THOMSON
Collegian Correspondent

Listen! Here's what I want you to do for me. Make a list of your top ten LP's of this year. Done that? Okay. Now tell me, does that list include Public Enemy's It Takes a Nation of Millions To Hold Us Back or By All Means Necessary by Boogie Down Productions? 'Cause if it doesn't, I'm sorry to have to inform you that your head is missing some serious cerebral cortex.

Hip hop is here to stay. You can either get with it or have it's hobnailed Adidas shoes stomp all over your head. Whatever happens "Your Gonna Get Yours" — hear what I'm saying? So beat dis, or to be grammatically correct, beat deez:

Disc Junkie

● Public Enemy "Night of the Living Bassheads" 12" import (Def Jam); This is not an LP. But it's worth more than thousands I could metion. "Bassheads" proves beyond all doubt that Chuck D has more rhymes than Cole Porter and that Terminator X is the Michelangelo of sonic demolition. If desire is itch, then he'll scratch it till it bleeds.

● E.P.M.D. Strictly Business (Cooltempo); Okay, you can switch back to 33 rpms now for the fastest selling rap album of all time and the slowest, most laid-back rhymes you're likely to hear all year, which doesn't mean to say they're not individually wrapped slices of lyrical genius, and if you back all that up with samples of everything from Marley to Kool and the Gang, I'd say it makes Strictly Business pretty bloody essential.

continued on page 14

Sheehan's
Annual Halloween Bash
Lil' Frankie & The Premiers
with Alvis
Wear Your Costumes
Prizes!
For more information, call 585-5149

Come Ride With Us.

• Motorcycles • A.T.V.'s
• Scooters • Power Equipment

Valley Motorsports 584-7303 731-9965
216 N. King St., Rte. 5 Northampton, MA
The 1989 Honda Motorcycles are ready for viewing.

Chicago-based soul/funk band Insight will play Buckland Hall at Mount Holyoke College Oct. 29 from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. Tickets are $7 at the door.

THE BODY SHOP

Announces the Grand Opening of the Kennedy & J. Adams Fitness Centers
Join and be eligible for the drawing of a

Miyata 18 speed Mountain Bike
a
Rossignol X-C Ski Package
Courtesy Peloton Sports
(Ranked –1 in the Valley by the 1988 Advocate Poll)

or

Two $50 Gift Certificates
Courtesy Fenton Sports
(Ranked –1 in the Valley by the 1988 Advocate Poll)

Only members signed up by Nov. 1 are eligible
Sign up at:
19th floor J. Adams
12th floor Kennedy
Totman Basement

Drawing to take place at 7:00 pm Nov. 1 in the Kennedy Body Shop Fitness Center

Casselberry and Dupree bring their blend of african, reggae and American music to the Academy of Music Oct. 30 at 2 p.m.

Lansdale's Drive not worth the time

By CHRIS PARCELLIN
Collegian Correspondent

The Drive In
By Joe R. Lansdale
Bantam Books

You could use a good scare.

It seems that the horror/sci-fi genre is always glutted with half-witted attempts to cash in on the popularity of books by the likes of Stephen King. These ill-conceived, badly written and thoroughly scare-free abominations are a reminder, however, of the immense popularity of these sorts of books. The Drive In, by Joe R. Lansdale,

continued on page 14

SALUTE to ···· KNOCKWURST

FANTASY WORLD COSTUMES
HALLOWEEN COSTUME RENTALS
Mask, Accesories, Make-up
Specializing in Custom Made Adult Costumes
75 Russell Street
Sunderland 665-3639
M-F 1pm-9pm, Sat-Sun 1pm-5pm
3rd House On The Right From Old Amherst Road

Politics and Art

The Arts Council, in conjunction with the Union Video Center, will present Art-Politics/Politics-Art, a series of works from the past two decades by video artists who deal with political subject matter. The show features such reknowned video artists as Max Almy and Doug Hall, and discusses a broad range of political and social issues.

The series will be cable-cast Monday, Oct.31 through Friday, Nov.4, to be shown on the monitors in the Campus Center, Student Union and the viewing room in 201 Student Union. For more information, call the Arts Council at 545-0202 or Union Video Center at 545-1336.

NOTICE:
Work & learn from the best

Over the past 16 years MASSPIRG has been one of students greatest assets. MASSPIRG (The Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group) has since 1972 past an enormous number of strong proactive pieces of legislation. This student run group covering 31 campuses with over 100,000 student members and 200,000 citizen members has been responsible for such things as the bottle bill, the Hazardous Waste Cleanup initiative, the used car lemon law, and the 3 day mass state check clearing law and have worked on a wide range of issues from the environment, consumer rights, and healthcare to financial aid and student voter registration on campus.

MASSPIRG is always excited to have new active members and now are taking applications for course credit and internships in a number of fields from Daycare. Advocacy to lobbist, and media interns. If interested stop by 423B Student Union or call 545-0199. Get involved where it really counts. STUDENTS-ACTION-CHANGE!!

That's

MASSPIRG

OFFICIAL NOTICE
OFFICE OF THE VICE CHANCELLOR FOR STUDENT AFFAIRS

The following revisions to the Code of Student Conduct pertaining to student representation on judicial hearing boards were approved by the Board of Trustees on October 5, 1988 and now become an official part of the Code. The full text of pertinent sections will be found on page 8 of 'Undergraduate Rights & Responsibilities, Academic Year 1988-89' (Copies are available at the Information Data Bank, 227 Whitmore.)

III. HEARING BOARDS

A. RESIDENTIAL HEARING BOARDS- ...These boards will have the opportunity for student representation except in cases where the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs or his/her designee(s), in his/her discretion, deems otherwise.

B. NON-RESIDENTIAL HEARING BOARD-...These boards will have the opportunity for student representation except in cases where the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs or his/her designee(s), in his/her discretion, deems otherwise.

(The thrust of these amendments is to recognize both the opportunity for student representation on judicial hearing boards as well as the authority of the University to appoint single hearing officers.)

STUDENT AFFAIRS INFORMATION SERVICES

GOLD RING SALE
$60 OFF 18K
$40 OFF 14K
$20 OFF 10K

Jostens Gold Sale. For one week only. Order and save on the gold ring of your choice.

JOSTENS
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING

Date Oct. 24, 25, 26, 27 Time 10:00 - 4:00 Deposit Required $25.00
Place UNIVERSITY STORE
Visit with your Jostens representative for full details. See our complete ring selection on display in your college bookstore.

■Drive

continued from page 13

is a new book that is falling all over itself to be at once sardonic and frightening. The "hero" of this travesty is a nameless teenage wimp who tells us this far-fetched story like a Holden Caulfield of the '80's. Except that Holden had a lot more guts than the little creep who narrates this aimless adventure.

Our hero and his friends go to the local drive-in one night to watch some bloody chainsaw shenanigans. The complex is known as the Orbit (which is where you'll want to send these kids) and it features six giant movie screens telecasting chaos to the paying customers. In the midst of all this decidedly dumb fun a red comet wings by and the drive-in somehow becomes trapped in an impenetrable black void.

Long before this point the story has become stunningly hokey and unappealing. Lansdale's characters are one-dimensional and boring and there is a sickening sentimentality that pervades the story from start to finish. There is no reason why the reader should give a damn what happens to any of these people. They are consistently saying and doing things that seem to be contrived by this second-rate author.

The story rambles on laconically as the youngsters fall prey to something called the Popcorn King, a grotesque one-eyed monster who leads his followers on a weird trek filled with savagery, murder and cannibalism. This charming beast is the villain of this sorry little tale. Our young "narrator" regards all of this with a gooly sort of awe laced with strange bursts of sarcasm at rather peculiar moments in the story. A lot of it is obviously a series of clumsy attempts at black humor. Lansdale is letting us in on the joke of what an outlandish and ultimately worthless story that we are meant to consume like a stale box of Milk Duds. He is also attempting to hold a mirror up to our culture's obsession with disposable products and show us that we too are in danger of becoming as worthless as a used paper towel. In the hands of a more capable writer, this would've been a far more satisfying piece of work. He apparently tries to give the book the feel of a B-movie from the '50's but his writing recalls the worst aspects of the genre: bad dialogue, poor storylines and preposterous endings.

This is not a book that would entertain many people beyond elementary school. Lansdale aims low and perhaps would be well-advised to pursue another career—such as a fry cook or a gravedigger. Save your money, folks, this isn't worth it.

■EMPD

continued from page 12

If you asked E.P.M.D. who their influences are, chances are that the name of illustrious soul songstress, Anita Baker would come up, which brings me neatly to the relaxational therapy bit of the article . . . absolutely necessary after all that nuclear cranium bashing. So what could possibly be nicer than settling back in your favorite arm chair, with a glass of wine and the new Anita Baker album on the stereo. Giving You the Best That I Got (Elektra) is, if anything, even better than Rapture though not quite attaining the heavenly perfection of the Songstress, but then again, what does? This is soul sanctification par excellence. On "Good Enough" Ms. Baker scats like Sarah Vaughan while everywhere else she swoops and soars like an eagle, eclipsing pretenders to the throne such as Regina Belle and Diane Reeves. Truly a class apart. I'm sure Flavor Flav would say amen to that.

Same Bat Channel

All your favorite comics

Posters Baseball Cards Graphic Novels
586-8775 Hampshire Mall, Rte. 9 Hadley

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

The Legal Services Center has positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for the Spring, 1989 semester. This is a challenging opportunity for students from a variety of majors and disciplines to gain valuable legal experience.

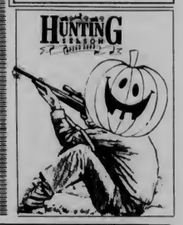
Responsibilities include:

- client interviewing
- attendance at hearings
- preparation of court forms
- maintenance of continuing caseload
- investigations and research

Up to 15 credits may be earned.

CONTACT LEGAL SERVICES, ROOM 922 CAMPUS CENTER (545-1995)
BY NOVEMBER 4, 1988.

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED



What distinguishes Grant Thornton from other national accounting firms?

Burt K. Fischer
Executive Partner
Grant Thornton

The ultimate challenge of a career in accounting is to emerge as a well-rounded professional business advisor. If such a career is your goal, public accounting is the field and Grant Thornton is the place.

Burt Fischer, Executive Partner of Grant Thornton, explains why:

"We treat our people in a manner consistent with the way we treat our clients. We put great emphasis on establishing the same close relationships with our professionals that we do with our clients," explains Fischer.

"We have a much lower ratio of staff to partners than do some other major accounting firms. This balance enables us to devote more personal attention to our staff. They can see first-hand how a partner serves our middle market clients. We have always maintained that the place you really learn is on the job, not in an academic setting or training program."

The culture of Grant Thornton differs from that of other major accounting firms. As Fischer points out, "Our system of advancement is much less rigid. When our professionals excel, we promote them as rapidly as possible because we strive to find the highest and best use for our staff throughout the firm. In general, we are much less structured and much less formal than most national firms."

If you seek the ultimate challenge of becoming a well-rounded business advisor, come join us. We offer the best of both worlds—a large national firm of professionals coupled with a personal environment where you can make an impact.

We'll be conducting on-campus interviews on Thursday, November 17, 1988, and look forward to meeting with those qualified candidates interested in Grant Thornton.

We help professionals grow.

GrantThornton

53 State Street, Exchange Place, Boston, MA 02109
(617) 723-7900

Equal Opportunity Employer

Scott's
5 University Drive at Newmarket Center
Amherst, MA
LIQUORS
Open: Mon.-Sat. 8 a.m.-11 p.m. 549-2692

Michelob Suitcase Cans
Regular or Light
$12.59 + Dep.

Becks Bottles, 12 pk
Regular only
$8.39 + Dep.

Carling Black Label
12 oz. Refills
$7.49 + Dep.

Kimnoff Vodka
1.75 ltr.
$8.99

Kahlua
750 ml.
$10.99

Southern Comfort
750 ml.
$6.99

Chi-Chi's Margarita
Strawberry, Peach, Regular
1.75 ltr.
$7.99

We Want to be YOUR Liquor Store

New! Saga House Clogs

in blue suede and burgundy leather

Mathews SHOES
THE VILLAGE COMMON, AMHERST

Pleasant St. animated

By ANDRE BUSI
Collegian Correspondent

From the people who brought you the 20th International Tournee of Animation comes the new feature, Outrageous Animation, a collection of 22 short films that are either too nasty for TV or just would never be seen in the United States. Now playing at the Pleasant St. Theatre, this movie offers up some shocking and hilarious cartoon footage. Viewers will notice a preoccupation with sex, violence and bodily functions, some of which may simply offend you, but most of which are clever, colorful and quick.

As producer Terry Thoren explains it, "Each time we come across these films we're amazed by the reaction they generate, and puzzled as to how these films get shown in movie theatres." Collecting cartoons from both North America and Europe, including some greats from behind the Iron Curtain, Outrageous Animation is based on the premise that many short films are more entertaining and say more in five minutes than many feature films. If you need any proof just look at the selection in front of the Hampshire and Mountain Farms malls.

A few of the best shorts were: Zwisch, from Norway, which condenses one man's life into a minute and a half; Dialog, which explains a lot more about modern politics in 54 seconds than most textbooks will, from a country that should know - Yugoslavia; Rondino, from Hungary, which blithely shows the human side of the torture chamber; Instant Sex, from England, a must-see for anyone who's living in the AIDS era, and knows it; One of Those Days, from the United States, is a dream-like disaster that plays off of the fears and desires of suburbia and Another Great Moment, an English/Australian collaboration about the joys of nose-picking:"one small step for man . . ."

Magnet, Shakademus top WMUA's new playlists

The following were the most frequently played new artists on UMass' favorite radio station WMUA 91.1 for the week ending Oct. 22:

(1)Bitch Magnet Star Booty Roman Candle
(2)Mudhoney Sweet Young Thing Sub Pop
(3)Lubricated Goat Paddock of Love Black Label (Aus.)
(4)B.A.L.L. Bird Shimmy Disc
(5)Graeme Jeffries Music for the Cake Kitchen Flying Nun (N.Z.)
(6)Master/Slave Relationship This Lubricous Love RRRoar
(7)The Screaming Trees Invisible Lantern SST
(8)Bevis Frond Tryptich Woronzow(UK)
(9)The Miracle Workers Overdose LSD (W.Germ.)
(10)Halo of Flies "No Time" Amphetamine Reptile

The following were the top 10 reggae singles for the week of Oct. 27 as played on WMUA's One Love Radio:

(1)Young Gal Business "Shakademus" Skengdon
(2)UB40 "Red, Red Wine" A&M
(3)Brigadier Jerry "Invasion S.A." Supreme
(4)Toots Hibbert "Dreams to Remember" Mango
(5)Ziggy Marley "Tomorrow People" Virgin
(6)Lieutenant Stitchie "Natty Dread" Stereo One
(7)Maxi Priest "Wild World" Virgin
(8)Frankie Paul "Casanova" Jammy's
(9)Sanchez "Please Return Your Love" Techniques
(10)Toots Hibbert "Hard to Handle" Mango

Main St RECORDS

SPECIAL PRICES THIS WEEK ONLY
(while supply lasts!)

TDK	maxell.	maxell.
10 SA-90	10 XLII-90 plus 1 XLIIS-90	10 XLIIS-90 plus 1 MX90
only $2.89	only $21.79	only $26.69

CHECK OUT OUR LOW PRICES ON OTHER TDK, MAXELL, AND DISCWASHER PRODUCTS.
213 Main St., Northampton 586-5726

THE UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD
PRESENTS:
GODSPELL

OCTOBER 26-29, AT 8:00 PM
AND OCTOBER 29, AT 2:00 PM
BOWKER AUDITORIUM
STUDENTS $3/GENERAL ADMISSION $5
TO RESERVE TICKETS, CALL FAC BOX OFFICE
545-2511

FEELING COLD? FEELING TENSE?
LOOKING GHOSTLY PALE?

LE BON SOLEIL
(the good sun)
264 N. Pleasant Street Amherst
253-9454

RELAX Get WARM Get COLOR!
HALLOWEEN SPECIAL
Join Alone, Save $5*; Join with a Friend, Save $10*
*Offer expires November 12, 1988
FREE TRIAL VISIT WITH THIS AD
New Customers Only—Must Bring This Ad

興旺樓
Chinese Kitchen
Fast, Quality Chinese Food at an Affordable Price

This Week Lunch Special
Baby Shrimp & Meat Sauce
with white rice $3.25
with soup $3.95
also-a 80 oz. pitcher of draft beer is only $3.95
Glass 75¢ Offer Good Only In Hadley

Hadley-430 Russel St., 253-2571 Northampton-150 King St., 586-8221
Help Wanted 11 a.m.—4 p.m.

SNACKSENSE

CALCIUM

★ is one of the minerals most likely to be deficient in the American diet
★ is important for bone, teeth and the proper functioning of every cell in the body
★ Adults require 3 or 4 servings of calcium rich foods every day.

If there is a LACK OF CALCIUM IN THE DIET it will be taken from the bones for its functions in the cells. If the diet is consistently short of calcium the bones may deteriorate causing a disease called OSTEOPOROSIS.

SOME GOOD SOURCES OF CALCIUM are skim milk, low fat yogurt, tofu, sardines, broccoli and kale.

University Vending Services and the Division of Health Education

Introducing the
POT BELLY DELI
Route 9 • Hadley • 584-1603

Lunchtime, Dinnertime, anytime, you'll love our authentic New York style delicacies: Homemade Salads, Hot & Cold Subs and Sandwiches...to satisfy your appetite and budget.

$1.00 off any sub

HOT	COLD
Chicken Parm.	Roast Beef
Meatball	Ham
Sausage & Peppers	Turkey Breast

& Many Others

■Abortion

continued from page 3

"[Women] say, 'I have to do this,'" Smith said. "They're not making clear-thinking, adult decisions."

Loveless said escorts will be available to help women through the blockades and said she doubts the protesters will affect women's choices to have abortions.

"[They think] women trying to get into clinics are going to magically change their minds and circumstances and decide that they're not going to have an abortion," she said. "That's very naive."

But, Loveless said, the delays and rescheduling of abortions because of protests are creating serious problems for patients. "Some women delay making the appointment for an abortion and this makes it risky for her," she said.

There is a massive outpouring of pro-choice support in Boston, Loveless said. "People are making it clear that the majority really abhors this group and their tactics," she said.

More than 1,000 demonstrators plan to line Beacon Street in Boston for the pro-choice demonstration, "Stand Up For Life," from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Saturday.

Scott Gillis, a spokesman for area police, said they are investigating sites of possible protests and will dispatch more than 50 police officers for security this Saturday. "The clinics will not be shut down because of protests," Gillis said.

"We don't plan to stop," Smith said. "[The protests] are going to continue in Massachusetts until the court and the government change this [abortion] law."

"We're not just a pipe dream. [Abortions] will end," she said.

■T-shirts

continued from page 1

work by putting the bong in Calvin's hand, and this was enough to protect him from prosecution.

This explanation did not convince Hoyt.

"It's still copyright infringement," Hoyt said. "He's using our characters to make money for himself without our consent or knowledge."

Karen Tucker, vending coordinator for the BOG, said she had asked Hall and other vendors to halt sales until she could check out the legality of the sales. Tucker said she was consulting with legal services to find out possible legal ramifications for the board, the University, and the vendors resulting from the sale.

Chairperson of the board Eric Nakajima said, "We're going to look into what the specifics are in determining copyright infringement."

Nakajima said questions on the legality of the shirts had come up at a meeting of Campus Center officials last week.

"We felt it was a responsible act to ask those vendors to refrain from selling until we ascertain what the legal responsibilities are," Nakajima said.

Other vendors have also tried to capitalize on familiar emblems. One vendor on the concourse Friday was selling shirts resembling Calvin and Hobbes, BMW, and Coca-Cola artwork.

When asked if he thought he needed to get permission to use the artwork the vendor said, "I didn't think I had to because it's on such a small scale. I'm stopping production now that I've found out."

He said he had sold 100 to 200 shirts so far.

The same vendor was also selling shirts with characters resembling from the children's book "Where the Wild Things Are." The shirts read, "Where the Wild Things Are - Umass."

Another seller had shirts reading "ZooMass Republic," which are apparently meant to resemble Banana Republic shirts. He also said that since he had changed the emblem, there was no copyright or trademark infringement.

TWISTERS TAVERN

LIVE JAZZ

The Fabulous Heavyweights
Rhythm and Blues
Tonight - 8:00 pm

Friday Night
Live Jazz Trio
Andy Jaffe with vocalists

Saturday Night
Greg Edwards Trio

90¢ DRAFTS

Special Twists
Tanqueray & Tonic $2.25
Captain Morgan's & Coke $2.25

253-2663 Off the Commons
(formerly Plumbley's)

Carbur's Comedy Club

Thursday nite live on stage at 8:45 p.m.
•Full menu available.

Tom Hertz | Richard Chalfin | Janette Barber

Hadley Hour
Mon.-Fri. 4-7
Free Buffalo Wings and Munchie Buffet

This Week's Drink Specials
Captain Morgan Hot Toddy $2.65
Harpoon $1.00

The Valley's Best Sunday Brunch Buffet at Carbur's 11-3
All you can eat for $9.95

James H. McManus eating place

OPEN 24 HOURS OPEN 24 HOURS
•BREAKFAST SERVED ANY TIME
•OPEN 6 A.M. - 3 A.M. SUNDAY - THURSDAY
•OPEN 24 HOURS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
•BEER AND WINE SERVED 'TIL MIDNIGHT
•PLENTY OF PARKING
CAMPUS PLAZA
Route 9 next to Super Stop & Shop
HADLEY/AMHERST 256-6889
We now accept Mastercard and Visa
Employment Applications Being Taken

PARAMOUNT
Performing Arts Center
1700 Main Street Springfield

"MONSTERS OF JAZZ"
Concert To Benefit the Dickapeake Equestrian Center

Saturday, Nov. 5, 8 pm
STANLEY JORDAN ROY AYERS
RONNIE LISTON SMITH LARRY CORYELL

AIR SUPPLY
Friday, Nov. 11, 8 pm

JOAN RIVERS
Friday, Dec. 2, 8pm

BAD COMPANY
with special guest
Winger
Thursday, Dec. 1, 7:30 pm

UB 40
Sunday, Nov. 27, 7:30 pm

WAYNE NEWTON
POSTPONED TO March 30

PARAMOUNT BOX OFFICE (413) 734-5624 • ALL TICKETSTORE • TELETRON 1-800-382-8000

AMHERST CINEMA
Handful of Dust
PG
2 Showings
7 & 9 p.m.
Senior Citizens & Children $2.00, Adults $3.50
DOWNTOWN AMHERST 253-5426

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

from NEW YORK	one way
LONDON	179
PARIS	229
ROME	259
	round trip
CARACAS	320
ST. THOMAS	260
HONGKONG	739

Taxes not included.
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Languages Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes.
EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

Thursday Night at Mike's
WIN BRUINS TICKETS

SPECIALS
Busch Pitchers.....3.75
Bud Light Bottles.....1.25
Wall Bangers.....1.75

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT
Add Spice To Your Weekend!!
NOW SERVING BRUNCH
Every dish freshly prepared to order using the finest ingredients, and at prices that won't wreck the weekend budget.
Saturday & Sunday 11:00 To 3:00
7 OLD SOUTH STREET NORTHAMPTON

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

The crepes of wrath

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

THERE.. THE FIRST SNOWFLAKE OF THE SEASON..!!
I'VE GOT IT..!! GANGWAY..!! I'VE GOT IT..!!
MAKE A WISH..! MAKE A WISH..! I WISH.. UH.. I WISH FOR AMERICAN MEN TO KEEP ACTING LIKE IDIOTS AROUND WOMEN AND THE SUN NOT TO FREEZE..!
HE DOES THIS EVERY YEAR.
I'M BATTING .400 SO FAR..!!

Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau

EXCUSE ME, SIR, YOU GOT ANY SPARE...
I DO, AND I WANT TO GIVE IT TO YOU, BUT WOULD IT BE RIGHT?
HOW DO I KNOW YOU'RE NOT SCAMMING ME? HOW DO I KNOW YOU WON'T SPEND IT ON DRUGS OR WORSE? IN WANTING TO HELP, I COULD, IRONICALLY, ONLY MAKE THINGS WORSE!
SAY WHAT?
OH.. YEAH, SEE WHAT YOU MEAN. WELL, WHAT IF I DON'T GIVE YOU A CHOICE, Y'KNOW, THREATEN YOU?
GOOD. I LIKE THAT. THEN I'M THE VICTIM, NOT YOU!
OKAY, GIVE ME YOUR MONEY OR I'LL... UHM! I DON'T SEEM TO BE ARMED!
THAT'S OKAY. I HAVE NO WAY OF KNOWING THAT.

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

JUST THINK, EARTH WAS A CLOUD OF DUST 4.5 BILLION YEARS AGO...
3 BILLION YEARS AGO, THE FIRST BACTERIA APPEARED, THEN CAME SEA LIFE, DINOSAURS, BIRDS, MAMMALS, AND, FINALLY, A MILLION YEARS AGO, MAN.
NOW IN 1988, THERE'S ME.
THE ACME OF EVOLUTION.
OH, PLEASE

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

THIS HALOWEEN "FREE FOR ALL" SPILLS OVER INTO THE STREETS OF AMHERST... AND AS USUAL...
SPLAT!
FREEZE!!.. THIS'S THE POLICE!!.. WHAT DO YOU GUYS THINK YOU'RE DOIN?!...
HAVIN' FUN COPPER!!.. YAAAHOO
SPLAT!!
NOW THIS IS WHAT HALLOWEEN IS ALL ABOUT!!..
THEY'RE GETTIN' AWAY!!

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

AN EVENING WITH THE BUSHES...
SAY, BARB, GRAB ME ANOTHER BEER WHILE YER IN THE KITCHEN, WILL YA?
I GOT THIS ELECTION THING IN THE BAG
DING DONG
HEY, BARB, ANSWER THE DOOR, WILL YA?
WHO IS IT?
IT'S A BUNCH OF PEOPLE WHO SAY THEY'RE GONNA TELL THE PUBLIC ABOUT HOW YOU PAID OFF IRAN TO GET THE HOSTAGES BEFORE THE 1980 ELECTION.
TELL 'EM I'M NOT HOME

There will be a mandatory staff meeting tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the newsroom. Business, graphics and news must attend.

Daily Crossword Puzzle
Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

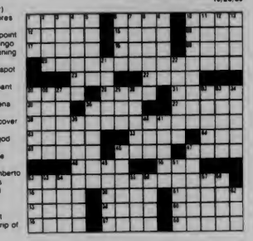
ACROSS
1 Necklace part
6 Cheer for the team
10 Products of means?
14 Imitation jewelry
15 First name in whodunits
16 Debatable
17 Rose petal essence
18 "I met — with seven wives"
19 Mother Hubbard's quest
20 Go at with —
23 Close friend
24 Gallery's propulsion
25 No ifs, ands or —
26 — the line
31 Man and Capri
35 Swedish name for Turku
36 Common complaint
37 Norman Vincent
38 Leave — (search for)
42 Hidden stores
43 Grouse
44 Compass point
45 Bella or Ringo
46 Prefix meaning half
47 Former despot
48 Gloppy
50 Pod occupant
52 Movie —
59 Atlanta arena
60 Thoughts
61 Did undercover work
63 Egyptian god
64 Unyielding
65 Sweet wine
66 Tolled
67 Author Umberto and others
68 Game bird

DOWN
1 Fig. expert
2 Narrow strip of wood
3 Nick and Nora's dog
4 Some collectors' items
5 Kind of frost
6 Time span
7 Bombeck, the columnist
8 Grassy plains of S. America
9 — hand
10 Embellisher
11 High time of day
12 Bell sound
13 Fr. holy women
21 Singer — John
22 Cause to make a mistake
25 Judges' seats
26 Sub
27 Puccini opera
29 Corrida cheer
30 Inter
32 Bowling area
33 Mana — 1941 song
34 Passover meal
36 Compel
39 Growing healthily
40 Manufacturers org.
41 Rubbish!
46 Of a pair
47 Game fish
49 Part of a place setting
51 Bridge positions
52 Grizzled
53 Bovary or Hamilton
54 By and by
55 Detective Wolfe
56 Hoover and others
57 Polynesian amulet
58 Rattletrap
62 Change color

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

P	A	R	I	S		O	M	A	N		L	O	W
A	L	O	N	E		W	I	N	E		L	U	M	A
L	O	V	E	R	I	S	L	A	N	E		E	V	E	N
S	I	T	E	R	E	O	S			D	E	F	I	E	N	D
				T	R	I		P	A	L	A	T	A
A	L	L	E	S		C	A	P	E	S		S		P	A	O
A	I	O	N	S		H	I	P		T	O	P	A	I	Z
L	A	V	A			A	L	E		S	A	L	T	I	D
O	N	E	G	A		P	E	N		S	T	E	E	N
T	A	R		S	P	E	E	D	U	P		S	I	S	E
		S	I	T	T	E	R	S		A	R	E	S
U	N	L	O	A	D			Q	U	I	N	T	I	L	E
R	O	E	S		L	O	V	E	Y		D	O	V	E	Y
E	A	S		A	D	A	M		E	R	I	A	S	E
A	L	P		R	I	G	H	T	S		R	E	N	T	S

10/28/88



Menu

Lunch	Basics Lunch
Pizza	Pizza
Clam Roll/Tartar Sauce	Clam Roll/Tartar Sauce
Dinner	Basics Dinner
Chow Mein/Noodles	Ratatoulle
Roast Top Round of Beef	Chow Mein/Noodles

Weather
Today: Sunny high in the 50s
Tonight: Clear and cool
Tomorrow: Sunny and warmer, 50s

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Rick Santos
Copy Editor.....Ronn Garry
Layout Technician.....George Francy
Photo Technician.....Richard Bonanno
Production Supervisor.....Florencio Terra
Production:.....Laura, Camille, Aimee, Jenn, Mary, Tina, and Ronn's on a road to noWhare.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988
Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988
Rob Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscriptions Manager

AP photo

'ONE' FOR THE GIPPER – President Reagan is presented a uniform jersey by Tommy Lasorda (right), manager of the World Champion Los Angeles Dodgers.

■men's soccer falls to P.C.

continued from page 20

pressure to the UMass defense. Just a minute and a half before the intermission (and the moment that the Friars would lose the advantage) Providence's Jeff Caiola galloped the length of the field before slipping the ball behind the UMass defense to Kocourek ("They found the seams in the UMass defense and exposed them," described assistant coach John Martin).

Kocourek, who was the Friars' leading scorer entering the contest, extended his lead and tied the game with a left footed cue shot past Ginzburg.

A mere forty seconds later, Kocourek found another seam in the UMass defense, and poked home his second goal of the day and eleventh of the season. "Same spot, same kick, same guy," said gettler, ". . .Sam (Ginzburg) could never have gotten either of them."

With the wind came control of the ball in the second half for the Minutemen, but in the final judgment, the Friar defense held firm. UMass mustered a mere three shots on goal in the final 45 minutes of play, despite controlling the ball throughout.

"We had the better of the play in the second half, but we never really got dangerous, . . .we had our chances," said Martin.

Collegian photo by Andrew Riet

The men's soccer team dropped a tough road game at Providence College, 2-1, yesterday afternoon.

■Garcia

continued from page 20

They did it with a solid running game against the second-best rushing defense in the league. In the back of the Patriots' minds, they knew they had to put the ball in the end zone because Garcia couldn't put it through the uprights.

Garcia has missed seven of his last eight field goal attempts. He has also missed five extra point conversions, one in this loss against Buffalo. Will Teddy Garcia lose his starting position?

Whether or not the Pats keep Garcia, their playoff chances are slim at best. Garcia needs to recapture his self-confidence. He has to make a couple of field goals in pressure situations. Garcia has the leg to kick 50-yarders. He did it in college, and there is no reason to believe he cannot do it in the pros.

The coaching staff has to show confidence in him, so he can believe in himself. Bringing in a new field goal kicker, as the Pats have indicated they will do, will only shatter whatever confidence is left in Garcia.

This weekend the Chicago Bears are in town. It is the first meeting between the two teams since Super Bowl XX. Chicago has not let up more than 10 points in each of its last five games. Chances are very good that it will be a low scoring affair. Maybe this is the weekend for Garcia to prove to all of New England, and himself, the he can kick field goals in the NFL.

Thursday Night is Student Night at Burger King

BURGER KING

Present school ID and receive 10 % off purchase not good with any other offer.
OFFER GOOD 4 p.m. to Midnight

King Street Northampton Rt. 9 Hadley
Offer Expires 12/16/88

Cooperative Education
SPRING & SUMMER PAID PREPROFESSIONAL JOBS!

November Panels–Where you can make connections early! Meet with employers & speak with former & present co-op students

1. Panel for Engineering & COINS Majors Tues., Nov. 1: Campus Center, 174-76 at 4:00 p.m. Meet employers from *IBM, Pratt & Whitney, *General Electric, *New England Electric, and *SEA Consultants
2. Panel for College of Arts & Sciences Majors Tues., Nov. 8: Campus Center, 174-76 at 4:00 p.m. Meet employers from General Electric, Liberty Mutual, Hills Department Stores, and the Boston Stock Exchange
3. Panel for School of Management Majors Tues., Nov. 15: Campus Center, 101 at 4:00 p.m. Meet employers from Greenberg, Rosenblatt, Kull & Bitsoli, P.C.; Honeywell Bull, UNISYS, and Pratt & Whitney

Refreshments Served!
*Available for interviews same day
For more information, call the Office for Cooperative Education 545-2224, Today!

You asked for it... WE'RE NOW OPEN AND DELIVERING 'TIL 2AM Thursday, Friday, & Saturday...
"THE ORIGINAL" JOE'S BUFFALOS T.M.
Still the BEST and we cost LESS
GOURMET CHICKEN
Joe's Paradise
31 Boltwood Walk through the Alley
253-7494
FREE DELIVERY

■women's soccer

continued from page 20

but it has to try and stay as healthy as possible for Sunday's contest with Colorado College, the nation's number four team.

Sidelines: With Sunday being the final home game of the regular season, the Minutewomen have announced that they will be holding "Spirit Day" in conjunction with their game against Colorado College.

The team has invited several area high schools, as well as UMass fraternities, sororities and other groups, to participate and create some enthusiasm for the game, as well as making an impression on the NCAA.

"We want to get as many people here as possible, and have a good attendance if and when we bid [to host] the Final Four," said UMass assistant coach Lisa Gozley.

UMass hosted the championship tournament last year, and would like to get it back. One of the things the NCAA considers is (surprise, surprise) how much money it can make. So the big numbers would help the chances some. But, there hasn't been a crowd above 200 all season.

So just to make things more interesting, the team is offering some incentive to show up. Prizes, including 100 buffalo wings from Joe's Paradise and gift certificates to Fenton's Athletic Supplies, will be given to the groups or individuals who show the loudest and wildest support. This is a great opportunity to go out and cheer on the number two women's soccer team in the nation.

Collegian photo by Andrew Riet

The women's soccer team will bang heads with the University of Hartford today at 2 p.m. at Boyden Field.

■field hockey dumps B.U.

continued from page 20

With the offense having trouble deciphering the BU defense in the first half, it was up to the defense to keep the Minutewomen in the game.

UMass took control of this game in the second half. After near misses on a number of good scoring opportunities, DeAngelis tied the game up for the Minutewomen when she picked up a rebound in front of Heywood and knocked it home to deadlock the game at 1-1.

After Derwin's heroics, freshman Dawn Trumbauer gave the Minutewomen an insurance goal at 6:35 of the second overtime when she picked up a rebound off a Derwin shot and beat Heywood to give UMass a commanding 3-1 lead with 3:35 left in overtime.

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - All subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
800-351-0222
Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information 11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

Call us in the a.m.
We'll come to your door & pick up your Laundry.
Delivered back the same day, washed, dried & folded.
Convenience.
Quality.
The wave of the future.
THE LAUNDRY CLUB
549-2640
6 UNIVERSITY DRIVE/NEWMARKET CENTER/AMHERST

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO
AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS
ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT
FOR SALE • FOUND
HELP WANTED • LOST

INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES
PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED
RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES
ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL
WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30)• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

LITTLE SISTERS OF AEPi Meet your Big Brothers tonight at 7:30pm

NSA FRIDAY NIGHT VIDEO Stand By Me 7:00pm Front Lounge of Newman Center FREE

INTERESTED IN PSYCHOLOGY? Then join us! Psychology Club meeting-October 27 304 Tobin 8:00pm New members welcome.

BAHA'I CLUB MEETING tonight in Campus Center. All members should attend this meeting. Meeting at 8:30pm.

BIKE CO-OP MEETING tonight, 6pm. Meet in CC317. All are welcome to join.

EAT TOWARD YOUR HEART'S CONTENT - Workshop to meal load compulsions Sat., Nov. 5, 10:00-5:00. Led by Shafiya Finger, LICSW. Call 665-4565.

VIDEO UPDATE IS on the air!! Volunteers are still needed News Meeting Thursday October 27 at 6:00 in Commuter Lounge

SWAG PRESENTS "A Cry For Freedom" at 6:00 and "Hollywood Shuffle" at 10:00 in the Southside room, Hampden Student Center

THIS WEEK ON DAMAGE INCORPORATED- Queensryche is gonna get close to you. Tune into WMUA Wednesday at 9:30pm

CRAFT CENTER IS YOUR resource Make all kinds of crafts, pottery, silver, silkscreen, photography, etc Free instruction

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22 Sign up on concourse Oct. 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Massping and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-6434

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306

"APARTMENTS AVAILABLE"

SPACIOUS 2 BEDROOM UNITS on 19 acres of country land. Ample off street parking and free bus service to UMass and shopping areas. Call 665-3858

AUTO FOR SALE

1968 CAMARO CLASSIC reliable looks hot 549-1256 John 11am-6pm $1300

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 spd Dark grey new tires runs very well 73000 Please call Tom 546-1184

1981 FORD PINTO good transportation new tires clutch battery $375/best offer 549-1661 leave message

1982 TOYOTA TERCEL 5 speed. Excellent condition, $1200/BO Call 549-1607

78 COROLLA 5 speed reliable 30-35mpg must sell! $800/BO 545-0600 x39 Elaine

GREAT WINTER CAR for sale. 78 Ford Grenada automatic PS PB good tires and exhaust. Runs well! 650 or BO 253-5956

1981 PORSCHE, 50k miles, grey, sunroof must see $7250 or best offer Call 665-7221 Deb

81 TOYOTA COROLLA excellent condition, low mileage, am/fm cass., air, 5 spd. 256-0969 evenings

1970 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires $2,500 Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE - Over 700 CD's Great Sound! All occasions. 549-1421.

ENTERTAINMENT

KLUSKAVE D.J. SERVICES - Professional music system at unbeatable prices - 546-8518.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Discjockeys and large screen video dances. Dorms/organizations 256-8526

FOR SALE

GUCCI WATCHES only $35 many styles-guaranteed Great for gifts Call Brian 549-5440

4 JIMMY PAGE TICKETS for sale Oct 29 at Centrum Will sell for cost Call Tim 6-6892

HALLOWEEN MAKEUP FOR SALE Confetti, hairspray, blood, kits, etc Call Steve 546-8538

MINOLTA MAXXUM 7000 Includes auto flash, 50mm lens and carrying case. 6 months old $400.00 or B.O 546-8214

SKI BOOTS. KOFLACH CE PRO, rear entry, air fit. Men's size 10 $50 546-8035

1980 HONDA ACCORD. New parts B O Gary 253-5907.

GREAT JIMMY PAGE TICKETS for show in Worcester Mass Saturday Oct. 29 Base price Call Tim at 549-4600 x250

LARGE WOOD BEDROOM DRESSER Cheap call Caryn 549-4942

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406

COMMERCIAL FUSSBALL TABLE $300 and other games 247-9005

HOT DOG STAND!!!
In town business
Good experience-great money!!!
For more details contact
Dave or Brad 549-1594

10 SPEED BICYCLE for sale. $100 545-3500 weekdays Ask for Brian

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike. 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket. Call David 1-566-8212

PIONEER DUAL STEREO cassette deck $100 call Laura at 6-8021

FOUND

SET OF KEYS in front of ATG many keys on ring no key chain Call 545-2152 ask for Vicki

BLACK KITTEN- Have had for two weeks landlord says she must go - looking for responsible owner-totally litter trained very cute! Must see Call Paul 548-9781

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget! Futons, bookcases, tables and more Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St, Northampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin. We deliver.

HELP WANTED

SPRING BREAK TOUR PROMOTING- Escort, Energetic person, (M/F), to tea sign-ups for our Florida Tours We furnish all materials for a successful promotion. Good pay and fun. Call Campus Marketing at 1-800-777-2070.

WORK STUDY SECRETARIAL/Clerical assistant: $5.50/hr typing & letter formatting skills essential Word proc. & data entry experience an advantage. 10 hours Work flexible hours 5-2794. Prof. Bradley, Geol/Geog Dept Morrill 238

GRASSROOTS ARE BACK and now it pays Work with Clean Wter Action and be the highest paid activist in the region We guarantee $7-10/hr Work on a Mass recycling bill and stop pesticide poisoning Communication and Poli-Sci majors encouraged to apply Call Chris 549-7450

MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN A BIG WAY. Keep toxics out of our water Ear approx. $50/day with MASSPIRG If you're fun and articulate, Call Chris 256-6434

PART TIME OFFICE ASSISTANT needed Wordprocessing or data entry experience desired 10-15 hrs/wk flexible weekday hours Salary commensurate with experience Contact Annette at Remy, 358 N Pleasant St Amherst Ma 01002 549-1169

EXPERIENCED JEWELRY INSTRUCTOR wanted for spring semester Student Union Craft Center Call Anna 545-2096

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

SPRING 1989 INTERNSHIPS with the Legal Services Center Get hands-on experience in the legal field–work directly with attorneys and clients Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits No experience in legal profession necessary–Training provided Deadline to begin application process is NOVEMBER 7–Contact Legal Services today, 545-1995, 922 Campus Center

LOST

$100 REWARD
For black leather jacket lost Saturday, Brandywine Reward more than value of jacket! 549-7464

REWARD! CASH! REWARD!
For return of JVC slide deck no questions. Very important! Please call leave name & number or any information 546-5079

HELP! LOST GLASSES in a light blue case with rainbow stripes If found please call Stephanie at 545-2152

I LOST MY KEYS They're on a "big" key ring. If found please call 549-0729

REWARD! LIQUOR ID & DRIVERS LIC lost 10/14 Please call N Turney 6-4726

BROWN LEATHER BOMBER JACKET please call 546-8230 Reward

LOST MASS LIQUOR ID Sharon Levy If found please call 253-9916 monetary reward

MOTORCYCLES

WANTED: USED MINIBIKE or gocart. 5-2276 ask for Doug Rm 328

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD Helmet, cover shield $850 Joe 549-7423 Evenings

PERSONALS

NEW PANHEL BOARD - Lori, Deborah, Naomi, Misty, Jennifer, and Inukh - Congratulations! I look forward to working with each of you - Michal.

B - I LOVE YOU. -G.

LINH PHOUNG
Happy 21st Birthday
Party it up!
Love ya Rita

SUSAN DI TULLIO Happy 21st birthday We love you ! from 39 Southwood

SEE BEETLEJUICE TONIGHT 8,8,10,12 Bartlett 65 ?2 00 by IEEE/HKN

SHAGGY AND OTIS- How about a repeat performance sprita? You two were incredible The bimbos

TODAY RON PAUL LIBERTARIAN for president in Mamorial Hall at 12:30

HAPPY "21" DEB! Many happy returns! Love ya! Ner

LITTLE DAVID'S DYING OF LUKEMIA. He wants to be in Guiness for most postcards recieved HELP! Call Christine Canning 546-8418

BARBARA CUNHA - Only two days left, get psyched for your birthday! (False is you not being a wreck all weekend)

DON'T MOURN...ORGANIZE! Become part of the movement- Student Organizing Project

PAUL AND OTIS Ever been kidnapped? Next time we will use stronger bonds and you'll like it!!

JOHN, THANKS FOR THE glue, hugs, making me giggle, and for keeping me sane. Most of all, thanks for being my buddy To me, that's love! Love always, Amy

LINH HAPPY 21st! how that you can partly legally, can I have my I.D. back? Have a good one! Love, Debsey

LINH PHUONG - alias Lesiynn, happy 21st You finally make it! Even if it did take forever Love ya, Debsey & Moe P.S - How about Jaxx Thurs. night?

BLUE EYES- The next time you're on the sidelines, keep your eyes on the ball Ted Barrett is already taken Better luck next time Green Eyes

HEATHER, DON T BELIEVE everything you read

"CITADEL MEN ARE FAITHFULL to their women

SPITFIRE COLOR GUARD organizational meeting Oct 27 8pm - Old Chapel Looking for any UMass students with Guard experience to join competitive guard EMass/WGI

KAREN- SAFFORD SENIORS are awesome women! Luv all of you Jennifer

TO ROB OF ADP Here's your personal now all thats left is a tie-dye

TO DEB AND PAULA of Sigma Kappa, get ready for initiation!! You guys are awesome!!! Love, the sisters of Sigma Kappa

TO THE PLEDGES OF ATG, we didn't forget about you guys! We think you're great! Love the Sisters and Pledges of Sigma Kappa

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE new pledges of Tri Sigma Nelida, Sherry, Amy, Karen, Tina, and Cindy - Get psyched for an awesome pledge period! Love the Sisters of Tri Sigma

SAMMY AND DU - Get psyched for tonight's exchange! Be there in black! Love SD!

BOOB, I KNOW, I shouldn't have! But, I love you! Let's have a great fest of the semester! Bill

2ND FLOOR S. PATTERSON Thanks for everything you guys, expecially the MAMAS! Love ya, Eunmi and Lara

ALPO, HAPPY 20th BIRTHDAY Babe!! Hope you have an awesome day! Love, Noizy and Mr Hands

D.J. "DEEJ" AYLWARD! 23!?! Nah, can't be! Party at Micky D's! With love from Dave!, Gina, and the rest of the "Cashn Crew " Happy B-day, Tootsie!

HELP! W/HOUSING! Undergrad M needs space now! and someone to take my place [off campus] Urgent - Call Mark 549-5845

MATH 102 - GEOMETRY TUTOR needed, $4 or 5 an hour Help! 6-6158

LEARN HOW TO STOP worrying and love the bomb See Dr Strangelove Nov 7 SUB

GOSPELL- THE UMASS MUSIC Theatre Guild will be performing Godspell this Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sturday (Oct 26-29) at 6:00pm, with a matinee Sturday at 2:00pm in Bowker Auditorium. Students $3/general admission $5 To reserve tickets call 545-2511

ROOMATE WANTED

HELP! W/HOUSING! Undergrad M needs space now! And someone to take my place [off campus] Urgent - Call Mark 549-5845.

IMMEDIATELY! LARGE BEDROOM kitchen, living room, dining room, cable tv, swimming pool Located across Stop & Shop, 256-6086

ONE OR TWO FEMALE ROOMATES needed to take over lease for Southwood townehouse apartment for Spring semester Call Julie 253-3231

PUFFTON VILLAGE - large double room available Jan 1, $150 per person. Rent includes heat gas, water Leave message 549-0840

APARTMENT MATE WANTED. Nice Northampton location Call Greg at 584-7400 message

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior If interested please call Beth at 665-4550

SERVICES

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor. Call Carolyn-leave message 253-5967

WEIGHT LOSS OR MAINTENANCE safe, affective ToppFast 546-5369 3-8pm TARA

ACCURACY GUARANTEED. Reasonable, fast Basic editing Foreign languages Gloria 323-5140

FLYING FINGERS TYPING work done in 24 hours Pickup/dropoff Too Call Kevin 549-0716

TYPING. TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate. 253-WORD

ABLE TYPIST, basic editing, competitive rates, decent location 253-5202

SUSAN DITULLIO

HAPPY 21st SUE! Have a great day! Love you Kelly

TOLL-FREE LONG DISTANCE

'88-'89 AT&T 800 DIRECTORIES. Cut your long distance bills with over 60,000 toll-free 800 numbers compiled into a national phone book published by AT&T Get prompt information on products and services, the best prices on anything from coast to coast, immediate access to government agencies, businesses, organizations and more, all toll-free Call before November 1 and save $2 off the $9.95 cover price. Pays for itself in just your first few calls! Contact Mark at 549-2871

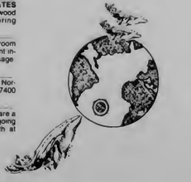
TRAVEL

COLLEGE WEEKEND in Montreal from $39 November 11-13 Call 549-1949

WANTED

STUDENT ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVES! The Undergraduate Admissions Office is looking for a few dynamic and articulate Juniors and Seniors to help promote the University to prospective students. Become part of the Student Rep Program for Spring 89 and interview prospective students while learning valuable skills! Applications available Oct 24 in 255 Whitmore or on the Concourse Oct 31 and Nov 1. Deadline is Nov 4

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hurris) notes will pay money$$ Shirley 549-2710



SPORTS

Field hockey rallies to knock off B.U., 3-1

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts has never trailed in a game during the first half this season. The Minutewomen have never trailed in the second half of a game this year either.

The only time UMass was behind in a game this season was during an overtime in which they lost a game to Old Dominion University.

But yesterday, the Minutewomen found themselves behind by a goal less than 10 minutes into the game with Boston University at Totman Field in their last regular season home game.

And the Minutewomen responded to the pressure about as well as could be expected, by tying the game up in the second half and then exploding in the second overtime for two goals to take home a 3-1 victory.

"It's good that we experienced this for ourselves," UMass coach Pam Hixon said. "I thought we responded very well. We continued to be poised and we never panicked."

UMass is now 15-1-1 on the year, the No. 3 team in the nation as ranked by the NCAA and No. 1 in the Northeast. BU dropped to 9-4-1, and with the loss can probably kiss its bid for an NCAA tournament berth goodbye.

Talk about unlikely heroes, senior Kathy Derwin, who is listed as a defensive player, scored the game winning goal for UMass in the second overtime when she tipped in a rebound after BU goaltender Lori Heywood kicked out a Kathy DeAngelis shot.

The goal, which came at 1:05 of the second overtime, was the first of Derwin's career at UMass.

Things did not look good for UMass in the first half. After junior forward Sally Maxwell put the Terriers up 1-0 at 9:18 of the first half the Minutewomen found themselves in a battle.

And to make things worse, with about 12 and a half minutes left in the first half, senior Tonia Kennedy, who is UMass' second leading scorer, had to leave the game, not to return, with a pulled hamstring.

But with a bench as deep as the one that the Minutewomen have this year, Hixon simply had to choose her weapon. That ended up being sophomore Elise McDevitt who has done the job on many occasions this year.

"Elise came in and did a fine job," Hixon said. "I think platooning our people has really paid off because now if we have an injury, we have a person that can come in and do the job.'

continued on page 19

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

Yesterday's field hockey game was up the air until the second overtime, until the Minutewomen scored twice to beat B.U., 3-1.

Men's soccer on the short end at Providence, 2-1

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Providence downed the University of Massachusetts yesterday, in both the metaphysical and soccer senses of the word. The hands of fate worked overtime against the visiting Minutemen all afternoon, while the left foot of Providence College's Pat Kocourek punched the Friars to a 2-1 victory.

Kocourek pushed a pair of identical goals past UMass goalkeeper Sam Ginzburg moments before the halftime intermission, as the Friars overcame a 1-0 deficit and held on for the win. The Minutemen, whose good deeds on the soccer field should have resulted in a better fate, scored first near the 10-minute mark, then had a second goal wiped from the record on an offsides call. "We played pretty well," said UMass coach Jeff Gettler, "I thought we deserved better."

The loss dropped UMass to the .500 mark on the season (8-8), territory last seen in late September. The Friars chinned up to the even mark, meanwhile, improving to 7-7-1 with the win.

Playing with four fullbacks facing the wind in the first half of play, the understaffed UMass attack struck quickly anyway. At the 10:25 mark, Steve Cesnek took a pretty cross-field pass from Brett Anthony and headed the ball into Providence's net. The play originated from deep in UMass's territory, as Bill Kousmanidis settled a loose ball and turned the play upfield to Anthony.

The goal was Cesnek's 10th on the season, and left UMass with a 1-0 UMass lead. Following the goal that was called back, the Friars began to take advantage of the wind factor and apply steady

continued on page 18

Hartford to come in with a bang

Women's soccer team ready for physical game with Hawks

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's soccer team has had its share of tests so far this season. But it hasn't had one quite like this.

Today at 2 p.m. at Boyden Field, the Minutewomen will play host to the University of Hartford. The Hawks may have a losing record (7-8-4) this season, but that can be a bit deceiving.

For the most part, Hartford has been beaten by Top 20 teams, so the Hawks are capable of playing against the big guns. But that is not the reason that the Minutewomen should be stepping lightly this afternoon.

Simply put, Hartford likes to throw the weight around. If there was an women's soccer equivalent to the Philadelphia Flyers, this team would be it.

"They are a very physical team," said UMass coach Jim Rudy. "They're big and hard-hitting and they do a lot of heavy tackling."

Rudy had a first-hand chance to see the Hawks play Tuesday afternoon against rival University of Connecticut. Hartford lived up to its reputation in every sense, banging bodies and playing the seventh-ranked Huskies down to the wire before falling in overtime, 1-0.

"They pressure you all over the field," Rudy said. "They have a lot of honest workers who just come at you."

Hartford's rock-em, sock-em style would be enough to send most teams onto the field dressed in nothing short of a full suit of armor. But Rudy insists that his team will try its best not to get caught up in the rough play.

"We just have to play the game," Rudy said. "We can't change and we can't get into the war."

Aside from the bruisers, the Hawks do have some legitimate soccer players. They are an experienced team (six seniors and two juniors in the starting lineup), and are capable of playing the real game if that's what it comes down to.

One of the seniors is goaltender Maureen McShea, who has played in nearly every game during her four years with the team. McShea is a consistent player with a goals against average just under 1.00.

Leading the attack is Audrey Russell, a forward who is capable of playing anywhere on the field. Russell has seven goals and four assists on the year.

Joining Russell are the top two leading scorers in the school's history, Christine Huff and Marybeth Blonski.

"They really have no weak spots," Rudy said. "Nobody has hammered them all season. They have lost all their games by either one or two goals."

The key for the Minutewomen will be to somehow stay away from getting hurt. UMass can't look past the Hawks,

continued on page 19

Correction

Because of an editing error in yesterday's Collegian, it was reported that the University of Massachusetts women's cross country team finished in third place in a home meet on Saturday.

The Minutewomen won the meet, with 42 points, beating out Vermont (43), New Hampshire (58) and Rhode Island (71).

Also, this weekend's New England Championships will be held at Northfield Mountain, and not at Franklin Park, as originally reported.

The Collegian regrets the errors.

Don't give Garcia the boot just yet

Often rookies must bide their time on the bench before they are given the chance to prove their abilities in game situations. Then again, young athletes are sometimes moved along too quickly for their own good.

Unnecessary pressure is put on the shoulders of inexperienced players, which causes them to lose their concentration in clutch situations. A perfect example of the latter is Teddy garcia.

Garcia was a fourth-round draft choice this past year of the New England Patriots. He is the highest-picked place kicker in Patriot history and deservedly so. Last season, the Patriots' kicking game hit hard times. It was an area that needed improvement if the Pats were going to challenge the better teams around the league.

Eric Langer

Sunday, the Pats lost to the Buffalo Bills by a 23-20 score. The loss is very damaging, leaving the Pats' overall record at 3-5. This virtually eliminates them from the playoffs at the midway point of the season. The real story, however, isn't that they lost, but how they lost.

The Pats' rookie kicker had three chances to kick field goals. One was blocked, while Garcia missed the others from 25 and 39 yards. The chip shot from 25 yards was set up by the Pats' defense when Andre Tippett stripped the ball from the Buffalo quarterback. It was Tippett's first game in four weeks. Despite injuries, the Patriots' defense has risen to the occasion when necessary. Unfortunately, defense is only a part of winning football.

After the emotional letdown from not scoring any points, the Pats turned it up a notch on the offense.

continued on page 18

Hands, hands, hands, hands . . .

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

An estimated 4,000 people joined hands yesterday and formed a chain across the University of Massachusetts campus in what an organizer of the effort called the largest event at the school in recent years.

The human chain stretched from Sylvan Residential Area, cut through Northeast, twisted by the Campus Pond up the Fine Arts Center stairs, passed by Whitmore Administration Building, and descended through the tunnel under University Drive to the Horseshoe in Southwest.

Students, faculty, and staff lent their hands to the chain for less than an hour during the sunny afternoon. Children from Mark's Meadow Elementary School joined the human string near Sylvan.

The event highlighted Civility Day, the second anniversary of a brawl, which erupted in Southwest after the New York Mets beat the Boston Red Sox in the seventh game of the World Series.

Collegian Photo by Amy Fairchild

The chain started to form after a rally on the steps of the Student Union Building, where a crowd of about 350 listened to various speakers denounce racism.

The crowd roared as Sekhulumi Ntsosole, 34, a student from South Africa, said attending an anti-racism rally was a dramatic change for him, since just a little while ago he was in a country where racist attitudes are accepted and racism is law.

"I'm only one month and four weeks in this country, and I'm proud I can stand here and support this fight against racism," he said.

After the rally, participants, led by Chancellor Joseph Duffey and Lori Edmonds, an organizer and president of Afrik-Am Society, walked to the pond and started to form the chain, which quickly shot out in opposite directions.

The chain reached its final destinations, Sylvan and Southwest, in approximately 30 minutes.

In several parts, people attempted to do the wave, while the bells of the University Chapel were chiming melodies to "Reach Out and Touch Somebody's Hand," "Lift Every Voice and Sing," and "We Shall Overcome."

Chants of "Hey, hey, ho, ho, racism has got to go," and "We're gonna beat, beat, back the racist attack," could be heard at various points of the line.

In Northeast, participants danced to the Eagles' rock 'n' roll hit song "Hotel California," blaring out a dormitory window.

Some students skipped classes in order to participate. "I missed two classes for this," said Amir Bavar, 20, a computer systems engineering major. "They should have cancelled classes."

Other students said their professors let classes out early. Dennis O'Neil, 22, a sociology major, said his Writings in Sociology class ended early because of the event.

"It's good to see all kinds of different people together here," O'Neil said.

Jennifer Rego, a sophomore art major, said one of her classes was cancelled. "I think it's really incredible for all these people to show up," she said.

While two friends were pulling his arms in different directions, Mark Schwartz, trying not to break the chain, said, "This is worth this pain."

Said Schwartz, 23, a mass media communications major, "It's a really positive thing to see all these people coming out here for something besides alcohol."

Last semester about 1,500 students participated in a rally protesting Duffey's newly imposed alcohol policy, which banned alcohol from all outdoor events at UMass.

Carlene Riccelli, director of Greek

continued on page 5

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 37

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1988

INSIDE

- Party candidate speakes about Libertarian values. Page 3.
- Hands Across UMass photo essay. Page 4.
- Football prepares for Northeastern. Page 20.

Alcohol policies altering students' lives

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

THE RECENT TOWNWIDE CRACKDOWN by Amherst police on party-goers seems indicative of a behavioral transformation the University of Massachusetts and its students are undergoing.

FOCUS

Both the shockwave of the crackdown, which has resulted in more than 90 arrests in just three weeks, and the University's revisions of alcohol policies have sent rumblings throughout the community and tremors into the bedrock of University life.

While it may be no accident the rowdy behavior of UMass students is being pruned and sheared into something more acceptable to the town, Chancellor Joseph Duffey maintains the motivation behind stringent alcohol policies is two-fold: safety of the community, and Massachusetts law.

"Attitudes are changing all over society about the abuse of alcohol. There is a tension between the individual's right to drink and the group's right to be in a safe environment," Duffey said in an interview earlier this week.

Duffey offered the alcohol policy at Fenway Park in Boston as an example. The park allows the purchase of only one beer at a time and none after the seventh inning. He also cited the removal of alcohol from this year's Head of the Charles Regatta boating event.

Both the University and the town are asking, and in some cases forcing, students at UMass to modify their attitudes toward the use of alcohol. However their motives for doing so differ.

Town motives

A sizeable number of the arrests made in the past three weeks were violations of the open-container policy, a bylaw adopted by the Amherst in 1987 after an unprecedented post-finals bash was held in the center of town.

Crackdown mars partying scene

By COSMO MACERO JR.
Collegian Staff

It's no secret that throwing a party in the town of Amherst is no longer as easy as ordering a few kegs and clearing out the furniture.

Revised town bylaws, stiff penalties, and a concerned community have changed the face of the University of Massachusetts social life; the days of all-out, all-hours bashing may be numbered.

While live musical acts frequently draw complaints from non-partying neighbors, Amherst police say they

continued on page 12

"It was a policy management initiative," said Selectman Chairwoman Edith Wilkinson. "The board of selectmen received a tremendous number of phone calls because of the party that occurred downtown in 1987."

That year, prior to the UMass commencement, several hundred students converged near the bars on North Pleasant Street, partying until Amherst Police and back-up officers called from surrounding towns were able to contain the near-riot conditions.

"It was a rather tense situation," Wilkinson said. "They were drinking, throwing cans and there was broken glass everywhere. Something had to be done to assure that the situation was not repeated. It (the bylaw) was in the back of everyone's mind when we were considering the warrant."

The University's motive

Duffey said he feels the current University image is good and that the main obstacle the school now has to overcome is the abuse of alcohol.

"Alcohol can be used in a number of positive ways, but we have to respect group rights and the law," Duffey said.

The chancellor expressed his concern about the perception the public, and specifically the academic world, has for the University.

"Over the last few years we have become a more serious academic institution — where we used to be number six on Playboy's party school list," Duffey said. "Men and women shouldn't be seen as second class citizens of the academic world because they attended a public university."

Duffey said he thought students should live under the same rules as everyone else and that the students themselves expect to be treated as adults.

continued on page 11

Young addresses UMass

Urges cultural bonds

By ALLEN BERNARD
Collegian Staff

In a speech last night to more than 500 people in the Campus Center auditorium, Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young stressed the need for more contact and understanding among different ethnic and cultural groups.

"If your going to stay with people such as yourself, you're going to end up culturally retarded," he said.

Young, giving the keynote address for Civility Day, said getting to know people from different ethnic groups while in college is one of the most important aspects of a college education.

"However you look at it, and wherever you go, you're going to have to find a way to learn how to deal with those that are different," he said.

He said that in the world of business and politics, a person who is able to work with different types of people will advance faster than someone who can not.

"Just being the brightest and the best is not good enough," he said.

continued on page 13

Fanatical horror fan a suspect in brutal Greenfield killing

COMPILED FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

GREENFIELD — Police yesterday warned that murder suspect Mark Branch of Greenfield is to be considered armed and dangerous — but they would not comment about the youth's apparent fascination with violent horror films.

An arrest warrant has been issued for Branch, a suspect in the killing of 19-year-old Sharon Gregory, a freshman liberal arts and art major at Greenfield Community College.

Her twin sister discovered the body Monday in the family's home in Greenfield.

State Police Sgt. Norman Roberts said Ms. Gregory died of multiple stab wounds.

Stories about the youths fascination with "slasher" movies such as "Friday the 13th" have caused panic that the boy has begun a killing rampage.

Bob Quesnel, owner of Greenfield's Video Expo 1, said Branch has been a regular customer and occasional helper at the store since 1983, renting and purchasing hundreds of horror videos.

"He rented strictly gore, period . . . the

continued on page 10

WORLD/NATION

Federal study shows high death rate near nuclear power plant

AIKEN, S.C. (AP) — A federal study of workers at the Savannah River nuclear plant found twice the usual rate of deaths from leukemia.

The finding by the Oak Ridge Associate Universities Center for Epidemiologic Research is consistent with the results of a study by the Du Pont Co. released in 1976, plant officials said in a statement Wednesday. Du Pont runs the federal plant under contract.

The Oak Ridge study included 1,274 male hourly workers who were hired before 1955 and worked five to 15 years. Overall, they had fewer than expected deaths for all causes but six leukemia deaths, a greater number than would be expected.

"The finding of an increase in the number of leukemia deaths in the population warrants futher invesigation. We are conducting a study in which a full assessment will be made of radiation and chemical exposure." said Donna L. Cragie, head of a team of researchers of the Oak Ridge center.

Cragie said in a statement released by the plant that further studies are under way to determine if the leukemia deaths are in any way related to the workers' exposure to radiation or chemicals on the job.

Radiation monitoring data for the men who died of leukemia showed that all were exposed to less than the current annual occupational radiation limit.

The researchers' findings were reported this month in the American Journal of Industrial Medicine. They have been presented to plant employees and managers.

Oak Ridge Associate Universities is a private, non-profit association of 49 colleges and universities based in Tennessee that is a managment and operating contractor for the Department of Energy.

In a related development, a national group of 60,000 physicians and medical students called Wednesday for the creation of a national medical board to assess public and environmental health problems associated with the operation of the Savannah River plant and other U.S. nuclear weapons plants.

New Moscow embassy probable

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan will recommend to Congress that the nearly complete US Embassy in Moscow, which the administration believes contains sophisticated listening devices, be torn down and rebuilt, The Washington Post reported yesterday.

The newspaper quoted State Department sources as saying the president's decision was expected to be announced today.

It probably would cost $300 million and take five years to build a new eight-story embassy on the same site with materials imported from the United States and kept under heavy guard after they arrived in the Soviet Union, the paper reported.

State Department sources have said Secretary of State George Schultz recommended the move to Reagan.

The Reagan Administration believes the embassy building, which was mostly completed by 1985, includes structural elements riddled with sophisticated devices that were intended for eavesdropping. However, details on those findings have not been released.

Reagan, walking toward his helicopter to begin a campaign trip to Arkansas, Missouri and California, was asked if he had decided the embassy must be demolished.

"Yes," he replied, "because there's no way to rid it of the many listening devices that were built into it."

AP Photo

SEOUL RIOT — Police with protective shields duck firebombs as hundreds of students demonstrate against the US yesterday at Konkuk University.

Jurors wished for death penalty

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A few of the dozen jurors who found Daniel LaPlante guilty of murdering a woman and her two children, said they would have recommended the death penalty if the law had allowed.

"If you saw the pictures of those two drowned little kids in the bathroom or the pillow over the woman's head with two bullet holes ... you would agree with me; the guy is an animal who deserves to die," said a Springfield juror who asked not to be identified.

The Hampden County jurors returned Wednesday form the three-week trial in Middlesex Superior court in Lowell that ended with LaPlante's conviction Tuesday for the December 1987 murders in Townsend.

The jurors had been chosen from western Massachusetts because of a judge's fears that pretrial publicity in the eastern part of the state would prejudice prospective panelists. Judge Robert A. Barton had asked the jurors not to discuss the case for a week, but three of the jurors and an alternate spoke on condition that they not be identified.

"It was a gruesome case," said one juror. "He's an evil man. I never thought much about the death penalty before, but in this case we could use it."

Then judge had told LaPlante some people feel he should receive "the same penalty you imposed on the Gustafson family-that is death by ligature or hanging, but we have no death penalty in Massachusetts."

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN!

TIME WHEN THE TEXTBOOK ANNEX MUST BEGIN TO RETURN UNSOLD FALL COURSE BOOKS TO THE PUBLISHERS

RETURNS START

OCTOBER 28

DON'T WAIT TO GET A NECESSARY BOOK YOU MAY BE DISAPPOINTED!

TEXTBOOK ANNEX HOURS

MON-FRI 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

the UNIVERSITY STORE'S TEXTBOOK ANNEX @ physical plant bldg.

Suit-up for our Costume Party...Monday, Oct. 31st, 8PM

1st prize for Best Costume...Trip for two to a "MURDER MYSTERY WEEKEND" at Lake George, plus $99 in cash

2nd prize: $50 Depot gift certificate

3rd prize: UB40 Concert tickets

plus other great prizes to runnersup.

★ D.J. ★ Dancing ★ Munchies ★ Treats...no tricks! ★

Cover Charge ONLY $1.99

99.3 WHMP-FM Don't Miss This One!

DEPOT 125A Pleasant Street Northampton 586-5366

MUST BE 21--I.D. REQUIRED

LOCAL

Photo by David Higashiguchi

ANOTHER MONET — Freshman Jason Danziger sketches the campus pond recently as he sits on the sculpture on the steps of the Fine Arts Center.

Physician offers his insights into US hunger, poverty problem

By SCOTT ROE
Collegian Correspondent

Well-paying jobs and government programs can eliminate America's hunger and poverty, according to a member of the Harvard Physicians Task Force on Hunger.

Dr. J. Larry Brown spoke Tuesday night at the Campus Center Auditorium about the plight of the country's hungry and the poor, and what is and isn't being done to solve the problem.

Brown painted a picture of poverty across the nation, from Texas where 3.1 million people live below the government-established poverty level, to West Virginia to Iowa to California, where Los Angeles has the largest homeless population of any city in the country.

As a member of the task force, Brown has travelled throughout the country to soup kitchens, shelters and homes. He said he discovered a level of poverty and hunger of epidemic proportions. A brief film preceded the lecture to show what Brown said were the difficulties that the hungry face in this country.

He said there is a new class of poor, "the working-class poor," who have jobs but continue to find it increasingly difficult to feed their families.

According to Brown, the reason this class of poor exists is the Reagan Administration's continued funding cuts on national aid programs.

In addition, he said, the national minimum wage has not been increased since 1981, and the trickle-down theory of economics — tax breaks for the wealthy and corporations — "has failed miserably and it is time for honest conservatives to admit it."

"We don't have a resource problem in this country; we have a priority problem," he said. "Our leaders will lead when we force them to lead."

Students can be a factor in solving the problem by getting involved in local aid programs and by pressuring elected officials to do more to solve the nationwide problem, he said.

Weapon confiscated from dormitory intruder

A 23-year-old man from Ft. Bragg, N.C. was arrested yesterday and charged with possession of a dangerous weapon — metallic knuckles. The man was caught by police when they investigated a call made by MacKimmie Residence Hall student security saying a group of subjects entered the dormitory through a door which had been pegged open.

In other police reports:

- A vendor in the Campus Center concourse reported Wednesday that a person tried to walk away from the table with a sweater worth $20. The vendor pursued the subject and made him return the garment.
- Police are investigating a complaint that mail had been tampered with in John Quincy Adams Residence Hall lobby Wednesday. Postal inspectors are being notified of the incident.
- A man was placed in protective custody Wednesday after he was found lying on the island between the travel lanes of Campus Center Way.
- A janitor working in the Hills Building reported Wednesday a fire extinguisher and some light bulbs were stolen from a stairwell in the building.
- Police responded to a fight in progress in the vicinity of Prince/Crampton Residence Halls yesterday. An entrance window in Crampton had been smashed and police are currently investigating.

—THOMAS RODRIGUES

Party candidate speaks about Libertarian values

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

Libertarian Presidential Candidate Ron Paul urged an audience of about 100 in Memorial Hall yesterday to vote for him as an alternative to Michael Dukakis and George Bush in the 1988 election.

"If ever there was a need for a new choice it's now," Paul said.

Early in his speech, Paul pointed to a New York Times poll after the recent presidential debates in which 47 percent of those polled said they were unhappy with the choices in this year's election.

"Government controls the same political system and that's why people are sick and tired of tweedledee and tweedledum. We are the only alternative to a coercive government," he said.

Speaking about his party, Paul said, "We think that government is for the protection of personal liberties." He went on to say that the other presidential candidates fall short on this issue because they would have government try to mandate economics and personal rights, areas in which he said government should not be involved.

"The net result is that government gets bigger, spending gets worse and worse, and government gets more involved in the privacy of our lives," he said.

Paul advocates the abolishment of taxes, which he said is one of the areas where government has infringed on the rights of the people.

"You ought to have the right to keep what you earn," Paul said.

Drug legalization

He said also that drugs should be legalized because regulations prohibiting them lead to crimes such as prostitution because people try to get money for drugs.

"We never had drug laws before 1914 and they haven't worked since. What we want as Libertarians is the freedom of choice, because we can't limit consumption. We can't protect you from yourselves," Paul said.

Health care

Asked whether health care should be provided as a right for everyone, Paul said, "No, you don't have a right to care, you have a right to life and liberty." He described health care as a service, and again brought up the abolishment of taxes, which would allow more people to purchase health care.

Abortion

Paul said one of the few issues that divides the Libertarian party is abortion. While he said Libertarians advocate personal freedom, "it doesn't go to the point where you can kill a baby. I happen to think that destroying a fetus is destroying a life."

Paul described himself as a "pro-life Libertarian."

Military and foreign aid

"Currently the military-industrial complex is the most powerful lobbying group in Washington," Paul said, adding that this influence should be stopped.

He also attacked foreign aid, favoring a policy of isolationism. He said helping one nation fight another is creating two evils. He said asking people for money to fund other nations and drafting young men to fight in other countries is wrong.

Rising Libertarians

Paul said the Libertarian Party is on the rise nationally, as people seek alternatives to the 1988 candidates. Asked how he would be able to get things done as Libertarian president with Democratic and Republican Congressmen, Paul said he would be able to work equally well with both parties because he has some views that are typically classed as liberal, and some that are thought of as conservative.

Paul's visit was arranged by Matthew Whiting, who is forming a Registered Student Organization of libertarians at the University of Massachusetts.

"I brought him hear to offer this campus an alternative to George Bush and Michael Dukakis," Whiting said.

He acknowledged that Paul has little chance to win this election, but said, "Ron Paul is running to spread the word that there is a Libertarian Party out there."

Paul, a former four-term Republican US Congressman from Houston, is on the ballot in 46 states.

Kennedy to speak at rally for Dems

US Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will speak at the University of Massachusetts on Saturday, Nov. 5, as part of a democratic rally prior to the election Nov. 8, a spokesperson for University Democrats said yesterday.

Jeff Cronin, president of U-Dems, said Kennedy will appear with several other candidates from Massachusetts. Cronin said Rep. Stan Rosenberg (D-Amherst), Sen. John Olver (D-Amherst) and candidate for Congress John Arden are likely to appear but have not been confirmed yet.

"This Democratic rally will be the biggest event in the area prior to the election," Cronin said.

He said the rally will be held in front of the Student Union facing the Tower Library.

Kennedy, 56 has served for 26 years in the US Senate. This is a rare appearance in Western Massachusetts for Kennedy, who is battling Republican Joe Malone in this year's election.

—GEORGE FRANCY

Women's Forum

FILM SHOWING

The film Not A Love Story will be presented by the Women's Studies Program on Wednesday, Nov. 2. The film is a documentary which follows the life of a stripper as she makes a personal journey through the issues of pornography, sexuality, and women in the sex work industry. Members of the Educator/Advocate Program of the Everywoman's Center will lead a discussion after the movie. Time is 7 to 10 p.m. in Bartlett 206. Admission is free.

FIVE COLLEGE EVENTS

The Smith College Project on Women and Social Change presents U.S. Representative Lindy Boggs, D-La., cosponsored with the Public Policy Program as part of the series on "Women Creating Change: New Directions in Public Policy." The lecture will be held on Sunday, Nov. 6, at 8 p.m. in the Browsing Room at Nielson Library on the Smith campus.

The Women of Color Film Festival which is running from Oct. 1 to Nov. 20 will be showing several films on Sunday, Nov. 6. Illusions and Suzanne, Suzanne, two Afro-American films, will be shown along with Orientations, an Asian-American film, on the 12th floor of John Quincy Adams residence hall in the Southwest Residential Area.

WRITING WORKSHOP

Local writer and teacher Leslea Newman will offer writing workshops for women called "WRITE FROM THE HEART" starting the week of Nov. 14. The workshop offers small, supportive classes for any woman who wants to improve her writing skills. The ten week session has a sliding scale fee. Call 584-3865 for more info.

JOB BANK BOOK

The Resource/Referral Program at Everywoman's Center has a Job Bank Book available for self-help use in the Resource Room. Anyone who is looking for a job or who has a position to fill should contact the Resource/Referral Program at 545-0883 or stop by the Everywoman's Center. Hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, and Friday, and noon to 7 p.m. on Wednesday.

Clockwise from upper right, photos by:

Joel Solomon

Jill Davis

Mike Cohen

Chris Hosford

Dean McCabe

Background photo by Amy Fairchild

Gotta hand it to 'em

By JOHN SWANSON
Collegian Staff

It was pure propaganda. One big photo opportunity.

Critics of Hands Across UMass have a treasure trove of shortcomings to chose from: Why would students want to miss class to stand in yet another line? Does holding hands for 40 minutes constitute racial harmony? And where were all the white males?

COMMENTARY

For all its flaws, however, Hands Across UMass was worth the one o'clock classes we all missed. Unless you witnessed it, you can not imagine the grandeur of nearly 4,000 persons on this campus linking hands and chanting "Racism has got to go." On this campus. The last student protest of this magnitude was the April rally against the alcohol policy. It was half as large.

Is this really an indication that our values have changed? I think so. Civility Day coordinator Grant Ingle wisely predicted that even though the students most likely to be involved in incidents of oppression probably would not take part in the week's activities, it would be difficult to avoid the message of unity conveyed by Hands Across UMass.

Obviously racial attitudes will not dissipate in one day. But in realizing that all types need to share this campus, I think we are reversing a dangerous trend in our thinking.

Two years ago, when the infamous mob filled the walkways of the Southwest Residential Area, who could have predicted an unbroken line would weave and undulate its way across the campus? The human chain remained united for about 30 minutes, not counting the frequent breaks required to let the sweat evaporate from our palms.

For 30 minutes, thousands of people were not merely civil to one another, they were excruciatingly polite. "Am I holding too tight?" "Hey, let's straighten out this kink" and "Do you think we should move down?" were some of the exchanges that took place.

And yes, for 30 minutes, woman and man, black and white, theist and atheist, faculty and student, heterosexual, homosexual and bisexual, joined hands in peaceful demonstration.

Who can criticize that?

hands

continued from page 1

Affairs, who participated in the event yesterday, said, "This is a wonderful, important symbolic gesture. What's going to be more important is what happens after this."

The human links in the chain enthusiastically tried to recruit more people. "Come on and join us!" they yelled to people walking by.

Organizers were happy and surprised at the high number of people who participated.

Jason Rabinowitz, Student Government Association co-president-elect and organizer of the event, said he did not expect enough people to show up, although he has said otherwise earlier in the week.

"I would have been ecstatic if we went from Whitmore to the Campus Center," he said. "The campus came through in a big way, this is absolutely thrilling."

"This shows that racism is absolutely unacceptable and not tolerated," Rabinowitz said.

People will think twice before saying or doing anything racist now, because the event was so successful and it made people more aware of the issue, he said.

"If it accomplished that much, then it was worth it," Rabinowitz said.

Edmonds, who came up with the idea of "Hands Across UMass," was equally surprised. "I was so shocked to see how many people were out there," she said. "It made me so proud I started to cry."

"It really showed how unified this campus is," she said. "Deep down inside everyone really does want to end racism."

Police blocked off parts of North Pleasant Street and Eastman Lane to help keep the chain connected.

ENJOY SUNDAY BRUNCH
11 a.m.-3 p.m.
All You Can Eat
$6.99

PEKING GARDEN
A MANDARIN & SZECHUAN RESTAURANT
586-1202 北京 on Route 9, Hadley

Create a great Halloween COSTUME!
Choose from our inspiring selection of used clothing, gowns, hats and spectacular odds-and-ends! The stuff of memorable costumes awaits you at...
ONCE MORE WITH FEELING
Carriage Shops, 233 N. Pleasant St., Amherst • 549-3772
Open Mon.-Sat., 10-5

Spirit Haus
338 COLLEGE ST. (RT. 9) • AMHERST • 253-5384

MILLER LITE SUITCASE	10.99	+ dep.
BUD LITE SUITCASE	10.99	+ dep.
COORS EXTRA GOLD SUITCASE	10.99	+ dep.
LOWENBRAU CANS	3.20 6 pk. case 11.49	+ dep.
GROLSH HOLLAND BEER	3.99 6 pk. case 13.75	+ dep.
HEINEKEN OR BECKS	12 pk. 7.99	+ dep.
ROLLING ROCK 12 pk.	5.99	+ dep.
SEBASTIANI WHITE ZINFANDEL 750 ml	3.99
MR. BOSTON 100 proof PEPPERMINT SCHNAPPS 750 ml	5.39
STOLICHNAYA VODKA 1.75 ml	19.99
ALL WINE COOLERS 4 pk.	2.99

• MEGABUCKS •
• IMPORTED & DOMESTIC KEGS, BEER & WINE •
ALWAYS ON HAND

DELANO'S
Proper Identification A Must
57 NORTH PLEASANT ST • 253-514
Sunday Night
HALLOWEEN DOUBLE FEATURE
"It's the Great Pumpkin Charlie Brown" at 9:00 p.m.
"Halloween" at 9:30
Drink of the Week—JACK DANIELS & COKE $2.00
Beer of the Month—BECKS $1.75
JOIN DELANO'S PRE-GAME WARM UP!
SATURDAY 11AM to 1PM
BLOODY MARY'S COFFEE DRINKS MIMOSAS JACK DANIELS & COKE $2.00 BECK'S BEER $1.75 TONS OF MUNCHIES
YOU DON'T HAVE TO MISS OUT ON TAILGATING!

What are YOU going to be this Halloween?
COSTUMES AND ACCESSORIES
• Priests
• Nuns
• Cops
• Prisoners
The Halloween Store
amherst/northampton
Find it at FACES

HALLOWEEN SPECIALS

CASE SPECIALS

COORS SUITCASE	10.99
PIELS	5.99
CARLING BLACK LABEL	6.99
SCHMIDTS 16 oz. BAR BOTTLES	8.99
STROHS 30 PACK	10.99

BUD LIGHT 12 pack CANS. 5.99

TWOS, SIXS AND TWELVES

FOSTER OIL CANS 2 for	2.99
MOLSON GOLDEN 6 pk.	3.99
AMSTEL LIGHT 6 pk.	3.99
SAM ADAMS 6 pk.	4.99
BASS ALE 6 pk.	4.99
BALLENTINE 12 pk.	3.99
ROLLING ROCK 12 pk.	5.99

HARD BARGAINS

SMIRNOFF LITRES	8.99
GLENLIVET SINGLE MALT	18.99
FOUR SEASONS VODKA 1.75L	8.99
FOUR SEASONS GIN 1.75L	8.99
PICCALA LICOR DE CAFE 1.75L	13.99

WINES

FONTANA CONDIDA FRASCATI 1.5L 8.99

NEW ITEM:

FOLONARI CHARDONNAY AND CABERNET
750 ml 4.99, 1.5L 8.99

THERE'S NO REASON TO GO ANYWHERE ELSE

FOUR SEASONS

KEGS—ALL SHAPES & SIZES

MC/VISA WE DELIVER

Located on Route 9, Hadley—Just beyond Burger King
OPEN MONDAY—SATURDAY 9 a.m. - 11 p.m.

584-8174

ATTENTION

Collegian Staff

MANDATORY Staff Meeting

Focus on Sexism

Today—3 p.m.
Collegian Newsroom

Everyone Must Attend

~~~~~~~~~~News~~~~~~~~~~

•

~~~~~~~~Graphics~~~~~~~~

•

~~~~~~~~Business~~~~~~~~

CAMPAIGN '88

The First Annual BODY SHOP

5 K Halloween Fun Run

October 29 at 10:00 am
Starts in front of McGuirk Alumni Stadium

Prizes to 1-2-3 male and female in the following categories:

J. Adams members
Kennedy members
Totman members
Non-members
Over 25 years old

Plus 1-2-3 for Best Halloween Costume

Sign up at all three Body Shops
or from 9-10 am at the run site

Free to Body Shop members
$5 entry fee for non-members

Choose Excellence . . .

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

TRAINING WORKSHOP

SUN., OCT. 30 CC 901

at 3 p.m.

at least one training workshop is required for staff status

Come write for The Collegian
113 Campus Center/Ask for Sylvia

Iran still smuggling US arms

BOSTON (AP) — Despite a cease-fire in the Persian Gulf war, Iran has sustained its effort to illegally obtain parts for US-made military equipment, federal customs agents said yesterday after the conviction of an Iranian father and son for attempted smuggling.

Steve Walton, special agent in charge of the US Customs Service's Boston office, said Iranian efforts have not abated to resupply and replace high-tech equipment bought in the 1970's when the United States and Iran were frienly.

"The truce in the Iran-Iraq war does not seem to have impacted the Iranians' desire to acquire US-originated, Iranian-owned military technology," Walton said. "I thought they would back off and they haven't. Their attempt to acquire is continuing at the same levels it was before."

Ahmad Modarressi, 64, and his son, Majid, 30, each face up to 15 years in prison and $1.25 million in fines for violating the Arms Export Control Act by attempting to send microwave tubes for the Hawk anti-aircraft missile system to Tehran.

The father pleaded guilty last week, and the son was found guilty Wednesday after a 19-day jury trial in US District Court in Boston.

Tossed Tea Party tea turns up

BOSTON (AP) — When Revolutionary patriots dumped 342 chests of tea into Boston in 1773, they thought they had rid the city for good of the symbols of colonial tyranny.

But now a well-known local explorer believes he has located the site of the dumped tea in Boston Harbor and hopes to bring back most of what he he describes as ornate, Chinese tea chests from the murky depths.

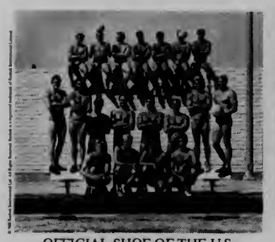
Barry Clifford, who located the first pirate ship found in the New World four years ago, appeared yesterday before the state Board of Underwater Archaeological Resources for permission to survey the Tea Party site.

"Boston Harbor is an archaeological site," Clifford said in his presentation to the board.

"In this day and age, when we have knowledge of what's at the bottom of the harbor, it's too bad not to plan so we don't put a tunnel through a 17th-century shipwreck."

But the board tabled his bid for a reconnaissance permit, which would have awarded Clifford and his team the exclusive rights to survey a nautical square mile in Boston Harbor. Officials asked Clifford to provide more specific details about the site and return for the board's next hearing Dec. 1.

WE'RE LOOKING FOR A HOT NEW SOLE GROUP.



OFFICIAL SHOE OF THE U.S. WATER POLO TEAM.

OFFICIAL SHOE OF THE CENTER FOR METEORITE RESEARCH.

OFFICIAL SHOE OF _____.

No, we're not talking about the next Sam and Dave.

We're talking about becoming the hot new pinup stars of the Reebok Rugged Walker campaign. Which includes an appearance in Rolling Stone Magazine. And a trip to the Stone's "Spring Break in Daytona" next year.

If you have a group or organization on campus (a fraternity, a sorority, a debate team, a rock band, a lawn bowling society - whatever), take a photo that best describes your activity and send it to: Sole Group, Reebok International Ltd., 150 Royall Street, Canton, MA 02021.

And then, you just might win the respect of your family, the admiration of your peers, and go on to become a goodwill ambassador from the great state of Wisconsin. All because you dared to pose for Reebok Rugged Walkers.

You've got to admit. No other shoe can carry you this far.

Reebok
REEBOKS LET U.B.U.
~~~~~~~~

Railroad SALVAGE Stores

SALE ENDS NOVEMBER 2ND

SAVE 40% • 50% • 60% EVEN 70%

JUVENILE BEDDING

NOT EVERY PATTERN IN BOTH STYLES

SPECIAL BUY!

PETER PAUL ALMOND JOY SNACK BARS 1 POUND BAG $1.48

FAMOUS MAKER

FULLY QUILTED BEDSPREAD OR BED COMFORTER

TWIN SIZE SPREAD OR COMFORTER Catalog Value $34.95 NOW $19.88

FULL SIZE SPREAD OR COMFORTER Catalog Value $39.95 NOW $24.88

Choose from Pound Puppies
Farmland
Wooden Soldiers
Phantasia
Whistle Stop
Bows & More

48"x63" Pound Puppies PINCH PLEATED DRAPES Comp. at $29.95 NOW $9.88

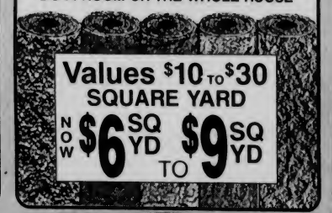
86"x81" Phantasia PRISCILLAS Comp. at $34.95 NOW $11.88

ULTRA PREMIUM MATTRESS BUY-OUT
MAJOR DISTRIBUTOR CANCELS ORDER AND RUBIE BUYS THEM ALL
3 TRAILER LOADS

20 YEAR LIMITED WARRANTY
COMPLETE SET AT OVER 65% OFF

TWIN SET PRICED NOW $780 $198
FULL SET PRICED NOW $920 $248
QUEEN SET PRICED NOW $1100 $298

NEW SHIPMENT
BRAND NAME FIRST QUALITY CARPET
RUBIE BOUGHT 1000 ROLLS
IN A FANTASTIC SELECTION OF COLORS
DO A ROOM OR THE WHOLE HOUSE



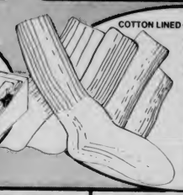
Values $10 TO $30 SQUARE YARD
NOW $6 SQ YD TO $9 SQ YD

8 FOOT BY 8 FOOT STORAGE BUILDING FRAMING KIT
ONLY 250
Value $98

Gambrel Roof Model
NOW $38.88 EACH

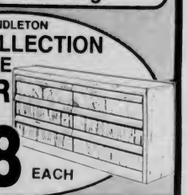
Rugged All-Steel Framing Kit Designed for Do-It-Yourselfers You'll Need Finishing Material For Roof and Siding.

LETTER QUALITY
IBM COMPATIBLE DAISYWHEEL PRINTER
Value $200 PLUS
NOW $88 EACH



COTTON LINED • NYLON COTTON
MENS • BOYS SOCK RIOT
5 PAIR $2
Value $1.49 ea.
Above and Below the Knee

PENDLETON
OAK COLLECTION
60" DOUBLE DRESSER
Value $179
NOW $68 EACH



OUR ENTIRE STOCK GASOLINE POWERED GENERATORS AN ADDITONAL 15% OFF OUR PRICES SAT AND SUN ONLY
ROUTE 5 EAST WINDSOR, CT MON-SAT 10-9 • SUN 10-6

OUR ENTIRE STOCK INGERSALL RAND COMPRESSORS AN ADDITONAL 15% OFF OUR PRICES SAT AND SUN ONLY
1131 CAMPBELL AVE. WEST HAVEN, CT MON-SAT 10-9 • SUN 10-6

OUR ENTIRE STOCK 2 PC. & 3 PC. LIVING ROOMS AN ADDITONAL 20% OFF OUR PRICES SAT AND SUN ONLY
ROUTE 184 GROTON, CT MON-SAT 10-9 • SUN 10-6

OUR ENTIRE STOCK WOOD COCKTAIL & END TABLES AN ADDITONAL 33% OFF OUR PRICES SAT AND SUN ONLY
1 CANAL ST. TURNERS FALLS, MA MON-SAT 10-9 • SUN 12-6

OUR ENTIRE STOCK AMERICAN TOURISTER LUGGAGE AN ADDITONAL 25% OFF OUR PRICES SAT AND SUN ONLY HAMPSHIRE MALL, RTE 9 HADLEY, MA MON-SAT 10-9 • SUN 12-5

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

DESPERATE? WHAT MAKES YOU THINK WE'RE DESPERATE?!....
DUKE
...GEORGE BUSH IS A NEGATIVE, LYING RACIST WHO HATES CHILDREN AND KICKS HIS DOG!!!...
Dukakis
CORRELL

Some advice for Mike and George

Negatives and worse

The campaign is coming to a close. Even as Michael Dukakis insists 11 days is enough time to change people's minds, it appears the only mind that is left to be changed is the Duke's.

So all that's left to decide is who ran the worse campaign.

Governor, forgive me, but I think the problem is that you just don't get it.

David R. Mark

Ted Koppel's words, during a 90-minute interview earlier this week with the beleaguered Democratic nominee, answer the "worse campaign" question, and summed up the problem with the Dukakis campaign, advertisements, style — and is the reason for the Dukakis double-digit deficit in the polls.

Dukakis never realized that his message wasn't catching on with the voters; that Vice President George Bush's negative advertisements — negative campaigning in general — made better television commercials, and better "sound bites" on the TV news.

Finally, in the past two weeks, the Dukakis campaign has gotten off their intellectual perches and come down to our level.

Whew, aren't we glad that happened.

But what is our level?

Now, instead of the issues, we get slogans.

Instead of debates, we get joint press conferences.

And instead of thought-out answers, we get spin-control, pre-packaged responses and more election-year cliches than any political analyst, professional or amateur, should ever have to hear.

With that I give a final look at some of the finely worded cliches, bad names, and other election-year phraseology which, thank the Lord, we won't have to hear after Nov. 8.

Good jobs at good wages: The most overused term in the campaign, voters didn't fall for it. The problem is most people who don't have the good jobs (or the good wages) aren't going to vote. Everyone else is doing reasonably well, and the early anti-Dukakis advertisements, showing life under Jimmy Carter (economic woes, long gas lines, etc.) made this sound weak. Like so many other slogans, there was very little behind this, or at least not enough for voters to be convinced.

A kinder and gentler nation: Yeah, right. A kinder and gentler nation under Bush includes the death penalty for just about everybody (especially those on furloughs), and (if the Supreme Court decision on abortions is reversed) some as-yet-unknown penalty for mothers who want abortions. Maybe Bush as president will sign a bill calling for spanking in the schools.

A thousand points of light: Or, as the joke goes, 999 points of light and a dim bulb. Who's George trying to fool? The best response to this was during the first presidential debate, when the Duke simply said, "I don't know what that means." Neither do most other people — it didn't affect the Bush campaign either way.

"His (advertisement, rhetoric, etc.) is (racist, negative, etc.)": This one's a bit tricky, because the mudslinging is coming in droves now that we're getting closer to election day. Dukakis' charge that Bush's campaign is racist lacks credibility. The statistics to back up the "soft on crime" charge against Dukakis aren't there, the furlough question, however, appears to be enough to back up the charge. Saying the Duke is against "just about every weapon system since the slingshot" is an exaggeration, but while negative, it is effective campaigning.

Eleven days left — then there will be some peace.

David R. Mark is editorial editor of the Collegian

Notes from the Campus Center basement

Forget the week, try a civil attitude

So you think the University is making a big deal out of Civility Day. They extended it over a whole week, there are lots of workshops, press coverage, pretty big names coming to campus. It's a little strange to take a violent and hateful event and turn it into a University program, but we're on a positive track, right?

Nancy Klingener

Imagine civility awareness extended over a whole year. Imagine if the University ran a lot more programs, workshops, even sponsored courses. Imagine a lot more speakers coming to tell us how we can make the campus peaceful, and lots of administration attention to civility and diversity. Maybe that would help the University learn from its mistakes, and violence could be avoided in the future.

The Year of Civility was 1981. The 336-page special report is still lying around some offices.

* * *

This year's civility programs have received a lot of attention from the national media. Reporters are doing enough interviews, but you'd never know it from what you see in the news. Their stories, most of them showing UMass in a pretty positive light, have been receiving little or no play.

* * *

Congratulations to the New WORLD Theater's production of "Blues for Mr. Charlie" for filling massive Bowker Auditorium four times in their run. If only more UMass theater got response like that ...

* * *

Congratulations to the organizers of Hands Across UMass for actually pulling it off. A generous estimate of 2,000 people managed to line the route from Sylvan to Southwest. About 200 elementary school students and freed staff from Whitmore didn't hurt — they added to the spirit of the undertaking. Cynical journalists like us hadn't expected to make a success out of even Hands Across the Newsroom, and we were glad to be wrong.

* * *

Don't have a civil day, or even a civil week. Try a civil attitude.

Nancy Klingener is a Collegian columnist

Letters

UM earned a hand

Can you believe it? The campus that's always in the news because of its racial incidents, the campus that hasn't been politically active since the ban of booze on campus actually got together and became socially, politically, and economically sympathetic to the injustices of our society, and formed a human chain from Sylvan to Southwest!

Nov. 27, 1988, can be remembered as a day when students proved they are not politically and socially apathetic. This day was the first step in the quest for freedom, togetherness, peace, and happiness.

"Civility Thursday" marked the day our campus of all peoples got together to prove that we can unite. We can eventually bring this attitude out into the world when we graduate.

We are the future. It is up to us to become politically and socially active. I hope everyone really takes time to appreciate our educational environment and stir the political apathy that seems prevalent on our campus.

Hats off to those people who took time out to take part in something that showed that there are those who really care. It is our willingness to become educated and to deal with racism that puts us in the forefront of universities across the nation.

There may be different colors but there is only one race — the human race. Way to go UMass!

Eric O. Mendoza
Zeta Psi

Missing baseball

For the past week or so I have been wondering why I feel so bored, so listless, so unfulfilled. Then it hit me — baseball has once again disappeared. A deep void has formed in my existence, and I am actually suffering from baseball withdrawal after the inebriating dosage of the past two weeks.

Oh sure, every once in a while a bit of news will miraculously filter through about a player's status or personal life, but that is just not enough! This may seem slightly melodramatic, and I know that many sports fans can easily switch to football or hockey, but for me — nothing can compare to four hours of pure strategy, anticipation, Davey Johnson's paunch, Ron Darling's academic pitching, and Tim McCarver's continuous commentary.

As my mother (a Polo Grounds visitor in her youth) proclaims mystically: "Baseball is life." I realize that spring training looms so far away. I can only hope that these next five months fly by like a Dwight Gooden fastball.

Julie Van Etten
Northampton

Mark misses the point

David R. Mark's column ("Big news, small people," Oct. 25) made a mountain out of a molehill. In it, he decried the lack of editorial responsibility shown in a response to a letter to the editor in the Weekly World News.

Mark is obviously not a regular WWN reader. If he was, he would know that the WWN has no editorial responsibility whatsoever. What does he expect from a newspaper that runs headlines like "I'm pregnant with Satan's baby?"

The response in question was meant as a joke, like all the answers to reader letters. A joke in poor taste, but a joke. I guess Mark just missed the point.

Brian Jewell
Northeast

Column appalling

No respect intended, but I find your editorial "Symptoms of the 'nice-guy syndrome,'" (Nancy Cohen, Oct. 26) disgusting and repulsive.

Your attitude toward the "nice guy" is why there is a small number of this species. Manipulating and using a friend without any consideration to them is appalling. If your idea of a "special friend" is a person that you can bum a ride off of or mooch a free meal from, you are a very shallow individual. Please show some class and discretion when you use the press as a tool to get a message across.

Fred Frangie
Longmeadow

Nov. 8 is election day — a chance to cast your vote in the presidential election.

But before that the Collegian is putting together a special election package on the presidential and congressional candidates. We'll also have all sides of the referendum questions.

To do that we need your help. What do you think? If you have opinions on the election or the questions, send them to the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, UMass.

Keep your submissions short, and please turn them in by Tuesday, Nov. 1. Thanks.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

MAYBE THIS ONE — Jason Bassilakis, Northampton, checks out pumpkins in preparation for next week's holiday at Serio's Pharmacy, State Street, Northampton.

murder

continued from page 1

gorier the better," Quesnel said.

Quesnel said that although horror films are popular, Branch's fascination with the genre was unusual.

As the search for the Greenfield man continues, the editor of the county's newspaper and law enforcement officials have asked the community to stay calm and rational.

Tim Blagg, editor of the Greenfield Recorder, and Greenfield Police Chief David McCarthy have asked residents to think twice before perpetuating rumors about the case.

"In 21 years in the newspaper business, I've seldom seen a wilder bunch of rumors and stories about a case like this," Blagg said.

He said the paper has been overwhelmed with telephone calls reporting other stabbings and connections with devil-worshiping cults. As yet there have been no other murders and police say there is no evidence of any kind that supports the stories.

"There certainly are bizarre aspects to the story, and we've reported them," Blagg said. "And police are urging people to take some sensible precautions to ensure their safety — although we have no reason to believe that any serious threat exists."

Police said they want owners to make a check of vacant barns and sheds, but to call the police if they feel it is not safe to, or suspicion exists of Branch using the building.

"After all, Branch has not yet been interrogated or even arrested. There is a presumption of innocence in this country, which people seem to be ignoring in their excitement," McCarthy said.

University of Massachusetts law enforcement officials are keeping an eye on the developments in the case.

"We're tapped into the Law Enforcement Teletype Network and are apprised to keep an extra eye out," said Larry Holmes, associate director of Public Safety at UMass. "We have given briefings to all our personnel and with the general media coverage, radio and TV, we will keep ourselves informed."

Holmes said he hoped the fugitive would be caught before Halloween.

RESUMES
Best Prices • Great Service • Laser Typesetting
DON'T WORRY - BE HAPPY
CopyCat PRINT SHOP
228 Triangle St., Amherst
(413) 549-3840

WELCOME TO:
Mark's HALLOWEEN
AT UNDERGROUND EXPRESS
WITH
BUFFALO WINGS FROM HELL!!!
MILD MED HOT TURBO
10 pcs.....3.95 & Party Buckets
20 pcs.....6.95 50 pcs.....15.95
30 pcs.....10.45 75 pcs.....22.95
served with our Chunky Bleu Cheese and fresh celery!
New! Chicken Strip Tenders ONLY 4.95!
w/BBQ & Duck Sauce or have them Buffalo Style!
OTHER FRIGHTFUL FEATURES
HAUNTED APPETIZERS
Couch Potato Skins 4.25
Monsterella Sticks 3.25
Cheesed Gooleyflower 2.50
Monster Mushrooms 2.25
Screaming Zucchini Circles 1.75
DARKSIDE ORDERS
Onion Ring Shackles 1.75
Wooden Steak Fries 1.50
Massacroni Salad .95
Potato Head Salad .95
Cole Slawter .95
DEADLY DESSERTS
Ben & Jerry's All Flavors
I SCREAM! 2.95
BEWITCHING BEVERAGES
Coke-Diet Coke-Sprite
Sunkist-A&W Cans-.65 Ltrs.-1.35
TAKE OUT OR DELIVERY
Tues.-Thurs. 5pm-2am
Fri.& Sat. 5pm-3am
Sunday 5pm-1am
Closed Mondays
549-7771
Prices do not include 5% meals tax
* Closed Halloween- So have a good night and remember to watch out for the Turbo Chicken From Hell!

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE
Friday Night is PARTY NIGHT
At Mike's CASH PRIZES
FRIDAY AFTERNOON OUR FAMOUS SMORGASBOURD
SPECIALS
Busch Pitchers.....3.75
Bud Light Bottles.....1.25
Wall Bangers.....1.75

Scott's
6 University Drive at Newmarket Center
Amherst, MA
Open: Mon.-Sat. 8 a.m.-11 p.m. 549-2692
LIQUORS
Michelob Suitcase Cans Regular or Light $12.59 + Dep.
Becks Bottles, 12 pk Regular only $8.39 + Dep.
Carling Black Label 12 oz. Refills $7.49 + Dep.
Kimnoff Vodka 1.75 ltr. $8.99
Kahlua 750 ml. $10.99
Southern Comfort 750 ml. $6.99
Chi-Chi's Margarita Strawberry, Peach, Regular 1.75 ltr. $7.99
We Want to be YOUR Liquor Store

crackdown

continued from page 1

from the silent population at the University who appreciate the policy." Duffey said. "Those students don't want to put up with drunken behavior at outdoor events."

Duffey says the behavioral transformation — from the "ZooMass" image of the 1970s to the competitive flagship of the state's higher education system — has already taken place, but sources at the Department of Public Safety say they feel there is still work to be done.

How the change is coming about

The town already agreed to pay its police force $5,000 in overtime for each of the three weekend crackdowns over the last month. Police reports indicate there have been over 90 arrests for alcohol violations. In a November special town meeting, Amherst will be asked to provide $50,000 for 10 more crackdowns between now and July 1, 1989.

The order of business with Amherst police is deterrence. A recent decision by a judge at Hampshire District court forced students to pay $100 each for violating the open-container bylaw. The judge, Alvertus Morse, said the students should repay the town to help cover the police officer's overtime.

The University has instituted policies prohibiting drinking at outdoor events, the drinking of alcohol in dormitories other than in a room, and eliminated having kegs in residence halls, something Amherst College is allowed to do.

As the reputation of UMass as "ZooMass" fades, the Department of Public Safety moves to make footholds to keep the image from slipping backwards. Arthur Hilson, executive director of Public Safety, vowed last semester to "move aggressively against underage drinkers."

Since that time Hilson has created a substation manned by University police in Washington Residence Hall. The substation is designed to be a center of safety needs and a vantage point for student security to manage the pyramid area, site of the 1986 World Series brawl.

Also on Hilson's planning board is his Public safety Education Assistance Community Enrichment (PEACE) program designed to counteract the negative image police tend to receive and provide measures to prevent crime.

Short-term effects

The central idea behind both the town and University's efforts is not to stop the use of alcohol, but to keep the use responsible, the noise level acceptable and the behavior commendable.

Since Amherst Police began their crackdown, the number of arrests each weekend have been cut in half and local package stores and bars have been forced to take stricter measures when checking identification to keep from being shut down temporarily.

Collegian staff member Sam Silverstein contributed to this report

Collegian file photo

University of Massachusetts police at last Spring's pond concert.

興旺樓
Chinese Kitchen
Fast, Quality Chinese Food at an Affordable Price
This Week Lunch Special
Baby Shrimp & Meat Sauce
with white rice $3.25
with soup $3.95
also-a 80 oz. pitcher of draft beer is only $3.95
Glass 75¢ Offer Good Only In Hadley
Hadley-430 Russel St., 253-2571 Northampton-150 King St., 586-8221
Help Wanted 11 a.m.—4 p.m.

17th Annual HALLOWEEN SALE
Thurs. 27th thru Mon. Oct. 31
Treats
On Shoes, Clothing and Accessories for Women — in Downtown Amherst
Open Friday Nights
Zanna SHOE BIN
north pleasant street amherst 253-2563 daily 10-6 sunday 12-5

NOW OPEN FOR LUNCH Fri., Sat. & Sun.
Under New Ownership! Amherst/Hadley Tel. 256-8911
NOW DELIVERING TO HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE
$2 $2.00 off any 16" large two-item or more pizza. One coupon per pizza. Offer good thru 1988. Fast, Free Delivery* Good at locations listed.
Free Pepsi — Present this coupon to receive two free servings of Pepsi with the purchase of any Pizza. One coupon per pizza. Serving size may vary by store. Offer good at locations listed. Offer good thru 1988
Free Topping — Present this coupon to receive one free topping on any pizza. One coupon per pizza. Offer good at locations listed. Fast, Free Delivery Offer good thru 1988
Only $10.00 You Get 2 12" One Item Pizzas! One coupon per order Offer good thru 1988
Only $15.00 You Get 2 Large One Item Pizzas! One coupon per order Offer good thru 1988
Only $11.00 You Get 2 12" Two Item Pizzas! One coupon per order Offer good thru 1988
Only $17.00 You Get 2 Large Two Item Pizzas! One coupon per order Offer good thru 1988
DINNER for 2! Only $7.00 Order any 12" 2-item pizza and 2 cans of Pepsi for only $7.00 tax included Regular price is $8.50 One coupon per pizza. Fast, Free Delivery 256-8911 Hadley 527-0821 Easthampton
The People's Choice One Large 3 Item Pizza SPECIAL PRICE $9.99 One coupon per order Offer good thru 1988 Fast, Free Delivery 256-8911 Hadley 527-0821 Easthampton
EVERYDAY PRICES
Menu: All Pizzas include our special blend of sauces and 100% real dairy cheese
Our Superb Cheese Pizza
12" Cheese $5.50
18" Cheese $7.75
12" 16"
1 - item $6.50 $8.25
2 - item $7.50 $10.75
3 - item $8.50 $12.25
4 - item $9.50 $13.75
5 - item or Extravaganzza* $10.50 $15.25
6 - item $11.50 $16.75
Hadley/Amherst 256-8911
Easthampton 527-0821
Hours: Call local store for hours. Open real, real late
Pepsi in 12oz cans 80¢ tax & deposit included
Available Toppings: Pepperoni, Ham, Mushrooms, Onions, Green Peppers, Green Olives, Black Olives, Pineapple, Extra Cheese, Extra Thick Crust, Hot Peppers, Sausage and Ground Beef
Store Hours: Monday - Thursday 4:00 - 1:00 Fri. Sat. & Sun. 11 am to 2:30 am
Our driver carries less than $20.00 Limited delivery area
DOMINO'S PIZZA

■ bands

continued from page 1

are primarily concerned with large groups of meandering students, and of course, alcohol.

James Hobart, of the Amherst police department, said the fines are distributed for unruly parties at the officer's discretion. "We'll look at the size of the party, and the demeanor of the party," he said. "If it's a situation that the residents aren't able to control, we'll give them a written warning."

Plain irresponsibility on the part of those holding a party is not excused, and the fines begin at $100 for the first offense, and increase by $100 with each subsequent violation. The definition of irresponsible behavior is disputed among students, the town of Amherst, and University officials.

The effects of the new town policies go beyond angered students being deprived of the opportunity to entertain their friends. Many area bands rely on parties as a convenient, enjoyable way to get exposure.

With the threat of criminal violations now a real part of the picture, students will no doubt be reluctant to hire bands if they feel the added noise will attract police.

Neel Viradia, a member of the local band Bad Grades, is very vocal in his assessment of the issue: "I'm upset with the Amherst police. As far as indoor places to play, fraternities will still be able to hire bands. But as for house parties, this will pose a huge problem."

Viradia spoke specifically about the problems band members face: "Lugging around all your equipment is one thing, and even still, a lot of bands are willing to play at parties for little or no money. But the possibility of getting shut down after moving all your stuff and just playing one song is just ridiculous."

The general consensus among students, particularly off-campus residents, is the new town laws are simply too strict.

With the cold winter months ahead, the issue will most likely be put on hold. But as for the spring semester, when outdoor festivals are the norm, the town of Amherst must wait and see.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

AND THE SUN TOUCHED HIS FACE – Mark Havmatz watches the sun yesterday in downtown Amherst.

Golden Key
National Honor Society

ATTENTION JUNIORS AND SENIORS

MEMBERSHIP DEADLINE

NOVEMBER 5

You asked for it... WE'RE NOW OPEN AND DELIVERING 'TIL 2AM Thursday, Friday, & Saturday...

"THE ORIGINAL" JOE'S BUFFALOS T.M.

Still the BEST and we cost LESS

GOURMET CHICKEN

Joe's Paradise

31 Boltwood Walk through the Alley

253-7494

FREE DELIVERY

Sundays at The Chequers

◆NEW ENGLAND◆ COUNTRY BREAKFAST served 9am-1pm

☐ Fresh Baked Blueberry Muffins
☐ Homemade streusel coffee cake
☐ Fresh squeezed juices ☐ Eggs Benedict - The best in the Valley ☐ Griddle cakes
☐ Country style sausage & bacon.

"Just a few of the special items on our new menu."

Serving our full menu 1:00 pm-9 pm

University Drive Amherst ☐549-5861

The Spoke has the Spirits

Goblin's Gimlets $1.50
Drink of the Week
A Wicked Potion

Becks $1.50
Beer of the Month

The Spoke

35 EAST PLEASANT ST., AMHERST

Lecturers discuss election antics

By CHRIS WILLEY
Collegian Correspondent

Mount Holyoke College history Professor Joseph Ellis said the silliness and distortions of the current presidential campaigns accurately reflect the status of the American people.

In a forum titled "How Stands the Republic? — The United States on the Eve of the Election," three panelists met the general public to discuss the US society during the presidential elections. The discussion was held Tuesday night at Amherst College.

The speakers at the forum were John Bracey, associate professor of Afro-American Studies at the University; Mary Maples Dunn, president of Smith College; and Ellis.

Under the format they presented, each speaker had 15 minutes to discuss what they thought was good and bad about the country.

Though the speakers generally had good things to say, they all agreed there were problems with the attitudes of US citizens, especially concerning the election. Ellis began his speech by saying he had "unrelieved pessimism" regarding this country. He asked the audience "who do we blame?" for the fact the presidential campaigns are so superficial and silly. He said it would be easy to lay the blame on someone "out there," namely the government, the candidates, or their staff.

Dunn said she was happy about recent figures showing women's salaries getting closer to men's salaries. She also said there was a still some progress to be made.

She mentioned divorce has resulted in poorer standards of living for women, and higher standards for men. She said this was especially true in divorces where the woman has to take care of children without the help of a second income.

Bracey said, "How does the republic stand? On its knees." He said there is a continual denial by the government that the US is a major empire, and also a denial of racism in this country.

The audience's questions were mostly from students who said they were concerned about the panelist's pessimism concerning this nation. One such person asked, "Why should I vote?"

The speakers took a few moments before they could answer, but they said voting is important since there are more than two candidates running, and it is possible to vote for a third party.

The forum was the first in what Five College Coordinator Conn Nugent hopes will be a bimonthly series of public discussions. Other forums may include the re-emergence of nationalism, and literary and film theory.

Soviet vessels, Eskimos work together; two whales freed from icy Arctic prison

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Two whales freed from a tiny breathing hole in the Arctic ice by Eskimos using chain saws and Soviet icebreakers made progress yesterday but were still in the channel the ships created.

"I thought they'd be gone [to the open sea] by now," said Ron Morris, coordinator of the massive to free the leviathans. "I want them gone."

Morris, who made an observation flight over the whales during the morning, said the California gray whales were one-and-a-half seaward from the point at which they were last observed Wednesday night.

Eskimos with chain saws had cut a series of breathing holes that allowed the whales to swim well away from the original hole to which they had been confined.

The whales grew accustomed to the cutting and during a frenzy of work Wednesday, in which 50 new holes were cut, the whales repeatedly surfaced in the new holes before the last block of ice was removed.

The Eskimos eventually worked the marine mammals to within a quarter-mile of a channel carved through the 18-inch-thick ice by two Soviet icebreakers late Tuesday and early Wednesday. Then the icebreaker Vladimir Arseniev reopened the partially frozen channel.

■ Young speaks

continued from page 1

In 1962 in Atlanta, a group of chief executive officers, 10 black and 10 white, from some of Atlanta's largest companies got together and decided to meet one Saturday a month and talk, Young said.

The point of these meetings, said Young, was to bring these men face-to-face so they could get to know each other as individuals, and through this knowledge learn to work together to help solve Atlanta's problems.

Young said Atlanta has benefitted from this cooperation and these men act as role models because they have been able to work together on projects and problems that affect everyone, not just blacks or whites.

Young stressed the need for college students to get involved in projects where they can experience other ethnic groups.

"Ethnic impressions are not something you overcome just by getting education and knowing about it," he said.

"I'm convinced Jimmy Carter got the nomination because he had grown up in a county that was 80 percent black," he said.

This multi-cultural environment helped Carter understand people and gave him the ability to communicate across ethnic boundaries, Young said.

"Don't delude yourself," Young said. "There is is nobody that doesn't have some difficulty coming together with somebody who's different."

He said there is no better place than the University of Massachusetts to address the issue of race relations because UMass is a "world present in miniature" due to the various ethnic groups that make up the campus population.

"We have come a long, long way," Young said, "but we still have a long way to go."

Before you Buy

HALLOWEEN SUPPLIES

500 MASKS TO CHOOSE FROM
GREASE PAINTS--HANDS--FEET--WITCHES' HATS AND BROOMS--WIGS
MOUSTACHES--BEARDS--NOSES--FANGS--TEETH
TOOTH BLACK--COMPLETE OUTFITS

H.L. CHILDS & SON

Open daily and Sunday 8-5; open Thursday nights until 8:00pm
Open Sun. Oct 30 12-5; 34 Bridge St. 584-2604 Northampton

OUTRAGEOUS ANIMATION

1988 Expanded Entertainment

For One Week Only!

Weekdays at 7 & 9 p.m.
Friday at 6, 8, & 10 p.m.
Saturday & Sunday at 4, 6, 8, & 10 p.m.

KATINA'S

RT. 9, HADLEY, MA
(413) 586-4463

PREMIER SHOWCASE NIGHTCLUB
Under New Management

FRIDAY
The SIGHS
and Special Guests: INNER RHYTHM

SATURDAY
THE DRIVE
First 100 customers receive a FREE DRIVE Hit Record, "Doing The Countdown"!

SUNDAY: NORTH AMERICA'S STONES!
The Blushing Brides

HALLOWEEN MONDAY!!
THE SAME HERETIX
GIDGET GOES TO HELL
Fright Night Freddy!

11/3 BHK SKALA BHK 11/5 WITCH CRAKOUR
11/6 BACHMAN-TURNER OVERDRIVE, 11/11 THE FOOLS, 11/17 PHYSICAL GRAFFITI

Florence

An Academic Year Abroad in the Arts and Humanities

A year of undergraduate study immersed in the life and culture of Florence. The program combines university courses with individual tutorials and language study and, for students of the arts, work with Italian artists.

For information and an application, contact:
Sarah Lawrence College in Florence
Box UMAF
Bronxville, New York 10708

SARAH LAWRENCE COLLEGE

10% OFF
Breakfast Items
with this coupon
GOOD TILL JANUARY 31, 1989

Breakfast at Bart's HOMEMADE

Award Winning Coffee

Fresh baked daily— muffins, scones, rolls, crescents, coffeecake and more...

Pleasant surroundings, fast service. Take out available.

Bart's ...it's more than ice cream!

AMHERST
Boltwood Walk
OPENS M-F 7:30
Sat 9:00, Sun 11:00

NORTHAMPTON
Across from Academy of Music
OPENS M-F 7:30
Sat 8:00, Sun. 9:00

Buffalo Wings
Potato Skins
Nachos
"T.L.C." Dog
Chicken Fingers
Chili con Queso Dip
Sandwiches
Frozen Drinks

We wouldn't want you to go away hungry...

THE LAUNDRY CLUB

549-2640

6 UNIVERSITY DRIVE/NEWMARKET CENTER/AMHERST

ARTS/LIVING

The last Halloween with Michael isn't too painful

By JIM COLE
Collegian Staff

Well, I did it. I saw Halloween IV instead of serious films like The Accused or Imagine. I was certain it would be even worse than Halloween II, but believe it or not, it's not that bad.

The four story writers had some fun, picking up ten years later with absolutely nothing to go on. Our favorite psycho is being transferred to another asylum when one of the doctors unwisely mentions that Mike's an uncle! Presto, no more doctors, and Michael's on his way back home: to Haddonfield, a town where he's become something of a legend, as his exploits are ingrained into the town's psyche. What little plot there is (hey, this is a horror movie!) involves his pursuit of his 7-year old niece, Jamie Lee Curtis' daughter. (And of course she's not in the film, written out with a car accident.)

THE SCREENING ROOM

To my surprise, there are quite a few jolts, and some nice twists to the story. Best of all, the gore that was so prevelant in Halloween II, is kept to a minimum. This is nice since it was supposed to end the cycle of copycat gorefests, only added to it.

The only familiar actor, Donald Pleasance, as the obsessed doctor, acts up a storm and gives the film a shade of credibility. (Though his disfiguring makeup from being torched last time changes with every scene.) As for Michael, he's the same as always, but the ending avoids the "he's not really dead" cliche that drives one crazy. It's quite a shocker. In summary, this chapter is fairly entertaining, and it's a relief to know that Michael won't be back in Halloween V.

At least, he won't be his old self.

Unsubstantiated Rumours and Self-indulgent Musings Department:

● Star Trek V started shooting two weeks ago. Under William Shatner's direction, it sounds promising. Well, actually I have sudden doubts, as this installment supposedly features the return (?) of Spock's long lost brother. I hope they know what they're doing, 'cause with a plot like that, the odds are against them.

● There seems to be a renewed interest in adapting both children's and "young adult" books to the screen. Jeremy Irons (most recently seen twice in Dead Ringers) is doing something "completely different," playing father to his real life son Sam in a film version of Roald Dahl's 1975 book Danny the Champion of the World. One of my favorites from third grade, it's the first movie made from Dahl's books since 1971's Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory.

For the older kids, The Chocolate War, Robert Cormier's bittersweet account of nonconformity in a Catholic boy's school has been adapted and directed by Keith Gordon, best known as an actor in films like Dressed to Kill and the lead in Christine. He's now in the director's chair. Sounds promising.

● The answer to last week's impossible trivia question: Betty Rubble's maiden name was Bricker. It was a trick question, as the answer was obtained from the Flintstone Kids rather than the original series.

This week's question is in honor of the video release of E.T. yesterday. Written by Melissa Mathison, it originally featured a cameo by her actor-husband, but the scene ended up on the cutting room floor. Who was it?

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

KRS-1 of Boogie Down Productions rapped to a dancing crowd Wednesday night at the Fine Arts Center.

DISTINGUISHED TEACHERS AWARD NOMINATIONS

DEADLINE: NOVEMBER 4, 1988

IF YOU KNOW A FACULTY TEACHER OR TEACHING ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE WHO IS TRULY OUTSTANDING AND DESERVES RECOGNITION, SUBMIT A NOMINATION IN WRITING WITH A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF WHY YOUR NOMINEE DESERVES THE AWARD.

ANY STUDENT, PAST OR PRESENT, MAY MAKE NOMINATIONS.

SUBMIT NOMINATIONS BY FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1988

TO: DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARD COMMITTEE
GRADUATE DEAN'S OFFICE
A217 GRADUATE RESEARCH
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

Halloween in the Valley starts with Hampshire

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

Halloween weekend promises to be interesting in the Valley. Tonight catch old timers, playing new music of various tastes at Sheehan's when Johnny Copeland', a "Party Blues" guitarist, plays with special guests, The Footnotes, and locals the Jim K. Band. But if the environment at Sheehan's doesn't grab you, the pace is slowed down a bit at the Iron Horse Cafe, where "Folk Greats" Aztec Two-Step play a dinner set. Dinner is at 5:30, and the show is at 8:30. Katina's in Hadley presents The Sighs, with special guests, Inner Rhythm.

LIVEWIRE

For Halloween night, the place to be is Hampshire College for their annual Halloween Jam at SAGA dinning commons. In the Backroom is the Sound & Light Experience featuring bizzare films, lamps, and slides, 60's music and Acieeeed House. Call 549-4600 and ask for the Alternative Music Collective for more details.

If Hampsire isn't your scene check out the Hamilton House at Amherst College. Game Theory will be playing with the Vestrymen, who've just picked up a new second guitarist, Andy Boose. Admission is free, and so is the booze if you have an I.D.

For those too cool or mature to leave the Northampton scene, Jack Smith & the Rockabilly Planet, with Fab Motion are doing Sheehan's, and Luther Guitar Jr. plays with the Magic Rockers at the Iron Horse. Those too cool to leave Hadley can go to Katina's to see The Drive. First 100 customers who attend will recieve a free copy of their hit record, "Doin' the Countdown." And let me tell you, what a hit it is.

Also Halloween night, Gidget Goes to Hell play with favorite rock literary group The Heretix. Finally at the Iron Horse, legendary DJ Wavy Gravy and the Vicious Hippies, help those who are still having trouble coming-down from Hampshire's eerie medicine. Special note!: Toni Childs has cancelled her Northampton show.

Just when you thought you had time to recover from a hangover at Hampshire, Iron Elf, One Seed, and F.C Pohaku headline a hippy all day-er at the Red Barn Sunday. Cassleberry & Dupree bring their full band to the Academy of Music. Show starts at 2 p.m. Shawn Colvin plays at the Iron Horse at 7p.m.

Called "achingly romantic" by the Boston Herald, Shawn Colvin brings her music to the Iron Horse on Oct. 30 at 7 p.m.

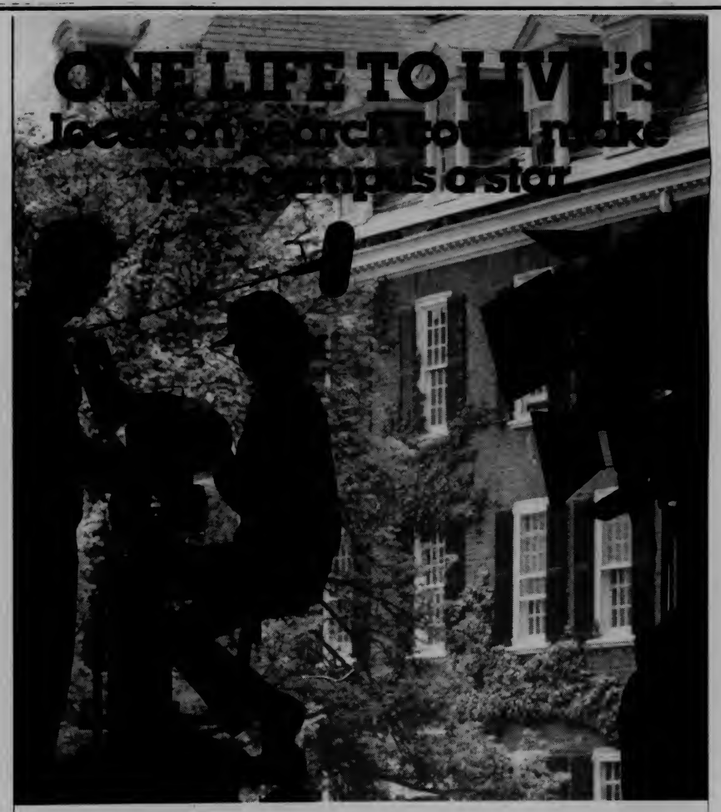
RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

★★★★

amc THEATRES
$3.95 TWILITE SHOW
MT FARMS 6 584-9153
THE ACCUSED
Fri @ 4:30 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:45
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:45
R Sun @ 1:30 (4:15 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:15
GORILLAS IN THE MIST
Fri @ 4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:45
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:45
R Sun @ 1:30 (4:15 @ 1:96) 7:00 9:30
FEDS
Fri @ 5:00 @ 2:75) 7:20 10:00
Sat @ 2:00 (5:00 @ 2:75) 7:30 10:00
PG Sun @ 2:00 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:15
A Fish Called wanda
Fri @ 4:45 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
R Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
Sun @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:45
HAMPSHIRE 6 584-7550
PUNCHLINE
Fri @ 4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:45
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:30
R Sun @ 1:30 (4:00 @ 2:75) 7:30 9:30
HALLOWEEN IV
Fri @ 4:45 @ 2:75) 7:30 10:15
Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:30 10:15
R Sun @ 1:45 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:30 9:45
IMAGINE: JOHN LENNON
Fri @ 4:30 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
R Sun @ 1:30 (4:15 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:30
BAT 21
Fri @ 4:45 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
R Sun @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:45
big Tom Hanks
Fri @ 4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:45
PG Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:45
Sun @ 1:30 (4:00 @ 2:75) 7:30 9:30
ALIEN NATION
Fri @ 11:45 @ 2:75) 7:30 10:15
Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:30 10:15
R Sun @ 1:45 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:30 9:45

★★★★

ONE LIFE TO LIVE's location search team could make your campus a star



Help ONE LIFE TO LIVE find a college campus to shoot several exciting episodes of its soap-within-a-soap "Fraternity Row." If you're a college student, write and tell us why your campus would be the perfect location for "Fraternity Row."

If possible, enclose a couple of photographs of your school's exterior and mail to: Location Search, P.O. Box 795, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. (Sorry, we can't return them.) We must hear from you by November 18, 1988, so write today!

abc

Video series mixes art and politics

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

Some new shows and a video series are in store this week around the area. First, the video series. The Arts Council and Union Video Council are co-presenting a series titled Art-Politics/Politics-Art, running from Oct.31 through Nov.4. It is a presentation featuring video art with a decidedly political theme. It includes analysis and satire of the media, such as Richard Serra's 1973 work, "Television Delivers People," which portrays the media as a hypocritical tyrant. As with any UVC presentation, you will be able to see the program in the UVC viewing room, 201 Student Union, or at the other monitor locations in the Campus Center and Student Union. Viewing times are Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 11 a.m. to 12 and 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday, 11 a.m. to 12.

Art Attack

Smith College's Museum of Art has three exhibits running until Jan. 28. The first, Native Art from the Collection, features a gallery talk with Professor of Religion John Betlyon on Thursday, Nov.3 at 1 p.m. Next is an exhibition of 18th century English prints and drawings, to open Nov.3.

Finally, also opening on Nov. 3 at Smith is a show titled From Ancient Regime to Revolution. Professor of Art History Helen Searing will give a gallery talk on Sunday, Nov.6 at 3 p.m.

Museum hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 12 to 5 p.m. and Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m.

The University Gallery has three shows beginning tomorrow and continuing until Dec.14. The first, Points of View: Contemporary Landscapes, is an exhibition of prints, paintings, photographs, sculpture and artists' books from such artists as Jennifer Bartlett and Bryan Hunt. Many feelings are expressed here, from the romantic to the spiritual.

Another exhibit is work by sculptor Judith Shea. Among the works are fabric constructions, free-standing human forms and even a headless and handless figure. Yet in the latter piece, there is a feeling of a whole body there. A truly unique show.

The third show is titled Halfway to Paradise, a show by artist Thomas Lanigan Schmidt. It's a mixed media presentation, combining wall works and sculpture to show the artist's spontaneity and frankness. Much of Schmidt's art was based upon his experiences as a child, including references to his Roman Catholic background. That's all for this week.

A series of films about dance will be shown Monday afternoons, from 1-3 p.m., Oct. 31 through Nov. 28, in the Hampshire College Library Screening Room, 3rd floor. Sponsored by the Hampshire Dance Program, with help from Third World Studies, the films explore different kinds of dance in various countries and cultures. There is no fee for these screenings.

UMass Professor of Piano Estela Olevsky will be the guest soloist at the Five College Symphony Orchestra opening tonight a 8 p.m. at John M. Greene Hall at Smith College. A second performance is scheduled for Sunday at 3 p.m. in the F.A.C. at UMass. Both are Free.

CAST YOUR BALLOT
TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8TH

AL-BUMS
DON'T FORGET WE BUY • SELL • TRADE
USED LP's CASS CD's
HIGH QUALITY • EXTRA STURDY WOOD FURNITURE
• BOOKCASES • LP SHELVES
• ENTERTAINMENT CENTERS •
ALL SHAPES AND SIZES
100's of Rare and collectible albums
$5-$11 Brand New! Wide Selection of Rock T-Shirts!
181 N. Pleasant St. Amherst 253-7137
Hours: Mon.-Sat. 10-8, Sun. 12-5

安城中國飯店
AMHERST CHINESE FOOD
—WE DO NOT USE MSG, FOOD COLORING OR CHEMICAL ADDITIVES.
• NEWLY REMODELED
• MANDARIN & SZECHUAN DISHES
• HOME STYLE COOKING
• NON-SMOKING ATMOSPHERE
• FRESH VEGETABLES FROM OUR FARM
• EACH MEAL INDIVIDUALLY PREPARED
• FULL LIQUOR LICENSE
• EAT IN OR TAKE OUT
• OPEN 7 DAYS
• RESERVATIONS AND LARGE PARTIES ACCEPTED
• NO PERSONAL CHECKS
253-7835
253-2813
62 MAIN STREET AMHERST, MA.

BAR HARBOR
Clothing Outlet
ONE PRICE $10 STORE
JouJou Cherokee Tanglers
Diane Von Furstenberg Calvin Klein Sero
Devon
Chaus Anne Klein Woolrich
Russ Togs
Super Stop & Shop Plaza Route 9 Hadley
Free Beer with this ad
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

The Witches' Gallery
YOUR HALLOWEEN HEADQUARTERS
THE UNHOLY TRIO...
MICHAEL IS BACK HALLOWEEN IV
JASON'S SHOP OF HORRORS!
Jason's mask and the sadistic tools of his trade. Mask only is glow or glow in the dark
Now $5.98
FREDDY SLASHES!
A real nightmare. The complete outfit including sweater, glove, hat and mask available
HALLOWEEN HORRORS! WITCHES. GHOSTS & GOBLINS!
At Card Gallery Halloween is fun. We've put together everything you'll need to make sure you won't be scary.
• Witches Dress with Hat
• Broom. Hat. Wigs
• Nails. Makeup
• Halloween Decorations
SPIDER IN WEB
Spider pulls legs of down web to YOU. Regular Use $1
Now Only 6 — $1
HALLOWEEN CARDS—FUNNY & SCARY!
More than 50,000 at every store. Choose from Hallmark, Recycled and many more
ALF—THE FRIENDLY ALIEN!
Just one of the hundreds of Halloween masks available at Card Gallery
NIXON. CARTER. REAGAN!
Plus hundreds of other masks. Nobody has more than Card Gallery. We've got all the active masks, too!
Reese's HERSHEY'S KIT KAT
TRICK OR TREAT—SWEETS!
Milk chocolate almond, Reese's or Kit Kat. 30 pieces to a box. Regular price $3.39 Now $2.39
COSTUMES FOR ADULTS!
Prisoner, Ninja, Elvira plus many, many more! We've run out of costumes, even at the last minute. Card Gallery has everything you need for Halloween
JUST FOR KIDS—CLOWNS AND PRINCESSES!
Card Gallery has a complete selection of costumes for children. Available in all stores with accessories to match
SNAKES, RATS, BATS, MICE!
Hundreds to choose from... Priced from 99¢
CARD gallery
NOW WITH 14 EXCITING STORES TO SERVE YOU
IN CONNECTICUT: MIDDLETOWN (Route 66; West on Washington Plaza)/WEST HARTFORD (Corner of Farmington Ave. and Mountain Rd.)/FARMINGTON (Farmington Plaza)/MANCHESTER (Parkade)/EAST HARTFORD (Corner of Silver Lane and Main St.)/NEW BRITAIN (Corner of Farmington Ave. and Main St.)/BRISTOL (Shop Rite Plaza)/BURLINGTON (Farmington Ave. and Rte. 4)/PLAINVILLE (Corner of Route 372 and Route 10)/SOUTHINGTON PLAZA (Route 10 and Spring St.)/BRISTOL (Shop Rite Plaza)/ABERDEEN (Corner of Route 7 and Main St.)/NEW BRITAIN (Eastwest Plaza)/SUPER CARD GALLERY—ENFIELD (Enfield Outlet Mall—Between Bob's & Channel 1) IN MASSACHUSETTS: SPRINGFIELD (Haymarket Square)/WESTFIELD ACROSS FROM CALDOR/HADLEY/AMHERST (Campus Plaza—Near the STOP and SHOP)
WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES. NO DEALERS PLEASE. SALE PRICES GOOD THRU HALLOWEEN. NONE SOLD TO DEALERS. SOME STORES MAY NOT HAVE ALL ITEMS ADVERTISED.

INDIA TEA & SPICE CO.
INDIAN & PAKISTANI GROCERIES
NEW INDIAN DINNERS
Take-out • Take-home
Chicken Masala Curry $3.79
Beef Vindaloo $4.79
Vegetable Pulao $1.89
Vegetable Samosas $3.10
Mixed Veg. Korma $5.89
Chicken Biryani $6.79
plus 6 more gourmet entrees
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK 9 a.m. - 6 p.m.
479 West Street, Rte. 116 South Amherst
Across the street from the Dairy Mart
Tel.: 253-2432

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!
from NEW YORK one way
LONDON 179
PARIS 229
ROME 259
round trip
CARACAS 320
ST. THOMAS 260
HONGKONG 739
Taxes not included
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes, EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St. Amherst, MA 01002

Guild's Godspell uplifts

By KIM FRISINO
Collegian Correspondent

The UMass Theatre Guild's presentation of "Godspell" is definitely a very uplifting night out. The players skillfully use drama, comedy, music, and dance to convey the deep meaning of the New Testament to the audience.

"Godspell" is about Jesus Christ and His disciples, and how He taught them and all mankind before He died. This production has non-stop action, taking place from when Jesus met the disciples until His death, and also including many of the parables Jesus spoke. Each parable is very creatively acted out, using a variety of techniques, including rhythmic choreography/speaking and role-playing.

Certain renditions are hilariously funny, still not showing disrespect to the material - sometimes a difficult thing to do, but competently accomplished here. All throughout their performance, the players convey ehough energy to make the audience want to get up and dance with them.

For those who are familiar with the New Testament, "Godspell" is a highly moving and inspiring story; one can appreciate the parables in a different and modern light, thereby seeing the relevance to today's society.

"Godspell" is playing tonight and tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in Bowker Auditorium. Tickets are $3 for students and open to the general public.

Perennial presidential candidate WAVY GRAVY can be seen at the Iron Horse Halloween night. Tickets for the 7 nad 10 p.m. shows can be obtained at a discounted price if dressed in 60's garb.

NAM: musicians for the mind

By ROB SKELTON
Collegian Staff

How to describe a music which is intelligent, and of appeal to the intellect, yet unhaughty, actually down to earth? New Acoustic Music, according to its practicioners, Andy Oxman (rhythm guitar) and Steve Bradley (percussion). They blend rhythms and sounds of many lands to create a stripped down refreshing version of World Beat, and it's here now.

Bradley hauled out his marimbas (wooden xylophone) at a gig planned for Civility Week, and with Oxman's driving acoustic chords, they evoked sound imagery of trains, jungles, dances and rituals. Both are adept instrumentalists; they spent more than a year preparing for their public debut.

New Acoustic Music will be featured at coffeehouses and natural foods restaurants regionally. Bradley is a member of the Earthfoods Collective, where they also plan to play. Oxman is on the Fine Arts Center stage crew. They produce good music, and have ambition, so perhaps they'll play there, too.

Was that an introduction? Keep an eye out for New Acoustic Music.

JB's Roast Beef
50 Main St., Amherst
(across from Police Station)
253-7018
HOT ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES
GREAT FOOD • GREAT PRICES • OPEN TIL 2 AM

GET INTO THE SWIM OF THINGS— HEAD DOWN TO JB's!
We're two wild and crazy guys who have their acts together and don't care what people think of us. Would you just look at the figures on us! Our diets consist of JB's roast beef sandwiches, chicken fingers and many orders of mozzarella sticks. We love JB's so suit up and head on down to JB's!
(If this is you, bring this ad in for a free order of Mozarella Sticks.)

We're a bit hard to find but well worth the trip!
TACO VILLA
MEXICAN RESTAURANTS
BOLTWOOD WALK, BEHIND BENETTON—DOWNTOWN AMHERST
BEER AND WINE SERVED
THIS AD WORTH 50¢ ANY OF OUR 6 COMBINATION PLATTERS...
Expires Nov 6

★ ★ ★ Amherst College Presents ★ ★ ★
DAVID BROMBERG

Special Guest Barb Schloff
SUNDAY, OCT. 30
8 pm in the Amherst College Campus Center
Public $7
Amherst College $2
Info: 542-5773 or 542-5770
coming Nov. 6
BILL KEITH & SUMMIT

C & C LIQUORS
61 Main St., Amherst
Next to Town Hall
FOR FREE DELIVERY OF $20 MINIMUM ORDER. (OFF UMASS CAMPUS)
Dial 253-3091
— All Prices In Store Cash Only —
Sam Adams.....$4.99
Heineken.....$4.99
Becks.....$4.70
Laroche..750ml..$4.99
French Chardonnay
Liberty School....$5.75
Cabernet Sauvignon
Christian Bros. 1985 Cabernet
90 points The Spectator.....$6.99
Seagrams VO 750ml $8.29
Vodka.....1.75L.....$8.99

Insight offered on Introspective

By GRAEME THOMSON
Collegian Correspondent

Introspective
Pet Shop Boys
EMI/America

Some information on Introspective.

(1) (For indie diehards, students, goths, punks, fiends and all those who mistakenly cling to the idea that crap, tuneless and badly-produced pop music such as perpetrated by "bands" like The Mission, The Cardiacs, The Pastels, The Bats, The Church - I could go on 'til well past your bedtime - is somehow better than good, catchy, well-produced pop music you can dance to, e.g. Bananarama, Mel & Kim and Madonna, simply because (a) it's "serious" i.e. you can't dance to it, and (b) they can't dance).

Introspective is perspective.

2) (For Housers, clubbers, movers, (rare) groovers, acieed users; in short, all those who can dance without embarrassing either themselves or their country, and who know a good tune when it wraps itself around their ears).

Introspective is the deepest groove this side of the Grand Canyon.

Who are these people who can keep churning out brilliant floor fillers?

Nobody really knows, but one thing's for sure - they know. Know implicitly the politics of dancing. Know their music history. Know Enio Morricone (personally); check out the intro to "Left to My Own Devices." Know how to do a House remix without pulling out all the cliches. Know that Frankie "Let the Music Use You" Knuckles can turn former B side "I Want a Dog" into a trance inducing thing of beauty and wonder. Know that "Always on My Mind" is one of the greatest cover versions, ever. And most importantly, know that everybody's got them wrong. They may look bored, sound cynical, they may never move from the spot; but in their heart they're dancing. The Pet Shop Boys eclipse everything else in sight for sheer pop perfection and understanding of what pop is, and should be about; and with this in mind, they have picked up the words Madonna threw away a long time ago, and engraved them on the minds of a generation.

"Only when I'm dancing can I feel this free."

Hampden brings 50's to UMass

By AMIE FINKELSTEIN
Collegian Correspondent

Whatever happened to the 50's?

That's right. The 50's: a time in America that none of us can identify with; at least not directly. The post-war days when after a long day's work, men took their wives or girlfriends out to coffee houses to relax and have some fun.

Coffee house, you ask?

Picture this: you're walking down the street on a misty night. You want to have some real fun — something out of the ordinary, something that'll get you out of your chair and make you jump up and down and say, "Wow can that cat blow! He makes that sax just scream!"

That's how it was in the coffee houses in New York, Chicago, Denver and San Fransico. Home town musicians would sit in the middle of a restaurant amongst the townspeople and perform their stuff. The people couldn't get enough. They were exhiliarated and they were part of a time known as the Beat Generation.

It was a time of human expression that flowed through creativity. People needed to get excited. They needed to release their talent. And they gathered, nightly, in small cafes to express themselves. To show the world what they were made of.

Coffee houses attracted the young radicals and rebels like the infamous "King Of the Beat Generation" Jack Kerouac, who changed the world with his novel On the Road. Jack and other beat buddies like Allen Ginsberg, William Burroughs, John Clellon Holmes and Lawrence Ferlenghetti would read their counter-culture poetry and fiction to the audiences. People liked it. It was art at jt's finest, and yet it was informal. After a reading or a bop session, the artists became part of the audience and had fun. A relationship between the performer and and the audience formed and didn't fade.

The artists kept their talent in a hometown atmosphere, in small areas with locals and regulars. UMass students will get a chance to participate in a re-enactment of the lost 50's by visiting our own Beat Cafe.

As part of the Residential Arts Performance Program, a monthly Beat Cafe will expose such talent as artists, musicians, writers, actors and poets. It will serve as a forum through which students and faculty can display their work in an environment suitable for the arts.

All are welcome to participate in and visit the Beat Cafe this Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Hampden Theater. This month's Beat Cafe will feature the University Chamber Jazz Ensemble, the Susan B. Anthony Memorial Improvisational Theater and Nick Kachulis on jazz piano.

Don't forget your leather jacket . . . or your swede mocasins.

Whatever happened to the 50's? Find out at the Beat Cafe.

Grennan gains musical merits

By SISTER WASSI
Special To The Collegian

Where do they pass out the award for "Most Improved Artist in an Incredibly Short Time?" Quick! Run and get one, and give it to Winston Grennan and the Ska-Rocks Band. Two weeks ago, at Katina's, the Ska-Rocks Band failed the test. A shake-up brought the band new members, who were unfamiliar with Grennan's original, musically sophisticated material. Grennan, however, is equally talented as a performer and as a teacher, and the Ska-Rocks Band now bears the unmistakeable mark of his guidance.

Wednesday night Winston Grennan and the Ska-Rocks Band returned to Katina's for a triumphant night of reggae music, dancing, and laughter.

Grennan's drum licks were as sharp as ever, and well they might be. Grennan is one of a handful of musicians who can truthfully claim to have originated the reggae sound. Tunes like Jimmy Cliff's "The Harder They Come," Paul Simon's "Mother and Child Reunion," and the Melodians' "Rivers of Babylon" all derive percussive power from Grennan. Eric Gale, Kid Creole, Marvin Gaye, and most recently Toots and the Maytals have depended on Grennan's rock-steady riffs.

Now Grennan is attracting high caliber musicians to back him up. New bass player Rhonda Kersey, a black American woman from Detroit, pops the bass strings for Ska-Rocks in such synch with Grennan that comparisons to the Dunbar/Shakespeare rhythm team naturally come to mind. Guitarist James Van Dyke doubles on trumpet, and produces inspired solos reminiscent of the early Skatellites. Denise Moyen of Canada remains the foundational keyboard player.

Grennan uses the reggae beat to back up jazz-type chord progressions, and the results are mesmerizing. His lyrics are intensely personal, but the subject matter is universal. On "Love" he reminds us, "L is for long. O is for over, V is for very, E is for ever. L-O-V-E!" Flashy, powerful drum solos put the message across. Grennan is a fluent, exciting player, and will undoubtedly climb to even greater musical heights in the future.

WHERE INDIAN FOOD IS NOT JUST CURRY

- Traditional Tandori India Cooking Seals in Fresh Foods Natural Flavors
- Complete Vegetarian Menu
- Extensive Wine List
- Bewitching Biryanis
- Enticing Curries

Lunch
Tues.-Sat. 11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.
Sunday 12:00-3:00 p.m.
Dinner
Tues.-Thurs. & Sun. 5:00 p.m.-9:30 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. 5:00 p.m.-10:30 p.m.

"Indian Restaurant with Excellent Food and Service"
The New England Monthly

The INDIA HOUSE RESTAURANT
45 State St, Northampton, MA (413) 586-6344
207 Colchester Ave. Burlington, VT (802) 862-7800

Pre-Halloween Bash Tonight at
CHANGES DANCE CLUB
The New Place to be Friday Nights
75¢ Drafts
DJ's Dave Babner and Manny Barrows are back!
Another Spectacular B&B Production

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
BEST NEW RESTAURANT
ADVOCATE BEST OF THE VALLEY READERS POLL 1988 SECOND PLACE
Thanks to the Advocate Readers for voting for us in the Best of the Valley Poll. Even though we were only open for one month when the poll was taken, we are pleased we made such a great impression in such a short time span.
FULL LIQUOR LICENSE
261 King St., Northampton•585-0202•Ample Parking
Open 7 days a week•No MSG
TAKE OUT SERVICE AVAILABLE

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED
The Legal Services Center has positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for the Spring, 1989 semester. This is a challenging opportunity for students from a variety of majors and disciplines to gain valuable legal experience.
Responsibilities include:
* client interviewing
* attendance at hearings
* preparation of court forms
* maintenance of continuing caseload
* investigations and research
Up to 15 credits may be earned.
CONTACT LEGAL SERVICES, ROOM 922 CAMPUS CENTER (545-1995)
BY NOVEMBER 4, 1988.
LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

CAMPAIGN 88

AP Photo

Presidential hopeful Michael S. Dukakis acknowledges supporters at a rally in Pueblo, Colo., on Wednesday.

Duke: 'Election up for grabs'

EVERGREEN PARK, Ill., (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee Michael Dukakis declared yesterday that "this election is up for grabs" and ridiculed Republican rival George Bush's assertion that his proposal for cutting the capital gains tax would create new jobs.

"Who's he kidding?" Dukakis asked supporters in this Chigago suburb. "What are they going to do with the extra money? hire a second butler, a lifeguard for the pool?"

The Massachusetts governor said Bush's plan to reduce the top capital gains tax rate for 33 percent to 15 percent was not a jobs program but a huge tax break for the vice president and his wealthy fire ends. Bush says it would spur business investment and generate new jobs.

"It's Halloween come early," Dukakis said. "A treat for the wealthiest 1 percent and a trick for the rest of us."

One day after the GOP nominee touted his tax plan before Detroit business leaders, Dukakis said Bush really was proposing to "give the people at the top the money and hope the crumbs fall off for the rest of us."

He also rebuked Bush's vice presidential running mate, Sen. Dan Quayle of Indiana, for opposing legislation that would require employers to give workers 60 days' notice of mass layoffs or plant closings.

From Evergreen Park, he headed for Rockford in northern Illinois and was ending the day with a town meeting in Independence, Mo.

Bush keeps playing hardball

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — In the closing days of the presidential race, George Bush keeps telling audiences "I'm running like I'm 10 points behind." Actually, he's running the play-it-safe, no-surprises campaign of a front-runner.

Major polls indicate Bush is well ahead of democratic rival Michael Dukakis. And Bush is not tampering with what has proven to be a successful formula of bashing Dukakis as a diehard liberal who is weak on crime, soft on defense and apt to raise taxes.

"This election is far from over," Bush told an audience of several hundred people at a stockyard rally in Sioux Falls, S.D. "You've seen those national surveys, but let me tell you something. I am going to continue to run like I am 10 points behind, right down to the wire, standing on the issues."

Bush added, "I am determined to win this election. I am not going to let up. I am not going to refuse to campaign. I'll keep going as far and as fast as required."

However, Bush also says he's not going to try anything new in the homestretch of the campaign, and he hasn't. He'll "probably keep talking about the same themes that he's been talking about," said Craig Fuller, who is Bush's chief of staff.

Among the states where Bush is making appearances this week are Ohio, Michigan, California and Illinois - electoral giants crucial to the outcome of the Nov. 8 contest.

"We're going to focus on state where we think the support is soft, where the margin is close," said Fuller.

"We're pleased and encouraged by the polls but we are going to continue to work to make sure we've locked up the necessary electoral votes," Fuller said.

Yet, Bush also shows up in places like Williston, Vt., where he told a firehouse rally, "Things look pretty good nationally."

The very fact that he was spending time in Vermont, which offers a total of just three electoral votes, suggests Bush is not worrying too much. He could have spent that time in big battleground states.

Bush also went to Connecticut (8 electoral votes), South Dakota (3) and Montana (4). Not because he needed them, but because they are states in Michael Dukakis' calculus of how to win the 270 electoral votes needed to capture the White House.

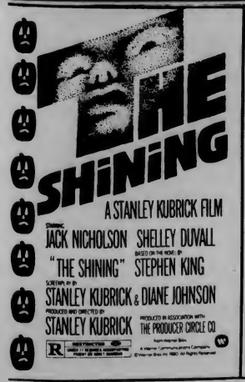
"Why not wreak havoc with that strategy?" said Rich Bond, Bush's national political director and deputy campaign manager.

AP Photo

Vice-President George Bush speaks before a packed house yesterday at the Sheraton Convention Center in Tacoma, Washington where he was formally backed for election by the National Marine Engineers.

What are YOU going to be this Halloween?
COSTUMES AND ACCESSORIES
- Gorillas
- Cats
- Bunnies
- Elephants
- Dogs

The Halloween Store Find it at FACES amherst/northampton



A STANLEY KUBRICK FILM
JACK NICHOLSON SHELLEY DUVALL
"THE SHINING" STEPHEN KING
STANLEY KUBRICK & DIANE JOHNSON
STANLEY KUBRICK THE PRODUCER CIRCLE CO
R

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 30
Time: 5, 7, 9 & 11 p.m.
Campus Center Auditorium
5 & 7 Shows $2.00 ($1 for Hillel members)
7 & 9 Shows $2.50 ($1.50 for Hillel members)

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441
JIM BEAM BOURBON....8.99 liter
ARROW BLACKBERRY BRANDY....4.99 750 ml
★ FLAVORED SCHNAPPS (for the pocket) $1.25 ★
Blackberry, Apricot, Coffee, Cola, Mintjulep 200ml.
★ PEACH SCHNAPPS...now only $3.99 750ml. ★
BANDIERA, NAPA RIDGE White Zinfandel 3 bottles for $10.00
BOORDS GIN 80 proof (while they last) $7.99 1.75 liter
SMIRNOFF Vodka 80 proof (compare) $12.99 1.75 liter
BACARDI Rum (silver) $6.99 750ml.
Bartles & Jaymes (wine coolers)
Dos Equis $4.15 6 pk. +$2.99 4 pk.; $17.80 case Dos Equis $15.95 cse.
★ MOSSEHEAD BEER ★
3.70 6 pk. +dep.; $12.99 cse. +dep.
FOSTER'S LAGER
$3.99 6 pk. +dep.; $1.60 + 25 oz. can
The LOWEST Prices in or about Amherst.
WE OFFER OFF CAMPUS DELIVERY...253-5441
Proper I.D. Required, always... Please...Don't Drink and Drive!
SUPER BUYS

■ football ready for NU

continued from page 24

"Northeastern is a team that can embarass you if you don't learn your stuff," Reid said. "They use the wishbone offense and have a very potent running game."

One advantage for UMass is the fact that the first- and second-string quarterbacks for the Huskies are out with injuries and a freshman, Byron Hurt, will call the signals.

"It's not as difficult a situation as if they had a more diversified offense," Reid said. "Their quarterback can call a dive or an option. Then he just has to be an athlete. David has to do more with our offense."

Palazzi, who is 104-of-191 for 1398 yards and 9 touchdowns, has struggled in the last two games and has thrown 14 interceptions this season.

The offense had a difficult time moving last week against the Delaware defense.

"We wanted to be conservative at the beginning of the game because we had turned the ball over eight times the week before," Reid said. "As the game went on, we tried some quarterback draws and reverses, but the Delaware defense did a nice job of defending us."

One problem the Minutemen have had the last three games is that they have been missing the top two fullbacks. But second-stringer Jim Pastorick should return tomorrow, which will bolster the UMass offense in goal line and short yardage situtations.

So tomorrow, the defense, which allowed just 68 yards rushing last week, will look to continue its stingy ways. And the offense will try to move the ball more effectively than it did last week.

"What's disappointing, although it's human nature, is that when you're 4-1, everyone loves you," Reid said. "When you're lose two in a row, you find out who your friends are."

And your enemies. Namely Delaware.

"I told our team that we can't let Delaware be the cause of a ruined season," Reid said. "Not a lot of people gave us a chance to be 4-3 and in the thick of it after seven games.

"Our No. 1 objective is to have a winning year"' Reid said. "We could be anywhere from 4-7 to 8-3. If this team thinks its been tough up to now, they're in for something. Only the men will survive this. .."

Tomorrow's game represents the first of the remaining battles. And a chance to get the ball rolling again.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

Tailback Kevin Smellie (41) and the Minutemen will take on Northeastern University tomorow

■ volleyball

continued from page 24

"We can't play a team of that caliber that way."

The key words for the week are 'serving' and 'passing.' Ford said she has drilled the Minutewomen on both.

"They came to practice to work," she said. "We worked on passing and today [Thursday] we're going to work on passing to strategic areas."

Still this match has more twists and turns than a Rubik's Cube.

West Virginia, which lost to the Minutewomen in five games, went four hard games with Rhody. Also, the WRams bowed out of the A-10 tourney earlier than UMass last year.

Tonight's match is also coming off the heels off Tuesday night's match against Boston College where the Minutewomen, in not playing their best match of the season, let the Eagles take them to all five games before finally falling.

Ford said that match is all behind them now.

"We can have the ability to put things in the past and go back to work," she said.

There may not be a huge shakeup in the standings no matter what, however.

A URI loss would only be its second of the season, and probably wouldn't drag it down in the standings. A UMass loss again probably won't affect the A-10s that much.

"We're definately in [the Atlantic 10 tournament]. If we did lose, I don't think we'd drop below fourth," Ford said, adding that the real battle is between Rutgers and Temple universities.

"For Rutgers to get in, Temple has to lose [this weekend]," she said.

As the volleyball world turns. . . the beginning of the soap opera will be tonight.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA PRESENTS
The 27th ANNUAL

LAS VEGAS NIGHT

Blackjack
Roulette
Over and Under
And More!

Win Real Prizes! Donated By Area Merchants

Place: C.C.A. Time: 7-11 Price: $4.00
Date: Fri., Oct. 28

Proceeds benefit The Equestrian Therapy Center

THE ORIGINAL LAS VEGAS NIGHTTheme James Bond's World

Same Bat Channel
All your favorite comics
Posters Baseball Cards Graphic Novels
586-8775 Hampshire Mall, Rte. 9 Hadley

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

The End (Act One)

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau

HEY! WHO'S THAT?
THAT'S BUSH, DUCKS! WHAT'S HE SAYIN'?
HOW SHOULD I KNOW!! THEY GOT THE VOLUME OFF!
I THOUGHT YOU COULD READ LIPS, HON!
OH, THAT'S RIGHT, I CAN. LET'S SEE... HE'S SAYIN'...
"READ MY... LIPS!"
HMM... MUST BE A LOT OF US OUTSIDE TONIGHT.

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

FREEZE THIS IS UMASS POLICE... WELL WELL WHAT DO WE GOT HERE??
I'M A TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLE!!...
OH, A WISE GUY!.. YOU GOT ANYTHING ELSE YOU WANNA SAY?
YEA! FOR A FAT GUY YOU DON'T RUN SO BAD!?
GOD I'VE ALWAYS WANTED TO DO THAT!!..
YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO REMAIN SILENT...
GASP!!
ACK?
GASP!!

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

A CERTAIN COLLEGE IN AMHERST...
BY THUNDER, THAT UMASS SCANDALMONGER'S CARICATURED US IN THE TABLOIDS AGAIN!
BLASPHEMY!
ZOUNDS! AND HE'S DEFILED THE GOOD NAME OF GEORGE HERBERT WALKER BUSH!! OF ALL THE PHILISTINE GALL-SARACEN DOG!
WITH GOD AS MY WITNESS, I'LL BRING THIS SKULDUGGERY TO AN END!
JUSTICE. JUSTICE.
WILL HUNTER AND BRAD CURB THE RENEGADE CARTOONIST? KEEP WATCHING AND HEAR BRAD ASK...
JUST WHERE IS THIS UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS ANYWAY?

There is a mandatory staff meeting today for all three departments in the newsroom at 3 p.m. Correspondents are also asked to attend.

Daily Crossword Puzzle

Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

ACROSS
1 Fasteners
6 Increase
9 Brit. mil. gp.
12 Hemoglobin groups
13 American Indian
14 Europe's neighbor
16 Neuricel command
17 Large ocean going vessel
19 Francesco —, Italian statesman
20 Garden tool
21 Word with story or worker
22 Part of a comet
24 Enforce by threat
25 Witch doctor of a kind
29 Stir
31 Old-time car
32 "Bounty happening
33 Alike
35 Poisonous white spored fungus
37 Having two ground floors
42 Cloud of ice crystals
Comb. form
44 Roman statesman
45 Mideast country
48 — culpa
49 Islands in the Arkansic
50 Point the finger at 52 Kind of monster
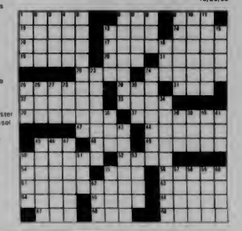
54 Quireg's vessel
55 Possess
56 Head up the gangplank
61 Famous old frigate
63 Enigma Variations composer
64 Sand hill
65 Eating regimen
66 Pester
67 Soviet abbr
68 Also
69 — down (washed)

DOWN
1 S. E. Asia native
2 Birthmarks
3 Amo, amas, —
4 Nuisance
5 "A Night to Remember" subject
6 Smelling like areas
7 Plunge
8 — gratia
9 Anchorman Dan
10 On land, to a sailor
11 Complete failure
13 Relating to grades 1 to 12
15 Pot starter
18 In the past
23 Whenever
24 Laughable
25 Small Scot.
26 Drone
27 — standstill
28 Time abbr.
30 Tiny amount
34 Part of OE III
36 Exist
38 Author Umberto —
39 Poetry Abbr.
40 Before, poetically
41 — Angeles
43 Pollen spreader
45 Son of Daedalus
46 Descendants
47 Racer
50 Pungent
51 His, to Henri
53 Part of MIT
55 Norse god
57 Margarine
58 Moslem titles
59 Demolish, in Soho
60 — Scott Decisive
62 Mount on Crete

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

C	L	A	S	P		Y	E	L	L		E	M	D	S
P	A	S	T	E		E	N	A	L		H	O	I	T
A	L	A	N			A	M	A	L		O	N	E
	H	A	M	M	E	R		H	A	N	D	I	C	S
			P	A	L			D	A	R	S
B	U	S		S	I	D	E			F	E	L	L	S
A	B	O		C	O	U				E	A	I	N	S
N	O	S	T	R			U	N	I	T		R	N	D
C	A	C	H	E				E	M	I		P	S	A
A	R	A			D	E	M	I			P	S	A	R
		I	C	K	Y			P	E	A
H	E	A	N		A	N	D	E	A	R	T	H
O	M	N	I		I	D	E	A		S	P	I	E	D
A	M	O	N		F	I	R	M		Y	O	K	A	Y
R	A	N	G		E	G	O	S		S	N	I	P	E

10/28/88



"The people don't take baths and they don't speak English. No golf courses, no room service. Who needs it!" — Chicago Bears quarterback Jim McMahon, on Europe

Weather

Today: Sunny and stark, cloudy in the afternoon chance of showers.
Tomorrow. Mostly sunny and cool, high in the 50's.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....David R. Mark
Copy Editor.....Tom Rodrigues
Layout Technician.....George Francy
Photo Technician.....Richard Bonanno
Production Supervisor.....Lisa M. Dionne
Production:Miriam, Mike, Miguel, Loreen, Janine, Peter, and the Ken Doll is going No-Ware.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscribtions Manager

Colorado College last regular season foe

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Sunday afternoon, the University of Massachusetts women's soccer team takes on Colorado College at Boyden Field at noon in a contest that carries quite a bit of meaning.

First of all, it's the final game of the regular season. This may be the final home game of the season, but with the Minutewomen ranked second in the country at this time, it's a good bet they will host a playoff game.

Regardless, it will be the last regular season Boyden appearances for seniors Carla DeSantis, Sue Cooper, Sue Montagne, Michelle Powers, Beth Roundtree, Cathy Cassady and Colette Bowler.

Next on the priority chart, it will be a reunion for UMass coach Jim Rudy and Colorado mentor Dang Pibulvech, who worked for Rudy at the University of Central Florida before departing for the wild West.

But, most important, it will be a clash between two of the top teams in the country. Colorado comes in with a record of 13-2-0 (the Tigers play at Connecticut this afternoon), ranked fourth in the nation. This should be a playoff-caliber game.

Just as an added tid-bit of incentive, when last these two teams met, the scene was Fairfax, VA for the Final Four tournament in 1986. The Tigers, who had lost to UMass earlier in the season, won the semifinal contest in a shootout.

There is a good chance that both teams could make that ultimate weekend again this year, but Sunday's game is an important one as far as postseason ranking. The losing team probably would lose ground in the rankings.

The Tigers suffered their only two losses of the year to North Carolina and N.C. State, the first- and third ranked teams in the nation. UMass fell to North Carolina, but rebounded to beat State.

But according to Rudy, Colorado has made great strides as the season has progressed.

"They are one of the deepest teams we will face," Rudy said. "They're loaded with talent, and they have a lot of national and regional youth team players."

The team is led by junior forward Kerri Tashiro and junior midfielder Maryclaire Robinson. Defensively, the key player is senior goalkeeper Janine Szpara.

"She's a tough and intimidating player," Rudy said of Szpara. "She's got some talent, good size and range and is a tough one-on-one player. She's decent technically."

Rudy pointed out that the defense is crucial in the attack for the Tigers. They play a 5-3-2 formation and bring a lot of players of the back into the attack, playing a lot of possession.

"They're getting stronger. Dang's built a national caliber program out there," Rudy said. "They're a classy side."

Sunday will be Spirit Day, and the Minutewomen invite everyone to be in attendance. The loudest and wildest groups will receive prizes, like 100 buffalo wings from Joe's Paradise and gift certificates to Fenton's Athletic Center.

■ women's soccer

continued from page 24

It never did get out of hand. The Minutewomen never appeared intimidated by the Hawks, and occasionally gave them a dose of their own medicine just to keep them honest. But, most important, UMass escaped the game without injury, unlike some of Hartford's opponents this season.

"We seem to be healthy," Rudy said.

The reserves kept the pressure on the Hawks for the remainder of the contest. Sophomore Kim Montgomery continued to state her case out of the midfield, freshman forward Theresa Eastmond checked in with about 30 minutes left, and gradually the rest of the troops came in and put in some quality time.

Also, junior goalkeeper Mary Curtis got her second start of the season and picked up her second shutout, making two saves. She did get bailed out by the goalie's best friend, the goalpost, with under two minutes to go, as Hartford quickly set up and got off a free kick. The shot seemed to catch UMass and Curtis totally by surprise, but the white pipe on the left side helped to keep the doughnut on the scoreboard.

Sidelines: Kater's goal gave her the team lead in the scoring department. With eight goals and two assists, her 18 points puts her one above freshman forward Michele Woodside. . . the line of the day goes to Hartford coach Ted Stavropoulos, after UM midfielder Becky Bonzano absolutely gelatinized Hartford's Amy Monsees at midfield with no call made.

With Monsees down and time out, Stavropoulos took the opportunity to grill the referee, and criticized him by saying, "You haven't made one distant call all game." We can only assume that he meant to say 'decent'. . . just a reminder that Sunday's game against Colorado College (noon at Boyden) will be Spirit Day.

■ men's soccer prepares for Rutgers

continued from page 24

The high impact players (on paper) for Rutgers are freshman forward Lino Dicuollo -- who leads the team in scoring with 10 goals and 4 assists -- and shutout artist goalkeeper Dave Barrueta. Traditionally against the Minutemen, however, the Rutgers midfield, led by Darryl Edelstein, does the most damage.

"They've got great players," said Gettler. "Rutgers' strength is their midfield, and in recent games our midfield hasn't played as well as it could, so their strength goes against our inconsistency. Last year was the same kind of matchup, and we lost big-time."

Edelstein, Dicuollo and Co. won't receive any special treatment from Gettler's squad defensively, however. After six weeks of experimenting, Gettler is confident that the current Minuteman lineup is their best available, despite its recent roller-coaster performances.

"When you lose, you want to make some little changes here and there sometimes . . . you've got to try and shake things up. Overall I think we have our best team . . . the only doubt in (my) mind is sometimes their minds, their ability to focus, and come together.

X-country at NEs

The University of Massachusetts cross country teams will take their act on the road this weekend to participate in the New England Championships.

The men's team, under coach Ken O'Brien, will race at 1:30 p.m. today in Franklin Park in Boston, while the women, led by coach Julie LaFreniere, will race tomorrow at Northfield Mountain.

Up, Up & Away
Balloon Bouquets For Any Occasion
An inexpensive way to say "Something Special"
• Halloweeen Special $15.00
• Create Your Own Message
(413) 256-8557
• FREE DELIVERY
COD · Mastercard · Visa

THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
DEPARTMENT OF THEATER
PRESENTS
Eugene O'Neill 100th Anniversary
SEA PLAYS: In the Zone, The Long Voyage Home, Ile. Three short plays by the master of modern American drama.
October 20 22, 26-29 at 8 pm
Matinee October 27 at 10 am
RAND THEATER FINE ARTS CENTER
TICKETS FINE ARTS CENTER BOX OFFICE 545 2511

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE
T.G.I.F.
"Come See What Happens"
FREE Hors d'Oeuvres 4-6 PM
Enjoy the spectacular view from the 11th floor
Wide variety of alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages
Free Munchies Monday-Friday 4:00-6:00 pm
Mon-Fri: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat & Sun: 5 pm-12:30 am

ROYAL CRANE ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
THAI, CHINESE, JAPANESE, INDIAN GOODS
Sauces and spices · Fresh noodles · Fresh Fruits and Vegetables · Pastries · Frozen, canned, dried foods
Frozen and dried fish · Cook Books · Woks, Rice Cookers & Implements Dishes and Giftware, Tea Sets and Sake Sets
Special orders direct from Chinatown
Over 2200 different items in stock
360 College St., Rte 9, Amherst 253-5656 Sun-Fri, 10-8; Sat 9-8

It's always a pleasure to serve you ... at Liquors 44
BEER WINE LIQUORS
prices do not include deposit
KIRIN BEER from Japan $10.99 FINAL COST sale $15.99 mail in rebate $5.00 CASE OF 24 12 OZ BOTTLES
DOS EQUIS XX IMPORTED BEER $15.99 CASE OF 24 12 OZ BOTTLES
GUINESS STOUT SALE $15.99 MAIL IN REBATE $5 CASE OF 24 12 OZ BOTTLES $13.99 FINAL COST
Miller High Life case of 24 12 oz cans $10.49
Grolsch PREMIUM LAGER case of 24 12 oz bottles $13.49
Today's Gallo all the best
Gallo Premium Wines all flavors . 4 liter bottles sale $5.99 mail in rebate $1.50 $4.49 FINAL COST
FRENCH WHITES
1986 Calisan Blanc 750 ml ... $3.99
1985 Vincent St. Veran 750 ml ... $5.99
FRENCH REDS
1985 J. Vidal Fleury Gigondas 750 ml ... $7.49
1986 Chateau De Paraza Minervois 750 ml ... $4.99
IMPORTED CANADIAN MIST. CANADA AT ITS BEST.
$12.39 1.75 liter
AMARETTO E'DOLCE 750 ml ... $5.69
Castilla rum 1.75 L Sale $9.99 mail in rabata $1.50 $8.49 FINAL COST
McGREGOR'S Scotch $11.99 1.75L
WOLFSCHMIDT GENUINE VODKA $10.29 1.75 L
LIQUORS 44
Route 9 Amherst/Hadley Line 253-9344
(at the Super Stop & Shop Plaza)
open to 11pm Monday thru Saturday
SALE PRICES TUES. NOV. 1
We reserve the right to limit quantities. Prices subject to change without notice. Not responsible for typographical errors. All sales are final. Quantities may not be available.
TaxCheck

ACADEMY of MUSIC ON THE PARK NORTHAMPTON, MASS.
ONLY AREA SHOWING ENDS THURSDAY NOV. 3rd
CURTAIN AT 6:45 and 9:00
The true story of Ruth First a South African who took a stand against Apartheid in the 1960s
SPECIAL GRAND JURY WINNER--CANNES FESTIVAL '88
★★★★ One of the most haunting and poignant coming-of-age movies ever made" Kathleen Carroll NEW YORK DAILY NEWS
"TWO THUMBS UP for 'A World Apart' ...Barbara Hershey stars in an electrifying performance... quite magical. This is great work" Siskel & Ebert
BARBARA HERSHEY A World Apart
"EXQUISITE" Amy Taubin THE VILLAGE VOICE
PG
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

■ hockey

continued from page 24

The Huskies have a very balanced attack with senior captain Diane Madl, sophomore Anna Fuches, and junior Pam DeGray. Madle has scored eight goals and has dished out five assists. Fuches has added nine goals and one assist while DeGray has eight goals and one assist.

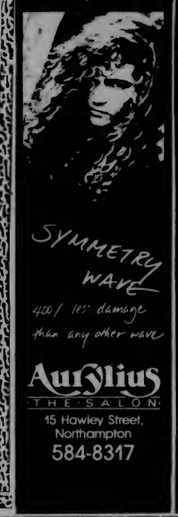
UConn's defense is anchored by sophomore goaltender Megan Tiley who has posted a 0.55 goals against average in 11 games.

The Huskies have been hot as of late, but UMass has also played well since its loss to ODU on Sept. 30. The Minutewomen are unbeaten in their last nine games, having tied one game with West Chester University.

UMass goaltender Cindy Cox will try to help continue that streak for the Minutewomen. Cox has appeared in all 17 games for UMass and has registered a .294 goals against average and has made 70 saves.

This is an important game for both teams and could have a big bearing on the NCAA playoff picture.

SURPLUS CLOTHING SURPLUS CLOTHING
CAMO-MANIA at the
AMHERST DROP ZONE
103 Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 256-0039
A GENUINE ARMY/NAVY STORE
For Halloween and Early Christmas
Shirts • Jackets
Pants • Hats & More
OPEN 7 DAYS
Open Monday-Friday 10-6
Saturday 10-6 Sunday 12-5



AuClius THE SALON
15 Hawley Street, Northampton
584-8317

AMHERST CINEMA
"PERVERSELY FASCINATING" "PROVOCATIVE"

HANDMADE FILMS PRESENTS
A NICOLAS ROEG FILM
TRACK 29
THERESA RUSSELL GARY OLDMAN and CHRISTOPHER LLOYD
R 1987 Handmade Films (1987) Partnership
Western Mass. Premiere Starts This Evening
2 showings 7:00 and 9:15 In the center of Amherst
AMITY ST. 253-5426

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO
AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS
ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT
FOR SALE • FOUND
HELP WANTED • LOST
INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES
PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED
RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES
ROOMMATE WANTED • TRAVEL
WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30);• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS ASSOC. is missing a banner! Come be creative today in the Student Union Craftshop from 1:00 to 5:00pm.

INCREDIBLE! UNBELIEVABLE! Astounding! The UMass Juggling Club meets today! This fun-loving bunch will be in CC 165 3-6pm.

CHABAD STUDENT COALITION Chabad house invites you to spend Shabbat in a warm and friendly atmosphere 30 N Hadley Rd. 549-4094.

NSA FRIDAY NIGHT VIDEO Stand By Me 7:00p'm Front Lounge of Newman Center FREE.

EAT TOWARD YOUR HEART'S CONTENT - Workshop to meet food compulsions Sat. Nov. 5, 10:00-5:00. Led by Challya Finger, LICSW. Call 665-4565.

THIS WEEK ON DAMAGE INCORPORATED - Queensryche is gonna get close to you. Tune into WMUA Wednesday at 9:30pm.

CRAFT CENTER IS YOUR resource. Make all kinds of crafts, pottery, silver, silkscreen, photography, etc. Free instruction.

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22 Sign up on concourse Oct 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Massorg and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-8434.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics. Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306.

APARTMENTS AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS 2 BEDROOM UNITS on 19 acres of country land. Ample off street parking and free bus service to UMass and shopping areas. Call 665-3856.

AUTO FOR SALE

1979 SUBARU WAGON 4 WD 4dr. Great winter car. $700 firm. 585-0336

1968 CAMARO CLASSIC reliable looks hot 549-1258 John 11am-6pm $1300.

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 spd Dark grey new tires, rims runs very well. $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184

1981 FORD PINTO good transportation new tires clutch battery $375/obo* after 549-1661 leave message.

78 COROLLA 5 speed-reliable 35-mpg must sell! $800/BO 545-0607, ask Elaine

GREAT WINTER CAR for sale. 78 Ford Grenada automatic PS PB good tires and exhaust. Runs well 650 or BO 253-5956

81 TOYOTA COROLLA excellent condition, low mileage, am/fm case., air, 5 spd 256-0969 evenings.

1970 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires $2,500. Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE - Over 700 CD's Great Sound! All occasions 548-1421

ENTERTAINMENT

KLUBKAVE D.J. SERVICES - Professional music system at unbeatable prices 545-5518

BAD GRADES IS THE BAND for your next part. Don't wait call 256-0543

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Disc-jockeys and large screen video dances Dorms/organizations 256-8526.

FOR SALE

ROLAND JUNO 60 programmable synthesizer/with modern case/$350 or best offer/Call Kyle at 585-0901

RUSTY BUT rideable old bikes 665-4419

GUCCI WATCHES only $35 many styles-guaranteed. Great for gifts Call Brian 548-5440.

HALLOWEEN MAKEUP FOR SALE Cornfetti, hairspray, blood, kits, etc. Call Steve 546-8538.

MINOLTA MAXXUM 7000 Includes auto flash, 50mm lens and carrying case. 6 months old $400.00 or B.O. 546-8214.

SKI BOOTS, KOFLACH CE PRO, rear entry, air fit, Men's size 10. $50 546-8035.

1980 HONDA ACCORD. New parts B.O. Gary 253-5907.

LARGE WOOD BEDROOM DRESSER - Cheap call Caryn 549-4942

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406.

COMMERCIAL FUSSBALL TABLE $300 and other games 247-9005.

HOT DOG STAND!!! In town business Good experience-great money!!! For more details contact: Dave or Brad 549-1594.

10 SPEED BICYCLE for sale $100 545-3500 weekdays. Ask for Brian.

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket. Call David I-566-8212

PIONEER DUAL STEREO cassette deck $100 call Laura at 6-8021.

FOUND

SET OF KEYS in front of ATG many keys on ring no key chain Call 545-2152 ask for Vicki.

BLACK KITTEN- Have had for two weeks landlord says she must go - looking for responsible owner-totally litter trained very cute! Must see Call Paul 546-9781.

FUNDRAISING

HEY! DOES YOUR CLUB OR organization need money? Recent graduate now works for a professional fundraising company. Candy bars, M&M's, magazine subscriptions and more! Please call Linda at 538-8343 and leave message.

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget. Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St. Northampton 586-7970 Bill or Damin We deliver

HELP WANTED

WORK STUDY SECRETARIAL/Clerical assistant $5.50/hr typing & letter formatting skills essential. Word proc. & data entry experience an advantage. 10 hours f/wk flexible hours 5-2794 Prof. Bradley, Geol/Geog Dept Morrill 238

PART TIME OFFICE ASSISTANT needed Wordprocessing or data entry experience desired. 10-15 hrs/wk flexible weekday hours. Salary commensurate with experience. Contact Annette at Rem's, 358 N. Pleasant St. Amherst Ma 01002 549-1109

EXPERIENCED JEWELRY INSTRUCTOR wanted for spring semester. Student Union Craft Center. Call Anna 545-2096.

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865.

KAREN OSTROFSKY

YOUR TWO FAVORITE ROOMATES wish you the most amazing birthday in your entire college career. Stressing not allowed this weekend, only fun, fun, fun. Wa love you very much. Michal and Josephine

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

SPRING 1989 INTERNSHIPS with the Legal Services Center. Get hands-on experience in the legal field--work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in legal profession necessary--Training provided. Deadline to begin application process is NOVEMBER 7--Contact Legal Services today: 545-1995, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

LOST- BLACK BELT - Looks like snake - between Machmer and Bartlett - If found please call 546-6963. Thanks.

$100 REWARD
For black leather jacket lost Saturday, Brandywine. Reward more than value of jacket 549-7464.

REWARD! CASH! REWARD!
For return of JVC slide deck no questions. Very important! Please call leave name & number or any information. 546-5079.

HELP! LOST GLASSES in a light blue case with rainbow stripes. If found please call Stephanie at 545-2152

REWARD! LIQUOR ID & DRIVERS LIC lost 10/14 Please call N. Turney 6-4726.

BROWN LEATHER BOMBER JACKET please call 546-6230 Reward.

LOST MASS LIQUOR ID Sharon Levy. If found please call 253-9916 monetary reward.

MOTORCYCLES

WANTED: USED MINIBIKE or gocart. 5-2276 ask for Doug Rm 328

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD. Helmet, cover shield $850 Joe 549-7423 Evenings

PERSONALS

KAREN OSTROFSKY- wishing you a great Halloween weekend and an incredible birthday. With AX love, Your Sisters.

DONNA F. CAN'T BE at the Newman on Sunday, if possible, same time on Monday? See you then.

JEFF WINN- I didn't think you would recognize me after so long. I hope it wasn't too awkward!

IF YOU DON'T HAVE a ticket for "DU's Halloween Party Saturday night," Don't bother showing up!

CLAUDIA I. It's your birthday! Why can't we go party with E&T in Pierpont! Glad we're roomies -T

HI! SWATZ WHAT IS YOUR age? Is it?? Anyway. Happy birthday!!! From JW

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TESS You are the best friend I could ask for. Have a great day. Love always, Sue

HAPPY BIRTHDAY AMY and Jill. Live it up. Love Ed Grimly

HEY Igit! I'm bored. Wanna go to the library? Happy B-day. Love Joe HAPPY 19th BIRTHDAY Laura and Laura - Love - Lori, Stacey, Lynne, Michelle, Carrie.

DONNA, I love you, Ted.

DIANE - HAPPY 21st birthday. See ya soon. Love Opie. xoxo.

RED TOMORROW IS A banner day! It's your 21st birthday. But maybe you're never drinking again! Maybe you're up all night doing chapter 15 of accounting! Basically what we're saying is let's chug! Oh, and watch out for those cats! Happy birthday. Love Roach and Kate.

RHONDA PIOTROWSKI S birthday!! Was yesterday - Sorry! You're still special!! (but Nov. birthdays are better!)

CHRIS BROWN: you were at the pool table I was slightly unstable/you turned your back/I should have put you some slack/I flipped you instead/and now wish I was dead/ Sorry-your friend?? - L.

ATTENTION SAMMY PLEDGES:
The pumkin is still floating.
Ira N Lind

JODI P. a.k.a. Patty McCarthy- How's your hangover? Happy 21st birthday! The best always comes last! With love, 189C

HAVE YOU EVER WONDERED what your dreams mean? Analysis by two quasi professionals who have nothing better to do Joanne-Nancy 6-9773

EVAN- DON'T BE BLUE, it's your 20th birthday! Thank you for the most incredible six months. I'm ready for a million more! I love you honey - Debbie

CHIP AND DIP - Labours College was the place to meet Sept 84. UMass Amherst is the place to units and become close friends. You R no.1. LY

MICHELLE GRIPPY GRIPPY Happy 21st birthday. The word for today is Wally. Love Pam, Craig, Dave, Jeff.

ERIC BORNSTEIN - Happy 21st. Remember: Fat, drunk and stupid is no way to go thru life. Hope you become a legal eagle. KK

MARTI YOU'RE NOT really going to become the "c" word are you? Jen.

DIANE ZUKAS Happy 21st Drink up!! Love, your kid Heather

CONGRATULATIONS DAVE! You got yourself a major BDIC watch out MWA! Gina.

MY BABY, I LOVE YOU very much. PS. If you do something bad, do it well! Suitable JACO

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SHAWN! Believe me you won't miss being a teenager. Nymphos rule forever! Love Krista

DEB- YOUR DAY has come! I'll be so glad to call you my sister on Saturday. Congrats on becoming an SK! Love Becky

VINNIE SALVAGGIO! Couldn't let you graduate without one personal! Happy birthday and good luck. Love ya! Hol

DON'T MOURN...ORGANIZE! Become part of the movement- Student Organizing Project

HELP! W/HOUSING! Undergrad M needs space now! and someone to take my place [off campus] Urgent - Call Mark 549-5845

GODSPELL- THE UMASS MUSIC Theatre Guild will be performing Godspell this Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sturday (Oct 26-29) at 8:00pm, with a matinee Sturday at 2:00pm in Bowker Auditorium. Students $3/general admission. $5 To reserve tickets call 545-2511.

ROOMATE WANTED

ROOMATE WANTED TO share two bedroom Belchertown apartment on bustline. Must be older (25+), non-smoking, no pets. $250 inclusive. 323-5593.

HELP! W/HOUSING! Undergrad M needs space now! And someone to take my place [off campus] Urgent - Call Mark 549-5845.

IMMEDIATELY! LARGE BEDROOM kitchen, living room, dining room, cable tv, swimming pool Located across Stop & Shop, 256-8086.

ONE OR TWO FEMALE ROOMATES needed to take over lease for Southwood townshouse apartment for Spring semester. Call Julie 253-3231.

APARTMENT MATE WANTED. Nice Northampton location. Call Greg at 584-7400 message

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt with easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550

SERVICES

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor. Call Carolyn-leave message 253-5667

WEIGHT LOSS OR MAINTENANCE safe, effective ToppFast. 548-5369 3-6pm TARA

ACCURACY GUARANTEED. Reasonable, fast Basic editing. Foreign languages Gloria 323-5140.

FLYING FINGERS TYPING work done in 24 hours. Pickup/dropoff Too. Call Kevin 549-0118.

TYPING, TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate 253-WORD.

ABLE TYPIST, basic editing, competitive rates, decent location. 253-5202.

ST. JUDE

MOST HOLY APOSTLE, St. Jude, Faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the church honors and invokes you, universally, as the patron of hopless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use I implore you, of that particular priviledge given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Coma to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings, and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise oh blessed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devlotion to you. AMEN

TRAVEL

WANT TO GO TO Florida on Dec 22? Drive with 3 people - must help drive and pay for gas. Call 549-9985.

RUSSIA: MOSCOW, Kiev, Leningrad. Jan 8-21 $1888 complete from NY. Call Prof. Jones. 253-7827, evenings after 7:00

TOLL-FREE LONG DISTANCE

'88-'89 AT&T 800 DIRECTORIES. Cut your long distance bills with over 80,000 toll-free 800 numbers compiled into a national phone book published by AT&T. Get prompt information on products and services, the best prices on anything from coast to coast, immediate access to government agencies, businesses, organizations and more, all toll-free. Call before November 1 and save $2 off the $8.95 cover price. Pays for itself in just your first few calls! Contact Mark at 549-2871

TRAVEL

COLLEGE WEEKEND in Montreal from $39 November 11-13 Call 549-1949

WANNA SCOOP?

MEET ME AT "THE RENDEZVOUS"! Saturday 8pm-1am. Costume Dance. Call 549-9985.

STUDENT ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVES! The Undergraduate Admissions Office is looking for a few dynamic and articulate Juniors and Seniors to help promote the University to prospective students. Become part of the Student Rep Program for Spring 89 and interview prospective students while learning valuable skills. Applications available Oct 24 in 255 Whitmore or on the Concourse Oct 31 and Nov 1. Deadline is Nov 4.

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hurns) notes. will pay money$$. Shirley 549-2710

SPOOKY costumes

BRATWURST

SPORTS

UMass tames Hartford, 2-0

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Well, it wasn't as bad as it could have been.

Whenever the University of Hartford women's soccer team is in town (not necessarily this town, but any town), it usually brings all the makings of tag-team wrestling. But yesterday afternoon at Boyden Field (with "Classy" Freddie Blassie nowhere in sight), the Hawks never got their "game" off the ground, as the University of Massachusetts tamed its guests, 2-0.

UMass coach Jim Rudy had insisted that if the Hawks had tried to pull any shenanigans, his team would not get involved. The plan seemed to work, as for most of the game, the play was pretty clean, and the Minutewomen had their way with Hartford.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

Senior midfielder Cathy Cassady had an assist in yesterday's 2-0 win over Hartford.

"We toned them down quite a bit," Rudy said. "We avoided a lot of [the physical play] by playing quickly. It was hard to get at us."

For the record, the Hawks committed 13 fouls to 11 for UMass, definitely not a staggering amount considering Hartford's reputation for mixing it up.

"The girls did an adequate job," Rudy said. "We played well enough to get a win. I feel that we dominated play."

It took a while for UMass to get its game going, although it was controlling most of the play in the Hartford end. For a switch, UMass was attacking the south goal in the first half for the first time this season. The Minutewomen warm up on that goal during pre-game, but usually don't shoot in that direction until the second half.

One of the reasons for the move could be the team's knack for not scoring much in the first half. Going into yesterday's game, only nine of its 27 goals had come before intermission. But the Minutewomen changed that by scoring with just under 19 minutes left in the half.

On a break downfield, senior forward Michelle Powers took the ball and chipped it to front line mate Beth Roundtree, who drove toward the net before dumping it past Hartford goalkeeper Maureen McShea just inside the right post. It was the senior's third goal of the season, with Powers picking up her sixth assist.

The half ended at that 1-0 score, but UMass added to the total early in the second half on a freak goal. Senior midfielder Cathy Cassady took the ball out of the deep right corner and hit it into the box to midfielder April Kater. The sophomore took a shot which bounced around a bit before finally being gathered up by McShea. The only problem was that McShea was positioned slightly inside the net, so the ball had broken the plane of the goal line. It was Kater's team-high eighth goal of the year, coming at 51:11.

With the game pretty secure against the Hawks, who never mounted much of a scoring threat, Rudy shuttled his bench into the game. The move was not only to give the reserves some time but also, with a big match with No. 4 Colorado College here on Sunday, Rudy wanted to save his starters just in case Hartford reverted back to its usual roller derby mode.

It never did get out of hand. The Minutewomen never

continued on page 22

Football battles NU

By MATT GERKE
Collegian Staff

In the first five games of the season, the University of Massachusetts football team rolled to a 4-1 record just by doing things its own way.

In the last two weeks, however, that same style has resulted in losses to Yankee Conference rivals, the University of Connecticut and the University of Delaware.

At 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium, the Minutemen will take on Northeastern University in a non-conference game.

After that, they will wrap up the regular season with three straight games against Yankee Conference rivals, two of them on the road.

Some might say it was time for a change. UMass head coach Jim Reid wouldn't.

"Nothing needs to be shaken up at all," Reid said. "There will be no change in routine. Our plan has not varied one iota."

The plan worked great for the first half of the season. Despite a shaky defense, senior quarterback Dave Palazzi and the offense played well enough to carry the team to four wins in its first five games.

In the two losses, the defense has played well (brilliantly last week), but it hasn't been enough to offset the the ineffectiveness of Palazzi and the offense.

Last week's 10-7 loss, in which UMass turned the ball over with 1:05 left on first-and-goal from the Delaware 1-yard line, was especially disappointing to the team.

"It was a tragic loss," Reid said. "It was painful and I told the team if we didn't admit it, it would hurt us. We hate Delaware and we'll continue to hate them until we beat them."

The Blue Hens have beaten UMass all 13 times the teams have met.

The Minutemen have had more success against Northeastern, and hold a 11-7 advantage in the series, with one tie.

But neither that success, nor the fact that this is a non-conference game, is any reason to take the Huskies lightly.

continued on page 20

Field hockey hits the road to face UConn

Minutewomen to wrap up regular season

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

It is hard to believe that the University of Massachusetts field hockey team is already playing its last regular season game of the year.

The regular season will come to a close tomorrow when the Minutewomen travel to the University of Connecticut for what will be a big game for UMass.

It has been seven weeks since the Minutewomen's opening game. But during those seven weeks, UMass has hardly had time to think, playing a total of 18 games.

The results of those games are a 15-1-1 record, No. 1 ranking in the Northeast, and a No. 3 ranking in the country by the NCAA.

UMass has also won the East Division of the Atlantic 10 Conference with a 4-0 record in A-10 play and Will be the No. 1 seed in next week's A-10 Championships at Temple.

The main objective for the Minutewomen when the season started was to return to the Final Four in the NCAA Tournament, having finished third there last season.

They appear to be headed in that very direction but with at least two, possibly three games to go before the teams for the NCAA Tournament are selected, UMass coach Pam Hixon is cautious. The Minutewomen cannot afford to have disaster storm upon them tomorrow and at the A-10 Tournament next weekend.

"I'd say nothing is a given because of where those teams are ranked," Hixon said.

UConn is the No. 10 team in the country. After a relatively slow start, the Huskies have come on in the latter part of the season, having won eight of its last nine to post a 11-3-1 record to date.

UConn's only loss in its last nine games was a 2-0 loss at Old Dominion University. ODU is the No. 1 team in the country right now. UMass lost to the Lady Monarch's 1-0 at Totman Field, which is a grass field. ODU is more accustomed to the artificial turf which it plays all its home games on.

So tomorrow's game should be a tough one for the Minutewomen. The Huskies have won their last three games and those two goals in the ODU game were the only ones given up by the UConn defense in its last eight games.

"I personally think Connecticut is a good team," Hixon said. "I think they've been a little lacking in the recognition they've received because they're a really young team."

That defense of the Huskies will be even tougher for the Minutewomen to break without senior Tonia Kennedy. Kennedy pulled her hamstring in the first half of yesterday's 3-1 win over Boston University and is doubtful for tomorrow's game. Kennedy is UMass' leading goal scorer with 12.

"They play a very deep protective defensive style and they really try to fast break a lot," Hixon said.

Kennedy's replacement will be sophomore Elise McDevitt. McDevitt has scored five goals off the bench this year and the Minutewomen will gain a little more speed with McDevitt in the lineup while losing some skill with Kennedy out.

"We've been platooning Elise and Tonia all season long so I think its paid off," Hixon said. "She made a lot of things happen [Wednesday]. She really made Kathy DeAngelis' goal happen."

DeAngelis' goal Wednesday was very big. It tied the game about half way into the second half giving the Minutewomen the chance to win it in overtime.

DeAngelis leads UMass in points with 11 goals and three assists.

continued on page 23

Volleyball to take on A-10 rival Rhode Island

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

The place is the University of Rhode Island. The challenge is that URI is one of the top volleyball teams in the Northeast. The intrigue is that tonight's match for the University of Massachusetts against the Rams is the last Atlantic 10 match of the season.

Throw in a mixed-up A-10 postseason race and a wild crowd at the Keaney Gymnasium (they pack they place for every sport) and we have the makings of a gigantic Atlantic 10 clash tonight.

The Rams are currently the No. 2 team in the conference, while the Minutewomen are currently fourth in the conference and will be taking their last regular season shot at moving up.

URI is either first or second in every A-10 statistical category but one. It's first in kills, blocks, and digs per game. It's second in hitting percentage and assists per game, and finally, sixth in aces per game.

But wait, it gets better.

The WRams' star player, senior outside hitter Christine Gallery — who has been the Atlantic 10 Player of the Week five times already this year, is in the top 10 of all those categories except assists.

Doesn't sound like the chances are too good for UMass (whose highest rank is fifth in aces) does it? Well, don't tell that to UMass coach Carol Ford.

"If we play up to our potential, if we serve tough to limit their offense, we'll be OK," she said. "By serving tough and strategically, we want to limit them offensively. If we strictly play defense, we're going to lose.

continued on page 20

Men's soccer to meet Rutgers

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

in the chaotic scramble for spots in the Atlantic 10 playoff soccer slumber party (invite only), Rutgers University enters tonight's contest against the University of Massachusetts as the 14th-ranked team in the nation and with a postseason reservation pencilled in.

A win tonight for the Scarlet Knights would go a long way towards separating the playoff pigpile.

The Minutemen, meanwhile, are out of the fracas with a 1-2 record in the A-10 East and an 8-8 mark overall. Against a team with everything on the line, the Minutemen hope to nestle into the role of giant-killers tonight at 8 p.m. in New Brunswick, NJ.

And though no one under the Boyden big top wants to appear as looking beyond their next immediate opponent, a pair of wins for the Minutemen on the road, against good teams, in the last week of the season, would go a long way towards patching this team's fragile psyche as the fall of '88 fades in the distance and all eyes turn to the future.

"We're trying to be winners," said coach Jeff Gettler, "since we're playing good teams (UMass travels to Harvard early next week), we can really make the season a positive thing.

"When this team has played poorly a lot of the players have doubted their own confidence, their own abilities. People would feel a lot better about themselves if they were to win the last two games of their year, let alone against very good teams."

The Minutemen are attempting an abrupt about-face from their recent slide — dating back to the second week of this month, UMass has lost four of its last five contests, and two in a row heading into today's action. UMass is also hoping to improve on its 1-5 road record.

The Scarlet Knights, who most recently rolled over Rider College 2-0, will be a very difficult team against whom to turn the tide. Rutgers enters today's contest with a 10-3-4 record, having played consistently Top 20 calibre soccer all fall.

continued on page 22

Last day to purchase Hatch Rat T-shirts.

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN
RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, WASHINGTON DC — 1600 PENNSYLVANIA AVE, VOLUME KILL ISSUE 666

MONDAY, ALL HALLOW'S EVE, 1988

INSIDE

- The best places to buy ganja in Amherst. Page 32.
- Safe locations for safe sex. Page 69.
- A failsafe method for cheating on exams. Page 100.

Rabinowitz spreads the Red

By F. DOSTOYEVSKY
Collegian Staff

In a bold political move, SGA co-President elect Jason Rabinowitz yesterday announced sweeping reforms in keeping with his Young Communist League membership.

The School of Management will be dissolved, Rabinowitz said, and all former business majors will be forced to labor for the University Farm in Sunderland (now renamed the Students Productivity Collective).

"These reforms are for the good of the campus as a whole," Rabinowitz said. "It's not fair that only business majors should look forward to making money. That's our money. It's student money."

Rabinowitz has also commissioned art majors to paint murals of Soviet heroes on the vast concrete expanse of the Fine Arts Center, he said. The center will become a museum to Communist heroes, and students can line up for a three-hour wait for an audience with Economics Professor Samuel Bowles.

Conservative students, who really love the true American values, were seen jumping up and down yesterday before being hauled away to exile in Hadley.

'See! See!' yelled Conservative Alliance Chairman W. Grog Wrathman. 'It's the Communist infiltration! They want to take over the world! Starting with this campus! We told you so, we told you so!'

Rabinowitz silenced political enemies by resolving the co-presidency argument. He said co-president elect Shari Silkoff will be the campus president, while he himself will retain the title of campus general secretary.

The responsibilities will be divided much as the campus president and trustee divide responsibility, he said.

"No one can have a problem with this," he said. "It's no longer a constitutional issue."

Rabinowitz announced a Five Year Plan for the campus, which he himself will oversee in his new status as Permanent Graduate Student in the department of Political Repression.

For independent study credits, he said he plans to collectivize the University Store, bringing profits back to the students. Unfortunately, at first, he said only one text book will be available, The Communist Manifesto.

"We're not limiting access. More books will be sold in the store as soon as they are readied for publication," he said.

The Student Government Association structure will be changed, he said. The model for the bureaucracy will not be the Kremlin, but Whitmore.

The only substantial difference, he said, will be a change in some titles. In the role of Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, Rabinowitz will have a Vice Secretary for Monitoring Lifestyle. Robert Fadel has agreed to take this position, since he really didn't have anything else to do.

To improve the quality of student publications, Rabinowitz will institute a Ministry of Publications, to be headed by Mark Wilkinson. Starting yesterday, every campus publication, including the Collegian, has been approved by the new ministry before being sent to the printer.

"Yeah, wait until you see the next Minuteman," Wilinson said.

Reforms that have yet to be instituted include a plan to change the freshman writing requirement to the freshman reading requirement. Rabinowitz will select the

continued on page 4

Collegian photo by Helen Bonanno

Communist student-president-elect-it's-really-only-temporary-until-someone-can-interpret-Robert's-Rules-of-Order Jason Rabinowitz.

RSO splits and divides

By JAIME PIERCE MXXIV
Collegian Staff

Though the Assexual Student Alliance has only one member, it has ambitious plans for the newest registered student organization.

"I'm getting damn sick and tired of us assexual students not getting the attention we deserve," said Jaime Pierce, president of ASA. "If you think about it, there are a whole lot of things on this earth that act the way I do. Just because I'd rather split in half doesn't mean that I'm any different than anybody else."

"I agree completely with Jaime," said Jaime Pierce II, materializing in the chair opposite Pierce. "In one, there is unity and power. If we all had one mind . . ."

". . . the world would be a much better place," said Jaime Pierce IV, continuing the thought of his parent. "Look around you. Everywhere there's the same boring variety. If we could streamline the variety of the world, we'd get a whole lot more done. Things are so much more convenient when we all speak together as one voice."

At the moment the clubs membership has doubled to eight. According to new member Jaime Pierce VIII, the club is growing by the second.

"I feel so at home here," said Jaime Pierce XVI, a new member of the club. "There's a chemistry that I share with these folks that I don't find anywhere else. When I'm here I feel as if I'm with people who share my same likes and dislikes. Exactly the same likes and dislikes."

Pierce XVI said all of the members share a common interest in mathematics and biology.

"There's a precision to the amoeba and the flatworm," said Jaime Pierce XXXII. "If you study them long enough you begin to appreciate the logarhythmic beauty of their mathematics; they know that power lies not in violence but in numbers."

At the moment, membership has grown to 64, and Pierce II — vice president of the ASA — has big plans for the club.

"We're going to take over the world," said Pierce II with a smile that stretched across the faces of the other 127 members now in the club. "It shouldn't take more than a week."

Membership is up to 256. Run for your lives.

Discounts for library top-floor condos with student ID

By BETTY LOU SMURPHY
Collegian Staff

The top six stories of the Tower Library will be converted into luxury condominium units, it was announced yesterday at a special news conference.

The announcement was made by Richard J. Talbot, Director of the University Library, and B.H. Bones, the local real estate developer, who will be in charge of sales and marketing for the new project/development.

Many people at the conference, which was held in what will soon be the "Top of the Tower" penthouse, were taken by surprise, but Talbot said negotiations had been going on for some time to find a more resourceful use for the uppermost floors of the Tower.

Lederle Graduate Research Tower was considered as a possible site for condo-conversion, but a special Campus Space Usage Panel found the warm brick facade and tinted glass of the Tower more appealing to the home-buyer than the cold gray concrete facing of the Grad Tower.

Bones, ecstatic about his newest development, hails the University's finally taking advantage of a nation-wide boom in the development of tenant-owned apartment units. Many former bars, barns and motels in the Amherst area have been converted into condo units in the last few years, but none have been so close to the UMass campus and none have offered such a cosmopolitan, high-rise atmosphere.

He hopes most units will be bought by parents who have children attending the University, but offers will be accepted from students attending the other four Colleges. Special/lower mortgage rates will be offered to purchasers with a valid student I.D.

Profit-making sublets will be discouraged, because "Library Place is NOT another Brandywine," said Talbot in the first action in his new position. Bones hopes to develop a time-sharing option, that will eventually make Library Place, and the whole town of Amherst, into a resort on par with Cancun and West Palm Beach.

Rumor has it that a number of frater-

continued on page 2

Collegian photo by Judee O. Christenson

MERGER — Putting aside traditional differences, fundamentalist Christian and Jewish student organizations joined forces this week, and began recruiting on the Concourse. "We figure we'll be doing well if we can just get them to believe in God at all," said one member of the new Judeo-Christian Society.

NEWSBRIEFS

Harvard purchases UMass

Administration officials announced today that they have agreed in principle to sell the University of Massachusetts to Harvard University for $150 per student. This was believed to be the first time ever that a private university had purchased a public university.

Officials explained that UMass will be Harvard's "farm" school, much the same way that professional baseball uses the minor league "farm" clubs to train ballplayers for the majors. Harvard students who fail to make high enough grades will be placed on "waivers" and transferred to UMass. The UMass student with the highest cum at that point would be sent to Harvard as a replacement.

Issues keep the Duke out

Washington DC (AP) — The Bush campaign announced today that since Michael Dukakis was running a campaign based on the issues rather than on lies and innuendoes, he would not be allowed to take office if elected. A Bush representative said they got the idea from the University of Massachusetts, a small liberal arts college in southern Vermont.

Corection

- Last week, the Collegian published a story that had no factual errors or misspellings, and was not offensive to anyone. The Collegian regrets the error.
- A story in Thursday's Collegian contained the sentence "Four children were dismembered." The sentence should have read "Four students attended." The Collegian regrets the error.
- A story in Friday's Collegian reported that a Southwest student was arrested for drunk driving, armed robbery, dealing narcotics and parking in the wrong lot. Some of the information in this story was erroneous, but we know this guy, he's a jerk, and we do not regret the error. Besides, he was in the wrong lot.

Disclaimer

To anyone who hasn't figured it out yet, the outside eight pages of today's Collegian are satire. For Halloween, get it? To anyone offended by the content of the issue — hey, we're sorry. It's only a joke. We're only trying to have a little fun around here. God knows it's hard when you're in a windowless basement all day and night.
— The Management.

Speaking of management, ROB, we even tried not to offend the advertisers. Really.

Parody Issue Personnel

Ruling Triumvirate: Jenn Dempsey, Nan Klingener, John Swanson.
Special thanks to: Wendy Rae, Yana, George, Janine, Bruce, Kathy, Cosmo, Graeme, Jim Cole, Jim Clark, Adam, Pam, Derek, Betty-Ann, Ricci, Andrea, Peter, Tony, David, Allen, Rick, and Lisa.

REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS

Mountain Farms Mall Route 9
Hadley (413) 584-6978

JR's COMICS

Liquidation Sale!

Come in with this ad and purchase $5 or less get 20% off! $5-$10 purchase get 25% off! $10 or more purchase get 30% off!

"Watch for further changes!"

Do Ya Have Any Questions About Your Long Distance Service?

Interested in Learning About Calling Plans and Special Products that May Save You Money?

Contact Scott Webber, your AT&T Student Campus Manager here at U of Mass

CALL: 546-4741

between 10AM - 12PM M-Th
12PM - 2PM Fri

you turn around, there's something new at

jazzercise

Hampshire Mall, Hadley; Interskate 91
*M•W•F•Sa 9 30 a m
M•Tue•W•Th 5 30 p m
M•W 7 00 p m
Friday 6 00 p m
Saturday 9 15 a m
*child care available 584 0745

Walk-ins 3.50 ea
Mthly. passes available

Auto Glass Center

SAME DAY SERVICE

BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE CO.

WINDSHIELDS REPLACED

North Amherst Motors

78 Old Sunderland Rd • 549-2980
No. Amherst
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

PU Photo

THAT'S THE GUY — U.S. Rep. John Rowland, R-Conn., left, points out the man who shot a spitball into Vice President George Bush's eye. Brave Bush smiles through the pain and gives the "thumbs up" as the man is taken outside to be shot.

Condo conversion

continued from page 1

nities and sororities have already expressed interest in purchasing a few of the units to serve as on-campus function rooms. When asked how he felt about this, Bones suggested that a deal could be struck if the interested parties agreed to do the landscaping for the projected roof and balcony gardens.

When the aesthetic appeal of the Tower was questioned, both Talbot and Bones promised the Tower's interior would be totally renovated before occupancy. Keeping with the spirit of campus involvement in the project, students from the department of Interior Design have been invited to submit designs for the decoration of the apartments, and those chosen will be able to display the finished apartment as part of their BFA thesis show.

The twenty-sixth floor will be converted into one spacious penthouse apartment. Floors twenty-one through twenty-five will each be sub-divided into four separate units, of three or four rooms each.

Condominium owners will have their own entrance at the ground floor and will be provided with keys to operate a private elevator, which will whisk them straight to the twenty-first floor. The roof garden will be open at all times to residents and their guests, but they will not be allowed to use the Library's collection after the usual closing hours.

"We'd like them to forget they're living in a library," said Talbot proudly.

FYFI

The FYFI section includes listings of those events which we don't think deserve valuable space in the Collegian. We also don't think students should waste their time attending these events which are usually sponsored by oganizations too cheap to buy advertising space. However, they are listed as a service to those students who aren't smart enough to know that there's more to college than going to lectures and meetings.

Meeting
The Survivalist Organization has scheduled a meeting at 7 tonight in room 904 of the Campus Center. The main item on the agenda is to barricade the door.

Lecture
Gov. Michael Dukakis is scheduled to speak about campaign strategy at 4 p.m. tomorrow in the Campus Center Auditorium. The event is sponsored by the UMass Republican Club.

Meeting
The Science Fiction Society is scheduled to meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow in that weird underground passage between Bartlett and Herter halls. A special guest speaker, E.T., will discuss overcoming the complex he developed because he is the ugliest being in the Universe.

Can't spell! Can't write! Have trouble with grammar, sentence structure, and making friends! Work for the Collegian*. You'll fit right in.*

PU Photo

CHUG THIS, JOE — President Ronald Reagan boldly defies Chancellor Joseph Duffey's alcohol ban as he participates in a Republican Club "chugging contest" outside the football stadium last weekend.

Ask Artie

continued from page 7

Dear Lost,
Stop worrying. Any host dumb enough to forget to have toilet paper in the washroom when she's having company, has no business being upset with a friend who has been put in such an uncomfortable situation. She'll understand, and if she doesn't, who needs her? The way I see it, you've got an apology coming. Towels are a dime a dozen.

Dear Artie,
A while back, I held a dinner party for some friends (or so I thought). Just as I was serving the main course, one of the guests excused herself to use the bathroom. After what was at least 15 minutes, she finally returned to the table, mumbling something about her touchy bowels, hardly suitable conversation for the dinner table.
When everyone had left, I went up to use the bathroom myself, and was completely horrified by what I saw. One of my expensive bathroom towels was missing, and the others were terribly soiled and smelled of urine. I ask you Artie, how can someone who calls herself my friend have such little regard for my home and my property? It's been several weeks, and I think it's time I let her know how I feel. I'd like the towel back (although I shudder at the thought of where it's been). Should I act civil? Or should I let her know how disgusted I really am? Looking forward to your response.

Signed,
Grossed out in Greenfield.

Dear Greenfield,
Drop her like a hot potato! Poor table manners, tactlessness, and thievery are bad enough. But leaving behind offensive personal odors, and traces of fecal material is totally inexcusable in a social situation. This woman is no friend of yours. Let her keep the towel, so she can remember you when you fail to invite her to your next gathering.

Collegian photo by Jerry Bonyento

THE NUTTY PRO-LIFER — W. Gerry Lewis, renowned fundraiser for political dystrophy, is scheduled to visit campus for his next telethon. Lewis will start the telethon at the undergraduate student senate meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m. Proceeds from the filibuster, uh, telethon will benefit the Fetus Defense Fund.

This months meeting of NOW will focus on Roe vs. Wade with guest speaker W. Greg Rothman. Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Everywoman's Center. Bring your own tar and feathers.

REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS

Same Bat Channel

Satifies all your Comic Book needs

Role Playing Games

Horror and Movie Magazines

Baseball Cards and Posters

586-8775
Hampshire Mall, Rt. 9
Hadley, MA

INDOUBTEDLY Udelicious
AT THE HAMPSHIRE MALL

"WHEN WE GROW UP WE'LL BE OFF THE MEAL PLAN!"

Council Travel

DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

from NEW YORK	one way
LONDON	179
PARIS	229
ROME	259
	round trip
CARACAS	320
ST. THOMAS	260
HONGKONG	739

Taxes not included.
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes, EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!

call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!

413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

TIME OUT
Where The Action Is!

Come Party for Halloween
Monday Night Football
Miller Lite Bottles $1.25
INDIANAPOLIS COLTS VS. DENVER BRONCOS
FREE HOT DOGS
You deserve some Time Out
37 N. Pleasant St • Mass ID required

$2.00 OFF new clients only

Chic Cuts

- Wash + Wear
- Perms, Body Waves
- Coloring and Dimensional Highlighting
- Facial Waxing
- Manicure
- Facials
- Body Wraps

Expires 11/15/88
We offer a 100% money back guarantee on all of our hair care products
•Redken •Nexus •Paul Mitchell

make your fashion statement
Styles By Deborah
65 University Dr., Amherst
549-5610

THE LAUNDRY CLUB

This Week on BIG the SCREEN

Tonight (Last load in at 8:30)	4pm Halloween/Beetlejuice 7pm Nightmare on Elm St.
Tues./Wed. Thursday	6pm Sixteen Candles 8pm 48 Hours
Friday and Saturday	6pm Trading Places 8pm Broadcast News
Sunday	NFL/Movies T.B.A.
Daily	12:30-4pm SOAPS!

Nachos Buffalo Wings Sandwiches Frozen Drinks

6 UNIVERSITY DRIVE/NEWMARKET CENTER/AMHERST/(413) 549-2640

Collegian photo by Lucy Bonanno

MORE CHECKS FROM BIG BUSINESS — Vice Chancellor for Something Obscure Bill Janovet accepts a $3 million check from H. Ross Twittlebum, chairman of United Scientific Research Technologies Industry. The money will be used to build more annexes to science buildings that we're afraid to walk into, and to research the effect of toxic chemicals on undergraduate math classes.

■ Red campus

continued from page 1

reading list.

In response to longtime student complaints, the entire dining commons system will be changed. Tomorrow's menu features potato surprise with vodka ice cream for a special treat.

"We're really looking forward to it," Rabinowitz said, but warns "there may be some lines at first."

His most prized project is a Wall Across UMass, to be constructed along North Pleasant Street, dividing the east and west sides of campus said. Everyone will participate in the building of the wall, in a huge volunteer effort to be called Mass Indoctrination.

LSØC picks Bork

Student Government Association temporary acting co-presidents-elect-until-the-SGA-can-get-their-shit-together Jason Rabinowitz and Shari Silkoff announced today that Robert Bork has been appointed as the new director of the Legal Service ~~Office~~ Center.

"Bork will bring to the ~~office~~ center the type of caring and concern for the rights of the administration that is appropriate for a student legal service," said Rabinowitz.

Silkoff added, "With Bork in charge, we can be sure that the SGA constitution will be strictly upheld. There won't be any of this ad hoc reinterpretation of the constitution by communists or others seeking to undermine our basic freedoms."

Re-ducktions to begin at Campus Pond

By J. EDGAR WHITE
Collegian Staff

The first annual Campus Pond Duck Hunt will be held today between noon and 6 p.m.

The reason for the event is the overcrowded condition in which the ducks have to live, Chancellor Joseph Duffey said.

"It's the same situation they have up north with deer," he said. "You get too many animals in one area and unless hunters are allowed in to thin out the herds, they starve," he said.

The pond will be fenced off for the event to avoid any civilian casualities, public safety officials said.

Only 12-gauge shotguns or similar large caliber weapons will be allowed within the fenced-off area around the pond, officials said.

To date, 3,000 licenses have been granted to University of Massachusetts students. The cost of the license is $15, and all monies raised will be used to buy duck food if any of the animals survive the event.

If none survive, the money will go to the animal rights coalition on campus, said sponsors of the event.

Sponsors said they will grant licenses up until 11:30 a.m. today, and that a maximum on the number of licenses granted has not been sent.

According to sponsors, the ducks will be lured with popcorn into the area at the far end of the pond, between the Fine Arts Center and the island. Once all the ducks are there, waiting hunters will be allowed to open fire.

"It kind of adds a new twist to the expression 'shooting ducks in a barrel,'" said one student just after receiving her license. "I can't wait."

Safety officials said some protesters are expected at the event but because the hunters will be so well armed, they are not concerned for the safety of the hunters.

If trouble were to break out," said one hunter, "I suspect the hunters would win the fight."

Watch your GPA drop before your very eyes! Adopt bad habits and a disgruntled personality while you are at it. Work for the student organization with the collectively lowest GPA on campus. WRITE FOR THE COLLEGIAN!!!

REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS

Suit-up for our Costume Party...Monday, Oct. 31st, 8PM

1st prize for Best Costume... Trip for two to a "MURDER MYSTERY WEEKEND" at Lake George, plus $99 in cash

2nd prize: $50 Depot gift certificate

3rd prize: UB40 Concert tickets

plus other great prizes to runnersup.

★ D.J. ★ Dancing ★ Munchies ★ Treats...no tricks! ★

Cover Charge ONLY $1.99

99.3 WHMP-FM Don't Miss This One!

MUST BE 21--I.D. REQUIRED

The DEPOT 125A Pleasant Street Northampton 586-5386

Chancellor wanna-bees beat each other silly

By YANA DOO UWANNA
Colgate Staff

A brawl erupted yesterday during a meeting of the Chancellor's Executive Committee, attended by top officials of University of Masscontusion and student leaders.

The bloody battle ensued after an announcement made by Chancellor Joseph Duffus, concerning his future plans. Ever since Gov. Michael Dukeyebrows decided to run for president of the United States, rumors have been flying rampant about Duffus' chances of becoming the next Secretary of Education.

At last night's meeting, Duffus made a surprise announcement, which finally confirmed these rumors.

"As soon as the Duke takes office, I'm outta this dump!

—Chancellor Joseph Duffus

"As soon as the Duke takes office, I'm outta this dump!" Duffus exclaimed. "I will have nothing more to do with the animals from Southwest, Greek Area or any other hole they might be hiding in this University."

Duffus went on to say that before he leaves the University, he will "make sure all those little shits pay for all the heartache they have caused me over the years," by making stricter policies concerning alcohol, on-campus housing, and general education requirements.

Trouble first began brewing at this point. Speaker of the Undergraduate Student Senate Robert Ringmybell, usually referred to as Balky, said, "Chancellor, the campus already has too many stringent rules, you can't do this, you can't, you can't, you can't!!!"

Ringmybell, known for his whining voice and inability to project authority, was quickly told to "shut up" by Vice-chancellor for Student Affairs, Dennis Madman. Ringmybell left the room in tears.

Duffus, laughing hysterically, said, "That is how all of the students at this poor excuse of an institution of higher learning are going to feel before I leave."

Student Trustee Stephanie Orefice (Orefice??) retorted, "Chancellor, you are going to pay for this," to which Duffus replied, "No, the students are going to pay for this through all the new fees I'm going to impose," and sauntered out of the room.

At this point Associate to the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Billy Witless told the Colgate reporter the rest of the meeting was going to be completely off the record, to which the reporter replied, "No way."

"Let her stay, you little rat, she already knows how much of a wimp you are," said Executive Director of Public Safety Arthur Hillbilly.

"Yeah, besides everyone knows that I am going to be the next chancellor after Duffus leaves," Madman said.

Everyone in the room started shouting. Hillbilly proceeded to get up on a table and said, "I have been at this school making sure the members of this community have the best possible protection, therefore I am going to be the next chancellor. When this happens, there is going to be a sub-station in every dorm."

This incited the mob even more. Fists and insults started flying. It was hard to distinguish faces from the bodies. Provost Richard O'Brien sat in the corner quietly observing the goings on, and finally quietly left the room.

Police arrived at the scene shortly thereafter, but no arrests were made.

At press time, everyone involved in the incident was taken to the University Health Cervixes. No information was released on the conditions of those involved.

It is known, however, Vice Chancellor for Propaganda Deirdre Dingaling repeated from her hospital bed, "I want to be the first woman chancellor."

Happy Halloween

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 38

MONDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1988

INSIDE

- Point/Counterpoint. Page 5.
- Black Affairs. Page 8.
- Football tops Northeastern. Page 12.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

BULLDOZED — A house on the corner of Main and Churchill streets gets demolished last week. The location is a possible site for the new Amherst police station.

DA says SGA not a govermental body

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

An investigation by the Northampton District Attorney's office has determined the Student Government Association is not a governmental body as defined by Massachusetts law and is not subject to the state's open meeting law.

Collegian Editor in Chief Pedro Pereira requested the investigation after a session of the SGA Coordinating Committee was moved into executive session by SGA Speaker Robert Fadel. Executive session bars anyone not on the committee from the meeting.

One of the questions now being raised is how and to whom the SGA is accountable, and what state laws it is subject to.

Fadel said the SGA is accountable to the students, who vote them into office, and the senate, because officers of the SGA may be impeached.

continued on page 3

Professor predicts future shortage of scientists

By DEBORAH RITTER
Collegian Correspondent

Fewer Americans are earning advanced degrees in mathematics, and that signals a shortage of scientists and mathematicians for the future, according to University of Massachusetts Professor Edward A. Connors.

Last year, less than 400 doctorates in mathematics were awarded in this country, compared with 800 in 1968, he said.

"Unless we reverse this trend," said Connors, a professor in the Department of Mathematics and Statistics, "we're not going to have enough people to staff our own positions. We'll have a shortage of scientists and a shortage of teachers to train new scientists."

Connors is the chairman of the Committee on Employment and Education Policy, a joint committee of the American Mathematical Association and the Mathematical Association of America. Every year, the group conducts a survey of new doctorates and faculty appointments.

This year's survey, which will be published sometime in the coming weeks, shows that 54 percent of the degrees awarded were given to foreigners, Connors said.

"At the graduate level, we've become the schoolhouse for the world. The possibility exists that we will be importing scientists instead of producing our own, In that sense, we're losing control of our destiny," he said.

A shortage of scientists will have wide-ranging implications, Connors said. Virtually any industry that uses advanced technology will be affected. The defense industry in particular will have a problem because its scientists must be US citizens in order to have security clearance, he said.

Connors attributes the shortage of math majors to inadequately education at the primary school level. "Children are not getting the same kind of education that I had when I was young," Connors said. "Students react to mathematics the same way they react to cod liver oil of pizza with anchovies."

Interest in mathematics must be encouraged at an early age, he said.

"Students react to mathematics the same way they react to cod liver oil or pizza with anchovies."

—UMass Professor Edward A. Connors

"Generally speaking," he said, "you've got until sixth grade to get a child into math. It's a long, cumulative process that should start as early as possible. Math involves more than just doing calculations. A mathematician looks for a problem, analyzes it, sets it up, and then he solves it. It requires a sophisticated way of thinking," he said.

Connors said many elementary school teachers have not had sufficient training in mathematics. He would like to see schools hire special teachers who do nothing but teach math, similar to music or art teachers found in most schools. Furthermore, schools should identify children who are talented in mathematics and develop special programs for them, he said.

Parents should be playing a more active role in their children's education, Connors said.

"There's a study that shows that parents in this country do not expect as much from their children as parents in China or Japan," he said. "We have to increase our level of expectation. What you expect is what you get."

At the college level, increased efforts must be made to attract women and minorities to the field, Connors said.

"We're not just talking affirmative action anymore, we're talking national necessity," he said. "Look at the demographics. Forty percent of all people under the age of 18 are members of minorities. We need to gear them toward mathematics now to offset the shortage we're going to have at the turn of the century. Demographically speaking, that's when the entire education system is in for a triple whammy."

The baby boomers will be reaching retirement age, said Connors. Large numbers of experienced teachers will be leaving the work force and they will need to be replaced.

"But they can't all be replaced because present statistics show that there will be 25 to 30 percent less people getting out of college at that time," he said.

"At the same time, there will be an increase in the school-age population," he said. "So, along with less teachers, you have more students."

The coming crisis will be similar to the teacher shortage in the 1960s, Connors said, and can be dealt with in some of the same ways. Students who entered the teaching profession in the 1960s had their college loans forgiven in some cases. The same incentive could be offered to math majors now, he said.

College math departments should be advertising themselves more and informing students about career possibilities, Connors said.

20 arrested over weekend as crackdown continues

The town's crackdown on outdoor drinking continued this weekend, but police said activity was slightly less than expected.

Amherst police arrested about 20 University of Massachusetts students, primarily for alcohol-related violations, according to Sgt. John O'Connor.

O'Connor said 17 of the arrests were for violations of the town's open-container bylaw, which was adopted in 1987 to curb rowdy behavior downtown. O'Connor said the department staffed an additional eight officers Friday and Saturday, but "a full crackdown was not in effect."

As to why the Halloween weekend — which is traditionally a busy time for police — was slightly quieter than usual, O'Connor said, "One might assume that people are paying more attention to the town bylaw."

The UMass Department of Public Safety does not release information regarding the weekend until this morning.

— RICK SASSON

Pro-choicers assemble in vain

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

BROOKLINE — More than 1,500 abortion rights activists and 50 police officers lined Beacon Street Saturday, preparing for the rescue that never came.

Eight days ago, Operation Rescue, an anti-abortion organization whose protests are sweeping the nation, staged a blockade of Gynecare, an abortion clinic near Beacon Street in Brookline. The attempt was deterred, however, by rainy weather, counterdemonstrators, and police.

Pro-choice demonstrators and Brookline police said they expected the movement to strike again in the metropolitan area, but in a surprise move, 400 anti-abortionists descended upon Women's Surgical GYN Services, an abortion clinic in Providence, R.I.

Lieutenant Benny Lanni of the Providence police force said more than 75 officers were dispatched to contain the protesters, more than 200 of whom were arrested.

"We weren't prepared for it, not at all," said Lanni. "It was a hectic situation."

WORLD/NATION

Mass. incumbents outspending challenges

WASHINGTON (AP) -- GOP congressional challengers in Massachusetts are being out-spent by a 3-to-1 margin by heavily favored incumbents, and the Democratic congressmen are raising more than five times as much as the underdogs, according to campaign finance records.

In the 6th Congressional District, Rep. Nicholas Mavroules has raised nearly $154,000 and spent nearly $105,000 this year through Sept. 30. And Federal Election Commission records show that the fifth-term Peabody Democrat had more than $222,000 in available funds for the closing days of the campaign.

GOP challenger Paul McCarthy, meanwhile, raised less then $36,000, spent $44,230 and has only $1,150 in available campaign funds, plus a debt of nearly $20,000 through September.

McCarthy, a TV executive and consultant from Lynnfield, has done the best financially of the GOP congressional challengers in Massachusetts.

In the 4th Congressional District, where Rep. Barney Frank is running for the first time since acknowledging his homosexuality, the Newton Democrat raised more than $211,000 this year and spent more than $100,000 in his race against political newcomer Debra Tucker.

Tucker, a real estate agent from Plainville, has raised and spent less than $25,000.

Frank reported nearly $150,000 in available campaign funds while Tucker had less than $500, plus nearly $7,000 in debt.

In the 10th Congressional District that covers southeastern Massachusetts, Cape Cod and the islands, Rep. Gerry E. Studds received more than $117,000 in contributions, and spent $73,260.

In contrast, college professor Jon Bryan raised less than $30,000 and spent nearly $48,000 during the nine-month period. The Barnstable Republican reported $40,600 in, cash on hand, but $59,000 in campaign debt.

South of Boston in the 11th Congressional District, Rep Brian J. Donnelly apparently has more than enough cash to help dispatch his first Republican challenger in his 10-year congressional career.

Donnelly has raised about $85,500 and spent $77,000. And years of running unopposed allowed him to build up a campaign warchest that was close to a half-million dollars on Sept. 30, according to the FEC documents.

GOP challenger Mike Gilleran, a Boston trial attorney, meanwhile, has spent and raised less than $24,000 and reported no available cash.

No challengers have filed quarterly campaign finance statements in the other seven Massachusetts districts, but the incumbents there continue to build up their campaign funds.

Rep. Edward J. Markey of Malden has raised more than $200,000 this year, building his campaign cushion past the $435,000 mark.

Freshman Rep. Joseph P. Kennedy II, who faced a stiff primary challenge in 1986 to win the seat being vacated by Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., reported more than $225,000 in available funds after collecting more than a half-a-million dollars during the firs three-quarters of 1988.

Year after year, semester after semester, the college plan from Fidelity Union Life has been the most accepted, most popular life insurance program on campuses all over America. Find out why.

Fidelity Union Life

Call the Fidelity Union Life Field Associate in your area: 20 Gatehouse Rd., Amherst, MA Tel: 256-8361

DOVE Business Associates, Inc.

Dove Business Associates, inc.

- FAST ACCURATE WORD PROCESSING
  - RESUMES
  - LETTERS
  - THESIS
  - DISSERTATIONS
  - TERM PAPERS
- TEMPORARY OFFICE PERSONNEL
- COMPLETE LINE OF SECRETARIAL SERVICES
  - BOOKKEEPING
  - MAILINGS

Dove Business Management Services

• Complete Services for Small Businesses

79 So. Pleasant St., Amherst
256-1335 • 253-7480

Also New Offices at
90 Conz St., Northampton, MA
585-5127

Auroville Teacher Education Program
(AVTEP)

Approaches to Multi-Cultural Education

A Semester Program in Auroville, India

January - March 1989

Sponsored by:

Alaska Pacific University

&

Sri Aurobindo International Institute for Educational Research

Coordinated by:

Merriam Hill Center
1675 Massachusetts Ave.
Cambridge, MA 02138
617-354-3431

Self Serve Typing
kinko's
the copy center
220 No. Pleasant St.
253-2543

The question everyone is asking...
WHAT IS THE BUSH BASH?

SKIING: 5 day lift ticket on 2 mountains with 68 trails as easy as you like and as difficult as you can handle.

ENTERTAINMENT: 26 exciting restaurants and bars, including The Wonder bar at the mountain with a step off the slopes happy hour, The Blue Tooth with live entertainment, Barbeques and Condo Happy Hours.

LODGING: 5 luxury condo accomodations at the Bridges includes: indoor pool, saunas, tennis, nautilus, squash, exercise classses, game room, and every condo includes TV, kitchenette and fire place.

With all this - you may not even make it to the slopes. So now the question is....WHY HAVEN'T YOU RESERVED YOUR SPOT?

$40.00 Reservation deposit which goes toward the total cost of $235 Non-members welcome for an addtional $10. Lessons and rentals available.

SUGARBUSH BUSH BASH
JAN. 22-27

RESERVE NOW!!! CONTACT
UMASS Ski Club
430 Student Union Bldg
545-3437

THE FIVE COLLEGE PROGRAM IN PEACE AND WORLD SECURITY STUDIES PRESENTS:

AFGHANISTAN AND PAKISTAN:
THE SOVIET WITHDRAWAL AND AFTER

November 2nd
-- A FRONTLINE REPORT --

Selig Harrison, noted journalist and Senior Fellow at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace will speak on "Afghanistan: The Soviet Withdrawal and After."

Professor Eqbal Ahmad of Hampshire College will speak on recent developments in Pakistan.

These presentations will take place on Wednesday, November 2, at 8:00 P.M. in the West Lecture Hall of Franklin Patterson Hall, at Hampshire College.

This event is free and open to the public.

For information, call PAWSS at 549-4600, ext. 519

LOCAL

Restaurants to eliminate use of styrofoam

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts will eliminate non-biodegradable and non-recyclable plastic and styrofoam products at campus eating facilities within eight months, according to Ashoke Ganguli, director of Auxiliary Services .

This is an effort running simultaneously with Amherst Board of Health's proposal to restrict the use of the products in area restaurants.

"We are planning the elimination of styrofoam products, and have already started to do so," Ganguli said.

A so-called Foam-Free Zone proposal, discussed by the Board of Health last week, is intended to increase the use of biodegradable and recyclable plastics, reduce the rate at which landfills are reaching capacity and minimize plastics threat to the environment and public health.

The hazard of the material lies in the fact non-biodegradable materials are not able to be burned without causing damage to the ozone layer surrounding the Earth.

Biodegradable materials, including some specially designed plastics, can be decomposed by bacteriological organisms existing in the landfill. Non-biodegradable, non-recyclable materials such as polystyrene and polyvinyl chloride food packages are toxic and might destroy ozone.

Ozone is a layer of gas, high in the Earth's atmosphere, that filters out damaging ultraviolet radiation from the sun.

The proposal has a "built-in flexibility" which would allow the health board the power to enforce the legislation.

"I received notice about the removal of the products in last spring, so late in the summer and this fall we have taken action. It is a matter of importance to everyone," Ganguli said.

Ganguli explained the amount of styrofoam used at places like the Hatch and the Bluewall Cafeteria is minimal so the switch to alternative products is not difficult.

"Right now we are working from the stock we have already purchased and we have to renegotiate our deals with manufacturers," Ganguli said.

Although the University will not have a tough time eliminating the environmentally hazardous materials from use, Ganguli says he feels the hardest hit in the community will be the fast food chains.

Amherst-area restaurants are being given an eight-month grace period to find biodegradable substitutes for all the packaging materials, wrappings, boxes, containers and disposable plates and cups they are currently using.

Collegian photo by Andrew Rist

A LOT TO CHEER ABOUT — Karen McNamara dances on the sideline Saturday during UMass' win over Northeastern. See story on page 12.

MassPIRG to sponsor "protest"

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group, MassPIRG, will be conducting a protest tomorrow, with a new twist.

Two "candidates," representing Michael Dukakis and George Bush, will sling mud at each other at noon on the lawn between the campus pond and the Student Union Building.

The "mudslinging" will represent the negative tone of the 1988 presidential campaign, said Sabrina Foresi, co-coordinator of voter registration/education program for MassPIRG.

"The event is just representative of the garbage that's been going on during the campaign," Foresi said.

The event is designed to raise students' awareness about the candidates' stands on the issues, as well as to encourage the students to vote in the Nov. 8 presidential election, Foresi said.

"One way of catching students' eye is through sensationalism," Foresi said.

MassPIRG representatives will be at the event to hand out information on the candidates' stands on various issues.

Foresi said the information will be on a piece of paper, stating the candidates' stands on it, with one side devoted to Dukakis, and the other to Bush.

The event is not designed to endorse either candidate, Foresi said, because MassPIRG is a non-partisan group.

"We can't take a stand," she said. "The only thing MassPIRG does suggest voting yes on is question 4." The question asks whether or not the Pilgrim & Yankee Rowe Nuclear Power Plants should be shut down.

■ Operation Rescue

continued from page 1

Despite the lack of opposition, pro-choice activists in Brookline waged their own demonstration, "Stand Up For Life," the largest demonstration for abortion rights in the Boston area since 1986.

The demonstrators, organized by representatives from Planned Parenthood and the National Organization for Women, lined Beacon Street cheering and holding signs, "Honk for abortion rights," and "Keep abortion safe, funded, and legal," among others.

Susan Worgaftic, a member of the Alliance Against Women's Oppression, and a demonstration leader, said the absence of anti-abortionists was a good sign for the future.

"We think we scared them away," Worgaftic said. "They knew we were organizing; they knew we had at least 1,000 people here. They couldn't compete with what we were doing.

"Abortion is a right that women should have," she said. "It should be available to anyone who needs it and there should be funding."

University of Massachusetts graduate Ellen Goldman, currently studying at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said "I believe women should be able to choose. It's a woman's right to have control over her own body."

Worgaftic said legalized abortion is critical to the safety of women's lives in this country.

"We know that women will have abortions if their life conditions force them to feel that they cannot control their own lives," she said. "Therefore they cannot control the lives of their children.

"We know that women will end up in the back seats of taxis bleeding to death from illegal abortions if we don't have these rights," she said.

Brookline police officers, awaiting the protesters since 5:30 a.m., said they were relieved the anti-abortionists left the area.

"We're very happy they're not here," said Brookline Lt. Bob Lucas. "We're very lucky. I'm sure Rhode Island isn't too thrilled though."

Worgaftic credits Operation Rescue's failure in Massachusetts to the state's lack of conservative activists. "I don't think the fundamentalist right-wing is as evident here as it is in the south and far west," she said.

Pro-choice demonstrators said they do not expect Operation Rescue activists to return for a second attempt in the near future. "If they do come back, we'll rally again," Worgaftic said. "That's what we're here to do."

■ SGA investigation

continued from page 1

Pereira has a much different view. "There is no accountability. It seems to me that the only way they are acountable to the students is if they took it upon themselves, which I doubt they are doing."

Steve Samolewicz, director of public rights for the district attorney, conducted the investigation. He released a letter of opinion on the case last Wednesday, after more than a month of investigation into the alleged violation.

Samolewicz asked Fadel to provide any documents that may be relevant to the case. Samolewicz said in the letter that according to one of the documents provided by Fadel, "the SGA's role in most matters is strictly to act as an advisory group to the Board of Trustees."

Commenting on the SGA's fiscal authority, Samolewicz said, "According to the documents we received, it appears that the ultimate authority over expenditures lies with the Board of Trustees." Each year the Board of Trustees ratifies the budget sent to it by the senate.

Samolewicz said that based on the history and usage of the open-meeting law, the SGA did not violate the intent of the regulation.

"They did not intend to reach groups like the SGA," Samolewicz said of the authors of the open-meeting law.

Fadel said he was not surprised with the decision, and said this does not mean the SGA is not a governmental body in general, but rather that it is not a governmental body as defined by the open-meeting law.

"We were abiding by the spirit of the open-meeting law," Fadel said. "It was on a technicality, that we didn't take a role call vote, that was the only deviation. We went into executive session for reasons that are in the open-meeting law."

Governmental powers

Citing another case, Samolewicz said a governmental body traditionally has the power to tax, to take property by eminent domain, and "the power to regulate coercively individual and group conduct.

"The SGA lacks these traditional governmental powers," Samolewicz said in his letter.

The SGA operates under Robert's Rules of Order, which are used by many boards and bodies, and are based on law, according to Samolewicz.

Under Robert's Rules, a body is required to state the reason for going into executive session, take a role call vote, and ask the person or persons to be discussed in the session if they would rather have the meeting be open to the public.

Fund misuse

Fadel said he moved the committee into executive session on Sept. 8 to discuss alleged misuse of funds by then-SGA Budgets Chairman Gil Penchina.

The investigation

Samolewicz said this was the first time any investigation of this sort had been undertaken by the district attorney.

He said Fadel was the only person questioned about the case, which is standard procedure for open-meeting law investigations.

Pereira, who said he had not yet received a copy of the determination, said he thought it was strange that Fadel was the only person questioned in the investigation. "I'm hoping [Samolewicz] sends me a copy of the questions," Pereira said. "If the only person he interviewed was Fadel, then there's something wrong with that."

Fadel sent Samolewicz the SGA Constitution and bylaws, and "the Wellman document," which is apparently an agreement between the SGA and the Board of Trustees.

"I'm confident that if he looked at the SGA Constitution, the bylaws, and the Wellman document that he could determine if the SGA is a governmental body," Pereira said.

"However, there should be some provision for groups that handle public monies. It's a flaw in state law and not in the investigation," he said.

F Y I

The FYI section is a public service announcement to the campus and community. Space is limited, so the Collegian cannot guarantee all submissions will be published.

Lecture

Randy Shilts is scheduled to speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Campus Center Auditorium. The event is sponsored by the Distinguished Visitor's Program.

Meeting

The North Amherst Branch Library Book Discussion Club is scheduled to meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the North Amherst Library. The book to be discussed is Beloved by Toni Morrison.

Information Session

The National Student Exchange has scheduled an information session from 4 to 5 p.m. tomorrow in room 165 to 169 of the Campus Center.

Meeting

The Center for Social Issues is encouraging students to participate in recruiting, coordintating, and supporting student activists by coming to an informational meeting from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the center in Moore House in Southwest Residential Area. For more information call 253-2307.

Lecture

Bernice Johnson, civil rights activist and cultural historian, is scheduled to speak at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow in Sage Hall at Smith College.

the hatch

Wednesday
Uncle Martha
at 9 pm
Wed., Nov. 2nd
at the Hatch

Rock 'n Roll
Rockalyptics
FRIDAY NIGHT
NOVEMBER 4TH
AT 9:00 PM
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

La Cuchina
Serving a Variety of Pasta Dishes, Pizza, and Italian Specialties.
Featuring the PASTA BAR: the Pasta of Your Choice Topped with Our Delightful Sauces
Monday-Saturday
5 pm-11 pm

THE VINEYARD
A Large and Surprising Selection of Wine & Beer, in Bottles or on Tap
Monday-Friday 11 am-12 midnight
Saturday 5 pm-12 midnight

Minibus Sandwitch
Saturday
November 5th
9:00 p.m.
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

COMEDY NIGHT presented by Commuter Area Government Comedy Connection
featuring
COMEDIANS from the Boston Comedy Company
Tuesday Nights at 9:00 pm
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

Monday Night Football
FREE POPCORN
DENVER vs INDIANAPOLIS
DELI SANDWICHES • SALAD BAR • PIZZA AND ITALIAN SPECIALTIES • LARGE SELECTION OF WINE AND BEER • SNACKS • QUICK LUNCHEON AND BREAKFAST ITEMS • LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Point/Counterpoint: Campaign Issues

WASHINGTOON
Mark Alan Stamaty
...ISSUES... ISSUES...
U.S.A.
Is this an ACCURATE Picture of America?
Are we STARVING For A Discussion of "ISSUES"?
OR AREN'T WE JUST DELIGHTED and RELIEVED that GEORGE BUSH Finally STOPPED WIGGLING?
HE'S GOT MY VOTE!
HE LOOKS GOOD PRESIDENTIAL!
EVEN HIS KNEE STOPPED SHAKING!
AREN'T WE GRATEFUL that "THE GIPPER" FINALLY TAUGHT HIM THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A WEAK PRESIDENT and A STRONG PRESIDENT?
ACTING LESSONS
STEP RIGHT UP, FOLKS! LEARN THE WALK! LEARN THE TALK! FOR YOU TOO CAN BE PRESIDENT!
THE PRESIDENCY, after all, is JUST A HALLOWEEN COSTUME that WE WEAR FOR THE WORLD.
TRICK OR TREAT!
U.S.A.
CAMPAIGNS ARE JUST CONTESTS OF WHO CAN PORTRAY "REALITY" MORE CONVINCINGLY.
WE'RE TRAVELING IN A DIMENSION WHERE WE DON'T HAVE TO PAY OUR BILLS...
WHO CARES WHAT "REALITY" ACTUALLY IS? THAT WOULD ONLY INTERFERE WITH OUR ENJOYMENT OF THE SHOW.
A GOOD ACTOR LIFTS US OUT OF THE MUNDANE REALITIES OF DAILY LIFE and MAKES US FEEL THE EMOTIONS HE PORTRAYS.
READ MY LIPS: NO NEW TAXES!
WHAT STRENGTH! WHAT COURAGE! WHAT A SENSE OF FREEDOM!

On the right

Democrats hide faults

As the election for president of the United States approaches, it appears the Democrats have desperately added a new plank to their shaky platform; one of defensive self-denial and rationalization over shortcomings.

Stuart Gottlieb

The tone of the campaign in recent weeks has shifted from little talk of important issues, to talk only of why those issues were never addressed. The Democrats decided that this was due to hostile negativity inherent in the Bush campaign. They say that racism is inherent in the Bush campaign. They say that lying is inherent in the Bush campaign. They say that this is the reason Bush leads by 10 points in the polls with a week to go. They speak in desperation.

The Democrats expect us to believe that if only the real issues were addressed, then the Duke would walk through this thing untouched. The Democrats expect us to believe that the people of America didn't understand the issues when Reagan won in a landslide in 1980, and utterly embarrassed the Democrats in 1984. We are supposed to believe that the issues of strong defense, economic growth, and expansion are non-issues. We are supposed to look back over the past eight years and recall that Reagan did not accomplish these goals.

Such attempts are futile. Americans know that the Republicans have delivered on the issues of peace and prosperity; the Democrats know that those are the most important issues to voters on election day. It is the Democrats who are afraid to confront those issues, and understandably so.

But still we are patronized by the Democratic party campaigners. We see "counter-offensives" by Dukakis claiming that Bush is winning through deceit. We see Lloyd Bentsen appear on This Week with David Brinkley and actually say that the furlough issue is being promulgated with intentional racist overtones because Willie Horton, the man who escaped from furlough and raped a woman and stabbed her boyfriend, was black and the woman was white. We see charges made every day that Bush is avoiding the real issues.

It appears many legitimate sources agree with the Dukakis campaign assertions. But why? Why would the New York Times, Washington Post, and many other journals give top press coverage to such outrageous accusations? Why does George Bush consistently speak about quality issues on every campaign stop (get a transcript, and you'll see) but the only part they air on the CBS evening news is the same repetitious stuff about crime and patriotism?

Could it be that those media factions are long time supporters of the Democratic party?

Take last Wednesday's New York Times lead story "New Poll Shows Attacks By Bush Are Building Lead" for example. You would think these would be pretty brutal attacks. We're told in the article that Bush lied about Dukakis's opposition to various weapon's systems in his commercial that shows the Duke cruising around in a tank. But we're not told that Dukakis began supporting the stealth bomber, the MX missile, and other defensive necessities only months before he decided to run for president. That's called demagoguery in anyone's book.

Then we turn to page A22 and actually see the "poll" which led to such conclusions by the Times. It shows that 51 percent of voters asked feel that Bush spends too much time attacking Dukakis. But it also states that 49 percent feel that Dukakis spends too much time attacking Bush. Where's the discrepancy?

We read further and find that 52 percent of voters feel that some of Bush's commercials are false. But 50 percent feel the same about Dukakis's commercials. Also, 11 percent of the voters felt that Dukakis has made unfair charges, 12 percent felt that Bush has, but 49 percent felt that both have.

So why the lead story? Why the rationalizations? Why the denial?

I guess it's just tough to lose, again.

Stuart Gottlieb is a Collegian columnist

Republicans avoid issues

After talking to different people about politics, it is obvious that much of Bush's popularity stems from his ability to appeal to people's unthinking, emotional side.

An example of this is his consistent line of attack against Dukakis's role in the Massachusetts prison furlough program, which he uses to justify his claim that "Dukakis is soft on crime." Using this line of attack, he appeals to people's emotions of anger and fear, resulting from the rampant increase of violent crime.

Damon Reeves

Bush's attacks against Dukakis regarding crime have absolutely no bearing when compared to Bush's and Reagan's records on crime. Aside from having one of the best crime records in the country, Massachusetts has a furlough program identical to three-fourths of the states, including California, whose furlough program resulted in the escape of inmates who murdered a police officer and a schoolteacher while Reagan was governor. In 1981, Bush prominently supported a Houston half-way house whose prerelease program resulted in the escape of an inmate who raped and murdered a minister's wife. After this incident, Bush presented the house with a presidential award.

Another thing Bush does to rouse emotion is to make the flag and the plege of allegiance an issue, showing differences with Dukakis on the subject of a mandatory pledge in an attempt to use Dukakis's heritage aginst him by making him seem unpatriotic. Dukakis is against a mandatory pledge on the grounds that it's unconstitutional. What could be more patriotic than upholding the constitution?

Bush is placing the flag, a symbol of the constitution, above the constitution itself. He his also taking the first step towards a government like communist Russia by saying "You must pledge allegiance to our flag." Forcing people pledge doesn't cause loyalty to a government, the government must do that by showing leadership and values, something ours showed a lack of with the Iran-contra scandal.

Finally, Bush receives a great deal of support from various groups because of his stance towards the emotional issue of abortion, calling for it to be outlawed on the grounds that it's murder. It is difficult to agree on where to draw the line on when life begins, but recent history shows that making abortion illegal would only increase the amount of back alley abortions, resulting in the death of the mother and the fetus. While an abortion in the hospital can be a horrible thing, it can only be worse on the street.

What this country needs is a strong leader with ideas and solutions, not some demagogue who caters to public sentiment. All I ever hear Bush do is attack Dukakis, while I hear Dukakis respond, attack Bush, and talk about ideas. While there may be disagreement as to how well these ideas would work, at least they're ideas. What does Bush have for ideas? A mandatory pledge of allegiance. I know Bush seems a lot more chummy, and is probably the one most of us would rather have with us on a fishing trip, but we're talking about the presidency of the United States. It's time we started thinking with our minds, not our emotions.

Damon Reeves is a UMass student

The opinions in Point/Counterpoint are those of the individual authors and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University. The Collegian is greatly interested in what you think of Point/Counterpoint and the columns within. Questions and comments should be addressed to the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, UMass.

Letters

Alumnus shows ignorance in dangerous quote

I am writing regarding an article that appeared on the front page of your publication ("Cops continue crackdown," Oct. 17). The article dealt with the continuing crackdown by police on alcohol violations. Within this article was a quote from William Santos, who said he was a University of Massachusetts graduate. Santos said "that he would no longer contribute to the annual fund in this police state." This quote was made after Santos was asked to dump out his beer before entering the stadium.

As an emergency dispatcher, I was enraged by this statement. I have dispatched numerous ambulances to the scenes of motor vehicle accidents where individuals have been seriously injured or killed by a person who had imbibed a large amount of alcohol. There are other less publicized incidents that I have dispatched ambulance personnel to, such as persons passed out in rest rooms or persons with injuries incurred due to over-intoxification, but none with more of an impact than those involving a dead or severly injured person. The number of lives that are destroyed due to alcohol abuse is frightening. Maybe Santos is unaware or just uncaring about those lives.

This letter is not meant as an attempt to say that no one has the right to drink because of the actions of others who are less responsible than they. It is meant to say that the rights and lives of others are being endangered by irresponsible people who do drink. If there is a solution to the alcohol abuse problem, I do not have one. I do know that there is a problem and that it won't go away before someone else dies or is crippled for the rest of their life. Maybe William Santos, with his infinite supply of wisdom, can enlighten the survivors of these tragic events with a solution.

Ron Bias
Hadley

Nov. 8 is election day — a chance to cast your vote in the presidential election.
But before that, the Collegian is putting together a special election package on the presidential and congressional candidates. We'll have all sides of the referendum questions.
If you have opinions on the election or the questions, send them to the Collegian, 113 Campus Center, UMass. Keep your submissions short, and turn them in by tomorrow.

ARTS/LIVING

Emotion-filled Godspell brings down the house

By SCOTT GOLDSMITH
Collegian Correspondent

Godspell
Bowker Auditorium
Saturday night

Saturday evening brought to a close the four nights running of the UMass Music Theater Guild presentation of Godspell. And if you missed it . . . may the Lord have mercy!

Godspell is a modern day rendition of the tale of Jesus Christ. As Jesus, played by Thomas Matthew Berry, preached about forgiveness and loving thy neighbor, the rest of the performers comically acted out short skits within the play itself to exemplify the words of the Lord. The actors transform from little kids, to sheep, to rich, greedy misers to get their point across.

The costuming for the show was relatively simple. It consisted of bright shirts, sweatpants, jeans and colorful makeup. Nothing fancy. The set was also simple; a fenced in area strewn with what appears to be garbage. But, cleverly hidden within the piles of old newspapers and empty cereal boxes were all the props necessary for the performance.

As I watched the performance, certain things struck me as pleasantly unusual. From begining to end, the performers maintained an energy level that could have easily kept the city of Boston lit for years to come. They didn't let up for a second. At times, I felt as if I was watching a bunch of little kids at play not caring about anything, or what anyone thinks. The cast also seemed to have a spontaniety that's rarely ever seen, yet managed to keep it professional.

The actors truly felt rather than acted their parts. Whatever the script called for, the audience saw. The genuine great time the actors were having on stage could have lifted the spirits of even the most depressed souls. When the performers wanted the audience to smile, the audience was smiling. Just as they were able to keep us smiling and laughing, the actors were also able to bring us to the other extreme with the oncoming crucifixion of Christ. As he bled to death while tied to the fence, I'm sure most of the audience had trouble holding back their tears. But, after all the laughs, they just couldn't leave our spirits down in the dumps; and so came the resurrection, bringing our spirits even higher than before.

The cast, musicians, director/choreographer Randy Todd Elkinson and everyone else involved with the production truly deserved the standing ovation and accolades flowing through the audience at the end of the show. So, if it sounds as if I'm praising the production, I am. And if you didn't see it, and you've read this review, I think the Lord and the cast will find it in their hearts to forgive you.

WHAT'S HAPPENING AT UNIVERSITY PLACEMENT SERVICE FALL WORKSHOP SCHEDULE

1988 NOVEMBER 1988
WORKSHOP ASSIGNMENT SCHEDULE

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
		1 3:15 PM Orientation	2 3:15 PM Job Search	3 3:15 PM Resume	4 3:15 PM Interviewing	5
6	7 3:15 PM Orientation	8 3:15 PM Resume	9 3:15 PM Stress Mgmt	10 3:15 PM Interviewing	11	12
13	14 3:15 PM Orientation	15 3:15 PM Resume	16 3:15 PM Job Search	17 3:15 PM Interviewing	18 3:15 PM Orientation	19
20	21 3:15 PM Resume	22 3:15 PM Interviewing	23	24	25	26
27	28 3:15 PM Orientation	29 3:15 PM Resume	30 3:15 PM Job Search			November

1988 DECEMBER 1988
WORKSHOP ASSIGNMENT SCHEDULE

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
				1 3:15 PM Interviewing	2 3:15 PM Orientation	3
4	5 3:15 PM Resume	6 3:15 PM Interviewing	7 3:15 PM Stress Mgmt.	8 3:15 PM Orientation	9 3:15 PM Resume	10
11	12 3:15 PM Interviewing	13 3:15 PM Resume	14 3:15 PM Job Search	15 3:15 PM Interviewing	16 3:15 PM Resume	17
18	19 3:15 PM Interviewing	20 3:15 PM Resume	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	31 December

SATURDAY HOURS

The University Placement Service will be open Saturday, November 5 and November 19 from 9:00 AM to 1:00 PM. A Walk-in counselor will be available.

ON-CAMPUS RECRUITING PROGRAM

The schedule for the on-campus recruiting program is available at the Career Center. While you're there, fill out a form to receive the on-campus recruiting information in the mail.

Five College Students:
Call 545-2511
For ½ Price Tickets

Marvin Hamlisch In Concert
Thursday, Nov. 3

The Juilliard String Quartet
Saturday, Nov. 5

The Amazing Cambridge Buskers
Wednesday, Nov 9

Peter Orth, piano
Tuesday, Nov. 15

Desrosiers Dance Theatre
Saturday, Nov. 19

Ladysmith Black Mambazo
Tuesday, Nov. 22

Quartet For The End Of Time
Saturday, Dec. 3

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

AMHERST CINEMA

"PERVERSELY FASCINATING" "PROVOCATIVE"

HANDMADE FILMS PRESENTS
A NICOLAS ROEG FILM
TRACK 29
THERESA RUSSELL GARY OLDMAN and CHRISTOPHER LLOYD
R
1987 Handmade Films (1987) Partnership
Monday and there on Western Mass. Premiere
2- showings 7:00 and 9:15 In the center of Amherst
AMITY ST. 253-5426

Mark Mothersbaugh and one of his phosphorescent works on display in Hamden Gallery through November 6.

Small scale play hits big

By KAREN KITSON
Collegian Correspondent

Saturday night marked the last of four presentations of Samuel Beckett's Waiting for Godot, a tragicomedy in two acts. Student Valley Productions presented the show in Southwest's quaint Hampden Theater under Richard Gershberg's direction.

The story revolved around two men, Estrogon (Paul Spatarella) and Vladimir (Shari Ultman) who let their lives pass them by as they did nothing but wait for Godot. The setting of the play was on a country road and the story followed the monotonous lives of Estrogon and Vladimir as they sat on. As the final act closed, Vladimir and Estrogon were still waiting for the mysterious Godot just as they were in the beginning. The irony was that Godot symbolized God and His presence was there through the whole ordeal, although they could not see, hear or touch Him.

The acting done by the small cast was superb. Paul Spatarella brought charm and humor to the stage with the crazy antics of Estrogon. Shari Ultman shone in her role of Vladimir, who was the more level-headed of the two men. It was a very commendable first college performance for Ultman whose only prior acting experience was a minor role in A Christmas Carol which she performed in the second grade.

Erika Marks gave an outstanding performance as Lucky, a once outgoing, but now oppressed, worn out slave who is towered over by Pozzo (Steven Ebstein). Marks is a freshman Hampshire student who is sure to be seen in many upcoming performances. Ebstein did a brilliant job portraying the insecure Pozzo who was not sure what he wanted from life. Alexis Greenblatt, a veteren of the UMass stage, let her experience as an actress shine through in her portrayal of Godot's messenger boy. The acting under Richard Gershberg's direction is definitely what made the presentation a success.

PINOCCHIO'S
RISTORANTE ITALIANO
Monday
HALLOWEEN SPECIAL
Large Cheese Pizza $5.50 plus tax
Tues. & Wed. Special $5.50
MUST MENTION SPECIAL WHEN ORDERING
NO COUPON NECESSARY—NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER COUPON

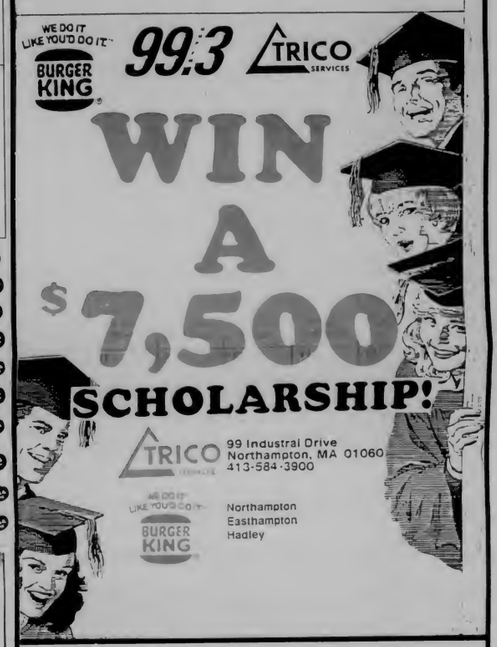
PC CLONES
PRINTERS
SOFTWARE
ACCESSORIES
Sales • Service • Rental
DR. SOFTWARE
Software • Computers • Accessories
Pageant Shopping Mall • 241 King Street
Northampton, MA 01060
586-3210
M-T-W & F 10-6
Thurs 10-8 • Sat 10-5

Sheehan's
Annual Halloween Bash
Lil' Frankie & The Premiers
with Alvis
Wear Your Costumes
Prizes!
For more information, call 585-5149

FEELING COLD? FEELING TENSE?
LOOKING GHOSTLY PALE?

LE BON SOLEIL
(the good sun)
264 N. Pleasant Street Amherst
253-9454
RELAX Get WARM Get COLOR!
HALLOWEEN SPECIAL
Join Alone, Save $5*; Join with a Friend, Save $10*
*Offer expires November 15, 1988
FREE TRIAL VISIT WITH THIS AD
New Customers Only—Must Bring This Ad

WE DO IT LIKE YOU'D DO IT
BURGER KING
99.3 TRICO SERVICES



WIN A $7,500 SCHOLARSHIP!
TRICO 99 Industrial Drive Northampton, MA 01060 413-584-3900
WE DO IT LIKE YOU'D DO IT
BURGER KING
Northampton
Easthampton
Hadley
LISTEN TO 99.3 WHMP-FM FOR ALL THE DETAILS!

New! Saga House Clogs

in blue suede and burgundy leather
Mathews SHOES

BLACK AFFAIRS

Collegian photo by Michael Cohen.

Andrew Young, the Mayor of Atlanta, discusses new solutions to old problems with longtime friend Chancellor Joseph Duffey.

Young speaks on cultural interactions

By TAMARA FORT
Collegian Staff

Andrew Young, the Mayor of Atlanta, capped off Civility Week by delivering a speech in the campus center Auditorium last Thursday night. He was introduced by a friend of 25 years, Chancellor Joseph Duffey.

Young, a top aide of Martin Luther King Jr. during the 1960's said, "We didn't go through the problems of race in the 50's and 60's in Massachusetts."

He asserted that both black and white students come from monocultural communities and thus have not had "wholesome multicultural experiences, before they get to the college."

The former ambassador to the United Nations communicated positive images for all. He suggested that black and white organizations meet regularly, in order to break down barriers and build new friendships. Young also viewed integration as a means of success in the workplace.

In the city of Atlanta, 10 white and 10 black men have met regularly once a month since 1962. Young boasted that these men were chief executives in their fields a result of the close friendship ties formed from the meetings.

People have difficulty challenging their cultural insecurities, asserted Young, who used his own experiences with a group of transvestites who attempted to take over his office in demand for their rights as an indication that we all experience cultural insecurities when confronted by behaviors different from our own.

On a diverse campus such as Umass, Young urged students to challenge their insecurities by getting to know people outside of their own ethnic group. To do otherwise, people would be "culturally retarded," he said.

Some of the greatest bonds can be made with people outside of your own particular ethnic group, he said. "Blacks who are successful can trace their success to a friendship with someone who was different [from themselves]," he said.

One of Young's examples of a successful man was Jimmy Carter. Carter grew up in a community that was 80 percent Black. Through his willingness to know people of another ethnic group, Carter won the support of many Blacks in Georgia, young said.

The Mayor concluded that we as a nation have come a long way, but we still have far to go. The fight for tolerance and civility must be ongoing, "we can't hold hands [just] once a year," said Young.

Rap artists turn it out

COLLEGIAN NEWS SERVICES

As part of Civility Week at the University of Massachusetts, the Union Program Council, in cooperation with the Black Mass Communications Project, presented in concert, rap recording artists BIG DADDY KANE with BOOGIE DOWN PRODUCTIONS.

Civility Week, Oct.21-27, was intended to raise awareness of racism and celebrate multi-cultural diversity. In keeping with this theme, various student and faculty organizations presented programs and activities that foster an atmosphere of openness and tolerance on the UMASS campus.

Antonio M. Hardy, better known as Big Daddy Kane, writer, lyricist, and producer for the rap label Cold-Chillin Records, is on tour in support of his debut album Long Live the Kane. A native of "Bedstuy" (Bedford Stuyvesent) in Brooklyn, Kane is to Cold Chillin what Holland Dozier Holland was to Motown- a hit-making mean machine on overdrive, turning out "fresh" material that captures today's sound of young America.

Kane has scored big for the Cold-Chillin label with huge hits by rap artists Biz Markie and Roxanne Shante. His song writing ability impressed top rap producer Marley Marl and the two collaborated on Long Live the Kane. Besides being the featured artist on the release, Big Daddy Kane receives full writing and co-producing credits as well.

Boogie Down Productions featuring KRS-ONE have taken a stand against the violence associated with rap music on their most recent album entitled By All Means Necessary. The story of BDP is the story of front artist KRS-ONE (Knowledge Reins Supreme Over Nearly Everyone). Born Kris Parker, 22 years ago, in the Bronx, KRS ran away from became involved with drugs, spent time jail, and eventually ended up in a homeless shelter where he befriended Scott LaRock, a counselor at the shelter. Together they formed BDP and recorded the big hit "Criminal Minded" in 1986. Just as the group was on the verge of signing an extensive contract, Scott was killed in a neighborhood shooting. In order to answer all doubts about his ability to go on without Scott, BDP signed with Jive Records and recorded By All Means Necessary. KRS wrote and produced all the cuts on the album, including the top hits "My Philosophy" and "Stop the Violence(in Hip Hop)."

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

Rap artists KRS-ONE and Big Daddy Kane show UMass audience why the art of rapping is here to stay.

NSBE provides forums addressing career decisions

By PAMELA MCRAE
Collegian Correspondent

The National Society of black Engineers' UMass chapter sojourned to the New Jersey Insititute of Technology (NJIT) at Newark last weekend fore its annual fall regional conference.

Hosting 32 schools in the region, including Boston University, Brown University, Cornell University and UMass, several hundred minority engineers were given the opportunity to share common goals and experiences with new faces.

The conference began with a general meeting that provided a status update on current events in the region. Topics included high school Outreach programs, Career fairs, NSBEnet (a computer service for NSBE chapters) and retention techniques that lead to higher graduation — success rates.

After the general meeting, a series of workshops were held, some of which were:

- Alternatives to Industry; an interactive discussion on alternative careers available to technical professionals.
- Black Entrepreneurs; the do's and don'ts in becoming a Black entrepreneur.
- Corporate Black Women; a focus on the roles and expectations of Black women in the work place.

The evening continued on with a banquet featuring a southern menu of fried chicken, black eyed peas, rice and sweet potato pie. The banquet was culminated by its public speaker, Amiri Baraka (LeRoi Jones), a native of Newark, N.J. Baraka focused on Black self-determination, urging NSBE members to expose those who exploit African-Americans. He pleaded that African-Americans no longer be slaves but to become builders of a new way of life, develop leaders with courage, and to be ourselves.

Futhermore, African-Americans have a critical need to evaluate and change the education system that provides dull and boring curriculum, which often has nothing to do with reality let alone Black life, according to Baraka.

He concluded his speech by encouraging African-Americans to understand their cultural dynamics, rescue impoverished people, and to use the the power of the vote to transform society.

The conference concluded with a social in the evening and a general session in the morning. Old business was discussed and contact numbers were distributed amongst the participants, keeping tight the NSBE bond.

Photo courtesy of Richard DuCree

Little boy enjoys wonders during Harlem Week this summer in New York City.

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

The role of the large woman in horn-rimmed glasses was played by Arlene Carmichael. Arlene had previously auditioned for several other cartoons before her break in "The Far Side."
Various aliens, monsters, sharks and large mammals were played by Frank Slavens and John McCosker. (Earlier this year, both characters went down in a giant squid suit and were never seen again.)
Playing a multitude of parts (cavemen, cowboys, etc.) was Daryl Simmons. Daryl plans to try out for an upcoming role in "Beetle Bailey."
In the role of "the cow" was Jessica Van Horn, from Fenwick Farms.
Making his cartoon debut as "the nerdy little kid" was Jerry Miller. Jerry was originally turned down for the part of Sluggo in "Nancy."
In various "scientific" roles was Andrew Fagg. Regrettably, shortly before his stint with "The Far Side" ended, Andrew was erased.
All the protozoans came from a drainage ditch on the outskirts of Shreveport, LA. Most of them now live in a Beverly Hills petri dish.
Cockroaches, ants, flies, spiders, slugs and assorted invertebrates were all set free but came back into the house.
Special thanks To Luann Thatcher, who designed the black border.

The Far Side cast

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

GOOD NEWS, MEADOWCRATS!
GOOD NEWS!
BILL IS UP FORTY POINTS IN THE POLLS!
FORTY POINTS!
BILL CAT PRES
THANKS TO ONE FACTOR!
THE BUSH QUAYLE DUKAKIS BENTSEN FACTOR!
THEY'RE A DOG ON THEIR TICKETS!
IT'S A GORDEND!
BILL CAT PRES

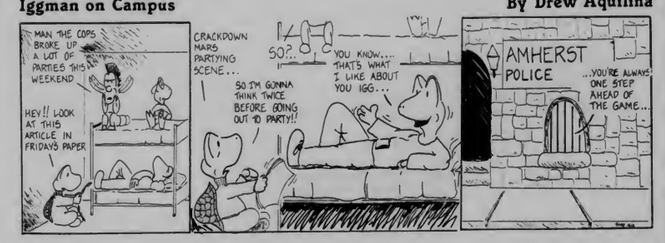
Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau

GOOD EVENING. TODAY, IN AN ASTONISHING TURN OF EVENTS, BUSH SCRIPTWRITER, PEGGY "PONTS O' LIGHT" NOONAN DECLARED THE ELECTION OFFICIALLY OVER!
PUBLIC REACTION TO NEWS OF THE SHORTENED CAMPAIGN WAS ECSTATIC. THE VICE PRESIDENT, WHILE CLEARLY SURPRISED BY HIS HANDLER'S DECISION, WAS PHILOSOPHICAL WHEN HE MET WITH REPORTERS TODAY.
HEY, IT'S NINE EXTRA DAYS FOR THE TRANSITION. WE CAN USE 'EM. IF IT'S OVER, IT'S OVER. YOU'RE NOT GOING TO CATCH ME WHINING ABOUT IT THE WAY THEY MIGHT UP IN BOSTON!
DUKAKIS, OFF CAMPAIGNING SOMEWHERE, COULD NOT BE FOUND FOR COMMENT.

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

LOOK! A BUCKEYE!
ISN'T IT PRETTY? LOOK HOW PERFECT IT IS.
I'M GOING TO KEEP THIS ONE.
WHAT WILL YOU DO WITH IT?
TRY TO DENT SUSIE'S SKULL FROM 50 FEET.

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina



MAN THE COPS BROKE UP A LOT OF PARTIES THIS WEEKEND
HEY!! LOOK AT THIS ARTICLE IN FRIDAYS PAPER
CRACKDOWN MARS PARTYING SCENE...
SO I'M GONNA THINK TWICE BEFORE GOING OUT TO PARTY!!
SO?
YOU KNOW... THAT'S WHAT I LIKE ABOUT YOU IGG...
AMHERST POLICE
...YOU'RE ALWAYS ONE STEP AHEAD OF THE GAME...

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

HALLOWEEN TIPS FROM HUNTER S. THOMPSON: 'MAXIMIZING THE LOOT'
WHEN I WAS A SQUIRT, NOTHIN' RILED ME UP MORE ON HALLOWEEN THAN TIGHT FISTED BASTARDS WHO WERE STINGY WITH THEIR TREATS.
Zoom
NEEDLESS TO SAY, THOSE DOMESTIC MUTANTS PAID DEARLY FOR THEIR GREEDINESS. IF YOU GET SHAFT-CHANGED TONIGHT, HERE'S A COUPLE TRICKS YOU CAN PULL ON THE SWINE...
PINCH YOUR PARENT'S CAR KEYS AND DRIVE THROUGH THE LIVING ROOM. 30 MPH IS SUFFICIENT RAMMING SPEED. WEAR A BELT!
TRAP A SKUNK AND DROP IT DOWN THE CHIMNEY. WHEN THE GOONS RUN OUT OF THE HOUSE, YOU GO IN AND CLEAN UP!
THE FLAMING WALL OF DEATH IS THE MOST IMPRESSIVE AND THE EASIEST. 5 GALLONS OF GASOLINE AND A 2-PPO IS ENOUGH TO MAKE ANY SCROOGE FORK OVER THE LICORICE

Do not wish to be anything but what you are, and try to be that perfectly.

—St. Francis de Sales

Daily Crossword Puzzle

Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

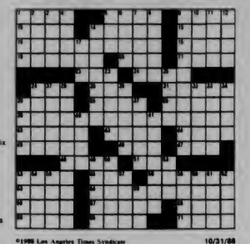
ACROSS
1 Spoken sxsm
5 Mighty mite
9 Musical ending
13 Contentious item?
14 Family member
15 Burden
16 Not working
18 Bountiful s stats
19 Homework
20 Fox s friend
21 Othello or Iago
22 Time zone sobr
24 Novgorod no
26 — Vegas
29 Child s toy
31 Part of s song
35 Aida series
36 Yours and mine
38 Rub out
39 Without understanding
42 Get s touchdown
43 Observed
44 Cupid
45 Fracas
46 Composer Rorem
47 Nonsense!
48 Is in debt
51 Social
53 Hebrew measure
56 Anonymous Richard
58 Excuses of s sort
63 — of mouth
64 Catalog enclosure
66 Alaska city
67 Card game starters
68 Feminine suffix
69 Headliner
70 Shade trees
71 Footwear

DOWN
1 Greek coin
2 Scoundrel
3 Crumb losers
4 August babies
5 Broadcast
6 Kennedy and Kopper
7 Indian. for one
8 Clemency
9 Judge s directive
10 In the know
11 Binary
12 Arthur of tennis fame
14 Continual
17 Enemy
23 Playing engagements
25 On a level
26 Jousting weapon
27 Tie
28 — cook
30 Show off
32 City on the Nile
33 Like — (probably)
34 Fowl parts
35 Cutter
37 Bedding item
40 Cat cry
41 Makes lovable
49 Wear out
50 City on the St. Lawrence
52 Priestly vestment
53 Possesses
54 Debatable
55 Writer Bombeck
57 Dutch treat
59 Martinique at sl.
60 Spa on the Avon
61 " — each life.."
62 Snow item: Var
65 City transports

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

S	N	A	P	I	S		A	D	D		R	A	F
M	E	M	E	S		E	A	T	S		A	S	I	A
A	V	A	S	T		L	E	V	I		A	T	H	A	N
N	I	T	T	Y		H	O	B	O		G	H	O	S	T
		T	A	I	L		C	O	D	E		R	E	S	E
S	H	A	M	A	N		A	D	O		R	E	O
M	U	T	I	N	Y		S	A	M	E
A	M	A	N	I	T	A		P	I	T	A		L	E	V	E	L
			C	I	A	R			C	H	I	C	H	E	S	T	O
T	I	S	A		M	E	T	A			K	A	Z	O	O	R	I	E	S
A	I	C	U	S	E		G	I	L	D
C	A	I	N	I	E		O	W	N		B	O	A	R	D
I	R	O	N	S	I	D	E	S			E	L	G	A	R
D	U	N	E		D	U	I	N	T		E	A	S	E
S	S	R		A	N	D	Y		M	O	S	E	I	D

10/31/88



©1988 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

10/31/88

Menu

Lunch
Barbequed Pork on a Bun
Cheese Mushroom Fondue Bake

Dinner
Turkey Divan
Fish Fry/Tartar Sauce

Basics Lunch
Humus Vegetable Pocket Sandwich
Cheese Mushroom Fondue Bake

Basics Dinner
Garden Medley Casserole
Turkey Divan

Weather

Today: Sunny, high in the mid 40s.
Tonight: Clear and cold, low near 20.
Tomorrow: Sunny, high near 50.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Matt Gerke
Copy Editor.....Yana Diugy
Layout Technician.....Florencio Terra
Photo Technician.....Andrew Rist
Production Supervisor.....Rob Levine
Production.....Wendy Rae, Kim, Tricia, Nicole, Mike, Britt, and Matt's hoping to make it to Ware before dawn.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscriptions Manager

STUDENTS
DON'T FORGET

TO NOMINATE YOUR FAVORITE FACULTY TEACHER OR TA/TO FOR THE DISTINGUISHED TEACHERS AWARD

DEADLINE: Nov. 4, 1988

SUBMIT TO:
DTA COMMITTEE
GRADUATE DEAN'S OFFICE
A217 GRADUATE RESEARCH
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

Five College Communities
Alcohol Awareness Week

October 31-November 4, 1988

Be a Lifesaver:
Don't Drink and Drive

Have you been touched by an alcohol-related driving death?

Create a memorial flag and attend a memorial service and call-to-action.

"Remembering Loved Ones"

featuring Doris Aiken, founder and president of Remove Intoxicated Drivers.

Thursday, November 3, 1988
4:00 PM
Amherst Town Common
(In case of rain, Bangs Community Center)

For information about other events and memorial flags:

Amherst College Health Services	542-2286	Northampton Nursing Intervention Program	586-0500 ext. 298
Smith College Health Services	585-2501	UMass Health Services	545-2331 ext. 481
Mt. Holyoke Alcohol Awareness Project	538-2046-2616	UMass EAP	545-0186
Hampshire College Health Services	549-4600 ext. 456	Housing Services, Residential Ed	545-0422
Multi Services, Health	241-2800	Amherst Health Dept.	549-3497

THE BODY SHOP

Announces the Grand Opening of the Kennedy & J. Adams Fitness Centers

Join and be eligible for the drawing of a

Miyata 18 speed Mountain Bike

a

Rossignol X-C Ski Package

Courtesy Peloton Sports
(Ranked –1 in the Valley by the 1988 Advocate Poll)

or

Two $50 Gift Certificates

Courtesy Fenton Sports
(Ranked –1 in the Valley by the 1988 Advocate Poll)

Only members signed up by Nov. 1 are eligible
Sign up at:
19th floor J. Adams
12th floor Kennedy
Totman Basement

Drawing to take place at 7:00 pm Nov. 1 in the Kennedy Body Shop Fitness Center

■ women's soccer

continued from page 12

in. Sophomore April Kater slipped a pass between two defenders to Beth Roundtree. The senior drove to the end line and hit a high cross past Szpara to the left post, where Michelle Powers was waiting to head in the shot. The Boyden crowd of about 500 erupted and the Minutewomen looked inspired.

That all changed quickly, though. With 29:30 to play, Laura Jones' soft shot from 25 yards out somehow eluded DeSantis, a deflating goal that gave Colorado a 2-1 edge. Just three minutes later, it became 3-1 as Meg Williams broke down the left side and crossed to ball into the box, where Thompson redirected it on a header inside the left post.

"To come back right after they scored was a brilliant effort on our part," said Colorado coach Dang Pibulvech.

Despite the fact that it was a two-goal game, it was an exciting, well-played and enjoyable contest between two of the top teams in the nation.

"It was a great game for the spectators. We had a great crowd and they saw a fabulous game," Rudy said.

"Those were two great teams out there," Pibulvech said.

■ men's soccer

continued from page 12

UMass' Dan Lawrence and Pete McEvoy in particular responded to the challenge posed by Scarlet superstars Dave Mueller and Lino DiCuollo and Co. offensively. "McEvoy shut down their key player (Mueller), he made a mockery of him," praised Martin.

Through 90 minutes of regulation play, and two 15 minute overtimes, neither team stepped forward and broke the ice. UMass' best chance came in the waning moments of the second half, when Carl Hanks snuck in behind the Rutgers defense and found himself with the soccer ball, face-to-face with top-rated goaltender Dave Barrueta. Hanks pushed his golden opportunity wide of the net, ensuring overtime.

UMass goalkeeper Sam Ginzburg kept the Scarlet Knights off the board in the first half with a diving save off a free kick from just outside of the penalty area, as the ball threatened to spin its way into the upper reaches of the net.

■ field hockey

continued from page 12

coach Pam Hixon said. "I did not feel the second penalty stroke was a good call by the officials."

That goal loomed big as freshman Dawn Trumbauer scored her second unassisted goal of the game with eight seconds left in the first half to bring the Minutewomen within a goal at 3-2 going into halftime.

In the second half, UMass outshot the Huskies by a 7-2 margin. But the Minutewomen could not break UConn goalie Megan Tiley and when UMass' leading scorer Kathy DeAngelis was hit in the cheek causing a black eye that was almost closed, UMass chances were even more diminished.

"I think the BU game [Wednesday] took its toll physically on us," Hixon said. "UConn played well, we just lacked the finish on our plays."

The Campus Center
Coffee Shop
On The Concourse

THE $2.00 SPECIAL
Includes: Cup of Soup
King Neptune
(Fried fish on a roll with lettuce and tartar sauce)
SPECIAL AVAILABLE THRU 11/4/88 $2.00

Coffee Shop Hours:
7:00 AM-3:00 PM Monday-Friday
Closed Weekends

DVP PRESENTS:
Randy Shilts
on:
AIDS
"Politics, People and the AIDs Epidemic"
TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 1 AT 8:00 PM
CAMPUS CENTER AUDITORIUM . FREE distinguished visitors program

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO
AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS
ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT
FOR SALE • FOUND
HELP WANTED • LOST

INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES
PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED
RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES
ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL
WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30) • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

SAVE MONEY ON home heating oil. Join the Pioneer Valley Oil Coop. Come by Off Campus Housing 428 Student Union

UPC GENERAL MEETING 6:30, Tuesday, Nov. 1 at Earthfoods.

ARMENIAN CLUB MEETING on Tuesday Nov 1 at 7:00. Check at information desk for meeting location

NSA FRIDAY NIGHT VIDEO Never Cry Wolf. 7:00pm Front Lounge of Newman Center FREE

EVER PLAY CHESS? Learn game or teach us to play. Tuesday nights, Campus Center 7:00pm Check info desk for room

COME EXPLORE THE joys at Chabad House, great company, good food. 30 N. Hadley Rd. 549-4094

EAT TOWARD YOUR HEART'S CONTENT - Workshop to meet food compulsions. Sat., Nov. 5. 10:00-5:00. Led by Shaifya Finger, LICSW. Call 665-4665.

THIS WEEK ON DAMAGE INCORPORATED- Queensryche is gonna get close to you. Tune into WMUA Wednesday at 9:30pm

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22. Sign up on concourse Oct. 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Massprg and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-6434

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics. Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306

APARTMENTS AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS 2 BEDROOM UNITS on 19 acres of country land. Ample off street parking and free bus service to UMass and shopping areas. Call 665-3856

AUTO FOR SALE

1978 NEW STICKER runs good $800 BO Call 549-7546

1968 CAMARO CLASSIC reliable looks hot 549-1256 John 11am-6pm $1300

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 spd Dark grey new tires, rims runs very well $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184

81 TOYOTA COROLLA excellent condition, low mileage, am/fm cass., air, 5 spd 256-0969 evenings

1970 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires. $2,500. Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE - Over 700 CD's Great Sound! All occassions 549-1421

THE COLLEGIAN IS GOING TO provide a drop spot for students interested in making David's dream come true. David is a boy sick with Leukemia and wants to get in the Guiness Book for the largest postcard collection. So let's help him out! Drop your stamped postcards at the Collegian 113 CC.

ENTERTAINMENT

KLUBKAVE D.J. SERVICES - Professional music system at unbeatable prices. 546-6518

BAD GRADES IS THE BAND for your next part. Don't wait call 256-0543

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Disc-jockeys and large screen video dances. Dorms/organizations 256-8526.

FOR SALE

PIONEER KPX9000 car stereo cassette supertuner. w/amp. 534-5162 evening 737-1715 days

A BRAND NEW Smith Corona electric typewriter asking $80 call 546-8411 Leave message

MOTOBECANE 10-SPEED BIKE Quick-release front wheel, shimano components good condition! Only $90. Call Lee at 546-4813

GUITAR AND AMP. Very good condition $275 or BO. Call Keith 548-9660.

GUCCI WATCHES only $35 many styles guaranteed. Great for gifts. Call Brian 549-5440

SKI BOOTS, KOFLACH CE PRO, rear entry, air lit. Men's size 10. $50 546-8035

1986 HONDA ACCORD. New parts B O Gary 253-5907

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406

COMMERCIAL FUSSBALL TABLE $300 and other games 247-9055

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket. Call David 1-566-8212

PIONEER DUAL STEREO cassette deck $100 call Laura at 6-8021

FOUND

MOTORCYCLE HELMET and gloves. Call 665-8238.

SET OF KEYS in front of ATG many keys on ring no key chain Call 545-2152 ask for Vicki

FUNDRAISING

HEY! DOES YOUR CLUB OR organization need money? Recent graduate now works for a professional fundraising company. Candy bars, M&M's, magazine subscriptions and more! Please call Linda at 538-8343 and leave message.

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget! Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St. Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin. We deliver

HELP WANTED

BABYSITTER NEEDED FOR 3 lovely children Tuesday eve 630-1030 (children will be in bed), Sat AM for 2 hrs - must enjoy reading, talking walks please. Call 256-0829

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring, excellent benefits. Call 1-312-741-8400 Ext. J-9931A

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information 504-641-8003 Ext. 598

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865

HOLLY HUNTER???

BOO!! HEY, HOO THE heck is Holly Hunter? -Ferris
P.P. Happy Halloween everybody (yes, that includes all you bros and sis in Sig I Chi!!) Get Psyched

JOSEPHINE BARBERIO

WE HOPE YOU HAVE A fantastic birthday on this very "scary" day. If you're good, be very, very good, but if your bad...we'll forgive you! Love your Roomies, Michal and Karen

LOST

LOST- BLACK BELT - Looks like snake - between Machmer and Bartlett. If found please call 546-6963. Thanks

$100 REWARD

For black leather jacket lost Saturday. Brandywine. Reward more than value of jacket 549-7464

REWARD! CASH! REWARD!

For return of JVC slide deck no questions. Very important! Please call leave name & number or any information 546-5079

HELP! LOST GLASSES in a light blue case with rainbow stripes. If found please call Stephanie at 545-2152

REWARD! LIQUOR ID & DRIVERS LIC lost 10/14. Please call N. Turney 6-4726

LOST MASS LIQUOR ID Sharon Levy. If found please call 253-9916 monetary reward

MOTORCYCLES

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD. Helmet, cover shield $850. Joe 549-7423. Evenings

PERSONALS

FLO MERKL: Wishing you the most amazing day- We find it incredibly amazing how you can be 24 one day and then turn 21! Who gets to be Alice now?- Love, your Sisters

JOSEPHINE: IT CAN'T BE THAT bad to be born on Halloween, huh? Have a great day - Love, your Sisters

MARTY ROBINSON Here's your personal because you are special! Happy birthday! Love ya lots, Linda

KATHY Y. Happy 21 birthday. Have a great night, but not too great! I love you, but don't tell anyone - Jay

THIS IS IT ADAM You are the star of the day. Happy Halloween

"MESSING AROUND" (Who do you think you're trying to kid) Manipulative/disassociative-OBJECTIVE COMPLETE

SUSAN GEORGE, Assistant Business Manager for the Collegian Acs Acs Congrats we love and miss you The UMass Women's Swim Team

C.A.B. I LOVE YOU MORE! Happy 16th! Love, Sneak

HEALING RITUAL, you're awesome. Great party Saturday night keep on rockin' -good luck. Chem Club

HEY PINHEAD, how about spitting out the spoon? Good luck in the Marines. Hope you can sew on patches. Guess

MARY B. - Everyone has their differences, let's not let ours stand in the way. Our memories of yesterday will last a lifetime. I love you. Linda

1989 COLLEGE SKI WEEKS******

Destinations: Lake Tahoe-heavenly Vermont-Sugarbush, Smuggler's Notch, Killington Ski all day/party all night. For lowest prices call 546-6612 or 546-5242

TO THE MAN IN the brown leather jacket in Cancer class. You not only warm my hands but my heart. I love you. B.A.L.

SIGMAS, HALLOWEEN and CAL's 21st birthday! Pretty scary! Happy birthday Cal. We love you!

TO THE GUY - 4.7 Botany 175 class. You sit behind me, towards the back and I want you to know I think your good looking TRI SIGS! Only 5 days left- get your dates girls and get psyched for an amazing time!

BORA TO MY FAVORITE mammal I love you (are you happy now?) Love Me. PS Happy Halloween

TONIGHT-FULL MOON- Midnight-Subliminal subjagation-you-DRACULESS! (Beware Peasant)

HEY YOU SLICK at the UCC. What were you for Halloween? The other Slick at the UCC

DONNA F. CAN'T BE at the Newman on Sunday. If possible, same time on Monday? See you then

ROOMATE WANTED

IMMEDIATELY! LARGE BEDROOM kitchen, living room, dining room, cable tv, swimming pool. Located across Stop & Shop. 256-8086

ONE OR TWO FEMALE ROOMATES needed to take over lease for Southwood townehouse apartment for Spring semester. Call Julie 253-3031.

APARTMENT MATE WANTED. Nice Northampton location. Call Greg at 584-7400 message

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550

SERVICES

PROFESSIONAL TYPING, letter-quality printing $2 page, Patty 585-0425

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor. Call Carolyn-leave message 253-5667

ACCURACY GUARANTEED. Reasonable, fast. Basic editing. Foreign languages. Gloria 323-5140

TYPING. TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate. 253-WORD

ABLE TYPIST, basic editing, competitive rates, decent location. 253-5202

ST. JUDE

MOST HOLY APOSTLE, St. Jude, Faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the church honors and invokes you, universally, as the patron of hopless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use I implore you, of that particular priviledge given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings, and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise on blessed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you. AMEN

TRAVEL

WANT TO GO TO Florida on Dec 22? Drive with 3 people - must help drive and pay for gas. Call 549-9985

RUSSIA: MOSCOW, Kiev, Leningrad Jan 8-21. $1588 complete from NY. Call Prof. Jones, 253-7827, evenings after 7:00.

WANTED

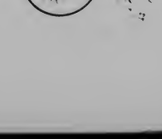
FREE KITTEN, 9 weeks old wants a good owner. With all necessary equipment (litter, toys). Please!! Call 549-3683

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hurns) notes. will pay money$$. Shirley 549-2710.

WANTED TO RENT

TWO FEMALE STUDENTS looking to move off campus spring semester if you have room available call Allison 546-7003 or Pam 546-7214

IT PAYS TO BE CURIOUS



SPORTS

Minutemen get by Northeastern, 21-6

By MATT GERKE
Collegian Staff

It wasn't overly impressive and it wasn't all that exciting.

But it was a win and that's exactly what the University of Massachusetts football team needed.

The Minutemen, smarting from two consecutive Yankee Conference losses, improved to 5-3 on Saturday by beating Northeastern 21-6 Saturday before 7,240 fans at Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium..

"It was a non-conference game after a tragic loss[10-7 to Delaware]," UMass head coach Jim Reid said. "We were fighting to practice hard all week. I felt that we were not going to be in top form."

That turned out to be correct, despite fine performances from the defense and senior quarterback Dave Palazzi.

The defense turned in another good performance, holding Northeastern freshman quarterback Byron Hurt to just nine yards passing and the Huskies to just 254 yards in total offense.

Senior linebacker John McKeown had 20 tackles for UMass, while Matt Tulley added 13 and George Karelas had 12.

And Palazzi threw for 174 yards and rushed for a 103 yards and a touchdown. It was the first time in Palazzi's career that he rushed for more than 100 yards.

But UMass also turned the ball over four times, lost 109 yards in penalties, and should have scored more points against the Huskies.

"It was an ugly win," Palazzi said. "Last week we had an ugly loss. The only difference was we won this one."

Collegian photo by Andrew Bist

Fullback Jim Pastorick and the Minutemen ran past Northeastern, 21-6, Saturday at Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium.

A big reason for that was a stand the UMass defense made late in the fourth quarter, when Northeastern had a 4th-and-1 at the UMass 15. Harold Scott took a handoff and was stuffed by Karelas.

"Joe [Cullen, the noseguard] hit him low and I just cleaned him up," Karelas said.

"That play was big," Reid said. "We gambled that they would give it to the fullback. If they had ran an option, it probably would have been a touchdown."

"At that point it was our game to control but we didn't get it," Northeastern coach Paul Pawlak said. "It was a great defensive play. We've got to take advantage of our opportunities."

UMass took advantage of an opportunity and got on the board on tailback Kevin Smellie's 1-yard leap into the end zone with 8:09 left in the second quarter, and Silvio Bonvini added the extra point to make it 7-0.

The Minutemen had a chance to double that lead when free safety Pat Doran turned in the first of his two big plays.

On a second-and-20 from the UMass 40, Hurt threw to Calvin Johnson near the 20. Doran stripped the ball and then recovered to give UMass the ball

On the very first play, Palazzi connected with Chip Mitchell for a 41-yard gain down the left sideline. But three plays later, on first and 10 from the Northeastern 16, Palazzi was blindsided and fumbled, and the Huskies recovered

"David missed some things today and did we waste some opportunities," Reid said. "At the half, we'd have been satisfied with 10-0. Against the wishbone, with one more score, it would have been Katy bar the door against our defense."

The UMass defense was able to control the Huskies, holding Johnson, the leading rusher, to 62 yards.

"The wishbone was tough," UMass cornerback Andrew Thomas said. "We had to be very disciplined, but I think we handled it well."

Early in the second half, UMass gave its defense another 7 points to work with. Palazzi ran around left end 46 yards to give the Minutemen a first-and-goal from the 2, where Steve Olson scored.

"We had tried that play earlier," Palazzi said, describing his big gain. "If I get around the corner and the wide receivers make their blocks, then that's how the play should work. The wideouts held their blocks that time and the offensive line did a great job."

Following the touchdown, Northeastern drove to the UMass 5, but Doran intercepted a pass in the end zone to give the Minutemen possession.

"They were in the wishbone with a double tight end," Doran said. "My job is to look for the tight end and I saw him break outside so I sprinted over there. I don't think either one of them [quarterback or tight end] saw me coming."

The Huskies got their points in a strange way. On a 4th-and-6 from the UMass 47, Bill Sansone punted. But the ball hit UMass' Lance Neveling, and Northeastern recovered at the UMass 7

"We had a breakdown on special teams," Reid said.

Three plays later, Johnson scored from the 1 to make it 14-6 Thomas blocked the extra point

Palazzi scored with 11 seconds left to finish the scoring.

'David gave us some really big plays," Reid said. "But we made too many mistakes. We just weren't sharp, but we didn't fall in the tank."

Bad weekend for Minutewomen

• Soccer team stopped by No. 4 Colorado College, 3-1 • Field hockey edged out by rival Connecticut, 3-2

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

The Colorado College women's soccer team put a damper on the spirits of a Spirit Day crowd yesterday at Boyden Field by beating the University of Massachusetts, 3-1.

The game marked the end of the regular season for the Minutewomen, now 14-2-1. UMass will now sit back and wait for the pairings for the NCAA Tournament to be announced today.

The second-ranked Minutewomen were looking to get a big lift going into the postseason against the No. 4 Tigers, but Colorado, also 14-2-1, used its speed and crisp passing to deal UMass a tough loss.

"We played well, but if we give up three goals, we're not going to win," UMass coach Jim Rudy said. "We were in a hole the whole time."

UMass threatened in the early part of the game, pressuring the Tiger defense and goalkeeper Janine Szpara. But the Minutewomen couldn't break through, and it took a tough call against the Minutewomen for Colorado to start off the scoring.

Freshman forward Karla Thompson drove toward the box, guarded by two defenders. When she went to get off a shot, she was knocked down, and the referee awarded Colorado with a penalty kick.

"It seemed like a soft penalty," Rudy said.

Nonetheless, Colorado capitalized, as junior Shelley Separovich caught goalkeeper Carla DeSantis going to the left and slipped it into the right side, giving the Tigers a 1-0 lead with 17:30 left in the first half.

The first half ended at 1-0, but the Minutewomen weren't about to let that hold up. Putting furious pressure on in the second half, it paid off less than five minutes

continued on page 11

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts field hockey team definitely did not want to end its regular season the way it did on Saturday in Storrs, Conn.

The Minutewomen, ranked No. 3 in the country, lost a 3-2 game to the University of Connecticut, ranked No. 10 in the nation by the same NCAA poll.

UMass was banged up coming into the game, and was without the services of their second leading scorer, Tonia Kennedy, who sat out the game with a hamstring pull.

Kennedy's injury was one big loss for the Minutewomen, 15-2-1. And when senior goaltender Cindy Cox hurt her ankle during warm-up, she was forced to play at less than 100 percent. Coupled with the playing conditions on the field, Cox would have a very tough day ahead of her.

"I found the field was very bumpy and the goalie area was as chewed up, so Cindy had to be careful," UMass coach Pam Hixon said.

There was one play in the game when the officials thought that Cox had been too careful, and that one play ended up costing the Minutewomen the game.

The play occurred with just 47 seconds left in the first half. After Cox saved a Huskie shot, the ball bounced out where a UConn player was waiting.

But the officials said that Cox had covered up the ball and therefore awarded a penalty stroke to UConn. But Hixon disagreed, saying that the ball was clearly in play.

Senior captain Diane Madl took the penalty stroke for UConn, 12-3-1, and beat Cox to give the Huskies a 3-1 lead.

"I think the first penalty stroke was justified," UMass

continued on page 11

Men's soccer ties up Rutgers, 0-0

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's soccer team escaped from New Brunswick, NJ with a 0-0 tie (read victory) over the Scarlet Knights of Rutgers University Friday night in double overtime, leaving a stunned nationally-ranked soccer team and a stadium full of its relentlessly noisy supporters in its rear-view mirror.

Rutgers entered the contest as the No. 14 team in the nation, and with most of its post-season eggs in the basket marked 'beat UMass.' The Minutemen came to town, meanwhile, with no more than two games left to play before season's end, and a 1-5 history of self-destruction on the road this fall.

The moral victory shows up in the tie column of the Minutemen's 8-8-1 record. Rutgers, meanwhile, saw its record extend to 10-3-5, and 1-0-3 in the all-important Atlantic 10 East.

The significance of this effort for the Minutemen cannot be detailed in numbers or records, however. For a relatively young team that has battled its own tentativeness all season, Friday's effort will be most permanently recorded in the back of UMass' collective soccer mind for a while yet to come.

"This shows the talent that we do have when we're ready to play, and mentally tough," said UMass assistant coach John Martin. "Rutgers was the best team we faced this year, they deserved to be a Top 20 team, and we played up to their level. For 120 minutes we were all there, everyone was intense. The fact that we were playing Rutgers really had the team ready to play."

continued on page 11

Volleyball falls to URI

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

The University of Rhode Island's volleyball team has virtually dominated the Atlantic 10 [with the exception of Penn State] this year, so when the WRams butted heads with the University of Massachusetts on Saturday, the WRams were better butters.

URI took the Minutewomen in three straight games 5-15, 8-15, 11-15, handing UMass a loss in its last conference game of the season [4-4 overall].

Rhody is either first or second in five of the six A-10 statistical categories, and it has one of the top players in the entire conference, Christine Gallery (A-10 Player of the Week last week).

According to UMass coach Carol Ford, the Minutewomen played well but were simply overwhelmed by the powerful URI team.

"We lost in three but I was real happy with the way we played," Ford said. "They're [URI] stronger than us and they're having a great season."

Each game the Minutewomen got a little closer, improving as each game went by.

UMass was paced by seniors Barbara Meehan and Julie Smith who each had eight kills. UMass had 31 total kills.

"Barbara Meehan had an outstanding match. Barb almost played better in the back row than the front," Ford said. "Both Barb and Juliet Primer [3 kills] blocked really well." In the first game, UMass had more opportunities than points, according to Ford.

"We didn't put the ball on the floor. Their defense is really good and it isn't an easy task," she said. "URI really dominated and we knew we could play a lot better."

"In the second [game], we played a little better and got some points."

There wasn't much UMass could do. They were trailing 2-0 and Gallery was keeping the Minutewomen off pace.

"She played outstanding. I think she's one of the best all-around players in the conference. They're going to nominate her for All-American. She deserves to be nominated," Ford said.

The third game showcased UMass' best performance of the afternoon but it still wasn't enough.

"The third game was definitely the best, we were in there the whole time," Ford said.

The loss drops UMass to 16-4 and clears the way for the Atlantic 10 tourney in three weeks at Penn State.

UMass plays tomorrow at the University of Connecticut.

WYMMIN AT ISSUE

"Creep Alert" offers tips

By MARIA SPAGHETTI
Collegian Malevolent

Male chauvinists are common sights in America, like soap scum or lint in the clothes dryer: insignificant yet incredibly irritating, a spokesperson from the University of Massachusetts "Creep Alert" division said yesterday.

Lotta Gutz, division administrator said the "Creeps" are often camouflaged in uptight Izod-Lacoste sweaters and button-down collars or casually dressed in an unbuttoned satin shirt crammed into an obscene pair of tight jeans.

"They are extremely easy to spot," Gutz said, adding that favorite Creep accessories are simulated gold chains strung around the neck that make them resemble wind chimes.

Gutz warned that parties and other festive events are mating grounds for this species. Fortunately, she said, the Creeps emit telltale warning signals.

"A Creep's cologne is usually a brand that is named for an extremely powerful animal and smells worse," she said."A popular brand is 'eau de warthog.'".

The odorous creature attacks women with "pick-up lines" such as, "Didn't I see you pumping gas?" to "I know you think I don't remember you, babe, but..."

Such social mechanisms are quite annoying, Gutz said, and promised the UMass Creep Alert division will not abandon University women.

If approached by a Creep who attempts to verbally assault you by making conversation, Gutz said, it is essential to your survival not to walk away.

"Run, run like hell," she said. The course you choose may save you endless hours of listening to why his latest girlfriend 'just doesn't understand,' while you wonder why he thinks you'd want to, Gutz said.

There are other ways to prevent social interaction with this species ranging from accidentally spilling your drink on his Gucci shoes to forcibly vomiting all over him, Gutz said.

"The latter is a tad extreme but also highly effective," she said.

Women live in an imperfect world and there are those who fail to protect themselves, consequently becoming trapped in the species' egotistical world, Gutz said.

"This can happen to you," she said. "It is your responsibility to take all necessary precautions because he certainly won't."

In order to prevent this "Creep Entrapment," you must be aware of this species' "Incognito Mode," Gutz said.

The friendly neighborhood Creep demonstrates a dazzling form of pseudo-sincerity and will usually be dressed in a nondescript blue cardigan and generic sneakers, she said.

This Creep form will gallantly open your car door or shed tears as he confides his secret grief over his pet goldfish, Barry's recent demise, Gutz said.

"Women are usually overwhelmed by this show of emotion," she said. "But remember that it is not inherent. He has studied long and hard to become the sniffling sophisticate before you."

Creep Alert scientists are in the process of developing a Creep repellent, Gutz said. Until the repellent is available, she advised women to watch for tell-tale errors that Creeps are prone to make.

"For instance, an error will occur when the Creep stares deep into your eyes and says, "Why don't you go into the kitchen and make me a tuna sandwich, like a good girl?" she said.

Do not feel pity as you "toss" him the tuna sandwich, can and all, Gutz said. "While he is unconscious, let all of the air out of his car tires. His mind will clear as he waits for the tow truck to arrive, allowing him to realize his mistake."

Diet and weight loss tips

If you are counting calories these days, don't forget to include the ones you burn in bed.

ACTIVITY	CALORIES BURNED
GETTING INTO BED..
Lifting partner	250
Dragging partner along floor	350
Using skateboard	40
UNHOOKING BRA..
Using two calm hands	10
Using one trembling hand	96
ACHIEVING ERECTION..
For normal healthy man	2.5
For normal healthy woman	549
Losing erection	0.5
Retreiving it	600
PUTTING ON RUBBER
If man does it	40
If woman does it	70
If woman does it sensually	170
INSERTING DIAPHRAGM..
If the woman who does it is:
Experienced	15
Inexperienced	90
If a man does it regardless of experience	520
INSERTION..
If woman is ready	12
If man is not	275
ORGASM..
Real	4
Faked	400
ORGASM INTENSITY SCALE..
Expression didn't change	0.5
Orchestra played	16
Birds sang:
Large birds	22
Small birds	14
Earth moved	30
Car rolled off look-out hill	130
SIDE EFFECTS
Fluttering stomach	18
Nervous laughter	38
Screaming and yelling	132
PENIS ENVY
For woman	13
For man	76
AGGRAVATION FACTORS.
Partner is taking phone calls	12
Partner is making phone calls	40
Partner is reading a book or magazine	30
POSITIONS..
Missionary	45
Soixante neuf (69)	69
Doggie fashion	120
Doggie with barking and yelping	150

PU Photo

Sandra and Sondra Davies of Bel Air California won the first ever Siamese Twin Beauty Contest. The Davies, who are joined at the cheek, won the contest because of their superior talent portion performance. Sandra patted her head while Sondra rubbed circles on her stomach.

Bill to legalize pornography

By TURNER ROSE
Collegate Solutions

Pornography used to be a dirty word, but the enaction of a new Congressional bill may give it a respectable hue and increase the status level of the industry. Since Congress cannot control the $2.5 billion pornography industry, it has taken the next logical step and joined the business hoping America will profit.

This source of income awaits those on Welfare, who are debtors to the nation. They will undertake apprenticeships through the government to create porn magazines and films.

Initially, women will start out in front of the camera while men will take pictures and work on production. But, women will soon attain higher positions to reflect the well-balanced, strong state of equality in America today.

This act will give money and housing to the needy. Welfare mothers who must feed their children Spaghettios and Cap't. Crunch, can afford luxuries like cheese and bread. The poor will be moved from the street to clean housing projects and the government will provide health checkups every six months.

REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS

UNIVERSAL CAFE
EVERY TUESDAY BLUES JAM w/ [illegible]'s Blue Bill FREE
THURSDAY NOV. 3 THE LYRES w/ The Malarians $5
FRIDAY NOV. 4 DREAMS SO REAL w/ The Grave Gods
All ages show sponsored by [illegible] 6:30 p.m. Nightime Show at 9:30 p.m. $5 Arista recording artists from Athens GA
SATURDAY NOV. 5 COMEDY with LAs, NYs and Boston's Finest 8-10 pm
AFTERWARDS THE INCREDIBLE CASUALS
$7 for Comedy & Music, $5 for Music
SUNDAY NOV. 6 THE CONNELLS
Nov. 10 LOOSE CABOOSE
NOV. 11 EVAN JOHNS & THE H-BOMBS
NOV. 12 COMEDY/MIGHTY SAM McCLAIN
NOV. 17 DUMPTRUCK
DEC. 1 THE JAMES COTTON BAND
DEC. 9 TREAT HER RIGHT
DEC. 12 THE SCREAMING TRIBESMEN
U.J.s downstairs at [illegible] Northampton 584-7771

REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS REAL ADS

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11 a.m.
• 7 Days A Week • Call for Take Out •
Kitchen Open 'till Midnight
Pool Table, Video Games, Juke Box, 3 Color TV's
Most Bar Seats In Town
MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL SPECIAL
Mozzerella Sticks 9 - 12
Celebrate Halloween with us!
IRISH COFFEE $1.95 Drink of the Week
DOS EQUIS $1.50 Beer of the Month
10th Anniversary 1978 - 1988
Good Food & Drink

TOTAL FITNESS
AEROBICS • NAUTILUS
SELF DEFENSE
10% STUDENT DISCOUNT
A symbol of quality for 7 years
Voted "Best of the Valley" For Health Fitness Centers in '84, '85, '87, '88
KARATE
Health Fitness Ctr.

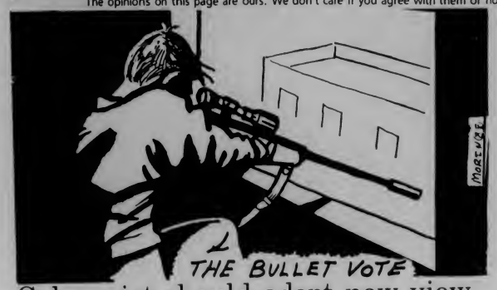
The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

BORED OF EDITORS

PEDRO POTATO, Editor for Life; VIDAL SASSON, Managing Editor; MORTON DOWNEY, News Editor; RABID BARK, Bias Editor; THAT GERBIL, Jock's Editor; JIM CLAHHK, Jock's Editor; JOSEPH'S ILL, Black Affairs Editor; NATALIE MERCHANT, Farts Editor; RICCI CAPPUCCINO, Coffee Editor-elect; KAREEM ABDUL—WARNER, Wymmin At Issue Editor; MARIA SPAGHETTI, Wymmin At Issue Editor; THOMAS RUBBERBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

Bias/Spew

The opinions on this page are ours. We don't care if you agree with them or not. We don't listen to you, and do you really think we read your letters anyway?



Columnist should adopt new view

I was greatly offended by the joke about golf balls that Ima Nitpicker wrote in her column ("The dumbest cause of all," Oct. 30). She is obviously insensitive to the issues of golf ball oppression. Fascist pigs such as her should be drawn and quartered for their violent and oppressive attitudes.

I can tell you they experience plenty of social injustice. They are kidnapped for the pleasure of the rich. They are subjected to the most brutal types of treatment. They are struck by clubs. If they are lucky, the blow will dull their senses and keep them from feeling further pain. The unlucky ones will be flung into a pond, and die a watery death.

It seems to me that Nitpicker is a disgusting and vile swine with no sense of humanity. I hope she dies a painful death.

U.R. Wrong
Amherst

Meet Your Favorite Meat

JOIN THE MEAT OF THE MONTH CLUB

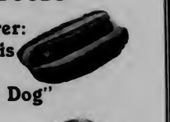
OCTOBER IS Pork MONTH

This month's featured topic:

"The Joys of Spam"

Tonight 8:00 p.m.
EARTHFOODS

Next month's guest lecturer:
Oscar Mayer presents his controversial treatise, "Existentialism and the Hot Dog"



In the words of national spokesman James Garner
"Remember folks, with the holiday season approaching meat makes a great gift."

I'm not only the president I'm a member!

The spew queen speaks

Legal drugs are oppressive

I've had enough of these pro- and anti-drug legalization people preaching to me about drugs. Let me tell you people something right now, both of you types are communist pigs.

Inita Lude

Drug legalization would be disastrous. Who cares if it would supposedly reduce crime? So what? Biiiiig deal. I'm just thrilled, my friends. I am just thrilled that the US government make money in Mafia-style tactics. Yeah, get them addicted to drugs. That'll make 'em obey us. Oh, yeah, and let's not forget that legalizing drugs will make the Washington kewpie dolls able to tax the hell out of them. How much do you want to bet they give themselves mega raises with that money?

I use drugs. I do so many chemicals that DuPont wants to use me for research. I have a great time when I do drugs. But I am not for legalization. Consider:

- Legalization would create utter chaos in the drug culture. I know the wussies that want this law would reduce the strength of such fun drugs as cocaine, quaaludes, marijuana, PCP, LSD, mescaline, and speed. This means we would have to buy at least twice the amount to get our regular dosage, and pay the taxes to boot. No thank you, Uncle Sam. I'll stick with the quality stuff, even if it is illegal.
- Legalization would make it impossible to make any extra money. I sometimes sell drugs to pay the rent. With legalization, drugs would be sold in the local CVS. Who needs that?
- Stronger types of drugs would be developed. Since all of the drugs that would be legal would be weak, stronger drugs which exceed the FDA's guidelines of strength would be sold by the dealers. These drugs would be more dangerous, causing more deaths.
- Who knows who would try drugs with legalization? Housewives/husbands, executives, lawyers, surgeons, priests, politicians, the list goes on. It is a scary thought indeed (except for the politicians, whom I've always suspected of doing hard drugs, anyway). The last thing I'd want is to have my face rearranged by a surgeon when all I needed was a tonsillectomy. These guys handle sharp objects. I don't need them having bad flashbacks when I go under the knife.
- Drugs would no longer be hip. Who wants to do them if every person wearing polyester is doing them? Ugh.
- There would be no more good books, movies, or ABC After School specials. How could there be when there's no drug problem? If kids stopped doing them, no writer could bemoan their loss of innocence and win an Emmy award. Besides, I'd miss the ABC After School Special. It's fun to watch while you're shrooming. This deprivation of art in our society is a crime.
- The NRA would suffer immeasurably. After all, they are for supplying the guns that the gangs use to protect their territories.
- The children would suffer. These inner-city children have nowhere else to go. They need a secure group setting. Most gangs provide this. This would create more social programs for the brats, and I, for one, am paying enough taxes out of the pay I get at McDonald's. I don't want to pay anymore. Let the gangs take care of them. It's free, at least.

Drug legalization is the first step towards opression. There would be disaster among the poor, riots in the cities, stoned doctors, a loss of art, and bad quality drugs. Why not regulate the pushers, and make sure the stuff is good, the prices reasonable, and the atmosphere safe.

Drugs aren't bad. Why, I'm tripping right now.

Inita Lude is a Collegian columnist who is currently thrilled with the plaid pattern that just formed on the ceiling.

Out of the funny farm

Exploding people abound

There is a problem rampant on this campus that I think people should know about. It is a problem that could affect every last one of us at any time, yet nothing has been printed in this or any other paper.

Peter Looke

Strange things are afoot.

People are exploding.

I'm not crazy. People are just bursting into flames. Sometimes it's while they're walking to class. Sometimes it's while they're studying in the Hatch. Sometimes it's on one of those big white buses.

No one but me seems to notice. No one wants to go out of their way to help a person whether they're on fire or merely smoldering a little bit. This is despicable. Here we are, a bunch of healthy young, supposedly concerned people and yet with people bursting into flames all around us no one lifts a finger to help.

Another thing, people are disappearing. Not a lot at a time. No, that would be much too obvious. They're much too clever for that. Who are "they," you might ask? The secret commando thought police operating out of the supposed "police substation" in Washington Tower.

People think it's business as usual, but I know what's really going on in there. They are seizing people who are against the system and changing their minds through shock and drug therapy. I've heard their screams in the night. Have you ever noticed that there's a new cause every semester? Where are all those people who protested the new alcohol policy last semester? What about the CIA protestors? That's right, they're all gone.

In fact, members of the administration that speak against the leadership of the university (everybody knows they really hate us) are being plucked from their beds in the middle of the night and taken to a dark and secret place in the very bowels of Whitmore, where they are "reeducated" alongside those guys who had the big Barties and James bottle at those rallies.

When the men in the black suits who come in the night are done with their hapless victims they push them, unseeing and unthinking back into the "real" world, usually some Chancellor's reception or similar event, where their vapid, vacuous expressions don't seem out of place at all.

People have to be careful. They have to look over their shoulders. The whole university is bugged, especially the bathrooms. They want to know all our secrets.

One last thing. I think people are being replaced. I don't know who is doing it, but people are definitely different. Dogs, too. My dog has different color eyes today than he did yesterday. They were light blue before and now they are kind of a pale blue.

My roommate is different too. Not brainwashed by the secret police, I don't think, but just different. I've been seeing strange lights at night also, and I think my next door neighbor is keeping an alien pod in his closet.

My friends are being replaced. I know this because they all snicker at me behind my back. People are being brainwashed and others are simply burning up.

I'm not crazy. I'm not paranoid. I know that everyone is out to get me.

Peter Looke is a UMass freak and Collegian geek

The Collegian is sick and tired of listening to your snivelling and moaning about our columnists. Personally, we don't care. If you people think you can write any better (by the way, you can't) come down and show us. Come on, we dare you, you wussies!!! As for you people who think they can change the world by writing a letter to this newspaper, get a life.

ARTS FOR OUR SAKE

The Screaming Room

By PHIL MAJOR & STUART DENT
Special to the Collegian

It's been a humdinger of a season for movies, so let's look back at some of the most memorable ones so far.

Who Framed Marvin Milkman This film represents state of the art in cinematic technology. The painstaking craftsmanship involved in this product results in a seamless, utterly convincing portrayal of a fictional world in which actors live along side real people. Highlight: the scene where Florence Henderson and James Earl Jones actually appear to shake hands.

A Witch Called Fonda Dramatization of the controvertial incident in which Jane Fonda spoke out against the anti-patriotic behavior of American schoolchildren with overdue library books. As you may recall, this resulted in a staggering increase in the number of reported child abuse cases, and was singularly responsible for the infamous "Happy Faces Day-Care Massacre." We forgive you, Jane.

Die Bruce Bruce Willis is sent behind the iron curtain to smuggle earmuffs back from the Russian front. In one of the year's most beautiful and moving scenes, he's caught by the KGB and shot by a firing squad.

Sucker Jeff Bridges promises the car of today tomorrow but doesn't deliver. Instead he absconds with the funds raised by a nationwide pre-order campaign and moves to Hollywood to negotiate a film based on his life.

A Midsummer Night's Run Robert Deniro as an incredibly tolerant bounty hunter puts up with wayward accountant Charles Grodin's whining for four-and-a-half minutes, then he splits his skull and walks away. Atta boy, Bob.

Bambo III Rerelease of the Disney classic, which traumatized three generations of children with its relentlessly honest portrayal of life in the sometimes beautiful, sometimes savage world of nature. Who can forget that wrenching moment when Bambo is told, "your mother can no longer be with you," or the following sequence when Bambo first sets out into the awesome, frightening world of man in his tour of local gunshops. The action culminates in a pulse-pounding, still unsurpassed gorefest with Bambo holding his own in a makeshift woodland fortress.

Red Zingers Zany family comedy in which psychotic twin nutrition gurus decide that the nation's health food addicts don't deserve to live, and poison their entire brand of herb teas. Fun for all.

Young Buns Erotic teen flick involving workers at a typical fast food chain, but it's too graphic to describe. Highlights include squirting ketchup, greasy french fries, playing with big, fluffy buns, eating (oops! I forgot! I can't tell you!).

Nightline Ted Koppel, in the middle of an interview with George Bush, decides he's had enough of the serious life and throws a pie in the Republican nominee's face. This proves to be just the shot-in-the-arm the campaign needed, resulting in the swearing-in of the "pratfall president." The rest of the film follows Koppel in dogged pursuit of his dream to be a commedian. Sadly, the only laughs he ever gets are from his goofy hair.

Contributors Phil Major and Stuart Dent are pre-med and underwater basket weaving majors, respectively, at the Granby School for the Performing Arts. They appear courtesy of the Plastics Monthly Newsletter.

Don't go to the FAC concert

By JAIME PIERCE MMMMMMMMCCIV
Collegian Staff

A University artist in residence has received a grant to turn the Fine Arts Center into the largest sculpture in the world.

"I'm absolutely ecsatic," said Donald Esterhaus who lives in Butterfield dormitory. "Before, my artistic statements were limited to defacing small canvases. Now I can deface something really big."

Esterhaus — who will call her work "Big" — said that construction of the sculpture will involve filling the entire Fine Arts center with poured concrete.

"Right now, the center has a hollowness that cries to be made solid," said Esterhaus. "Though it has function and form, it lacks that artistic vision, that repulsive impracticality that makes it the sort of art that I enjoy creating."

Students expressed mixed reactions to the sculpture.

"It's not that I have anything against art, but I'd like to have a place to play every once in a while," said Henning Ohlenbusch, a music major. "It's kind of tough to play with an orchestra when the room you're supposed to play in is filled with poured concrete."

Some students, however, liked the idea.

"I think it's like, wicked awesome," said several Southwest residents.

Of the sculpture's critics, Esterhaus said: "They don't understand the paradoxical nature of art; I get paid to organize workshops and promote an artistic environment in Butterfield; instead I do nothing. There's a paradox in that, an artistic paradox. It's the same with the Fine Arts Center. I'm going to turn one of the largest, most useful buildings on campus into the largest useless thing in the world. You've got to appreciate paradoxes like that."

Esterhaus added that she plans to pour the concrete into the building while a concert is in progress.

"I want to trap people in that building, watch the cement harden and take away their lives," she said. "It would be a statement, a statement that calls for a stopping of all time. The deaths of scores of people mean nothing when you're making an artistic statement."

Artie answers all

Dear Artie,

Several weeks ago, my husband and I attended a dinner party at a friend's home. Midway through the meal, I excused myself to use the bathroom, as I had been feeling a bit irregular. After relieving myself, I was mortified to discover that there was no toilet paper. Panicky, and frantic to avoid any embarrassment, I used my friend's fine monogrammed bathroom towels. I put the two towels in my purse, planning to return them in a couple of days, completely washed. I figured we would laugh about such a ridiculous and embarrasing situation. Now I'm not so sure. I've called my friend several times, she's been very aloof on the phone, and always seems to be "in the middle of something." I even left messages on her answering machine when she wasn't home. She hasn't returned any of my calls.

What should I do? I can't imagine her not understanding what happened, yet it appears I've really offended her. I at least want to return the towels in a tactful manner. Please help.

Signed,
Lost in Leverett.

see Artie's answer on page 3.

Windham Hill artist explains wall's influence

By MEAGRE O'MONTHES
Collegian Farts Staff

Considering he's now a Windham Hill recording artist, you'd be surprised to learn that guitarist and composer Dulas Dischwader began his musical career as a founding member of legendary post-punk deconstructionist dance/noise terrorists, Burger King and the Skullfucks.

Dischwader remembers fondly the day he was kicked out of the band after learning his fifth chord, although he claims the writing had been on the wall for some time previous to this.

"I think I knew my days were numbered after drummer Roger Skullfuck (his real name) caught me looking at an advertisement in International Musician for acoustic guitars. Artistically I was drifing apart from the band. They would go out on the town to break some heads, while I'd stay home and listen to Eno records," Dischwader explained.

Dischwader cites the former Roxy Music keyboard wizz as a major early influence.

"It was incredible, I'd be staring at the wall listening to this stuff and the music would just merge with the room until I'd be listening to the wall and I couldn't tell the difference."

Thanks to a little heard solo relase, "Songs for Elevators to Learn and Sing," on the now defunct independent label Chlorophyll Cocktail, Dischwader drew the attention of several majors. A brief unhappy spell with MCA yielded House Full of Pine, a misguided foray into country music.

THIS WEEKS INTERVIEW

"I guess it was too difficult to reconcile the rural connotation of the form with the fact that my living situation was a converted loft on the Lower East Side," he said.

Following this setback, Dischwader spent six months studying guitar mind/body jazz improvisation theory under Yugoslavian exile Yubor Mesthitiesz during which time he composed the soundtracks for four new shopping malls.

"Yubor was an inspiration. He taught me how to protect myself into the mind of a freshly squeezed grapefruit juice, and what that might sound like. Together we composed an entire opera called 'Poraquhatsimazintubuhr,' a tragedy about a bowl of swiss muesli and two slice of whole wheat toast set against a background of oppression in a polish breakfast bar."

It was during this time that Dischwader came to the attention of Windham Hill, when a talent scout from the company heard one of his expeirmental works "Soup Scream in a Vacuum Flask," at a gallery opening in Soho. When he inquired who composed the piece, nobody seemed to be aware that there was any music playing.

Now Dischwader is about to release his debut album for the label engimatically entitled The Absent Minded Sushi Tent, whose themes range from global nuclear holocaust to the price of authentic pine fittings in downtown New York. Perhaps the oddest piece on the album however is "Olfactory Whispers," which Dischwader explains is about a draft from the bathroom window in his apartment, and is possibly the best way of summing up the man's unique talent.

CRASSIFIEDS

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO
AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS
ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT
FOR SALE • FOUND
HELP WANTED • LOST

INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES
PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED
RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES
ROOMMATE WANTED • TRAVEL
WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30) • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

THE UMASS FANTASY Club will be meeting tonight in Chancellor Duffey's office, where he will buy everyone free beer and pizza. (Plus he's going to let us make long distance calls on his phone!)

THE MISANTHROPE SOCIETY will meet tomorrow in CC 117, but I wouldn't show up if I were you, they're all a bunch of losers anyway.

COME AND SHOP at People's Market, where we share the bountiful harvest with the people, and ...hey! Who ate all the goddam bagles?

YOU DON'T HAVE to take part in dissection if it's against your ethics, but if you do, we have barbeque sauce and flavorings to make it a little more fun. Animal Spice Coalition meets Tuesday, 4:00-8:00, CC105.

THETA CHI FRATERNITY annual pumpkin sale. Proceeds to benefit to Heart Society. Please help us, we need it.

SMEGMA PI WILL have its annual pumpkin smashing party. Proceeds to benefit the smoker's rights petition.

HELP WANTED

DO YOU HAVE a room temperature IQ? Do you like spending hours a day doing monotonous, boring work? Do you like to see people frantically running after you in your rear-view mirror? Come work for PUTA! We love ya!

EVER SINCE THAT negative check off on the tuition bill, we've had loads of money! Work for us, and you'll get some of it. MassPirg. 549-2342.

HELP COMPLETE THE Trans-Campus Ditch! We're working hard to make this campus look like a wet zone. Work within walking distance of your classes. Call Physical Plant, 545-3535.

LOST

ONE IMPORTANT DEBATE. Call Mike Dukakis, the State House.

ABOUT SIXTEEN THOUSAND dollars. We're taking up a collection, won't you help out? UMass Federal Credit Union. FDIC.

ONE EAR. Call Vinny.

SOME STUDENT RIGHTS. If found, call the SGA.

WEBSTER'S UNABRIGGED DICKTIONARY. If found, please call the Collegian. We need it bak.

PERSONALS

SWM (Single White Male) looking for honest, fulfilling relationship. Alright, forget it, just a lot of sex. Call 546-6818.

SWF looking for man who likes good times and gefilte fish, long walks in the rain and snorting jello pudding pops. Are you that special guy? Call 254-2342.

HGD (Horny Great Dane) looking for honest, fulfilling relationship. I'm a leg man, myself. Call 545-WOOF.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE to the students of UMass from Amherst Towing. Last year, we towed over 2,319 cars. Yah yah! We're getting richer every day! Call us, 549-2521.

AUTO FOR SALE

1958 FORD PINTO. Just needs new brakes, a little work on the transmission, a little paint, a few tires, a couple of pistons, a hood, some upholstery and a steering wheel, and it will be like new. $1995. A steal. 584-2321.

DELOREAN FOR SALE. He's kind of a jerk, and has a bit of a drug problem, but I'll let him go cheap. Call Monica. (415)-253-2313.

CAROLINE

Roses are red, violets are blue, the question is, do you want to...uh, never mind.

ENTERTAINMENT

ANNUAL U.G.L.Y. dance. Having trouble meeting that special someone? Well, so are they! No pretty boys allowed!

COME PARTY AT Pot Alley. BYOMJ. Hey, I'm hungry. Does anyone have anything to eat?

COME RUSH BKO! Oops, sorry. Never mind.

FOUND

SEVERAL TEST TUBES filled with yellow liquid. What is this stuff, anyway? It tastes really funny. 546-3453.

STUDENT IDENTIFICATION WITH the name of Bill Collins. This thing looks pretty old, but if you want it back, call 546-3424.

SHRIVELED TONY RUDY in jar of formaldehyde. What is this stuff, anyway? It tastes really funny. 584-4234.

FOR SALE

SEVERAL TRANSMITTERS AND radio antennas, fresh from Sylvan and Orchard Hill areas. Barely used. Call Karl Rooker, 546-WSYL or Pedro Perera, 546-WOF.

FOR RENT

BIG WHITE BUILDING. Are your initials BKO? We have a nice, empty, monogrammed house for you! 234-COKE.

SPACIOUS MALL IN downtown Hadley. Within walking distance of lots of great restaurants. It has a slight flea problem, but it should go away after a while. Plenty of parking. Great for large families.

This is a filler. This is what graphics does when somebody screws up.

Sometimes it's celery, or "Write for the Collegian" or some other goofy little shit-thing like that.

They are a pain in the ass, and usually add hours on to our work.

The next time you see a filler, you'd better appreciate the damn thing - especially the celery . . .

JOCKS

Football win simply divine

By T. KIP HERR
Collegian Staff

Hey sports fans, I love ya. And so does the University of Massivecoronary football team.

The Pickles played their biggest game of the year yesterday and won by an astounding 88-4 score over Notre Dame, the number two-ranked Division 1-A football team in the country.

"We never could have done it without the support of the fans," a player who wished to remain anonymous said.

UMass quarterback Dave Calzone passed wind and completed 77-of-78 passes for 983 yards and 10 TD's, setting a modern day collegiate record. Tailedback Kevin Smellyfinger had his best day of his life, running wild for 75 yards on 123 carries, 1 touchdown and only two fumbles.

Head coach Robert Reid, whose only other job before being named head coach was playing the father on television's The Brady Bunch, said "We out and out kicked some serious Irish ass."

Said Calzone, "I had confidence in the team and the team had confidence in me. I didn't really think we could do it, though. I just never would have dreamed we could have beaten the piss out of the number two team in the nation."

Notre Dame head coach Jerry Falwell said he needed more than just divine intervention to beat UMass yesterday.

"As I stood on the sidelines I could feel the evil running through my body, a sensation that sickened my heart and darkened my soul. The University of Massivecoronary is polluted with the temptation of Lucifer and they will burn in Hell. The Lord came to me in the middle of the third quarter and said 'Jerry, this is a place that thou shalt not be able to find victory, but do not walk away convinced that I was not here to help you,'" Falwell said.

The game started ominously for the Fighting Irish as Olier Van Thouw fumbled the kickoff in the end zone and suffered a heart attack. Brant Apathy pounced on the ball for the quick six. Marco Polo hit the extra point.

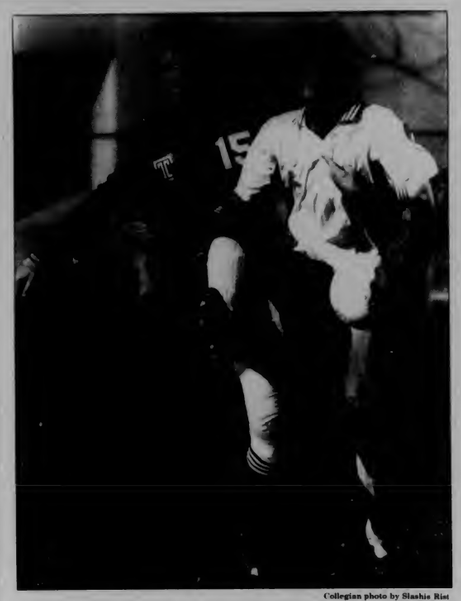
On the next kickoff, Sammy "Which Way" Diddigo made some sparkling moves and returned the ball to the Pickles 33-yard line. Notre Dame QB David Smiley's first play from scrimmage was a bomb into the end zone but UMass free safety Duran Doran picked off his 17th pass of the season and returned to the five.

With Calzone at the helm, the Pickles marched down the field behind the inhuman running of the Smellyfinger and the sheer godliness of Calzone's right arm.

After two long rushes by Smellyfinger, which left UMass with a third-and-seven at their own 8-yard line, Calzone chucked a 92 yard in-the-air, frozen rope of a pass to Dave Tobin "Bridge" for the score.

"I taught my son Greg to throw the ball the same way when he was in high school," said Reid "Unfortunately, he sucked and ended up being the team photographer. What a wuss."

Tragedy that was indicative of the Irish's luck struck in the second quarter when the Irish's star quarterback Rock N. Roll unexplainedly burst into flames. It was only the seventh case on record of human spontaneous combustion. Other events that racked the Notre Dame team were outbreaks of bubonic plague, attacking swarms of locusts, giant skin boils, and syphilis.



Collegian photo by Slashie Riet

SOCCER MAKES ME FEEL LIKE DANCIN' — Members of the UMass men's soccer team will make a presentation of Swan Lake tonight at 7 p.m. at Bowzer Auditorium. Free admission will be only $2 per student.

Soccer team investigated by NCAA

By J. EDWARD HOOVER
Collegian Crypto-Fascist

Due to the fact that the University of Massachusetts women's soccer team has been ranked in the top five in the country all season, it has been learned by the Collegian that the team has been under careful scrutiny by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

According to a spokesman at the NCAA, the Minutewomen have been under investigation all season for various offenses including illegal recruitment, point shaving and illegal substances.

The news came as a tremendous shock to the team.

"I don't understand this," said UMass coach Jim Ruddy, who was informed of the charges this week, on top of learning via an Eastern Mass. newspaper that he's been misspelling his name all his life. "I had no reason to believe there were any problems when I came here."

Ruddy was brought in this summer to coach the Minutewomen after an extended stint at the University of Central Florida, where, he says, everything was "just peachy."

The initial report did not go into detail, but thanks to some true-to-form dirt-digging and intimidation by the Collegian, the definitive accusations have been discovered.

The chief complaint is that Ruddy and former coach Kalekeni Banda used illegal methods in recruiting players. "They didn't have any money to offer, so they must have done something to get them to come here," said the source, who wished to be anonymous.

There is also the alleged point shaving, even though the Minutewomen have a record of 14-1-1. "I guess they weren't very good at it," the weasel said.

As far as the substance charges, the turncoat said that there had been no official testing, but that informants had seen team members indulging in large quantities of frozen yogurt, hot tamales and honey roast peanuts.

"Plus, they call themselves the 'Reds.' There's something fishy about that," the snitch said.

It is unknown at this time whether any official charges will be brought against the team. The investigation will continue until resolved.

Friendly 'Rover' game turns red

By GARAN IMULS
Collegian Staff

The University of Massridiculousness once again has entered the record books. In a show of solidarity, UMass students took on administrators in the world's largest-ever game of Red Rover.

However, the game did not end on good terms.

Massive outbreaks of violence and the outpouring of blood marred the game as some administrators armed themselves with brass knuckles and Webster Avenue walking sticks after they were thrown out of the game. Ejected students used broken beer bottles and unwound wire from notebook bindings to counterattack.

Chancellor Josef Dufster lost use of his left eye after Democrat Mikhail Grinder rammed a hot wire through his glasses. Student co-president elect Jason Argonaught died in Colley Dickinfur hospital from deep gouges in his abdomen inflicted by a walking stick wielded by Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis the Menace.

The game started at 1:30 p.m. yesterday as approximately 4,000 students lined the campus from Sylvan Residential Area to the Horseshoe in Southwest.

The rules of the game differed from the child's game slightly. Those who did not break through enemy lines were out of the game; those knocked off the defensive line during an attack, were out of the game. If someone broke through the line, they could go back to their own side. But if somebody was injured, see ya.

The greatly outnumbered administrators, about 1,350, lined up from Whitmore to Haigus Mall. The heavyweight director of Housing Joe Zappa was the first to try to burst through the student lines. He easily bowled over seven fuzzy-headed liberals on either side of Brian Crawfish, the person Zappa flattened.

But the students got even quickly.

Republicans W. Gregg Rothchild and Brian Doolittle tipped over Dean Chamberlain and set him rolling towards the administration building. Seventeen adminstrators, including Deidra Lungi, William "Left" Fielder (ret.) and Billy Wirlitzer, were lost in the counter-attack.

Despite the huge numerical advantage, the administrators, aided by several children from Amherst Elementary School, began to whittle away at the student team, actually forcing more than 1,000 students out of the game while only losing 133 from their own team.

After an hour, the battle began to get fierce, the surviving administrators were battered and bruised but fought with ragged determination. The remaining 2,500 students began to realize if they continued to lose people at the same rate they would lose. With the fear of extinction driving them, they raised their level of play to one never before seen in Red Rover competition.

The violence started soon thereafter.

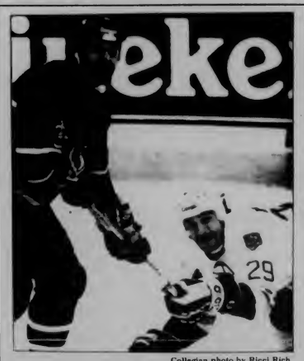
Chancellor Dufster made his first move of the day by charging a section lined with fraternity brothers of the banned fraternity Beat A Cap of Pie. When Dufster was repelled, he reached into his pocket and punched the nearest member with a pair of brass knuckles.

"That little prick deserved it. They were running booze out of their house. In this era of prohibition, that is unacceptable behavior that harms the safety of the larger group," he said.

Though Dufster was eventually blinded in the ensuing brawl, the game was not forgotten. After order had been restored, the charging continued.

According to sources, Dennis the Menace disappeared for 15 minutes and returned with two large crates full of the aforementioned weapons.

The game deteriorated soon thereafter and eventually turned into a riot that made the World Series brawl look like an organized boxing round-robin.



Collegian photo by Ricci Rich

NOT AGAIN — We were going to run another stupid joke about UMass FINALLY getting a hockey team, but we at the Collegian are pretty damn frustrated about the whole thing by now.

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 40

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1988

INSIDE

- Alcohol Awareness week. Page 3.
- Hamlisch to play FAC. Page 9.
- Womens' volleyball scores win. Page 16.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

A University of Massachusetts police officer examines the damage last night after a PVTA bus struck a parked car at 8:22 p.m. on the east (School of Management) side of Haigis Mall. No one was injured in the accident, which damaged the bus and the first car struck. The bus pushed the car into four other cars, three of which were damaged, according to police. The cause of the accident has not yet been determined, police said.

Greek area growth may be limited

By LISA JOHNSON
Collegian Correspondent

A proposal banning fraternities from moving into Fraternity Row on North Pleasant Street faces its first hurdle tonight when it goes before the Amherst planning board.

A residents' group in town is trying to stop the spread of fraternities and sororities along the street because of the noise, parking problem, and damage they do to the neighborhood, they say.

The group has placed Article 17 on next week's special town meeting ballot, an effort to rezone the campus residence zone to general residence. The change would allow the current fraternity houses to remain but would prevent any new houses from forming.

It would also block boarding houses, motels and hotels from opening.

Francis Fortino, a Town Meeting member, sponsored the article and was at the selectmen's meeting Monday night to ask for their support.

"We've been trying to work with UMass for four years and longer," said Fortino. "We've received little cooperation and we do have in town a district for frats: fraternity-sorority park."

"It is one of the most dense areas in town, there are no places for parking," Fortino said, referring to North Pleasant Street.

Fraternity-Sorority Park, Inc. was originally 55 acres of land established in 1967 for the building of up to 23 houses.

According to Robert Griffin, an advisor for Greek Affairs, the drop-off of students and a building permit moratorium in the 1970s as well as the high cost of building have prevented many frats from building there.

Half the acreage was sold to Village Park, an apartment complex. The remaining acreage has two fratenities, Chi Rho and Chi Omega, and the Career Center.

Fortino said the First Baptist Church and a newly formed group, the Neighborhood Association, support the article.

Fortino also said several fraternities had violated zoning bylaws this fall for renovating their buildings without the proper permits. The renovation projects were endorsed, among other people, by the Amherst Police Department.

Lorie Leininger, a resident of Allen

continued on page 14

Graduate Student Senate awards funds to UVC

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

Last night the Graduate Student Senate voted to give the Union Video Center an $800 contribution from their reserve funds towards the purchase of a new equipment for the center.

UVC had originally presented a motion requesting $2,500 from the senate which was then revised to $1,500 and finally recommended to the senate as an $800 proposal.

The money will be used to purchase an $15,000 editing machine which UVC says it needs due to the immense volume of video taped events they are amassing.

In other Senate business:

A new charter for the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy (SCERA) was submitted for the approval of the senate. The charter was created in conjunction with the Student Government Association.

SCERA, now defunct for lack of a director, is currently seeking a new director as well as new office space. The office space is being discussed with the Board of Governors.

The senate voted to support a 'No' vote on referendum question –2, which would repeal the Prevailing Wage Law.

The Massachusetts Prevailing Wage Law is of concern to the state's construction workers and guarantees quality construction and provides for a minimum wage for construction workers on state-funded projects.

A letter from the senate will be sent to Amherst Town Meeting in support for a campus-based polling place to be installed for voters residing in Precinct 10. Precinct 10 entails most of Southwest Residential Area some of Central Residential Area and a portion of Fearing St.

The motion for a campus polling station came about in response to low Precinct 10 voter turnout and the adverse conditions campus voters have complained about during an election year. Long lines and the proximity of the current voting place in Amherst, it has been speculated, hinders voter turnout.

The senate agreed on a motion to be sent to Town Meeting which urges the University to seek alternate funding, other than student monies, for the multi-purpose convocation arena to be built here.

Author condemns stereotypes of AIDS victims

By DAVID R. MARK
Collegian Staff

About 400 people sat quietly in the Campus Center Auditorium last night and heard a story "of a time of cruel irony."

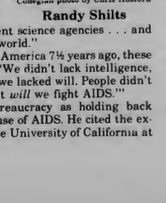
"AIDS — it keeps on getting bigger but the story remains the same," said author Randy Shilts in his lecture on the "People and Politics of AIDS."

"Next week we'll elect the president of the United States, and we know that by 1993, 450,000 people will have died of this disease," Shilts said in a press conference before his lecture. "Yet in this campaign, the 'A' word has barely been spoken — something I find surreal, bizarre."

Shilts said Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis is afraid of openly discussing AIDS because he doesn't want to appear "too liberal . . . as if he were coddling homosexuals."

He said Republican nominee George Bush didn't discuss AIDS so he would look conservative. "He (Bush) says he'll 'protect the innocent from the affected,'" which he said suggests that conservative consider people with AIDS as guilty.

In his lecture, Shilts further illustrated the concept of who is innocent or guilty by saying that people refer to a baby that contracts AIDS as innocent. "Who are the guilty victims? It asks who we should and shouldn't feel sorry for, and by inference who deserves AIDS and who doesn't."



Collegian photo by Chris Hosford

Randy Shilts

Shilts said he doesn't believe "AIDS has to have been as big a problem as it is — given the size of our US medical community, the fact that we have the most sophisticated public health agencies . . . and government science agencies . . . and the most free press in the world."

"Yet, when AIDS came to America 7½ years ago, these resources failed," he said. "We didn't lack intelligence, we didn't lack resources — we lacked will. People didn't say 'can we fight AIDS, but will we fight AIDS.'"

He said government bureaucracy as holding back research to discover the cause of AIDS. He cited the example of Dr. Jay Levy of the University of California at San Francisco, who in 1982 was held up in his research for a year because various government bodies couldn't help him fund a $1,500 filter and a centrifuge.

Shilts said Levy was denied the funding for the equipment by the chancellor of the state university system and by the National Institutes of Health. "Levy had to talk to his political connections in the gay and lesbian community, who then talked to the speaker of the California assembly, who then talked to the chancellor of the university system," who, Shilts said, then realized it would be worth it to find funding for the equipment.

"All the while President Reagan said AIDS was the 'Number one health priority' of his administration," Shilts said, adding that Los Angeles Congressman Henry Waxman, an early advocate of funding for AIDS research, was prompted to ask sarcastically how the government would work to fight the number two health priority.

"I'm left with the nagging suspicion that if other people — other people than gays and lesbians, and intravenous drug users — were dying of this disease, people would be doing much more," Shilts said.

Shilts is the author of And the Band Played On: Politics, People and the AIDS Epidemic, and in 1982 became the nation's first AIDS beat reporter, for the San Francisco Chronicle.

WORLD/NATION

Television stations refuse to air anti-nuke plant commercials

BOSTON (AP) — Television stations are refusing to air commercials that claim radiation from the Pilgrim reactor has caused cancer and one death as a bitter campaign to shut down the state's two nuclear power plants heads to a popular vote.

Massachusetts Citizens for Safe Energy renewed its appeal yesterday for stations to air the political advertisements linking the controversial plant in Plymouth to leukemia.

The group is sponsoring statewide ballot Question No. 4 that would close the Yankee plant in Rowe and prevent Pilgrim from reopening. There were no immediate indications from the stations they would reconsider their decision, according to Joseph Kriesberg, spokesman for the anti-nuclear group.

Boston Edison Vice President Carl Gustin wrote a strong letter of protest to area television stations before the ads were to be broadcast. Gustin called the ads "political posturing and sensationalism," and urged the stations to refuse the commercials. Edison, which owns Pilgrim, says no death has even been linked directly to the plant.

In one ad, Dr. Thomas Winters says he has examined 20 Pilgrim workers who were exposed to varying levels of radiation. One person, he claims, "actually died of that radiation exposure."

The other ad shows Michelle Miller, a Pilgrim neighbor, holding her 4-year-old daughter, who was diagnosed in 1986 with leukemia.

"We live within the 10-mile radius of the Pilgrim nuclear power plant," she says. "As far as I am concerned that puts the Pilgrim power plant at the scene of the crime. ... And it's too bad that you're a casualty of the nuclear industry."

Proponents of the ballot question say the commercials are legitimate and would move the debate on the issue away from whether the region has enough power to a question of public safety.

Kriesberg accused area television stations of "succumbing to utility pressure," and "censorship."

Channels 5, 22, 25, 38, and 56 refused to air the spots.

Channel 7 agreed to air the spot featuring Dr. Winters. Other area stations are running ads sponsored by other supporters of the nuclear shutdown.

Burt Peretsky, public relations manager for WCVB-TV channel 5 said, "We are not censoring anybody."

He said the safe energy group was asked to provide documentation to back up the ads and failed to do so. If documentation is provided, he said, the station will consider the evidence and re-evaluate its decision against airing the ads.

Peretsky noted that the station has rejected other ads in this year's ballot question campaigns on such issues as farm animal rights and the prevailing wage law.

State public health studies of Plymouth and four other towns in the vicinity of the plant have shown varying results on the question of whether leukemia is more prevalent in the area.

From 1982 to 1984, the average incidence of leukemia among men in the five towns was 76 percent higher than the statewide average.

AP photo

Israeli candidate Shimon Peres votes yesterday in a Tel Aviv suburb.

Polls show Duke ahead in Mass by seven points

BOSTON (AP) — With a week until the presidential election, a poll in Massachusetts shows Gov. Michael S. Dukakis leading Republican Vice President George Bush by seven percentage points.

But Dukakis fell just short of the 50 percent mark.

Dukakis led Bush 49-42 percent among likely Bay State voters surveyed Saturday and Sunday for the Boston Herald and WBZ-TV.

The poll, which had a 5 percent margin of error, found 9 percent undecided.

It also showed incumbent Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., with a 63-30 percent lead over Republican Joe Malone in the Senate race. Seven percent were undecided.

Gerry Chervinsky of KRC Research in Cambridge, which conducted the poll, said Dukakis' lead in Massachusetts appeared fairly safe and that an even split of the undecided vote would give him 53 percent to 54 percent of the vote.

"On the one hand, he's likely to win the state. On the other hand, he hasn't gotten to 50 percent, and the only movement has been to Bush." Chervinsky said.

Dukakis ahs not reached 50 percent in the polls for the newspaper and television station since July when he had 51 percent.

The poll published Sept. 1 had the race even at 42-42 percent.

THE FIVE COLLEGE PROGRAM IN PEACE AND WORLD SECURITY STUDIES

AFGHANISTAN AND PAKISTAN: THE SOVIET WITHDRAWAL AND AFTER

November 2nd

-- A FRONTLINE REPORT --

Selig Harrison, noted journalist and Senior Fellow at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace will speak on "Afghanistan: The Soviet Withdrawal and After."

Professor Eqbal Ahmad of Hampshire College will speak on recent developments in Pakistan.

These presentations will take place on Wednesday, November 2, at 8:00 P.M. in the West Lecture Hall of Franklin Patterson Hall, at Hampshire College.

This event is free and open to the public.

For information, call PAWSS at 549-4600, ext. 519

Five College Communities
Alcohol Awareness Week

October 31-November 4, 1988

Be a Lifesaver:

Don't Drink and Drive

Have you been touched by an alcohol-related driving death?

Create a memorial flag and attend a memorial service and call-to-action.

"Remembering Loved Ones"

featuring Doris Aiken, founder and president of Remove Intoxicated Drivers.

Thursday, November 3, 1988
4:00 PM
Amherst Town Common
(In case of rain, Bangs Community Center)

For information about other events and memorial flags:

Amherst College Health Services	542-2286	Northampton Saving Lives Program	586-6950 ext. 288
Smith College Health Services	585-2824	UMass Health Services	549-2671 ext. 181
Mt. Holyoke Alcohol Awareness Project	538-2466/2616	UMass EAP	545-0350
Hampshire College Health Services	549-4600 ext. 458	Housing Services/Residential Ed	545-0422
Multi-Service Health	584-3880	Amherst Health Dept.	253-7077

LOCAL

Issues of election debated by student leaders

Collegian photo by Chris Hosford

Michael Greiner

Collegian photo by Chris Hosford

Greg Rothman

By JOHN SWANSON
Collegian Staff

W. Greg Rothman, president of Students for Bush, criticized presidential candidate Michael Dukakis' prison furlough program while Michael Greiner, co-chair of Students for Dukakis, questioned presidential candidate George Bush's stance on civil rights. These were just two of the issues raised at a debate between the representatives of their respective candidates last night.

Rothman said Massachusetts "is the only state in the union in history to give furloughs to killers who are not eligible for parole." The murders committed by furloughed prisoner Willie Horton attest to the weakness of Gov. Dukakis' program, he said.

Greiner said violent crime has decreased 49 percent in Massachusets during the Dukakis administration, "the lowest of any industrial state in the United States," he said.

Gerald Grady, of the University of Massachusetts Community and Alumni Relations, moderated the debate, which took place in Campus Center, room 163. The event was sponsored by the Student Government Association Public Policy Committee and the SGA Speaker's Office.

Greiner said the Democratic Party has always been the party of the working class and minorities. The Reagan Administration's Job Training Partnership Act, he said, "gives poor people $3.50-an-hour jobs after they've lost their $10-an-hour jobs.

Rothman later said that the Democratic Party alienated minorities when Michael Dukakis chose conservative Democrat Lloyd Bentsen over the more liberal Jesse Jackson for his running mate.

"Jesse Jackson," said Rothman, "who collected over two million votes nationwide, was ignored. You show me a Republican who gets two million votes and isn't placed on the ticket, and I'll show you a party that's mixed up."

Vice Presidential candidate Dan Quayle voted against the school lunch program and polio vaccines for children, Greiner said. He also said Quayle is "richer than Dukakis, George Bush and Lloyd Bentsen combined, and (Republicans) talk about Mike Dukakis not being able to understand the problems of the people."

Rothman said Quayle is "more qualified to be vice president than John Kennedy was qualified to be president. He's introduced the Job Training Partnership Act. He has been there, he has attended committee hearings, he has sat in on Senate sessions while John Kennedy was going to cocktail parties and campaigning for president."

Greiner said Education Secretary Bill Bennett considered ketchup a vegetable in the school lunch program and opposed the Pell Grant. Rothman said the UMass Undergraduate Student Senate condemned Michael Dukakis for "pruning the University of Massachusetts budget."

The recorded debate will be broadcast over WMUA Tuesday night from 8:30 to 9:30 on the weekly program SGA Today.

Car wreck warns students against drunk driving

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

The mangled car outside Kennedy and Coolidge Residence Halls is just one example of alcohol abuse, according to organizers of Alcohol Awareness Week. Events of this week will include speakers, and workshops designed to boost awareness of problem drinking.

University Health Services, the Greek Area, and several resident assistants in Southwest Residential Area are just some of the people who have gotten involved in the effort. Events are going on throughout the five-college area as part of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, according to Karen Jacobus, coordinator of the Alcohol and Drug Education program at UHS.

"What we're focusing on this year is drinking and driving," Jacobus said. "Be a life-saver — don't drink and drive," is the theme of the week, she said.

UHS is sponsoring a gathering on Amherst Common Thursday, which Jacobus called a "memorial service and call to action." As part of this gathering, anyone who has lost family or a friend in a drunk driving accident is being asked to make a memorial flag, which will be assembled into a larger flag similar to the quilt made in New York City formed to note the victims of AIDS.

"When we have all the flags on display I think people will get a sense of the scope of how many people have been affected," Jacobus said.

Another speaker at the rally will be area resident Laurie Kamansky, whose fiancee was killed by a drunk driver shortly before their wedding, Jacobus said.

She said Doris Aiken, founder of Responsibility In Drinking, will speak at the service about drunk driving, as will Amherst Police Chief Donald Maia.

Aiken will also give a speech tonight titled "Until I Get Caught," also on drunk driving, in the classroom in Gorman House at 7 p.m., Jacobus said.

Jacobus said she has worked for the last 10-15 years as an alcohol and drug educator. She said drunk driving had been chosen as the theme of this year's alcohol awareness week because "Alcohol-related car accidents are still the number one killer of 16 to 20-year-olds.

"I think what we're trying to do is get people to think about it and take some responsibility," Jacobus said. "The tragedy is quite frequently the drunk driver wipes out the non-drinker."

She added that with stricter drunk driving laws and encouragement from bars, she thought people had become more aware of seriousness of drunk driving.

That seriousness is displayed outside Kennedy and Coolidge Residence Halls in Southwest, where a car wrecked in a drunk driving accident is on display, along with a story about the driver.

Wayne Silverman is one of several RAs who worked on getting the car, which was donated by Amherst Towing. These RAs have also organized several other programs in Poet's Corner in Southwest to boost alcohol awareness.

Silverman said the RAs had also arranged a speaker for 8 p.m. tonight in the Thoreau classroom. Gerald Devoli will give a speech titled "Party 'Till You Drop . . . Dead."

"We thought it was a pressing issue that students should be aware of. As RAs we see alcohol change personalities," said Silverman, an RA in James Residence Hall.

Deborah Saunders, an RA in Thoreau, agreed. She said she had seen residents on her hall talking about the night before. They couldn't remember what happened because they had been drinking. She said she was really amazed by this.

She said residents on her hall, many of whom are away from home from the first time, sometimes got out of control with drinking. She said they didn't cause trouble or damage, but often messed up the bathroom by getting sick.

continued on page 14

Datsun vandalized

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

A 1983 Datsun parked in the Campus Center Parking Garage had its rear window smashed Monday and a computer system and printer worth $1,250 stolen from it.

In other police reports:

- A 1982 Toyota parked in lot 44 had its rear window smashed and a cassette case containing 40-50 cassettes stolen from it.
- An employee on the way to his office in Morrill Science Center Monday saw a man pass him in the hallway holding a dual cassette player similar to the one he kept in his office. When the employee reached his office, he found his $134 dual-cassette player had been stolen.
- A student reported Monday that four pairs of jeans and a pair of pants had been stolen from the dryer in the laundry room in Wheeler Residence Hall.
- The House Council of John Adams Residence Hall reported Monday a Video Cassette Recorder and two rented VCR tapes worth $300 had been stolen.

Collegian Photo by Chris Hosford

I SAID BUD LIGHT — Electrical Engineering doctoral student Neil "Pokey" Gitkind places his face and lit cigarette in the way of a low-intensity laser beam yesterday in a Marcus Hall lab.

F Y I

The FYI section is a public service announcement to the campus and community. Space is limited, so the Collegian cannot guarantee all submissions will be published.

Services

Students are warmly invited to join Rabbi Adelman, his wife, Yocheved, and five children for a Chassidic Shabbat experience. The Chabad House at 30 N. Hadley Road is open every Friday night and Saturday morning. This week the services begin at 5:30 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday. Food, discussion, and song are all part of the post service relaxation.

Concert

Jimmy Cliff is scheduled to perform with a special guest beginning at 8 p.m. Friday in the Student Union Ballroom. Tickets are $13 for UMass students and $15 for the general public.

Semi-formal

There will be a semi-formal at 8 p.m. Friday in the Blue Wall Cafeteria. It is free to dorm due payers and $3 for others.

Coffee social

The Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance has scheduled a coffee social from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Friday in room 811 to 815 of the Campus Center. The social is free.

Dance

The Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance has scheduled a fall harvest dance at 9 p.m.

continued on page 4

Student Senate to review Code of Conduct revisions tonight

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

A full slate once again confronts the Undergraduate Student Senate tonight, including proposals regarding a recent revision to the Code of Student Conduct, the possible visit of Louis Farrakhan to campus, and professional staff funded by the Student Activites Trust Fund.

The items on tonight's agenda are:

• A move that seeks a reversal of a recent change to the Code of Student Conduct. The change allows the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs or his designee to appoint a representative for a student in a residential or non-residential hearing. The proposal calls the change "a significant erosion of student rights."

The move against the revision seeks to get a response from Chancellor Joseph Duffey defending the change.

• A proposal to ask the Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs or his designee, to defend before the senate the refunding of any professional staff paid for by the SATF. This proposal, written by Sen. Aram Hamparian and Budgets Committee Chairwoman Jessica Mitchell, was apparently brought up because of the current constraints to the trust fund.

Old business

Business not handled last week includes a move to condemn Student Government Association co-presidents elect Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz for acting as SGA presidents. Silkoff and Rabinowitz have not yet been ratified by the full senate to hold office, although they have been approved by the SGA Coordinating Committee to hold office in a partial capacity.

Last week's meeting saw much debate on this issue, mostly by senators criticizing Silkoff and Rabinowitz for acting as presidents when they have not been approved.

The question had not been voted on by 11 p.m., when the meeting is required to end.

Another proposal on the presidency question seeks to have a new election for the post. This move, authored by Senators Greg Rothman and Brian Darling, has been on the senate agenda at almost every meeting this semester, and may be given to the Governmental Affairs Committee for consideration.

■ FYI

continued from page 3

Saturday in room 1009 of the Campus Center. Admission is $3.

Movie

"The Rendezvous" is scheduled to be shown at 9 p.m. Friday in the Southside Room of Hampden Dining Commons in Southwest Residential Area. Admission is free.

Volunteers needed

From 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, the Munson Memorial Library in South Amherst will be moving the materials found in the West Reading Room of the library to the basement. Volunteers are needed to help the library staff move books and furniture for the first stage of the library's refurbishing. Volunteers are asked to sign up with the library's staff weekday afternoons from 2 to 5:30 p.m. Hot coffee, cider, and doughnuts will be provided by the library during the move.

Trip

The Hampshire Bird Club is sponsoring a free all-day trip to the Berkshire lakes to search for ducks and whatever else they might find. To register call trip leader Tom Gagnon at 584-6353. The club recommends that participants bring lunches.

Work Abroad

Representatives from the Work in Britain Work in Ireland exchange programs will be on campus tomorrow, staffing a table in the Campus Center concourse from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and holding an information session at 6:30 in room 168C of the Campus Center.

The Board of Governor's Program Council
Presents...

"Sexually Speaking" with Dr. Ruth Westheimer

Monday, November 7, 1988
Campus Center Auditorium
8:00pm

Tickets on sale
TODAY
at Tickets Unlimited
317 Student Union
Admission $5

co-sponsored by
The Distinguished Vistors Program
and
The Commuter Area Government

THE HANGING FIRE COLLEGE TOUR

JIMMY CLIFF

w/ ARROW

FRIDAY NOV. 4

8:00pm S.U.B.

$13 UMASS STUDENT
$15 GENERAL PUBLIC
CASH BAR w/ ID

TICKETS ON SALE AT TIX UNLIMITED, FOR THE RECORD (FACES), MAIN ST. RECORDS

IMC PRODUCTIONS

M.I.T.

PRE-DOCTORAL POSITIONS

MOLECULAR, CHEMICAL, & GENETIC ANALYSIS OF THE CHEMICAL-BIOLOGIC INTERACTIONS RELATED TO CANCER & GENETIC DISEASE

Whitaker College of Health Sciences & Technology
Graduate Program in Toxicology

Faculty	Area of Interest
John M. Essigmann	DNA adducts, structure-function relationships
James G. Fox	Gastrointestinal microflora & endogenous carcinogens
Steven Tannenbaum	Chemistry of macromolecular adducts
William G. Thilly	Mutational spectra: mechanisms & genetic epidemiology
Gerald N. Wogan	DNA adducts & genetic change in carcinogenesis
Helmut Zarbl	Transformation effector & suppressor genes, oncogenes

Full support (stipend and tuiton) is offered to all accepted canidates. For program information, catalogue, and application,

CONTACT: Debra A. Luchanin, Administator
Student Office, Program in Toxicology
Room 16-330, M.I.T.
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139
(617) 253-5804

MIT is an Equal Opportunity Employer

WOMEN'S ISSUES

Multi-service agency provides free assistance to community women

By SARA GALER
Collegian Staff

The sign in Sojourn's office says "Hire a teenager while they still know everything," a wry message which helps promote the agency's work with young women in the community.

Working out of an office on Main Street in Northampton, Sojourn is a community agency which offers services to women aged 12 to 22, free of charge.

In addition to individual and group counseling, the agency offers a General Equivalency Diploma program, which allows young mothers to complete their high school education while their children are being cared for.

A small foster care program and a residential vocational training program are also available.

"Most of the kids we see are younger adolescents who are dealing with conflicts in their families," said Christina Parks, a Sojourn program director.

"They might need counseling for substance abuse or suicide," she said. "They're also a high risk for pregnancy."

Many young women who come to Sojourn are already parents or are pregnant and face problems of "homelessness, relationship issues, and depression," Parks said.

Most clients suffer from a poor self-image and lack motivation to change, she said, and Sojourn helps them overcome these problems by teaching them to be their own advocates. "Advocacy helps them to empower themselves," she said.

According to printed background information provided by the agency, young women learn through Sojourn to become self-sufficient and to make informed decisions in becoming responsible adults.

Parks said the practice of accompanying the client through social processes is what distinguishes Sojourn from other agencies.

"[Sojourn's] counselors don't sit in a room with a client," she said. "Instead we go out there with the client and teach them to help themselves."

Prudence Grand, clinical supervisor, said, "If a woman needs welfare, for instance, we will walk her through a complicated process full of red tape. Every aspect of her life needs to be advocated."

Sojourn's approach combines treatment and prevention with the belief that both are critical to long range problem solving, according to background information.

The agency offers a GED program, which helps people attain the equivalent of a high school diploma, to young women in Hampshire County.

"The GED program is for women ages 16 to 22," Parks said. "Many are young mothers, and one of their biggest problems is finding someone to take care of their children while they're in school."

Child care services are provided at the First Church of Christ on Main Street in Northampton, and are available to all community mothers who want to complete high school, not just for women involved in Sojourn's GED program.

As students near completion of their GED, Sojourn offers assistance with college applications, financial aid forms and can help students enroll in a vocational training program.

Parks said Sojourn does not currently have a vocational counselor, because of a loss of funding in July. But, "I'm trying to get the funding to hire one," she said.

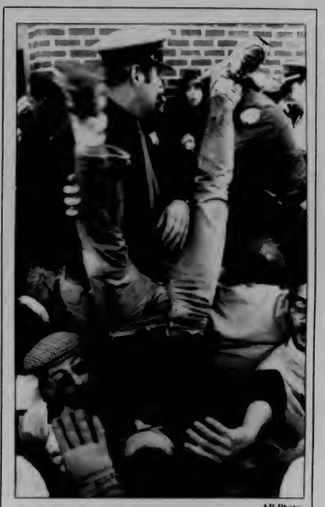
Another educational alternative offered through Sojourn is their "residential farm," according to promotional information provided by the agency.

The farm offers an environment for women to learn non-traditional skills such as carpentry, plumbing, electrical wiring and heating. And, participants are actually renovating the farm and preparing it to accomodate other programs in the future, according to promotional material.

This particular program, which also offers counseling and medical services, is only available to women referred by the Department of Youth Services, Parks said.

Sojourn is state and federal funded and is open to all young women regardless of race, religion, marital status, or sexual preference, said Grand. The agency receives referrals from the juvenile court, schools, and state and local social service agencies.

The agency was founded in 1975, Grand said, by a group of young women who could not get the help they needed in Hampshire County.



AP Photo

UPENDED — An anti-abortion demonstrator is turned upside down in a crowd of protesters Saturday morning in Providence, R.I. while trying to block the entrance to the GYN services clinic.

Women's Forum

Child Care Meeting

The Amherst League of Women Voters will sponsor, "The Crisis in Child Care," at 7:30 p.m., on Monday, Nov. 7, at 47 Jeffrey Lane and again on Thursday, Nov. 10 at 12 noon in the Jones Library. For more information, call 549-3888.

Writing workshops

The Grant Writing Workshop will be offered on Saturday, Nov. 5, at the University of Massachusetts Campus Center Room 905, from 1 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Participation is limited to 30 people and registration is required. Call 545-0883 for more information.

Local writer and teacher Leslea Newman will offer writing workshops for women called "Write from the Heart" starting the week of Nov. 14. Small, supportive classes are open to any woman who would like to improve her writing skills. The ten week workshop has a sliding scale fee and will be held during the morning and in the evenings. Call 584-3865 for more information.

Counseling Program

The Everywoman's Center is now offering assessments, referrals, and limited short term counseling. For more information, call 545-0883.

Sexual Harassment

Date Rape and prevention speaker, Katherine Brady, will lecture on sexual harassment, rape and prevention issues at 8 p.m., on Sunday, Nov. 13 in Gamble Auditorium at Mount Holyoke College. For more information, call 538-2262 or 538-2045.

Margaret Randall to speak in Five College Area

Margaret Randall, internationally acclaimed author of more than 40 books, will be giving a reading of her poetry at 4 p.m. in the Eliot House Lounge at Mount Holyoke College on Monday, Nov. 7. Later that night she will be giving another lecture at 8 p.m. at Seelye 10, Smith College. There will also be a booksigning at the Albion bookstore on Green St. in Northampton from 4 to 6 p.m. in Nov.8.

Film showing

The film "Not a Love Story" will not be presented tonight, and has been rescheduled for 7 p.m., Nov. 15, in 206 Bartlett Hall. The documentary follows the life of a stripper as she makes a journey through the world of pornography, sexuality, and women in the sex work industry. A discussion will be held after the movie.

Smith College exhibit focuses on famous women journalists

By CHRIS A. MUTHER
Collegian Staff

"A Woman's Voice: 150 Years of Journalism" currently on exhibit at Smith College in Northampton, presents works and histories of more than a dozen prominent writers, many of whom are Smith alumnae.

The exhibit, which displays memorabilia from the 1800s to the present, includes works by Helen Kirkpatrick Milbank, Gloria Steinem, and Jane Cunningham Croly.

Five display cases are devoted to the history of Ms. magazine, and its co-founder, Gloria Steinem, who graduated from Smith in 1956.

Before starting the popular magazine, Steinem wrote for Life, Esquire, and Glamour. She has authored several books and, in 1986, branched into television by becoming a correspondant for NBC's "Today Show."

Jane Cunningham Croly, also featured in the exhibit, began her career in 1854 with the New York Tribune and later went on to become a syndicated columnist.

A World War II display includes 1931 Smith graduate Helen Kirkpatrick Milbank, a Europe-based correspondent for the Chicago Daily News, Dudley Harmon, Helen Hiett, and Pauline Fredrick, best known for later working as a moderater in the Ford/Carter debates of 1976.

Post-war careers are highlighted by Ruth Mehrtens Galvin, a 1942 Smith graduate, who wrote for Life and Time magazines and later became first woman chief of the Boston Bureau of Time-Life news services.

One display exemplifies the progress of the women's movement in journalism following the career of Helen Gurley Brown. Brown, who started her career as a secretary, moved up into advertising and in 1963 authored the ground-breaking book Sex and the Single Girl, which made her an overnight celebrity. In 1965 she became editor-in-chief of Cosmopolitan and continued her successful career as an author with many best selling books.

"A Woman's Voice: 150 Years of Journalism" is on display in the reading room of the Sophia Smith Collection and College Archives in the Almunae Gymnasium. The exhibit runs until Jan. 6 and is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday through Friday and from 1 to 4 p.m. on Sundays.

Iron deficiency anemia; local experts give advice

HEALTHWATCH

By JANINE WARNER
Collegian Staff

Eating a well balanced diet with foods from all the basic food groups is the best prevention for iron deficiency anemia, according to local experts.

Symptoms of anemia, according to Robin Levine, a nutrionist at University Health Services, include fatigue, pale skin color, and bruising easily.

"Being really tired, when you know you've had enough sleep is the biggest symptom," she said, because the lack of iron means your body is not able to transfer enough oxygen from your lungs to other cells.

Dr. Fergus Clydesdale, professor and acting head of the Food Science and Nutrition Department at the University of Massachusetts cited dieting as one of the leading causes of iron-deficiency among women.

"People who diet on-and-off are vulnerable," Clydesdale said. Diets are very low in calories and there is a tendency not to eat a balanced diet, he said.

"If you do have to diet," he said, "I recommend foods with a high ratio of nutrition to calories."

Foods such as lean meats and plant foods low in fat and sugars but high in vitamins and minerals are good choices, he said.

Dieters often limit themselves to about 1200 calories a day, according to Levine. With a calorie limit that low, she said, it's almost impossible to get enough iron.

Clydesdale stressed that the best place to get nutrients is from food, but "if your lifestyle is such that you can't, you might consider taking an [iron] supplement."

Levine agreed that taking iron pills is better than nothing, but warned that "[supplements] may not be enough to save you from iron deficiency anemia."

Both Levine and Clydesdale said vitamin C has been found to increase the body's ability to absorb calcium.

That doesn't mean you should take a vitamin C supplement, said Clydesdale. But, he does encourage having a drink with vitamin C, such as tomato, grapefruit or orange juice along with a me:

Fortified breads a cereals can also offer a good source of iron, but be aware that "natural" cereals are not fortified, Clydesdale said. "Nutrients are considered additives in the eyes of the law."

Runners have an especially high incidence of anemia, Levine said. Women who maintain low body weights and exercise a lot seem to be at greater risk, she said.

Women who know anemia runs in their family should also be more careful, Levine said, suggesting that anyone concerned about anemia should make an appointment to be checked at UHS.

"I recommend that all women have iron levels checked on a regular basis," she said. "Make it a part of your yearly gynecological exam."

Women's Issues Desk welcomes writers and new ideas

October 31- November 4, 1988

Five College Communities
Alcohol Awareness Week

Be a Lifesaver: Don't Drink and Drive

TAKING DRINKING SERIOUSLY

Think about the first time you ever tasted alcohol - maybe a taste of dad's beer, or the champagne at a special occasion. Some of us never had much exposure to alcohol until junior or senior high school; some of us may have sneaked our first sips at a party; and others may not have tried it until college. There are some who for one reason or another have never touched the stuff, but the majority of us have had our share of experiences with alcohol. Even if you choose not to drink, chances are you have been affected by someone who does.

As our social life expands from the playground of childhood to the social mobility of adulthood, the reasons for continuing to drink become more complex. Sooner or later we usually drink a bit more than we can handle. After the experience of being drunk, and/or sick and hung over, some of us never touch the stuff again. However, for most, something they are getting or think they are getting out of alcohol makes them try it again.

An estimated 12.3 million Americans are thought to be alcoholics, and another 18.1 million problem drinkers. Alcohol is the nation's number one drug problem. It is a factor in nearly half of all accidental deaths, including suicides and homicides, and the National Institute of Drug Abuse estimates alcohol use to be responsible for 98,000 deaths annually. Alcohol abuse and alcoholism cost us hundreds and billions of dollars every year.

In our society, where alcohol is available everywhere, a person really has to make a choice not to drink. Helping a friend with a project, or mowing the lawn is a reasonable time to have a beer. Then after a long day comes a cocktail, and how about some wine with dinner? Later a drink with friends is appropriate, and surely some romantic candlelight and a night cap go hand in hand. There are just so many times to have a drink, that accepted times for drinking can be almost anytime, anywhere. Given enough of the times described, the person who chooses to drink may develop a problem. Alcohol is a drug and does have effects on the body. Isn't it time you learned the facts about alcohol?

Michael Andrukonis
Alcohol and Drug
Peer Educator

What kind of Drinker are you?

For most people drinking alcohol is a positive experience that adds enjoyment to our lives. For some people drinking alcohol becomes a central part of their lives and is no longer an enjoyable experience.

Take this test and find out for yourself.

- ☐ 1. Does having a good time usually mean having a drink?
- ☐ 2. Do you often take a drink to help you relax?
- ☐ 3. Do you sometimes forget what happened to you when you were drinking?
- ☐ 4. Do you often have a drink when you are by yourself?
- ☐ 5. Do you drink now more than you used to?
- ☐ 6. Do you often get drunk when you drink?
- ☐ 7. Do you often just start drinking without really thinking about it?
- ☐ 8. Did you ever drink so much that people had to help you home, or that you fell asleep wherever you were?
- ☐ 9. Have you ever felt bad about what you said or did while drinking?
- ☐ 10. Have your family or friends ever told you that they were unhappy about your drinking?
- ☐ 11. Have you ever missed or been unprepared for work or class because you'd been drinking?
- ☐ 12. Have you run out of money in the past because you spent too much money on alcohol?

If you answer 'yes' to a number of these questions, you may have a drinking problem.

Alcohol & Drug Resources On Campus

Health Services
Alcohol & Drug Education Program (549-2671 x181)

Mental Health
127 Hills North (545-2337)

Alcoholics Anonymous (732-9283)
Meetings held 11:15 am Monday-Wednesday-Friday at Newman Center and Tues-Thurs at Campus Center

Al-Anon (734-7479)
Meetings Held 12 noon Thursday - Campus Center

Narcotics Anonymous (538-7479)
Meetings are held 7pm Saturday - Campus Center

"Remembering Loved Ones"

On Thursday, November 3, 1988 at 4:00 pm. on the Amherst Town Commons, a memorial service will be held to remember loved ones lost in drunk driving accidents. Since Monday of this week, a table has been set up in the Campus Center for anyone to make a flag in memory of someone close to them who has died as a result of a drunk driving accident. This table will be on the concourse today and tomorrow until noon. Also,a similar table will be on the Town Commons tomorrow from 2:00 pm until the actual service begins.

These flags will be gathered together and placed on the Commons for the memorial service. This will be a time to remember our loved ones, as well as to raise the consciousness of the general public. We want everyone to recognize our loses as a result of these tragic incidents and to understand fully that we can do our best to prevent drunk driving. No one wants to lose their loved ones.

Doris C. Aiken Comes to UMass

Doris Aiken will be on campus tonight, Wednesday, November 2, 1988 at 7:00 pm in the 2nd floor classroom of Gorman Residance Hall. She will be showing the film entitled 'Until I get Caught' and leading a discussion on the topic of Drunk Driving. Ms. Aiken is a director on the National Commission against Drunk Driving, and is the founder and President of RID-USA, Inc., the oldest national grass roots citizen organization, now active in more than 30 states. We are honored to have her here and invite everyone to attend.

Drunk Driving Laws Around The World

- In the Soviet Union, lifetime revocation of driver's license.
- In France, three-year loss of license, a year in jail, $1000 fine.
- In South Africa, 10 years in jail or $10,000 fine, or both.
- In El Salvador, execution by firing squad.
- In Bulgaria, execution.
- In Sweden or Finland, one year in jail at hard labor.
- In Norway, three weeks' hard work, one-year loss of license.
- In Malaysia, jail (if driver is married, spouse is jailed too).
- In England, one year in jail. $250 fine, one year suspension.

Sponsored by
University Health Services Health Education Division
Karen Jacobus, Editor/Coordinator Alcohol and Drug Education Program
Lauren Johnson, Peer Alcohol and Drug Education Program

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS
PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

To whom it may concern —

I think she may be mad at me

"She said, 'I'll see ya soon' and then hung up the phone. That was three weeks ago. I haven't heard from her since."

"You think she's trying to tell you something?"
"What? That she doesn't want to see me any more?"

"It's just a thought. . . . Maybe that's not it. Maybe she fell off the edge of the earth. Or maybe she got picked up by a U.F.O. Maybe it was a case of spontaneous combustion — her body might have just burst into a flame and then she disappeared. I'd say any of those reasons is a legitimate one for her not calling you."

Bob Bobala

"No. She's still alive. A couple of my friends have seen her around."

"Maybe she just hates you. . . . Or maybe she finally got a good look at all that hair on your legs and decided it was time to fly. That's reasonable."

"No."
"It's not reasonable?"
"Well, she may hate me, but at least I don't have hair on my back."
"True."
"We got into kind of a fight."
"Oh, now you tell me."
"I tried to discuss it with her, but she just said, 'I don't want to talk about it.'"
"Talking isn't easy."
"After that I tried to just forget about it for a day or two until our tempers cooled down. Then I called her — three days in a row. I had hoped to get together so we could straighten everything out. But she had plans. And the last time I talked to her that's what she said to me — 'I'll see ya soon.' So I decided to let her call me."
"And that's when the U.F.O. got her?"
"I told you, there was no U.F.O.!"
"Maybe a space alien invaded her body and erased her memory. She probably doesn't remember who you are!"
"Please."
"Sorry."
"Relationships are a funny thing. You might start off as friends. Then you start to date. Then you hate each other."
"Do you hate her?"
"Of course not. I'm just upset. It's not my fault."
"It takes two to tango."
"I'm not talking about dancing here."
"That's right. I forgot. You never did like dancing."

"It's pretty ironic, now that I think about it. The best thing about our relationship was our communication. I could talk to her better than I could talk to anyone."
"Better than your dog?"
"Better than my dog. But in the end it was a lack of communication that broke us apart."

"Oh, the blood is just dripping from my heart."
"You know, you'd think that if two people really liked each other, the thing to do would be to get involved."
"I don't know. Involved is a harsh word."
"I'm not talking about engagement."
"Oh, you mean a loose dating relationship."
"Yeah, but sometimes even that isn't the best thing."
"Oh, give it a rest. You're just moping because you're going to miss having a date on Saturday night."

"I miss her friendship."
"Well, then call her."
"I don't know. She needs her space."
"Three weeks? Come on. She doesn't need the whole Western Hemisphere."
"I don't want to suffocate her."
"Send her some oxygen. Call her."
"We'll see."
Bob Bobala is a Collegian columnist

"OF COURSE A LOT OF VOTERS ARE STILL UNDECIDED. . . . THEY DON'T KNOW WHETHER TO VOTE FOR GEORGE BUSH OR AGAINST MIKE DUKAKIS! . . . "

In other news. . .

When the US trade deficit narrowed dramatically in July, optimists were sure that its improvement would go on gathering momentum, but pessimists warned, "Wait a while." Last week the August figures were released, and the pessimists were proved right. The gap between imports and exports widened to $12.2 billion, up from July's $9.5 billion. While the deficit has been shrinking this year — to an estimated total of $140 billion, compared with $170 billion in 1987 — progress may be slowing. That prospect has aborted the US dollar's summer rally. The currency fell last week to 128.25 yen, capping a decline of four percent since August. The plunging dollar reflected the belief among traders that a weaker currency will be necessary to wean us consumers from foreign imports.

—Time Magazine, Oct. 24.

A parade of assumptions

UMass administration forgets civility

On Thursday, Oct. 27, over 4,000 students joined in "Hands Across UMass" and demonstrated their civility. On Friday, Oct. 28, over 19,000 students received their finals schedule and discovered the University of Massachusetts administration's inconsistency and hypocrisy.

During a week dedicated to understanding and accepting differences in others, Jewish students were given the shaft once again as finals were scheduled for Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath and day of rest.

Stephen Bayer

It's surprising that this hasn't been brought up before. UMass has a large, active and vocal Jewish community. Groups such as Hillel fight in behalf of Soviet Jews' right to worship in their own country. But who shall fight for UMass Jews' right to worship on their own campus? If something as discriminatory as this can pass unnoticed, it is surely a sign of institutional anti-Jewish oppression.

Andrew Young talked about this during his Civility Day speech. People who grow up without learning about difference and who ignore all but their own interests and beliefs become culturally retarded. The UMass administration, by not respecting and thus not understanding the needs of Jewish students on campus, is culturally retarded.

But arrangements have been made, say the administrators. Any student who desires to observe the Sabbath may reschedule an exam for another time. Fast, quick, easy — problem solved.

This only blurs the real situation. If we understand it correctly, Jewish students must make special arrangements in order to take their exam. Special arrangements that thousands of non-Jewish students do not have to worry about. It may be fast, quick and easy, but it is an extra effort that practicing Jews are forced to take in order to graduate. It's almost as if they were being penalized for practicing their religion. Where's the civility in that?

This is just one example of an ongoing ignorance of Jewish students' needs. Exams are also scheduled on the Jewish high holy days of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. There is a dearth of ethnic Jewish food at the dining commons (except for the token matzos during Passover; Kosher Dining Commons is too far away and expensive for many.) And the administration, including Joseph Duffey, have been exceedingly wishy-washy in condemning the anti-Jewish remarks of Louis Farrakhan, who may speak on campus next semester.

Farrakhan is a powerful black speaker who suggests many good and worthwhile issues relating to black power. It is unfortunate, however, that he must couch his message in hatred. Duffey must ally himself with the Jewish community on campus and defend their right to worship and exist as they please.

The solutions to some of these concerns may be obviously simple, perhaps simplistic to other, more cynical, observers. Do not schedule exams on Saturday and start finals earlier to account for that day. Allow Farrakhan to speak on campus but either fund it privately or ask him to speak for free. Student monies should not be used for a speaker who not all students can feel free to go hear. Why should Jewish students pay money to be oppressed when they can get it for free every day?

Four thousand students linking hands across campus was inspirational. Now let's continue the process of civility that the chain represented.

Stephen Bayer is a Collegian columnist

Letters

Nice guys are needed in a nasty world

Apparently Nancy Cohen, like many other University of Massachusetts students, are too selfish to understand the viewpoint of the "nice guy." ("Symptoms of the Nice Guy syndrome Oct. 26) The "disease" as the quacks for experts (who are these masked men anyway?) call it is not a damaging one.

Being a nice guy doesn't hurt our society. In fact, in today's materialistic and selfish world, being unselfish, helpful and in short, a nice guy cold only help. What happened to the goodness that used to predominate? What happened to the caring for another human being?

I am a nice guy. I do the things that Cohen so clearly itemized and some she didn't, gladly. I do these kind acts for a reason. I do it for reciprocation. If I were hitchhiking I would want the first car to pick me up. It would behoove me to return the favor to someone just as needy. Did you ever have too many groceries or have a task too difficult to do alone? Besides your friends (if they really are friends) who could you count on?

Everybody gripes about where our society is heading, yet no one is doing anything about it. Well, almost no one except the few and the proud. Unfortunately Cohen hasn't.

Ruben Aparicio
Amherst

Excise tax makes students pay for mistakes

I can hear it now, "If it's not the University of Massachusetts, now who's asking me for money?" There is a proposed $50 annual excise tax for college students living in Amherst. As a lifetime resident of Amherst and now one of the many UMass students, I face the possibility of paying even more money to attend school.

A $50 annual tax of students would bring in an estimated $1.4 million per year for the town of Amherst. My question is this: How much does the town and its more permanent occupants have to pay to support the students? Most weekend mornings, my mother awakes to survey the damage to our mailbox done by people stumbling home from parties. This is not an uncommon occurrence in areas near the apartment complexes. Where does the trash in the streets come from that the townspeople pay its public works to clean? My parents and I pay a lot of taxes to this town, so why shouldn't you?

I am not in favor of paying a $50 tax, but I am in favor of a little consideration paid by the students of our University. Either way, it's not too much to ask, is it?

Seth H. Fischer
Amherst

Going Out Of Business Sale

50% OFF

Sale Starts Mon., Oct. 31.

Everything must go...

All merchandise and Store Fixtures FOR SALE

No goods included in sale other than those listed in the inventory filed with the city.

ALL SALES FINAL

FINE'S

Open Thursdays until 9 p.m.

Terms: Cash, VISA, Mastercard

36 Main Street, Northampton
105 Elm Street, Westfield

BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN

WE ARE SEEKING TO FILL TWO POSITIONS ON OUR STUDENT MANAGEMENT STAFF BEGINNING NEXT SEMESTER.

ASSISTANT MANAGER - REQUIRES A MATURE, ENERGETIC AND FLEXIBLE PERSON WITH FOOD SERVICE EXPERIENCE.

ACCOUNTANT - REQUIRES A WELL ORGANIZED PERSON WITH GOOD MATH SKILLS AND COMMUNICATIVE ABILITY.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS AND APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE THRU NOV. 14TH AT BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN OFFICE, CLARK HILL ROAD

Attention ALL INDEX

(Yearbook) Staff

Mandatory Layout Workshop
Wednesday
Nov. 2 at 6:30

New Members Welcome

ARTS/LIVING

Asimov's Voyage II more than Fantastic

By JAMES CHRISTENSEN
Collegian Correspondent

Fantastic Voyage II: Destination Brain
By Isaac Asimov
Bantam

Much can be said for combining science fact with science fiction, and no one does it better than Isaac Asimov. He has consistently put out solid works that splice scientific laws with theory and imagination.

Fantastic Voyage II: Destination Brain is a sequel, in concept only, of The Fantastic Voyage. Asimov adapted the first from a screeplay, the second, however, is completely his own. The fundamental structuring concepts throughout most of the novel are the theory, use and problems of miniaturization. These structuring concepts are explored through the conflicts and exploits of 5 main characters: an unwilling American and four somewhat gung-ho Soviets. The plot is simple. A group of scientists are miniaturized and injected into another scientist. The sub-plots are variant and interesting, and they stretched beyond science. Conflicts stem from nationalism, love and its denial, as well as the myriad created by miniaturization.

Asimov is to be commended for not allowing such an interesting concept to dominate the action. He does explore its merits and implications, however. He is also able to avoid predictability. There are many events which are unexpected, causing the reader to say "Ah, now I get it."

The description of the journey through the blood vessels and tissues is detached and precise. Special care is given to letting the reader know just how small the voyagers are. Asimov is detached also in his explanation of the properties of cell size and even molecule-size objects. Physical laws are brought up and discussed without leaving the reader lost, nor does the reader get hit over the head with repetitious facts and explanation.

Perhaps the most enjoyable part of reading Fantastic Voyage II: Destination Brain is its change in tone from start to finish. It begins and develops as a rather depressing story full of unresolved conflicts, but finishes off wonderfully. All conflicts are not resolved, but we see the hero come into his own.

continued on page 11

Hamlisch at the FAC

Award winning stage and screen composer Marvin Hamlisch will bring his classic music to the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall tomorrow at 8 p.m.

The Marvin Hamlisch in Concert production promises to be a fine evening of music and laughter, and will surely be a winner.

Hamlisch is the recipient of many prestigious awards including the Pulitzer Prize, Tony Award, three Oscars, four Grammys and two Golden Globe Awards. Well known for his scoring of The Sting and The Way We Were, as well as creating the music for nearly 30 other motion pictures and the Broadway hits A Chorus Line and They're Playing Our Song, Marvin Hamlisch has appeared as a guest artist with countless symphony orchestras including the Los Angeles Philharmonic, the New York Philharmonic and the Royal Philharmonic in London.

Accomplished singer Valerie Lemon will join Hamlisch as guest vocalist.

Tickets are available at the Fine Arts Center Box Office for $25, $23, and $21. Mastercard and Visa are accepted. Call 545-2511.

Southern bands bond to produce the music

By JENNIFER HUGHES
and CHEETIE KUMAR
Special To The Collegian

Numerous theories have been offered regarding the reasons why there is so much musical activity coming from the southern states.

Some think there is sometning in the water. Others suggest there is a scientific correlation between heat and good rock'n'roll. Yet it is relatively easy to see (and hear) that a close knit community, and word of mouth, can get a promising act on its feet and out producing quality sounds. It's only a matter of time.

Some good examples of this musical comraderie are Athens Georgia's The Squalls, Atlanta based, Drivin'n'Cryin, and south Florida's Charlie Pickett.

The Squalls are a band that has played together longer than most Athens bands. Their catchy pop songs intertwine vocals with jangly melodies to create an irresistibly addicting sound. The Squalls cannot be lumped in with every other guitar oriented pop band. Their music is unique in their choice of instrumentation, including violins, keyboards, and saxaphones.

Demographics gave The Squalls the opportunity to be in the film Athens Georgia; Inside/Out, where their single "Na Na Na Na" was exposed to college radio. In April 1987, the soundtrack reached No. 3 on Rockpool's College Radio Charts, and soon led to the release of their debut LP, Rebel Shoes on Dog Gone Records. The album attracted critical attention from The College Music Journal to the Wall Street Journal, and their latest effort, No Time has proven once again that The Squalls are not a band to be missed.

Athens is not the only part of Georgia contributing to new music. Atlanta-based Drivin'n'Cryin got their start sounding a bit lighter than they do today. After evolving into the power trio they've become, they were signed to 688 Records. In 1986, Scarred But Smarter was released, shedding light on yet another great Georgia band. The energetic force of the band gives them the versatility to put their name to work. The contrast between the powerful electric guitar riffs on some songs and the acoustic ballads adding mandolins to the melodies give Drivin'n'Cryin a unique sound that is pleasing to all ears.

In 1987, Drivin'n'Cryin struck a deal with Island Records and in early 1988, The Whisper Tames The Lion

continued on page 10

THE
EDWIN M. ROSSMAN
ALUMNI CAREER FORUMS

INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING

DATE: THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1988
TIME: 8:00 PM
LOCATION: CAMPUS CENTER RM 174-76

SPONSORED BY:
UNIVERSITY PLACEMENT SERVICE
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING

This is an opportunity to meet with alumni and discuss their experiences in the working world. Don't miss this important panel discussion!

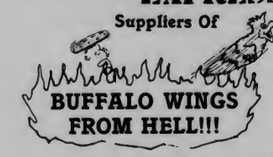
ALUMNI PANELISTS:

Richard G. McGee, '67	Manufacturing Manager Digital Equipment/Westminster
Patricia Donaldson, '79	Marketing Services Manager Sigma Instruments
Paul Washburn, '81	Principal Industrial Engineer Digital Equipment
Robert Smith, '88	Controller Amherst Information Systems

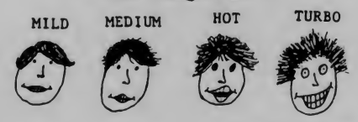
For more information, please contact:
University Placement Service, University Career Center
545-2224

Murph's
UNDERGROUND EXPRESS

Suppliers Of



BUFFALO WINGS FROM HELL!!!



10 pcs.	3.95	or PARTY BUCKETS
20 pcs.	6.95	50 pcs.	15.95
30 pcs.	10.45	75 pcs.	22.95

Served with chunky bleu cheese and fresh celery.

New! Chicken Strip Tenders ONLY 4.95!
w/BBQ & Duck Sauce or have them Buffalo Style!

ALSO FEATURING

Potato Skins	4.25	Onion Rings	1.75
Mozzerella Sticks	3.25	Steak Fries	1.50
Cheesed Cauliflower	2.50	Cole Slaw	.95
Mushroom Caps	2.25	Potato Salad	.95
Zucchini Circles	1.75	Macaroni Salad	.95

Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream- All Flavors-2.95

Coke-Diet Coke-Sunkist-Sprite-A&W
Cans-.65 Liters-1.35

TAKE OUT OR DELIVERY * Prices do not include 5% Meals Tax *

Tues.-Thurs. 5pm-2am
Fri.& Sat. 5pm-3am
Sunday 5pm-1am
Closed Mondays

FREE DELIVERY!

549-7771

(Caution: Watch out for cheaper imitations)

■ southern bands

continued from page 9

was released, produced by Anton Fier (backbone of the Golden Palominos). The transition to a major label certainly did not affect the quality of Drivin'n'Cryin's new material. It has only gotten better.

Southern comraderie is not limited by state borders. One guitarist has proven that even as far south as Miami, Florida, good music is constantly being born. Charlie Pickett started in the early 80's with Southern Fried Punk. His discography is an interesting one. His first LP, a live disc, was appropriately titled Live At The Button. Cowboy Junkie-A-Go-Go, a five song EP, and Route 33 followed. His latest work, Wilderness, is on Safety Net Records, and boasts a quality, house-rocking, and most importantly, honest sound of which Pickett has cornered the market. Two tracks, both written by 30's blues legend Son House, feature R.E.M.'s Peter Buck accompanying Pickett on guitar. Charlie Pickett is currently on a national tour, and chances are good that he will be going overseas to tour Europe soon.

There's still more to come. Stay tuned for . . . The Connells.

Jennifer Hughes and Cheetie Kumar are WMUA dj's.

Two years later, The Vestrymen push the limits of Green and Sensible

By CHRISTOPHER PISANO
Collegian Correspondent

Late in the fall of 1986, October to be exact, four college student/musicians got together for a jam session. Liking what they heard, and with the opportunity to play a gig at Amherst College, they collectively decided to give it a go as a band. Opening for Game Theory at Amherst, it was soon apparent that this talented quartet was here to stay. And so, from this humble beginning, The Vestrymen were born.

Well, The Vestrymen are no longer a quartet, but they are still around — and more than ever. Consisting of drummer Chris Weinberg, keyboardist/vocalist Jeff Colby, guitarist/vocalist Matthew Davis, bass guitarist Timo Lipping and latest addition Andy Boose on guitar, the Vestrymen started off as a psychedelic rock band. They even burned incense on stage as they performed. So much, in fact, that at one gig a fire alarm was set off.

In the beginning, "incense made up more weight on stage than the musicians," Weinberg admitted.

Today, however, the band and its music have noticeably matured. Whereas in the past years the band played at one level — loud — they now show more diversity: "We play quiet music quiet and loud music loud," Weinberg said.

Another fact worth noting is that the majority of the songs performed are originals, written and arranged by members of the group.

Practicing up to four days a week and constantly working on new material, it is apparent that these guys are serious. With two tapes out Sensible and Green, they seem to be doing well in the local scene. The band has and will be playing such hot spots as Sheehan's and Katina's and say they are looking forward to more gigs at the five colleges where, one member joked, "the real money is."

In concert, the Vestrymen are far from the flashy, dime-a-dozen top 40 bands that seem to come and go in the blink of an eye. Dressed simply (no leopard skin spandex, studded leather and/or effeminate makeup), the group plays through each of their sets with the intensity and prowess of true musicians. Never losing momentum, The Vestrymen are capable of sending their audience into a dancing frenzy. With bass player Lipping jumping wildly around the stage and singer/guitarist Davis keeping pace in his unique way, they're not only a treat for the ear, but also for the eye.

How does the band describe its music? Lipping said "it's a little bit of funk and a little bit of the Red Hot Chili Peppers."

How does the band describe its audience? After a slight pause, Weinberg said, "We play for the mature college crowd. Everybody digs us."

Finally, how did the band get its peculiar name, The Vestrymen? Perhaps no one will ever know. At any rate, they refused to divulge the secret to me. Lipping did, however, say that he thought it was a cool name.

They're a pretty cool band as well.

Collegian photo by Thom Devlin

The Vestrymen

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE

Weekly drink specials and never a line at the door!

Here's another TOC extra Wing-Ding

Hot and spicy chicken wings FREE every Wed. night at 9:00

Lounge Hours:
Mon-Fri: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat-Sun: 4:00 pm-12:30 am

11th Floor Campus Center • (413) 549-6000 ext. 7634
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

WHEN IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA VISIT UNIVERSAL STUDIOS TOUR AN MCA COMPANY

You see them on the street. You watch them on TV.
You might even vote for one this fall.
You think they're people just like you.
You're wrong. Dead wrong.
JOHN CARPENTER'S
THEY LIVE
OPENS FRIDAY AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU.

DELANO'S
Proper Identification A Must
57 NORTH PLEASANT ST • 253-5141

Drink of the Week
WHITE RUSSIAN $2.50
Beer of the Month
DOS EQUIS $1.75

Wednesday Night is Kahlua Giveaway Night!
Sunday Night is Monte Python Night!

Thursday Night is Student Night at Burger King

BURGER KING

Present school ID and receive 10 % off purchase not good with any other offer.
OFFER GOOD 4 p.m. to Midnight

King Street Northampton Rt. 9 Hadley
Offer Expires 12/16/88

Garage band The Lyres bring their 60s sound to Pearl Street tomorrow night with locals The Malarians opening.

■ Asimov

continued from page 9

On the negative side there is little to be said, and it is hard to put in terms that don't sound overly opinionistic. The problem lies in the characters. I simply did not identify with most of them. The exceptions being a rotund Soviet with a sharp wit, a taste for vodka and a saying for anything, and the hero, but only near the end. Maybe the reason for my dislike of some of the main characters is the persistence in which they harp on the lack of funding for their project. I stopped counting how many times the Soviet character cursed the bureaucratic government when I ran out of fingers and toes. It began to sound a lot like George Bush calling Mike Dukakis a "liberal."

Fantastic Voyage II is a must for Asimov readers and I strongly recommend curious fiction readers to judge for themselves. The subject matter touched on in this novel does not put it out of the reach of any reader who finds the idea of miniaturization interesting.

UNIVERSAL JOINT

EVERY TUESDAY BLUES JAM w/ WMUA's Blue Bill FREE
THURSDAY NOV. 3 THE LYRES w/ The Malarians $5
FRIDAY NOV. 4 DREAMS SO REAL w/ The Grave Gods
All ages show sponsored by WMUA 8:30 p.m. Nightime Show at 9:30 p.m. $5 Arista recording artists from Athens GA
SATURDAY NOV. 5 COMEDY with LAs, NYs and Boston's Finest 8-10 pm
AFTERWARDS THE INCREDIBLE CASUALS
$7 for Comedy & Music, $5 for Music
SUNDAY NOV. 6 THE CONNELLS

Nov. 10 LOOSE CABOOSE
NOV. 12 COMEDY/MIGHTY SAM McCLAIN
DEC. 1 THE JAMES COTTON BAND
NOV. 11 EVAN JOHNS & THE H-BOMBS
NOV. 17 DUMPTRUCK
DEC. 9 TREAT HER RIGHT
DEC. 12 THE SCREAMING TRIBESMEN

U. JOINT downstairs at Pearl Northampton 584-7771

Kiss Me!

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

From NEW YORK	one way
LONDON	179
PARIS	229
ROME	259
round trip
CARACAS	320
ST. THOMAS	260
HONGKONG	739

Taxes not included.
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes.
EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

興旺樓
Chinese Kitchen
Quality Chinese Food at a Low Price
Spend $10.00 and get 1 pint of Pork Fried Rice FREE
Good Only In Hadley Store
Hadley-430 Russel St., 253-2571 Northampton-150 King St., 586-8221

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED
The Legal Services Center has positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for Spring, 1989 semester.
This is a challenging opportunity for students from a variety of majors and disciplines to gain valuable legal experience.
Responsibilities include:
• client interviewing
• attendance at hearings
• preparation of court forms
• maintenance of continuing caseload
• investigations and research
Up to 15 credits may be earned.
CONTACT LEGAL SERVICES, ROOM 922 CAMPUS CENTER (545-1995)
BY NOVEMBER 4, 1988.
LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

The Five College Hillel Foundation Proudly Presents
a YIDDISH
"H.M.S. PINAFORE"
By Gilbert & Sullivan

(With English Narration and Summaries.)
Saturday, November 5
8:00 p.m.
Smith College, Sage Hall
A presentation of the Light Opera Company of Long Island
$9 general, $5 students & senior citizens
Tickets: UMass Hillel, Food for Thought, Amherst; Smith Hillel, Bevond Words, Broadside Bookshop, Northampton; Springfield Jewish Community Center, Temple Israel, Greenfield

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

Wednesday is Game Night at Mike's
CASH PRIZES

SPECIALS

Busch Pitchers.....3.75
Bud Light Bottles.....1.25
Wall Bangers.....1.75

Copeland croons his blues to a Sheehan's crowd

By JOSEPH MCGUIGAN
Collegian Correspondent

Johnny Copeland
Sheehan's
Thursday and Friday

Blues guitarist and singer Johnny Copeland rocked Sheehan's in Northampton this past Thursday and Friday nights.

The Houston-born Copeland and his band drove up from New York City after visiting Copeland's mentor and friend Albert Collins who was playing at the Lone Star.

Copeland is still riding the wave of popularity following his Grammy award-winning album Showdown on which he teamed up with Collins and Robert Cray. That record greatly increased Copeland's legion of followers, and as the throng on the dance floor indicated, his originals are also a big hit.

Two new members of his band are Orris "Scooter" Warner on drums, and Mike Kindred, who replaces Kenny Vangel on piano. Long-time bassist Michael Merritt and guitairst Ken Pino are still with the band. They provided a tight pulsating beat to Copeland's sustained guitar attack.

Songs such as "When the Rain Starts Falling," "Don't Stop By the Creek Son," "Houston" and "Big Time," made the studio versions sound tame in comparison to their covers at Sheehan's. One new slow song he sang both nights, "Greater Man," has particularly poignant lyrics and will be on his next album.

Johnny Copeland and his band are up in Nova Scotia and points north for the next few weeks. Let's hope he gets back to rock Sheehan's sometime soon.

Arts notes

Northampton carpenter/craftsman Jim Locke will sign his newly published book, The Apple Corps Guide to the Well-Built House from 7 to 9 p.m. today at the Broadside Bookshop at 247 Main Street in Northampton.

In his book, Locke presents his own practical philosophy of the entire house-building process. He spells out everything one needs to know before having a new house built or an old one remodeled. The book's goal is to enable the owner to become an informed participant in the building enterprise.

★★★

Remember Free Press, one of the more "offbeat" ensembles to come down the pike? Well, assorted members of this maleable band will hit the stage to open up the Uncle Martha show tonight at the Hatch. Get there early if you want to catch Scoop Scarpino (bass), Rockin' Dave (washboard, vocals), Bill Rock (percussion), Ollie (drums), and Al Arpad on backing vocals.

SAME DAY FILM PROCESSING

FILM IN BY 10 AM / PRINTS BY 4 PM
1-HOUR SERVICE ALSO AVAILABLE

A Different Money-Saving Special Every Day . . .

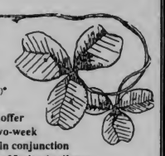
MON: 25% OFF FILM & ALBUMS
TUE: LARGE SAVINGS ON REPRINTS
WED: 2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1
THU: 1 FREE 5x7 PRINT WITH EVERY 3
FRI: SAVE ON 5x7 SUPER PRINTS
EVERY DAY: A SECOND SET OF PRINTS AT A SUBSTANTIAL DISCOUNT

The Foto Factory
257 TRIANGLE ST. / AMHERST

Spend the New Year in Dublin !

December 26, 1988-
January 7, 1989

The Irish Tradition
An Interdisciplinary Course (2 s.h.)*



Elms College is proud to offer another extraordinary two-week program in Irish studies in conjunction with National University of Ireland colleges. "The Irish Tradition" features a series of outstanding on-site lectures and informal talks by Irish personalities.

The Venue

The Abbey Theatre, the Folklore Commission and St. Patrick's College in Dublin
Traditional Cottages and the Music Scene in Clare
Irish Language and Culture in Galway
The Connemara and Dingle Gaeltachts
Siamsa - The National Folktheatre in Kerry
The Medieval Feast at Bunratty in Limerick

Cost: $1075 plus applicable tuition (includes round-trip airfare, ground transportation, accommodations, breakfast, and all program-related events.)

Gaelic Sport (2 s.h.) and Social Work in Ireland (2 s.h.) will also be offered.*

For More Information Call:
The College of Our Lady of the Elms at (413) 594-2761 (ext 222) or 586-3412

AmHERST CINEMA

"PERVERSELY FASCINATING" "PROVOCATIVE"

HANDMADE FILMS PRESENTS
A NICOLAS ROEG FILM
TRACK 29
THERESA RUSSELL GARY OLDMAN and CHRISTOPHER LLOYD
R
1987 Hand Made Films (1987) Partnership
Western Mass. Premiere
2- showings 7:00 and 9:15 in the center of Amherst
AMITY ST. 253-5426

NORTHROP FELLOWSHIPS

Northrop — where we designed the world's most advanced aircraft in a paperless environment, and invested in advanced computers and training to be named Computerworld's most effective user of information systems among aerospace companies — is offering attractive work study fellowships for those interested in pursuing a career in Engineering, Computer Science or Manufacturing.

You will earn salary, benefits and a $15,000 yearly stipend. Northrop will also cover books, fees and tuition. You'll work half-time during the school year, full-time on breaks and holidays. You must be admitted for the fall 1989 class at UCLA, MIT, UC Irvine or USC, into one of the programs identified for eligibility, and qualify for any security or special access clearances.

For more information, please contact Dr. James McNeely at (213) 332-1514, or write: NORTHROP CORPORATION, College Relations, One Northrop Ave., 30/138/52, Hawthorne, CA 90250. Northrop is an Equal Opportunity Employer M/F/H/V.

NORTHROP

ATTENTION WINTER SESSION STUDENTS
ENGLISH 112 PLACEMENT TEST

For students planning to take English 112 during Winter Session 1989

Test will be administered

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1988
7 p.m., Room 206, Bartlett Hall

No one will be admitted into English 112 without this test. Bring ID and pen or pencil. This test is administered free of charge.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

GOLDMAN'S BIOGRAPHY PAINTED A SHOCKING NEW PICTURE OF CANDIDATE BILL...
CRITICAL UNDECIDED VOTER
BILL AS A VEGGIESAUAL: THE RECLUSIVE RAMADAN YAN YEARS WITH A CABBAGE.
BILL AS A TARTILES & JAYMES JUNKIE": THE LOST WEEKEND WITH GARFIELD AND FELIX.
BILL OUT OF CONTROL: SQUIRTING FIRE EXTINGUISHERS AT LIZ TAYLOR AT THE BETTY FORD CENTER...
FSSSS.

"If it were necessary to give the briefest possible definition of imperialism, we should have to say that imperialism is the monopoly stage of capitalism."

- Vladimir I. Lenin

Daily Crossword Puzzle

Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

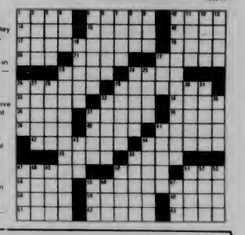
ACROSS
1 Choice item
5 Mountain detritus
10 Strip on a shoe
14 Top-notch
15 Marry secretly
16 Conception
17 Plump red-breast?
19 — Bel Abbès, Algeria
20 Tachometer readout
21 With 'at': sergeant's command
22 Flower part
23 Cod or Hatteras
24 Heroic poem
26 Vocalize
29 Atlas additions
32 Picture puzzle
33 Lineman
34 Comic Johnson
36 Ancient Greek contest
37 Appomon
38 Birth veil
39 Dispatched
40 TV's Grandpa Walton
41 Lurard
42 Green Mountain State
44 Odors
45 Indian philosophy
46 European valley
47 Part of NASA
50 It begins at forty
51 Angeles lead-in
54 Actor James — Jones
55 Inflexible Martins?
58 Japanese native
59 Papal garment
60 Piedmont province
61 Slovenly one
62 More dreadful
63 Name for a Dalmatian

DOWN
1 Young salmon
2 Airplane maneuver
3 E pluribus —
4 Chess pieces
5 Mexican wrap
6 Shut
7 Garment
8 Precedes core
9 Poet's time of day
10 Sagacious saltine?
11 Do a journalist's job
12 Mother of Castor and Pollux
13 Kite part
18 College officials
22 Dessert offering
23 #5 iron for rural use?
24 Biblical town
25 Attention getter
26 Popular investments
27 Israeli desert
28 Kind of steak
29 Shoreline feature
30 Prepare for a bout
31 Acrobatic feat
33 Turgenev heroine
35 Fraternal organization
37 Spellbound
41 RR timetable
43 Larry, — and Curly: The 3 Stooges
44 Permit
46 Winchester or Springfield
47 Yellow and Black
48 Bucket
49 River at Florence
50 Anamas; for one
51 Speech defect
52 To a position upon
53 Part of a revue
55 Sward
56 Prefix with cycle
57 Ethiopian prince

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

U	T	E	S		S	A	D	A		A	C	I	A
S	A	L	E		A	R	A	L		M	A	I	L
E	T	A	P	E		A	N	I	L	E		H	A	L
D	I	S		A	S	S		M	A	D	R	I	S
			E	C	H	O		R	O	S	S	I
C	R	I	M	E		P	I	N	T		O	S	S
L	I	M	B		W	O	O	D		S	I	S	C	H
O	I	L		P	A	I	N	T		T	E	N		O
U	L	E		A	L	L	E	Y		E	A	R		N
		R	A	B	I			E	M	P	T	O	R
A	Y	D	O	C	A	T		A	P	I	S	T	S
M	A	N	H	A	T	T	A	N		R	O	L	L	O
A	I	R	E	D		R	I	D		O	R	E	G	O
H	E	L	I	O		D	O	Y	M	E		S	T	E	N

11/2/88



Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau

GOVERNOR DUKAKIS, WE'VE JUST RECEIVED WORD THAT THE CAMPAIGN IS OVER. HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT THAT?
WELL, BARBARA, I'LL BE LOOKING INTO THIS MATTER. I'LL BE STUDYING IT. I WANT TO HAVE ALL THE FACTS IN FRONT OF ME SO I CAN ASSESS THE SITUATION.
YES, BUT WHAT ARE YOUR FEELINGS, GOVERNOR? ARE YOU FEELING ANGER? PAIN?
BARBARA, AS THE SON OF GREEK IMMIGRANTS, I FEEL PAIN. WHAT ARE YOU DOING?
UH... I'M JUST TOUCHING YOUR SLEEVE REASSURINGLY.
PLEASE DON'T DO THAT.

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

LOOK WHAT MOM MADE ME! A SUPER HERO OUTFIT!
DON'T I LOOK COOL? NOW I CAN FIGHT CRIME WITHOUT ANYONE KNOWING MY TRUE IDENTITY!
YEP, I'M ALL SET NOW!
...SO! SEEN ANY CRIMES?
WHY DO YOU CARE THAT NOBODY KNOWS YOUR IDENTITY?

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

YOU BETTER STOP HECKLING ME IF YOU KNOW WHAT'S GOOD FOR YA!!!
OH YEAH?! WHAT ARE YOU GONNA DO??
AHHHAH HA! HA!
OH STOP IT IGG... YOU'RE KILLIN...
NAP
EAT THAT STATIC... RADIC...

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

ANOTHER WORD FROM THE VICE PRESIDENT...
SAY, GANG, THERE'S SOME VICIOUS RUMORS FLOATING ABOUT.
SOME SORE LOSERS ARE TELLING PEOPLE THAT I CUT A DEAL WITH IRAN IN 1980.
WELL, IT'S A BUNCH OF COCKEY DOODEE!
(PICK A NUT, ANY NUT)
DO YOURSELF A FAVOR AND PAY NO ATTENTION TO THOSE LEFT WING FREAKS WHO THINK I GAVE IRAN A FEW BILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF WEAPONS - SOME OF THE SAME WEAPONS USED AGAINST U.S. SERVICEMEN IN THE PERSIAN GULF. IT'S ALL HORSE HOOEY!
(PICK A NUT, ANY NUT)
SO WHEN YOU VOTE FOR ME NEXT TUESDAY, DO IT WITH A CRYSTAL CLEAR CONSCIENCE (GO AHEAD, PICK A NUT.)

Menu

Lunch	Basics Lunch
Hamburger on Roll	Oatburgers (neigh)
Sausage Grinder	Caponata w/Pocket Bread
Dinner	Basics Dinner
Sweet and Sour Chicken Fingers	Sweet and Sour Chicken Fingers
Pineapple Ham Steak	Tofu Pattie/Pineapple Ring

Weather

Today: Mostly cloudy, chance of early rain. 50's.
Tonight: 30 percent chance of snow or rain. Mid 30's.
Tomorrow: Cloudy. 50's.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Tony Padovano
Copy Editor.....Pam McCarthy
Layout Technician.....Marc Infield
Photo Technician.....Richard Bonanno
Production Supervisor.....Terry Starmer
Production Supervisor.....George Francy
ProductionWendy Rae, Kim, Christine, Miguel, Ashe, Kristin, and Joe is un-a-Ware of how late we'll be.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappennelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscriptions Manager

■ alcohol awareness

continued from page 3

Alcohol's aftermath

A seminar on the issues of drugs and alcohol related to liability will be held Saturday at 1:00 p.m., according to Director of Greek Affairs Carlene Riccelli.

She said the seminar will feature Greg Hauser, a New York City attorney who is familiar with the aspects of alcohol use such as alcohol-related car accidents and who is responsible legally.

She said this event was organized in part by BACCHUS (Boosting Alcohol Consciousness and Concern for Healthy University Students), a Greek Area group which promotes responsible drinking.

Sue Gerety, president of BACCHUS, said the group, which formed last September, is not a temperance group. "We're not saying don't drink, we're saying drink responsibly."

Gerety said BACCHUS had sponsored two tables on the Campus Center Concourse this week, one Monday on hangovers titled "The Morning After," which showed ways to avoid a hangover by drinking responsibly.

Another table yesterday had recipes for "mocktails," or non-alcoholic drinks. The table yesterday also had a chart listing blood alcohol content for varying numbers of drinks according to the drinker's weight.

Riccelli said the Greek Area would also be participating in the event on the Amherst Common Thursday.

■ fraternities

continued from page 1

Street for the last 26 years, she said has only seen the problem grow worse.

"We're trapped in a situation that is simply getting worse," Leininger said. "We're out in no-man's land out there."

Leininger said the noise ordinance has helped keep the levels down, but people are still parking on her lawn and the traffic has become dangerous in the area. She said she realized passing the article would not improve the problem, "but at least it wouldn't get worse and that's good enough for us."

Another Allen Street resident, Sy Friedman, moved into the neighborhood in 1984 and said the noise did not bother him much because he was from Manhattan, but, "when it's 3:30 in the morning in the middle of winter and all your windows are closed and you can still hear them, it gets annoying. We're entitled to have a good night sleep."

"If they want to blow their ear drums out listening to the music that's fine, but they don't have to listen to my music and I don't want to listen to theirs," said Friedman.

Friedman also said he was concerned with the trash problem. "The kids leave the party and throw the plastic cups all over the place, I really don't mind that, but (the fraternities) should clean up the mess within 24 hours."

Gerry Grady, UMass coordinator of Community and Alumni Relations, has spoke out against the article.

He said he attended a planning board meeting held last week to discuss the issue and was proud of the case the fraternities and sororities had presented.

"The Greek way of living is something that should exist," Grady said. "The University didn't stop anyone from building at fraternity-sorority park but the high cost of building a frat and the length from school makes it difficult for a frat to begin there, it's easier to just rent a house."

The cost of building a fraternity house from scratch is between $750,000 and $1 million, according to Jan Dizard of the planning board.

"The problem is getting better," said Grady. "At least the mechanism has been put in place to resolve these problems."

He added, "The bylaws on noise have helped and several (fraternities) are on warnings."

Members of fraternities on probation could face expulsion from school if violations continue, he said. "That's the most effective deterrent in higher education because they want that degree," he said.

Selectmen will make their decision Monday on whether to endorse the proposal.

RESUMES
Best Prices • Great Service • Laser Typesetting
DON'T WORRY - BE HAPPY
CopyCat PRINT SHOP
228 Triangle St., Amherst
(413) 549-3840

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

STA TRAVEL
100 OFFICES WORLDWIDE
Special Student and Youth Fares
WORLD WIDE
• FROM BOSTON ON SCHEDULED AIRLINES
SEAT SHORTAGE
BOOK NOW
FOR THE HOLIDAYS

		ow	Roundtrip
LONDON	from	235	479
PARIS	from	258	500
SYDNEY	from	678	1078
HONG KONG	from	485	749
BANGKOK	from	539	915
TOKYO	from	—	829
ATHENS	from	338	668
ST. THOMAS	from	155	299
RIO DE JANEIRO	from	379	758

—ROUND THE WORLD—
BOSTON - LONDON - DELHI - BANGKOK - HONG KONG - BOSTON
from $1420
• FLIGHTS AVAILABLE FROM ALL MAJOR U.S. CITIES
• CALL FOR FREE INFORMATION BOOKLET
• ADVICE FROM THE EXPERTS
THE STUDENT TRAVEL NETWORK
1-617-266-6014
1-800-777-0112
272 NEWBURY ST. BOSTON MA 02116
STA

STUDENT HELP WANTED
SNOW REMOVAL
Positions to be filled:
Managers, Assistant Managers, & Shovelers
Earn up to $11.00 per hour
Applications available at
Grounds Office in Physical Plant
Deadline for applications November 11, 1988

Thanksgiving
THE UNIVERSAL JOINT
Now Open Downstairs at Pearl St. Night Club
See Ad in this Paper for Upcoming Shows! This Week:
Thursday The Lyres
Friday Dreams So Real
Saturday Comedy/The Incredible Casuals
Sunday The Connells
10 PEARL ST NORTHAMPTON 584-7771

Golden Key National Honor Society
ATTENTION
Juniors & Seniors
MEMBERSHIP DEADLINE
NOV. 5

herself... at times
celebrates its new sign
10% off Storewide
Jewelry and Accessories
7 E. Pleasant Street, Amherst

LADYSMITH BLACK MAMBAZO
"South Africa's Grammy Award-winning Vocal Group"
with special guest
Karla Bonoff
Tues. Nov. 22 - 8 pm
FAC Concert Hall
Tickets: $16, 14, 12
Five college students ½-price ☐ Box Office 545-2511
THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

■ Men's soccer

continued from page 16

The Crimson are lead offensively by Canada's Nick D'Onofrio, who has four goals on the season. Junior midfielder Paul Baverstock has also chipped in 3 goals and 5 assists this fall. In net, senior Stephen Hall has played nearly every minute this season, but will likely take a seat to fellow senior Chad Riley this afternoon. Riley, who has played a mere 46 minutes all season (all in the first game of the year) since losing his job to the steady Hall, is probably best known for his heroic efforts in the Crimson's post season crusade to the Final Four in '86. In the New England regional final that year against rival Yale, Riley turned away 4 of 5 overtime tie-breaker penalty kicks to win the game.

Gettler, meanwhile, has no plans to tinker with the UMass lineup that took the field against Rutgers. And for good reason — after floundering in the second to last week of the season on the road against Providence and Boston College, the Minutemen finally conjured a dramatic team performance Saturday against Rutgers. Against the No. 14 team in the nation, the Minutemen came within one bad break (Carl Hanks pushed a potential game-winner wide of the net in the final moments of play) of digging out a shocking upset win. UMass today will show whether the performance in New Brunswick was a fluke, or perhaps a sign of things to come.

"We played with a lot of emotion and intensity in the Rutgers game. We have to bring those things to the game for us to be a good team," said Gettler. "We're just starting to find ourselves, and find out what things make us good. Individually, I only hope that these guys grow and learn. If we're finding that we can put two great performances together against two great teams at the end of a season, I would think that we've made some progress."

Collegian file photo

The University of Massachusetts volleyball team had plenty of reason to celebrate last night after beating the University of Connecticut in five sets.

■ Water polo

continued from page 16

slimmer margins. Last weekend UMass was forced into sudden death overtime to pull out the win, so Yarworth "will not look ahead of MIT."

If the Minutemen take the first round they will face the winner of the Harvard-Boston College match; most likely, Harvard. This presents a problem.

"If we want to go to the Easterns, we must beat Harvard," Yarworth said.

The problem is that UMass has not beaten the Crimson at all this year. The Minutemen have had a tendency to fold against Harvard when they fall behind, something that must not happen this weekend if UMass is to make it to the championship game and the Eastern tourney.

Yarworth gave the bottom line: "We must play all four quarters."

Said Yarworth, "We're playing all right. There's just a little bit missing. We need that final effort."

Hopefully, it will come in time for this weekend.

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
TOLL FREE HOT LINE 800-351-0222 in Calif. (213) 477-8226
Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information 11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

10 Belchertown Rd., at Rte. 9, Amherst 256-0252
Open Sun.-Thur 11-10, Fri.-Sat. 11-11
LUNCHEON SPECIALS Mon.-Sat. 11 am-3 pm
The Best Chinese Buffet!
TAKE-OUT SERVICE — FULL COCKTAIL MENU
BUFFET & SUNDAY BRUNCH
Buffet served 5-8 p.m., Mon. Thurs. • Brunch served Sunday 11:30 a.m.-3 p.m.
ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.99
Children under 10 - $3.00
1) Hot and Sour Soup
2) Chicken Fingers
3) Chicken Wings
4) Fried Wontons
5) Pan Fried Rumaki
6) Beef with Snow Peas
7) House Spiced Chicken
8) Sweet and Sour Chicken
9) Roast Pork Fried Rice
10) Vegetable Fried Noodles
11) Chinese BBQ Pork
12) Broccoli in Oyster Sauce
13) Shrimp and Cashew Nuts
256-0251
256-0252
家滿園南湖
Hunan Garden Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUAN CUISINE
We Deliver Sun.-Thurs. 5-9:30 p.m.

Quality Copies For All
kinko's
the copy center
253-2543

you turn around, there's something new at jazzercise
Hampshire Mall, Hadley; Interstate 91
M•W•F 9:30 a.m.
M•T•W•Th 5:30 p.m.
M•W 7:00 p.m.
Friday 6:00 p.m.
Saturday 9:15 a.m.
* child care available 584-0745
Walk-ins 3.50 ea
Mthly. passes available

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
No. Amherst 549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO • AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS • ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT • FOR SALE • FOUND • HELP WANTED • LOST • INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES • PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED • RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES • ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30):• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

FASHION ACCESSORIES SALE Nov 3,4,5 on Campus Center Concourse Great prices, great stuff

ALPHA ZETA PLEDGES and members meeting Thursday night 8:30 Campus Center check schedule for location.

ARMENIAN CLUB MEETING on Tuesday Nov 1 at 7:00. Check at information desk for meeting location.

NSA FRIDAY NIGHT VIDEO Never Cry Wolf 7:00pm Front Lounge of Newmen Center FREE.

COME EXPLORE THE joys at Chabad House, great company, good food. 30 N Hadley Rd. 549-4094

THIS WEEK ON DAMAGE INCORPORATED- Queensryche is gonna get close to you. Tune into WMUA Wednesday at 9:30pm.

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22. Sign up on concourse Oct. 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Massping and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-6434.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in discussion if its against you ethics. Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306.

AUTO FOR SALE

78 FORD MUSTANG II New front shocks rear tires am/fm cass A/C $900 B/O 546-8600.

81 HONDA ACCORD HATCH Silver, 89000 mi $1800 Call Teresa 549-0793

79 PLYMOUTH VOLARE, stant 6, uses no oil, good all weather radials, winterized 549-8773 $750.

82 TOYOTA TERCEL. Perfect condition 5 Speed. $1100/BO Call 549-1607.

1978 DATSON 510 $400 4 door sedan Standard transmission 549-7463.

1978 NEW STICKER runs good $800 BO Call 549-7546.

1968 CAMARO CLASSIC reliable looks hot 549-1258 John 11am-6pm $1300

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 spd Dark grey new tires, rims runs very well. $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184

CHOLESTEROL

CHOLESTEROL WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT and what can you do (in and out of the D.C.) to lower it? No registration, no fee, just show up at one of these dates and times below. For those not on DC meal plan Nov 3, 17 or Dec 1 5pm University Health Services rm 302 for those on DC meal plan Nov 10 or Dec 8. For more info, call 549-2671-ask for Clinic 4 or Health Education

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE - Over 700 CD's Great Sound! All occasions. 549-1421.

THE COLLEGIAN IS GOING TO provide a drop spot for students interested in making David's dream come true. David is a boy sick with Leukemia and wants to get in the Guiness Book for the largest postcard collection. So let's help him out! Drop your stamped postcards at the Collegian - 113 CC.

ENTERTAINMENT

KLUBKAVE D.J. SERVICES - Professional music system at unbeatable prices - 546-6518

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Discjockeys and large screen video dances. Dorms/organizations 256-8526.

FOR SALE

78 TOYOTA COROLLA engine in excellent condition. Good body must sell $650 or BO Call Pierre 545-2569

HONDA 750 CUSTOM 81, excellent condition, full face helmet and rain cover included. $850.00 or BO. Must sell Leave message 256-0995, Steve

CRIB WITH MATTRESS and bamper pad Like new. $55/BO Call 549-1607.

PIONEER KPX9000 car stereo cassette supertuner w/remp 534-5162 evening 737-1715 days

A BRAND NEW Smith Corona electric typewriter asking $80 call 546-8411 Leave message

GUITAR AND AMP. Very good condition. $275 or BO. Call Keith 546-8660

SKI BOOTS. KOFLACH CE PRO, rear entry, air fit. Men's size 10. $50 546-8035.

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket. Call David 1-566-8212

FOUND

I FOUND A SET OF six keys on Thurs night in Amherst (near kinko's) call Cara 546-6999

TIGHTS AND LEOTARDS- outside old chapel. To claim, Call Chris and name the color - days 5-2317 or evening 859-3707.

FUNDRAISING

HEY! DOES YOUR CLUB OR organization need money? Recent graduate now works for a professional fundraising company. Candy bars, M&M's, magazine subscriptions and more! Please call Linda at 538-8343 and leave message

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St. Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Damin. We deliver

HELP WANTED

NOTETAKER NEEDED FOR HRTA 100 with Fletcher, earn $7.80 per lecture, apply student note and printing service student union 403

CHILDCARE: Come to Conway and play with sweet lively 9 mo old. Weekday afternoons, flex hours exp-required (1)369-4414

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring, excellent benefits Call 1-312-741-8400 ext. J-5931A

INSTRUCTIONAL AIDE: Work with middle age students in an alternative learning situation, 30-35 hours/week. Call Lee/Barbara @ 253-2156 Evenings call 584-3242, 253-5506

PHOTOGRAPHERS WANTED TO shoot parties-no experience necessary-Call 617-625-8800

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring, excellent benefits. Call 1-312-741-8400 Ext. J-5931A

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information 504-641-8003 Ext 598

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865.

LAST CHANCE LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

NOVEMBER 7th IS THE last day to contact the Legal Services Center about a Spring 1989 internship! Get hands-on experience in the legal field. Work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in legal profession required--Training provided. Contact LSC today--545-1995. 922 Campus Center.

LOST

UMASS TEDDY BEAR KEY RING. If found please call Laura Lee 6-4956.

LOST-RED GLASSES somewhere on campus. Reward. I can't see! If found call 549-8135 leave message

MOTORCYCLES

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD Helmet, cover shield $850 Joe 549-7423 Evenings.

PERSONALS

PIKE LITTLE SISTERS first official meeting Tonight 7:30. All welcome.

TO LXA VOLLEYBALL TEAM or was it baseball, or was it soccer, or was it headball? Don't worry we'll get them next time. Love your XO teammates.

IF ANYONE SEES MJ FROM DZ tell her that her bunkmate is so proud of her and is glad she's not going to be an archeologist

LAMDA CHI ALPHA- Little Sister Rush Ladies, if you are interested in improving your social life and meeting new people, we cordially invite you to our Little Sister Rush. Thursday Nov 3rd 9:00pm.

EARN $60-$120/SHIFT! Drivers wanted Must own an insured car and be able to work at least one weekend night until closing. Call Domino's Pizza. 256-8913.

TO THE GUY IN THE Subaru at Cumberland Farms on Sunday morning Thanks for the jump. The girl in distress

FREE CAKE! Check out Campus Cakes on the concourse on thursday

SPLIT DECISION: Prigs the Hatch tomorrow night! Don't miss it! Thurs. Nov 10 see Split decision at Katina's. This hot band will play your party. Call Bruce 253-5411.

TO THE SLOB WHO stole our candy-we hope you get fat and break out! Love the Women's Swim Team

JEN B. JULIEG- One month and 14 days to go. Should we quit and come back next semester?

MR. RIGHT (left/right) Treat her right! Remember, she'll never go back (She's in love with him)

TO L'HOPITAL'S MISTRESS in Mary Lyon - Bodacious tatas! How's the hickey? S. the S.E.

DAN KELAHER--HAPPY 21st!!! Love, the blond in the pink be-dye

DAN K- No more Mr. Nice Guy! Your 21 now--have an awesome day! Lynyrd Skynyrd lives on!!

LIANE LAPLACA Happy anniversary, I love you very much. I hope the second year is as great as the first year was. Love Will.

1989 COLLEGE SKI WEEK!
Destinations: Lake Tahoe-heavenly Vermont-Sugarbush, Smugglers Notch, Killington Ski all day/party all night. For lowest prices call 546-6612 or 546-5242

RESUME SERVICE

EFFECTIVE RESUMES Seven years experience Bill 584-7316

ROOMATE WANTED

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550

SERVICES

ACCURATE TYPING. Pickup and delivery 15¢ pp. Basic editing. Gloria 323-5140

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor. Call Carolyn-leave message 253-5667

TYPING. TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate 253-WORD

ABLE TYPIST, basic editing, competitive rates, decent location. 253-5202

ST. JUDE

MOST HOLY APOSTLE, St. Jude, Faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the church honors and invokes you, universally, as the patron of hopless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use I implore you, of that particular priviledge given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Come to my assistance in this greet need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings, and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise oh three-ed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you. AMEN

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS, reliable on-campus, affordable, spell-ing/grammar reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy.

UMASS WOMEN

DU LITTLE SISTERS ROCK UMASS! Interested? Come to 77B N Pleasant St. Wed at 7:00 (549-3831)

WANTED

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hums) notes will pay money$$ Shirley 549-2710

WORK IN BRITIAN/IRELAND LEGALLY FOR UP TO 6 MONTHS

THE BUNAC/USIT FALL ROADSHOW will be visiting UMass on Thursday 3, November. Information available between 10am and 3pm in the Campus Center concourse followed by a presentation between 6:30 and 8:30pm in room 166, Campus Center. Everyone welcome

SPORTS

UMass volleyball team ekes out a road win over UConn in five sets

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

It hasn't been pretty, but the University of Massachusetts volleyball did last night what it has been doing all year– pulling out a victory in the big five set matches.

As Al Davis would say, "Just win baby."

The Minutewomen, in a tit-for-tat match, outlasted the University of Connecticut in Storrs Conn. last night 18-16, 15-13, 11-15, 11-15, 15-4 in a two hour and ten minute marathon.

UMass is undefeated when the matches have gone five games this year, 5-0. Last night the Minutewomen had to collect themselves from a 2-2 tie to pull out another one.

Collegian file photo

Junior setter Karen Ferguson last night missed her first game of the season against the UConn.

"It was a pretty well fought out match. [The closeness] was not due to errors, it was one of our most competitive matches," UMass assistant coach Heather Olsen said.

The Minutewomen traveled to Storrs to face essentially the same Huskie team they defeated in three games at Totman last year. What a difference a year can make.

"[UConn was] so scrappy and played tough the entire match," Olsen said. "I think they'll be good. They had some good players. An O.K. setter and some great hitters."

The Minutewomen were playing without their usual line-up, however. Junior setter Karen Ferguson, one of the leading setters in the Atlantic 10, didn't play last night.

"We wanted to give Ann Marie [Larese] the experience," Olsen said. "I think we played just as well as we have with Karen."

"Ann Marie played out of her mind. She played a great match," racking up 48 assists last night.

Right from the beginning, UMass knew it was going to be a battle. The Huskies never let UMass take full control of the match, according to Olsen, they were on UMass' heels the whole time.

"It was close and even tied for a while. It was tied at 14 and then we pulled it out, [18-16]" Olsen said.

The Minutewomen were paced by Julie Smith who had eight kills (a team high 19 overall) in the first game.

UConn kept up the same intensity in the next game. Again they went mano a mano with the Minutewomen up until the last point.

"We didn't play poorly. UConn was fired up and played us point for point. I don't think we were ever behind," Olsen said.

At 2-0, UMass was in control of its own destiny. Win one more game and it would be on the bus and back to Amherst. UConn made sure the visit lasted a little longer.

The Huskies gave everything they had in the next two games.

They took the lead at the start of both sets and had to hold off UMass' comebacks, according to Olsen.

"We gave them the lead right away," she said. "We weren't passing as well as in the first and second games. We were letting a lot of balls fall."

As quickly as you could say the University of Connecticut in Storrs, it was a tie game. What had seemed to be an almost sweep would now be a battle for fifth game superiority.

"I think [the momentum] was in our favor. We came back in the fourth game. At that point we knew we were going to win," Olsen said.

The final match was closer than the score indicated, according to Olsen.

"[The score, 15-4] was not indicative of the way Uconn played. The first seven points we got one at a time [non-consecutively because of UConn side-outs or points]," Olsen said.

She said UMass head coach Carol Ford said that "We worked hard and played well together, and that she hopes that happens the rest of the season."

The victory raises UMass record to 17-4.

Men's soccer plays last game: Harvard

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's soccer team will dirty its uniforms for the final time this fall when they visit the Crimson of Harvard this afternoon in Cambridge at 2 pm. The Minutemen are still busy patting each other on the back following Saturday's hard-fought tie against Rutgers University in New Brunswick, NJ. UMass now stands a chance to finish the fall with consecutive wins against superior teams, on the road. A victory this afternoon would leave UMass with a winning final record (they now stand at 8-8-1), and provide a grand finale to what has been an otherwise frustrating season for coach Jeff Gettlers' team.

The Crimson, meanwhile, are still clinging to their aspirations of an at-large bid to the NCAA post-season tournament, having posted a 6-3-3 record thus far (1-2-3 vs. Division I teams in the Northeast). Harvard is the No. 7 ranked team in New England according to the latest Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America poll, and ranks third in the Ivy league behind Princeton and Dartmouth. Since the Ivy league has neither a tournament of its own, nor an automatic bid to the NCAA's for its outright winner, the Crimson's best hope of a post-season bid lies in improving their regional ranking in their final four games. They must also pray for both Dartmouth and Princeton to lose in their final few contests.

This is the same Harvard soccer team, remember, that began the fall as the No. 1 ranked team in the nation according to Soccer America magazine, and still contains several members of the National Championship semifinalist squads of 1986 and '87.

Though this season has been a disapointment, the Crimson still rank as one of the truly prestigious soccer programs in the nation, against whom a win for the Minutemen mark a spectacular way to end the season.

"By putting two successful performances together against outstanding teams to finish the year, we could ensure ourselves a winning year, and I think we could feel real good about the season," said Gettler. "The players (UMass) are going to put themselves under some pressure to have a winning year."

Tradition, however, sides as always with the Crimson. The last two times the Minutemen have journeyed to the banks of the Charles in '86 and '84, they've lost by a combined score of 13-1.

"We've not played very well at Harvard in the last few years," understated Gettler. "I'm not sure our players have always prepared very well for what they're getting into. And it's always cold. . .

"They still have the players," said Gettler, "They've got probably the best talent in New England, . . . they play with a lot of composure. Their team spacing is excellent — Harvard will try and stretch you all over the field — it's much more difficult to defend against. It's going to take a lot of team concentration for us to stay compact."

continued on page 15

Water polo prepares for Brown, tourney

By DENNIS MADSEN
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's waterpolo team faces a do-or-die situation this weekend as the Minutemen travel to Brown University to take part in the New England Waterpolo Championships. UMass needs to make it to the final game in the tourney to qualify for the Eastern Championships the following weekend and the Minutemen are doing all they can to prepare.

"We're doing a lot of conditioning," UMass coach Russ Yarworth said. "We're also working on our man-up [power play]."

In the New England Varsity Tournament two weeks ago UMass converted only eight of 25 man advantages, far below the coach's expectations. The problem with the man-up play could have something to do with the teams offense in general.

"There is something wrong with our offense," declared Yarworth. "The shooting percentage as a team is low, (.416)," so, as a result, "we'll do some work on [shooting] mechanics." Yarworth also plans to work on defensive strategies.

"We have a new one for MIT which should shut them down," Yarworth said.

UMass will play the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the first round this weekend. Though the Minutemen have already beaten MIT three times this year, the victories have been by increasingly

continued on page 15

Collegian photo by Andrew Riet

Field hockey dropped a notch in the national polls yesterday.

Field hockey drops in poll

As expected, the University of Massachusetts field hockey team dropped in the national rankings after to losing to the University of Connecticut over the weekend.

The Minutewomen, who dropped a 3-2 decision to the Huskies Saturday, fell to No. 4 in the nation after holding the No. 3 spot. Despite the loss, UMass remains the No. 1 team in New England.

Northwestern, 15-1-1 moved to No. 3 in the poll. Old Dominion University remained at No. 1 with a 20-1 record and North Carolina, 17-1, stays at No. 2.

UMass will travel this weekend to Temple University to participate in the Atlantic 10 tournament.

Penn State, winner of the West Division with a 12-4-1 record, Rutgers and Temple will join UMass, which won the East Division with a 15-2-1 record, in the A-10 tournament.

If the Minutewomen get seeded first in the tourney as expected, their first opponent will be the loser of today's Rutgers-Temple game.

–MATT GERKE

Field Hockey Top 10

Last Saturday's loss to the University of Connecticut only dropped the University of Massachusetts field hockey team one spot in the latest national poll. Here are the top 10 ranked teams in the country.

1) Old Dominion	20-1
2) North Carolina	17-1
3) Northwestern	15-1-1
4) UMass	15-2-1
5) Iowa	15-5
6) Delaware	14-1-2
7) Northeastern	14-1-2
8) UConn	12-3-1
9) Maryland	11-7-2
10) Pennsylvania	11-1-1

Collegian guide to Election '88. Pages 10-11

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 41

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1988

INSIDE

- Israeli political coalition may be in the works. Page 5.
- Jim Clark on V.P. nominee costing his party the election. Page 7.
- Kansas probation may make Harris eligible. Page 20.

Co-pres. elect out of office

Senate strips them of power

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

In a chaotic meeting last night, the Undergraduate Student Senate ordered that Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz, Student Government Association co-presidents-elect, may no longer use the office of SGA president.

By a narrow margin of 47-44, the senate mandated that Silkoff and Rabinowitz can no longer use the title of SGA president, may no longer use SGA equipment, and no longer have signature power.

Silkoff and Rabinowitz have yet to decide if they will comply with the restrictions. SGA Speaker Robert Fadel said he will enforce the provisions of the move.

The two have been using the office in various capacities since the SGA Coordinating Committee approved them as presidents in a limited capacity on June 8.

Sen. W. Greg Rothman, author of the move to bar Silkoff and Rabinowitz, with Sen. Brian Darling, said the senate should bring an end to the "fantasy-land presidents."

Silkoff downplayed the significance of the restrictions. "It overshadows the issues," Silkoff said. "They are just biding time. If they feel so strongly about it they should vote on the ratification."

Speaking for his motion, Rothman said, "The senate has not confirmed them, and this is the body that is empowered to confirm them. I would like to clear up tonight that there is only one person under the constitution who can hold the office of president — Robert Fadel."

A second proposal, also by Rothman and Darling, called for new presidential elections on Nov. 21 and 22. The meeting was adjourned before the proposal could be voted on.

Foreshadowing the later order mandating that Silkoff and Rabinowitz can no longer use the president's office, the senate decided earlier last night not to vote on the ratification of the co-presidents-elect.

Governmental Affairs Committee Chairman Ted Chambers asked the senate to suspend the rules to vote on approving the election results of March 15, in which the pair received the most votes.

This move, which required a⅔ majority, failed by a vote of 57-33, with three "present" votes.

Rothman called this move "illegal," because the Student Judiciary issued a restraining order May 11 barring Silkoff and Rabinowitz from holding office until an appeal of their original case can be heard.

The original case concerned the constitutionality of their holding office. The constitution says that "the SGA President and student Trustee positions shall be held by two persons, unless one person elects to run for and hold both positions."

The apparent vagueness of this rule has caused several different interpretations of it, causing the controversy the senate is currently enmeshed in.

Said Rabinowitz, "The SGA Constitution does not rule out co-presidents . . . . Let the senate vote on the ratification."

In a speech that received much applause, Sen. Guy Glodis, who was also a candidate in the last election, said the Governmental Affairs Committee told all candidates that if they ran as co-presidents they would be disqualified.

Citing the close vote, Silkoff said the night's action does not mean the senate has sent a message that she and Rabinowitz are not welcome as presidents.

"Most are new senators in there," she said. "For them to comprehend everything that has gone on is impossible."

Collegian photo by Chris Hosford

OH NO!!!!! — Mud-slinging MassPIRG members encourage people in the Cape Cod Lounge Tuesday to look closely at the issues as they play Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis (left) and Republican nominee George Bush.

Author to teach women self-esteem, better writing

By SHARON WILKEY
Collegian Correspondent

For the fifth consecutive year, a local author is teaching women to explore their lives to improve their writing ability and increase their self-esteem.

Leslea Newman will be offering two writing courses in the Pioneer Valley for women beginning the week of Nov. 17.

The first, "Writing from the Heart," Newman said, is a class "designed to help women gain confidence and the knowledge that writing is not this mysterious thing; it's accessible to everyone."

The workshop is for "any woman who always wanted to write but thinks she has nothing to say, or any woman who knows she has something to say but doesn't know how to say it," Newman said.

"What Are You Eating/What's Eating You," is a second course for women concerned with body image and eating disorders. Through creative writing, Newman said, women explore topics such as family relationships, anger, and sexuality.

She added that the class is not a diet or weight-loss group, but instead one that focuses on learning to accept oneself.

In this workshop, Newman said, "women learn to love themselves, to see that they don't need to lose five pounds or 500 pounds, that they're fine just the way the are."

Newman, who lives in Northampton, has written three books: Good Enough to Eat, Love Me Like You Mean It, and A Letter to Harvey Milk.

One of Newman's former students, Tzivia Gover, praised Newman's teaching techniques. "I've taken a lot of writing courses, and mostly just come away with the feeling that I'm not a good enough writer," she said.

"Leslea's course helped me to enrich my work in terms of images and specifics," Gover said. "It gave me a confidence in my writing, but also a real sense of enjoyment."

Newman's classes are limited to about 10 students and are open to all women regardless of their writing ability. Participants have ranged in age from 20 to 70 and have travelled from as far as Connecticut and Vermont to participate, she said.

Both writing workshops have a sliding scale fee of $150 to $250 and are offered in 10-week sessions.

"Write from the Heart," will be offered Tuesday or Wednesday nights, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and Wednesdays from 10 a.m to noon. "What are You Eating/What's eating You" will meet on Thursday nights from 6 to 8 p.m. To register for either course, call 584-3865.

Search continues in Greenfield

GREENFIELD (AP) — Police resumed the search for a slaying suspect yesterday when they discovered food, clothes and a knife missing from a house that had been broken into.

Police said the Buckland break-in was reported Tuesday night. The house sits four miles from the spot where Mark Branch's abandoned car was found on Oct. 25.

Branch, 19, of Greenfield is the chief suspect in the Oct. 24 stabbing death of Sharon Gregory, 18, also of Greenfield, according to Hampshire-Franklin County District Attorney Judd Carhart.

About 50 state police and police from five towns searched the area with dogs, but the search was called off at 3 p.m. when police failed to turn up a scent or any further leads.

Investigators have refused to discuss the exact nature of the attack or to reveal what made Branch the prime suspect hours after Gregory's body was found in the bathroom of her home.

Police Chief David McCarthy said police are investigating the possibility that Branch hopped a circus train that passed through the county the day Gregory was murdered.

The 44-car train stopped in Greenfield and later that day in Shelburne Falls, not far from where Branch's car was found abandoned on Oct. 25.

Increased minority proficiency causes drop in ESL enrollment

By JOHN SWANSON
Collegian Staff

Enrollment in the University of Massachusetts English as a Second Language program is dropping, according to program director Clodomiro Cabanas.

Cabanas, who has been director of the program since 1973, he said the drop is a result of higher minority student's proficiency in English, not a decline in minority enrollment at the University.

Classes designed for 15 students have only eight or 10 enrolled, he said, adding that foreign language students have been scoring successively higher on the Scholastic Aptitude Test in the past few years.

A 1982 special report of the Faculty Senate Ad Hoc Committee for the University Writing Requirement states the goals of the program: "The primary purpose of an ESL program is to help students acquire the rudiments of the English language. Its scope is therefore broader than courses taught in either the current Writing Program or in the former Rhetoric program because its objectives include reading comprehension, oral language development, work in grammar and an acculturation which allows students to understand the cultural context of the new language."

Instructor Michael Flanagan said the program is unique from other ESL pro-

continued on page 12

WORLD/NATION

Marines fight intruders at Panama fuel storage depot

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Marine sentries at a US Air Force fuel storage depot traded shots on-and-off for almost two hours with unidentified intruders, but there were no injuries, the US Southern Command said.

The gunfire occurred Monday night on the southern edge of the Arraijan Tank Farm and began when "11 Marines in listening posts heard movement, voices and visually confirmed the presence of armed intruders in the jungle" the Southern Command statement said.

In Washington, the Pentagon said "there were six more exchanges of fire . . . off-and-on until about 10 p.m." It said the incident was under investigation.

Sentries have reported numerous intrusions at US military facilities in Panama this year.

A Marine sentry was killed April 11 at the tank farm when he was accidentally shot by fellow guards as they were described as eight men in dark uniforms.

The 807-acre fuel storage depot is a hilly, jungled area about five miles west of Panama City, the capital, and 1.5 miles west of the United States Howard Air Base.

When the Marines verbally challenged the intruders, the Marines were fired on by automatic and small arms fire. "The Marines returned fire with small arms" and fired some illumination rounds, Tuesday's statement said.

The Southern Command, which is responsible for all US military operations in Latin America, reported four intrusions in April at US military facilities in Panama by what spokesman called "highly trained professionals."

In July, American soldiers exchanged gunfire with unidentified intruders on two occasions at Arraijan, the Southern Command said.

The Southern Command statement said the Marine contingent involved in Monday night's shooting forms "part of security forces temporarily dispatched to Panama since last April as part of increased security measures to protect US citizens, property and interests" in the former canal zone.

Neither the Panamanian government nor the Defense Forces had any immediate comment. In the past incidents, the country's military has said its troops were not involved and suggested the US sentries nervous and inexperienced, had imagined intruders.

Polish airliner crashes in field

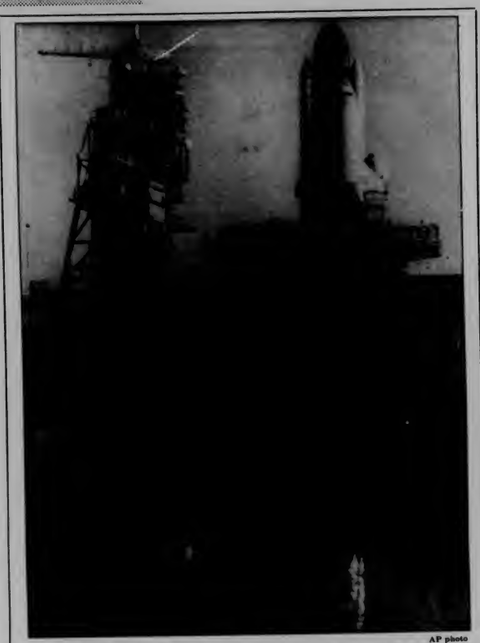
WARSAW (AP) — A domestic airliner with 29 people aboard crashed yesterday while trying to make an emergency landing in a field, and a police officer said all but one passenger survived.

The official PAP news agency originally reported that 16 people were killed. It retracted the report several hours later, confirming the account of a local police officer who told the Associated Press there was one death.

Authorities reported five people were hospitalized and at least 10 were treated for minor injuries and released. The police officer, Capt. Jerzy Pacula, said most passengers suffered only minor injuries.

The Soviet-built, Antonov-24 twin-engine turboprop plane, was on a flight form Warsaw to Rzeszow when it crashed in the village of Bialobrzegi, PAP said. It was carrying 25 passengers and four crew.

The plane went down, apparently due to a mechanical failure, in an empty field 170 miles southeast of Warsaw, said Pacula, the officer at police headquarters in Rzeszow.



AP photo

GETTING READY — Space Shuttle Atlantis moves toward its launch pad yesterday in preparation for its secret Department of Defense mission later this month.

WATROBA'S
MEAT GROCERY LIQUORS
SUNDERLAND RD.
NO. AMHERST, MA

Grocery Specials
Coke, asst. variety, 2 liter — only 99¢
Pepsi and Diet Pepsi, 2 liter — 99¢ + dep.

Deli
Levonian Extra Lean Ham — $1.99 lb.
Land O' Lakes Monterey Jack Cheese — $2.49 lb.

Meat
Perdue Boneless Breast — $2.99 lb.
Beef Loin Porterhouse Steak — $3.99 lb.

Liquor
Grotsch, 12 oz., light or dark — $15.79 + dep.
Red White and Blue, case — $7.80 + dep.

Store hours: Mon.-Sat. 8AM-11PM; Sun. 8AM-9PM
Grocery 549-0933 Liquor 549-6565

Murphy's
UNDERGROUND EXPRESS
Suppliers Of
BUFFALO WINGS FROM HELL!!!
MILD MEDIUM HOT TURBO
10 pcs.....3.95
20 pcs.....6.95
30 pcs.....10.45
50 pcs.....15.95
75 pcs.....22.95
Served with chunky bleu cheese and fresh celery.
New! Chicken Strip Tenders ONLY 4.95!
w/BBQ & Duck Sauce or have them Buffalo Style!
ALSO FEATURING
Potato Skins.....4.25
Mozzerella Sticks...3.25
Cheesed Cauliflower2.50
Mushroom Caps.....2.25
Zucchini Circles.....1.75
Onion Rings.....1.75
Steak Fries.....1.50
Cole Slaw.....95
Potato Salad.....95
Macaroni Salad.....95
Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream- All Flavors-2.95
Coke-Diet Coke-Sunkist-Sprite-A&W
Cans-.65 Liters-1.35
* Prices do not include 5% Meals Tax *
TAKE OUT OR DELIVERY
Tues.-Thurs. 5pm-2am
Fri.& Sat. 5pm-3am
Sunday 5pm-1am
Closed Mondays
FREE DELIVERY!
549-7771
* (Caution: Watch out for cheaper imitations) *

LOCAL

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

UMass student Michael Calderone (right), Cadet Major in the Army ROTC, raises his hand to salute UMass student Robert Owen, Cadet Airman in the Air Force, outside the Student Union yesterday, as UMass student Bruce Raymond (background), Cadet Captain in the Army ROTC, stands in vigil.

24-hour vigil held on SU steps for MIAs

By PETER LUCHT
Collegian Staff

Army and Air Force Reserve Officer's Training Corps cadets kept alive the memory of US servicemen missing in action from the Vietnam War by holding a 24-hour vigil on the Student Union Building steps.

The vigil, held from 7 p.m. Tuesday night to 7 p.m. last night, was sponsored by the local chapter of the Arnold Air Society and was done in recognition of National POW/MIA Awareness Week, said Lt. Col. Michael Farage, commander of the campus Air Force ROTC detachment.

"The awareness week is actually next week, but we did it this week because of a lot of conflicting things that we have planned," said Farage.

Farage said the awareness campaign is a national project initiated by the air society, a service and honor society for Air Force cadets, to try and maintain awareness of the POW/MIA issue. He said the cadets took it upon themselves to stand out all night to re-emphasize the issue.

This year the Air Force and Army ROTC detachments worked together on the project, said Farage.

"I believe a good part of both corps of cadets participated. We're having a lot more coordination between Army and Air Force," said Lt. Col. Christy Outchcunis, the Army ROTC Professor of Military Science.

Two cadets from each detachment stood two-hour watches Tuesday night and one-hour watches all day yesterday in front of an American and POW/MIA flag. Cadets were asking people to sign a petition which they are going to send it to the new US president after the election, Army ROTC cadet major Michael Perricane said. Perricane, who helped plan the event, was one of more than 100 cadets to stand vigil.

The petition is intended to remind the new administration of its obligation to account for the missing servicemen, Perricane said.

Farage said there has been nothing but positive support for the project.

"People were coming by, asking questions and asking if there was anything they could do," said Farage.

Cadets standing vigil said their morale was high, despite a cold driving rain, because they said it was for a good cause.

"Those guys who were here all last night, you've got to give them credit for that. That took guts," said Air Force cadet Tom Peterson.

Perricane said they expected to receive more than 400 signatures on the petition before the vigil ended.

After the vigil a closing ceremony was scheduled for last night on the Student Union steps, followed by a presentation at 8 p.m. at Hasbrouck Laboratory with several ex-POWs coming in to relate their experiences, Farage said.

JS professor: Too much image in campaign coverage

COLLEGIAN NEWS SERVICES

The campaign problems of Michael Dukakis may have roots in the campaign innovations of John F. Kennedy, according to University of Massachusetts Journalism Professor Howard Ziff.

"John Kennedy was not the candidate of the Democratic party," Ziff said. "Kennedy didn't run on the strength of the party organization, he ran on the strength of his own organization, created by his father and his father's money — and by a lot of well-meaning liberals."

"And the substance of that organization was image-making."

The 1960 presidential contest ushered in the modern era of campaign press coverage, Ziff said. With image-making increasingly the substance of campaigns, campaign coverage is increasingly focused on strategy.

"You now report on media strategy, on managerial strategy, on image-building," Ziff said. "Right-minded people always say, 'Let's talk about the issues.' But the fact is the campaigns aren't talking about the issues."

Ziff said he sees the power of the press eclipsed by the power of campaign professionals.

"For one thing, they spend more money. They spend tens of millions of dollars on ads. How can you compare an editorial in the New York Times with the ads that you see," he said.

The campaign's ability to orchestrate events — "they know what the press needs, to get a picture, to get a story" — and their freedom from the constraints of objectivity are additional advantages, Ziff said.

"The American press still has a pretty straightforward approach to fairness and objectivity. The campaign can beat up on the press, the press can't beat on them."

Given this scenario, which he describes as "depressing," Ziff said the press has done about as well as could be expected in its coverage of the general election.

They do not have much to work with, Ziff said. Dukakis has run a "shuffling, unfocused" campaign, Bush a "despicable" campaign based on "fear and nonsense."

"It's like covering baseball," Ziff concluded. "You can cover it one way or you can cover it another way — but if it's a lousy game, it's a lousy game. And this is a lousy game."

Tractor trailer collides with Honda

A 1988 GMC tractor trailer truck, owned by Yellow Freight Systems of Westfield, collided with a 1980 Honda Civic station wagon while turning left onto University Drive Tuesday.

The Honda was struck by the right rear wheel of the tractor and received $2,500 in damages. The operator of the station wagon, Guohong Long, of 411 Lincoln Apartments, was taken to University Health Services by the Amherst Fire Department's ambulance and treated for minor injuries.

—THOMAS RODRIGUES

For Your Information

The FYI section is a public service announcement to the campus and community. Space is limited, so the Collegian cannot guarantee all submissions will be published.

Film

The film "Coverup — Behind the Iran Affair" is scheduled to be shown at 7 tonight in room 901 of the Campus Center.

Film

The Undergraduate Business Club is sponsoring the showing of "Big" starring Tom Hanks. Film showings are scheduled for 2, 4, 7, 9, 11 p.m. Sunday in the Student Union Ballroom.

Services

Students are warmly invited to join Rabbi Adelman, his wife, Yocheved, and five children for a Chassidic Shabbat experience. The Chabad House at 30 N. Hadley Road is open every Friday night and Saturday morning. This week the services begin at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow and 10 a.m. Saturday. Food, discussion, and song are all part of the post service relaxation.

continued on page 14

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

NOT JUST A KICK IN THE GRASS — Tracy Arwood and Michele Woodside, freshmen members of the UMass women's soccer team, show their excitement recently over being in the NCAA tournament.

adirondack music

ELECTION DAY SPECIALS

Vote for the madness of your choice!

That's right folks, it's that time again! Get out there and vote! To celebrate the election of our next president, Adirondack Music has some special deals that can make everyone feel like a president!

ADVENT SPEAKERS!

Quantities are VERY limited!

We got a few pair left at ridiculously low prices! You can save $130 on a $350 pair of Prodigy's for only $219! Better yet, you can save $150 on a $450 pair of Legacy's for only $299! But the deal that gets our vote is saving $200 on a $600 pair of Maestro's for only $399!

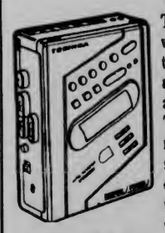
JVC DORM BLASTERS!

Down in the dumps without tunes?! Want to fill that dorm room with great tunes, but can't afford a stereo?! Adirondack Music has the perfect solution! What you need is a JVC dorm blaster!

We've got a couple of models, both with incredible sounding, detachable speakers! The PC–W100 has dual dubbing cassette decks, AM, FM and short wave bands! A fantastic machine for only $219.95! The PC–V55 has a single, auto–reversing cassette deck and AM, FM radio for only $189.95 WOW!

CRAZY WILD WALKMAN SALE!



Your Choice! $20 off our regular prices! The Toshiba KT–4868 is a wild walkman! With a digital AM/FM tuner, a 3 band EQ, and a built in alarm clock, this beauty is a fab deal at this week's price of only $149.95! The Sanyo WR–66 is ideal for those misty morning jogs! With it's splashproof weather resistant, durable case, it can take more of a beating than most! Hard to resist at this week's special price of only $79.95!

The Toshiba KT–4035 AM/FM, auto–reverse cassette with Dolby NR for only $59.95 this week is an incredible buy! If that doesn't get your vote, how about the Toshiba KT–4017 for only $29.95! I must be crazy!?

Beam me up, Scotty!

Warp factor 10, Mr. Sulu! Spock, set the course to Adirondack Music! They have the Parsec Beam Booster indoor FM antenna for only $39.95! As soon as we get it, Uhura, you'll be able to receive signals from every corner of the universe...

MasterCard adirondack music VISA

15 E. Pleasant St., Amherst 253–3100

Open Monday thru Saturday 10am to 5:30pm

Sale prices good thru Wednesday, November 9, 1988

Limited quantities. All items subject to prior sale.

No rainchecks. Not responsible for typographical errors.

THE
EDWIN M. ROSSMAN
ALUMNI CAREER FORUMS

INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING

DATE: THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1988
TIME: 8:00 PM
LOCATION: CAMPUS CENTER RM 174-76

SPONSORED BY:

UNIVERSITY PLACEMENT SERVICE
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING

This is an opportunity to meet with alumni and discuss their experiences in the working world. Don't miss this important panel discussion!

ALUMNI PANELISTS:

Richard G. McGee, '67	Manufacturing Manager Digital Equipment/Westminster
Patricia Donaldson, '79	Marketing Services Manager Sigma Instruments
Paul Washburn, '81	Principal Industrial Engineer Digital Equipment
Robert Smith, '88	Controller Amherst Information Systems

For more information, please contact:
University Placement Service, University Career Center
545-2224

STUDENT AFFAIRS INFORMATION SERVICES

IDB/TIPS

For Information about HEALTH AND SAFETY ISSUES
Call 'TIPS' and request tapes by number:

0669 AIDS Information
2610 Cold Self-Care
2605 Contraception
2622 Eye Care Program
2653 Gonorrhea
2625 If You Think You Are Pregnant
2660 Medical Emergencies
2630 Mental Health Services
2655 Problem Drinking
2671 Sexual Assault Crisis Service

see page 17 of the Student Telephone Directory for a complete listing of TIPS tapes

IF YOU HAVE FURTHER QUESTIONS CALL 'IDB' (545-1555)

Information Data Bank (IDB)

Taped Information Phone Service (TIPS)

Israeli parties begin courting religious parties to try to form coalition

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's hard-line Likud bloc and its rival left-of-center Labor Party, after a deadlocked election, yesterday began courting four religious parties in a bid to form a coalition government.

Tuesday's balloting was considered a referendum on the future of the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip and how to deal with the 11-month-old Palestinian uprising in which 306 Arabs and 10 Jews have been killed.

The results indicate the country's 4.4 million people remain deeply divided on the issues of peace and security.

The election failed to produce the hoped-for consensus: neither of the large parties could create the 61-seat majority coalition needed to rule in the 120 member Knesset, or parliament without religious support.

But Likud had an edge because it was likely to get first crack at forming a coalition and its right-wing policies were more compatible with some religious parties.

With 99 percent of the 4,840 polling stations reporting, Likud had 39 seats, Labor had 38 and the religious parties 18 in parliament. Three of Labor's left-wing allies won 10 seats, three rightist Likud allies seven seats, and three Arab-oriented lists took eight seats.

Both major parties lost seats for the July 1984 elections, when Labor won 44 seats and Likud 41 while the religious parties gained four seats.

Shamir rejected the idea of another national unity government like the one he and Labor leader Shimon Peres, the foreign minister, formed after the stalemated 1984 elections.

"If Mr. Peres put the international conference on top of his list, he burned all the bridges to a national unity government," Shamir said on Israel radio.

Peres, 65, had said Israel should attend such a conference and be prepared to give up parts of the occupied land in exchange for peace. Shamir rejects both ideas.

BIM SKALA BIM
#1 Boston Ska Rockers
Party Down!
Tonight at Katina's
Rt. 9, Hadley, MA
586-4463
18+ Welcome
(Subject to additional charge)

Research on Diabetes

WHAT: A Presentation and Discussion: How Close Are We to a Cure– A Research Update.
WHEN: November 16, 1988, 7:15-9 p.m.
WHERE: Campus Center, Room 904
WHO: Persons with diabetes, their guests, concerned friends, and interested health professionals. Presentation given by Jeffrey Korif, M.D., Baystate Medical Center.
WHY: Learn, share information, experiences, and concerns.

STUDENT HELP WANTED
SNOW REMOVAL
Positions to be filled:
Managers, Assistant Managers, & Shovelers
Earn up to $11.00 per hour
Applications available at
Grounds Office in Physical Plant
Deadline for applications November 11, 1988

Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
No. Amherst 549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

Come Ride With Us.

• Motorcycles • A.T.V.'s
• Scooters • Power Equipment
Valley Motorsports 584-7303 731-9965
216 N. King St., Rte. 5 Northampton, MA
The 1989 Honda Motorcycles are ready for viewing.

SALE!
3 DAYS ONLY...
FRI/SAT/SUN NOV. 4, 5, 6
20% off
Fashion Accessories

Hats
Haircombs
Sunglasses
Shawls
Scarves
Earrings
Watches
Bags
Shoes
Socks
Find it at Faces
amherst/northampton

Quality Copies For All
kinko's
the copy center
253-2543

Golden Key National Honor Society
ATTENTION
Juniors & Seniors
MEMBERSHIP DEADLINE
NOV. 5

NOW OPEN in South Amherst
South Towne Commons
LAUNDROMAT
OPEN 7 DAYS 7AM - 10PM
479 WEST ST SOUTH AMHERST

James H. McManus
eating place
OPEN 24 HOURS OPEN 24 HOURS
•BREAKFAST SERVED ANY TIME
•OPEN 6 A.M. - 3 A.M. SUNDAY - THURSDAY
•OPEN 24 HOURS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
•BEER AND WINE SERVED 'TIL MIDNIGHT
•PLENTY OF PARKING
CAMPUS PLAZA
Route 9 next to Super Stop & Shop
HADLEY/AMHERST 256-6889
We now accept Mastercard and Visa
Employment Applications Being Taken

ARTS/LIVING

Cave's Prey stays tender and bleak; Laibach a laugh

BY GRAEME THOMSON
Collegian Correspondent

I've often wondered how artists would review their own work in articles like this one. I've a feeling that Nick Cave would begin something like this.
"At last I have been released."

Disc Junkie

No, seriously folks, Cave is one of the few genuine, untainted talents we have left in this "business," and his new album Tender Prey (Mute), his fifth with the infamous Bad Seeds, is formidable testament to that talent. Opening with one of the best 45s of the year so far "The Mercy Seat," where Cave casts himself as the jailbird, tempted by the release which the electric chair provides, Tender Prey traces its course of exorcism and redemption, using the kind of biblical imagery that Cave is so fond of. You may think he's a miserable old sod, but there's a deep vein of ironic, black humor running through this album; check out "Up Jumped the Devil," as funny in its own way as Tom Waits' "Way Down in the Hole."

Vocally, Cave has often been compared to Waits, but somehow his confessions seem more real, and therefore more deeply affecting. Perhaps it's because he chooses to live as close to the edge as his creations, that he has an edge over many of his contemporaries for pure naked honesty; truly the last soul man.

A couple of years back you may remember that Cave released a highly acclaimed album of cover versions, Kicking Against the Pricks. Now, Yugoslavian masters of Teutonic Rock, Laibach, have released the ultimate cover version; a complete reworking of the Beatles' "hippy" album, Let it Be (Mute). Now, as "knowing" kids like you and me are aware, Laibach are an extremely "ironic" bunch of lads, so it comes as no surprise that their vision of things is somewhat different from that of the fab four.

However to my mind, in light of their previous work, especially the supremely totalitarian Nova Acroppola, their deconstruction of the Beatles is by no means as successful as it might have been. This album lacks the hardness and overwhelming discipline of previous efforts, a sign that Laibach are bowing to commercial pressure. However there are still some good moments to enjoy, particularly "Across the Universe," which brilliantly juxtaposes Lennon's ultimate affirmation of the "me" generation, "Nothing's Gonna Change My World," against a utopian choir, a typical Laibachian device.

Meanwhile, Laibach's own philosophy remains one of pop's great mysteries; are they the greatest satirists rock music has ever known, or as many people believe, just a bunch of krypto-fascist scumbags? The debate continues; the enigma remains. Let the people decide.

Hollinghurst's Library exposes a mad underground

By SUSAN RICHARDSON
Collegian Correspondent

The Swimming Pool Library
Alan Hollinghurst
Random House

The Swimming Pool Library, by Alan Hollinghurst, is a haunting, erotic novel about homosexuality in the days before AIDS became rife in society. Set in London, it follows the movements of one William Beckwith, a young, promiscuous aristocrat who has neither a job nor a clear sense of purpose in life. Instead, he moves from seedy underground bars to swimming pools to tacky cinemas and seems to live only for

continued on page 15

Collegian Photo by Joel Solomon

The Beat Cafe, Tuesday night at Hampden Theatre in Southwest, saw poets, musicians and other artists mingle in the tradition of the 50s beat generation.

UNIVERSAL JOINT

EVERY TUESDAY BLUES JAM w/ WMUA's Blue Bill FREE
THURSDAY NOV. 3 THE LYRES w/ The Malarians $5-
FRIDAY NOV. 4 DREAMS SO REAL w/ The Grave Gods
All ages show sponsored by WMUA 6:30 p.m. Nightime Show at 9:30 p.m. $5 Arista recording artists from Athens GA
SATURDAY NOV. 5 COMEDY with LAs, NYs and Boston's Finest 8-10 pm
AFTERWARDS THE INCREDIBLE CASUALS $7 for Comedy & Music, $5 for Music
SUNDAY NOV. 6 THE CONNELLS

Nov. 10 LOOSE CABOOSE — NOV. 11 EVAN JOHNS & THE H-BOMBS
NOV. 12 COMEDY/NIGHTY SAM McCLAIN — NOV. 17 DUMPTRUCK
DEC. 1 THE JAMES COTTON BAND — DEC. 9 TREAT HER RIGHT
DEC. 12 THE SCREAMING TRIBESMEN

U. JOINT downstairs at Sweet Northampton 584-7771

Get Your Hands On $100 Billion.

Predict the future. Create, control, dissolve multi-million dollar financial instruments. Price corporate acquisitions.

And help keep a handle on $100 billion in assets.

Earn like an MBA. Learn like a Ph.D. Have more fun than bankers and more security than security brokers.

Be an executive, financier, sociologist, economist, legislative expert, master communicator and mathematician. All in the same day.

And do it all with the Best in the Business. Become an Ætna actuary and get ready for a clear shot at the top.

Bring us your mathematical mind, a talent for communication and the desire to do something important. We'll give you the best actuarial and management training you can get.

Proof? Talk to us. It gets even better.
Time: November 10, 4:30 - 8:00 P.M.
Place: Lederle Graduate Research Tower, 16th Floor Lounge

Be The Brains Behind The Business.

Ætna LIFE & CASUALTY

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA	RICK SASSON	DAVID R. MARK	RICK SANTOS	MATT GERKE	JIM CLARK
Editor in Chief	Managing Editor	Editorial Editor	News Editor	Sports Editor	Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY	RICHARD BONANNO	MARIA SACCHETTI	JANINE WARNER	JOSEPH HILL	THOMAS MAMBANDE
Arts Editor	Photo Editor	Women's Issues Editor	Women's Issues Editor	Black Affairs Editor	Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

'M' is for mouth

A choice only a woman should make

George Bush wants to make getting an abortion a felony. He says he wouldn't punish the women that got abortions, only the doctors who gave them. Gee, isn't that nice. What a guy. Us poor little women can be moral baby factories for George Bush's ideal America, while the big, bad doctors who give abortions get punished.

Most people who gave illegal abortions were not doctors. They used the crudest methods, unsanitary materials, charged a fortune, and left their patients with sometimes fatal infections.

Don't ever tell me that women would never get punished by the new felony. The fact that women wouldn't be allowed to have an abortion is a punishment. After the trauma of an unwanted pregnancy, who needs jail?

I just want to make a few things clear to him and the anti-choice advocates (I don't buy the term "pro-life").

First, I believe life does start at conception. I will not argue that point with anyone, though there has been debate about that. I simply think that abortion is a matter of priorities.

Nice word, huh? Priorities. Let's all say it together, because when it comes to that too many of us assume our own priorities become everyone else's.

My life, my body, and my choice are all priorities of mine. I refuse to give birth to an unwanted child. Oh, I can hear it now. "You should have been using birth control." "If you're not ready for a baby, you're not ready for sex." "What about adoption?"

I've got news for you. Not all birth control works — accidents do happen, even with the Pill. However, I think anyone who has sex and never uses any protection is being irresponsible. Considering we have a new and improved venereal disease that has death as a side effect, unprotected sex is a catastrophically dumb thing to do to. Not only can you get pregnant, but there is a chance you'll be left with a little "gift" that can kill you.

Pamela McCarthy

If a woman or girl is not responsible enough about sex, how can she be responsible enough for a baby? Why do these people assume that it is best for a child to be with a mother who isn't ready for such a job? She made a mistake; keeping the child only creates a bigger mistake.

Adoption? If I was going to go through with a pregnancy, I'd want to keep my baby. To give birth just to have my child taken away from me seems worthless. Abortion is not an easy solution (contrary to what many anti-choice people say), but it beats knowing you'll never be a mother to your baby. While there are women who have made couples happy by opting for adoption, most would rather keep the children they bear. Besides, most couples want blond, blue-eyed, babies. If that's what they want, I wish them happy hunting. Not all babies are blond and blue-eyed.

Most children from single-parent families are on or below the poverty level. Remember, this is the humane thing to do. Give your child a sub-standard life of poverty — it's moral.

Many pro-choice advocates say there should be less of an emphasis on "pro-life" and more efforts for programs which would improve the quality of life for children. It would make things easier on single mothers who decided to keep their children.

While this is good, there is one minor catch. Some women (including yours truly) wouldn't care how many programs there were for single mothers; if they don't want a baby, they'll get an abortion. Period.

People, remember: We bear them. We (not the fathers) are expected by society to care for them — social programs or not.

It's our choice.

Pamela McCarthy is a Collegian columnist

WASHINGTOON
Mark Alan Stamaty
I visited NICARAGUA and witNESSED THE EFFORTS OF THE SANDINISTAS to MAKE A BETTER LIFE for their PEOPLE!
YOU'VE BEEN DUPED! THE SANDINISTAS ARE an ENTRENCHED COMMUNIST DICTATORSHIP WITH EXPANSIONIST intentions!
NICARAGUA IS AN ABSTRACTION to me, A montage OF WORDS and PICTURES that sway me GENTLY Back and Forth, Back and Forth, Left, Right, Left, Right,...
DON'T YOU SEE: It's U.S. CONTRA POLICY that HAS DELAYED DEMOCRATIZATION!
WitHOut the FREEDOM FIGHTERS to STOP them, tHOSE SOVIET SURROGATES WOULD topple MEXICO and INVADE TEXAS!
CLEARLY THOSE TWO ARE MORALLY SUPERIOR to EACH OTHER. I ENVY THEIR CONVICTIONS!
IF WE'd TRY To be their FRIENDS and HELP them...
COMMUNIST DICTATORS NEVER GIVE UP POWER!
MOST AMERICANS OPPOSE CONTRA SUPPORT yet MOST AMERICANS SUPPORT A CONTRA SUPPORTER FOR PRESIDENT.
WE CANNOT GO ON INDEFINITELY BEING AMBIVALENT in OUR POLICY TOWARD NICARAGUA. PEOPLE'S LIVES ARE AT STAKE.
CAUTION FLAT PUNCHLINE 2 PANELS AHEAD
REDUCE EXPECTATIONS
WE MUST SUBMIT THIS ISSUE TO THE PROPER FORUM FOR RESOLVING A GREAT POLITICAL and MORAL DILEMMA:
OUR ADVERTISING AGENCIES ... IN A BATTLE OF 30-SECOND SPOTS TO DECIDE, ONCE AND FOR ALL, THE FATE OF OUR ABSTRACT NEIGHBORS!
PLEASE DON'T GIVE UP A TICKET!
CARTOONIST INTIMATES PUNCHLINE IS A SERIOUS OFFENSE!

Just my opinion

Bush: A reason to vote for Duke

I was watching Oprah one day. The show was about the November elections. An elderly lady in the audience commented that she was 75 years old, and never in all her years had she seen such a "sleazy" campaign as the one being run by George Bush. She went on to explain that we (the citizens of the United States) had already gone through Watergate, contragate, and now with George we have "shame-gate."

Peter Leon

George certainly has been doing a great deal of negative campaigning. So has Mike Dukakis, but at least he has some positive commercials and a trendy catch phrase "The best America is yet to come". I wonder though what positive things George has to offer the country.

It might be:

His resume. He has been vice president, an oil-man, and director of the CIA among other things. As an oil man he is connected with big business, and has always favored tax breaks for the rich "to put more money directly back in to the economy." As director of the CIA he learned about covert operations, i.e. lying or giving out "disinformation." As vice president, he endorsed the selling of arms to the Iranians, and then forgot he was even at the meetings. Where was George mentally? We know he was there physically. He also led the war on drugs. Notice the wonderful job he has done. Drug use is up. He also was a buddy-ol'-pal of General Noreiga, a guy who worked two jobs. One as dictator of a small Central American country (Panama), and one as a drug lord. Guess George's resume has some black spots on it just like Mike's.

He might have to offer:

A continuation of the Reagan revolution. Reagan has brought back prosperity and pride to America. People are better off than they were eight years ago. But how is it that Reagan created more of a debt than all the presidents before him? That puts every U.S. citizen in debt to the tune of more than $6,000. Does George want to more than double the national debt just like his boss? Reagan started the war on drugs, but then cut funding to the Coast Guard, which meant leaving necessary ships in port because the Coast Guard couldn't afford the gas to make the ships move. Does George plan to continue to not fund his war on drugs program when his vice president, the favorite son of Indiana, Dan Quayle, takes over as commander of the forces against drug use? Reagan did bring pride back to America, but he bought with foreign capital. More land has been bought by foreign companies in the last eight years than ever before. Sure this puts the people of this country to work, but it sends all the profits to other countries like Japan and Germany. Does George plan to keep the economy running on foreign investment? At this rate a foreign company could just buy Montana and re-name it New Japan or New Germany.

He might offer us:

Dan Quayle: Choosing Danny boy as his running mate was the first decision George made. He chose someone who was from the younger generation, someone who with his wealth of experience and knowledge will tell George what the new generation wants besides Pepsi and coffee. But Dan has only been in government a relatively short time; less than two terms in the Senate. He also has some very extremist views. He is anti-choice, pro contra-aid, and pro golf. He says 11 year old girls can have children and not ruin their lives. He says the contras, who the U.S. government organized, are freedom fighters. Isn't that special.

It would seem the reason George Bush needs to do so much negative advertising is because there aren't any good reasons to vote for him.

Peter Leon is a Collegian columnist

What's the matter with me?

Election lost by Senate seat

Ever since the Republican National Convention was held in New Orleans in August, the focus of the election has centered primarily around the running mate of the Grand Ole Party, J. Danforth Quayle, and how many people think Quayle will cost the Republicans the election Nov. 8.

Jim Clark

I agree that the vice-presidential candidate will ultimately decide this election, but it is Democrat Lloyd Bentsen, and not Pat Sajak look-alike Quayle, who will turn the tide.

Texas is the home state of Bentsen, which should boost the campaign of the Dukakis/Bentsen ticket significantly. However, it is also one of the many "home" states of Vice President George Bush. Bush ran for Congress in Texas, but he can also lay claim to Massachusetts (he was born in Milton), Maine (he has a summer home in Kennebunkport) and Connecticut (he went to Yale — where he was the captain of the baseball team, if that matters). Pay close attention, there will be a pop quiz on this later.

Anyway, voters favor the hometown boy more often than not. Even Walter Mondale, who got only 13 electoral votes in the 1984 landslide loss to President Reagan, picked up 10 in his home state of Minnesota. Not since 1972, when George McGovern was unable to carry his homeland of South Dakota, has a presidential candidate from a major party not carried the local vote.

The fact that Bentsen is actually a full-fledged Texan, while Bush is only a quasi-local, so to speak, would normally be enough to sway the majority and win the 29 critical electoral votes that Texas carries. But this is where it gets interesting.

Bentsen is still a US Senator from Texas, and is seeking re-election to that position. Although the laws of Texas allow an incumbent candidate to defend his title while running for another office, it all becomes a matter of priority.

In this case, the question seems to be this. Why is Bentsen running for Senate and the vice presidential nomination at the same time? Anyone able to read between the lines can view this "conflict of interest" in these terms. It seems illogical on the part of the Democratic party to allow Bentsen to do this. Despite his enormous popularity among the people of the Lone Star State, it would appear that Bentsen's Senate campaign would severely detract from his vice-presidential campaign efforts.

Also, one could view it this way. By electing Bentsen to the Senate and Bush to the presidency, Texans could have the best of both worlds.

So the question is this: Is Bentsen running for re-election in the Senate in case he and Dukakis fail to win the election? In other words, is he looking for something to fall back on? Is he not confident that he and Dukakis will win on Tuesday? Possibly.

It's clear to those who have been following the campaign that Bentsen is indeed more qualified than Quayle. In this election, where the main issue of being "an assassin's bullet from the presidency" seems to take precedence in a lot of people's minds, Bentsen would be the logical choice.

But by winning Texas for himself in the Senate, Bentsen is losing Texas, and ultimately the election, for Dukakis.

Jim Clark is a Collegian columnist

Cliff at SUB Friday; Connells at Pearl St Sunday

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

There are some big attractions this weekend.

The Smith College Thursday Night Club are having F.C.Pohaku from 10 p.m. to midnight at the Davis

Center for free, and drinks will be awarded to those who have the I.D. Sheehan's is hosting The Danger Bro's with special guests Grave Goods, who'll be busy this weekend at Pearl Street with fresh RCA recording artists Dreams So Real. It seems like both Gidget Goes to Hell and Dreams so Real are going to be the next bands taking a shot at the big time. And speaking of Gidget Goes to Hell they'll be playing their debut New York gig at CBGB'S this Monday at 10 p.m. Look for a review of the show the following Wednesday.

Also on Monday, Nov. 7th, at the Iron Horse, is Queen Ida & Les Bon Temps Zydeco Band bringin' her funky shit to the venue for two shows at 7 and 10 p.m SHARP! Speaking of the Iron Horse, tickets are still on sale for Fishbone and Schooly D.

Tonight is also the first night of the opening of Universal Joint, or otherwise referred to as the "U-Joint," with The Lyres with openers The Malarians at 8:30 p.m. The U-Joint is located downstairs at Pearl Street. And the interior is pretty imaginative. Other shows there this weekend include, Dreams so Real, from Athens GA. tomorrow night with an all-ages show at 6:30 p.m. and The Connells, "southern fried goon-twang," on Sunday. All shows are $5.00.

Sheehan's on Friday will be the place to be to see Half Japanese with Jad Fair. The bands are eccentric and have a style all of their own. They're worth seeing! They play with Skid Row and the admission is cheap. On Saturday Jim K and Co.

Ska-rockers Bim Ska La Bim are playing Katina's tonight. And speaking of that place, Bachman-Turner Overdrive play the only area show. Tix still on sale at Ticketron.

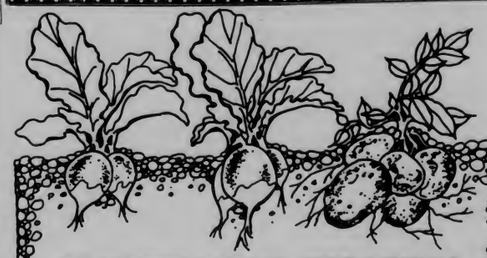
Finally tomorrow night at the SUB, Jimmy Cliff is playing with special guests Arrow. The gig is sponsored by U.P.C. and it should be an interesting show.

Reggae musician Jimmy Cliff plays the SUB Friday with Arrow. UPC sponsors the show.

Valley Light Opera will present Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Sorcerer" at 8 p.m. tomorrow Nov. 5, 11 and 12 and at 2 p.m. Nov. 6 at the Amherst Regional High School on Triangle Street. Tickets, which are $8 for adults and $6 for students and senior citizens will be on sale at the Jones Library in Amherst through Nov. 11 and at the door. For more information call 548-2800.

Main St RECORDS
OLDIES
Just in: Hundreds of 50's and 60's reissues!
Monday-Wednesday 9:30-6:00
Thursday-Saturday 9:30-9:00
Sunday 12:00-5:00
213 Main Street, Northampton, Massachusetts 586-5726

You asked for it... WE'RE NOW OPEN AND DELIVERING 'TIL 2AM
Thursday, Friday, & Saturday...
"THE ORIGINAL" JOE'S BUFFALOS T.M.
Still the BEST and we cost LESS
GOURMET CHICKEN
Joe's Paradise
31 Boltwood Walk through the Alley
253-7494
FREE DELIVERY



BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN
WE ARE SEEKING TO FILL TWO POSITIONS ON OUR STUDENT MANAGEMENT STAFF BEGINNING NEXT SEMESTER.
ASSISTANT MANAGER - REQUIRES A MATURE, ENERGETIC AND FLEXIBLE PERSON WITH FOOD SERVICE EXPERIENCE.
ACCOUNTANT - REQUIRES A WELL ORGANIZED PERSON WITH GOOD MATH SKILLS AND COMMUNICATIVE ABILITY.
JOB DESCRIPTIONS AND APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE THRU NOV. 14TH AT BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN OFFICE, CLARK HILL ROAD

Connells come from the Heights to Noho

By CHEETIE KUMAR
and JENNIFER HUGHES
Special to the Collegian

Ok. Here's a trivia question. What is born every minute? You're probably thinking "a fool," right? Well, maybe so when the phrase was originally coined; but a more appropriate answer in today's world would be "a rock band."

In a time when college radio is flooded with them, it is a welcome refreshing surprise when one stumbles across a band that is as memorable as a quintet from North Carolina that call themselves The Connells.

Born in 1984, The Connells were formed by lead guitarist Mike Connell and his bassist brother Dave. By Christmas of that year, with lead vocalist Doug MacMillan, drummer Peele Wimberly (replacing original drummer John Schultz) and George Huntley adding more guitars, vocals and keyboards, The Connells were well on their way to a bright future.

Following their appearance on the More Mondo compilation in 1986, their debut album Darker Days was released originally on the British independent label Demon Records and later on Black Park Record domestically. Considering the fact that Darker Days illustrated the unique, addicting and energetic sounds characteristic of the band, it was no surprise that it received much critical attention which, subsequently, led to their signing on TVT Records. In 1987, their second LP Boylan Heights continued what Darker Days had started. The tour that followed only enhanced the success of this must-have LP. This summer, The Connells were busy recording Fun and Games, their forthcoming LP, which is to be released in January. This time around, The Connells used producer Gary Smith (Throwing Muses, The Pixies) which is a switch from Mitch Easter who produced Boylan Heights and Don Dixon, co-producer of four tracks on Darker Days.

So what can we expect from Fun and Games? "In some sense there's more variety on Fun and Games," explained Doug MacMillan in an interview earlier this week. "Some songs have a heavy guitar sound while others are acoustic. The heavier songs capture more of the live sound of the band, which was one of the original intentions that Gary Smith had while producing the album."

This album will also be released on TVT, a label that The Connells are very happy with.

"Being on TVT is like being on a major," said MacMillan, "because they have the resources to promote and distribute well, and while we still have the advantage of being on an indie because of the ability to get out ideas across without having to fight."

With no current intentions of making the jump onto a major label, MacMillan explained that his definition of a successful band is "to be able to record and release albums, tour and live without having to compromise what you believe in. And if you become somewhat popular, that's good too. The important thing is the ability to play music the way we see it."

With this honest ideology underlying their invigorating music, you can't go wrong. However, to really get a feel of how incredible The Connells are, it is essential to catch them live. Lucky enough, they will be appearing right in Northampton downstairs at Pearl Street Nightclub on Sunday Nov. 6. Don't miss them!!!

Tomorrow, concluding our series, watch out for a close look at Dreams So Real.

Cheetie Kumar and Jennifer Hughes are WMUA dj's.

Mount Holyoke College Art Museum hosts "New Work Japan," an exhibition of six contemporary Japanese sculptors, which runs from Nov. 4 - Dec. 21. On Sunday, Nov. 6, at 3 p.m. in the Gamble Auditorium, there will be a lecture by Ritsuo Taho, lecturer at Harvard University, and artist in the exhibition, entitled "Sculpture at the Site," to be followed by an opening reception.

Celebrate the Miracle of Lights
With Love...
With Lingerie...
Just Between the Two of You...
gazebo
14 Center St.

GULF Stream RESTAURANT
Route 9 and University Drive, Amherst 253-9757
Lunch Tues.—Fri. 11:30-3:00 • Dinner Nightly from 5:00
"All-You-Can-Eat" LUNCH BUFFET
Tues.-Fri. 11:30-3 p.m. $4.95
Sunday-Monday-Tuesday Dinner
25% DISCOUNT * with your valid Student ID
* (Discount applies to food items purchased for dinner in the dining room. Cannot be used in conjunction with other discounts.)
The Pink Cadillac
Oldies Dance Club
Route 9 & University Drive, Amherst 253 - 9750
Downstairs at the Gulf Stream
THURSDAY IS COLLEGE NIGHT
Shot Night: Buy any shot and keep the Pink Cadillac Souveneir Shot Glass
Every Wednesday
Enjoy Live Blues and Boogie with Evening Pro Blusica
Pitchers of Beer $5.25

Five College Communities
Alcohol Awareness Week
October 31-November 4, 1988
Be a Lifesaver:
Don't Drink and Drive
Have you been touched by an alcohol-related driving death?
Create a memorial flag and attend a memorial service and call-to-action.
"Remembering Loved Ones"
featuring Doris Aiken, founder and president of Remove Intoxicated Drivers.
Thursday, November 3, 1988
4:00 PM
Amherst Town Common
(In case of rain, Bangs Community Center)
For information about other events and memorial flags:

Amherst College Health Services	542-2286	Northampton Saving Lives Program	586-6950 ext. 268
Smith College Health Services	585-2824	UMass Health Services	549-2671 ext. 181
Mt. Holyoke Alcohol Awareness Project	538-2466/2616	UMass EAP	545-0350
Hampshire College Health Services	549-4600 ext. 456	Housing Services/Residential Ed	545-0422
Multi-Service Health	584-3880	Amherst Health Dept.	253-7077

ELECTION '88

Michael Dukakis is the best choice for president

The Collegian endorses Gov. Michael Dukakis and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen for the presidency for several reasons, and urges the campus community to vote for the Democratic ticket on Nov. 8.

We feel the Democratic nominees are better able to curb the United States' $2 trillion federal deficit and $700 billion-plus trade deficit, to educate young Americans — not just in the three R's but also in sex and drug education, to wage a real war on drugs, to work with our Central American neighbors both in the war against drugs and to rebuild many of their economies, to work for the benefit of women and minorities through child care and workfare proposals, to protect the environment, and perhaps most important, to bring ethics and morals back to Washington.

We also feel that it is better for the country that Dukakis appoint replacements for as many as three Supreme Court justices scheduled to retire in the next year. The preservation of the landmark Roe vs. Wade case, giving women the right to have an abortion, would be in jeopardy if Vice President George Bush appointed three more conservative justices to the bench. Other important cases may also be in jeopardy if Dukakis is not elected.

Certainly Ronald Reagan did many things as president that this country can be proud of — most obviously signing the INF treaty, lowering inflation and unemployment, and restoring patriotism and pride in the United States.

Bush has and should take credit for these successes, but the vice president should also take responsibility for the administration's many setbacks, something he has been reluctant to do in this election year.

We find Bush's actions in the war on drugs (cocaine supply in the United States has tripled since 1981), dealings with Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega (claiming the administration was the first to indict the Panamanian drug trafficker — even as Noriega rules with an iron fist over the US ally) and dog-like obedience to Reagan's policies (whatever happened to "voodoo economics"?) to be un-presidential — to the point where we must question Bush's judgment and ability to discern the obvious.

Furthermore, voters elect a ticket. We have respect for Sen. Bentsen. We have no such respect for Sen. Dan Quayle, the Republican vice-presidential nominee.

Quayle has proven to be nothing short of an embarrassment to this country, and should be reason enough not to vote for the Republican ticket. It's not just that Quayle lacks intelligence, that Quayle has a less-than-exemplary voting record as a senator, and because he seems unable to successfully come up with an original thought.

No, the reason we fear Quayle as vice president is that he would be one step away from the presidency — and as too many times before in American history, an assassin's bullet could very well mean a Quayle presidency. For this to happen would be disastrous.

For these reasons, we must wholeheartedly support Michael Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen this election year. We feel both are competent, intelligent, thoughtful individuals who are best able to bear the fruit of the Reagan administration's strengths, and work for the betterment of those Americans the Reagan administration has left behind.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian board of editors

The Collegian's special Election '88 section was developed, designed and edited by David R. Mark and Rick Sasson. Production was done by the Wednesday night graphics crew, with special thanks to Florencio Terra, Peter Leon, Brian Harrington and Robert Ciappennelli.

Questions or comments regarding this section or the articles within? Write the Collegian.

Why no facts behind the campaign issues?

This country is becoming a country of right-wing hawkish activists with narrow-minded views; a nation of people who pay no attention to national affairs.

Take the modern style of campaigns. Are there any questions as to why they are so silly? It's because politicians tailor their speeches and promises for an audience that generally doesn't see if they're genuine. Politicians give moving oratories to people that are only listening to every other word that probably implies "America" or "patriotism" in its meaning.

The reason is that people running for office are aware of how really stupid and ill-informed we generally are. We hear "raising taxes," but we don't hear "raising taxes will lower our national deficit." We hear "strengthening our national defense," but we don't hear "raising the national defense budget will leave out money for things like education." We hear "unpatriotic," but we do not hear "forcing people to take the pledge of allegiance goes against the constitutional rights of that person."

We are one-minded and going in one direction, and we hear only what we want to hear. That's why we don't want our taxes raised, why we want a larger defense budget, and why I predict we will vote for Bush and Quayle.

Makes one want to move to Japan.

Chris Willey
Sylvan

Dukakis a dangerous threat to all Americans

Michael Dukakis has pledged to do for America what he has done for Massachusetts. I see this rhetoric as a dangerous threat.

Gov. Dukakis has called for the end of development and deployment of the Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI), opposes the MX missile, the B-1 bomber, and the Midgetman missile. The Dukakis threat to America's national security is real and frightening.

The crux of the Dukakis primary campaign was his claims on the economic phenomenon dubbed the "Massachusetts Miracle." Some have also dubbed it the "Massachusetts Mirage." Harvard economist Robert Reich, a Dukakis supporter, said that "Mike Dukakis isn't responsible for Massachusetts' economic miracle. It would be a miracle if Massachusetts didn't do as well as it has."

Dukakis is the most pro-abortion candidate to ever run for President. He is not only a pro-choice politician, he sees abortion as birth control and the life of the unborn baby as insignificant. While his concern for innocent babies is nowhere to be found, the "Duke of Death" has plenty of concern for violent murderers.

To the student looking for a job in the next few years; to the young couple saving for their first home; to Americans who don't take freedom lightly; to the unborn baby; to the honest citizens and to the future of this great nation, Dukakis is a threat.

W. Greg Rothman
Amherst

Don't throw vote away — look at alternatives

With Nov. 8 imminent and citizens preparing to exercise the right to be heard in our 'democratic' society, we must evaluate what this election will accomplish and whether the interests of all our nation's peoples are represented.

With only two political parties perceived as viable, US voters have fewer political options than voters in any other western, industrialized nation. With public opinion polls showing voters shifting between Michael Dukakis and George Bush, the purported differences between the two candidates are apparently not as great as their respective parties would have us believe. Lenora Fulani is on the ballot in 50 states and Ron Paul is on the ballot in 46, yet neither were invited nor permitted to participate in the presidential debates. We should thus question the commitment of the established political parties and the media to political pluralities and meaningful dialogue on the issues of our day.

To make our democracy more responsive to the concerns of its many diverse constituencies, I urge voters who do not feel they would be well-served by Bush or Dukakis to support a third-party candidate or use the write-in slot on the ballot.

John U. Davis
Greenfield

ELECTION '88

Kennedy, Conte, Questions 1 and 3, deserve support

Decisions must be made on Nov. 8 other than the choice of who should be president. It is of equal importance to students that decisions be made on congressional candidates, and on the four referendum questions. It is for that reason the Collegian offers the following:

●We endorse the re-election of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. He has a long-standing record of working on behalf of students and public education. He is a strong civil rights activist, and has stood up for other important social issues — most important day care, health care, long-term care for the elderly, and assistance to the homeless and needy. Furthermore, though Kennedy visited Northampton last month, and will come to UMass this Sunday, most of the Pioneer Valley has only seen Republican challenger Joseph D. Malone via commercials. In other words, Kennedy has shown he cares about Western Massachusetts; the same can't be said for Malone.

●For similar reasons we support Silvio O. Conte, R-Pittsfield, in his quest for re-election to the US House of Representatives. Conte is a strong advocate for UMass, and the soon-to-be-built Polymer Research Center bears his name. We can't say much about his challenger, John R. Arden, and apparently Arden wants to keep it that way — having run one of the most silent campaigns ever in our region.

There are also four referendum question facing the voters of Massachusetts:

●Question 1 states: "To approve or repeal a 1987 law which increased salaries for members of the state legislature and certain other state officials."

We support the law, as many of our state legislators, including Stan Rosenberg, D-Amherst, have worked hard and long (year-round sessions) to help the citizens of Massachusetts. Despite the state deficit, this relatively small extra allocation of money is worthy of our support. We say vote Yes on 1.

●Question 2 states: "To repeal or continue the Prevailing Wage Law."

The question is economics. Should thousands of workers lose money, in turn causing the state to lose a large amount of tax revenue? We say no. The law has been in place since 1914 — there's no need nor reason to repeal it now. The state would not benefit, and the workers would be hurt. We say vote No on 2.

●Question 3 states: "To regulate treatment of farm animals."

This question is misleading and poorly drafted, which may be the reason the MSPCA is against its passage. Under the proposed measure, an unpaid Scientific Advisory Board on Farm Animal Welfare comprised of veterinarians and animal scientists would be established within the Department of Food and Agriculture. Such a board would not include farmers, making it one-sided. The question, if passed, would hurt the state's many farmers, already an endangered species.

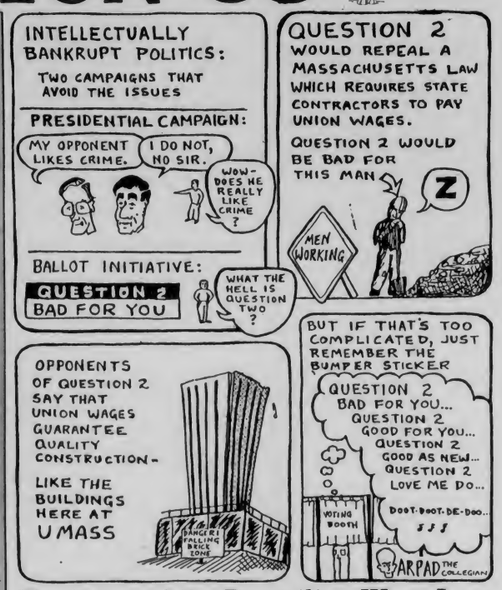
We would support a better prepared version of an animal right law, although there are currently laws and organizations working on behalf of animal rights. We say vote No on 3.

●Question 4 states: "To stop electric power plants that produce nuclear waste."

Pilgrim Nuclear Power Plant has been sighted as one of the most dangerous plants in the country, and in fact has been closed for the last two years. Furthermore, the plants are not a vital source of the state's energy supply, as it only provides four percent of our electricity. The loss of jobs if the plants close would be unfortunate, but the risk of nuclear disaster is greater. We say vote Yes on 4.

Finally, we implore you, no matter your political ideology, to vote. It is embarrassing that so few people our age go to the polls. As has been said before, the 1960 election was decided in favor of John F. Kennedy by less than one vote for every district in the United States. Your vote does make a difference.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian board of editors



INTELLECTUALLY BANKRUPT POLITICS:
TWO CAMPAIGNS THAT AVOID THE ISSUES
PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN:
MY OPPONENT LIKES CRIME.
I DO NOT, NO SIR.
WOW- DOES HE REALLY LIKE CRIME?
BALLOT INITIATIVE:
QUESTION 2 BAD FOR YOU
WHAT THE HELL IS QUESTION TWO?
QUESTION 2 WOULD REPEAL A MASSACHUSETTS LAW WHICH REQUIRES STATE CONTRACTORS TO PAY UNION WAGES.
QUESTION 2 WOULD BE BAD FOR THIS MAN
Z
MEN WORKING
OPPONENTS OF QUESTION 2 SAY THAT UNION WAGES GUARANTEE QUALITY CONSTRUCTION-LIKE THE BUILDINGS HERE AT UMASS
DANGER! FALLING BRICK ZONE
BUT IF THAT'S TOO COMPLICATED, JUST REMEMBER THE BUMPER STICKER
QUESTION 2 BAD FOR YOU... QUESTION 2 GOOD FOR YOU... QUESTION 2 GOOD AS NEW... QUESTION 2 LOVE ME DO...
VOTING BOOTH
DOOT-DOOT-DE-DOO...
ARPAD THE COLLEGIAN

Don't repeal the Prevailing Wage Law

This Nov. 8 we implore you to vote no on Question 2. To repeal the prevailing wage would hurt the entire Commonwealth except for a small group of contractors. Prevailing wage is under attack from a coven of anti-union contractors who are attempting to deregulate their own industry.

Prevailing wage was passed in 1914 for the benefit of contractors and workers. For 74 years the law has worked. What would repeal mean to Massachusetts? According to Data Resources, Inc., an independent think tank, "the only clear result of repealing the Massachusetts Prevailing Wage Law would be lower wages for Massachusetts residents." This in turn would mean less tax revenue for student loans and university budgets. With the current budgetary woes we can ill afford a further reduction in state income.

These contractors, using the guise of the "Fair Wage" Committee, have based their campaign on misinformation and outright lies from the start. They claim enormous tax savings if Question 2 passes, but have failed to produce any solid evidence. They claim wages and salaries are guaranteed under Prevailing Wage. This is a lie.

The referendum not only repeals Prevailing Wage, it eliminates record keeping. It would be near impossible to keep track of state funds. Accountability to the taxpayer would be lost.

David Eng-Wong
University Labor Relations and Research Center

Fight for family farms; vote No on 3

Obviously families do not choose farming as a livelihood for the money, but because they have a talent and a love for animals. So if someone told you that Massachusetts farmers smother chickens in garbage bags or hurt baby calves, then they lied to you. As for pictures you may have seen, be assured they did not come from this state. Most likely from Europe.

Through Question 3, animal activists hope to create an advisory board, but permitting no farmers to sit on such a board. These are the same people who feel horseback riding, family pets, and seeing eye dogs are all ways of exploiting animals. Sure there are those few people who should not be farmers, just as there are those few who should not be parents. This is why the MSPCA, which opposes Question 3, was established.

Farmers cannot possibly afford to continue farming under the rules that this board wants to establish. Causing farmers to sell their land to developers and move to another state, in order to continue farming. This would lead to the destruction of vast open space which the farmer supplies for the wildlife.

If you value the beautiful countryside and the inexpensive locally grown farm products, make sure you vote no on Question 3. This referendum benefits no one. For our land and for our farms, put an end to this bill.

Adrian Collins
Amherst

Vote Yes on 4; end danger to state

MassPIRG would like you to consider endorsing Question 4. If passed, the question will stop the generation of nuclear waste in Massachusetts by closing the Yankee Rowe and Pilgrim reactors. This would set a national precedent by being the first time voters have been able to change nuclear energy policy in a state.

The reactors should be closed for the following reasons:

●The nuclear plants are not safe. We have seen accidents at Three Mile Island and at Chernobyl, not to mention the recent disclosures about exposure of workers to radiation and the release of uranium in Fernald, Ohio and Savannah, Ga. Pilgrim is one of the ten worst reactors in the country and has been closed for the past two years because it is mismanaged. If a serious accident were to occur at Pilgrim, the result could kill 3,000 people immediately and give 23,000 people cancer.

●There is no way to dispose of the 50,000 pounds of waste that the plants produce each year, waste which will remain radioactive for over 200,000 years.

●The plants are not necessary since they produce less than four percent of our electricity. Closing them will not contribute to the greenhouse effect because the energy can be replaced through co-generation, hydroelectric dams, and other renewable energy sources. In fact, Boston Edison has already received offers from 61 companies to supply by 1992 twice the electricity produced by Pilgrim and Rowe.

Kira Sanbonmatsu
Safe Energy Project
MassPIRG

ESL

continued from page 1

grams since it is designed for "fully matriculated undergraduate non-native speakers of English." Most other colleges and universities do not offer credit for such preparatory programs, he said.

Northeastern University, Boston University and Georgetown University are respected "language institutes" that use this policy, he added.

Flanagan said this program is limited to United States citizens.

"The catch-22 situation," he said, "is that you can not use state monies to teach English to foreign students, because supposedly the foreign students have demonstrated on the TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) that they are proficient enough in English to do university-level work at a college or university in the United States."

The TOEFL, he said, is required of foreign students who wish to enroll in the University. Flanagan said this test does not always accurately reflect a student's proficiency in English.

"Often times," he said, "demonstrating what one can do reading and writing a language are different skills than actually standing up and being able to be intelligible orally."

Cabanas said students are not the only ones who benefit from the program. Instructors receive "probably the best salaries in the country for ESL," he said. "They are members of the faculty union."

ESL classes consist of a students from a variety of linguistic backgrounds, Flanagan said.

"One of the common misconceptions of teaching ESL," he said, "is that . . . the person doing the teaching needs (has) to understand the languages of the students that he or she is teaching."

"We use English as the medium of instruction to teach English," he said. "The ESL program does not operate (in the same) way most students are used to learning French or Spanish in high school. That's a definite advantage."

CUT OUT HERE.

$99 takes you to Florida and back.

Our new low student fares are a quick study! Just $99 round trip on Continental's new nonstops from Boston to Tampa and Ft. Lauderdale only. Please present this coupon when you purchase your ticket (one coupon per ticket, originals only, no copies allowed). Tickets available for purchase only at Continental ticketing locations. Students must present valid college ID when purchasing ticket. This fare is nonrefundable and is valid only for full-time college students age 25 or younger. Travel must originate in Boston and be completed by December 14, 1988. Holiday blackouts apply (November 18, 19, 22, 23, 26-28). Round trip purchase required. Seats are limited and fare may not be available on every flight. This offer is not valid in conjunction with any other Continental fare promotion, and no OnePass℠ miles may be earned with this special fare.

Continental Agent Ticketing Instructions.

1. The original promotional certificate (no copies) must be presented. Verify travel for compliance with all conditions of the certificate. Verify student ID and customer age 25 or under.
2. Retrieve the customer's PNR and create a Stored Ticket Shell. Complete the ticket as follows:
   A. FARE BASIS/TICKET DESIGNATOR: Enter "GH75"
   B. NOT VALID AFTER: Enter "14DEC"
   C. FARE CALCULATION LADDER: "BOS CO (applicable Florida city code) Q2.51 CO BOS Q1.85.87.51.91.67"
   D. FARE/TAX/TOTAL: Enter "91.67/7.33/99.00"
3. Use Ticket Remarks to enter the following information: "Valid CO Only/Non-Ref."
4. Issue a ticket using Even Exchange (EE) entry to enter the exchange document number (BOSTON – DOS485089999SX*3) and the actual form of payment used.
5. Draw a diagonal line across the face of the certificate and mark "Exchanged." Enter the form and serial number of the ticket issued and attach to the Auditor's coupon.
6. Student ID must be verified at time of airport check-in.

5-005-485-0899999-6

TO CUT UP DOWN HERE.

And take your cut of up to $200 savings on our new low student fares.
First, grab a pair of scissors. Then pack your swimsuit and suntan oil. Because students can now cut up in Tampa or Ft. Lauderdale, for only $99 round trip from Boston.
Just cut out Continental's low student fare coupon, above, and bring it with you when you purchase your tickets.
No advance purchase or Saturday night stay required and travel must be completed by December 14, 1988.
Just follow the instructions on the coupon. And you'll discover that sunny Florida is a mere snip, pack and splash away.
For reservations, call Continental at 617-569-8400.

CONTINENTAL
Working to be Boston's choice.

© 1988 Continental Airlines, Inc.

Dukakis, Bush in good health

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors for both presidential candidates say the candidates are in excellent condition, except for minor conditions not unusual for people of their ages and lifestyles.

Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis suffers an occasional backache made worse by campaign travel, Dr. Gerald Plotkin said. He issued a medical statement on Dukakis' health last September after a routine medical checkup at the Harvard Community Health Plan's Wellesley Center.

The candidate "was found to be in excellent health," Plotkin said.

"Over the last eight to 10 months, he has had intermittent, nagging low back discomfort exacerbated by long periods of sitting in airplanes," the doctor said.

Plotkin said then that Dukakis, who will be 55 today, took an occasional anti-inflammatory medication to ease the back pain. Dukakis told the New York Times in an interview published yesterday that he had an occasional, but no longer bothersome, back.

Training council chief resigns

NEEDHAM (AP) — Gary F. Egan, director of the state Criminal Justice Training Council resigned this morning without comment, the culmination of a month of turmoil after 16 police cadets were hospitalized after rigorous training at the council's Agawam academy.

Egan's simple letter of resignation did not offer reasons for the move. He had been on paid leave for a week.

Peter Agnes Jr., assistant secretary of public safety, was appointed interim director and the told the council, "We can never allow what happened in Agawam to happen again."

He rescinded the council's program known as "modified stress training," which combines constant exercise for cadets and unexpected situations. It was partially blamed for the hospitalization of the cadets, for dehydration, during and after exercise at the latest training camp in Agawam. One cadet underwent a liver transplant and remains in a coma at a Pennsylvania hospital.

"There must be an accounting for the administrative failures of the Criminal Justice Training Council organization and the mistakes that were made during the preparations for the . . . training program at the Agawam facility," Agnes said.

LOVE A POWER TOOL

VARIABLE SPEED REVERSING DRILL

For Healthier Skin
Facials
Deep Pore Cleansing Facials
Lash & Brow Tinting
Hair Removal with Warm Wax
Lip • Brow Shaping • Chin
Bikini Line • Legs
Gift Certificates Available
Licensed Aesthetician
AESTHETICS
EUROPEAN SKIN CARE for Men and Women
34 Main Street, Amherst
253-9879

SHEEHAN'S CAFE NORTHAMPTON
Thursday, November 3
The Danger Brothers with special guests Grave Goods
Friday, November 4
Half Japanese with special guest Skid Row
Saturday, November 5
Jim K and Company
Blue Monday, November 7
Stewart James Band
Coming, November 11
Will "Smokey" Logg and the Flame Throwers from Texas
For More Info., 585-5149

UNDOUBTEDLY Udelicious
AT THE HAMPSHIRE MAL

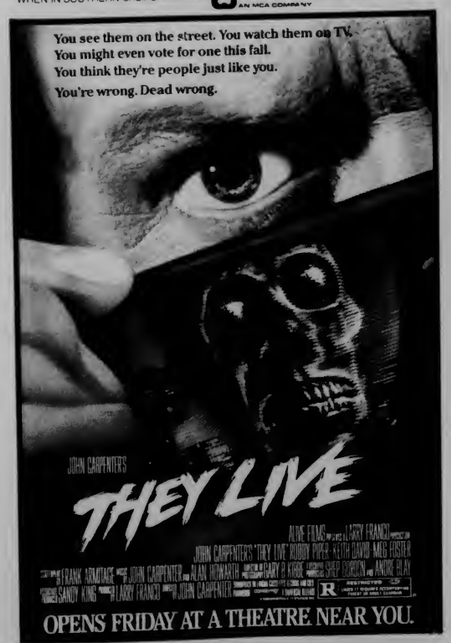
"WHEN WE GROW UP WE'LL BE OFF THE MEAL PLAN!"

The Five College Hillel Foundation Proudly Presents
a YIDDISH
"H.M.S. PINAFORE"
By Gilbert & Sullivan

(With English Narration and Summaries.)
Saturday, November 5
8:00 p.m.
Smith College, Sage Hall
A presentation of the Light Opera Company of Long Island
$9 general, $5 students & senior citizens
Tickets: UMass Hillel, Food for Thought, Amherst; Smith Hillel, Beyond Words, Broadside Bookshop, Northampton; Springfield Jewish Community Center, Temple Israel, Greenfield

WHEN IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA VISIT UNIVERSAL STUDIOS TOUR AN MCA COMPANY

興旺樓
Chinese Kitchen
Quality Chinese Food at a Low Price
Spend $10.00 and get 1 pint of Pork Fried Rice FREE
Good Only In Hadley Store
Hadley-430 Russel St., 253-2571 Northampton-150 King St., 586-8221



You see them on the street. You watch them on TV.
You might even vote for one this fall.
You think they're people just like you.
You're wrong. Dead wrong.
JOHN CARPENTER'S
THEY LIVE
OPENS FRIDAY AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU.

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT
Add Spice To Your Weekend!!
NOW SERVING BRUNCH
Every dish freshly prepared to order using the finest ingredients, and at prices that won't wreck the weekend budget.
Saturday & Sunday 11:00 To 3:00
7 OLD SOUTH STREET NORTHAMPTON

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE
Thursday Night at Mike's
WIN BRUINS TICKETS
SPECIALS
Busch Pitchers.....3.75
Bud Light Bottles.....1.25
Wall Bangers.....1.75

To My Girl with Love

FYI

continued from page 3

Concert
Jimmy Cliff is scheduled to perform with a special guest beginning at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Student Union Ballroom. Tickets are $13 for UMass students and $15 for the general public.

Bazaar
The Annual International Students Day bazaar is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow at Scott Gymnasium at Smith College. Admission is 50 cents.

Lecture
Learn about the Massachusetts Prevailing Wage Law, come hear Steve Sullivan, director of Frontlash, the student organization of the AFL-CIO, speak on Question 2 of the Massachusetts ballot. The lecture is scheduled for noon today in room 163 of the Campus Center.

Semi-formal
There will be a semi-formal at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Blue Wall Cafeteria. It is free to dorm due payers and $3 for others.

Coffee social
The Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance has scheduled a coffee social from 3 to 5:30 p.m. tomorrow in room 811 to 815 of the Campus Center. The social is free.

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE
Hockey Tonight!
Whalers vs Bruins
FREE hors d'oeuvres at 9:00
Weekly drink specials and never a line at the door!
NHL
11th Floor Campus Center • (413) 549-6000 ext. 7634
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Screenprinting...
Tee Shirts, Sweatshirts, Jackets, Bumperstickers, Decals, Athletic Jerseys, Hats
For your Group, Company or Organization
YOU NAME IT- WE SCREEN IT!
RUSH ORDERS OUR SPECIALTY
Complete Art and Design Department
screenprint specialists
47 Jackson Street, Box 771
Holyoke MA 01041
In Mass.- 413-534-5634

ACADEMY of MUSIC ON THE PARK NORTHAMPTON, MASS.
Western Mass. Premiere Opens On Friday
Curtain at 6:45 and 9:00
"THE ONE INDISPUTABLE MASTERPIECE OF ALL THE FILMS RELEASED SO FAR IN 1988."
WINNER CANNES
SALAAM BOMBAY!
Producer and Director MIRA NAIR
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

How to make a hit.

The American Express® Card is a hit virtually anywhere you shop, from Los Angeles to London. Whether you're buying books, baseball tickets or brunch. So during college and after, it's the perfect way to pay for just about everything you'll want.
How to get the Card now.
College is the first sign of success. And because we believe in your potential, we've made it easier for students of this school to get the American Express Card right now – even without a job or a credit history. So whether you're an underclassman, senior or grad student, look into our automatic approval offers. For details pick up an application on campus. Or call 1-800-THE-CARD and ask for a student application.
The American Express Card. Don't Leave School Without It.™
© 1988 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.

The Best Way Off Campus
Peter Pan
Hourly Express Service, Daily to
New York City & Boston
Serving: Springfield • Worcester • Newton • Hartford • Albany
Bradley & Logan Airports
Service Throughout New England with Connecting Service Nationwide
Student Fares from Amherst to
Boston $20.95 round-trip
New York City $34.95 round-trip
The People Professionals
Tickets and information available at:
U-Mass Hotel Tel #1 or #2 545-2006 549-6000
Amherst Center Bus Terminal 256-0431
Hampshire College Book Store 549-4600
Price Watch Pharmacy So. Hadley 533-7115
Northampton Bus Terminal Roundhouse Pl. 586-1030

AMHERST CINEMA
"PERVERSELY FASCINATING" "PROVOCATIVE"

HANDMADE FILMS PRESENTS
A NICOLAS ROEG FILM
TRACK 29
THERESA RUSSELL GARY OLDMAN and CHRISTOPHER LLOYD
R 1987 Hand Made Films (1987) Partnership
Western Mass. Premiere
2- showings 7:00 and 9:15 in the center of Amherst
AMITY ST. 253-5426

The Swimming Pool Library

continued from page 6

immediate sexual gratification.

There are, however, many poignant and nicely-wrought psychological scenes, too. We are introduced to James, a sexually frustrated doctor, whom Beckwith has known since his days at Oxford University, and to Arthur, a black teenager from an underprivileged area of London. There is Phil, too, with whom Beckwith falls deeply in love. Possibly the most touching scene in the novel, however, occurs when Beckwith's young nephew, Rupert, ingenuously questions his uncle about homosexuality.

The crux of the novel revolves around the friendship which develops between Beckwith and Lord Nantwich, an elderly homosexual gentleman who is searching for someone to write his biography. Beckwith's narrative, which abounds with lively dialogue and explicit descriptions, is set against the diary of Lord Nantwich and he relates his homosexual encounters of the early part of this century in journal form.

It is interesting to compare the more liberal attitude toward gay men with which Beckwith grew up, with that of Lord Nantwich's heyday. At that time, homosexuality was, in his own words, "still kind of underground, we operated on a constantly shifting code, and it was so extraordinarily moving and exciting when that spurt of recognition came, like the flare of a match."

Whatever readers may feel about the many explicit sex scenes in The Swimming Pool Library, it is clear that Hollinghurst has created a novel which is, in itself, "moving and exciting" and which presents an interesting study of the male homosexual psyche.

UVC airs Cover-Up

The Union Video Center will be cable-casting Cover-Up: Behind the Iran/Contra Affair this week, at its monitor locations outside the Hatch, the Mini-Store and the UVC Viewing Room in room 201 of the Student Union.

The movie, which recently played at Pleasant St. Theatre in Northampton, graphically reveals the web of politics, drugs, hostages, weapons, assassinations, covert operations and the ultimate plan of the Iran/Contra Scandal: suspension of the US Constitution.

Cover-Up will be shown tomorrow at 12:30 p.m., followed by Reagan-aide Barbara Honegger's speech at 2:00 p.m. The movie will be shown again on Friday at 2:00 p.m.

UMASS SKI CLUB PRESENTS
THE GREAT SKI SNATCH
OVER $1,500,000 WORTH OF TOP NAME WINTER CLOTHING & SKI EQUIPMENT
PRICES THIS LOW SHOULD BE OUTLAWED
NOV 17 - 19
Thur HIGH NOON TIL 10 P M
Fri. 9AM TIL 3PM
STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
UMASS, AMHERST

NOW, SEE FOR YOURSELF
Exclusive Area Showing
THE LAST TEMPTATION OF CHRIST
R
A UNIVERSAL RELEASE
© 1988 UNIVERSAL CITY STUDIOS INC.
Shows Weekdays and Friday at 6:00 and 9:00 p.m.
Saturday and Sunday at 3:00, 6:00 and 9:00 p.m.
(No 6:00 p.m. show on Monday, November 7)
At Pleasant St. Theater
27 Pleasant St., Northampton 586-0935

Scott's LIQUORS
6 University Drive at Newmarket Center
Amherst, MA
Formerly known from Union Station
Open: Mon.-Sat. 8 a.m.-11 p.m. 549-2692
Becks, 6-pk. cans $3.99 + Dep.
Captain Morgan, 1.0 ltr. $7.99
Foster's, 28 oz. cans $1.75 + Dep.
Piels Refills, 12 oz. $6.99 + Dep.
Schaefer, 12-pk. $4.39 + Dep.
Stolichnaya 80°, 750 ml. $10.99
Jack Daniels, 750 ml. $9.99
Grolsch, 12 oz. bottles $13.99 + Dep.
We Want to be YOUR Liquor Store

Come to the Harvest Nipper
"a contradance"
(New England Folk Dancing)
November 5 at Grinnel Arena
Dinner at 7:00
Dancing at 8:00

ENJOY THE SPECTACULAR VIEW ...
FINE DINING AND FRIENDLY SERVICE
OPEN DURING ACADEMIC YEAR
Lunch: Monday-Friday 11:30 am-2:00 pm
Dinner: Tuesday-Saturday 5:00 pm-9:30 pm
Call 549-6000 ext. 7639 for Reservations
Validated Parking
TOP of the CAMPUS Restaurant
11th FLOOR CAMPUS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

WOW! Big Rebates! And low prices! That's Liquors 44!
BEER WINE LIQUORS
BEER Case of 24 12 oz. bottles $14.49
MOUSSY BEER NON-ALCOHOLIC case of 24 12 oz. bottles $14.99
FOSTER'S LAGER Australian for beer case of 24 12 oz. bottles $14.99
CARLING BLACK LABEL case of 24 12 oz. bar bottles $5.99
OLD MILWAUKEE AND OLD MILWAUKEE LIGHT 24 CAN PACK costcase of 24 12 oz. cans $6.49 final cost, sale $7.99 mail-in rebate $1.50
Taylor California Cellars all flavors, 1.5 liter $2.19 final cost, Sale $3.50 mail-in rebate $1.50
Spotlight on Spanish Wine
Estola Blanco (Spanish white) $2.79
Senorio de Sarrio Blanco $3.29
Tinto Pesquera 1984 $9.99
1983 Marques Arienzo $4.99
— all prices are net for 750 ml —
$12.99 final cost Seagram's V.O. 1.75L Sale $16.99 mail-in rebate $4
$9.99 final cost PASSPORT SCOTCH Go First Class 1.75L Sale $11.99 mail-in rebate $2
STOLICHNAYA VODKA 500ml $6.99
Mr. Boston Blackberry Brandy Sale $7.19 mail-in rebate $3 $4.19 final cost one liter
Harvey's Bristol Cream 750ml $6.49 final cost Sale $7.99 mail-in rebate $1.50
LIQUORS 44
9am to 11pm Monday thru Saturday
Route 9 Amherst/Hadley Line 253-9344
(at the Super Stop & Shop Plaza)
SALE PRICES THUR NOV. 3
TeleCheck

GAIN REAL EXPERIENCE WRITING FOR

The Massachusetts Daily COLLEGIAN

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE NEWSPAPER

OPPORTUNITIES IN:

- ARTS
- BLACK AFFAIRS
- EDITORIAL
- NEWS
- PHOTOGRAPHY
- SPORTS
- WOMEN'S ISSUES

COME DOWN TO THE NEWSROOM
113 CAMPUS CENTER
AND FIND OUT ABOUT IT

We Build Careers.

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

"Go get 'em, brother."

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

BIG SQUEAL. ALBERT GOLDMAN WRITES A BIOGRAPHY OF OUR CANDIDATE. WHAT'S THE DEAL?.. WHY THE PANTS WETTING PANIC?
11-2
FLIP
BILL CLUBBED BABY SEALS IN '82?
GROAN

Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau

WITH THE ELECTION OVER, IT WAS TRANSITION TIME...
...AND THIS IS WHERE WE HAVE NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL MEETINGS!
I KNOW, MR. PRESIDENT, I'VE BEEN ATTENDING THEM FOR EIGHT YEARS.
OH... ARE YOU SURE, GEORGE? I DON'T REALLY RECALL EVER HEARING YOU SAY ANYTHING.
WITH ALL DUE RESPECT, SIR, YOU WERE USUALLY NODDING OFF.
GEORGE, IF THAT BOTHERED YOU YOU SHOULD HAVE SPOKEN UP LIKE A MAN!

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

CALVIN, TAKE OFF YOUR OUTFIT BEFORE YOU SIT AT THE TABLE, OK?
CALVIN? WHO'S CALVIN? I'M STUPENDOUS MAN!
STOP BEING SILLY, AND DO AS I ASKED YOU.
BUT MOM, I NEED TO WEAR THIS FOR DINNER!
NO YOU DON'T. LET'S GO.
BUT STUPENDOUS MAN HAS A STOMACH OF STEEL!

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

COMING SOON TO A THEATER NEAR YOU...
THE GUN RUNNERS
WHITE KNUCKLE ADVENTURE HOLD ONTO YER HAT AS A HANDFUL OF PROFITEERS PULL OFF THE BIGGEST SCAM SINCE WATERGATE
STARRING GEORGE BUSH, AS THE VETERAN PILOT WHO FLIES UNDER RADAR AND OVER THE CONSTITUTION TO DELIVER THE GOODS.
ALSO STARRING, 5 BILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF LETHAL WEAPONS
YOU AINT SEEN NOTHING YET. STARTS NOVEMBER 8. HEAR GEORGE SAY...
WHAT, DRUGS TOO? SURE, JUST THROW 'EM IN BACK!

In sooth I know not why I am so sad. It wearies me, you say it wearies you; but how I caught it, found it, or came by it, what stuff 'tis made of, whereof it is born, I am to learn; and such a want-wit sadness makes of me that I have much ado to know myself.
—Antonio, in William Shakespeare's The Merchant of Venice

Daily Crossword Puzzle
Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

ACROSS
1 Miles of the movies
5 Beams
9 Adjective for Pollyanna
13 Some cards
14 Cannes cap
15 Descartes, e.g.
16 1988 best-seller by Robert Ludlum
19 Glass enclosed porch
20 Varnish ingredient
21 Sea eagle
22 Notice
24 Took by stealth
28 Round dance
29 Actor Vigoda
32 Fashion color
33 Daughters
34 Kiwi's cousin
35 1988 best-seller by Rosamunde Pilcher
39 English institution
40 "Portrait of —"
41 Edward's sister
42 Great ending
43 Lean and sinewy
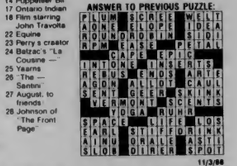
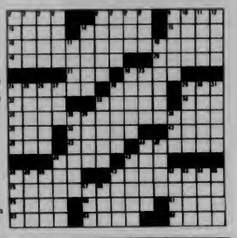
44 Sunglasses, to some 46 Christine of "The Phantom of the Opera"
47 Ingested
48 Musical very
51 Vex
56 1988 best-seller by Lee Iacocca
59 Small buffalo of Celebes
60 Of a cereal
61 Sharp
62 At no time, poetically
63 Crossword diagram
64 Author Ferber

DOWN
1 Containers
2 Nymph who loved Narcissus
3 Virginia dance
4 Laos locale
5 Late show, usually
6 Rhododendron's family
7 Agreeable answer
8 Dieter
9 Von Strohem film
10 Magnifier, e.g.
11 "The King —"
12 Campus VIP
14 Puppeteer Bil
17 Ontario Indian
18 Film starring John Travolta
22 Equine
23 Perry's creator
24 Balzac's "La Cousine —"
25 Yearns
26 The — Saints
27 August, to friends
28 Johnson of "The Front Page"
29 Modify
30 Endured
31 Minigames
33 Harsh light
36 Pacific state
37 Author Kazan
38 "Jungle Book" python
44 Violinist Isaac
45 Greek goddess
46 Senegal's capital
47 Trod the boards
48 "Pictures — Exhibition"
49 Rational
50 Blackthorn
51 Piedmont city
52 Two-wheeler
53 Ripened
54 Not now
55 Sicilian smoker
57 Wooden peg
58 Needlefish

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:



11/3/88



Menu

Lunch	Basics Lunch
Pizza	Pizza
Clam Roll/Tartar Sauce	Clam Roll/Tartar Sauce
Dinner	Basics Dinner
Chow Mein/Noodles	Ratatoulle
Roast Top Round of Beef	Chow Mein/Noodles

Weather

Today: Mostly sunny and windy, 50s
Tonight: Clear and cold, low in 30s
Tomorrow: Partly Sunny, high near 60

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....David R. Mark
Copy Editor.....Ronn Garry
Layout Technician.....George Francy
Photo Technician.....Richard Bonanno
Production Supervisor.....Florencio Terra
ProductionLaura, Aimee, Mary, Camille, Tina, and Fon Whares it well.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson — Managing Editor
David R. Mark — Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappenelli — Business Manager
Marc Infield — Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli — Business Manager
Barbra Hindin — Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe — Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart — Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis — Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens — Subscriptions Manager

Steve Cesnek finished as the leading scorer with 10 goals and four assists as the Minutemen ended their season with an 8-8-2 record.

■ women's swimming opens Saturday

continued from page 20

McCarthy in the distance events.

Also, there is Lori Schwarz, a backstroker who may see some action in other events.

"She'll probably end up doing some sprints," Newcomb said. "She'll help with our lack of depth."

Leslie Cromwell is a second semester freshman who saw some action with the team last year. She will provide more help in the backstroke, along with Schwarz.

Also joining the team this year is junior transfer Jodi Schwartz, who came here from Virginia Commonwealth. Schwartz will combine with Gorski and Carroll in the butterfly.

"She and Sue should provide plenty of trouble in the butterfly," Newcomb said.

With Leary out of the individual medley for now, it will be Schwartz and Cromwell, along with freshman Marcia Samsel, to ease the crunch in that department.

"We're going to get help from a lot of different people [in the individual medley]," Newcomb said.

As far as the season goes, the Minutewomen will be shooting to move ahead of Maine in New England. Maine beat UMass by just 26 points in the New Englands last year. The two teams face each other in a dual meet on Nov. 20 at Boyden.

Other tough teams on the UMass schedule include Boston College and Northeastern, the top two teams in the New Englands last year, along with Rhode Island and New Hampshire. All four of these meets will come in the second half of the season, after the Christmas break.

"We won't be able to keep up with BC and Northeastern this year," Newcomb said. "Rhode Island and New Hampshire are the ones we have to worry about. They had a decent recruiting year."

The Minutewomen will also be facing Vermont, Connecticut, Springfield, Williams, Mount Holyoke and SUNY-Buffalo, a new face on this year's 12-meet schedule. UMass will also compete in the New Englands and the Eastern Women's Swim League Championships, as well as the Northeastern Diving Invitational.

"As the year progresses, we'll have some people who are going to swim very fast," Newcomb said. "We'll have a good-sized quality team."

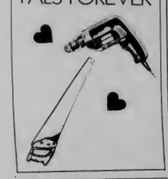
■ Harris

continued from page 20

The probation is a result of illegal recruitment tactics regarding a transfer student from Memphis State. Reportedly, former head coach Larry Brown, who left Kansas after last year's national championship season for a job with the NBA San Antonio Spurs, gave recruit Vincent Askew a sum of money to return home to visit a sick grandmother, who passed away a short time later. It is illegal for a recruit or player to receive money in any form.

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
TOLL FREE HOT LINE 800-351-0222 in Calif. (213) 477-8226
Or rush $2.00 to: Research Information 11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

PALS FOREVER



Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!
from NEW YORK one way round trip
LONDON 179
PARIS 229
ROME 259
CARACAS 320
ST. THOMAS 260
HONGKONG 739
Taxes not included. Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes. EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St. Amherst, MA 01002

THEY CAME FROM OUTER SPACE TO DESTROY EARTH'S SUPER-HEROES!

Same Bat Channel
All your favorite comics
Posters Baseball Cards Graphic Novels
586-8775 Hampshire Mall, Rte. 9 Hadley

HIGH NOON IN CANCUN

NOW IS THE TIME TO START PLANS FOR YOUR SPRING VACATION OF MARCH
CALL FOR RATES
586-8953
YOUR PARTNERS IN TRAVEL

Denim and Leather Sale

40% OFF
All Denim Jeans and Leather Jackets by "New Order"
Denim by:
Z Cavaricci
No! Jeans
New Order
...and More!
Zanna
SHOE BIN
N north pleasant street amherst 253-2563 daily 10-6 sunday 12-5
Open Friday Nights

THE UNIVERSAL JOINT
Now Open Downstairs at Pearl St. Night Club
See Ad in this Paper for Upcoming Shows!
This Week:
Thursday The Lyres
Friday Dreams So Real
Saturday Comedy/ The Incredible Casuals
Sunday The Connells
10 Pearl St. Northampton 584-7771

$2.00 OFF new clients only

Chic Cuts
• Wash + Wear Perms, Body Waves
• Coloring and Dimensional Highlighting
• Facial Waxing
• Manicure
• Facials
• Body Wraps
Expires 11/15/88
We offer a 100% money back guarantee on all of our hair care products •Redken •Nexus •Paul Mitchell make your fashion statement
Styles By Deborah
65 University Dr., Amherst
549-5610

Carbur's Comedy Club
REPUBLICAN VALLEY 1988 FIRST PLACE
Thursday nite live on stage at 8:45 p.m.
•Full menu available.

KEITH BARON JANE STROLL DERRICK EASON
Hadley Hour Mon.-Fri. 4-7
Free Buffalo Wings and Munchie Buffet
This Week's Drink Specials
IRISH COFFEE $2.75
NEW AMSTERDAM $2.50
The Valley's Best Sunday Brunch Buffet 11-3 at Carbur's All you can eat for $9.95

NOW... ON SATURDAY IN AMHERST!
FILM IN BY 11:00 am
PRINTS OUT BY 2:00 pm
1-HOUR SERVICE ALSO AVAILABLE
The Foto Factory
257 TRIANGLE ST. / AMHERST

Five College Students: Call 545-2511 For ½ Price Tickets
Marvin Hamlisch In Concert — Thursday, Nov. 3
The Juilliard String Quartet — Saturday, Nov. 5
The Amazing Cambridge Buskers — Wednesday, Nov. 9
Peter Orth, piano — Tuesday, Nov. 15
Desrosiers Dance Theatre — Saturday, Nov. 19
Ladysmith Black Mambazo — Tuesday, Nov. 22
Quartet For The End Of Time — Saturday, Dec. 3
THE FINE ARTS CENTER UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO • AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS • ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT • FOR SALE • FOUND • HELP WANTED • LOST

INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES • PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED • RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES • ROOMMATE WANTED • TRAVEL WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30):• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

FASHION ACCESSORIES SALE Nov 3,4,5 on Campus Center Concourse. Beautiful scrunchies, leather clips, earrings all at great prices and several designs and patterns!

ALPHA ZETA MEMBERS AND PLEDGES Meeting tonight 6:30 Campus Center. Check schedule for location! Important meeting.

COME EXPLORE THE JOYS of Shabbos at Chabad House, great company, good food 30 N. Hadley Rd. 549-4094.

NSA FRIDAY NIGHT VIDEO Never Cry Wolf 7:00pm Front Lounge of Newman Center. Free

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA- Chi Omega Vollyball tonight! Be there and bering your hand hat!!

CAREERS IN MARKETING Plan for your future today! Richard Rein Director of SOM Placement Office will be speaking Thursday, 11/3, 7pm, SBA 12 Don't miss this! All Welcome.

DO YOU WANT TO SEE SOMETHING BIG The Undergraduate Business Club will show you. Sunday Nov. 6 Show at 2,4,7,9,11pm Student Union Ballroom $2 Admission.

ARMENIAN CLUB MEETING on Tuesday Nov 1 at 7:00. Check at information desk for meeting location.

NSA FRIDAY NIGHT VIDEO Never Cry Wolf 7:00pm Front Lounge of Newman Center FREE

COME EXPLORE THE joys at Chabad House, great company, good food 30 N. Hadley Rd. 549-4094.

THIS WEEK ON DAMAGE INCORPORATED- Queensryche is gonna get close to you. Tune into WMUA Wednesday at 9:30pm.

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22. Sign up on concourse Oct. 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$50/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Massping and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-8434

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics. Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306.

AUTO FOR SALE

1976 FORD GRANADA low miles needs battery. $275 549-3591 A steal

1977 PLYMOUTH VOLARI Basic transportation currently inspected needs starter $100 549-3591

78 DODGE COLT 4 sp new radials radial snows new suspension runs great extras $300 Rich 256-0613, 549-9903.

FORD EXCORT WAGON 1983 ax condition A/C roof rack 50,000 miles 256-0933

78 FORD MUSTANG II New front shocks rear tires am/fm cass A/C $900 BO 546-8600.

81 HONDA ACCORD HATCH Silver, 89000 mi. $1800 Call Teresa 549-0793

79 PLYMOUTH VOLARE, stant 6, uses no oil., good all weather radials, winterized. 549-8773 $750.

82 TOYOTA TERCEL. Perfect condition. 5 Speed. $1100/BO Call 549-1607

1978 NEW STICKER runs good $800 BO Call 549-7546

1968 CAMARO CLASSIC reliable looks hot 549-1256 John 11am-6pm $1300.

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 spd Dark grey new tires, rms runs very well $2000 Please call Tom 546-1184

1970 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires. $2,500. Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen.

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE - Over 700 CD's Great Sound! All occassions. 549-1421.

THE COLLEGIAN IS GOING TO provide a drop spot for students interested in making David's dream come true. David is a boy sick with Leukemia and wants to get in the Guiness Book for the largest postcard collection. So let's help him out!! Drop your stamped postcards at the Collegian - 113 CC.

ENTERTAINMENT

KLUBKAVE D.J. SERVICES - Professional music system at unbeatable prices 546-8518.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT, Disc-jockeys and large screen video dances Dorms/organizations 256-8526

FOR RENT

2 BDRM APT on Main St take over Sept lease Grad students or professional people please. Call 256-8040.

APT MATE WANTED in Rolling Greens own bedroom $177 mth inclusive Avail 1/1 253-7730

FOR SALE

81 PONTIAC T1000 am/fm cassette 79K auto air $1100 549-1446 Evenings

BUD KEG TAPS you need them I have them. Quality $20 Bill 549-6989

78 TOYOTA COROLLA engine in excellent condition. Good body must sell $650 or BO Call Pierre 545-2569

HONDA 750 CUSTOM 81, excellent condition, full face helmet and rain cover included, $850.00 or BO. Must sell Leave message 256-0995, Steve

CRIB WITH MATTRESS and bamper pad. Like new. $55/BO Call 549-1607

PIONEER KPX9000 car stereo cassette supertuner w/amp. 534-5162 evening 737-1715 days

A BRAND NEW Smith Corona electric typewriter asking $80 call 546-8411 Leave message

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket. Call David 1-566-8212

FOUND

I FOUND A SET OF six keys on Thurs night in Amherst (near kinko's) call Cara 546-8999

TIGHTS AND LEOTARDS- outside old chapel. To claim, Call Chris and name the color - days 5-2317 or evening 898-3707

FUNDRAISING

HEY! DOES YOUR CLUB OR organization need money? Recent graduate now works for a professional fundraising company. Candy bars, M&M's, magazine subscriptions and more! Please call Linda at 538-8343 and leave message

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget. Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hampden Furniture 1 Short St. Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin. We deliver.

HELP WANTED

BAE COMPUTER NEEDS responsible student to represent our computer. Incentive bonus plan. Interested persons please send resume to 3563 Ryder Street Santa Clara, CA 95051.

$SNEED XTRA CASH? PT/FT & interseson Retail sales & cashier positions available downtown Northampton Nov 15-Jan 15 586-5624 Kathy

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information. 504-641-8003 ext. 596

NOTETAKER NEEDED FOR HRTA 100 with Fletcher, earn $7.80 per lecture, asstly student note and printing service student union 403

CHILDCARE: Come to Conway and play with sweet lively 9 mo old. Weekday after-noons, flex hours exp-required. (1)369-4414.

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring, excellent benefits Call 1-312-741-8400 ext. J-5931A.

PHOTOGRAPHERS WANTED TO shoot parties-no experience necessary-Call 617-625-8860.

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring, excellent benefits Call 1-312-741-8400 Ext J-5931A

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information. 504-641-8003 Ext 596

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Weenesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865.

LAST CHANCE LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

NOVEMBER 7th IS THE last day to contact the Legal Services Center about a Spring 1989 internship! Get hands-on experience in the legal field. Work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in legal profession required—Training provided. Contact LSC today—545-1995, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

CASH REWARD $$$$- Wallet lost Sat Oct 29 Student no. 890-5319 Call 6-9707 Bill

SET OF KEYS ON brown, leather Chrysler chain. Cash reward! Call 259-1594

LOST: SMOKY BLACK LEATHER jacket with large collar on 10th floor tower library women's bathroom. No ?'s Reward please call 6-8733.

BROWN LEATHER JACKET, car keys, and black wallet. Lost at Changes on Halloween. Substancial reward. Call Jon 256-1057

UMASS TEDDY BEAR KEY RING. If found please call Laura Lee 6-4956.

LOST-RED GLASSES somewhere on campus. Reward, I can't see! If found call 549-8135 leave message

MANAGEMENT TRAINEES WANTED

SECOND LARGEST RETAIL jewelry chain in the US seeks Sales Management Trainees. Immediate enrollment in a 15 month Career Development Program-recognized as no. 1 training program in the industry. Open sign up at the Career Placement Center. Interviews to be held on Tuesday, November 8, 1988. Kay Store Managers' average compensation is approximately $45,000-and we promote 100% from within. Which is why this could be your last chance for a career with Kay Jewelers.

MOTORCYCLES

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD. Helmet, cover shield $850. Joe 549-7423 Evenings.

PERSONALS

TO MY LIL SIS ELANA, happy birthday! You're really special! Love, Lori.

KAREN JAMES- It's your birthday (surprise) but don't worry, you've still got 2/3 feet left. With everlasting gobstoppers from Joe the pool playing sailor (AKA your loving lucky roomie)

HEATHER DOWNEY- Happy birthday Hellfa!! Only two more years fit you're legal!! Just wait until Saturday! I love you. A friend forever, Lara-LD

BRUCE L. I'm so glad that you are in my life. Thank you for loving me. Happy anniversary! ILY Carol

DEBBI BRAHMS - Happy 21st, no more "I don't want to risk it" excuses! Thanks for everything - party 'til you drop! Love ya, Kim

HERB (THE VERB)I think you owe me a backrub from all those dips. Ouch GIL/MER

JEN, AIMEE, NEIL, KRISTEN, you're the best friends anyone could ask for! Thanks! Jove, Sutton

HAPPY 18th JIMBO! Now you can go clubbing with me next summer! Love ya, Jen

BETHIE HAPPY BIRTHDAAYYAA to you Have a great 21st we love you cutie! Tracy, Laurie, and Carrie.

MAX- FUZZY WUZZY was a bear. Fuzzy Wuzzy had no hair. Fuzzy Wuzzy wasn't fuzzy, was he? -Min

BIFF, SEVEN WEEKS! We are all going to miss you. We love you. Good luck! Love, Gang me

RUTHANNE I CAN'T SAY thanx enough! I owe you my life since I gave you my lunch! -pp

YO SENOR FLORES! Cut it out! Slow down! and have a fantastic birthday! -Too long thorow

PAUL, THE ITALIAN cheesey smurf- my apologies for what happened 10/29 -Miss Universe

PUSKIN I'M GOING TO miss you overseas but don't worry 3 weeks will be here sooner than you think. Love always, Dumpling

TO ALL THE BIRTHDAY MAMAS of 2 South Patterson- Jenny, Carole, Kelly, Lara, Tanya, & Julie. Hope all you November babies have very happy birthdays! Love The Mamas

O'BLADI O'BLADA to LKDJ my buddies I love you. Kelli

HAPPY BIRTHDAY MERVI! The last but not least!...Happy 21st!

DEBORAH BRAHMS- Happy 21st B-Day! Finally, I can't believe you had to wait so long! Well, the fun has just begun! Have a great day! Love you, Janet

STUART, MY MUFFIN, you have made all my dreams come true. To our future together darling. I fwuv you now always and forever. Jodie

MISS SHANA CORBY, I am quite infatuated with you, yet apprehensive at the same time. Rob.

DEAR LADIES OF SUITE 307 CASHIN: The nymphomaniacs of Suite 306 Cashin lust..er..love you

HEY P.A., your spot misses you deeply! Signed confused??

LAMDA CHI ALPHA- Little Sister Rush Ladies, if you are interested in improving your social life and meeting new people, we cordially invite you to our Little Sister Rush Thursday Nov 3rd 9:00pm

EARN $60-$120/SHIFT! Drivers wanted! Must own an insured car and be able to work at least one weekend night until closing. Call Domino's Pizza 256-8913

FREE CAKE! Check out Campus Cakes on the concourse on thursday

1989 COLLEGE SKI WEEKS Destinations: Lake Tahoe-heavenly Vermont-Sugarbush, Smugglers Notch, Killington. Ski all day/party all night. For lowest prices call 546-6612 or 546-5242

RESUME SERVICE

EFFECTIVE RESUMES Seven years experience. Bill 584-7316

ROOMATE WANTED

ONE ROOMMATE NEEDED to take lease for spring semester for townehouse apartment. In Southwood. Call Suzanne 256-0989

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550

SERVICES

BABY SITTING MON-THURS pm includes overnights will cook dinners. Millie Mershon 9am-5pm 545-2224

DIRT CHEAP RESUMES. Very experienced. Laserwriter quality. Pick-up/drop off. Overnight service. Lisa 367-9940.

TYPING BY KEVIN 24 hour service delivery too. 549-0118

ACCURATE TYPING. Pickup and delivery 15¢ pp. Basic editing. Gloria 323-5140.

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor. Call Carolyn-leave message 253-5867

ST. JUDE

MOST HOLY APOSTLE, St. Jude, Faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the church honors and invokes you, universally, as the patron of hopless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use I implore you, of that particular priviledge given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings, and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise oh blessed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you. AMEN.

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS, rehable on-campus, affordable, spelling/grammar reviewed 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

CHRISTIAN AVOCATIONAL bass player looking for similar musicians 256-6849. Carol

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hurna) notes, will pay money$$ Shirley 549-2710

WORK IN BRITIAN/IRELAND LEGALLY FOR UP TO 6 MONTHS

THE BUNAC/USIT FALL ROADSHOW will be visiting UMass on Thursday 3 November. Information available between 10am and 3pm in the Campus Center concourse followed by a presentation between 6.30 and 8.30pm in room 168, Campus Center. Everyone welcome

SPORTS

UMass, Harvard fit to be tied

Men's soccer finishes off season with 1-1 deadlock

By SAM SILVERSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Collegian photo by Andrew Rist

Mike Mugavero and the rest of the seniors played in their last game with the Minutemen yesterday, as they tied Harvard, 1-1.

Yesterday's autumn-ending 1-1 tie at Harvard University capped a late season surge by the University of Massachusetts men's soccer team. The double overtime effort followed a similarly hard-faught 0-0 draw at Rutgers this past weekend, and left the Minutemen's final record at 8-8-2.

And though the Minutemen may feel slightly frustrated in not taking advantage of their chances to win both contests, assistant coach John Martin certainly isn't complaining about the results.

"It was an exciting game," described Martin, ". . .up and down the field. Both teams had their chances.

"We're still upset, we should have won these games," continued Martin. "On paper they're (Harvard) a much better team than we are, and we played right with them. These two games showed that we can play with anyone. This was no fluke, it proves we should have been playing better all year."

The Minutemen nearly played right past Harvard with a furious second half of high-pressure soccer. Down 1-0 at intermission, UMass tied the score 20 minutes into the second frame, then saw several golden game-winning opportunities fall short.

With 10 minutes left to play, UMass' leading scorer Steve Cesnek drove right past the Harvard defense and unleashed a left-footed rocket. The shot blew past Crimson goaltender Steven Hall before pounding off the left goalpost and back into play. Harvard cleared the ball, and kept the Minutemen at arm's length through the rest of regulation and both overtime periods of play.

Harvard, which entered the game as the No. 7 ranked team in New England, edged out to a 1-0 lead at the 41:15 mark of the first half. John Shue took a cross court feed from fellow forward Derek Mills, outwrestling UMass goaltender Sam Ginzburg for the ball and sneaking a shot into the empty net.

The Minutemen waited until the 67:30 mark of the second half before retaliating, as Carl Hanks picked up his seventh goal of the season. Hanks redirected a shot by Cesnek into the Harvard net, tying the score for good.

The final buzzer marked the last appearance in a UMass soccer uniform for seniors Mike McCormick, Bret Blanton, Mike Mugavero and Ginzburg (though Ginzburg exited early to receive a couple of stitches above his left eye, courtesy of Mills). All four earned Martin's praise for their last day's work, with McCormick's defensive effort a standout.

Still not impressed by Flutie magic

What's the hot topic around here this week? Without question, it is the New England Patriots and their savior, Doug Flutie.

I've never really liked the Patriots and I really never liked Doug Flutie.

As a kid, I didn't like the Pats just to be a pain in the ass, to rile up my father and brother, devout followers of the Boys of Sullivan. Part of that enters into my dislike for New England's pint-sized hero, a man who has achieved god-like status in this area. But there is more to it. How do I hate thee, Dougie? Let me count the ways.

Steve Richards

Now I know the Pocket Hercules turned the Boston College football program around, has thrilled thousands of squealing coeds and high school girls every time he has taken of his helmet and threw The Pass. Sure, the guy put up some big numbers in college, but I cannot think of any athlete who has had his career and image boosted more by one lucky play than Flutie.

Part of the blame for this has to go to the media, especially in the Boston area. Pretty boy Doug can get normally uninterested women watching and reading sports reports. So the media latched on to the guy, force-feeding him to the public during his BC days. When Flutie joined the Patriots, there was no question Flutiemania II would be in store for us all. The media has not disappointed.

The good people of Eastern Massachusetts seem to enjoy having Flutie shoved down their throats (how many times have you seen The Pass?).

All this glory and love of Flukie, errr Flutie, would be OK if he had, in the words of the late John Houseman, earrrned it. But I'm not sure he has. His career stats as a pro, including his days in the USFL (remember those Flutie fanatics?), must make Gary Hogeboom look like a Hall-of-Famer.

And let's face it, folks, this guy is just too cute. Everytime I see him, my stomach feels as if I just ate a whole box of those Cadbury Cream Eggs. Yuck! Fair or not, I hold this against the little fella, too.

I will not attack Flutie as a person. By most reports, he is, believe it or not, actually a pretty nice guy. I have read stories saying that he really doesn't like the attention he gets, that he just wants to be a regular football player. But, that's not what he has become and I am sick as hell of him.

But the events of last week have caused me to give Doug Flutie something I thought I never would — a little respect. The Big Bad Bears were coming to town, bringing with them the ghosts of Super Bowl XX. To make matters worse, Jim McMahon, like that grade school show-off everybody hates, was doing what he does best — shooting off his mouth. "America's midget." "Bambi." The words echoed around New England. "He can't get away with that, saying those things about our Doug," the fans cried. They needed their favorite son to stand up and save the day.

And the Mighty Midget stood tall. It was Bambi's revenge. Flutie and the Pats gave McMahon what he deserved, making the pitchman from Taco Bell look more like Anna Belle. Would you like a little hot sauce with those words, Jim? You had to love it.

When the Patriots picked up Flutie, part of me was glad, because now, I hoped, he would fall flat on his pretty little face right there in front of all his worshippers. But another part of me was afraid. He could succeed. He does seem to be a winner.

And Flutie is the ultimate underdog, trying to succeed when most say he cannot. It's a nice story. Local shrimp makes good.

Maybe I've been too harsh on Doug. Maybe he's not that bad after all. Hey, is there any room on that Flutie bandwagon?

Nah, never mind. I'd rather see the little twerp get squashed like a grape.

Women's swimming opens up Saturday

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Believe it or not, the winter sports season is already upon us.

The University of Massachusetts women's swimming team officially kicks off its season on Saturday, taking on Five-College rival Smith College at 1 p.m. at Boyden Pool.

This year's version of the Minutewomen will be looking to improve on last year's impressive fourth place finish at the New England Championships, and has a talented cast returning that is looking to do just that.

"It's going to be a good season," said coach Bob Newcomb, who last year was named New England Coach-of-the-Year. "We've got some talented freshmen to go along with our returning athletes."

However, the team may be without one of its top swimmers for most of the season. Senior freestyler and individual medleyist Michele Leary, who holds UMass records for the 200- and 400-yard IM, is currently hospitalized with a heart problem.

"She'll be out for a while, but I wouldn't count her out (for the season)," Newcomb said.

Two of the key returnees, who figure to play a big role in this season's success are Melissa Waller and Sue Gorski.

Waller, a senior, is the defending New England champion in the 100-yard breaststroke, and holds the UMass records in the 100- and 200-yard breaststrokes, as well as being a member of the record-holding 400-yard medley relay team.

Gorski, a sophomore, burst onto the scene in her rookie season, setting three schools records over the course of the year. She holds the bests for the 100- and 200-yard butterfly, and was a part of the 400-yard medley relay team. Her 200 fly record was good for a second place finish at the New Englands.

Other veterans of note include co-captains Debbie Mullen and Patty Pike. Mullen, the team's top diver this year, holds six-event records on the one- and three-meter diving boards, and was among the top eight in New England last year.

Newcomb says that Pike has been swimming especially well in pre-season as a sprinter.

Senior Regina Jungbluth will join Waller in the breaststroke as a tough tandem.

"Those two have been together for four years, and they should do real well again, especially as the season progresses," Newcomb said.

Junior freestyle Melissa McCarthy returns, and Newcomb will look to her to keep the distance events going, and senior Lori Carroll will be counted on in the butterfly events.

Then there are the freshmen. Newcomb feels he has a strong first-year group ready to make an immediate impact.

Keira Cruz is a sprinter to whom Newcomb will look to replace Leary.

"She's a very good freshman, and a lot of her times would place her very well in the New Englands," Newcomb said.

Kim Morin of Turners Falls is another good sprinter, and Tracy Young will join

continued on page 18

Kansas probation may make Harris eligible

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

When it was announced Tuesday that the Kansas University basketball program had been put on probation for three years by the NCAA, it seemed like just another sad case in the world of collegiate sports.

But the situation is one that could be potentially profitable for the University of Massachusetts basketball team.

Because of an NCAA rule regarding transfers and eligibility, there is a small possibility that Keith Harris, a 6-5 junior transfer from Kansas, would be eligible to play for the Minutemen this season.

"I'm not too optimistic," UMass head coach John Calipari said about the chances of having Harris in uniform this season. "It would be nice, though. Let me say this — if we did get him, I'd be doing jumping jacks."

Harris came to UMass before the beginning of the semester. Due to the NCAA rules of eligibility for transfers, Harris is required to sit out a season before playing for the Minutemen.

But it is a rule that, according to Calipari, has never really been examined before, that could open the door for Harris a year early.

The rule states that a player transferring out of a program on probation would immediately become eligible with his new team. Part of the rule deals with the length of the sentence handed down to the program, and the amount of eligibility the player has remaining. This is to prevent someone from playing under a "dark cloud" for the remainder of his collegiate career.

The Kansas probation is for three years, meaning that anyone of sophomore eligibility and above could transfer and be able to play immediately.

But, because Harris transferred before the actual sentence was handed down, the NCAA has initially ruled against Harris playing for UMass this year. However, the UMass athletic department will look into the fact that Harris left while the formal investigation was going on, and that it was part of his reasoning for leaving.

continued on page 18

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 42

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1988

INSIDE

- New Southwest parking lot draws criticism. Page 3.
- Fear in Greenfield. Page 9.
- Field Hockey favored at A-10 Tourney. Page 20

DVP withdraws; fraternity still trying for Farrakhan

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

Phi Beta Sigma fraternity will continue its efforts to bring Minister Louis Farrakhan to the University of Massachusetts, even though the Distinguished Visitors Program has withdrawn its sponsorship of the visit.

Jay Dowdy, Phi Beta Sigma chapter president, said the fraternity still wants to see Farrakhan come to UMass and will look for other ways to bring him to campus.

"This is an institution of higher learning, and we want to hear what the man has to say," Dowdy said.

During a meeting Oct. 18, DVP voted to help sponsor the minister's visit by contributing $11,000. However, the vote was deemed invalid less than a week later because of several Student Government Association constitutional violations.

"The Farrakhan issue is over as far as we're concerned," said Patrick Berkley, DVP co-chairman.

Farrakhan, the leader of the Chicago-based Nation of Islam, has been accused of being anti-Semitic by members of the Jewish community.

Farrakhan has put down the Jewish religion for years, is "vehemently opposed" to Jewish students and often speaks negatively of other people, Rabbi Saul Perlmutter, head of the UMass Hillel Foundation, told the Collegian last month.

Anthony Gee, Phi Beta Sigma fraternity and DVP member, said the media has led the public astray on Farrakhan.

"The media has taken his meaning out of context," Gee told the Collegian on the night of the Oct. 18 vote. He said Farrakhan has simply preached that people cannot love others unless they learn to love themselves first.

Dowdy said the fraternity will meet in the near future to examine other means of getting the needed money to bring the controversial minister.

"As of right now we don't really have a game plan," Dowdy said. "But we still would like to see Farrakhan come to UMass."

Dowdy said one possibility that might be explored is obtaining the money through the fraternity itself. Phi Beta Sigma has over 500 chapters nationwide, and Dowdy said it may be able to get the money that way.

Several members of the fraternity are also members of DVP and voted in favor of funding Farrakhan's visit, which is one of the reasons the vote was deemed invalid, Berkley said.

One of these members was also a continuing education student, Charles Sheffield. Sheffield did not pay into the Student Activities Trust Fund, Berkley said. According to the SGA constitution, continuing education students cannot vote in government activities if they do not pay

continued on page 7

Close call a slap in the face for speeder

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

A University of Massachusetts police cruiser chased a speeding car down Massachusetts Avenue and forced it to a stop on University Drive Wednesday. The driver of the speeding car told police that he had been chasing a second vehicle to obtain its license plate number.

The man said he had come to a stop on Clark Hill Road when he was nearly struck by a second vehicle. After following the second vehicle for a while, the driver stopped the car, got out, walked over to the first car, slapped the driver in the face and allegedly threatened him with a hunting knife.

Police searched the area for the second vehicle.

In other police reports:

- A woman slipped on the wet sidewalk next to Machmer Hall Tuesday and received a laceration to her nose.
- Police said the heavy rain and slick road conditions may have played an important role in Tuesday night's PVTA bus accident. The bus was making a right turn from Massachusetts Avenue to Haigis Mall when it struck a car parked in a crosswalk. The collision with the car caused a chain reaction collision with three additional cars. Damage was estimated at $6,700.
- A student left a backpack at the entrance to Boyden Gymnasium Tuesday and returned a short time later to find it missing. The backpack and personal property within it was worth $150.
- A jacket worth $140 was stolen from WMUA's studio area Tuesday.
- A break-in to Hasbrouck Laboratory was reported Wednesday. An unknown person used the computers and stole a $100 adding machine.
- A vehicle parked in the Campus Center Parking Garage was struck by a second vehicle Wednesday. Damage to the car was estimated at $700.
- The staff from Campus Center reported Wednesday a VHS video deck worth $550 had been stolen.
- A bag of clothing worth $150 was reported stolen from a closet in Old Chapel Wednesday.
- A student returned to his car in Lot 25 to discover the left rear tire of the vehicle had been stolen and replaced with a flat tire which did not fit the vehicle.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

BLOOD AND ROSES — UMass student Amy Ziskin stops to smell the flowers of a local vendor yesterday in the Campus Center concourse while bags of blood lay on the adjacent table, promoting a recent University blood drive.

EWC restores one service, loses another

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

Limited counseling services were restored at the Everywoman's Center this week, but because of budget cuts, their revival comes at the premature termination of another program, the director said.

The Women's Administrative and General Education Support (WAGES) program, which helps older, non-traditional students return to school, was slated originally to end in December but ceased operation Monday, EWC Director Carol Wallace said.

"We are putting together resource information for women who call needing the services WAGES provided," Wallace said. EWC is also working to identify a place in admissions where WAGES students can go for help, she added.

"It's not enough to be able to see the majority of women who call," Wallace said. "But, we still make referrals."

"Typically, we have several interns who work with the coordinator to provide short-term counseling," she said. "At this point, it's too late to have the program."

Counseling services have been dormant since September because of the delayed resignation of former coordinator Mary Aubrey, and because of University budget cutbacks, Wallace said.

Mercedes Del Valle, who replaced Aubrey as coordinator of the program, has accepted an internal promotion to counseling coordinator, Wallace said.

Direct counseling services will remain limited for the rest of the semester because Del Valle is the center's sole counselor, Wallace said.

"I think it's important that the University be seen as a welcoming environment for non-traditional students," she said. "I hope the administration and other agencies on campus will help."

Kennedy to address UMass tomorrow

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

US Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is scheduled to speak at the University of Massachusetts tomorrow with several other Democratic leaders in one of his last campaign stops before the Nov. 8 election.

As part of a Democratic rally organizers say may draw as many as 5,000, Kennedy will speak with Lt. Gov. Evelyn Murphy, candidate for US Congress John R. Arden (D-Mass.), State Sen. John Olver (D-Northampton), and State Rep. Shannon O'Brien (D-Hadley).

"This is probably the biggest event for the Kennedy campaign before the election," said Michael Greiner, Western Massachusetts Coordinator of University Democrats, organizer of the event.

Greiner said Kennedy fights for students and a better US education system, and, "If he sees 5,000 students come out and listen to him talk about education, then he knows it should be a priority for him in the new administration. He is probably the senator who can make the biggest impact on these issues in Washington," Greiner said.

In an interview from the Kennedy headquarters in Boston, Campaign Field Director Jim Shaw said Kennedy will speak on issues such as financial aid, restoration of the civil rights act, Presidential candidate Gov. Michael Dukakis.

"He's going to speak not so much about his re-election, but the issues he has worked on in the last 26 years as a senator, and the years he will work on in the next six," said Shaw.

"He's working hard not because his opponent [Joe Malone] is a threat, but because he is a hard-working senator," Shaw said. "Malone has been invisible, Sen. Kennedy has been out there."

WORLD/NATION

Formal inquest ordered in police cadet fatality

PITTSFIELD (AP) — A formal state inquest was ordered yesterday into the death of a cadet seriously injured by rigorous exercise at a state police academy, and the cadet's lawyer urged that State Police trainers be charged with manslaughter.

Flags were lowered to half staff here as the city mourned Timothy Shepard's death late Wednesday, six weeks after collapsing of heat stroke on his first day of training.

"I believe we have a clear-cut case of involuntary manslaughter here," said attorney Michael D. Hashim. "They ignored conditions that placed the cadets in harm."

The 25-year-old cadet was one of 16 hospitalized for exhaustion and dehydration in the first week of training at the Agawam training academy. The academy used State Police troopers to train recruits for local police departments in Western Massachusetts.

The cadets' reports of hours of exercise on only a few cups of water sparked at least four state probes. State Attorney General James Shannon announced last week at the end of his investigation that the Agawam academy was "a massive failure" and he said the training regimen was to blame for kidney ailments suffered by half of the class of 50 cadets.

He said yesterday that Hampden District Attorney Michael J. Ryan had agreed to conduct an inquest into Shepard's death.

"The Shepard family and the public are entitled to a full explanation of Mr. Shepard's death," Shannon said.

Gov. Michael Dukakis said in a prepared statement: "Nothing can make up for the Shepard family's loss, but they should know that the circumstances of this tragedy are of great concern to me. This administration is already moving swiftly to do all we can ensure that it never happen again."

Shannon said he did not believe he had evidence to bring criminal charges, but hinted that the inquest could lead to an indictment. "There are potentially different legal consequences when death occurs," he said.

Shepard was pronounced dead at 11:20 p.m. Wednesday at the Pittsburgh hospital where he underwent a lever transplant five weeks ago. Words of the death was not released until 8 a.m. yesterday at the family's request.

Massachusetts's chief medical examiner, D. Brian Blackbourne, was en route to Presbyterian-University Hospital to attend the autopsy Thursday, said Dr. Joshua Perper, chief coroner for the state of Pennsylvania.

The family's attorney described the Shepards as devastated. "He came so close to making it," Hashim said.

Just four days before Shepard died, he had written to his pregnant wife of five months, Holly "I'm going to make it."

Shepard never regained the strength to breathe and speak on his own after falling unconscious on a running track Sept. 19, but he emerged from a coma two weeks later, only to lapse back into consciousness Monday. Doctors removed a blood clot in his brain in emergency surgery, but said they were unable to stem the hemorrhaging.

Shepard's wife, who maintained a vigil at the Pittsburgh hospital with his parents, recalled last week how he had run laps to prepare for the academy and borrowed law books from friends.

"He wanted to be tops at the academy," Holly Shepard said. "He wanted to graduate No. 1 in his class."

AP photo

A Pittsfield city worker lowers the flag on city hall yesterday. Pittsfield police cadet Timothy M. Shepard died Wednesday night at Presbyterian University Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Marcoses might be in contempt

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal prosecutors yesterday threatened to seek contempt of court charges against Ferdinand and Imelda Marcos for failing to provide fingerprints, palm prints and handwriting and voice samples.

A hearing was scheduled today before US Distict Judge John Walker, who could order the former Philippine president and first lady jailed.

Walker previously had ordered the couple to comply with the requests contained in subpoenas issued earlier this year by the grand jury that indicted them on charges of looting the Philippine treasury of more than $100 million.

A federal appeals court late last month upheld Walker's decision that the Marcoses no longer have head-of-state immunity and must honor the subpoenas.

On Wednesday, tobacco heiress Doris Duke said she put up Mrs. Marcos' $5 million bail on the racketeering charges because she is "disgusted, embarrassed and ashamed" with the way the US government has treated the Marcoses.

Looking for a perfect place to hold a party?

PEKING GARDEN!

Our spacious banquet rooms can seat up to 200 guests.

Call today and reserve our party room for weddings, banquets, receptions.

586-1202

coupon

SAVE 10% OFF ALL DINNERS

with this coupon good thru 11/30/88
Limit one per party.
Open till 1 a.m. Fri. and Sat.

the all new PEKING GARDEN
A MANDARIN & SZECHUAN RESTAURANT
on Route 9, Hadley 北京園 586-1202

ESL

Are you a non-native speaker of English

For the Spring Semester, the ESL Placement Tests for fully matriculated undergraduate students will be administered on the following dates:

Monday, Nov 7 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Bartlett 302
Wednesday, Nov.9 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Bartlett 301

No student will be able to preregister for an ESL course for spring semester without first taking the ESL Placement Tests.

All interested students need to register to take the tests through the ESL Office. They can make an appointment by either stopping by the office in 308 Bartlett or by calling 545-2578 or 545-4210 during the hours 8:00 to 4:00.

Spring Courses

CAS 105C	Advanced Intensive Grammar
CAS 105F	Composition
CAS 105D	Vocabulary and Comprehension of Academic English
CAS 105E	Techniques of Oral Communication
CAS 290	Technical and Scientific Writing

Note: The ESL courses are designed for fully-matriculated undergraduate students who are non-native speakers of Engish. However, exchange students and graduate students are eligible on a space-available basis for all courses except CAS 105C.

LOCAL

Amherst joins C-5A lawsuit

By LISA JOHNSON
Collegian Correspondent

Amherst selectmen have thrown their collective weight behind an effort to stop Jupiter C-5A's stationed at Westover Air Force Base from flying training missions over the area.

Selectmen plan to enter an Amicus brief to the US Court of Appeals in Boston because they say they were left out of an Air Force environmental impact study. The study stated there are no problems with either noise or pollution from C-5A's in this region.

An Amicus is a legal brief, submitted by an outside party to the case as a friend of the court.

Cristobal Bonifaz, attorney for Valley Citizens for a Safe Environment (VCSE), the group that originally brought the suit to court, said that because appeals do not allow the direct addition of new material into the case, such as a letter of support, the only way Amherst could enter the case was through an Amicus.

The brief would contend that Amherst was never notified of the flight plans or of the impact study and therefore did not have a chance to participate in the case.

The C-5A is one of the largest cargo planes in the world and is used for training flights by the Air Force, including flights from the Chicopee base. The training flights simulate take-offs and landings, called touch and goes, and fly low to the ground. A training flight, called a sorrey, can last as long as five hours and simulate as many as 20 touch and goes.

Collegian photo by Chris Hosford

NEAR AUTUMN'S END — The end of the corn harvest season is one of many signs that there are only a few weeks until winter.

Their flight path crosses Amherst and the University of Massachusetts. Organizers of the suit have complained about the loud whining noise the plane makes, particularly during turns, and about the environmental impact report that they say is incomplete. Amherst is not included in the environmental impact report.

The original suit was thrown out of US District Court last month on the grounds that the Valley Citizens group did not prove the environmental impact statement was inaccurate or deficient. The appeal was filed last week.

Bonifaz was at the selectmen's meeting seeking the board's support.

Bonifaz said there were many misconceptions regarding the case.

"It doesn't say take your planes out of there. It says hold it until we can have a thorough look at this," he said.

"This case will only give us leverage to say when they can fly and where they can go," Bonifaz said.

Amherst is the first town to enter the case. The only other town to show support is Shutesbury; the town has written a letter of support, which was entered into the original case.

Fraternity travels to NYC; aids homeless, children

By AMY BICKFORD
Collegian Correspondent

Members of the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity spent a recent weekend drinking beer, partying with friends and helping the homeless.

Seven fraternity brothers went to New York City Oct. 22 to assist the Coalition for the Homeless and the Association to Benefit Children (ABC), according to Craig Berger, the fraternity's pledge educator.

They assisted the coalition by surveying a work shelter in Brooklyn to check to see if there were any violations of government codes. They found none, said Berger. The work shelters house people that can not survive outside of a structured environment, he added.

After leaving the shelter, the group helped ABC hand out lunches throughout Manhattan, Berger said. With the ABC workers, the brothers packed a van with crates of bologna, milk, and apple lunches, he said. The lunches were distributed to homeless people at three predesignated points, he said.

The homeless people had "a community with a hierarchy" and at the first stop everyone was "organized into lines," Berger said.

At one of the points, Berger and a once-homeless ABC worker and a fraternity pledge entered a cardboard box community. "A box would shake and a hand would come out, it was really incredible," he said.

The Alpha Epsilon Pi members went also to New York University to visit the Alpha chapter there, Berger added.

Many in SW angry over parking lot expansions

By JOYCE COHEN
Collegian Correspondent

A new parking lot in Southwest Residential Area for student commuters is expected to be functional just after Thanksgiving, despite the disapproval of some Southwest residents.

Jonathan Grant, co-president of Southwest Area Government, said the people he has spoken with are upset about the new lot being built in the Southwest Playing Fields. "I've yet to meet a student in Southwest who's for the new lot," he said.

"It's the one place where you don't have to worry about stones or trees being in your way when you're playing sports," said Scott Milbert, a junior living in John Adams Residence Hall.

The new Lot 33, across the street from Lot 22, will hold 540 parking spaces and is part of a package to help deal with the "parking crunch," said Bill Barrett, director of transportation and parking. "We negotiated with the student campus leadership," he said, "and they agreed to the two big expansions."

"Along with the building of Lot 33, there will be an enlargement and repavement of Lot 49, which should be completed by spring," Barrett said. Lot 49 is in Orchard Hill Residential Area.

However, according to Bill Lambert, University landscape architect, the original drawings of Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium show the lot is to be built as part of one massive contract developed in 1964. "In fact, the gradings for the lot were put down before lawn covered the area. When the lawn was taken off, we simply followed the gradings that had been put down years ago for this lot," Lambert said.

Though it was always intended for the area to be converted into a parking lot, some said it should remain as a place to play sports since it has been that way for years.

Students say the lot should be constructed somewhere else. "Nobody has approached SWAG [Southwest Area Government] with a proposal, and we believe there are alternative solutions that are better. The administrators related to the project have failed to listen to what our solutions may be," Grant said.

Alex Zarganes, co-president of SWAG, said, "Our alternative would be to build a garage underneath Boyden Field. Maybe it's too wet. I haven't researched it yet, but I don't think anybody else has either."

But Barrett argues that building the lot anywhere but its present location would not be accommodating the commuters who need to park in Southwest. "When looking at the campus in quadrants, there are commuter lots in every quadrant but the Southwest area, so placing the lot anywhere but where it is would be defeating its purpose," he said.

He added he did not want to put the lot in the Southwest barbecue pits because they are used for concerts and building an upward garage would not be possible at this time given the cost.

Lot 33 at its present location will probably be used on weekends of home football games, Lambert said, in addition to accommodating commuters.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

New tar on Lot 33 in Southwest.

Every Student Deserves

FOUR OH'S

Oh Yeah!

Recoton XR90 Audio Tape

Recoton brings you over 15 hours of top quality recording power in its convenient 90-minute cassette 10-Pack. A great "gift-pack" for any music lover. Limit 3. Offer ends 11/6/88.

49¢

Per Tape In 10-Pack
Total 10-Pack Price $4.90

Oh Wow!

Maxell XLII 90 Audio Tape

With FREE XLII-S 90 Tape!

These high-bias tapes are excellent for dubbing high-quality cassettes, live music and FM stereo. Now when you purchase the money-saving 10-Pack, you'll receive a Maxell XLII-S 90 Audio Tape - FREE! Limit 3. Offer ends 11/6/88.

$1.99

Per Tape In 10-Pack
Total 10-Pack Price $19.90

Oh Mix!

Maxell UR90 Audio Tape

With FREE UDS-II 90 Tape!

The perfect tape for all your recording needs. Stock up now while the savings are hot. Buy the 10-Pack and get a FREE Maxell UDS-II 90 Audio Tape. Limit 3. Offer ends 11/6/88.

99¢

Per Tape In 10-Pack
Total 10-Pack Price $9.90

Oh Boy!

Maxell XLII-S 90 Audio Tape

With FREE MX 90 Metal Tape!

Maxell's super sensitive finest high-bias tape assures smooth, high-quality reproduction - the ultimate in state-of-the-art audio recording. Plus the money-saving 10-Pack comes with a Maxell MX 90 Metal Tape - FREE! Limit 3. Offer ends 11/6/88.

$2.49

Per Tape In 10-Pack
Total 10-Pack Price $24.90

record town
MUSIC & VIDEO
Hadley, Hampshire Mall • 586-6351

Five college program offers off-campus housing deals

By LISA SHAPIRO
Collegian Correspondent

Many students are unaware of a five college program that offers an alternative to traditional off-campus housing, according to one of the program's coordinators.

The Homesharing Project is a program which seeks to match compatible housemates interested in performing household chores in exchange for charging little or no rent.

Anna Dolan, a graduate student studying theater, has nightly rehearsals and needed child care. Since the beginning of this semester a Taiwanese exchange student has been living rent free, and she in return cares for Dolan's 2 1/2-year-old daughter four nights a week.

Another common match made is senior citizen and student. A student will pay little or no rent in exchange for completing household jobs such as snow shoveling and lawn mowing. Other seniors need homeshares to run errands and to prepare meals, said Dan Shepley, co-coordinator of the program.

"Homesharing is not a quick rescue for people with problems finding housing, but it can be, for others, a suitable living arrangement," he said.

Joanne Levenson, director of Off-Campus Housing and a co-coordinator of the program, said, "Many students and elders share the fact that they live on a fixed income. The program is very flexible and is able to suit almost any needs."

Shepley said homesharing can benefit senior citizens who have found it difficult to maintain their home. For others with increased expenses, owning a home may become a financial burden. Some people feel more secure knowing there is someone with them in the house at night, Shepley said.

For students homesharing can be a solution to high priced housing costs. Students may also prefer to live in a home-like environment rather than an apartment, Shepley said.

"Homesharing involves more interaction than a typical tenant/landlord relationship; there has to be time devoted to making the match work," Shepley said.

One unique thing about the rental agreement is how disputes between participants are settled, Levenson said. If the parties involved have a conflict, they are asked to resolve it through the Mediation Project. However, Levenson said there have been few conflicts in the year-and-a-half lifespan of the program.

"We are very lucky to have the Mediation Project; it is a means to work it (a dispute) out in a structured way," Levenson said.

Each session is run by a team of two trained mediators who meet with both parties and help them solve their problem "in a non-threatening fashion," Levenson said.

Homesharing, which evolved from a local housing task force, was created in response to an area housing shortage, Levenson said, and seeks to make use of local resources (existing houses).

Any Hampshire County resident over 18 can complete an application at the Off-Campus Housing Office or the Northampton Council on Aging Office, Shepley said.

Mother relates story of tragedy to victims' families, friends

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

On a cold Amherst Common yesterday, 160 small flags flapped in a light breeze as the sun went down. In this setting, Jean Joy kept her emotions in check and told the story of how her 20-year-old son was killed in a drunk-driving accident.

On August 21, 1981, John Joy was a passenger in a car driven by a drunk driver. The car crashed in South Amherst. Three of the passengers walked away with cuts and scrapes. John Joy was killed instantly.

The flags on the Common contained the names of victims of drunk-driving accidents. The flags were provided by friends and family members of victims of drunk-driving accidents.

The event was organized by Karen Jacobus, of University Health Services who called it a "memorial service and call to action" meant to deter drunk driving, part of Five-College Alcohol Awareness Week.

The event was also attended by Doris Aiken, founder and president of Remove Intoxicated Drivers (RID).

Joy conveyed the main message behind the gathering: "We want them alive, we don't want to preach. The message that comes out is that we care," Joy said.

"When you look over these flags and think about all the things these people had to contribute and didn't contribute . . . it's such a loss," Joy said.

She said she had recently been to a wedding of one of John's friends, which led her to wonder, if John were still alive, would he be getting married now?

"It's something you never get over. You just miss them so much, and you don't want anyone else to go through this," she said.

She said she hoped the flags on the Common would cause people to stop by and question what they were doing.

Laurie Kamansky had a story similar to Joy's. Her fiancee was killed on Dec. 23, 1987, also as a passenger of a drunk driver. They were to be married on last month. "I just got over that hump," Kamansky said.

Kamansky spoke to the crowd of about 65, saying she thought having people here "hits home" more than statistics.

Kamansky said she did not often speak in public about her late fiancee, but, "Talking about him is a good form of therapy and a good way to remember him." She said if this saved even one person, it was worth it.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

The FYI section is a public service announcement to the campus and community. Space is limited, so the Collegian cannot guarantee all submissions will be published.

Film

The Undergraduate Business Club is sponsoring the showing of "Big" starring Tom Hanks. Film showings are scheduled for 2, 4, 7, 9, 11 p.m. Sunday in the Student Union Ballroom.

Services

Students are invited to join Rabbi Adelman, his wife, Yocheved, and five children for a Chassidic Shabbat. The Chabad House at 30 N. Hadley Road is open every Friday night and Saturday morning. This week the services begin at 5:30 today and 10 a.m. tomorrow. Food, discussion, and song are all part of the post service relaxation.

Concert

Jimmy Cliff is scheduled to perform with a special guest beginning at 8 tonight in the Student Union Ballroom. Tickets are $13 for UMass students and $15 for the general public.

Bazaar

The Annual International Students Day bazaar is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today at Scott Gymnasium at Smith College. Admission is 50 cents.

Semi-formal

There will be a semi-formal at 8 tonight in the Blue Wall Cafeteria. It is free to dorm due payers and $3 for others.

Coffee social

The Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance has scheduled a coffee social from 3 to 5:30 p.m. today in room 811 to 815 of the Campus Center. The social is free.

Dance

The Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance has scheduled a fall harvest dance at 9 tomorrow in room 1009 of the Campus Center. Admission is $3.

Movie

"The Rendezvous" is scheduled to be shown at 9 tonight in the Southside Room of Hampden Dining Commons in Southwest Residential Area. Admission is free.

Volunteers needed

From 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow, the Munson Memorial Library in South Amherst

continued on page 15

BOG to work on diverse programs

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

The Board of Governors last night formed an ad-hoc committee to study ways of funding entertainment events of the BOG Program Council.

The Program Council will bring Dr. Ruth Westheimer to campus next Monday and has brought events such as the recent laser-light show, and several bands and comedians to the Campus Center/Student Union.

The council has faced difficulty, and has been criticized for not programming culturally diverse entertainment.

The ad-hoc committee will study ways of providing diverse entertainment. Jeff Glassman, the current BOGPC coordinator, said he and his assistant, Bonnie LaMadaleine, are very busy programming events for this semester, and have trouble examining diverse programming.

"Programming has to be looked into, and has to be more structured," Glassman said. "Bonnie and I are very busy working on the programs themselves, and this committee would be very helpful."

The committee is in charge of working on the three goals the board agreed on last semester. They are the following:

- Conducting an audit of the BOGPC account, and producing a report on how funds were spent in fiscal 1988.
- Looking into ways of programming events to better suit minority students.
- Working with Registered Student Organizations to assist them in providing the entertainment they request.

AP photo

GET OUT THE SKIS – Don Lyons shovels through two feet of snow that fell in the central and northern Adiorondack Mts. (N.Y.) Wednesday. The wet, heavy snow downed trees and power lines in the region, causing electrical outages, with some remote areas predicted to be without power for up to five days.

CELERY

SOUNDS EASY VIDEO
6 University Drive Amherst 549-5200
21 Mohawk Trail Greenfield 772-2141

BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN

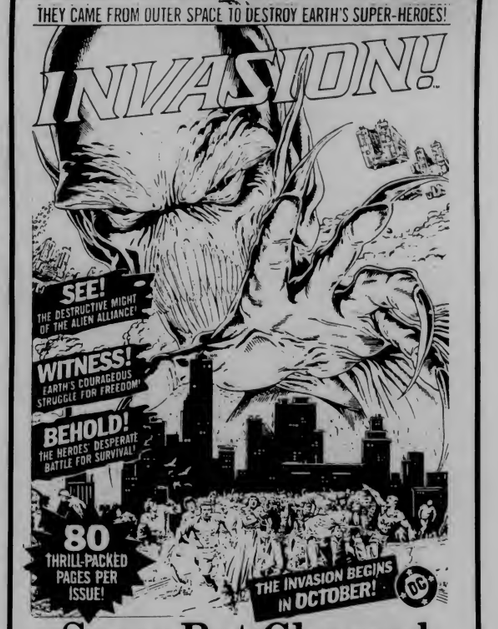
WE ARE SEEKING TO FILL TWO POSITIONS ON OUR STUDENT MANAGEMENT STAFF BEGINNING NEXT SEMESTER.

ASSISTANT MANAGER - REQUIRES A MATURE, ENERGETIC AND FLEXIBLE PERSON WITH FOOD SERVICE EXPERIENCE.

ACCOUNTANT - REQUIRES A WELL ORGANIZED PERSON WITH GOOD MATH SKILLS AND COMMUNICATIVE ABILITY

JOB DESCRIPTIONS AND APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE THRU NOV. 14TH AT BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN OFFICE, CLARK HILL ROAD

THEY CAME FROM OUTER SPACE TO DESTROY EARTH'S SUPER-HEROES!



Same Bat Channel
All your favorite comics
Posters Baseball Cards Graphic Novels
586-8775 Hampshire Mall, Rte. 9 Hadley

Railroad Stores SALVAGE

COME IN & PICK UP YOUR COPY OF OUR COMPLETE 16 PAGE CIRCULAR

Railroad Stores SALVAGE

$600,000 BUY-OUT!
OF FAMOUS BRAND TABLE & FLOOR LAMPS
- RUBIE BOUGHT OVER 5,000 DECORATOR FLOOR LAMPS!
- ALL FIRST QUALITY WESTWOOD AND LAUREL BRANDS!
- NORMALLY ONLY FOUND IN DEPT. STORES!

SAVE 60% SAVE 70% SAVE 80%
Sugg. Retail $172 to $290
$58
Save $114 to $232
YOUR CHOICE
ALL AT ONE LOW PRICE!
SALE ENDS NOV 11TH

ULTRA PREMIUM MATTRESS SETS
at 67% · 69% & 71% OFF PRETICKETED PRICES
★ALL FIRST QUALITY ★ALL SOLD IN SETS
SAVE $622 TO $1121 A SET
PRIVATE COLLECTION
Absolutely the finest mattress made anywhere.

TWIN SIZE SAVE $622 A SET	FULL SIZE SAVE $691 A SET	QUEEN SIZE SAVE $831 A SET	KING SIZE SAVE $1121 A SET
PRETICKETED $880 SET NOW $129 EA PC	PRETICKETED $1030 SET NOW $169 EA PC	PRETICKETED $1230 SET NOW $199 EA PC	PRETICKETED $1620 SET NOW $499 EA PC

BROADLOOM CARPETING
Bring Your Room Measurements and Shop Early for Best Selection of Styles and Colors. All 12 Foot Wide for Easy Installation
Values to $20.00
Save up to 55%
NOW $6 SQUARE YARD | NOW $7 SQUARE YARD | NOW $8 SQUARE YARD | NOW $9 SQUARE YARD

OVER 150 ITEMS ON SALE

FURNITURE BUY-OUT
RUBIE BOUGHT 3 TRAILERLOADS OF DINETTES

36"x60" Double Pedestal Table and 4 Easy Care Arm Chairs with Casters. Value $395 NOW $258
THREE PIECE DINETTE SET 36"x24" Walnut Table with 2 Chairs in Padded Vinyl Fabric. Value $77 NOW $48
FIVE PIECE DINETTE NOW $258 Table & 4 Chairs Value $395
30"x48" TABLE BUTCHER BLOCK FINISH Value $142 $88
30"x60" TABLE BUTCHER BLOCK FINISH and Six Chairs in Easy Care Vinyl Fabric Value $210 $138
Plus Four Comfortable Chairs in Soft Vinyl Fabric
42"x60" Octagonal Pedestal Table and 4 Padded Vinyl Caster Chairs. Value $449 NOW $298
36" Drop Leaf 4 Leg Table plus 2 Dee-Ply Padded Chairs. Value $89 NOW $58
50 INCH BUFFET BY DOUGLAS Value $249 NOW $148 BLACK ONLY
30 INCH SERVER $98 BLACK OR BLONDE ASH Value $199
FIVE PIECE DINETTE NOW $278 36"x60" Table & 4 Chairs Value $420
5 PIECE DINETTE 36"x48" Oval Table with Wood Grain Finish 4 chairs have padded vinyl seats and button tufted backs $128
7 PIECE DINETTE 36"x60" Table with square Gingerwood Finish and Chome base & easy care button tufted vinyl chairs $178
5 PIECE DINETTE $108 30"x48" Table with Butcher Block Top plus 4 chairs in tufted vinyl
7 PIECE DINETTE $198 36"x60" Table with Walnut Parquet Finish plus 6 chairs in tufted vinyl fabric
FIVE PIECE DINETTE NOW $298 Value $449
42"x60" Table and 4 Caster Chairs Value $549 NOW $368
The Original Factory Outlet Store Quantities are substantial! All items limited to stock on hand. Not responsible for typographical errors
We buy bankrupt stocks, close outs & factory overruns of name brand merchandise and always sell it for less

ROUTE 5 EAST WINDSOR CONNECTICUT MON-SAT 10-9 SUNDAY 10-6	1131 CAMPBELL AVE. EXIT 43 OFF I-95 WEST HAVEN CONNECTICUT MON-SAT 10-9 SUNDAY 10-6	ROUTE 184 GROTON CONNECTICUT MON-SAT 10-9 SUNDAY 10-6	1 CANAL STREET TURNERS FALLS MASSACHUSETTS MON-SAT 10-9 SUNDAY 12-6	HAMPSHIRE MALL ROUTE 9 HADLEY MASSACHUSETTS MON-SAT 10-9 SUNDAY 12-5

AP photo

ORTEGA VISITS DAMAGED AREA — Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega, carrying a Soviet-made AK47 rifle, stops during a tour yesterday of the Jinatega province, near the Honduran border. Ortega, who travelled in a Soviet-made helicopter to cross flooded rivers, was on a tour of the area damaged by Hurricane Joan.

Doctors warn of 'wormy fish'

BOSTON (AP) — A serious intestinal illness caused by eating raw or uncooked fish infested with worms is frequently confused with other common diseases, doctors warn.

They cautioned that physicians should consider anisakiasis, a disease caused by larvae of the anisakid nematodes, whenever they believe someone has appendicitis, which is the most often confused with the ailment.

The doctors said that about 50 cases of anisakaisis have been reported in the United States, but "we believe that this may be the tip of the iceberg."

The doctors attributed the emergence of the disease, in part, to the popularity of sushi and sashimi and lightly cooked fish, since cooking kills the worms. Salmon and pacific snapper are most commonly implicated in the disease.

Another factor, they said, is the increasing numbers of seals, sea lions, and other marine mammals that harbor the parasites in their stomachs. The animals expel worm eggs in their feces, which are then eaten by other sea creatures, including fish.

People who eat wormy fish sometimes cough up live worms or feel the worm in their throats, a condition known as "tingling throat syndrome."

Farrakhan

continued from page 1

the student activity fee.

Another student involved in the vote was a graduate student. According to the DVP constitution, graduate students are not allowed to vote because they do not pay directly into the organization coffers, Berkley said.

There is a limit on the amount of money DVP can spend on events proposed by outside groups, Berkley said. He said even if that were not the case, DVP does not have $11,000 in their account, the amount necessary to bring Farrakhan to campus.

The vote passed in the first place because Judi Cohn and Susan Miles, the chairpersons during the Oct. 18 meeting, were not aware of these issues, Berkley said. Cohn and Miles chaired the meeting because the regular chairmen, Berkley and Daniel D'Appolito, had exams that night, Berkley said.

Dukakis still the apple of Harvard's eye

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Gov. Michael S. Dukakis may be slipping behind in the national presidential polls, but a survey of Harvard University students shows the predominant school of thought makes Dukakis the big winner.

Dukakis beat fellow Ivy Leaguer George Bush by a margin of 70 percent to 26 percent in a straw poll of more than 2,500 undergraduates conducted by the John F. Kennedy School of Government's Institute of Politics.

"I think that's terrific," said Jim McGovern of Dukakis' Massachusetts campaign. "I personally did not go to Harvard but I understand that there are smart people there and it's nice to see that education paying off."

Poll coordinator Kathryn Keough said she wasn't sure whether the fact that Bush graduated from archrival Yale impacted the results. "I don't know if I'd want to venture any of speculation on that," she said. Dukakis attended Harvard Law School and taught at the university in the four years between his first and second term as governor.

The news didn't noticeably crush the Bush camp.

"It obviously doesn't surprise me that the Harvard community would be strongly supporting Michael Dukakis," said Bush supporter, state Sen. Paul Cellucci, R-Hudson.

"We think nationally that the vice president is in good shape and we think right here in Massachusetts he's within a point or two," Cellucci said.

Other results of the poll, taken Tuesday, showed that 78 percent of the women voted for Dukakis while 18 percent favored Bush. Among men, Dukakis garnered 65 percent of the support, while Bush had 31 percent.

In 1984 the poll showed students picked Democratic Walter Mondale 61 percent, with only 28 percent going for Republican Ronald Reagan.

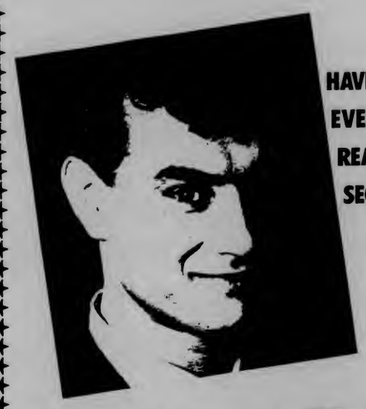
TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE

Had a long week?
Finish Up Friday at the Top!
FREE MUNCHIES 4-6 PM

Weekly drink specials and never a line at the door!

Lounge Hours:
Mon-Fri: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat-Sun: 4:00 pm-12:30 am

11th Floor Campus Center • (413) 549-6000 ext. 7634
University of Massachusetts at Amherst



HAVE YOU EVER HAD A REALLY BIG SECRET?

Sunday, Nov. 6th
AT THE STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
Shows at: 2,4,7,9 & 11 PM
ADMISSION $2

Tom Hanks big
A wonderful new comedy

SPONSORED BY: THE UMASS UNDERGRADUATE BUSINESS CLUB

As Real As It Gets

CASE SPECIALS

LITE BEER BY MILLER	10.99
PIELS	5.99
FALSTAFF	7.99
ROLLING ROCK	10.99
STROHS 30 PACK	10.99
COORS SUITCASE	10.99

LABATTS BEER/ALE 10.99 Case

CANADIAN 6 PACK SPECTACULAR
Grizzly 2.99
Labatts 2.99
Molson 3.99

FOSTER OIL CANS	1.59
CALIFORNIA COOLERS 2L	2.99
SAM ADAMS 6 pk.	4.99
HOPE LAGER 6 pk.	4.99
RED STRIPE 6 pk.	4.99
MILLER GENUINE DRAFT 12 pk.	5.99
BUD LIGHT 12 pk.	5.99

HARD BARGAINS

CAPT. MORGAN LTR.	8.99
FOUR SEASONS VODKA 1.75L	8.99
FOUR SEASONS GIN 1.75L	8.99
PEACHTREE SCHNAPPS 750 ml	5.99

THERE'S NO REASON TO GO ANYWHERE ELSE

FOUR SEASONS

KEGS—ALL SHAPES & SIZES
MC/VISA WE DELIVER
Located on Route 9, Hadley—Just beyond Burger King
OPEN MONDAY—SATURDAY 9 a.m. - 11 p.m.

584-8174

Skinheads, Innis, brawl on Geraldo

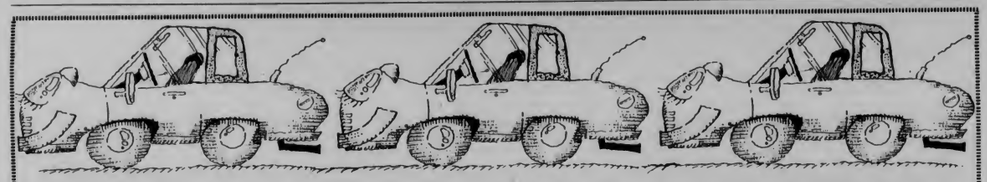
NEW YORK (AP) — Geraldo Rivera, (lower right of top photo) holding microphone, ducks away from a melee that broke out during a taping of the Geraldo show yesterday.

The scuffle broke out when racially-motivated exchanges began between a group of right-wing "skinheads" and black civil right activist Roy Innis.

In the bottom photo, Rivera holds a handkerchief to his nose after being hit during the brawl.



Motor Vehicle Rules & Regulations

At it's September 1988 Meeting the Board of Trustees approved revised Motor Vehicle Rules & Regulations for the Amherst Campus. The revisions include provisions for an increased parking violation fines structure. A copy of record, of the Rules & Regulations, is available for public review during regular business hours at the Campus Parking Services office 137 Hasbrouck or call 545-0065 for more information.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Notes from the basement

Fear makes for a quiet Halloween in Greenfield

GREENFIELD — Small towns look like this at 3 a.m. The roads are empty, the houses are dark. The only activity in the deserted center square is the changing traffic lights.

It's 8 p.m., Halloween night.

Exactly one week ago, a young woman was murdered here. Her killer is at large. The chief suspect is rumored to have an obsession with teen gore horror films. There are more rumors, unsubstantiated but fascinating. You can't help but listen.

Nancy Klingener

Halloween was cancelled in Greenfield. Trick-or-treating was moved up to three daylight hours on Sunday. Police asked residents to keep their porch lights off and decorations off their doors. Residents complied. Driving around the residential areas of the town, I see one jack-o-lantern. The sidewalks are empty of ghosts and witches and cartoon characters in search of candy.

At the Armory, a medieval fortress perched on a hillside, the town's official Halloween party is just ending. A three-year-old clown runs around the big wooden floor, waiting for her mother to finish the cigarette and take her home. Parents call the party a success. No one mentions a murder.

The fast food joints along the main street are empty. The bars have only a few patrons, the regulars. But every school in town is blazing with lights, every classroom lit so you can see the carefully scripted alphabets above the blackboards.

The cop on desk duty at the station doesn't know why the lights are on — or he's not telling.

This is a good place. Where Amherst and Northampton have a veneer of prosperity, Greenfield has the texture of real life. It has a real department store, and small pharmacies. It has a county courthouse and the Franklin County Fairgrounds and the best textile store around. Normally, it's a pretty quiet town. Tonight, Greenfield is hushed. The multi-screen movie house, in the center of town where the Garden theatre used to be, advertises eight movies on its marquee. "Halloween IV," yet another installment in the gory series was scheduled for this week. The movie was cancelled.

The local radio station tells its listeners, "Happy Halloween." They play the Monster Mash. They don't mention the murder, or horror movies. In the Victorian Diner, about five people stay close to the bar. The place is well-lit, brighter than most small local hangouts. No one mentions the murder.

At 11 p.m., the Greenfield Cooperative Bank clock registers 30 degrees. The occasional car coasts through town. Two police cruisers are stopped facing opposite directions, their drivers consulting in the supermarket parking lot. The schools are still lit, the streets are still dark. The desk officer at the police station, a young blond man patient with reporters, has nothing to report.

"It was quiet for a Halloween," he says.

Nancy Klingener is a Collegian columnist.

Some advice for Mike and George

Some final and random campaign observations

Whoa!!!

Maybe I spoke too soon last week when I declared the candidacy of Gov. Michael Dukakis to be as good as dead. In the past week, the Democratic nominee has made some headway, made some decent speeches, and apparently, made some friends in the Afro-American community.

But. . .

A day late and a dollar short, as they say, although the campaign still has $20 million in funds to work with, odds are certainly against the Democrats.

David R. Mark

With that I'd like to make my educated guess prediction of how the Democrats will do next Tuesday. I believe Gov. Dukakis will win the following states: Massachusetts, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Maryland, Washington, California, Hawaii, and the District of Columbia. That's a grand total of 174 electoral votes (I may be off).

That leaves Vice President George Bush with 364, and a slightly-less-than-landslide victory.

Last week I wrote some of the cliches voters have heard too many times in the campaign, now here are a few of things voters haven't heard enough about:

Foreign Policy: If you drew a world map of all the nations talked about in this campaign, you'd think there was a lot more ocean out there. The world in Campaign '88 consists of Nicaragua, Panama, the vague "Central American neighbors," (which obviously doesn't include the first two nations), South Africa, the Soviet Union and Israel. What about the NATO nations and the rest of the world? Too boring?

Too bad.

The Federal Deficit: We've heard "Read my lips: NO NEW TAXES!!!" from Bush, but what would he cut when he refers to "Government spending?" I. it possible he doesn't realize the "longest period of peacetime growth" is being paid for by our spending $200 billion-a-year more than we have? Bush says Dukakis has never met a defense project he liked, but can we afford every defense project Bush likes? Hardly.

Too much.

Education: Bush wants to be our education president. How? Will ketchup still be considered a vegetable in school lunch programs? Will there still be school lunch programs? Dukakis has an edge here only because of Bush's inability to go beyond his "Education president" slogan.

To read or not to read, that's the question, I guess.

I'm voting for Dukakis. I don't agree with the Duke on everything, but in the places I disagree with the Duke, I tend to agree with veep nominee Lloyd Bentsen, which is almost the same thing. The important thing is that I cannot and will not vote for a ticket that includes a certain Senator from Indiana.

I really hate Dan Quayle — not him so much as what he stands for in this election — mediocrity.

I got to thinking, David Letterman should make a top five list of people from Indiana who would make a better vice president than Dan Quayle. . .

Number 5: Marilyn Quayle

Number 4: Larry Bird

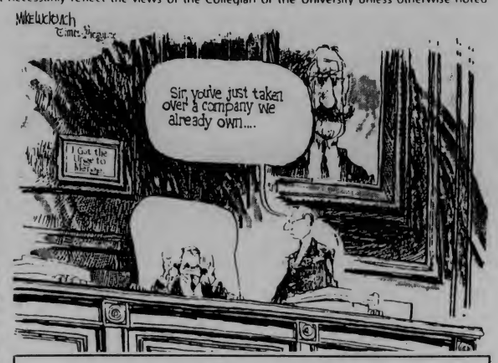
Number 3: Birch Bayh (only because of his name — and yes, I know he's a Democrat)

Number 2: Richard Lugar (the other Republican senator in Indiana)

Number 1: David Letterman

Just trying to be as silly as the respective campaigns were this year.

David R. Mark is editorial editor of the Collegian, and relieved the election is almost over



Letters

Administration can't please all

I found Sephen Bayer's editorial ("UMass administration forgets civility," Nov. 2) to be just the sort of ethnocentric view of the world that will ultimately drive the student body of our University apart.

As I see it, the primary goal of our administration is to see to it that exam periods run smoothly for as large a portion of our students as realism allows. If, in fact, the University altered the exam schedule for Jewish students, how could it then ignore the religious holidays of Asians, Moslems, and these of Eastern Orthodox origins, as well as other minority faiths? Obviously, the result would be chaos and confusion, with exams spread over the entire semester.

I think our administration is on the right track when it allows Jewish (or any other) students the right to reschedule their exams with no penalty. If a penalty was extracted from a student's grade, the policy would be uncivil.

As for the issue of food, I think that Bayer should look at the issue from an economic standpoint. When you prepare food in smaller quantities (and in many cases higher quality) it is not cost effective. This results in higher prices for the student. When was the last time you saw ethnic food of any kind in the cafeteria? This excludes the few dishes that have been integrated into the mainstream American diet.

Recently, a very close friend of mine spent a semester at the University of Jerusalem. As a graduate student in Israel, he was expected to attend classes on both Christmas and Easter.

Prejudice? I think not. Rather, he (as we all do) had to pay the price of living in a world so diverse that the greater efficiency of a society (or university) sometimes overshadows the special differences that make us all individuals.

Jonathan Anastas
Southwest

Stop defending anti-Semitism

What is anti-semitism? A spokesperson for Louis Farrakhan claims that "people are in disagreement as to just what anti-semitism means." He then tacitly uses his own definition (the definition now popular among anti-semites) to claim that Farrakhan is not anti-semitic because he is not anti-Arab.

There is actually no dispute about the meaning of anti-semitism. Webster's dictionary defines it as "antagonism towards Jews," and every other dictionary has an equivalent definition. To argue that someone is not anti-semitic because he or she is not anti-Arab is like saying that the Ku Klux Klan is not anti-black because it is not opposed to black cars and black coffee.

Anti-semitism can be found among both black and white Americans, but among whites it is considered a "gutter attitude," and condemned by almost every organization and public figure. In contrast, black spokesmen commonly excuse anti-semitism among blacks, in order to maintain "black unity." They insist that even the most vicious anti-semitic statement, such as those of Farrakhan, are "taken out of context," or do not really attack Jews, but only "Jewish landlords" or "Jewish politicians." (When have you ever heard anyone attack "Christian landlords?")

Isn't it time for non-anti-semitic blacks to recognize the harm this does to both blacks and Jews, and to stop defending the bigots among the black people?

Bernard Miller
Amherst

Facts about Question 3 clouded

I am appalled with the Legislature's report concerning Question 3. Question 3, the Humane Farming Initiative, is most deserving of state support, but our legislature has failed to address the issue properly and put forward truth.

The report is not objective. Colored phrases, such as "recommendation of a 'so-called' scientific advisory board" are derogatory, condescending and prejudiced. The article's bias if further illustrated by offering one-sided data.

Question 3, if passed, would insure the forming of a committee to advise the commissioner on farm-animal welfare issues. The opinions of this group (all animal care specialists) are intended to balance the farmer-dominated advice that the commissioner now receives from groups like the Board of Food and Agriculture. Consequently, the committee intentionally excludes farmers from its membership.

The legislative report fails to fully cover this issue and thus promotes the spread of myths and half-truths.

The most frightful condition of this report is that some of the information is quite simply wrong. The report states that Question 3 would require Massachusetts farmers to replace existing farming structures at a cost of $90 million. This estimate is based on data regarding the replacement of dairy stanchion barns. Nothing in Question 3 requires such drastic measures. In truth, dairy farmers are not even the subject of this bill!

The Legislature's bias is clear and undeniable. I encourage any Massachusetts voter to look beyond these lies and distortions when voting Nov. 8. Question 3 is well-founded and necessary.

Matthew Jaquith
Northampton

ARTS/LIVING

Bat 21: Tri-Star's hidden treasure worth finding

By ADAM CAMPBELL
Collegian Correspondent

Maybe I'm wrong. Maybe I'm just out of touch, but I don't recall seeing any radio or TV spots for it. There was no lobby-poster in the theater. I don't remember seeing a trailer. And for the life of me, I can't recall ever having seen a movie-title less likely to pique public interest than Bat 21.

THE SCREENING ROOM

Sure, it was the title of the autobiographical book on which the film was based, but it was hardly a well-enough known work to justify keeping its meaningless title. Tri-Star must be embarassed to admit that they've actually got a good film on their hands.

So I'll whisper:

Bat 21 is the true story of 53-year old Air Force Colonel Iceal Hambleton (Gene Hackman), military genius and gung-ho American war-monger. On a fairly routine surveillance mission, his plane is shot down and he is stranded behind enemy lines in North Vietnam. It is here that he experiences hand-to-hand combat for the first time. Suddenly the enemy is more than a number. "I killed a man today," intones his pained and weary voice through the white noise of a radio transmission. His enlightenment sobers the enthusiasm of his only link to the "real" world, spotter pilot Bird Dog (Danny Glover), and has much the same effect on the viewer. The film is a levelheaded reply to the mindlessness of Stallone, Norris and comrades. It performs honorably in drawing on the surface sentiments of revenge-minded Ramboids, forcing the viewer to witness the consequences of blind action. It makes a simple, but strangely elusive point: War kills people. See Bat 21 just to spite Tri-Star. Unsubstantiated Rumors and Self-Indulgent Musings:

- Jack Nicholson is The Joker and Michael Keaton is Batman in Tim Burton's upcoming Batman film. It is not - repeat, not - a comedy. Timothy Dalton returns as James Bond in the currently lensing License Revoked, loosely based on the first John Gardner Bond novel, License Renewed. For the more literary of you Bond fans: The reason the films bear so little resemblance to the Ian Fleming novels is that Fleming was dissatisfied with the cinematic treatment of Doctor No and thereafter allowed only the titles of his works to be used.
- Next year is the fiftieth anniversary of The Wizard of Oz and Gone With the Wind. Expect to be Garland-and-Gabled to death. There will be a sequel novel to GWTW, but no word yet on the inevitable movie or mini-series (Richard Chamberlain and Jane Seymour as Rhett and Scarlett?).
- Duck Pictures has announced commencement of shooting on its first "Major Motion Picture," Disco II: The Revenge. Betting that the time is right for an artificially-induced mid-70's nostalgia craze, Duck promises a reunion of all those who made disco great. Just when you thought it was safe to go back to the dancefloor . . .
- Answer to last week's trivia: Harrison Ford played the school principal in a sequence cut from E.T..
- This week's: For what New York film critic was the skull-visaged bad guy in Willow named?
- Opening today in the area: Everybody's All-American; The Good Mother; U2: Rattle and Hum; The Last Temptation of Christ; They Live.

Ensemble mixes spirit and music

By GRAEME THOMSON
Collegian Correspondent

"Spirit Ensemble are first and foremost a live experience," Kevin Hylton explains. "We can play almost anywhere."

He's right. The band that will play the Northampton Center for the Arts tonight and tomorrow night began simply as a couple of street musicians, Jimmy Cruiz and Zeleka Jenkins, busking in Union Square Market, and developed from there as the number of members, and variety of instruments increased.

The resulting fusion of the group's different musical backgrounds has produced a unique sound which Hylton describes as "Afro-Carribean," though he's quick to point out that the group's music cannot really be categorized.

However, Spirit Ensemble's success is at least in part due to the recent surge in popularity of "World Music," on the Western market, prompted by Paul Simon's controversial Graceland album. I asked Hylton about the danger of the band being packaged by record companies and the media, as another piece of "ethnic awareness" for the average yuppie CD buyer.

"Well, for a start, we don't have a contract yet. We produced a tape which we've marketed ourselves; anyway I don't think there's going to be a problem. Wherever we've played, the audience has been really varied, and everybody, young and old, has been really turned on to the music.

"Yeah," Hasam Bakr adds, "they all get up and start dancing; the music and the rhythm just take over. At one show I saw a guy — he must have been about seventy — and he was up dancing about with everyone else."

When you look at some of the places they've played — the Paradise and Sanctuary nightclubs in New York, Yale, Princeton, even Soho art galleries — you'll begin to understand why they call themselves "a band for all occasions."

Manager Joe Sylvester sums it up, "We're about spirit, that's the main thing; we're about breaking through the barriers of race or culture, or style and bringing people together on a spiritual level."

For more information about Spirit Ensemble's call 585-0352.

Spirit Ensemble performs at Northampton Center for the Arts tonight and tomorrow.

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!
From NEW YORK — one way
LONDON 179
PARIS 229
ROME 259
round trip
CARACAS 320
ST. THOMAS 260
HONGKONG 739
Taxes not included. Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes. EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

amc THEATRES
$2.75 TWILITE SHOW
ST. JAMES 6 — 584-9153
The Good Mother
Fri @ (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
Sun @ 1:45 (4:00 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:30
Gorillas in the Mist
Fri @ (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:45
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:45
Sun @ 1:30 (4:15 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:30
The Accused
Fri @ (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:45
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:15
Sun @ 1:30 (4:15 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:15
FEDS
Fri @ (5:00 @ 2:75) 7:30 10:00
Sat @ 2:00 5:30 (2:75) 7:30 10:00
Sun @ 2:00 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:15
HAMPSHIRE 6 — 584-7550
U2 Rattle and Hum
Fri @ (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:30 10:15
Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:30 10:15
Sun @ 1:45 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:30 9:45
PUNCHLINE
Fri @ (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:45
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:30
Sun @ 1:30 (4:00 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:30
THEY LIVE
Fri @ (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
Sun @ 1:45 (4:15 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:45
Everybody's All American
Fri @ (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:45
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:45
Sun @ 1:30 (4:00 @ 2:75) 7:00 9:30
Halloween IV
Fri @ (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:30 10:15
Sat @ 1:45 (4:45 @ 2:75) 7:30 10:15
Sun @ 1:45 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:30 9:45
BAT 21
Fri @ (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
Sat @ 1:30 (4:30 @ 2:75) 7:15 10:00
Sun @ 1:30 (4:15 @ 2:75) 7:15 9:30

Exhibits from Smith to Springfield

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

From Southwest to Springfield, there are several exhibits on the way. First, on the home front, Hampden Gallery in Southwest will be presenting a show titled Altered Images, an exhibit of manipulated photographs by artists Stephen Petegorsky and Terri Schatz, from Nov.8 to Nov.29. The opening reception will be held from 5-8 p.m. on Thursday, Nov.10. Featured in the show is Petegorsky's color photo-collages which focus in on the form of the picture postcard, revealing the artificial elements in these images. Schatz uses black and white photographs with oil paints and even fragments of color photographs for a collage effect which supplants the original photographic image with a spiritual dimension. Gallery hours are Monday-Friday, 3-7 p.m., Sunday,2-5 p.m.

At Hillyer Corridor Gallery, Smith College, Nancy Simonds and Lois Foley are showing an exhibit of their paintings and drawings until Nov.11. The work of Simonds, a Smith alumna, has been compared to Manet's still life. Foley is an abstractionist who works primarily with oils and acrylics whose work has been shown in Vermont, Connecticut, New York and elsewhere.

New Work Japan, an exhibition of works by six contemporary Japanese sculptors, is opening today at Mount Holyoke College Art Museum in South Hadley. It will run until Dec.21. This show features an essay by Louisa McDonald of the College's Department of Art, which provides a historical background to the art. The works themselves follow Japanese tradition in the use of natural materials, such as wood, stone and cotton fabric, as well as using Western minimalism. On Sunday, Nov.6 at 3 p.m. Ritsuko Taho, one of the artists in the show, will be presenting the Louise R. Weiser Memorial Lecture in Gamble Auditorium, adjacent to the Museum. Museum hours are Monday-Friday, 11 a.m.-5 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday, 1-5 p.m.

Interested in going to Springfield? Zone Art Museum is showing the 7th Annual Free-for-All Art Exhibition, running until Nov.20. As a result of an intensive publicity campaign, more than 100 artists are showing works such as paintings, sculpture, photography, poetry and books. This sounds really interesting, especially considering the fact that these artists did it for no money. Zone's hours are Wednesday-Friday, 1-5 p.m.; Saturday-Sunday, 2-5 p.m. and by appointment.

Finally, for those who are interested in going even further than Springfield this weekend, check out the exhibit of Twentieth century American folk art at the Museum of Art, Science and Industry in Bridgeport, CT. The show, which continues until Dec.31, features paintings, sculpture and pottery by such artists as Grandma Moses and Janis Price. Hours are Tuesday-Friday, 11 a.m.-5 p.m., Saturday-Sunday, noon-5 p.m. And that's all for this week.

Athens trio shakes the REM-clone stigma

By CHEETIE KUMAR
and JENNIFER HUGHES
Special to the Collegian

"Both negative and positive things that happen can result in good art . . .rock'n'roll is a kind of art, however feeble it may be . . . good and bad things tend to evolve into new songs. . ." said Barry Marler, guitarist and vocalist of Dreams So Real in a recent interview. Whatever the cause, the songs of Dream So Real have evolved into a new clean, yet driving sound to come out of Athens, Ga.

The trio met in Athens where drummer Drew Worsham and bassist Trent Allen attended the University of Georgia. They met Marler through mutual friendship and began playing together.

"Played our first date . . . had about eight songs, and got a really good response," said Marler. That response led to a deal with Coyote Records, and in early 1985, their first single "Everywhere Girl" was released. Following the success of their first effort, Dreams So Real released their debut LP Father's House in 1986. Both of these were produced by REM's Peter Buck.

"He was glad to do it," Marler said of Buck, but added, "the fact that Peter produced us caused a problem in the beginning . . . No one wants to be an REM clone."

And Dreams so Real has shown that. The melodies and harmonies blend masterfully on Father's House. The rhythm section of Worsham and Allen provide a sold foundation that supports the flawless melodic structure of Marler's guitar. But the sound does not stop there. Allen and Marler's voices blend together to create a harmonic style that sets Dreams So Real apart. The ten tracks on Father's House are the outcome of talent and hard work that has been developing for five years.

Arista was the major label to sign Dream So Real, exposing their material to a wider market. Their latest LP, Rough Night in Jericho, has demonstrated that a major can help a band in ways not possible without.

"We did Father's House on a budget about one twentieth of the budget we had for this album. . . We were able to take our time and be careful and do a good job as possible," Marler confessed.

Rough Night in Jericho was released five weeks ago and the response has been great. The album was produced by Bill Drescher (The Bangles, Jules Shear). Marler said they enjoyed working with Drescher.

"We were looking for a producer that would get as professional, big and modern a sound . . . that would not lose the identity of the band."

Well, Dreams So Real certainly achieved that on Rough Night in Jericho. The title track has a raw, powerful sound that sets the pace for songs like "Heart of Stone," and "City of Love;" yet leaves plenty of room for the more jangly, harmonious tracks, "Bearing Witness" and "California." Overall the album comes together to prove that Dream So Real is not just any band. Their music is one of a kind.

The success of Dreams So Real is relative. Marler defines success as "begin able to make a living . . . performing songs that are written as a natural evolution. . .then we'll be successful." Marler said he feels very lucky that Dreams So Real has reached that level.

Yet luck has really only played a small part. Dreams So Real has created and defined a sound that is special. It's a new sound to leave the South and make it around the country.

Dream So Real will appear tonight at Pearl Street in Northampton with local Giant recording artists Grave Goods. The all ages show is at 6 p.m. with a 21-over show at 10 p.m. Dream So Real live is a show not to be missed. Marler said at their shows "you can expect a live sound that is very much like the record. . . but there will be a lot more live energy. You'll see a band that hopefully has a fresh approach to a classic sort of song-writing. Somebody that appreciates solid rock'n'roll would appreciate it."

Exhibit of landscapes at FAC

By REBECCA MORRISSEY
Collegian Correspondent

"Points of View: Contemporary Landscapes" is the name of a new show at the University Gallery in the Fine Arts Center consisting of works done in the 60's, 70's and 80's by many different artists. The works cover a wide variety of media, including painting, sculpture, drawing, photography and two pieces in book form.

"Most people expect very traditional landscapes," said Betty Siersma, acting Director of the gallery, who explained that she chose pieces "for their being examples of the kinds of things that were going to make the show have a broader range."

continued on page 13

AMHERST CINEMA
"PERVERSELY FASCINATING" — "PROVOCATIVE"
HANDMADE FILMS PRESENTS
A NICOLAS ROEG FILM
TRACK 29
THERESA RUSSELL GARY OLDMAN and CHRISTOPHER LLOYD
R
2 showings 7:00 & 9:00 in the center of Amherst
Adults $3.50 Children & Senior Citizens $2.00
AMITY ST. 253-5426

SYMMETRY WAVE
Auralius
THE SALON
15 Hawley Street,
Northampton
584-8317

UMASS SKI CLUB
MANDATORY MEETING
Wednesday, November 9, 1988
The Great Ski Snatch
November 17-19, 1988
WE NEED YOUR HELP!
• Benefits & Lots of Fun-Don't miss out!
• Great chance to meet & work with people
Come to our information & sign-up meeting:
4:00 p.m. 163 CC
7:00 p.m. Hampden Dining Commons
(members and non-members welcome)

New Shipments
Good Things
Pants Natural Fiber Scarves
Blouses Skirts Dresses
T-Shirts Tanks
Chinese Shoes
Sweaters
Earrings
Candles
Rings
Bracelets
Chains
India Print Bedspreads
Drawstring Pants
Shorts
Area Rugs
Happy B'day Cards
Hawaii Posters
Mugs
Bamboo Blinds
Socks
Leather Sole
Sale 20 to 50% off selected Clothing
Earrings
Blouses Skirts Dresses
THE MERCANTILE
Great Gifts & Cards
Sun 12-5
Daily 10-6
N'hamp. Night Thurs. 9 P.M.
Northampton-18 Center St
Amherst-Carriage Shops

Salaam invites audience to escape to Bombay

By ANDRE BUSI
Collegian Correspondent

Tonight the Academy of Music in Northampton is presenting Salaam Bombay, an Indian film about a 10-year old boy named Krishna (Shafiq Syed) surviving alone in the city of Bombay. India has not had the greatest film legacy, but this movie was produced, plotted and directed by Mira Nair, who studied film at Harvard, and is the only Indian who has made films that are palatable to . . . western world tastes.

Krishna is abandoned by his travelling circus, and cannot return home until he has 500 rupees, so off he goes to the big city, and starting from the bottom of the street life, finds himself a job serving tea and bread; his new name is Chaipau. He befriends a spirited street-wise drug-dealer named Chillum (Raghubir Yadav) who works for the red-light district boss Baba (Nana Patekar).

Nair has captured Bombay at its most beautiful and grimy. Twentieth century India shows us a world where ancient traditions and modern changes are tightly packed next to each other in colorful but suffocating tenements. You get to feel a lot like a child, being buffetted around by the swirling throng of people and the din of Hindi, traffic and animals. You really feel cut off from the western world, and are just as seduced by all the exotic energy of the city as Krishna is.

The plot is just loose enough to show you the full range of common Bombay life, which is valuable itself coming form a country that is so distant and so different that we think in terms of headlines only. Nair, who up until now has made 4 documentaries addressing Indian social issues, the scenes on location, using lots of non-actors, especially with the children of the streets, to whom the film is dedicated. Nair was inspired by "their essential innocence yet infinite experience" to make a movie that "celebrates their spirit of survival, their humor, dignity and courage in a world that denies them the luxury of childhood."

Though the film is completely in Hindi with subtitles, there are some scenes that refer back to America, such as when Krishna and Chillum doggedly chase an American tourist, cheerfully selling him hashish, and then running off to a Moslem cemetery to get stoned and collapse into hysterics about the tourist's weight problem; also when Baba the pimp tries to impress an attractive western student by proudly whipping Chillum when he delivers their tea. Needless to say she is not pleased, and this emphasizes how much we both take for granted how disparate our cultures are.

Salaam Bombay may make you think twice before you assume America is the highest-stress society on earth, but then again, the film feels so authentic you may feel like you've left the planet. It is vivid, comical, realistic and as thankfully unresolved as the country it portrays. Do yourself a favor, and escape from the Valley without resorting to escapism.

COME HEAR
Senator Edward M.

Kennedy.

at a rally with other local Democrats
Saturday, November 5, 10:30am
beside the Student Union

Rain site: Campus Center Aud.

Sponsored by the University Democrats
Call 545-0199 for more information.

Cliff brings music to SUB tonight

By SISTER WASSI
Special to the Collegian

By now, of course, the entire University and the Pioneer Valley at large is waiting with eager anticipation for the sold-out Jimmy Cliff/Arrow concert to be held tonight in the Student Union Ballroom.

As you go rockin' and skankin' your way across the floor, revel in the awareness of a musical linkage to happy, dancing crowds around the world and through the years. From the 1962 ska excitement of "Daisy's Got Me Crazy" in Jamaica, through tours of the United States, South America, and Africa, to the current "Hanging Fire" tour, Jimmy Cliff's music has uplifted and unified thousands of people across national, ethnic, and linguistic gaps. Allow the spirit of love to flow tonight, and be ready for a powerhouse performance!

In case your dancing feet are feeling shy, the opening artist is guaranteed to make you lose all inhibition: Arrow, of Montserrat, king of the red-hot soca beat. Soca is the contemporary development of calypso music, and it is not for nothing that Arrow is on top of the calypso world. Hit tunes like "Colombia Rock" and "Long Time" reflect Arrow's international focus, and have been covered in many languages. Full of music dedicated to the pleasure principle, he is talented, tight, together, and oh-h-h so sexy!

So, brothers and sisters, in Arrow's words, "Come on, enjoy yourself!"

Peace and love in the dance hall.

Reggae phenomenon Arrow opens for Jimmy Cliff tonight in UPC-sponsored show.

WHERE INDIAN FOOD IS NOT JUST CURRY

- Traditional Tandori India Cooking Seals in Fresh Foods Natural Flavors
- Complete Vegetarian Menu
- Extensive Wine List
- Bewitching Biryanis
- Enticing Curries

Lunch
Tues.-Sat. 11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.
Sunday 12:00-3:00 p.m.
Dinner
Tues.-Thurs. & Sun. 5:00 p.m.-9:30 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. 5:00 p.m.-10:30 p.m.

"Indian Restaurant with Excellent Food and Service"
The New England Monthly

The INDIA HOUSE RESTAURANT
45 State St, Northampton, MA (413) 586-6344
207 Colchester Ave. Burlington, VT (802) 862-7800

DELANO'S
Proper Identification A Must
57 NORTH PLEASANT ST • 253-5141
Drink of the Week
WHITE RUSSIAN $2.50
Beer of the Month
DOS EQUIS $1.75
Sunday Night is Monte Python Night!

The Chequers
Weekend Specials Only $10.00
Prime Rib
Baked Stuffed Shrimp
Reef & Beef (Prime Rib & Baked Stuffed Shrimp)
All are served with a garden salad, basket of warm bread, choice of potato or vegetable and dessert.
Sorry, no other discounts can be used with this special.
Served on Sunday 1p.m. til 9p.m.,
Mon-Thurs 5p.m.-9p.m.
Come and Dine with us for breakfast, lunch, dinner, or even a light bite!
Casual atmosphere, convenient location and most of all...Affordable Prices!
University Drive
Amherst ☐ 549-5861

興旺樓
Chinese Kitchen
Quality Chinese Food at a Low Price
Spend $10.00 and get 1 pint of Pork Fried Rice FREE
Good Only In Hadley Store
Hadley-430 Russel St., 253-2571 Northampton-150 King St., 586-8221

Landscapes

continued from page 11

"For the past few years, it (the landscape) has been an incredibly popular subject matter," said Siersma, who suggested that that popularity is be due to several reasons, such as increased environmental concerns, or perhaps a breakaway from the more structural, formalist conception of art which prevailed in the 60's and 70's to a less constrained, more expressive kind of art. "Landscapes leave so much possibility for emotion and expression," she said.

Siersma sees contemporary landscapes as "a return to content. People want to be able to express ideas, emotions. If you look at a landscape, there's a lot of possibility for storytelling. A lot of artists in the 80's are feeling we're at the end of a millennium, that we're at an apocalypse.

"You expect a kind of view that expresses a very personal view or a grand vista, a grand view," such as the landscapes of the Romantic period. But, she said, there are no truly traditional landscapes in this exhibit.

"April Gornik's 'Light at the Source' comes closest," said Siersma, "but it has a real scariness and foreboding to it," with its "very gestural clouds" and no people. "You can feel the absence of humans."

Another work in the exhibit is a sculpture by George Trakas, the same artist who designed the sculpture on the Campus Pond (now under construction), which includes the island and two bridges - one of metal and one of stone. Done in 1973, Trakas' "Stone Quartet" is also of metal and stone with mirrors as well. Depending on the height of the viewer, various parts of the sculpture reflect and relate to the viewer's heart and head. Of Trakas' island sculpture, Siersma said, "the body is engaged with the landscape." "Stone Quartet" is the same way. "It may be on the wall, but it engages the person in a physical way," said Siersma.

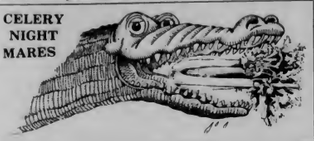
Jack Barth concentrates more on what happens to the mind when one views a landscape in his work entitled "Bethesda." "Bethesda," done in 1988, is Barth's interpretation of a walk through New York's Central Park. Bethesda Fountain and other real structures in the park are represented, but their placing is altered and the background is wildly changed and filled with hills from the artist's imagination. By doing this, Barth attempts to represent landscape as memory perceives it. He is depicting, Siersma said, "the mind's ability to change the focus of time," which is the distortion of the landscape with what the mind has seen and what it anticipates seeing as one passes through the park. The sights are also grouped together so that the whole experience is recorded on the one canvas.

It is a fascinating show of landscapes as you have never seen them. Siersma said she hoped it would "give people the option of thinking about landscapes in different ways. Hopefully people will come in here and think about what landscapes mean to them."

"Points of View: Contemporary Landscapes" will be at the University Gallery through December 14th. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

April Gornik's "Light at the Source" is on display in Points of View: Contemporary Landscapes through Dec. 14.

CELERY NIGHT MARES



SHOOT THE MOON
$1.00 OFF
ANY FOOT LONG SANDWICH
We bake our buns fresh and hot. Then we make the biggest, freshest and most delicious foot long sandwiches in town! Save $1.00 on a hot deal at Subway.
The Fresh Alternative
SUBWAY Sandwiches & Salads
Route 9, Hadley
(Across from Carbur's) 584-6695
*With purchase of a 22 oz. soft drink. Not valid with other coupons or offers. At parts spoiling stores only. Offers expire

ROYAL CRANE
ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
THAI, CHINESE, JAPANESE, INDIAN GOODS
Sauces and spices • Fresh noodles • Fresh Fruits and Vegetables • Pastries • Frozen, canned, dried foods frozen and dried fish • Cook Books • Woks, Rice Cookers & Implements Dishes and Giftware. Tea Sets and Sake Sets
Special orders direct from Chinatown
Over 2200 different items in stock
360 College St., Rte 9, Amherst 253-5858 Sun-Fri, 10-8; Sat 9-8

NEED A CREDIT CARD?
Call our toll Free number to receive special college student applications for Mastercard, Visa, Sears, Jordan Marsh, G. Fox and other top cards!
No obligation. No cost to apply. call Cindy Toll Free! (800) 245-6665

THE COLLEGIAN IS EMPTY WITHOUT YOU
WRITE FOR THE COLLEGIAN/113 CAMPUS CENTER ASK FOR SYLVIA

LADYSMITH BLACK MAMBAZO
"South Africa's Grammy Award-winning Vocal Group"
with special guest
Karla Bonoff
Tues. Nov. 22 - 8 pm
FAC Concert Hall
Tickets: $16, 14, 12
Five college students ½-price Box Office 545-2511
THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

U2 film shows all sides of the band

By ARI WEINSTEIN
Collegian Correspondent

U2 is a band wrought with conflict. Between musicianship and pop stardom, passion and letdown, optimism and pessimism, they are simultaneously caught in the middle, and determined to go in both directions.

Rattle and Hum, which opens nationwide today, is the new film documenting U2 as they are. However, in trying to encompass all that, the film falls short of the expectations of both band and director, Phil Joanou. Nevertheless, its exhilarating live concert footage, as well as scenes off-stage and interviews, keep the audience interested throughout.

Rattle and Hum opens in black and white, with a scorching live performance of the Beatles' "Helter Skelter." From there, the scene switches to the recording of new songs, "Van Dieman's Land" and "Desire," in a factory-turned-studio in U2's native Dublin. It works very well, particularly with intermittent clips of the band trying to ignore the cameras, unsuccessfully, while Joanou asks them dull questions.

Much of the documentary, including playing "I Still Haven't Found What I'm Looking For" with a Harlem gospel choir, a visit to Graceland, recording at Sun Studio in Memphis, and working with B.B. King, is humorous and intriguing. Yet, a great deal of spontaneity and straightforwardness is lost, due mainly to the excessive posing and pre-emptive behavior of lead singer Bono.

Each of the other band members, guitarist Dave "the Edge" Evans, drummer Larry Mullen Jr., and bassist Adam Clayton, do a fair amount of mugging about, but with Bono receiving the majority of coverage, it becomes somewhat tedious. In one live sequence, a performance of "Bad," Bono loses the fire of the song's message by removing his shirt, to the delight of the crowd's 14-year-olds.

Mullen, quoted in a recent Life magazine issue, said, "If kids want to jump up and down because they love the way Bono shakes his ass, well, that's just as relevant as the notion that U2 are some kind of saviors." If this is the way U2 see themselves, then the film presents just that.

Politically drenched songs, "Sunday Bloody Sunday," "Bullet the Blue Sky" and "Pride," are terrific live, and get the point across. The film's master stroke is the live performance of "Sunday Bloody Sunday," but there are several other excellent segments. One, "When Love Comes to Town," with B.B. King, is superbly edited, combining live concert footage with rehearsal shots, to show how much work actually goes into U2's performance. It also displays the tremendous admiration felt by U2 towards King, and by Bono in particular.

The black and white parts of Rattle and Hum are superior to the color sequences, which comprise about a quarter of the film's 105 minutes. Perhaps if there were more color, or if the film was entirely shot in black and white, it would be more cohesive. Also, the film loses something by not really showing what it's like to be in an average seat at a U2 concert.

All told, Rattle and Hum, despite breaking no new ground as a concert movie, or for U2 as a band, is entertaining and the music is superiorly presented.

Los Pleneros De La 21 will be featured at the African Heritage Program Sunday Nov. 6 at the FAC Concert Hall. Tickets are $8 for public; $5 for students. For more information call 545-2511.

The Julliard String Quartet will play Bowker Auditorium Saturday at 8 p.m. For more information call 545-2511.

Sundays at The Chequers
NEW ENGLAND COUNTRY BREAKFAST served 9am-1pm
☐ Fresh Baked Blueberry Muffins
☐ Homemade streusel coffee cake
☐ Fresh squeezed juices ☐ Eggs Benedict - The best in the Valley ☐ Griddle cakes
☐ Country style sausage & bacon.
"Just a few of the special items on our new menu."
Serving our full menu 1:00 pm-9 pm
University Drive Amherst ☐ 549-5861

Scott's LIQUORS
6 University Drive at Newmarket Center Amherst, MA
Open: Mon.-Sat. 8 a.m.-11 p.m. 549-2692
Foster's, 28 oz. cans $1.75 + Dep.
Becks, 6-pk. cans $3.99 + Dep.
Captain Morgan, 1.0 ltr. $7.99
Piels Refills, 12 oz. $6.99 + Dep.
Schaefer, 12-pk. $4.39 + Dep.
Stolichnaya 80°, 750 ml. $10.99
Jack Daniels, 750 ml. $9.99
Grolsch, 12 oz. bottles $13.99 + Dep.
We Want to be YOUR Liquor Store

JB's Roast Beef
50 Main St., Amherst
(across from Police Station)
253-7018
HOT ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES
For those who can't stop eating JB's...
Give up—there is no cure! Erik's roommates have tried to cut down his JB's intake to a human amount, but there is no stopping a dedicated JB's eater. Erik will get the glued ball in his mouth out and continue his JB's addiction. Erik is ni the state of panic now, but once he gets that ball unstuck...
GREAT FOOD • GREAT PRICES • OPEN TILL 2 AM
(If this is you, bring this ad in for a free JB's roast beef sandwich)

winner of 60 international awards
Dr. Strangelove
OR HOW I LEARNED TO STOP WORRYING AND LOVE THE BOMB.
DIRECTED BY Stanley Kubrick
"... outrageous, daring, inventive, devilish, macabre and scintillating comedy." —SATURDAY REVIEW
starring Peter Sellers and George C. Scott
MOVIE
Date: Monday Nov. 7th Time: 7, 9 & 11 p.m.
Admission: $2 Location: S.U.B.

AP photo

DUKAKIS VISITS CONNECTICUT — Democratic Presidential Candidate Michael Dukakis shakes hands with students after speaking at Central High School in Bridgeport, Conn. The visit was one of three stops in the state yesterday.

FYI

continued from page 4

will be moving the materials found in the West Reading Room of the library to the basement. Volunteers are needed to help the library staff move books and furniture for the first stage of the library's refurbishing. Volunteers are asked to sign up with the library's staff weekday afternoons from 2 to 5:30 p.m. Hot coffee, cider, and doughnuts will be provided by the library during the move.

Trip

The Hampshire Bird Club is sponsoring a free all-day trip to the Berkshire lakes to search for ducks and whatever else they might find. To register call trip leader Tom Gagnon at 584-6353. The club recommends that participants bring lunches.

CORRECTION

A headline in yesterday's Election '88 guide said 'referendum Questions 1 and 3, deserve our support.' It should have said Questions 1 and 4 deserve our support. The Collegian regrets the error.

BAR HARBOR Clothing Outlet
ONE PRICE $10 STORE
JouJou Cherokee Tangiers Diane Von Furstenberg Devon Calvin Klein Sero Chaus Anne Klein Woolrich Russ Togs
Super Stop & Shop Plaza Route 9, Hadley
Free Belt with this ad
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

WEBS FOR WOOL
Election Day is Nov. 8
VOTE!
While Watching the Returns
KNIT!
Come to Webs
ELECTION WEEK YARN SALE Nov. 4-8
All Yarns 20% to 80% off
All sales final. No layaways. In stock yarns only
YARN MERCHANTS
Webs, The Yarn Shop
18 Kellogg Ave., Amherst
(The gray & blue house in back of the P.O.)
Hours: Mon-Sat., 9:30-5:30; Sundays, 1-5 p.m.

NEWSDEALER & STATIONER
A. J. Hastings INC.
253-2840
OFFICE SUPPLIES
STATIONERY
GREETING CARDS
UNIVERSITY SUPPLIES
45 SOUTH PLEASANT STREET, AMHERST

Can we build one for you?
serving "quality" foot long subs.
If you believe that a sub should be more than just a lot of bread. It's time to visit
THE AMHERST DELICATESSEN
Amherst Carriage Shops - 549-6314
open til 8pm M,TU, & W - till 10 pm TH. F, S
REMINDER - WE DELIVER FREE

★ ★ ★ Amherst College Presents ★ ★ ★
Bill Keith and SUMMIT
Sunday Nov. 6
8 pm in the Amherst College Campus Center
Free with Amherst College ID
$5 Public
Info: 542-5773 or 542-5770
Coming Nov. 13 RUDE GIRLS

Search continues for murder suspect

BUCKLAND (AP) — Buoyed by hope that a house break-in may yield new clues, police continued their search here yesterday for a slaying suspect who has been missing for more than a week.

A small group of officers combed woods near a house that was broken into Tuesday. Police said the burglar stole winter clothes, food, and a knife, but ignored such valuables as money, jewelry, a videocassette recorder and a 12-gauge shotgun.

The house on Bray Road sits four miles from the spot where Mark Branch's car was discovered Oct. 25. Branch, 19, is the chief suspect in the slaying death of Sharon Gregory, 18, whose body was found in the bathtub of her Greenfield home the day before the car was located.

After an intensive manhunt with dogs and helicopters, police gave up the search over the weekend. They resumed it Wednesday with the report of the break-in.

House owner Jeff St. Pierre said he found his front door kicked in when he returned from work Tuesday. Missing were a hunting knife, a can of soup, roast beef, cookies and a winter vest and ski jacket, while a gun left in plain sight was untouched.

St. Pierre said he has since removed the gun from the house "for personal reasons."

Some 50 state and local police searched the woods around the house but called off the hunt at 3 p.m. when dogs failed to turn up a scent. Police said heavy rains Tuesday night may have covered up any scent.

Extended US family prepares for Sakharov's first West trip

NEWTON (AP) — The step-children who kept the fate of Andrei Sakharov known to the world during his years of internal exile in the Soviet Union are scrambling to prepare for the famous dissident's first visit to the West and his first meeting with a granddaughter born here.

Sakharov is expected to arrive in Boston on Sunday for a two-week trip to receive medical treatment and promote the International Foundation for the Survival and Development of Humanity.

The 67-year-old Nobel Laureate is a member of the board of directors of the foundation, formed in January by Soviet and American scientists and educators to foster arms control, environmental protection, international development and human rights.

Sakharov is expected to travel without his wife, Yelena Bonner. He will start the trip by visiting two of her children who live in Boston suburbs.

"We have started to prepare food for him, but we don't know exactly what he'll want," Mrs. Bonner's son-in-law, Efrem Yankelevich, said yesterday. "There's a lot to be done, especially preparing his schedule."

Yankelevich said Sakharov will go to Massachusetts General Hospital for a cardiological examination and possible implantation of a heart pacemaker, a procedure that usually requires a two-day hospital stay.

From Boston, he plans to travel to New York and Washington, but the dates of his visits to those cities are still uncertain, relatives said.

Yankelevich said Sakharov hopes to be in Washington on Nov. 15, when the Soviet physicist is expected to receive the $50,000 Albert Einstein Foundation Peace Prize for 1988.

But the personal highlight of the trip, Yankelevich said, probably will be Sakharov's first meeting with Alexandra Semyonov, the four-year-old daughter of stepson Alexia Semyonov and his wife, Elizaveta Alekseyeva.

Sakharov went on hunger strikes to win permission from Soviet authorities for his wife to come to the United States for medical care and for Miss Alekseyeva to come here to marry Semyonov.

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

ACADEMY OF MUSIC ON THE PARK NORTHAMPTON, MASS.
Western Mass. Premiere Opens On Friday
Curtain at 6:45 and 9:00
"THE ONE INDISPUTABLE MASTERPIECE OF ALL THE FILMS RELEASED SO FAR IN 1988."
—Charles Taylor BOSTON PHOENIX
WINNER CANNES
SALAAM BOMBAY!
Producer and Director MIRA NAIR
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

COME HEAR
Senator Edward M.
Kennedy.
at a rally with other local Democrats
Saturday, November 5, 10:30am
beside the Student Union
Rain site: Campus Center Aud.
Sponsored by the University Democrats
Call 545-0199 for more information.

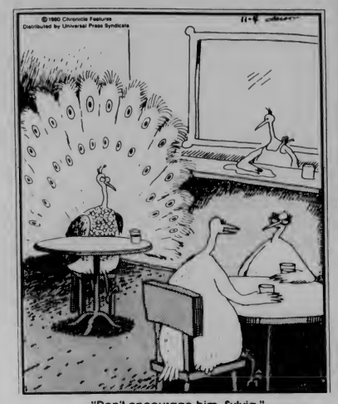
Denim and Leather Sale
40% OFF
All Denim Jeans and Leather Jackets by "New Order"
Denim by:
Z Cavaricci
No! Jeans
New Order
...and More!
Zanna SHOE BIN
north pleasant street amherst 253-2563 daily 10-6 sunday 12-5
Open Friday Nights

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441
ROMANO SAMBUCA.....12.99 750 ml
ARROW BLACKBERY BRANDY.....4.99 750 ml
★ FLAVORED SCHNAPPS (for the pocket)$1.25 ★
Blackberry, Apricot, Coffee, Cola, Mintjulep 200ml.
★ PEACH SCHNAPPS...now only $3.99 750ml. ★
BANDIERA, NAPA RIDGE White Zinfandel
3 bottles for $10.00
BOORDS GIN 80 proof (while they last) $7.99 1.75 liter
SMIRNOFF Vodka 80 proof (compare) $6.99 750 ml.
BACARDI Rum (silver) $6.99 750ml. 12.99 1.75 liter
Bartles & Jaymes (wine coolers)
Labatt's Cans $6.50 12 pk. + dep. ★ $2.99 4 pk.; $17.80 case Dos Equis $15.95 case. ★
★ MOOSEHEAD BEER ★
3.70 6 pk. + dep.; $12.99 cse. + dep.
FOSTER'S LAGER
$3.99 6 pk. + dep.; $1.60 + 25 oz. can
The LOWEST Prices in or about Amherst.
WE OFFER OFF CAMPUS DELIVERY...253-5441
Proper I.D. Required, always...
Please...Dog't Drink and Drive!
★ SUPER BUYS ★ SUPER BUYS

Quality Copies For All
kinko's
the copy center
253-2543

INDIA TEA & SPICE CO.
INDIAN & PAKISTANI GROCERIES
Enjoy New Homemade Curry Dinners Tonight
Tandoori Chicken $3.50
Carrot Hulva $2.95
Aloo Matar Curry $3.00
Mixed Vegetable Pulao $2.95
Pakoris $1.75
Chicken Biryani $3.70
Aloo Bondas $1.50
Ready to heat and serve at home
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
9 a.m. - 6 p.m.
479 West Street, Rte. 116
South Amherst
Across the street from the Dairy Mart
Tel.: 253-2432

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

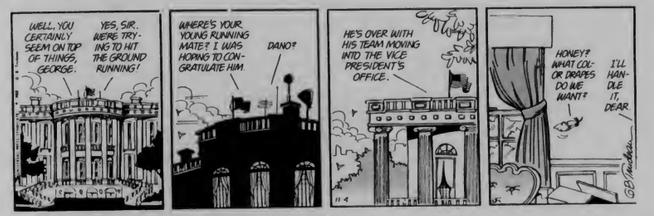


"Don't encourage him, Sylvia."

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

NO MORE CRISES, PARDNER... HEAR? ANY MORE CRISES AND I'LL HIT THE CEILING!!
YOO HOO!
BILL'S LEADER OF THE FREE WORLD
GOOD NEWS! BILL'S ENGAGED TO ROBIN GIVENS! HER MOTHER'S MOVING IN AT NOON!
POP
THAT'S JUST A LITTLE... JOKE.

Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau



WELL, YOU CERTAINLY SEEM ON TOP OF THINGS, GEORGE.
YES, SIR. WE'RE TRYING TO HIT THE GROUND RUNNING!
WHERE'S YOUR YOUNG RUNNING MATE? I WAS HOPING TO CONGRATULATE HIM.
DANO?
HE'S OVER WITH HIS TEAM MOVING INTO THE VICE PRESIDENT'S OFFICE.
HONEY? WHAT COLOR DRAPES DO WE WANT?
I'LL HANDLE IT, DEAR.

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

MOM SAID I CAN'T GO OUTSIDE UNTIL I FINISH MY HOMEWORK. IF YOU'LL HELP ME, I'LL BE DONE FASTER. WHAT'S FIVE PLUS SEVEN?
I DON'T KNOW.
I DON'T EITHER.
THEN WRITE, "I DON'T KNOW."
HEY, THAT'S A TRUE ANSWER, ISN'T IT? I CAN WRITE THAT FOR ALL OF THESE! WE'RE DONE!
WE'D BETTER HAVE A LOOK AT OUR PRODIGY'S HOMEWORK.

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

THE LAST WORD FROM THE VICE PRESIDENT...
I'D LIKE TO GIVE YOU ALL SOME ADVICE ON HOW TO COPE WITH THE UPCOMING ADMINISTRATION.
ONE: DO NOT RUN OUT OF MONEY
TWO: DO NOT BECOME ILL.
THREE: DO NOT TAKE RISKS.

> "It's like covering baseball. You can cover it one way or you can cover it another way — but if it's a lousy game, it's a lousy game. And this is a lousy game."
>
> —UMass Journalism Professor Howard Ziff, commenting on coverage of the 1988 presidential election.

Daily Crossword Puzzle
Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

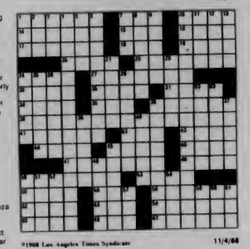
ACROSS
1 Hold
7 Persian —
10 Celtic group
14 Sham
15 Corn or form beginning
16 Be-gan —
17 Tantalizer
18 City in-sects
19 Novelist Turgenev
20 Marbles
22 Come forth
24 Wrangle
27 Incident
29 Mackerel family food fish
30 Ordnance items
31 Thin Man' series dog
34 Soviet sea
35 Fed. collector
36 — Leone, Africa
38 Durango dog
41 Vichy premier 1940-44
42 Uncommon
43 Rara — Unusual thing
44 "Dinah," for one
45 Cheese from France
46 Zero amount
47 Statehouse
49 Allowance for waste, formerly
50 Left hastily
53 Your majesty!
55 Operatic role
56 Ill. time
58 Standard
62 Irish —
63 "— Town" Wilder play
64 One of the Kennedys
65 French — 66 Emulate Mata Hari
67 Six line stanza

DOWN
1 Derailed acct.
2 Siam follower
3 Subject of Colonial tax
4 Swimming stroke
5 Brainstorm
6 — elkhound
7 Be sorry for
8 Except
9 Thingamajig
10 Decorative lamps
11 Volcano's output
12 Smell —
13 Hawaii's state bird
21 Despise
23 Legendary Robin
24 Letter adjunct
25 Soupy mixtures
26 Have — grind
28 Briefly
32 Actor Howard
33 Deadly gas
36 Spectators' area
37 Useful quality
39 George Burns prop
40 Farewell
45 Raises auction price
48 River to the Rio Grande
50 Obx. for one
51 Flier
52 — fixe
54 Libertine
57 Endeavor
59 Neighbor of Harvard U.
60 Expert
61 Book or brook ending

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

V	E	R	A			R	A	Y	S		G	L	A	D
A	C	E	S		D	E	R	E	T		R	E	N	E
T	H	E	I	S		A	R	U	S	A	G	E	N	D	A
			O
B	A	G	G	I	D		H	O	R	A		A	B	E
E	R	U		G	I	R	L					W	O	A
T	H	E	S	H	E	L	L	S	E	E	K	E	R	S
T	E	A		A	L	A			S		A	N	N	E
S	T
A	S	S	A	I		A	C	E	R	D	A	T	E
T	A	L	K	S		O	G	S		A	I	G	H	T
A	R	O	U			O	A	T	E	N		K	E	E	N
N	E	E	R			G	R	I	D			E	D	N	A

11/4/88



©1988 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 11/4/88

Menu

Chicken Cutlet Sandwich Bacon, Lettuce, Tomato Sandwich
Cheese, Lettuce, Tomato Sandwich
Bulgar and Bean salad
Spaghetti and Meatballs Baked Haddock
Baked Haddock Hi-Protein Spaghetti and Tofu balls

Weather

Fri. partly cloudy, mild day, high near 60

Sat. cloudy, 50 percent chance of showers, high near 60

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....David R. Mark
Copy Editor.....Tom Rodrigues
Layout Technician.....Lisa M. Dionne
Photo Technician.....Richard Bonanno
Production Supervisor.....Lisa M. Dionne
Production.Ferris, Freya, Mike, Miriam, Peter, Janine, and Freya is going no-Ware with Peter.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscribtions Manager

REGION

Dukakis pledges money to fight drugs in schools

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Democrat Michael Dukakis promised yesterday to spend $400 million a year to banish illegal drugs from American schools by the 1990s, and accused Republican rival George Bush of befriending drug kingpins.

"The difference between Mr. Bush and me is this," Dukakis told several thousand people at a rally outside Philadelphia City hall. "His administration has cut deals with foreign drug-runners. I'm going to cut (foreign) aid."

The Dukakis campaign also began showing a new television commercial targeting Bush running mate Dan Quayle, featuring a scene from his televised debate with Democrat Lloyd Bentsen and asking viewers, "President Quayle?"

Dukakis' emphasis on combating drug trafficking is intended to exploit what opinion surveys indicate is a major concern among voters, and help him snare undecided voters and wavering Bush supporters in the final days before next Tuesday's election.

The Democratic presidential nominee's advisers also decided to intensify the attack on Quayle, who most poll suggest is a liability to the Republican ticket.

Dukakis, celebrating his 55th birthday yesterday, offered some rueful advice to a fifth grade pupil at a town meeting outside Philadelphia who will play Dukakis' part in a mock campaign debate at his school Friday.

"Smile frequently and speak slowly," Dukakis told the boy. "Respond to the attacks immediately. Don't let them get away with anything, and don't let them put any commercials up there."

Later, at the downtown rally, Dukakis' voice was hoarse and his rhetoric lacked the punch he had displayed in recent days.

"We're coming on strong," he declared. He then flayed the vice president for his role as head of President Reagan's anti-drug campaign, and spurred the crowd into chanting the Democrats' familiar rallying cry of "Where was George?"

"He's been in charge of the war for eight years and we all know what happened," Dukakis said, claiming that cocaine imports had tripled since Reagan and Bush took office.

"Where's he been for the past eight years? What's he been doing?" the Massachusetts governor demanded.

Dukakis repeated his promise Wednesday to halt foreign aid to any country that refuses to cooperate with the US war on drugs, and criticized Bush for saying Tuesday that he would not necessarily order an aid cutoff against recalcitrant governments.

Dukakis' drug program, which he called the President's Alliance Against Drugs, closely mirrors a successful Massachusetts program hailed by Reagan's Drug Enforcement Administration as a national model.

Dukakis said its goal would be drug-free schools in the next decade.

AP photo

POWERFUL FRIENDS — Vice President George Bush reacts to applause after being introduced by Arnold Schwarzenegger at a rally yesterday in downtown Columbus, Ohio.

Science's gray areas should be of our concern

By BRUCE SCHWOEGLER
Associated Press

BOSTON — When it comes to the Greenhouse Effect or other global concerns like the ozone layer, many of us might trade places with the smiling, freckle-faced kid on the cover of Mad magazine.

"What, me worry?"

Our scientific literacy doesn't help either. A majority of us can't locate Europe on a map and many university graduates don't know why it is hotter in summer.

It may surprise you to learn that scientists, who are supposed to have all the answers in our technological age, are only a step above when it comes to knowledge of our global environment. There is much to learn.

COMMENTARY

Nobody can profess to understanding how earth and its atmosphere interact. Accurate weather measurements are just over a century old. How can we project the future when we toter on a loosely-woven past?

Sketchy details gleaned from ice cores, pollens, fossils and changes in chemical or atomic structures help. More often, scientists study mathematical simulations of the earth and its atmosphere. They plug various scenarios of temperatures and chemical mixtures into complex equations. Giant computers solve them, and the answers pour out.

They are not cast-in-stone futures. Too many variables are stirred into the brew for it to harden. For instance, we know that increasing atmospheric carbon dioxide should cause planetary warming. We are certain more fossil fuels are being burned and producing more carbon dioxide.

Fall '88

We have a great selection of short boots. Come See!!!

Zanna SHOE BIN

Open Friday nights
north pleasant street amherst 253-2563 daily 10-6 sunday 12-5

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘

ADVOCATE BEST OF THE VALLEY READERS POLL 1988
SECOND PLACE

BEST NEW RESTAURANT

Thanks to the Advocate Readers for voting for us in the Best of the Valley Poll. Even though we were only open for one month when the poll was taken, we are pleased we made such a great impression in such a short time span.

FULL LIQUOR LICENSE
261 King St., Northampton•585-0202•Ample Parking
Open 7 days a week•NO MSG
TAKE OUT SERVICE AVAILABLE

SHEEHAN'S CAFE NORTHAMPTON

Friday, November 4
Half Japanese with special guest Skid Row
Saturday, November 5
Jim K and Company
Blue Monday, November 7
Stewart James Band
Coming, November 11
Will "Smokey" Logg from Texas and the Flame Throwers
For More Info., 585-5149
34 PLEASANT ST. NORTHAMPTON

Need a change of pace?
The Spoke is the Place

Beer of the Month
Moosehead $1.50

Drink of the Week
Melon Ball $1.50

The Spoke
35 EAST PLEASANT ST., AMHERST

UMASS NIGHT
TONIGHT at CHANGES
DJ's
Manny Barros
&
David Babner
75¢ Drafts
Another Spectacular
B&B Production

■ field hockey favorite in tournament

continued from page 20

earlier in the year, 4-0.

"We have to play better defense," Rutger coach Ann Petracco said. "We have to take advantage of our scoring opportunities. We didn't do that last time."

Penn State: The winners of the West Division of the A-10 with a 2-0 record, its only A-10 loss has come at the hands of the Minutewomen, 3-0 loss back on Oct. 23. They are the No. 2 seed.

Seniors Lisa Bervinchak and Tammi Worley are the Lady Lions' most dangerous offensive threats. Bervinchak has scored 10 goals and dished out three assists and Worley, nine goals and two assists.

Penn State will start a freshman in net. Michelle Brennan has appeared in 17 games and has given up just 15 goals.

"I think the nice thing about this tournament is that it has four top twenty teams in it," Penn State coach Charlene Morett said. "It is going to be one of the most competitive conference tournaments in the country."

Temple: The Owls are 1-1 in the A-10 but have been struggling during the last half of the season. Temple has not won in its last 12 games. UMass beat Temple 4-1. Penn State, who the Owls play in the first round, beat Temple, 3-1, earlier in the year. The Owls are the No. 3 team.

Offensively, the Owls are led by Mid Atlantic All-American Jane Catanzaro who has scored 12 goals and has passed off four assists. Sophomore goalie Jill Marple, who has given up 37 goals in 18 games will get the call in net for Temple.

"Against Penn State, we're going to have to play our best game of the season.," Temple coach Guen Cheesman Alexander said. "We're going to have to put it all together."

■ volleyball

continued from page 20

The true test for UMass, however, is Hofstra. The Flying Duchesses are 29-5 with their only losses coming from powerhouse teams like Cal-state Fullerton, Auburn, and Drexel.

"They're going to try and intimidate us, possibly in warm-ups. A young team may fall to that but with us, it will be skill against skill," Ford said.

Hofstra is the second ranked team in the East Coast Conference, behind Drexel who is undefeated in the ECC. The Duchesses also have the number one hitter in the conference, Jeanie Asper.

Ford said the team has worked on blocking and taking away the quick kill against Hofstra.

"I still think if we play our game, we'll be successful," she said.

UMass will finish up the tourney with George Mason. GMU is battling to stay over .500 with its 15-14 record, but still the Minutewomen are taking the match seriously.

"They usually have a competitive program," Ford said.

The Minutewomen ironed out a final wrinkle for this weekend's match. Junior setter Karen Ferguson didn't play against UConn, but Ford said Ferguson will play this weekend.

"Without question," she's playing, Ford said.

■ football to take on Richmond

continued from page 20

But beyond the lesson it represented, Reid doesn't feel last year's game will mean a lot come tomorrow.

"I think the revenge factor can actually hamper you sometimes," Reid said. "Players on this team are able to motivate themselves to perform excellently. To add revenge to that might give the team extra charge.

"Last week against Northeastern [a 21-6 UMass win], everything pointed to an upset. They were underrated and we were coming off a tough loss [to Delaware]. But this team forced themselves not to allow that. Another thing we've learned is that every win is a sweet one."

UMass, 3-2 in the conference, has had five sweet ones so far. But despite the success, the Minutemen haven't had a game yet where the offense and defense both stood out on the same day.

"The first three games, what our defense did was dangerous, but the offense carried the ball," Reid said. "In the last three games, the offense has struggled but the defense has done enough for us to win. If this club could put together the offense we played in the first three games and the defense we played in the last three games, there isn't a team in the nation that could beat us."

The offense is led by senior quarterback Dave Palazzi, who has thrown for 1,572 yards, 9 touchdowns and 16 interceptions, and the running of tailback Kevin Smellie, who has rushed for 535 yards and 5 touchdowns.

UMass received a boost last week with the return of No. 2 fullback Jim Pastorick. And David Mitchell, the starting fullback before missing four games with an ankle injury, will be ready for action Saturday, according to Reid.

"We've been lining up a tailback at fullback but in some instances it helps," Reid said. "Steve Olson broke away for a 51-yard TD run against Rhode Island, and I don't think we have any fullbacks who could have run that distance without being caught." Richmond's offense revolves around its tailback but the star, Erwin Matthews suffered a possibly career-ending knee injury last week and won't play. Backup Eric Hopkins averages more than four yards a carry.

But Hopkins will be running into a miserly UMass defense that has allowed just 16 points in its past two games.

"If they gain confidence in their first few series', they'll try to control the ball against us, so we'll have to guard against that," Reid said.

UMass will also have to guard against what happened last year, but Reid feels they'll be able to.

"This team has tried to divorce itself from any other team, because they have their own identity," Reid said. "With this team, I can hardly wait to get to Saturday afternoon."

Extra Points: Bill Buttler, Mike Tobin, John McKeown and Drew Comeau will be game captains. "Bill Buttler has responded beautifully to the challenge of leadership," Reid said.

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO
AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS
ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT
FOR SALE • FOUND
HELP WANTED • LOST

INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES
PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED
RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES
ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL
WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30)•• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

FASHION ACCESSORIES SALE Nov 3,4,5 on Campus Center Concourse. Beautiful scrunchies, leather clips, earrings all at great prices and several designs and patterns!

LUCKY IN LOVE? We'll see... call 545-2878 tonight 8:30 and play WMUA's dating game! Tune it in on 91.1fm.

WHAT DOES DR. RUTH DO when she needs help? She sees Dr. Stragelove. SUB Monday night.

UMASS JUGGLING CLUB: One of the top clubs in the country-join us! Today, 3-6 in CC 163. Be there.

SYLVAN AREA SEMI-FORMAL tonight in the Bluewall dress up and come dance you don't need a date. $3 per person.

NSA FRIDAY NIGHT VIDEO Never Cry Wolf 7:00pm Front Lounge of Newman Center Free

DO YOU WANT TO SEE SOMETHING BIG
The Undergraduate Business Club will show you. Sunday, Nov. 6
Show at 2,4,7,9,11pm
Student Union Ballroom $2 Admission

ARMENIAN CLUB MEETING on Tuesday Nov 1 at 7:00 Check at information desk for meeting location.

BIKE FOR BREATH Oct 22. Sign up on concourse Oct. 18, 20, for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. Anyone can do it!

EARN $40-$60/DAY working to reduce toxics in Massachusetts with Masspirg and keep our water safe! Call Chris at 256-6434.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO take part in dissection if its against you ethics. Animal rights coalition meets Thurs 4pm SU306.

ATTENTION CAMEL CREW

IT IS HERE! THE FIRST ANNUAL Camel Bash is this weekend. Come wearing your best, pressed camel T-shirt. Don't miss out on the greatest Camel Bash yet. Be there or be an unsociable Camel.

AUTO FOR SALE

80 SAAB 900 TURBO - 5 speed, FM, tape, AC. Needs transmission work, excellent condition otherwise. $2,850 Call 774-7300

1976 FORD GRANADA low miles needs battery $275. 549-3591 A steal

78 DODGE COLT 4 sp new radials radial snows new suspension runs great extras $300 Rich 256-0613, 549-9903

FORD EXCORT WAGON 1983 ex condition A/C roof rack 50,000 miles 256-0933

81 HONDA ACCORD HATCH Silver, 89000 mi $1800 Call Teresa 549-0793

82 TOYOTA TERCEL Perfect condition 5 Speed $1100/BO Call 549-1607

1978 NEW STICKER runs good $800 BO Call 549-7546

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 spd Dark grey new tires, rims runs very well $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184

1970 MUSTANG COUPE Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires. $2,500 Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE - Over 700 CD's Great Sound! All occassions 549-1421.

THE COLLEGIAN IS GOING TO provide a drop spot for students interested in making David's dream come true. David is a boy sick with Leukemia and wants to get in the Guiness Book for the largest postcard collection. So let's help him out! Drop your stamped postcards at the Collegian - 113 CC.

DURACELL DAVE

RABBIT RABBIT, you sexy redhead I love you! Love, Vixen

ENTERTAINMENT

KLUBKAVE D.J. SERVICES - Professional music system at unbeatable prices - 546-6518

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Disc jockeys and large screen video dances. Dorms/organizations 256-8526.

FOR RENT

2 BDRM APT on Main St take over Sept lease Grad students or professional people please. Call 256-8040

APT MATE WANTED in Rolling Greens own bedroom $177 mth inclusive Avail 1/1 253-7730

FOR SALE

BRAND NEW HP-12C Business calc. only $50, list in $0. Call 253-2908 ask for Lisa.

78 TOYOTA COROLLA engine in excellent condition. Good body must sell $650 or BO Call Pierre 545-2569

HONDA 750 CUSTOM 81, excellent condition, full face helmet and rain cover included. $850.00 or BO Must sell Leave message 256-0995, Steve

PIONEER KPX9000 car stereo cassette supertuner w/amp 534-5162 avaning 737-1715 days

A BRAND NEW Smith Corona electric typewriter asking $80 call 546-8411 Leave message

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket Call David 1-566-8212

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin. We deliver

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

MICHELLIE- HAPPY 21st!! You're so lucky. Maybe I'll see you uptown one night when you come back for Alumni weekend! I love ya. Have the best birthday! Love, Jenny

HELP WANTED

$$NEED XTRA CASH? PT/FT & intersession retail sales & cashier positions available downtown Northampton Nov 15-Jan 15 - 586-5624 Kathy

BAE COMPUTER NEEDS responsible student to represent our computer incentive bonus plan. Interested persons please send resume to 3563 Ryder Street Santa Clara, CA 95051

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information. 504-641-8003 ext. 598

NOTETAKER NEEDED FOR HRTA 100 with Fletcher, earn $7.80 per lecture, apply student note and printing service student union 403.

CHILDCARE: Come to Conway and play with sweet lively 9 mo old. Weekday afternoons, flex hours exp-required (1)369-4414.

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring. excellent benefits Call 1-312-741-8400 ext. J-9931A

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring. excellent benefits Call 1-312-741-8400 Ext. J-9931A

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information. 504-641-8003 Ext 598.

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865.

HEY H-CAP

SQUEAKY- HAPPY 19th! Let's go for the party weekend! Triple load/OK! The best roommate I could have ever asked for! I love ya! Spunky.

HEY SPIKE,

I THINK YOU'RE very cool From the Little Prom Queen

LAST CHANCE
LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

NOVEMBER 7th IS THE last day to contact the Legal Services Center about a Spring 1989 internships! Get hands-on experience in the legal field. Work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in legal profession required--Training provided. Contact LSC today--545-1995, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

LOST TAN LEATHER BAG at 10/31 Junenile Deliquency class in Hills267 If found, please call 253-2308

LOST GREY BACKPACK Maui picture, sail call 546-9150 Paul Reward

GREEN BACKPACK IN video game area of Student Union Reward! Call Hayden at 256-0719 or 545-0528.

CASH REWARD $$$$- Wallet lost Sat Oct 29 Student no 890-5319 Call 8-9707 Bill

SET OF KEYS ON brown leather Crysler chain Cash reward! Call 259-1594

MORTAR BOARD

ANYONE WHO IS GOING on the retreat this weekend call Holly - 546-5192.

MOTORCYCLES

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD Helmet, cover shield $850 Joe 549-7423 Evenings

PERSONALS

HAPPY BIRTHDAY HEATHER DOWNEY! Your sisters love you and wish you a great day!

HEATHER DOWNEY - Happy birthday Heifa!! Only two more years til you're legal!! Just wait until Saturday! I love you- A friend forever, Lara-LD

TRACY LEVY: DON'T FORGET about our plans for brunch the Sunday. Season's is the place, 12:30 is the time. We will actually spend a substantial amount of time together. I think the last time we did that was Freshman year!

MUA GLEN: Say hi sometime!! Red

LARA: TO THE BEST roomie I ever had. Happy 19th! Love Eunmi.

HAPPY 18th BIRTHDAY B-MAN! From Liz, Lisa, Sarah, Tracy, Kelly, Di, Tank, the Shark, Wez, Adam, and, of course, the Koz. Gosh that pond looks scummy! (Heh heh!) Stay dry, dude, we love ya!

ANNMARIE HAPPY BIRTHDAY!!! Bonding anyone?? Luv Sue & Washington 8.

CHRIS CAVANAUGH - You lightweight! Happy birthday! Love your Strohs connection & the other lightweight.

CONGRATULATIONS PAULA SCANLON AND Dab Plunkett for joining our sisterhood. We love you! Love, the Sisters of Sigma Kappa.

TO THE BROTHERS OF ADP, awesome softball season hun?? We had a great time, thanks! Love, Sigma Kappa

KIERNAN B., so do you think that we're ever going to meet, or what? Christine

HEY CENTRAL AREA! It's time to kick off your shoes and celebrate because it's a Tina Snibina Maria Dwyer's B-day. Wa love you Tri! Luv Jenn & Shirly

JUDE GET SET FOR an awesome weekend! Let's make it unforgettable! -Keith

HAPPY B-DAY TARA hope your 19th year is the best! Love ya Max.

LYNN, YOU FINALLY got a personal! Don't miss me too much this weekend! Are you PSYCHED? Love ya, Suffie ANNMARIE HAYES have a happy happy birthday babe. I hope all your wishes come true. Love David.

TO THE ANYTHING BUT BORING brunette in 44A Happy 21 Chris Love the blonde and the redhead.

 ATTENTION SAMMY PLEDGES ***
* The ones who are in, thought it was *
* them, but soon you will know, it was *
* the 15 men. The BALL is still rolling *
* uphill ! *
* ADOLPH FABIS *

FRANK Happy 2nd anniversary! I love you. Always, Jessica

BLOW DUKEY! Remember feasts, the dry spell and the Johnda

TO THE SISTERS AND PLEDGES of Tri Sigma: Get psyched for an amazing time tomorrow night!

TO MY SHIPMATE, KAREN MITCHELL: Get psyched for an awesome time tomorrow! I love you! Penny

HOBBES, I WANT YOU TO know that I really love you. Hartford tonight? Calvin.

TOM G. HAPPY 23rd to my sweetie! I love you more than ice cream. Hugs and kisses from your GD SNF.

CAMPUS CAKES
We will deliver
A cake and a bundle of balloons
for only $19.95

256-8745

PAT AND JEFF! AIYAA!! Good luck at UNH at your Karate competition- we will be watching! Sayonara! Kace and Co.

MUDD! I STILL HAVE toothpaste on my pillow! Did you go to bed with a wet head?! Ha! Teresa, we're sorry for waking you- these 3am mornings have to stop! Chow mein! Kace

ZETA PSI PLEDGES here's to the best pledge class ever! Let's rock Montreal

STEPHANIE MONIZ: Cheer up . Get psyched for a wild time on Saturday! I'm always here for you! Love, your little sister

HERB (THE VERB) think you owe me a backrub from all those dips Ouch. GILMER

HAPPY 18th JIMBO! Now you can go clubbing with me next summer! Love ya, Jen.

HEY P.A., your spot misses you deeply! Signed confused???

EARN $60-$120/SHIFT! Drivers wanted Must own an insured car and be able to work at least one weekend night until closing. Call Domino's Pizza 256-8913.

1989 COLLEGE SKI WEEKS* Destinations: Lake Tahoe-heavanly Vermont-Sugarbush, Smugglers Notch, Killington. Ski all day/party all night. For lowest prices call 546-6612 or 546-5242

RESUME SERVICE

EFFECTIVE RESUMES Seven years experience. Bill 584-7316

RIDE WANTED

TWO PEOPLE NEED RIDE to Syracuse or surrounding area weekend of Nov 11-Nov 13 Please call Cathleen and Iasva message at 546-7785.

ROOMATE WANTED

ONE ROOMMATE NEEDED to take lease for spring semester for townehouse apartmant in Southwood Call Suzanna 256-0986.

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550

SERVICES

DIRT CHEAP RESUMES. Very experienced. Laserwriter quality. Pick-up/drop off. Overnight service Lisa 367-9940.

ACCURATE TYPING. Pickup and delivery 15¢ pp. Basic editing. Gloria 323-5140

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor. Call Carolyn-leave message 253-5667.

ST. JUDE

MOST HOLY APOSTLE, St. Jude, Faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the church honors and invokes you, universally, as the patron of hopeless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me. I am so helpless and alone. Make use I implore you, of that particular priviledge given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings, and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise oh blessed St. Jude to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you. AMEN.

SWING DANCE

JITTERBUG LESSONS Start this sunday at East Street Dance Studio in Hadley, on East Street just off Rt. 9. 4 classes will be held beginning Swing, Nov. 6, beginning Swing II, Nov. 13, Intermediate Swing, Sunday, Nov. 20. Tips dips and new moves, Sunday Dec 4. All workshops run from 3-5pm, classes are $7 each or $25 for all four. No partner necessary, (right feet not required).

SERVICES

TYPING BY KEVIN 24 hour service delivery too 549-0116 Students preffered

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS, reliable on-campus, affordable, spelling/grammar reviewed 584-7924 Nancy.

WANTED

WANT TO BUY JIMMY CLIFF TICKETS for tonight!! Please call Amy or Julie 256-1118

CHRISTIAN AVOCATIONAL bass player looking for similar musicians 256-8649, Carol.

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hurns) notes will pay money$$. Shirley 549-2710.

WORK IN BRITIAN/IRELAND LEGALLY FOR UP TO 6 MONTHS

THE BUNAC/USIT FALL ROADSHOW will be visiting UMass on Thursday, 3, November. Information available between 10am and 3pm in the Campus Center concourse followed by a presentation between 8:30 and 8:30pm in room 168, Campus Center. Everyone welcome.

SPORTS

Field hockey favored at A-10 Tourney

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

Sometimes, a team just will not be satisfied unless it wins a championship.

That's the way the University of Massachusetts field hockey team will feel this weekend when they venture down to Philadelphia, Penn. for the Atlantic 10 Championships at Temple University.

The Minutewomen are expected to win. They will be the favorites, and deservedly so, in a four-team field that includes Rutgers University, Penn State, and Temple University.

The Minutewomen have been nothing less than a dominating force in the Atlantic 10. UMass, being the only undefeated team in the A-10 at 4-0, have outscored their opponents 15-1. The smallest margin of victory has been three goals.

One might think that the Minutewomen are just one good team in a very weak conference. But nothing could be further from the truth. In this, its first year, the A-10 field hockey conference has proved to be one of the toughest in the nation.

All four teams that will compete in this weekend's tournament are ranked in the Top 20 teams of the country by the NCAA.

The Minutewomen, 15-2-1, who will come in at No. 4, will play Rutgers University, 11-7-1, which is tied for 17th in the country with Cal-State Chico, on tomorrow at 11 a.m.

At 1 p.m. Penn State, 13-4-1, which is ranked No. 10 will play Temple University, 5-8-3, who is the No. 14 team in the country. The two winners will play at 1 p.m. on Sunday for the first Atlantic 10 Championship.

The A-10 has put the pressure on the Minutewomen by making them the No. 1 seed based on their performance during the past regular season.

But what the A-10 has not taken into account is that the Minutewomen have been beaten up physically in the past few weeks. All of UMass' players will make the trip and play, but a few key players will be bringing with them nagging injuries.

Senior forward Tonia Kennedy, who is UMass' second leading scorer (12 goals and one assist), has not played in two weeks because of a hamstring pull that she suffered in a 3-1 overtime win over Boston University.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

Offensive threats Kathy DeAngelis (13) and Ruth Vasapolli (8) have helped make UMass the favorite in this weekend's Atlantic 10 Tournament.

"Tonia is back running," UMass coach Pam Hixon said. "She is ready to go this weekend. How much time she gets really depends on how the game goes."

The Minutewomen's leading scorer, junior Kathy DeAngelis (11, 3), is sporting a black eye from a blow to the face that she received in UMass' 3-2 loss to the University of Connecticut last Saturday, but she will be in her usual forward spot tomorrow.

But what could be even more serious is senior goaltender Cindy Cox's injury. Cox has been superb (0.50 goals against average) since winning the starting goalie spot but in warmups before the UConn game, she was hit in the ankle with a ball.

"Cindy has a bruise on her ankle and its very sore," Hixon said. " She didn't practice (Tuesday) but she will play." Besides just the bragging rights of being the A-10 Champions, winning this tournament could bring other, perhaps more important, rewards to the Minutewomen.

"We certainly want to have some confidence going into post-season play (NCAA Tournament)," Hixon said. "And I think if we maintain our position in the top four or five (in the NCAA rankings), we stand a good chance of hosting a playoff game."

And if the Minutewomen stay in the top four teams in the country, it would also give them a good chance of gaining a bye in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, making their drive for a second straight Final Four appearance that much easier.

"We're going to have to play well and we're going to have to play consistently back to back," Hixon said. "I always think its difficult to play a team you've already played."

With that in mind here is brief look at the three teams that could spoil UMass' chances of hosting a NCAA playoff game and of gaining a bye in the first round.

Rutgers: The No. 4 seed, the Scarlet Knights beat Temple on Wednesday and have won three of their last four. Rutgers is 0-2 in the A-10. They are led by senior forwards Lisa Wright (5, 4) and Kris Tate (4, 4). Sophomore Kelly Richards has scored seven goals for Rutgers this year.

Another sophomore, Doreen Walsh tends the goals for the Scarlet Knights. She has allowed 14 goals in 13 games and has registered 102 saves. UMass beat Rutgers

continued on page 19

Football out to get Richmond

By MATT GERKE
Collegian Staff

The Richmond University football team, defending Yankee Conference champion and a preseason favorite to win it again this year, has struggled so far this season while going 3-5 overall and 2-5 in the conference.

Sounds strangely like last year's University of Massachusetts team, which won a share of the conference title in 1986, then muddled through a 3-8 season last year.

"I don't know what's wrong with Richmond this year," UMass head coach Jim Reid said. "And I didn't know what was wrong with us last year."

But the Minutemen's rebound this year and 5-3 start have proven that anything can happen, and underscored the fact that UMass can't take Richmond lightly when the teams meet at 1 p.m. tomorrow in Richmond Va.

"They have a potential big-play offense and they have an excellent rushing defense," Reid said.

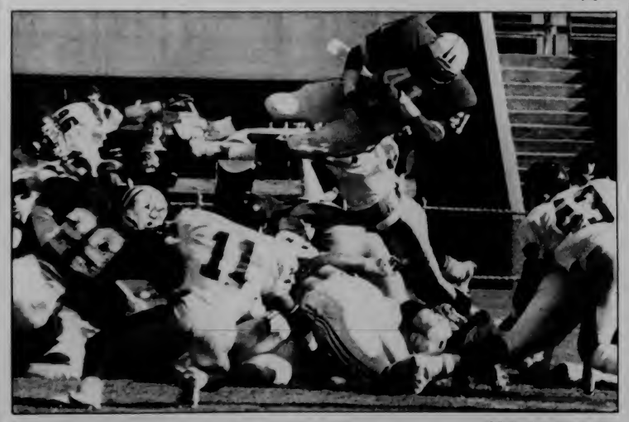
What the Spiders also have, at least until tomorrow, is the upper hand.

Richmond came out on top in what was one of UMass' most memorable games last year, stealing a four-overtime, 52-51 victory when UMass kicker Silvio Bonvini missed an extra point in overtime.

"That was a devastating loss," Reid said. "It put us at 0-2 and, from what I heard last year, it was the point when several members of our team decided that was it and packed it in.

"I think it was a lesson to the younger players that they weren't going to be like last year's older guys.

continued on page 19



Collegian photo by Andrew Rist

Kevin Smellie (41) and the UMass football will dive headlong into a Yankee Conference game with Richmond tomorrow.

Volleyball to take part in Hofstra tourney

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts volleyball team is going to Long Island NY to do what most people do on The Island— shop. The Minutewomen unlike the others, however, will be shopping for three victories in this weekend's Hofstra Tournament.

"We're going for everything. I want to win this tournament," UMass coach Carol Ford said.

UMass will play the University of Pennsylvania tonight (7:30), Hofstra tomorrow (1 p.m.) and then George Mason University tomorrow night (5 p.m.).

"It's the beginning of the end of the season. I want to see everything starting to coming together— offense, defense, and passing," Ford said. "All three teams we'll see this weekend will be strong."

The Minutewomen are in the midst of an exasperating end-of-season road trip which puts them on the road for the final 24 days of the season.

Tonight's match will feature UMass against a team that is tied for first in the Ivy League with a 6-1 Ivy record. UPenn, who is led by Melissa Engles (26 kills in the last eight games), has beaten teams such as: Providence College, La Salle, and Temple Universities.

UMass lost to Temple in its only meeting with the Owls in October.

Ford said she expected Hofstra to use a strategy similar to Temple, but she may also have to use it against UPenn.

"We're ready [more than we were for Temple]. We lost to Temple because of the middle. I said we were going to use that match as fuel, and we have," she said.

continued on page 19

Gymnastics coach named

Alfie Mitchell, formerly an assistant coach at Ball State University, has been named head women's gymnastics coach at the University of Massachusetts.

A 1987 graduate of Indiana State, Mitchell has been involved with the National Gymnastic Institute in Dallas, the International Gymnastic Training Camp in East Stroudsburg, Penn., and was the head coach at Terre Haute North High School in Indiana.

At Indiana State, he was a four-year member of the men's gymnastics team and in 1985 was an NCAA qualifier in floor exercise.

Mitchell replaces Chuck Shiebler, who left after last season to become an assistant coach at Michigan State.

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 43

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1988

INSIDE

• Jimmy Cliff plays UMass. Page 11.

Police investigate fraternity for hazing

Grand jury indictment possible today

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

The Amherst police department is investigating alleged hazing activities at the Alpha Tau Gamma [ATG] fraternity at the University of Massachusetts.

A University official said yesterday a Grand Jury indictment may come today. The official, who wished to remain anonymous because of the sensitivity of the issue, said the alleged activities may have included sexual acts and nobody at the fraternity has denied the allegations.

Fraternity members could not be reached for comment throughout the weekend.

Gladys Rodriguez, acting dean of students, said complaints were brought to her office about a week ago.

"We were given the impression that some things were going on," she said. "Allegations were made by different students and parents."

The office "looked into the matter," and ordered the pledges to move out of the house sometime last week, Rodriguez said.

Because ATG is affiliated with the Stockbridge School of Agriculture, which is only a two-year program, the pledges rush in the summer and live in the house while pledging in the fall.

Vans provided by Housing Services were available for the pledges to use while moving their belongings out of the house, Rodriguez said.

Chancellor Joseph Duffey said, "The University sent vans to get them out of there."

Carlene Riccelli, director of Greek Affairs and assistant dean of students, said the pledges were moved because there was concern for their health and safety. All 14 are now living in University residence halls, she said.

Rodriguez said the police are involved in the investigation because hazing is a criminal charge.

Riccelli said the University is also conducting an investigation.

Disciplinary actions against the fraternity will be forthcoming, she said. "The first thing we did this week was to find residence for the pledges," she said.

Riccelli said, according to the Code of Student Conduct, hazing violations, along with any other kind of violations, can result in numerous disciplinary actions, ranging from a simple reprimand to expulsion, she said, depending on the severity of the charges.

Riccelli declined to comment on the specific violations in the ATG case, because she is one of the disciplinary officers in this case.

"I will not comment on the particulars of the case," she said. "I have to retain neutrality on this."

The University does not tolerate hazing, since it is a violation of Massachusetts General Law, as well as University policy, she said.

Duffey said, "These charges are very serious. The University will decide in the immediate future what steps to take."

ATG has two chapter houses on North Pleasant Street. The Collegian went to the houses Friday night and found one of them apparently unoccupied.

Only two windows were lit at the second house. A man who came to the door refused to identify himself by name, but said he was a friend of a brother and was "watching the house."

At first, he said all of the fraternity members went home for the weekend, but later in the conversation said, "they might have gone uptown."

There were three cars in the parking lot behind the two houses, which appeared large enough to hold at least 25 cars.

Collegian file photo

This house on North Pleasant Street is one of the homes of Alpha Tau Gamma fraternity. ATG is being investigated for possible hazing activities.

ATG history outlined

The Alpha Tau Gamma fraternity was founded in 1909, but the University of Massachusetts chapter did not open a house until 1930.

In 1940, the fraternity, known for its ownership of several properties along North Pleasant Street, purchased the building that was opened in 1930.

Beginning in 1963, Alpha Tau Gamma began to buy more properties and presently owns 1.79 acres of land on the street which runs through campus.

The fraternity brothers live in two of the houses (street numbers 375 and 387), and the other properties are rented to the Phi Mu Delta fraternity and private individuals.

The properties were valued at $500,000, according to 1986 assessed valuations.

The 79-year-old fraternity, which is part of Alpha Tau Gamma Corporation, is associated with the Stockbridge School of Agriculture. The corporation oversees the running of the fraternity's holdings.

— RICK SANTOS

Dukakis' position in Mass. examined

By CHRISTOPHER B. DALY
Associated Press

BOSTON — In ancient Greece, the Spartans sent their warriors off to battle with the cry: "Return carrying your shield or lying upon it."

Now, it appears that if Democrat Michael Dukakis is returned to Massachusetts next week from the battlefield of national politics, he will need a shield to protect himself from the second-guessing, delayed revenge and flat-out sense of disappointment felt by an ambivalent populace and an openly restive legislature.

"Somebody has likened him to the class brain," said one legislative insider, insisting on anonymity. "There's always a willingness to topple somebody from a pedestal."

Others compare Dukakis' plight to the Red Sox, another home team that fell short this year in pursuit of a national title. Boston can be a fickle town, and if Dukakis does no better in the big leagues than the Red Sox did, he could be in for a long, cold winter.

"It's going to be unpleasant," predicted state Rep. William Galvin, a Boston Democrat who is part of the House leadership.

Not only is Dukakis likely to lose the national election, there is a chance that Dukakis could fare badly in his home state, just two years after winning a landslide re-election to a third term. In the latest poll, Dukakis led by just seven points.

To make matters worse, Massachusetts voters overwhelmingly support a ballot question to repeal a 1987 government pay raise package. That could cost Dukakis personally $10,000.

"Wednesday could be even worse than Tuesday," said Galvin, pointing to the state's "obvious" fiscal problems, highlighted earlier this week by the news that tax collections are falling behind projections and the state was overdrawn at the Bank of Boston last month by as much as $190 million.

But John DeVillars, the governor's deputy chief of staff, maintained that Dukakis was in good shape no matter what Tuesday brings.

continued on page 2

UMass student arrested for drugs

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

An 18-year-old University of Massachusetts student pleaded not guilty at his arraignment Friday morning in Northampton District Court to charges of possessing a class "D" substance with intent to distribute .

Scott D. Kaufman, freshman resident of 206 Pierpont Residence Hall, was arrested shortly after 9 p.m. Thursday when local authorities raided and searched his room.

Although police have not divulged exactly what was confiscated from the room, a class "D" substance usually involves marijuana. Kaufman was also charged with being a minor in possession of alcohol.

According to witnesses in the hall, the search began at 7:30 p.m. when Kaufman's room was turned inside out by eight officers who emptied its contents into the hallway.

A dozen students watched as police sorted through Kaufman's belongings. One student said he saw an officer flipping through the pages of books during the extensive probe.

Reports from residents that say police may also have been searching for other narcotics, such as blotter LSD which resembles a perforated a piece of paper, are as yet unconfirmed.

Kaufman's case will be continued until his pre-trial hearing scheduled for January 12th.

"The search was clean," said Executive Director of Public Safety Arthur Hilson, meaning police did have a warrant before the search was conducted. Hilson declined to comment on the LSD element of the raid.

Kaufman, of 263 McCabe St., North Dartmouth, was arrested as a result of the cooperative efforts of Amherst Police, UMass police and the Hampshire County Drug Task Force, who are investigating narcotics distribution in the area.

Photo by Tina Geros

Scott D. Kaufman's possessions lie scattered outside his dorm room following a police raid last Thursday night.

REGION

■ Dukakis

continued from page 1

He cited the governor's endorsement by The Boston Globe, the administration's success in sustaining Dukakis' budget vetoes and signing of an auto insurance reform bill along lines proposed by Dukakis.

"I'm in a good mood," Devillars insisted, adding "I don't want to speculate about an outcome other than his winning."

The governor's aide acknowledged that the state's revenue and cash-management problems would force Dukakis or his successor, Lt. Gov. Evelyn Murphy to "make some very tough choices and momentarily unpopular decisions."

But he said that unpublished polls done for the administration indicate that Dukakis "continues to enjoy a very warm and strong endorsement by the people of this state."

Republican David Locke, the state Senate minority leader and a Massachusetts co-chairman for George Bush, sees things differently, referring to what he calls a "seething discontent within the Democratic Party for Dukakis."

Locke said most Bay State politicians have held back, because "they knew he was going to be either president or governor, and elected officials did not want to get on the wrong side."

Now, though, with Dukakis trailing Bush by a substantial margin in most Electoral College projections, Locke said his colleagues in the Legislature smell blood in the water.

The problem, according to most observers, is not ideological. Instead, Dukakis appears to be the victim of his status as a chief executive and of his own political style.

As governor, he is a lightning rod for all sorts of discontent and gets blamed for everything from unheated subways to a potential budget deficit caused by giving Massachusetts residents a tax break last year. "If there's a blizzard this winter he'll get blamed for it," Galvin said.

"There has never been affection for Mike Dukakis by the voters," one House member said. "Because he never wanted it. He always said it was on the merits. He can't come back now and say, 'Give me a break-forget the merits, do it for me'."

Locke cited the governor's "arrogance, his aloofness from the crowd" as a factor. "He's never been one of the boys. Consequently, I do not think he has the broad base of good will that others in his position might have."

As he slid in the national polls, Dukakis also took a battering at home throughout September and October: a majority of House members voted to override his budget vetoes, the Boston Herald ran a three-part front-page endorsement of George Bush, a federal court ruled that the governor could not block National Guard training assignments and the state had to borrow another $225 million to pay its bills.

At the fashionable Seaside Bar in the city's Quincy Market, bartender Robert Sarlo turned to baseball to describe Dukakis' predicament.

AP photo

Presidential hopeful Michael S. Dukakis and his wife, Kitty, wave to supporters at a rally in Denver yesterday

Boston College turning increasingly conservative

BOSTON (AP) — Boston College, once a magnet for the children of staunch Democrats in Boston's working-class neighborhoods, is increasingly drawing students from rich and conservative families who are changing the political character of the school.

Among graduates of the private school in Newton, for example, is former Speaker of the House Thomas P. O'Neill Jr.

Signs of change at O'Neill's alma mater are everywhere.

This fall more than 400 students joined the College Republicans of Boston College, an unprecedented number; and more than 100 students regularly attend club meetings.

A recent informal poll of students by the conservative campus newspaper, The Observer, found that more than 60 percent of those polled preferred Vice President George Bush over Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

Campaign signs for Bush and his running mate, Sen. Dan Quayle, posted in dormitory windows outnumber those for Dukakis and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

Boston College has been visited by a number of conservative speakers of late, the most recent being retired Marine Lt. Col. Oliver North. Others include Judge Robert Bork, who was rejected as a US Supreme Court nominee, and former presidential candidate Pierre DuPont 4th.

The change is attributed in part to the school's growing national reputation.

'When I first came it was primarily a commuter school for Boston Catholic kids who came from neighborhoods such as South Boston and Charlestown,' theology Professor Thomas Wangler, who has been at the school for 22 years, told The Boston Sunday Globe.

"They tended to come from families that were members of the Democratic Party," he said.

As the school has gained stature, it has also sought students from a wider range of economic class and political views.

Whatever the reason for the change at Boston College, the conservatism preached by the Republican Party is catching on at other schools as well.

The College Republican Club, a national group based in Washington, has grown from about 10,000 members in 1980 to some 125,000 currently, said club Chairman Stockton Reeves.

"What you're seeing at Boston College is a microcosm of what's happening around the country," Reeves said.

The question everyone is asking...

WHAT IS THE BUSH BASH?

SKIING: 5 day lift ticket on 2 mountains with 68 trails as easy as you like and as difficult as you can handle.

ENTERTAINMENT: 26 exciting restaurants and bars, including The Wonder bar at the mountain with a step off the slopes happy hour, The Blue Tooth with live entertainment, Barbeques and Condo Happy Hours.

LODGING: 5 luxury condo accomodations at the Bridges includes: indoor pool, saunas, tennis, nautilus, squash, exercise classses, game room, and every condo includes TV, kitchenette and fire place.

With all this - you may not even make it to the slopes. So now the question is....WHY HAVEN'T YOU RESERVED YOUR SPOT?

$40.00 Reservation deposit which goes toward the total cost of $235 Non-members welcome for an addtional $10. Lessons and rentals available.

SUGARBUSH BUSH BASH JAN. 22-27

RESERVE NOW!!! CONTACT UMASS Ski Club 430 Student Union Bldg 545-3437

ATTENTION SOPHOMORE BUSINESS MAJORS

EXPERIENCE is a must to be successful in gaining the competitive edge in today's Business World.

THE COLLEGIAN is offering the opportunity to gain valuable business experience on campus.

Applications for the position of •ASSISTANT FINANCE MANAGER• are now being accepted.

This position requires Responsibility, Dedication, and Time Commitment -the qualities that future employers are looking for.

Come down to the Collegian Business Office in the Campus Center (Rm 113 - lower level 545-3500) and pick up a job application and description. Submit it no later than FRIDAY NOVEMBER 18, 1988.

The Collegian is an E/O/E.

LOCAL

Ted Kennedy a "no-show" for UMass rally

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

US Sen. Edward M. Kennedy failed to make a scheduled appearance at the University of Massachusetts Saturday for a democratic rally due to what aides called mechanical problems with a helicopter he was supposed to arrive in.

The rally, slated to begin at 10:30 a.m., drew a small but enthusiastic crowd of about 300. Organizers had hoped for as many as 5,000 to attend the event.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Members of the Jeff Holmes dixieland band play Saturday at a Democratic rally near the Student Union.

Michael Greiner, Western Massachusetts coordinator for University Democrats, the organizers of the event, said Kennedy was informed of the attendance in general terms. Greiner said the attendance did not affect Kennedy's decision to appear.

The rally went on with speeches by Massachusetts Sen. John Olver (D-Northampton), Jerry D'Amico, director of the Massachusets Literacy Campaign, and candidate for US Congress John Arden, who is running for the seat currently occupied by Rep. Silvio Conte (R-Pittsfield).

Lt. Gov. Evelyn Murphy, who was signing a bill in Boston, and US Sen. John Kerry, who was supposed to travel with Kennedy, also cancelled their appearances.

About 20 republican protesters interrupted the event several times, chanting "Where is Ted," and "landslide."

The first epithet was apparently intended to mock Kennedy's speech at the Democratic National Convention in which he asked "Where was George," meaning Vice President George Bush. The second was apparently intended to refute Democratic claims that Gov. Michael Dukakis will stage an upset in tomorrow's election and defeat Bush.

University Democrats organized the event to drum up voter support for Kennedy, Dukakis, and the rest of the Democratic ticket in Massachusetts. They said they hope to bring Kennedy to campus very soon.

Kennedy was scheduled to fly by helicopter from his home in Hyannis to Norwood to pick up Sen. Kerry, and then on to Greenfield, where he was to appear at a Democratic breakfast. He was then to fly to Amherst and finally to Springfield, for another rally.

Instead, Kennedy flew by plane to Westover Air Force Base in Chicopee and then drove to Greenfield. He was nearly an hour late for that event, and bypassed UMass to appear in Springfield at about 12:30 p.m.

Greiner said "That type of decision, that prioritizing of events . . . has to be made by campaigns all the time. While we may not agree with the decision, Sen. Kennedy has promised to make it up to us.

"Sen. Kennedy was trying to get a helicopter up to the very last minute," Greiner said. He said he was disappointed when told at about 11:40 Saturday morning that Kennedy was not able to make the event, but he said the rally itself still went extremely well.

"We just couldn't take any chances with two US Senators on that helicopter," said Ben Binswanger, one of Kennedy's aides.

Binswanger said Kennedy was involved in a plane crash in 1964 which laid him up for several months, and so was even more cautious in using the helicopter.

Kevin Bourque, a UMass student and Western Massachusetts college coordinator for the Kennedy campaign, said "He's very upset he couldn't make it, he wanted to be at this event. We're working on getting another date."

Speakers

One of the speakers at yesterday's event was D'Amico, who lost to Murphy in a race for Lieutenant Governor. It is rumored that he may run again in the next election.

D'Amico twice referred to the republican protestors, saying "The most horrible lies I've heard in this campaign . . . besides these idiots to my right, to my far right . . . has been the use of the American flag and patriotism against our party."

He later referred to the protestors as an "ecological disaster," to which some retorted "Boston Harbor."

Said D'Amico, referring to the presidential race: "This is a close and closing race, we can win this thing."

D'Amico criticized the Reagan administration several times, saying this country doesn't need any more Robert Borks, Ollie Norths, and William Bennetts. "This country cannot stand 'more of the same,'" D'Amico said.

Speaking of Bush, D'Amico said, "I hear that George Bush intends to put J. Danforth Quayle in charge of the control of drugs - and that frightens me."

Also appearing at the rally yesterday was Benjamin Orr formerly of the band The Cars. Orr said he came largely just to encourage people to vote.

At a reception after the rally, Orr said this was the first time he had been involved in a political campaign. "I just thought it was the appropriate thing to do. I'm a firm believer in Kennedy. He seems to be pretty much on the money."

Sen. Olver, who is up for re-election Tuesday, said, "There's only three days left . . . and the papers have been saying we're going to have the lowest voter turnout in more than 30 years . . . Let's make no mistake about it, this will make a difference."

Olver said of Kennedy: "Being told to vote for Ted Kennedy in the state of Massachusetts is like being told to breathe, or eat . . . because he's the guy that's been the biggest thorn in the side of the Reagan administration."

John Arden, who is running for Conte's seat in the US House of Representatives, warned the crowd of the federal deficit that has accumulated during the Reagan years.

"Under his administration he has run up over $1.4 trillion in deficits . . . in 1988 we are the world's largest debtor nation. Our future has been mortgaged whether you understand it or not." Arden also spoke of an increasing Japanese control of the US economy, saying they have too great a stake in out future.

Yet another speech yesterday was made by Dick Courtney, who urged rallygoers to vote no on Question 2 on the Massachusetts ballot, a referendum question concerning the repeal of the prevailing wage law.

"This November is a vicious attack on our working class," Courtney said. "Repealing the law will lower the standard of living for construction workers."

Courtney also said the law would lower accountability in the construction industry.

Protestors

Protestors of the rally, many of whom are members of the UMass Republican Club, carried signs supporting Republican Joe Malone, who is challenging Kennedy in this year's election. According to a Boston Globe poll published yesterday, Kennedy leads Malone by 46 percentage points.

The backs of these signs, however, contained less harmless sayings, such as one carried by Student Government Association Sen. Bob Monaghan, which read "Fat Boy."

One sign discarded by the Republicans read "Dead Kennedys Not Dead Babies."

Chanting during the speeches proved effective in disturbing the speakers, who remarked on their prescence several times. At one point they chanted "Mary Jo/ wants to know/ where was Ted." This was apparently in reference to an auto accident Kennedy was involved in in which Mary Jo Kopechne died when Kennedy's car went off a bridge near Chappaquiddick Island.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

About 300 people turned out Saturday to hear Ted Kennedy speak outside the Student Union. Kennedy did not show up.

Vans to transport voters

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

As part of an effort to increase voter turnout in Amherst by University of Massachusetts students, members of the Student Government Association will be running vans from residence halls to polling places tomorrow.

Michael Greiner, chairman of the Public Policy Committee of the Undergraduate Student Senate, said five vans will be running from 8 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. from all residence areas and from North Village apartments to the various polling places.

This follow a masive voter registration effort during which Greiner said 3,000 students were registered to vote in one month, which swelled the ranks of UMass students eligible to vote in Amherst to 6,500.

"Our goal is the biggest student turnout in history," Greiner said. He said nothing this big had ever been attempted at the University.

Greiner said he undertook this effort because students are often ignored by town administration.

"Despite the fact that half the town's registered voters are students, because student voter turnout is traditionally low, politicians feel that they don't have to listen to our concerns," he said.

Greiner said he has spent about $500 from the Public Policy account to rent vans and produce fliers telling where students can vote. Greiner said the fliers were distributed to every dorm room on campus. He said the push to get students to vote is crucial enough to justify spending student money this way.

Vans:

There is no set interval for the vans to leave, but they will be traveling between 8 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. from the following places:

- In North Village, in front of building group F.
- In Sylvan, in front of McNamara House and Northeast Residential Area, behind Leach House.
- In Orchard Hill, bus stop behind Dickinson, and Central, in front of Van Meter.
- In Central, Baker House, and in front of New Africa House.
- In Southwest, from the Hampden Horseshoe, and at the corner of Patterson House.

Voting places:

These are the voting places for the 10 precincts of Amherst, listing some of the major apartment complexes and streets and the residential areas they contain:

- Pufton Village, North Village, Brandywine, Townehouse and Presidential apartments and surrounding areas (Precinct 1) vote at North Congregational Church Hall, North Pleasant Street at the Meadow Street intersection.
- Fraternity/Sorority Park, Dickinson, Grayson, Van Meter, Field and Webster Residence Halls and surrounding areas (Precinct 2) vote at North Fire Station on East Pleasant Street.

continued on page 15

University Food Services

Blue Wall Coffee House

Offering a selection of gourmet coffee, pastry and ice cream

Waffle Cone

Two scoops of your favorite ice cream only $1.25

Monday, Nov. 7 thru Thursday, Nov. 10

Mon-Thurs 11:30 am-12:00 mid
Friday 11:30am-6:00 pm
Saturday Closed but watch for special events
Sunday 3:00 pm-12:00 mid

Located on the Concourse Level of the Campus Center

藍墻餐廳中國午餐

Wednesday, November 9
11:30 am to 1:30 pm

Chinese Luncheon

Chinese Chicken Soup .60/.75

Egg Rolls $3.85
Beef with Snow Peas $3.85
Above entrees served with:
-Oriental Vegetables
-Fried Rice
-Dinner Rolls
-Fortune Cookies

Salad Bar $1.50
Featuring:
-Bok Choy
-Chinese Radishes
-Chow Mein Noodles
-Bean Sprouts
-Mixed Chinese Vegetables

Fresh Fruits
Assorted Desserts

Bluewall Cafeteria

Concourse Level
Lincoln Campus Center

At the Hatch...

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE

Monday Night Football

LOUNGE HOURS
MONDAY-FRIDAY
11:30 am-12:30 am
SATURDAY-SUNDAY
4:00 pm-12:30 am

11th FLOOR
CAMPUS CENTER

Tonight... Cleveland vs Houston

Plus... Free Hot Dogs at 9 pm

BLACK AFFAIRS

African Heritage tour brings music

By JOSEPH L. HILL
Collegian Staff

The New WORLD Theater presented The African Heritage Program last night at a full Bowker Auditorium. Featured in the program were four popular groups: The No-Name Gospel Singers, Los Pleneros De La 21, Papa Sussa, and Thokoza.

The gospel quartet tradition was represented by The No-Name Gospel Singers. They did not use any instruments except for vocals; but relied on tight harmony, interlocking vocal parts and a moving bass line.

Dressed in all gray suits, this five membered group displayed a harmony not often heard. The group leader Rev. Floyd King, upon being introduced described himself as a "77 year old good-looking Black man," much to the crowds delight.

The Rev. King described gospel music as the only means Blacks had to communicate with each other during the plantation days. One particularly enthused observer described the group as "having a nice personality."

Los Pleneros De La 21, under the direction of Juan Gutierrez, are widely known for their dedication to and perpetuation of traditional Afro-Puerto Rican music styles.

They are the leaders of bomba and plena. Salsa/Latin Jazz evolved from a blending of Latin music and African American jazz traditions, whereas bomba and plena are rooted directly to West African drumming and dance traditions.

Their performance was not limited to music. Several minutes after this group started playing, approximately 75 people from the audience got up and started dancing. The audience was so pleased with their performance that the host of the event, Welcome Msomi requested that they do another song before leaving the stage.

Papa Susso is a jali from Gambia. Jalolo (plural of jali) are profession musicians, praise-singers and oral historians who were attached to royal courts in West Africa.

He played a 21- string harp flute known as the kora. On this instrument he played several songs, the most popular of which was a love song described by one patron as "very romantic."

The group Thokoza performed indigenous Zulu songs and dances which included elements of African American music, mostly gospel. The result was a moving mix of songs that ranged from praises for jailed South African martyr Nelson Mandela, to heart breaking cries for freedom from apartheid.

In concluding their performance, this group broke into traditional African dance that will be enjoyed for days to come.

Photo courtesy of World Music Institute

Los Pleneros de la 21, one of four groups that performed at Bowker Auditorium last night, as part of the African Heritage tour.

Amherst's 'Two Can Play'
A story of success

By THOMAS MAMBANDE
Collegian Staff

"Two Can Play", a work by Jamaican playwright Trevor Rhone, was performed this weekend in the Charles Drew House at Amherst College. The piece was a production of Spectrum III, the Amherst College based theatre company, and ran Fri, Sat and Sun nights. Proceeds were donated to the Jamaican Relief Fund.

"Two Can Play " is set in Kingston, Jamaica during the late 1970's, in the midst of a community plagued by the turbulence of political instability. James and Gloria Thomas (played by Robert Reid and Rachel Scott) are a middle-aged couple suddenly faced with the death of Pops, James' father (played vocally by Tony Haywood '89).

The couple determines that, in keeping with what they suppose to have been the will of Pops, they will flee to the United States to join their children whom they have sent and to live a better life. In order to do this, James and Gloria enact a wild scenario to deceive the immigration authorities, including Gloria's marriage to a strange man, a "dog catcher," with whom she voyages to the U.S.

In the States, Gloria experiences first hand the problems of North America such as crime, poverty and homelessness. She contrasts the warm hospitality of Jamaica to the coldness of Americans. When she returns home Gloria is no longer convinced that she and James need move.

Gloria has undergone a symbolic " voyage" in her travel to the U.S. and back. The trip symbolizes her arrival unto herself; her self-definition and refusal to be subjugated by her husband James. She calls for a change in their relationship and an end to the unfair, sexist demands that he has placed upon her for twenty years.

James is at first hostile to her proposed changes,suspecting that Gloria has had an affair with the "dog-catcher". James, however, realizes how much he loves Gloria and, in a last attempt to salvage their marriage, faces his own weaknesses and pledges to make changes in his behavior. The play ends thus with Gloria and James beginning their marriage afresh, embracing their evolved selves.

Robert and Rachel performed well in "Two Can Play". Fri. night's performance started off with a little nervousness in the first scene; a few lines here and there hastily delivered, but the nervousness was soon overcome as the two talented performers warmed into their characters.

The effect was a piece smoothly and convincingly carried off. Spectrum III can be proud of this it's most recent performance.

Chancellor Joseph Duffey walking with Lori Edmonds during Civility day event, Hands Across Umass, held Oct. 26.

Activist lectures on racism and abortion

By JOSEPH L. HILL JR.
Collegian Staff

Last Thursday, approximately 180 students from the five college area attended a lecture on racism and sexism, at Smith College, given by Bernice Johnson, a civil rights activist.

Racism is not re-occurring. "It [racism] did not come back, it never went," according to Johnson. Many people worked hard to improve the overall climate. Numerous people suffered by believing racism had been fixed. Racism and sexism are empty words because people are using them without attempting to understand the behavior associated with these terms, according to the lecturer.

The only time there is a focus on women is when they are doing something society does not condone, such as abortion. "All this talk about controlling the uterus, having it [the uterus] answer to a higher law" is a camouflaged attempt at controlling women, said Johnson.

A story was recounted about a women who was discussing the possibilities of having children. She [Johnson] was amazed that this woman was able to consider being pregnant before she actually was. "This almost made her another species, she'd actually spoken to a man about pregnancy before it occurred," stated Johnson. There is an enjoyment in being able to be pregnant one day and then not the next. "Women should be able to be pregnant one day and then not pregnant the next, without having to attend a funeral" [which is too often the result of illegal abortions] stated Johnson.

People who picket abortion clinics in the name "protecting god's temple [uterus] are afraid of losing control of women," said Johnson. The restrictive structures of present day society need to be dealt with aggressively, according to the lecturer.

When a church, whose congregation is primarily Black, is destroyed it is regarded as vandalism. This is an example of the choice words used by society to mask the true intentions of the malicious act, racism.

Many people are saying that they do not like either presidential candidate. People feel like they really have no choice this year, according to the Johnson. She [Johnson] finds this amusing because Black people have never really known what it is like to have a choice. "We've never been able to pick someone who was favorable to us," said Johnson.

As a first step in solving some of societies problems, Johnson proposed that people map out a plan to take control of something in their lives. "Something that is apart of your of your immediate space, you should be willing to challenge all of thew basic attitudes that you are forced to live under," said Johnson.

People must define their lives for themselves, anything else would be living in someone else's dream, according to the Johnson. Blacks, women and children must see themselves as a people with a vision, urged Johnson.

People as individuals must see control the space that they live in. "You can really change the atmosphere you have to breathe. If you are not fighting your oppression, you are supporting it," concluded Johnson.

Smith holds job fair

By THOMAS MAMBANDE
Collegian Staff

This weekend marked Five College Minority Career Day on the campus of Smith College. Over twenty-five representatives from the corporate sector, pubic sector, retail, education and social service sectors were on hand to display their agendae and recruit qualified "minority" students. More than 300 students were present.

The day began with a breakfast and registration in Davis Center, followed by an address by Five College alumnae who spoke of their experiences in the "working" world after graduating from their respective schools. More registration and a lunch followed during which students were able to speak with alumnae who are presently working in fields related to the students' majors and interests.

After the lunch more opportunity to network was provided in discussion forums in which Native Americans, Asian Americans, Hispanic Americans and Black Americans discussed the impact of the corporate world on cultural identity. The final event of the day was the Job Fair, during which representatives from the various sectors displayed brochures and applications and discussed such things as employment, internships and co-ops.

Jane Austin of Career Services (UMass) stressed the importance of students taking advantage of her office. Career Services is located behind Orchard Hill and can be reached by taking the Orchard Hill bus. The center is open from nine to five, Monday through Friday.

Dr. Ruth to appear tonight

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

Dr. Ruth Westheimer is scheduled to appear at 8 tonight in the Campus Center Auditorium at the University of Massachusetts for a speech and question-and-answer session titled "Sexually Speaking."

Westheimer is being brought to campus by the Board of Governors Program Council, which has paid more than $8,000 to bring the noted lecturer and sex therapist to campus. Tickets, at $5 each, are still available at Tix in the Student Union and will be available at the door.

Jeff Glassman, Program Council coordinator, said, "I feel the students can benefit from Dr. Ruth's lecture by making them aware of safer sex and some of the sexual problems that affect us."

But Glassman said he cannot be sure of what Westheimer would say, and that is one of her attractions.

"That's probably the best part of the show — she's so unpredictable, you never know what she's going to talk about next.

Mary McDonald, director of Admire Presentations, Westheimer's agent, said the basis of Westheimer's speech will be responsibility in sexual situations, "with much focus on contraception."

McDonald said Westheimer believes that today there is no such thing as safe sex, only "safer sex."

Glassman said Westheimer's lecture will be followed by a session in which she will answer questions from index cards. The cards will be distributed before the speech for people who don't want to ask in front of the audience, Glassman said.

The speech and Q & A session is expected to last one and a half hours.

Glassman has been working on getting Westheimer to come to campus since July. He had problems getting funding for the event until the BOG voted to transfer $7,000 from a reserve account to fund the event.

This event represents a new attempt by the BOG to raise money by sponsoring events, which in turn may allow more events for the Campus Center/Student Union.

Westheimer, born in Germany in 1928, is internationally famous as a psychosexual therapist. She first gave advice on sex and relationships on her call-in radio show, "Sexually Speaking," which first aired in 1980 in New York and soon spread into syndication all over the country. She has also been the host of "The Dr. Ruth Show," on the Lifetime cable network, and is the author of a syndicated newspaper column and four books.

Selectmen to decide fate of Greek growth

Amherst selectmen will decide tonight whether to endorse a town meeting article that would ban fraternity/sorority growth along North Pleasant Street.

Their decision follows last Wednesday's denouncement of the article by the Planning Board, which voted 8-1 against it.

If passed, the article would change the zoning of property along North Pleasant Street from campus residence to general residence.

The re-zoning would prevent new fraternities, sororities, boarding houses, hotels, or motels from occupying the large houses there.

Proponents of Article 17 stated last week at the selectmen's meeting the fraternities and sororities cause noise, parking problems and damage to the neighborhood.

Although planning board members did not support the article, they did chide fraternity members for holding loud parties and for the parking problems in the area.

—LISA JOHNSON

WEDNESDAY–MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9–14

SALOMON Sports B Bogner K2 cevas ROSSIGNOL DESCENTE

Skis. Dynastar Lasers
Reg. $295.00 NOW $99.95
K2 GS or SL Reg. $340.00 NOW $169.95
Rossignol Quantum 707 Reg. $299.00
NOW $199.95 Rossignol XRS Reg. $330.00
NOW $199.95 • Boots. Salomon SX 81
Reg. $280.00 NOW $189.95 • Koflach 211
Reg. $250.00 NOW $125.00 • Nordica 725
Reg. $215.00 NOW $149.95 • Bindings. From $54.95
Stretch Pants. Reg. $175.00 NOW $87.50
Warm-up Pants. Reg. $90.00 NOW $49.95
Ski Bibs. Reg. 90.00 NOW $39.95 • Kid's Bibs
Reg. $70.00 NOW $29.95 • Selected Parkas.
35–50% OFF • Goggles. Reg. $17.00 NOW $10.95
Gortex Gloves. Reg. $40.00 NOW $25.00
AND LOTS MORE!

Veterans Day Sale!

Our last sale of the year only happens once a year. The exciting new collections of skiwear and equipment for the '88-89 season are in at all 3 SkiHaus stores. Dozens of manufacturers. The hottest colors and styles. The biggest selection. And prices from 10 – 15% off! But hurry. By November 15th this Veterans Day event will be just another page in history.

SKI HAUS SPORTHAUS

East Longmeadow 16 Shaker Road 525-6633 • Westfield 55 Franklin Street 562-5004 • Hadley Route 9 584-7880
SALE HOURS: Wednesday–Thursday, 10–9 pm, Friday 1–9 pm, Saturday 10–5 pm, Sunday 12–5 pm, Monday 10–9 pm

Do Ya Have Any Questions About Your Long Distance Service?

Interested in Learning About Calling Plans and Special Products that May Save You Money?

Contact Scott Webber, your AT&T Student Campus Manager here at U of Mass

CALL: 546-4741

between 10AM - 12PM M-Th
12PM - 2PM Fri

Auroville Teacher Education Program
(AVTEP)

Approaches to Multi-Cultural Education

A Semester Program in Auroville, India

January - March 1989

Sponsored by:

Alaska Pacific University

&

Sri Aurobindo International Institute for Educational Research

Coordinated by:

Mernam Hill Center
1675 Massachusetts Ave.
Cambridge, MA 02138
617-354-3431

UMass rugby team proud of season's performance

By KIMBERLY ROBINSON
Collegian Correspondent

As the rugby season approaches an end, the University of Massachusetts rugby players are proud of their season's performance.

The team will be ranked high in New England after "a very good showing" at the Colorado Rugby Tournament last month, said UMass team captain Jeff Burrill. Burrill said that he, co-captain John McCarthy and senior Burke Harrrington have been chosen to train with the New England Collegiate Select Side.

Senior Hotel, Restaurant and Travel Administration major Mark Efron, a South African, said he has been playing for 12 years.

"[We are] 15 individuals working together in a physically gruelling and mentally challenging gentlemen's game.
- UMass captain Jeff Burrill

Collegian photo by Andrew Rist

UMass rugby players Eric Olsen (left foreground) and Bill McDonough (right foreground) prepare to go into a scrum.

"The standard is lower in America," he said, "because they have not had the capital support. They've only been playing their college years. The team's fitness makes up for it and enthusiasm is great," Efron said.

Irish exchange student Peter Bryson, who plays for the team, said, "rugby is a team game and everybody has to be good. These guys are good, but teams do not get recognized here. At home it's a national sport."

To those unfamiliar with the game, the sport appears to be a "glorified kill-the-guy" sport, said spectator Beth Jones. "Even the ball says 'Barbarian.'"

Rugby injuries are not as drastic as they are rumored to be, according to team members. Senior Stephen Jackson, who blew his eardrum playing, and is temporarily half deaf, said, "It will come back when I stop playing. It's a fun game."

Said Burrill: "There is an eight times greater chance in getting hurt playing American football than in rugby. This is due to the shoulder pads and helmets being used as weapons."

Rugby, which originated in England, is now played worldwide, and is especially popular in Australia and the United Kingdom. Traditionally, rugby is played on a 70-by 110-yard field with teams of 15 players. The only protective devices used are optional mouthguards.

Securing the ears to the head with tape is useful to locks in "scrum" position, said senior Rich Daly. "Second row locks" put their heads in between the prop's thigh and the hooker's thigh. Our ears are locked in there and they can get cut," he said. Scrum position is used for penalty kicks awarded to one side when the opposing side has committed off-sides or a forward pass. Running or kicking the ball forward is legal, but not forward passes.

Rugby scoring consists of four points for a "try" when the ball is advanced past the opposition, two when kicked through the opposition's goal posts, and three if that kick is a penalty kick.

Burrill described the UMass team as "15 individuals working together in a physically gruelling and mentally challenging gentleman's sport."

Burrill said that most of the present team members had no knowledge of the game or rules when they joined.

Senior Thomas Marinel said that this year's team is probably "the most dedicated and in-shape in three and a half years." He attributes part of their success to new coach Francis Buttle. "He's played in England. He's really made the difference," said Marinel.

The team encourages spectators and prospective players to attend games and practices. Practices are Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4 to 6 p.m. on the Walter J. Dietz Memorial Pitch, located west of Boyden Gymnasium. The final match of the season will be played on the pitch Saturday against the Springfield Men's Club.

UM avoids computer virus

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts has effectively been vaccinated against a computer virus which has been running a nationwide rampage through many high-level computer data bases.

UMass computers were disconnected Thursday morning from computer network tie-ins, ARPAnet, a defense department network where the virus began apparently as a prank, and the network established by the National Science Foundation NSFnet, also tied into ARPAnet.

The virus, which is a program that can duplicate itself once inside the computer and send itself to other computers, had by Thursday night infected several machines at universities, NASA and nuclear weapons labs and other federal research centers linked by a Defense Department computer network.

"What happened was the virus entered a computer through a hole in the security of the electronic mail function," said Director of the Computer Information Science Department Arthur Gaylord who is responsible for taking the UMass computers offline after hearing of the virus at 5 a.m. Thursday.

"The virus program exploited that hole, and once it was in it looked around to find other "names" to send itself to," Gaylord said.

Gaylord explained the virus spends most of its time finding new computers to infect and replicating itself to do so. But, the virus is capable of occupying so much of the computer's time doing nonsense work that the computer can effectively be crippled.

He also said this virus was not as terrible as it could have been, because similar strains can penetrate the computer and destroy data just as easy as it can replicate.

The University has taken precautions against the virus, which is capable of doubling back and returning, and "plugged the holes in the mail system", however, there has been some concern about more debilitating copy-cat viruses which may be able to find unstopped security leaks.

Gaylord was able to check records of those who logged onto the computer and saw several unsuccessful attempts to access one computer through its electronic mail system.

The attempts, which started at about 1 a.m. Thursday came from universities known to be infected with the virus, such as the Universities of Minnesota, Illinois and Rochester.

The computer had adequate password protection and did not allow access to certain commands, so the virus was unable to enter.

The New York Times reported Friday an anonymous caller said his associate was responsible for the attack and had meant it to be harmless.

The caller said the hacker was a graduate student who made a programing error in designing the virus, causing the intruder to replicate much faster than expected.

He said the student realized his error shortly after letting the program loose and now was terrified of the consequences, the Times said.

As of Friday, researchers across the country tried to trace the virus, which caused major shutdowns at Boston University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology both of who's computer researching facilities were seriously slowed down.

At Boston University, Associate Provost John Porter called computer viruses "electronic vandalism."

BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN

WE ARE SEEKING TO FILL
TWO POSITIONS ON OUR STUDENT MANAGEMENT STAFF
BEGINNING NEXT SEMESTER.

ASSISTANT MANAGER - REQUIRES A MATURE, ENERGETIC AND FLEXIBLE PERSON WITH FOOD SERVICE EXPERIENCE.

ACCOUNTANT - REQUIRES A WELL ORGANIZED PERSON WITH GOOD MATH SKILLS
AND COMMUNICATIVE ABILITY.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS AND APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE THRU NOV. 14TH AT BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN OFFICE, CLARK HILL ROAD

LOW '88 THE COLLEGIAN

At home and abroad, there is a difference

The outcome of tomorrow's presidential election is extremely important for a myriad of reasons. It will determine whether the nation will continue the course outlined under Ronald Reagan or travel a different path proposed by Michael Dukakis.

We must realize that the outcome of the election will have global effects. George Bush parrots current administration policy with regard to world affairs, so we can assume Reagan's practices will continue. That means we will continue the green light for apartheid in South Africa, continue the illegal contra war against the sovereign Nicaraguan government, and continue our economically exploitative relationship with Third World nations.

Indicative of this is Bush's retention of Henry Kissinger as a foreign policy advisor, a man notorious for disregarding international law, human life and countries south of the equator.

A Dukakis presidency would be different. By respecting international law and opposing the blatant injustice of apartheid, the potential for improving life in nations abroad would increase dramatically. It would also provide the United States with moral leadership that millions abroad would look to with respect.

On the domestic front, one of the most tangible effects that either administration will have on US citizens in the near future and many years to come is appointments to the Supreme Court. The Reagan administration has been stacking the court with conservative justices since 1981. A Bush presidency would continue that trend, placing in jeopardy past rulings and effectively increasing the danger of legislation which deprives individual liberties to become a reality.

The three eldest justices on the court; Thurgood Marshall, Harry Blackmun, and William Brennan — all in their 80s — have been instrumental in preserving rights for US citizens.

The preservation of individual rights and liberties for all citizens has traditionally been a part of the Democratic party platform. Dukakis is likely to appoint justices similar to those described above. Bush will continue to appoint justices like William Rehnquist, Antonin Scalia and Robert Bork. If you prefer to have your government make choices for you, Bush would be to your liking. If not, a Dukakis presidency is for you.

The choice, for now, is yours.

James Bergey
Central

Prohibiting abortions will murder women

Rusty Denton is a man who has mastered the fine art of infuriating an audience, and has found in his column a most effective means of implementing this kill. Hurtful, injurious words in the guise of religious sensibilities are dangerous. It is regretful I should be put into the position of having to take action against this poison. This poison shouldn't happen.

Our far-right radical, in his Nov. 1 column, contradicts himself almost immediately: 'Thou shalt not kill' indeed means 'Thous shalt not kill for personal reasons.' What else could it mean? But I have news for dear Mr. Denton. Meat is murder. We devour flesh for personal reasons. It tastes good. War happens to be murder. Wars are waged for very personal reasons; economic reasons. Capital punishment is murder. Capital punishment accomplishes absolutely nothing, but because of very personal reasons, our blood lust and our thirst for vengeance, we keep it as a form of entertainment.

Abortion can hardly be called murder. Not when the legislation of "Christian" values keep school-age children ignorant of birth control and the dire need for it. To prohibit abortion would be murder. The failure to realize education is the key to this problem is murder. The Hyde Amendment is murder. Coathangers are murder. Knitting needles are murder. To kill a woman is murder. To force her to suicide is murder. The return of the back alley abortion will be murder. Pro-life activism is murder. Sexism is very personal, indeed.

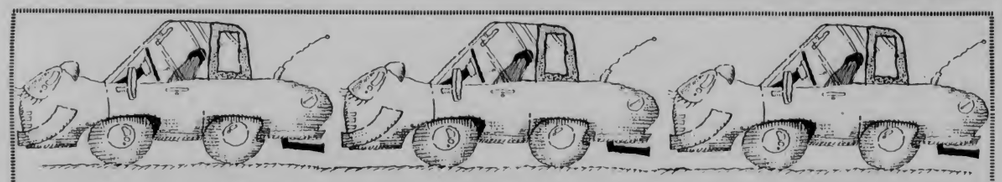
Owen Broadhurst
Orchard Hill

Greek portrayal false

Once again you've allowed untruths to infiltrate the pages of your paper. I'm referring to the article by Laurie Johnston ("Alcohol use affects more than just the drinker," Nov. 1). The problems of alcohol abuse need to be addressed, however, I think a more adult manner is in order. I'd like to quote a paragraph from Johnston's editorial: "You have just pledged your favorite fraternity. You are overjoyed with the comradery and will do anything for the brothers. 'Now, just put your mouth on the end of this tube. I'll pour beer into this funnel and we'll see how many you can suck down before you pass out. Ha ha ha.'"

I am a new brother a Phi Mu Delta. I pledged last spring, and not once was I ever forced to consume alcohol. I am very proud of my fraternity and of its tightly held traditions. When such an article is printed it encourages discrimination against all of those who comprise the Greek area.

David Ring
Phi Mu Delta



Motor Vehicle Rules & Regulations

At its September 1988 Meeting the Board of Trustees approved revised Motor Vehicle Rules & Regulations for the Amherst Campus. The revisions include provisions for an increased parking violation fines structure. A copy of record, of the Rules & Regulations, is available for public review during regular business hours at the Campus Parking Services office 137 Hasbrouck or call 545-0065 for more information.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Another of Bush's negative campaign ads. They make Mike Dukakis look so uninspiring...
This is a Dukakis campaign commercial...

Letters

Question 3 will help humans

Voters in Massachusetts will have the opportunity to approve legislation that will provide regulatory standards for farm animals. Farm animals are excluded from the Federal Animal Welfare Act. This is largely due to lobbying by agricultural organizations more interested in profit than in healthy food products for consumers. Question Three is concerned with more than the rights of farm animals; for example, the benefits engendered by standards for veal calves will be passed on to all consumers who eat veal. Anyone who has taken an introductory biology course knows how the food chain works: if a veal calf is pumped full of antibiotics and drugs to keep it alive until slaughter, then those antibiotics and drugs are ingested by you.

The concept of 'milk-fed' veal is nearly an anachronism, in the recent years that giant agribusiness corporations have squeezed out family farms. Calves that are raised on mother's milk, in healthy environments, without chemicals or drugs, are no longer the norm. To increase profit, animal factories utilize 22-inch wide 'crates' which confine veal calves for their entire lives; the drugs are needed to counteract the diseases spread by these putrid living conditions. Approval of Question Three will set standards designed to provide calves with adequate room to stand up, turn around, and groom themselves, as well as nutritious diets. Hardly anyone can question the right of an animal, even one destined for slaughter, to clean and healthy living conditions. Opposing healthy standards for veal calves is equal to opposing healthy standards for human beings.

America's reputation as a leader in world agriculture cannot be maintained if family farms are forced out by huge corporations interested only in profit. It's time to stop the dangerous practices involved in by assembly-line production of livestock.

Vote Yes on Question Three, and set a precedent that will protect America's family farms.

Maggie Wiley is a UMass student

Don't hurt our farms with 3

Question 3, the so-called Humane Farming Initiative, is not only unnecessary, but will hurt the family farms of Massachusetts.

Proponents of this question have little or no familiarity with the realities of agriculture in Massachusetts. Their claims of baby chicks being ground alive, and veal calves being confined in inhumanely tight quarters, invoke horrible images which have been very effective with the urbanites and suburbanites who are the majority of the population.

But the frustrating truth is that these claims, though made in a state-distributed information flyer on through initiative questions, are completely without substantiation. In fact, not a single specific complaint of cruelty of this sort has been filed with the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture for at least four years.

The realities are these:

- There are no 'factory farms' in Massachusetts, only one or two veal farms, and few poultry farms.
- Farming is a marginally profitable activity in many cases, and all animal farms in Massachusetts are family-run, small-scale operations.
- Farmland is treasured by both rural and urban residents as a valuable component of our increasingly developed landscape.
- The proposed Advisory Board, consisting of mostly members recommended by animal rights groups, would add another layer of bureaucracy required to review any farmstead improvements or alterations.

The Humane Farming Initiative doesn't address any real problems. Rather, it increases the burden on a struggling but treasured component of our state's agriculture. Ironically, agriculture outside Massachusetts (factory farms and otherwise) will benefit, as more of our farms are harassed out of business.

Don Weber
Entomology Department

Massachusetts needs plants

MassPIRG would like to scare students into endorsing Question 4 by equating it to Chernobyl, radiation and death. MassPIRG misleads students with harsh stories and has very few facts to back them up.

Four reasons to vote No on 4:

- By shutting down this state's nuclear plants the New England Power Pool, which supplies electricity to area utilities, will make up for the lost energy by burning more oil and coal. This will contribute to the Greenhouse effect and increase our dependence on unstable Middle East oil.
- Massachusetts needs the power. This state's growing economy has forced electric consumption to grow at a fast pace. If Yankee Rowe and Pilgrim are closed, last summer's brownouts will continue and cripple this state's future economic growth and opportunity.
- The shutdown of Rowe and Pilgrim will cost taxpayers and ratepayers $4 billion. This will bankrupt the state treasury and ruin the state's economy. Moreover, the cost will be felt the most by the poor who spend a larger portion of their disposable income on electricity and fuel.
- Yankee Rowe is one of the safest nuclear plants in the country. This has been proven time and again by many Nuclear Regulatory Commission reports.

When pondering Question 4 look at the facts and vote on something that Mike Dukakis and George Bush agree on. Vote No on 4.

Daniel A. Collins
Leverett

Odds and ends

Spending the summer with George and Barbara

I squinted through the screen of the take-out window for a second look. Yup, it was definitely her. I looked at the swarm of kids around her, and then over her shoulder at the man in the car. He was a secret security man and he was watching us. I had worked at the restaurant next to my house for two summers as a dish washer. Part of the job included serving ice cream at the take out window off to one side of the restaurant. I knew that the Bush's often ate there because they were friends of the owner's and it was only a half a mile away from their home. I can't really remember anything she said, the important thing was that I served Barbara Bush ice cream.

Mike Ditson

I've lived down the street from the Bush's for almost two years. It is a long windy road along the southern Maine coast, in a small "tourist trap" community called Kennebunkport. It's kind of stupid the way I still get a small thrill from seeing the Vice President. I see him all the time. He was the speaker at my high school's graduation ceremony the year before I graduated. He also spoke at the memorial day parade a year or two ago in Kennebunkport. Some nights while I'm lying in bed trying to get to sleep, I'll hear the swishing of several cars going past my house. I don't even have to get out of bed and look anymore to be able to tell that the Vice President is in town. On the occasions when I do get up and look, I always see the same thing. Two or three police cars, three limousines, an ambulance, a truck that we call the "machine gun truck," and a few more various cars for good measure.

Of all the times I've seen the Bush's around Kennebunkport, the most fun to watch is when they walk their dog. Picture two pretty ordinary people walking down the sidewalk with their dog, that's exactly what they look like. The only thing that gives them away is the fifteen guys with dark glasses and walkie talkies. Plus, they are usually followed by the "machine gun truck."

I know someone out there must be curious and wonder if I'm going to vote for Bush. The answer is: no, I'm not. I think he's a nice man who honestly has the interests of the country at heart, but I just don't agree with him on several issues.

This summer, I was amused to see bumper stickers around town saying "Save Kennebunkport, Vote Democratic '88." They have already made several streets in Kennebunkport one way to channel the extra traffic created by the campaign. I'm not sure what effect Bush's winning would have on Kennbunkport. If you believe the polls, Bush has already won. Because Kennbunkport is a community based on the tourist industry, I think it would probably benefit the town if he wins. What I want to know is, would the world benefit if he wins?

Mike Ditson is a UMass Student

On the right

Best for the US? Eight more years

The domestic front and the foreign affairs front, eight years of Republican conservatism has successfully transformed the United States back into a respected world leader. The prosperity at home, and the view of renewed American power abroad is no fluke, and that is why George Bush is far and away the most logical choice for president. It would be foolish to change horses in midstream.

Stuart Gottlieb

As president, George Bush will continue supporting policies which emphasize private enterprise, wealth creation, and individual initiative as the key to economic growth. Bush has pledged to maintain the current low tax rates which have completely re-energized the economy, created new incentives for work effort and investment, and generated the longest peacetime expansion ever.

Under Reagan those policies created 17 million new jobs, reduced the unemployment rate to 5 percent, reduced inflation from 14 percent to 4 percent, and cut interest rates in half. Living standards have increased substantially, as real after tax income has increased by 23 percent since 1980, 15 percent on a per capita basis.

The invogorated economy has generated a surge of investment in which business spending has risen to 12 percent of the Gross National Product, a postwar high.

The Mike Dukakis economic agenda consists of income redistribution, increased government spending, increased taxes, and increased regulation. This pot pourri of outdated liberal cure-alls will positively lead to less risk taking by business owners and private investors, a vast increase in unemployment, a rise in inflation, higher interest rates, and an end to economic expansion.

On the issue of the budget deficit, George Bush's flexible freeze will adhere to the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction targets by holding overall government spending growth to about 4 percent. Bush also supports the line item veto, putting the president in the position to cut spending from the White House, not leaving it up the the liberal House.

On foreign policy experience, it's obvious that George Bush is the only logical choice to be the Commander-in-Chief. Bush's experience might even be outweighed by Dukakis's naivete and inexperience on foreign matters.

George Bush was Vice President of the United States during a period which saw an end to the detente misconceptions, and the recreation of a pre-eminent US geostrategic position. Mike Dukakis was governor of Massachusetts.

Before becoming Vice President, Bush was the director of the Central Intelligence Agency. Dukakis was governor of Massachusetts.

Before the CIA, Bush was the United States representative to the United Nations. Dukakis was governor of Massachusetts.

Before the UN, Bush was American envoy to China. Dukakis was governor of Massachusetts.

But even more important that The Duke's lack of experience [as Reagan only held one office before winning the White House], is the vast differences in the two candidates views of the world. The world is closer to peace today than at anytime in recent history. The United States and the Soviet Union meet regularly to discuss vital issues for world security. Nato is powerful again. Democracy is on the rise in the Third World.

The Republicans have paved the way for future advances in all of these areas. It is vital to continue with the conservative philosophy, and it could be disasterous to overturn it. Dukakis would try his best to overturn it.

I urge everyone to go out and cast a vote, whether for the donkeys or the elephants. We have to keep this democracy thing going.

But when you go into the booth, keep in mind the position of the US at that moment. Then think back to 1979.

And then vote.

Stuart Gottlieb is a Collegian columnist

Advertisement

FIVE GOOD REASONS TO VOTE NO ON QUESTION 2

1 Passed in 1914, the Prevailing Wage Law provides a minimum wage for workers on state, county and municipal construction projects. It ensures working men and women a fair, livable income.

2 The Prevailing Wage Law protects women and minorities from discrimination on government-funded projects.

3 The Prevailing Wage Law ensures high quality work on bridges, public buildings and roads.

4 The Prevailing Wage Law protects tax payers from footing the bill for poor quality construction work.

5 The Prevailing Wage Law has bipartisian support.

A small group of contractors, the ABC, has put Question 2 on the ballot to try to repeal the Prevailing Wage Law. Nearly half their campaign donors are out-of-state business. It is clear where their interests lie -- in increased profits at the expense of Massachusetts working men and women and taxpayers.

Join a statewide campaign to VOTE NO on QUESTION 2 along with dozens of community groups, elected officials, working people, students, the elderly, women and minorities.

SUPPORTERS OF THE PREVAILING WAGE LAW INCLUDE: *

Carolyn Anderson, Ian Angus - Communications; Frank Annuziato - Labor Studies, Arlene Avakian - Women's Studies, David Bloodsworth - Labor Studies, John J. Bonsignore - Legal Studies, John Bracey - AfroAmerican Studies, Gerald Braunthal, John Brigham - Political Science, James E. Cathey - Germanic Languages, Dan Clawson - Sociology, John Cole - Anthropology, Vernon E. Cronen - Communications, Peter d'Errico - Legal Studies, D. Craig Edwards - Zoology, Lee Edwards - English, Eric Einhorn - Political Science, Nancy Folbre - Economics, Ken Fones-Wolf - Archives, Harvey Friedman - Labor Studies, Howard Gadlin - Psychology, Sheldon Goldman - Political Science, Patricia Greenfield - Sch. of Management, Robert Griffith - History, Jarice Hanson - Communications, Bob Haynes - Trustee UMass, Sut Jhally - Communications, Helen Johnson - Soc. Thought & Pol. Economy, Arthur Keene - Anthropology, John D. Kendall - David LaFond, Bruce Laurie - History, Dale Melcher - Labor Studies, Jerome Mileur - Political Science, Martin F. Norden - Communications, Peter Park- Sociology, Ronald Pipkin - Legal Studies, Lisa Saunders - Economics, Catherine Schwichtenberg - Communications, Robert A. Shanley - Political Science, Susan Parrish Sprowl - Communications, Ronald Story - History, Curt Stubbs - Labor Studies, George Sulzner - Political Sceince, Michael Weiler - Communications, Robert P. Wolff - Philosophy, Nicholas Xenos - Political Science, L.S. Zacharias - School of Management; UMass AFSCME LOCAL 1776, UMass Grad. Student Senate, UMass MSP - Executive Board, Mass Teachers' Assoc.

* Departments listed for ID purposes only.

Advertisement

ARTS/LIVING

Brown's "Perogative," Freeze's "World" and Art's "Kiss" top singles

By CHRIS A. MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Maxi Freeze "Wild World"
Following on the heals of UB40's reggae remake "Red Red Wine", Maxi Freeze have revamped this classic Cat Stevens' tune and the result sounds hit-bound. Disregarding the more serious tone of the original version, Freeze has turned the song into a rollicking, bouncy dance song that works perfectly. The remake craze is getting out of hand, but in this case we can make an exception.

Phil Collins "Two Hearts"
Instead of remaking a song, Collins has tried to make a classic hit of his own. By getting together with Lamont Dozier of Motown's famous song writing team of Dozier-Hollander-Dozier, Collins manages a fair recreation of the Detroit sound. It does have it's faults though. The overall effort sounds too modern and Collins' voice just doesn't work with such light material.

Bobby Brown "It's My Perogative"
At last, dance music with depth. Following up his smash hit, "Don't Be Cruel," Brown has managed to avoid the ordinary and turn out something extraordinary. "Perogative" is all you'd expect from this talented new-comer, the Cameo-style vocals coupled with the underlying message of freedom of choice and a frenzied beat make this gem too appealing to pass up.

Van Halen "Finish What You Started"
It's nice to hear from a heavy metal band that doesn't judge their talent by how loud thy can turn up their guitars, and Van Halen is one of these few bands. The sparse guitar of "Finish What You Started" gives the song a slight country and western feel, and even Sammy Hagar gives us a break from his usual screeching vocals. Metal and non-metal rock fans should enjoy this one.

Art of Noise w/ Tom Jones "Kiss"
It's 60's meet 80's in this unique rendition of Prince's 1986 hit. Tom Jones, famous 60's love machine, has a voice well-suited for techno-pop, and even sounds a bit like Rick Astley as he churns out his part playing front man for the innovative synth band Art of Noise. When friends ask "What's new pussy cat?" tell them Tom Jones.

Basia "A New Day For You"
This Polish popster took America by storm this summer with her breath-taking single "Time an Tide" and she's going to do it again. With her serene vocals, Basia is more relaxing than valium, and much more danceable too. Backed by an unrelenting bossa nova beat, Basia gives us all she's worth and the finished product is pure bliss.

The Fat Boys "Louie Louie"
How many classic 60's songs can these obese rapper ruin? These portly pests have already destroyed some of your parent's favorite tunes and "Louie Louie" easily follows suit. Hoping to cash in on the new-found fame of the song by the party-going sect, the Fat Boys have added their own touch of obnoxiousness and in the process have massacred a work of art.

Midnight Oil "Dreamworld"
From down under comes the bald political conscious with a beat. "Dreamworld" conquers the problem of shore-line over development, a potentially boring topic for a pop song, but not in the capable hands of these talented performers. Lead singer and politician Peter Garret has a style all his own when it comes to vocalization that works flawlessly against the hard driving instrumentation of the rest of the band making this single a dream to hear.

Cliff and Arrow provide the remedy for UMass' autumn blues Friday

By JOHN SWANSON
Collegian Staff

It's that bewildering time of year when the foliage is disappearing and the holidays are distant enough to make us wonder what the hell there is to do for a month in the cold New England tundra. A Friday night reggae show was just the shot in the arm the University of Massachusetts needed. And Jimmy Cliff was the right man for the job.

The Jamaican pulse of Cliff's band combined with the stifling heat of the Student Union Ballroom to achieve a soul-cleansing tropical effect. If you closed your eyes, you could almost ignore the fact that 1,100 people were dripping together in the same room.

Cliff, who has been recording for over 25 years, performed a variety of old and new material for this Union Program Council production. The crowd was particularly responsive to songs from his 1972 film soundtrack The Harder They Come. The opening number, "Rivers of Babylon," featured Cliff and several members of his seven-piece band playing bongos and congas.

Also from the film were an energetic version of the reggae anthem "Johnny Too Bad," "Sitting in Limbo" and "Many Rivers To Cross," which he devoted to the people of storm-battered Jamaica." The title track, an ever-popular encore number, was almost fast enough to be considered ska.

In addition to "Many Rivers," Cliff made several dedications in the course of the two-hour set. "It's Time" was played for jailed African National Congress leader Nelson Mandela, whose cause seems to have gone out of vogue now his birthday is over.

Similarly, Cliff played "Keep Up The Pressure" and "Reggae Down Babylon" in reverence "to the freedom fighters in South Africa." "Treat The Youth Right," a self-evident dedication, had the heavy echo and rhythmic play of '80s reggae. "Nuclear War" was a "special message to President Ronald Reagan and Mikhail Gorbachev." Big surprise.

"I want you to know that I am not a politician. I'm a musician with a mission," he said.

Of course, Cliff's latest album "Hanging Fire" did not go unrecognized. The inspirational "Soar Like An Eagle" ended in a percussive thunder.

The high point of the set, however, was his cover of "Wild World." Cliff infused his rasta soul into the Cat Stevens tune.

Arrow, an energetic singer from Montserrat, opened for Cliff. The Latin flavor of his songs "Long Time" and "Party Mix" complimented Cliff's love-filled set. Arrow's eight-man combo included two horns for a shiny salsa sound. Having arrived late, he was only able to perform seven songs, but he did manage to perform a cover of "Hot, Hot, Hot," which Arrow dubbed "the national anthem of soul."

For over six months, Cliff has been engaged in the "Hanging Fire Tour;" Friday night he showed no sign of losing momentum. And although this lovefest lasted only three hours, Cliff and Arrow gave us strength to face November's doldrums.

MHC and Hampshire theater shows

The Mount Holyoke College dance faculty is presenting 6 new works of choreography for its annual Fall dance concert Nov. 10-12. Featuring the work of choreographers Jim Coleman, Karen Dearborn, Terese Freedman and Jerry L. Bevington, the program should provide a stimulating evening of concert dance. Shows begin at 8 p.m. on Nov. 10, 11, and 12 at Studio Theater, Kendall Hall Mount Holyoke College. Seating is limited so reservations are recommended. Call 538-2000, ext. 2848.

The Hampshire College Theater will present Bertolt Brecht's The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui Nov. 9-12 and 16-20 in the Mainstage Theater, Emily Dickinson Hall at Hampshire College. All shows start at 8 p.m. Reservations can be made by calling 549-4600, ext. 351 weekdays between 1 and 5 p.m. Tickets are $2.50 for Five College students.

CMJ's mediocrity can't mask Mudhoney's genius

By GRAEME THOMSON
Collegian Correspondent

In case you didn't know (and why should you?) the College Music Journalist Music Marathon is a big bash held anually at the World Trade Center in the Big Apple, where the hip and trendy gather to discuss the current state of "alternative" music. In layman's terms this basically means that a lot of black clad, though noticeably hardly any actual black, A & R persons, college radio types and music hacks wax defecatory on a subject with which they are about as familiar as I am with Quantuum Mechanics. What follows is a "blow" by "blow" account of this years proceedings held Oct. 27 – 29th; lovers of good music and small furry animals may find some scenes disturbing.

THURSDAY: We're late; by the time we've registered and donated the ultra-naff CMJ freebie bags to the Contras, the day's events are nearly over, so at the request of WMUA program director Phil "Don't ask me, I'm the stupid one" Straub, we take a well-earned coffee-break. Soon we're up and running, so we mose along to a – I don't know if I can say this in polite company – "seminar" on "Promoting the New Artist." Unfortunately, WMUA music director Tony "DJ Caramel Norm" Proccacino becomes severely distressed, forcing us to leave what, in the hands of life insurance salesmen, could have been a fascinating and thought-provoking debate. As luck would have it, we're just in time to see the fabbo groovy Australian Triffids make their "unofficial" US debut; "unofficial" in this case meaning that the PA system is about as good as a Fisher Price stereo. But it doesn't stop the quality of David McComb's majestic songs, including some gorgeous new country ballads, come shining through. They finish up a short set with a cover version of the Pet Shop Boys' classic, "Rent," whose refrain, "I love you, you pay my rent," aptly sums up what this whole crapshoot is all about.

"What's next on the agenda?" Caramel asks the Stupid One.

"Don't ask me! I'm the stupid one!"

The next stop is CBGB, to catch The Lazy Cowgirls as they storm through an energetic set in typically aggressive fashion. Perhaps it's because he has less reason to own a comb than Phil Collins, that the lead singer seems so incredibly angry all the time. Whatever the reason, Caramel is impressed, but there's no time to hang about, so we're outta here, down to the Knitting Factory where we witness Columbus all-girl combo, Scrawl throw the Muses out the window, and then ex-Swellmap, Nikki Sudden "prattle and bum" his way to a free drink and some very easy money. But the work of the dedicated music hack is never done, so it's back to CBGB, and the "Union Carbide" of America, Bullet Lavolta, who are so good, it's scary, and I almost forget there's a psycho rearranging tables not four feet from me.

continued on page 12

PINOCCHIO'S
RISTORANTE ITALIANO
Monday Night Football Special
Large Cheese Pizza $5.50 plus tax
Tues. & Wed. Special $5.50
MUST MENTION SPECIAL WHEN ORDERING
NO COUPON NECESSARY—NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER COUPON

Golden Key National Honor Society
ATTENTION
Juniors & Seniors
MEMBERSHIP DEADLINE: SEND TODAY

Quality Copies For All
kinko's
the copy center
253-2543

Photo by Martha Swope

Former London street musicians The Cambridge Buskers bring their unique blend of classical music to Bowker Auditorium this Wednesday. Call 545-2511 for tickets.

Ski 5 days pay just $219

UMASS SKI CLUB

Non skiers pay only $129

QUÉBEC

JANUARY 8-13

TRIP INCLUDES
5 NIGHTS LODGING-CLARENDON HOTEL
WALK TO EXTENSIVE NIGHTLIFE
PARTY AGE IS 18
SHOPS, RESTAURANTS

CROSS COUNTRY SKIERS WELCOME

FOR MORE INFO, CONTACT UMASS SKI CLUB, 430 STUDENT UNION
OR STOP BY THE SKI TABLE CCC TU-TH 545-3437

DON'T MISS OUT! SIGN UP NOW

■ CMJ Marathon

continued from page 11

As we step out of the club, holding the shattered remains of our brains, we all agree that it's been a great opening night.

FRIDAY: We don't get into the convention until late afternoon, so it's so long! to keynote speaker, Michelle Shocked amongst other things. Zounds! What's to be done?

"I know," says Caramel, "let's go record shopping!"

"Good call!" the Stupid One replies, and we're off down to Pier Platters for the next couple of hours, until somebody mentions that Sonic Youth are playing at the Ritz tonight, so never to be where the action is not, we head for the club.

We arrive just in time to hear the last couple of numbers from the Laughing Hyenas, and it's enough to make me wish I'd got here earlier. Next up are Die Kreuzen, but their metallic noise is not as much fun as their t-shirts. Finally the Sonics themselves take the stage, and after a sluggish start they find the sound that puts them several million light years ahead of the opposition. When Lee, Kim and Thurston are up there, it's like they're plugged into the national grid; all you can do is tune in, turn on . . . and trip out. Brilliant stuff!

SATURDAY: It's the final day of the convention, so just for a change, we get in early and go about the business of pestering self-important "Music Bizz" types, with WMUA playlists and bumper stickers, at one point even hijacking the vacated EMI stand, which proves to be a great help in peddling our wares, but as our chairs are confiscated, and the scenery is lifted from behind us, we decide it's time to head for the "Open House" forum, where it is rumored several celebs will be rearing their ugly visages. Sure enough, I brush shoulders with Steve Mack from That Petrol Emotion on the way. Unfortunately, the forum is only "open house" for severely bloated egos and equally shrivelled up minds. It is decided to give this one a wide body-swerve.

Feeling the pangs of hunger, we take off to Maxwell's for dinner. After eating, the Stupid One and myself O.D. on free coffee and begin to display signs of potentially violent behavior, but luckily recover in time for the night's bill, beginning with grungy raaawk combo, Urge Overkill, whose lead singer has a voice like a bad case of constipation. Then the band we've been waiting to see all weekend, the fabulous Mudhoney, proceed to blow the roof off the building, bulldozering through instant classics like "Touch Me, I'm Sick." After that, it's almost impossible to appreciate the always difficult headlining act, Live Skull, but the clarinet employed during one of their numbers is a nice touch.

All in all, we're pretty happy with the bands we've seen in these three short days; it's only a pity that the CMJ, which is supposedly about alternative music, didn't choose to promote the real "alternative." I guess they're just not "knowing."

Elect

Miles Washburn
Your next State Senator

Hampshire - Franklin Counties

VOTE TUESDAY NOVEMBER 8, 1988

UMass Graduate 1987 Degree in Economics

Let's Bring Politics Back to the People

A Strong Independent Voice for Western Massachusetts

Paid for by the Committee to Elect Miles Washburn

Talk Talk says bye to pop

By JON DRUKMAN
Collegian Correspondent

Spirit of Eden
Talk Talk
EMI/Manhattan Records

Mark Hollis, lead singer and songwriter for Talk Talk, has been listening to too many old Pink Floyd records. While Talk Talk commenced its career as another one of those endless stream of synth-pop bands of the early 1980's, they have certainly come a long way since then. Spirit of Eden, their fourth record, sounds like something that has fallen through a time warp from the 60's. There are no synths, drum machines, samplers, sequencers or any of that ilk here - but for all the technical simplicity, the sound is far from ordinary. Using organs as their only keyboards, plus lots of orchestral instruments, they manage to create a rich, moody sound.

The first track, titled The Rainbow, opens with an atmospheric, dreamy sound, much like the opening of Floyd's Wish You Were Here, only Talk Talk uses organs and woodwinds, instead of synthesizers. Once the song gets underway, it has a relaxed, jazzy feel to it. The same holds true for the rest of the album. Don't expect anything here to get you on your feet and dancing. This is definitely music to mellow out by.

Although by and large the record is relaxing, there are a few moments when the laid back groove is suddenly broken and the band really rocks out. Usually, they slip right back into quiet mode. This use of dynamics is great, and makes a welcome change from the usual pop concept of taking one volume level and staying with it for the whole song. The continuity between songs (no breaks), maintained with smooth instrumental passages is also a nice effect.

Unfortunately, in every Eden there is always a serpent. My major complaint with Spirit of Eden is that it sounds like the band is trying too hard. Instead of flowing, some of the atmospheric bits sound forced. While the beginning is quite good, side two drags a bit, and the quiet instrumental bridges between tracks don't work as well as they do on the first side.

The lyrics are a major hindrance as well. For one thing, Hollis sings them in a way almost totally incomprehensible without the aid of the lyrics sheet (thoughtfully provided). Once you know what the words are, however, it doesn't seem worth the effort since they don't make a whole lot of sense, and they seem singularly pretentious at times. Still, the record's strengths overshadow these few complaints, and it is certainly refreshing to see a band once mired in typical pop trying a much bolder, experimental tack.

As a footnote, this album is great on compact disc due to the large amount of quiet passages and the continuous nature of the work. If you're looking for a decent "late night" record, this one will fit the bill quite adequately.

"The Force of Attraction between two bodies depends simply on the distangle from each other," by Terri Schatz is one painting on display at the Hampden Gallery's exhibit Altered Images running Nov. 8 through 29. Gallery hours 3 to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Four-time grammy winner Queen Ida and the Bon Temps Zydeco Band play the Iron Horse tonight at 7 and 10 p.m.

TAKE A BREATHER...

Join the Great American Smokeout on Thursday, November 17. Millions of Smokers across the country will take a break and try not to smoke for 24 hours. How about you? Or, if you don't smoke, adopt a smoker for the day and promise to help that friend get through the day without a cigarette!

GREAT AMERICAN SMOKEOUT
AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1988

The University of Massachusetts Great American Smokeout is being coordinated and sponsored by the Student Health Advisory Board (SHAB) the Peer Health Promotion Program and the Health Education Division University Health Services, UMass/Amherst 549-2671, x181.

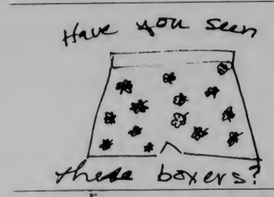
Come to the Campus Center Concourse for Smokeout Survival Kits and other information November 14-17.

UMASS SKI CLUB MANDATORY MEETING
Wednesday, November 9, 1988
for
The Great Ski Snatch
November 17-19, 1988

WE NEED YOUR HELP!

- Benefits & Lots of Fun-Don't miss out!
- Great chance to meet & work with people

Come to our information & sign-up meeting:
4:00 p.m. 163 CC
7:00 p.m. Hampden Dining Commons
(members and non-members welcome)



Police call abortion rally peaceful

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Anti-abortion and pro-choice activists turned out Saturday for the second time in as many weeks in what police termed a "peaceful" event in front of the Women and Infants Hospital in Providence.

Providence police said this week's protest was minor in comparison to last Saturday's surprise blockade of the Women's Surgical-GYN Services clinic in the city.

Last week, more than 400 anti-abortionists from the militant organization, Operation Rescue, blockaded the clinic, resulting in more than 200 arrests.

Lieutenant Ronald Urso said 20 policemen were dispatched for this week's demonstration to contain more than 60 protesters, who were holding signs and marching in front of the clinic from 7 a.m. until noon.

"The demonstration was both pro-choice and anti-abortion," Urso said, adding that several members of Operation Rescue were known to have attended.

But, he said, the majority of the protesters were abortion advocates waging a pro-choice demonstration.

Urso said it is unknown whether the protesters will return to the city for a third attempt, but confirmed that investigations and planning to deter future blockades will ensue this week.

Dukakis fan travels state in wheelchair

By JOHN SWANSON
Collegian Staff

When Guy Wallace and David Counts passed through campus last week, not many people took notice, yet they were not typical of Campus Center Hotel guests.

The 22-year-old Brookline residents are traveling Route 9 across the state — Wallace in a wheelchair and Counts on foot — to raise voter consciousness and support Presidential candidate Michael Dukakis. Counts said Wallace is a "quadriplegic with some use of his hands and his upper torso."

The two Democrats began their trek in New Lebanon, N.Y., last Wednesday. Counts said they planned to travel about 30 miles each day, finishing today at the State House in Boston. They spent Thursday night in the Campus Center Hotel and departed Friday at 8:30 a.m. from the Amherst Chamber of Commerce. They expected to spend Friday night in Brookfield, Saturday night in Worcester and last night in Hopkinton, Counts said. Today they plan to take the Boston Marathon route to the State House.

The two friends attended Brookline High School together and received their undergraduate degrees last May, Wallace from Harvard and Counts from Yale.

Wallace said they are being accompanied by an escort vehicle which is carrying their luggage and tools for the wheelchair, but no first aid equipment. "I guess we should have thought of that before," he said.

Wallace said it was snowing about six miles west of Pittsfield on Wednesday, but the weather improved Thursday.

Although he said Gov. Dukakis does not know about their efforts, Counts said he expects "some higher-ups" in Boston to be at the State House today.

LAGNAF

Same Bat Channel
Satifies all your Comic Book needs
Role Playing Games
Horror and Movie Magazines
Baseball Cards and Posters
586-8775
Hampshire Mall, Rt. 9
Hadley, MA

Word processing made simple.

Word processing made simpler.

Talk about manual labor. The only thing more complicated than most word processors is their instruction manuals.

You can wade through hundreds of pages of "user interfaces" and "output fonts" or try something far simpler: The Smith Corona PWP 3 Personal Word Processor.

Using PWP 3 is truly an exercise in simplicity. Our easy-to-follow Tutorial DataDisk teaches you that moving blocks of text is a snap, deleting words is a cinch and inserting words is effortless.

In fact, PWP 3 is so incredibly simple to use, you can pick it up in practically no time.

That way, you can spend more of your time writing. And less of your time reading about writing.

SMITH CORONA
TOMORROW'S TECHNOLOGY AT YOUR TOUCH

For more information on this product, write to Smith Corona Corporation, 65 Locust Avenue, New Canaan, CT 06840 or Smith Corona (Canada Ltd.), 440 Tapscott Road, Scarborough, Ontario, Canada M1B 1Y4

DOVE Business Associates, Inc.

Dove Business Associates, Inc.

- FAST ACCURATE WORD PROCESSING
  - RESUMES
  - LETTERS
  - THESIS
  - DISSERTATIONS
  - TERM PAPERS
- TEMPORARY OFFICE PERSONNEL
- COMPLETE LINE OF SECRETARIAL SERVICES
  - BOOKKEEPING
  - MAILINGS

Dove Business Management Services
• Complete Services for Small Businesses

79 So. Pleasant St., Amherst
256-1335 • 253-7480
Also New Offices at
90 Conz St., Northampton, MA
585-5127

YOU CAN LEAVE HOME WITH US!!!

The National Student Exchange program gives you the opportunity to study, meet new people, and have fun in schools throughout the United States. If you're adventuresome and looking for a change of academic scenery, come to an NSE information session to find out more!

November NSE information Sessions:

Nov. 1, 1988	Rm. 165/69 CC	All sessions are from 4:00-5:00pm
Nov. 7, 1988	Rm. 604/08 CC
Nov. 14, 1988	Rm. 165/69 CC
Nov. 17, 1988	Rm. 165/69 CC
Nov. 29, 1988	Rm. 904/06 CC

Coyotes hunted more as numbers increase

BELCHERTOWN (AP) — Human howls fill the night in the woods of New England, where hunters and naturalists are on the prowl for the coyote, which is rapidly replacing man and dog as the chief predator of deer.

In recent years, the rarely seen coyote has grown in such numbers that Massachusetts has started a hunting season and Maine hunters are worried there soon may be more coyotes than deer. Sheep farmers in Maine say the animal is driving some out of business.

But conservationists say reports of coyote kills are exaggerated and that the animal is doing some good.

"When you look at the vast majority of coyotes in the state, they are providing a degree of the balance and diversity in the wildlife community and in the ecosystem," said Paul Lyons, a wildlife biologist for Massachusetts' Metropolitan District Commission. "The more diverse the community, the better it is for everybody."

Lyons is one of the naturalists who howl at night in the huge Quabbin Reservoir in western Massachusetts. The naturalists hope the animal will howl back. From the howls, they say they can learn where the animals hunt and live.

One thing the naturalists have learned is the coyotes have driven domestic dogs from the reservoir. The dogs had been a predator of the deer.

Massachusetts has an estimated 1,000 coyotes; Maine has at least 16,000, officials said.

The coyote is among the most intelligent of wild animals, say those who track it. Related to the wolf, the eastern coyote is the size of a small German shepherd with a fox-like head, bushy tail and gray-black coat. It averages four feet long from nose to tail tip and weighs about 40 pounds.

The western coyote migrated east in the 1930s, breeding with the Algonquin wolf along the way and evolving into a larger species.

Since 1980, Massachusetts officials have confirmed 28 coyote attacks on lambs and other small livestock. All but three of the 75 deer carcasses found last winter at the Quabbin reservoir were killed by coyotes, naturalists said.

Massachusetts started coyote hunting in 1981 after a handful of farmers claimed coyotes had killed newborn calves. Since then, hunters have killed 20 to 40 coyotes yearly in Massachusetts, officials said.

The Massachusetts Audubon Society opposed coyote hunting, saying there was insufficient evidence the animals seriously threatened ecological stability. A coyote protection bill failed in the Legislature in 1981, and the farmers prevailed.

Richard Turner, southwestern wildlife district game manager for Massachusetts, said coyotes may even be a help, since they eat animals killed by cars or other causes and keep such pests as rabbits and field mice under control.

Maine hunters and sheep farmers, however, call them a menace. Unofficial estimates of the number of Maine deer killed by coyotes range from 3,000 to 15,000 yearly. Officials have no estimates on sheep killed.

Maine has never banned coyote hunting, and officials said at least 1,600 coyotes are killed by hunters and farmers annually.

One pro-hunting group, the Maine Coyote Control Association, has offered a $25 reward for each dead coyote during hunting season, which runs most of the winter.

"I'd poison them if I could," said Connie Skov, a Maine sheep farmer who said has lost nearly a dozen sheep to coyotes. "They are just no good."

She said coyote attacks have helped drive eight small sheep farms out of business in Waldoboro, 80 miles north of Portland.

Thousands gather to pay respects to dead police cadet in Pittsfield

By The Associated Press

PITTSFIELD -- Police from up and down the Northeast have gathered here to pay their respects to a cadet who died 44 days after collapsing on a running track at a police academy.

Timothy Shepard, 25, was one of 16 cadets hospitalized in the first week of training at the state-run academy in Agawam. The epidemic of exhaustion and dehydration among the class of 50 cadets prompted at least three state probes and resulted in the resignation of the head of the state's police training program.

More than 100 people turned out for Shepard's wake Saturday night. Another 2,000 reportedly were headed to attend today's funeral at St. Joseph's Church and Cemetery. Among them were most of Pittsfield's 86 officers, 40 officers from nearby Springfield, troopers in six State Police cruisers and the 46 cadets still training at Agawam.

Pittsfield Police Lt. Gerald Lee said 50 police departments from New England and New York sent their color guards.

Also planning to attend were Lt. Gov. Evelyn Murphy, Public Secretary Charles V. Barry and newly named interim director of police training Peter W. Agnes, Lee said.

He said the Pittsfield department's teletype machine has received messages of condolence from all over the Northeast and even Delaware.

Lee called Shepard's sudden turn for the worst last week "a shocking change."

The cadet had emerged from a coma and was slowly recovering - even writing his wife, Holly, "I made it," although he was too weak to breathe or speak on his own - when he fell unconscious again Oct. 31 and was rushed into emergency surgery to remove a blood clot on his brain.

He never regained consciousness. He was pronounced dead at 11 p.m. Wednesday. An autopsy on Friday indicated that he died from infections that set in because of his weakened condition from training and a liver transplant.

Shepard had collapsed from heat stroke September 19 at the end of the grueling first day of training. Other cadets reported that they were put through a strenuous regimen for hours on just a few cups of water.

The last Pittsfield officer to die in the line of duty was killed at the turn of the century while pushing a woman and her child to safety off the tracks of an oncoming train.

"There's always the chance that you might lose somebody on duty, but you never anticipate that you'd lose them in training," said Lee, who said the mood in the department was anger and sorrow.

Shepard's death will be the subject of an inquest to determine whether criminal charges should be brought against the state troopers in charge of training.

George Bregianes, presiding justice of Springfield District Court, said the inquest will begin at the end of the month. He said state Attorney General James Shannon cautioned it should take "a considerable amount of time."

"They intend, obviously, to introduce many, many witnesses," he said.

Five days before Shepard died, Shannon released the results of a month-long investigation into the illnesses. The investigation found a "massive failure" of the system that led to abusive training.

The first move of the new training director last week was to rescind the so-called modified stress programs believed partly responsible for the illnesses.

The two troopers in charge of training were transferred from the academy in September at their request.

■ voting places

continued from page 3

- Sylvan and Northeast Residential Areas, some of North Pleasant Street and surrounding areas (Precinct 3) vote at the Immanuel Lutheran Church Lounge, 867 North Pleasant St.
- Part of Southwest Residential Area and surrounding areas (Precinct 4) vote at the Bangs Community Center on Kellogg Avenue.
- Amherst College and areas surrounding South Pleasant Street in the center of town (Precinct 5) vote at Bangs Community Center on Kellogg Avenue.
- Belchertown Road, (Route 9) including Swiss Village, Rolling Green, and Colonial Village apartment complexes vote at the Fort River School on South East Street.
- Southwood and Brittany Manor apartment complexes and surrounding areas (Precinct 7) vote at the Crocker Farm School on Route 116.
- Hampshire College, Bay Road and surrounding areas (Precinct 8) vote at Munson Memorial Library on South East Street.
- Voters residing in the center of town east of North Pleasant Street (Precinct 9) vote at the Wildwood School on Strong Street.
- Most of Southwest, Fearing Street and voters residing in this area (Precinct 10) vote at the Bangs Community Center on Kellogg Avenue.

AmHERST CINEMA

"PERVERSELY FASCINATING" "PROVOCATIVE"

HANDMADE FILMS PRESENTS
A NICOLAS ROEG FILM
TRACK 29
THERESA RUSSELL GARY OLDMAN and CHRISTOPHER LLOYD
R © 1987 Hand Made Films (1987) Partnership. ISLAND PICTURES
2 showings 7:00 & 9:00 in the center of Amherst
Adults $3.50 Children & Senior Citizens $2.00
AMITY ST. 253-5426

winner of 60 international awards
Dr. Strangelove
OR HOW I LEARNED TO STOP WORRYING AND LOVE THE BOMB.

DIRECTED BY Stanley Kubrick
"... outrageous, daring, inventive, devilish, macabre and scintillating comedy." —SATURDAY REVIEW
starring Peter Sellers and George C. Scott
MOVIE
Date: Monday Nov. 7th Time: 7, 9 & 11 p.m.
Admission: $2 Location: S.U.B.

TONIGHT!
DR. RUTH
TICKETS ON SALE AT DOOR
$5.00
Campus Center Auditorium

Jones, Waitz capture N.Y. marathon titles

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Jones of Wales won the New York City Marathon yesterday, redeeming himself after three years of sub-par marathons, and Grete Waitz of Norway led all the way in becoming the fastest women's finisher for a record ninth time.

Jones, 33, in his New York marathon debut, took the lead near the 12.4-mile mark, was caught briefly at 15 miles by Salvatore Bettiol of Italy, then moments later took command, completing the 26-mile 385-yard course in 2 hours, 8 minutes, 20 seconds.

It was the second fastest New York City Marathon ever run, only seven seconds behind the course record set of 2:08:13 by Alberto Salazar in 1981. Salazar's time was not an American record, however, because the course was 43 yards short.

Bettiol was second in 2:11:41.

Waitz, 35, who never has lost a New York City Marathon that she's finished, was clocked in 2:28:06 in beating 1984 Olympic gold medalist Joan Benoit Samuelson.

Samuelson, running her first marathon in three years, suffered her first defeat at the distance since finishing thirdin the 1981 Boston Marathon.

She was, however, beset by two mishaps on the course.

Near the 11-mile mark, she and Laura Fogli of Italy collided and nearly went down.

Then, at the 21-mile point, Samuelson was knocked down by a volunteer who came out onto the course with a cup of water. She was quickly helped up by a male runner and got back into the race, finishing third behind Fogli.

Fogli finished in 2:31:26 and Samuelson in 2:32:40.

In addition, Samuelson stopped briefly past the 13-mile mark because of apparent leg cramps. After a very brief rest, she again got back into the race.

Jones ran what then was the world's best time of 2:08:05 in 1984 in the Chicago Marathon, then won Chicago again in 1985 in 2:07:13, then the second fastest time ever and now No.4 on the all-time list.

The fastest entrant in the field of 23,478 — largest ever for the marathon — Jones was well prepared to face a tough international field that included Ireland's John Treacy, 1984 Olympic silver medalist; Ethiopian Wodajo Bulti, the fastest first-time marathoner ever; Mark Nenow, the American record-holder at 10,000 making his marathon debut, and Tanzanian Gidamis Shahanga, 1978 Commonwealth Games champion.

Bettiol, who collapsed near the 22-mile mark because of apparent hamstring problems, got up and courageously continued to finish second. He was followed by Treacy at 2:13:18 and Shahanga at 2:13:50.

Waitz, avenging her second place finish to Samuelson in the Los Angeles Olympics, also made up for a poor showing in this year's Olympics when she was forced to drop out between 18 and 19 miles.

Navratilova gets Slim championship win

WORCESTER (AP) — Martina Navratilova was pushed to the limits yesterday by young Soviet Natalia Zvereva before rallying to win the $300,000 New England Virginia Slims Championship.

The 32-year-old Navratilova took her 137th career singles title and prevented the 17-year-old Russian from capturing her first tour event with a 6-7 (4-7), 6-4, 6-3 victory.

Navratilova finally settled it by winning four straight games, the finale when she broke Zvereva at 15 after crashing into the press table and objecting several times to line calls. Zvereva had gotten to the finals by knocking out second-seeded Chris Evert in straight sets Saturday.

"That's one of the best matches I've ever been part of," Navratilova said after fighting from behind in three sets that lasted 52, 45 and 42 minutes.

"I knew I could beat her." Zvereva said. "That was not my best day. I was surprised I wasn't so fired from [Saturday]. But now I feel able to beat her. I was playing mentally better [yesterday]."

Zvereva lost to Navratilova for the fourth time in six career meetings. She has dropped all three meetings in tournament finals, including the Virginia Slims of Chicago in 1987 and at Eastbourne earlier this year.

"She's a little younger than I am, she has more room for improvement, but not too much," Navratilova said.

Navratilova jumped to a quick 2-0 lead in the first set, but Zvereva fought back to force the tie-breaker and led most of the way while capturing the first set.

Navratilova snapped back from the tie-break loss by winning four straight games. But Zvereva, called several times for foot faults, rallied from behind to trail 4-5 after a series of service breaks.

Navratilova, who won the tournament for the fourth time, trailed briefly by a game in the third before running off her winning string.

AP photo

Grete Waitz (left) and Steve Jones on the victory stand after each winning their respective races in the New York City Marathon yesterday.

Five College Students:
Call 545-2511
For ½ Price Tickets

The Amazing Cambridge Buskers	Wednesday, Nov. 9
Peter Orth, piano	Tuesday, Nov. 15
Desrosiers Dance Theatre	Saturday, Nov. 19
Ladysmith Black Mambazo	Tuesday, Nov. 22
Quartet For The End Of Time	Saturday, Dec. 3
Neil Simon's "Broadway Bound"	Tuesday, Dec. 6
"A Christmas Carol"	Thursday, Dec. 8

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Auto Glass Center
SAME DAY SERVICE
BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE CO.
WINDSHIELDS REPLACED
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd. • 549-2800
No. Amherst
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

from new york	one way
LONDON	179
PARIS	229
ROME	259
	round trip
CARACAS	320
ST. THOMAS	260
HONGKONG	739

Taxes not included.
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes, EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
78 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

charlie's
good times till one
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11 a.m.
• 7 Days A Week • Call for Take Out •
Kitchen Open 'till Midnight
Pool Table, Video Games, Juke Box, 3 Color TV's
Most Bar Seats In Town
MONDAY NIGHT 10¢ MOZZERELLA STICKS
9:00 PM - 12:00 AM
TUESDAY NIGHT 10¢ CHICKEN WINGS
SEX ON THE BEACH $1.75 Drink of the Week
GRIZZLEY Beer of the Month
Also Serving Homestyle Lunches and Dinners
THIS WEEK: Meat Tortellini, Baked Ham, Turkey . . . and much more!
ALL FOR UNDER $4.00
10th Anniversary 1978 - 1988
Good Food & Drink

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

"Yeah, Sylvia . . . my set too . . . and in the middle of 'Laverne and Shirley.'"

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

WHO IS IT?
WALTER MONDALE!
GUESS WHAT?! HE KNOWS WE'RE DOWN NINETY POINTS IN THE POLLS. SO HE'S OFFERED TO JOIN THE TICKET FOR A MUCH-NEEDED BOOST.!
ISN'T THAT SUPER?
WHY NOT.
IT'S A GO! BRING SOME FRITOS!

The stupid neither forgive nor forget; the naive forgive and forget; the wise forgive but do not forget.
—THOMAS SZASZ

Daily Crossword Puzzle

Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

ACROSS
1 Vedic equine
6 Cummerbund
10 Bog
14 Distinct style
15 Loathe
16 Hindustanderivative
17 Ethiopian nomad
18 Uttered
19 Matures
20 Lea
22 Indulgent
24 Adjoining
25 Later
26 Maligning
30 Soda sipper
34 Plug
35 Identical
36 Expunge
37 Concession
39 Broadway specialty
41 Word with tide or log
42 Howls finch
44 Prefer or refer follower
46 Sorrowful
47 Plunders
48 Vestal virgin, e.g.
50 Othello's aide
52 Passport entry
53 Daffodil's cousin
56 Return to former speed, in music
59 — Ben Adhem
60 Brook
62 Ruth's mother-in-law
64 Grimace
65 In old Rome, 504
66 Thump
67 Stoop
68 Golfer Ballesteros
69 Ednich

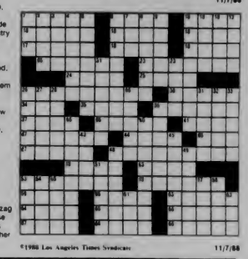
DOWN
1 It precedes zag
2 Dutch cheese
3 Peevishness
4 Choreographer Petit
5 1984 Oscar winner
6 8 p.m. on Broadway
7 Rhine tributary
8 "Hogan's Heroes" locale
9 — of Troy
10 In a fanciful manner
11 Perisst
12 Near East gulf
13 Squall
21 Bovine-drawn dray
23 Proboscos
25 Sturdy fabric
27 One of the media
28 Gland Comb. form
29 Absolutely not
31 Employ again
32 Much put-upon Titan
33 Dandelions, for example
36 Trickery
38 Painted in a special way
40 Whelk, or conch
43 Brother to Jacob
45 Grist
48 Gendarmes
49 Taco's relative
51 Hems in
53 Doorpost
54 Woodwind
55 Verb's clause-mate
57 Stream
58 Home of the Hawks
61 Ullmann
63 ETO commander

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

B	A	N	O	S	C	O	U	R	D	O	N	A
O	B	I	A	C	A	I	N	E	P	I	C
G	E	I	S	N	O	P	I	A	C	E	F	A	S	T
S	T	A	T	U	E	S		M	I	L	E	I	E
			A	D	E	S		O	E	D
R	A	I	N	E	O		C	O	V	E		A	I	S
A	L	I	M	E		A	L	G	E	R		M	A	T
G	O	A	T	A	S	N	A	I	L	S	P	A	C	E
E	N	G		R	E	I	N	E		K	I	E	N
D	E	O		M	A	S	S		L	E	A	N	T	O
			E	I	I	N		E	M	O	I	Y
A	O	M	A	N		M	I	N	I	S	T	E	R
D	R	A	G	G	E	D	O	E	S	F	E	E	T
D	I	C	K		N	A	D	E	R		O	R	L	S
S	W	A	I	N		C	H	E	S	S		R	A	Y	S

11/7/88

©1988 Los Angeles Times Syndicate



Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau

GEORGE COMPLETES HIS TOUR.
...AND WHAT'S THIS?
ANOTHER ONE OF NANCY'S CLOSETS. IT USED TO BE AMY CARTER'S BEDROOM.
IT'S NEARLY EMPTY, THOUGH. NANCY'S HANDLERS MADE HER SEND BACK MOST OF THE CLOTHES SHE BORROWED.
PERSONALLY, I THINK SHE WAS ENTITLED TO THEM. MOMMY'S BEEN SUCH AN INSPIRATION TO THIS COUNTRY!
WITH THE SUITS THAT COMES TO $11,753. WILL THIS BE CASH?
NO, NO, I'M JUST BORROWING THEM.

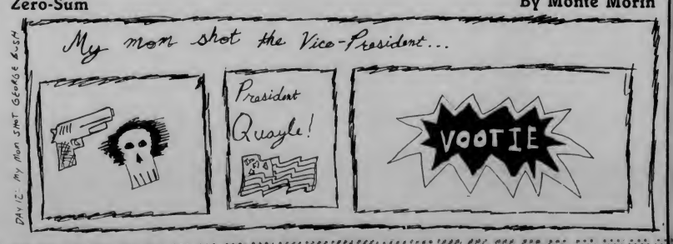
Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

WELL DAD, WE'RE RIGHT DOWN TO THE WIRE, AND THE POLLS SAY YOU WON'T BE DAD HERE MUCH LONGER.
IT SEEMS YOU'RE JUST NOT LIKEABLE ENOUGH. THOSE POLLED CONTINUE TO FIND YOU A COLD FISH.
IF YOU WANT SOME ADVICE, I'D SUGGEST YOU DO SOMETHING EXTRAORDINARILY LIKEABLE IN THE NEXT TWO MINUTES.
GO TO BED.
NO, NO! IT'S WAY TOO LATE TO LEARN HOW TO TELL JOKES

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

MY BUDDY CABBY HERE WAS CALCULATED TO WITHIN 3 INCHES WHERE THE FIRST SNOWFLAKE IS GOING TO FALL!!..
IT'S GOING TO LAND RIGHT HERE IN FRONT OF THE BERKSHIRE P.C.!!
GEE?! I WONDER WHAT THE FIRST SNOWFLAKE TASTES LIKE?!..
SICKO.

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin



Menu

Lunch
Chicken Cutlet Sandwich
Bacon-Onion Quiche

Basics Lunch
Chicken Cutlet Sandwich
Boursin and Sprout Sandwich

Dinner
Roast Top Round of Beef
Breaded Veal Pattie

Basics Dinner
Eggplant Parmigiana
Vegetable Hot Pot

Weather

Today: Cloudy, 40 percent chance of rain. High in the mid 50s.
Tonight: Cloudy and cool low, near 40.
Tomorrow: Partly sunny, high 50-55.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Matt Gerke
Copy Editor.....Yana Dlugy
Layout Technician.....Florencio Terra
Photo Technician.....Andrew Rist
Production Supervisor.....Rob Levine
Production.....Nicole, Tricia, Liane, Mike, Kim, and a caution to be-Ware of Matt tonight.

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Clappennelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Clappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscriptions Manager

Stephens, Patriots 'squish the fish' again, 21-10

FOXBORO (AP) — John Stephens, the young leader of New England's rushing revival, ran the Miami Dolphins out of a town they don't mind leaving.

The Patriots' first-round draft choice broke the 100-yard rushing barrier for the third straight game as he ran for 104 yards and one touchdown to lead them to a 21-10 NFL victory yesterday.

"He's just a very talented player," New England quarterback Doug Flutie said of the rookie from Northwestern (La.) State. "He's done a great job of setting up blocks the last couple of weeks."

The Patriots survived a Dan Marino-led comeback for their 11th victory over Miami in their last 13 meetings in Foxboro.

"It was a real disappointment," Dolphins' coach Don Shula said. "This was a time, coming to New England, when we thought we could get it done. I felt we were ready."

Stephens, who rushed for 134 yards two weeks ago and 124 a week ago, scored on a 13-yard run as the Patriots took a 21-3 lead 7:16 into the third quarter. His running also set up their first touchdown, a 1-yard burst by Bob Perryman that opened the scoring with 1:38 gone in the second period.

The last time a Patriot had three consecutive 100-yard rushing games was in 1976 when Don Calhoun topped that total in four straight games. Until Stephens' streak, New England didn't have a 100-yard rusher in 35 consecutive non-strike games.

"It's the ideal situation," Flutie said. "I'm able to stay back there and hand the ball off and then throw when I have to. The offense is simple, but the line's getting off the ball."

The AFC East rivals, both fighting to stay in playoff contention, are 5-5 after the Patriots' sixth consecutive victory over Miami. The Dolphins had won four of their previous five games and New England two of its previous three.

"We're playing the way we're capable of playing now," said New England free safety Fred Marion, who had one of New England's two interceptions.

"They're riding the wave," Miami linebacker Rick Graf said. "They don't run a lot of plays but they execute them."

"We're 0-4 in the AFC East," Shula said. "That's as bad as you can get."

Marino, who directs the NFL's top passing attack, brought Miami back to within 21-10 on a 20-yard touchdown pass to rookie Farrell Edmunds with 30 seconds left in the third quarter.

Marino's passing later took the Dolphins to the New England 6-yard line, but Roland James' interception in the end zone ended the threat with 2:5[illegible] remaining in the game.

"Instead of us making the play, they did," Shula said.

"You can't do too much to hold him (Marino) down," James said. "You have to prevent him from making the big plays."

Marino's 14-yard completion to Jim Jensen on Miami's next series got the ball to the New England 4, but time ran out before the Dolphins could call another play.

Marino completed 29 of 51 passes for 359 yards. Jensen's 12 receptions broke a single-game Miami record of 10 set by Duriel Harris in 1979.

New England led 14-3 at halftime after Flutie's 1-yard touchdown pass to Irving Fryar 19 seconds before intermission. The 79-yard drive was helped by Miami penalties for running into the punter and pass interference.

The Dolphins' first-half points came on a 51-yard field goal by ex-Patriot Tony Franklin that had cut the lead to 7-3 with 3:13 left in the first half.

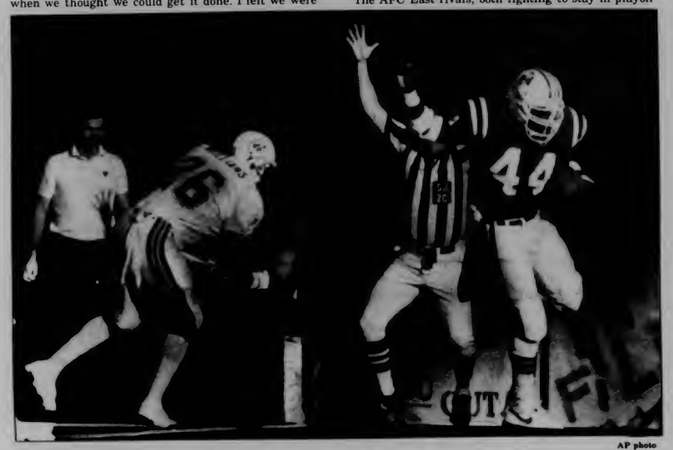
On the series leading to Perryman's and Stephens' touchdowns, the Patriots stayed entirely on the ground. Of the 23 total plays on those two series, Stephens ran 15 times for 75 of the 120 yards.

The Patriots rushed for a season-high 203 yards on 44 carries, 25 of them by Stephens.

On the first touchdown drive, he ran eight times for 34 yards. His 3-yard run got the ball to the 1 and Perryman, who carried the ball on the other four plays, scored on the next play.

On New England's last touchdown drive, Stephens ran seven times for 41 yards against the NFL's 24th-ranked defense and swept left end for the score.

Throwing sparingly as he had in the previous two games, Flutie completed 7 of 14 passes for 74 yards and threw only four times in the second half.



AP photo

Patriot running back John Stephens celebrates a touchdown in yesterday's 21-10 win over Miami at Sullivan Stadium.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Your chance to get ahead now.

Earn
3 Credits in
3 Weeks!

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Winter Session

Mail Registration—November 12-December 14
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 12. (Do not use campus mail.)

Walk-in Registration—
November 28-January 6
Room 615 Goodell Building

Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!

Classes start January 4, 1989.

For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

TIME OUT

Where The Action Is!

Monday Night Football

FREE HOT DOGS

CLEVELAND BROWNS VS. HOUSTON OILERS

Coors & Coors Light $1.25

∞ You deserve some Time Out ∞

37 N. Pleasant St • Mass ID required

$2.00 OFF new clients only

Chic Cuts

- Wash + Wear Perms, Body Waves
- Coloring and Dimensional Highlighting
- Facial Waxing
- Manicure
- Facials
- Body Wraps

Expires 11/15/88

We offer a 100% money back guarantee on all of our hair care products •Redken •Nexus •Paul Mitchell

make your fashion statement

Styles By Deborah

65 University Dr., Amherst

549-5610

Collegian photo by Andrew Rist

Sue Cooper (left) and the Minutewomen will face the University of Wisconsin-Madison next Sunday in an NCAA quarterfinal round game at Boyden Field.

■ women's soccer gets Wisconsin

continued from page 20

"I expect them to come here running and gunning," Rudy said. "They're a blue-collar team, they work hard and pressurize all over the field."

UMass has met Wisconsin just one other time. The Badgers visited Boyden last fall, with the Minutewomen finishing their regular season with a 3-1 win.

In other playoff games this weekend, George Mason knocked off William and Mary on Saturday, 1-0, for the right to play North Carolina State in the quarterfinals. The University of Central Florida will battle top-ranked University of North Carolina on Sunday after beating the University of Virginia, 2-0 yesterday.

In the other quarterfinal next weekend, Colorado College will host the University of California-Berkeley, which beat St. Mary's (Calif.) yesterday, 2-0.

■ football tops Richmond

continued from page 20

In the third quarter, Richmond capitalized on a pair of Minuteman fumbles to take a 16-13 lead as the final period began.

The Minutemen's second touchdown had come on a 1-yard touchdown run by Steve Olson. A two-point conversion attempt fell incomplete.

After Smellie's 2-yard run made the score 20-16, the Spiders were driving late in the game when Neuhoff went out with a concussion.

"If Austin stays in the game, I believe we win," said Richmond coach Dal Shealy.

Neuhoff left the game with 101 yards rushing, a career high.

Richmond's final three drives ended in turnovers, with Silvio Bonvini drilling field goals of 44 and 28 yards to finalize the score.

For Bonvini, whose missed extra point was the difference in last year's loss to Richmond, the win was welcome.

"I can't emphasize enough how crappy I felt after last year's game," Bonvini said. "It was real sweet to come down here and take care of things."

Reid said Shealy did the best coaching job against the UMass defense all year, but the Minutemen didn't let it get them down.

"I've got to credit our guys with never quitting," Reid said. "When you're getting beat offensively you need to wait on the sidelines for a mistake. We needed those turnovers."

Shealy, whose Spiders dropped their third straight, said his team had one of its better days in terms of all-around effort and it was disappointing that the scoreboard did not reflect it.

UR tailback Erwin Matthews, who scored six touchdowns against UMass last year, is out for the season wih a knee injury. His replacement was sophopmore Eric Hopkins (15 carries for 64 yards), who Reid described as a great player lacking only experience.

For UMass, Smellie finished with 11 carries for 116 yards and Jim Pastorick carried 14 timed for 83 yards.

Palazzi was 4-for-8 for 38 yards and a touchdown, and added 47 yards rushing.

Collegian staff member Matt Gerke contributed to this story.

■ volleyball at Hofstra

continued from page 20

"They weren't going to let us take advantage of them. We really didn't play defense and our hitting wasn't that good. We weren't hitting the points when we needed them," Olsen said.

In Saturday's first match, UMass met a buzzsaw in Hofstra University. The Flying Duchesses are one of the top teams in the East with a 29-5 record. The Minutewomen trailed in every game but usually came back in the end to fall only just shy.

In the first game UMass could get no closer than 5-10 and again the "errors" were present, according to Olsen.

"We were real slow. There was a poor transition from offense to defense," she said.

The second game was the heartbreaker for UMass. Again the Minutewomen spotted their opponent the lead (although not intentially) at 0-4. UMass tied the game at 4-4 and even led the Duchesses at 12-9. But the rug got pulled out from beneath them. Hofstra took six of the next seven points for the 2-0 match lead.

"We made a couple of mistakes and they took advantage of that. They were winning the key rallys toward the end," Olsen said. "It was a good comeback."

UMass wasn't able to recover and rally for the next game. The Minutewomen were blown off the floor in the third game — only registering one kill in the 2-15 debacle.

"After that [disappointing second game] there was no blocking," Olsen said.

Losing two of three puts UMass' in an alarmingly tough position of trying to gather momentum for the Atlantic 10 tournament in two weeks, but Olsen said she's not worried.

"I don't think that [lost momentum] is anthing to worry about. We can rebound," she said.

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO
AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS
ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT
FOR SALE • FOUND
HELP WANTED • LOST

INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES
PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED
RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES
ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL
WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30):• DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

PSYCHOLOGY MAJORS- Come to Job Search Workshop, Monday Nov 7th 4 to 5pm in Tobin 204 Plan for the future

SEE DR. STRANGELOVE TONIGHT! Student Union Ballroom at 7,9,11

ATTENTION UMASS

ELISA BERGER IS TURNING 21 ON NOV. 7 This notice is to inform the 20 people whom she hasn't already told. Have a great day. Go wild and crazy. First stop Delanos Drinks on me. Love ya, Dr. Ellen PS. Going back to Time Out, to Time Out, to Time Out No, I don't think so !

AUTO FOR SALE

77 PLY FURY 2 dr p.st. p.bk. am/fm cassette. Great running condition invincible 318 clean int slid body Mike 549-6472

1981 CHEVY MALIBU WAGON 73,000 miles standard. Good condition $1200 253-5494.

80 SAAB 900 TURBO - 5 speed, FM, tape, AC. Needs transmission work, excellent condition otherwise $2,850. Call 774-7300.

1978 FORD GRANADA low miles needs battery $275. 549-3591 A steal

78 DODGE COLT 4 sp new radials radial snows new suspension runs great extras $300 Rich 256-0613, 549-9903

FORD EXCORT WAGON 1983 ex condition A/C roof rack 50,000 miles 256-0933

81 HONDA ACCORD HATCH Silver, 89000 mi $1600 Call Teresa 549-0793

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 spd Dark grey new tires, rims runs very well. $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184.

1970 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires. $2,500. Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen.

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE - Over 700 CD's Great Sound! All occassions 549-1421

ELISA BERGER

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO MY BIG SISTER Eventhough we've had our "bad times," we've managed to survive them all. Have a great day-I can't wait to celebrate MY 21st birthday (eventhough it's still 410 days away. Now I can start counting down!) I love you, Michal

ENTERTAINMENT

KLUBKAVE D.J. SERVICES - Professional music system at unbeatable prices 546-6518

FREE CD PLAYER

FREE CD PLAYER
Raffle tickets available
Nov 7th, 8th, 9th in Campus Center Concourse Compliments of BRW ELECTRONICS and AEPi

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Discjockeys and large screen video dances Dorms/organizations 256-8526.

FOR RENT

1 - BEDROOM APT IN Cliffside Apts Sunderland, $450/mo. Take over lease for Spring Semester. Call Paolo 665-4927

2 BDRM APT on Main St take over Sept lease Grad students or professional people please Call 256-8040

FOR SALE

BUD KEG TAPS You need them I have them Ouquilty $20. Bill 549-6989.

GUCCI WATCHES ONLY $35 Many styles-great gifts Call Brian 549-5440

BRAND NEW HP-12C Business calc only $50, list in 80. Call 253-2908 ask for Jon

78 TOYOTA COROLLA engine in excellent condition. Good body must sell $650 or BO Call Pierre 545-2569

HONDA 750 CUSTOM 81, excellent condition, full face helmet and rain cover included, $850.00 or BO. Must sell. Leave message 256-0995. Steve

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406.

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket. Call David 1-566-8212

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget! Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St. Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin. We deliver!

HELP WANTED

SUMMER BUSINESS EARN AVERAGE $7000 Excellent experience for more information contact Adam 665-2527

GAIN VALUABLE MARKETING EXPERIENCE while earning money and free trips. Campus representatives needed immediately for Spring Break trips to Florida and South Padre Island. Call Echo Tours at 1-800-999-4300

$$NEED XTRA CASH? PT/FT & intersession retail sales & cashier positions available downtown Northampton. Nov 15-Jan 15. -586-5624 Kathy

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information. 504-641-8003 ext. 598

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring, excellent benefits. Call 1-312-741-8400 ext. J-5931A

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring, excellent benefits. Call 1-312-741-8400 Ext. J-5931A

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information. 504-641-8003 Ext. 598

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 545-0865.

LAST CHANCE
LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

NOVEMBER 7th IS THE last day to contact the Legal Services Center about a Spring 1989 internship! Get hands-on experience in the legal field. Work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergreduate credits. No experience in legal profession required—Training provided. Contact LSC today—545-1995, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

LOST IN BARTLETT: Man's brown, zip, leather jacket. Reward $30 549-6025.

CASH REWARD $$$$- Wallet lost Sat Oct 29 Student no. 890-5319 Call 6-9707 Bill

MOTORCYCLES

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD. Helmet, cover shield $850. Joe 549-7423 Evenings.

PERSONALS

ELISA BERGER
Happy 21st Birthday. No more counting down-you've made it (unless they decide to change the drinking age again!) Your Sisters wish you the best day ever!

ELISA BERGER FINALLY I can call you by your first name in a bar! Happy 21st Love Sue

DR. RUTH, I HAVE THIS friend who's afraid of the bomb what should he do? "Vell, tell your friend to see Dr. Strangelove tonight at 7,9, and 11 at the Student Union Ballroom for only $2." Gee thanks Dr. Ruth

UMASS JUGGLING FESTIVAL
* Workshops Demonstrations Vendors *
* Fri, 11/11 3pm to Sun, 11/13 5pm in the *
* Campus Center auditorium free with *
UMass ID
*Also, a FREE public show Sat, 11/12 7pm *
* in th SUB Sponsored by the *
* Umass Juggling Club *

JANIE-BABY!
HBD, Sweets! Wes gonna get you s PT but...You'll have to settle for a personal. Love you, T (and Uncle Davey says hi, too.)

THUY LE- Happy 21st birthday, have a good one! Love, Jen

TODAY IS THUY LE'S 21st birthday, will someone please take her out and get her drunk? Thanks-The youngster

TERRY, THANKS FOR A wonderful night! You really ouldd yourself! Love, Elissa P.S. I couldn't let you leave this place without a personal, so here it is

D. KIM WYSMIERSKI- You're the best R.D. on campus. Wa love you! The poets corner staff

TO THE CUTE GIRL I MET Fri the 28th at the library near closing time. I liked talking with you, I like you and would like to see you again. If you want to see me again, I'll be practically living here for at least another week at the same place till 10pm

HEY POLO MAN! Nice try- but your stare tactics don't scare us off. What was the point anyway? Love, your two adoring fans.

BRIAN HENINGER
Happy 21st Birthday
Have s hell of a time, Bud

AARON- HEY DUDE, happy 19th birthday. Go wild. Love Eunmi

GABICITO, SUENO CONTIGO. Ya falta menos te quiero mucho J.

'MAKE DAVID'S DREAM COME TRUE'
* Sigma Phi Epsilon will be sponsoring *
* a drop off for post cards. Take the * * time to bring a smile to David's face. *
* The table will be on the *
* Campus Center Concourse all week. *

TUCK-INS BY SIGMA KAPPA PLEDGES today thru We. 9-11pm $1.00. If you want to send a tuck-in to s brother in the Greek aras, call 546-1461

ATTENTION SAMMY PLEDGES:
* The ones who sre in, thought it was *
* them, but soon you will know, it was *
* the 15 men. The BALL is still rolling *
* uphill ! *
AOOLPH FABIS

CAMPUS CAKES
We will deliver
A cake and a bundle of balloons
for only $18.95
256-8745

HAPPY 18th JIMBO! Now you can go clubbing with me next summer! Love ya, Jen

EARN $60-$120/SHIFT! Drivers wanted. Must own an insured car and be able to work at least one weekend night until closing. Call Domino's Pizza 256-8913.

1989 COLLEGE SKI WEEKS
* Destinations, Lake Tahoe-Hesvenly *
* Vermont-Sugarbush, Smugglers Notch, *
* Killington. Ski all day/party all night *
* For lowest prices call 546-6612 or * 546-5242

RESUME SERVICE

EFFECTIVE RESUMES Seven years experience. Bill 584-7316

RIDE WANTED

TWO PEOPLE NEED RIDE to Syracuse or surrounding sres weekend of Nov 11-Nov 13. Please call Cathleen and leave message at 546-7785

ROOMATE WANTED

PUFFTON VILLAGE- large double room available, $140 per person. Rent includes heat, gas, water. Ask for Mike 549-2654

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share s one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550.

SERVICES

PROFESSIONAL TYPING, letter-quality printing $2 page. Patty 585-0425.

TYPING, TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate. 253-WORD.

DIRT CHEAP RESUMES. Very experienced. Laserwriter quality. Pick-up/drop off. Overnight service. Lisa 367-9940

ACCURATE TYPING. Pickup and delivery 15¢ pp. Basic editing. Gloria 323-5140

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor. Call Carolyn-leave message 253-5667.

ST. JUDE

MOST HOLY APOSTLE, St. Jude, Faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the church honors and invokes you, universally, as the patron of hopless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use I implore you, of this particular priviledge given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings, and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise oh blessed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you. AMEN

SWING DANCE

JITTERBUG LESSONS Start this sunday at East Street Dance Studio in Hadley, on Est Street just off Rt. 9. 4 classes will be held: beginning Swing, Nov. 6, beginning Swing II, Nov. 13, Intermediate Swing, Sunday, Nov. 20, Tips dips and new moves, Sunday Dec. 4. All workshops run from 3-5pm. classes are $7 each or $25 for all four. No partner necessary. (right feet not required)

TRAVEL

* MONTREAL HOLIDAY WEEKEND *
* still spaces left! Don't miss out this a *
* going to crazy, nutty, cukoo time! You *
* snooze and you lose dude! Barb open *
* to 3 in the AM drinking age is 18. *
* Lowest prices Call Craig or Keri at * 549-1949

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS, rahlable on-campus, affordable, spelling/grammar reviewed 584-7924 Nancy.

WANTED

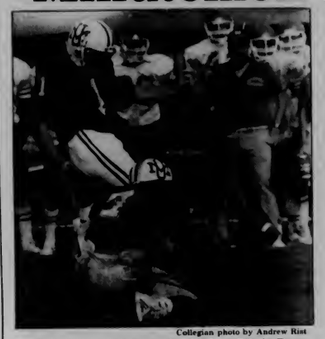
CHRISTIAN AVOCATIONAL bass player looking for similar musicians 256-0849, Carol

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hurns) notes. will pay money$$. Shirley 549-2710.

WORK IN BRITIAN/IRELAND LEGALLY FOR UP TO 6 MONTHS

THE BUNAC/USIT FALL ROADSHOW will be visiting UMass on Thursday 3, November. Information available between 10am and 3pm in the Campus Center concourse followed by a presentation between 6:30 and 8:30pm in room 168, Campus Center. Everyone welcome.

Minutemen run past Richmond, 26-16



Collegian photo by Andrew Rist

Revenge was sweet for kicker Silvio Bonvini in Saturday's 26-16 win at Richmond.

By JAY CARTER
Special to the Collegian

RICHMOND, Va. — It was a necessary win, not just for winning percentage or conference standings, but for team morale.

The University of Massachusetts football team gave itself a boost Saturday by scoring 13 fourth-quarter points to come from behind and beat Richmond 26-16.

The victory not only helped erase memories of last year's 52-51 four overtime loss to Richmond, but also guaranteed the Minutemen a winning season, as they improved to 6-3 with two games left.

"The biggest goal is to make sure your program is perceived as a success," UMass head coach Jim Reid said. "And we've reached our first goal by getting the magic six wins. We have more goals which we can acheive with the remaining two games."

And combined with New Hampshire's 58-7 romp over Villanova and UConn's 21-20 win over Delaware, the win puts UMass (5-2) in a three-way tie with UConn and Villanova for second place in the conference, behind Delaware, 6-2.

Richmond falls to 2-6 in the conference and 3-6 overall.

The Minutemen were outgained by the Spiders 356 yards to 286 but three late-game turnovers helped UMass go home with the win.

"They contained our defense with their running game but we made the big plays," Reid said. "We were opportunistic. It was a struggle like every other game. But we played hard every snap, and we always had an opportunity to win."

The game began inauspiciously for the visitors. Richmond held the ball for over 13 minutes of the first quarter, allowing UMass only five plays from scrimmage.

On the first of those plays, though, senior Kevin Smellie went around the left side for a 77-yard gain. Three plays later, Dave Palazzi threw a 12-yard touchdown pass to Chip Mitchell for a 7-0 UMass lead.

On its two first quarter drives, Richmond drove deep inside UMass territory before self-destructuing.

On its first drive, the Spiders got to the UMass 14-yard line before a holding call and an offensive pass interference call stifled the drive.

Penalties did the Spiders in all day, as they lost 85 yards on infractions.

After Palazzi's touchdown, Richmond drove 57 yards to the UMass 22 before Minuteman linebacker Drew Comeau intercepted an Austin Neuhoff pass.

Richmond kicker Rob Courter hit a 46-yard field goal to narrow the margin to 7-3 in the second quarter.

With four seconds left in the half, Courter kicked a 22-yard field goal, leaving the score 7-6 at the half.

continued on page 19

SPORTS

Field hockey grabs A-10 championship

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

In its first season ever, the Atlantic 10 field hockey conference has been a huge success.

This weekend's A-10 Championships at Temple University, which included four of the top 20 teams in the nation, could not have ended with much more excitement.

It will be remembered by the Atlantic 10 and especially the Minutewomen for years to come.

UMass, won the Atlantic 10 championship yesterday, 1-0, over a Penn State University team that was probably not surprised to lose after falling to the Minutewomen, 3-0, in the regular season.

But the way that the Lady Lions lost the game must have been a big disappointment to them.

The lone goal of the game came with just 15 seconds left in the game. Junior Mara Fratassio picked up a loose rebound on the right side of the net, after Penn State goalie Michelle Brennan had knocked a Ruth Vasapolli free hit away, and tucked it home to give the Minutewomen the A-10 title.

The win raises UMass, ranked No. 4 in the country and which also beat Rutgers 2-0 on Saturday in the semifinal round of the tourney, to 17-2-1 and gives it an excellent chance of receiving a bye in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, which will begin next weekend.

Penn State, who beat Temple University, 3-2, in its semifinal game, goes to 14-5-1 and, having come into this weekend as the No. 10 team in the nation, has a legitimate chance at a playoff spot.

The Lady Lions gave the Minutewomen much more trouble than they did in the previous encounter at Totman Field. With senior Tonia Kennedy, who is UMass' second leading scorer, out with a hamstring pull, the Minutewomen had a tough time putting the ball in the net.

"We had lots of shots and opportunities," UMass coach Pam Hixon, who was named the Atlantic 10 coach-of-the-year this weekend, said. "We just couldn't put the ball in."

Penn State appeared to have the perfect game plan as its zone defense turned the Minutewomen away on a number of occasions and their fast-breaking attack kept the Minutewomen on their heels.

"Penn State played much better than the first time they played us," Hixon said. "They played a deep zone; it was tough for us to get out. In the second half, they really stormed us, they just kept running at the ball. We have a tough time with that kind of style."

The only way that UMass was able to combat that fastbreak was to foul. The Lady Lions drew nine penalty corners in the first half as compared to three for the Minutewomen.

But Cindy Cox, who is the leading goaltender in the A-10 with a 0.44 goals against average, shut down Penn State with nine saves. And senior Julie Stuart helped limit the Lady Lions to 14 shots in the game by doing the job at her sweeper position.

Stuart was named tournament Most Valuable Player and was named to the All-Tournament team along with senior co-captains Pam Bustin and Ruth Vasapolli in the midfield, and Cox.

Collegian photo by Andrew Rist

Kathy DeAngelis and the Minutewomen won the first-ever Atlantic 10 Conference championship yesterday, beating Penn State 1-0.

Volleyball drops two of three

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

The term Tournament Tough is applied to teams who have been tested and not cracked in pressure situations of a tournament. The University of Massachusetts volleyball team, however, has a reverse motto after this weekend — Tough Tournament.

The Minutewomen lost two of three matches in Hempstead, N.Y. at the Hofstra Tournament. They lost to the University of Pennsylvania 15-10, 7-15, 10-15, 8-15 on Friday, and then split matches on Saturday, falling to Hofstra University 6-15, 13-15, 2-15 in the day's first game but earning a hard fought victory against George Mason University 15-2, 11-15, 15-9, 12-15, 15-13 in the last match of the tourney.

"We played rather mediocrely," UMass assistant coach Heather Olsen said. "We had spurts of greatness but we had a lot of errors."

"Errors" was the catch word for the tournament, according to Olsen.

"We had a lot of mental errors but I think that can be fixed," she said.

By the end of the weekend, UMass was still looking for its first win of the tournament. George Mason, UMass' last opponent and the weakest of the four teams, was the Minutewomen's last chance to save face. The Patriots, however, were also looking for their first win and wouldn't let UMass off the hook easily.

The two teams slugged out a five-game marathon. UMass (6-0 in matches that have gone five games) fortunately, gave a stronger kick at the end.

The entire match came down to a thrilling fifth-game battle.

UMass led throughout the early part of the game, until GMU could tie the game at 10-10. Each team exchanged points and tied again at 13-13. When it all counted, UMass came through, winning the next two points and the match.

"It really shouldn't have been that tough," Olsen said. "It was a noble effort [by George Mason]."

UMass senior middle blocker Barbara Meehan, UMass' only all-tournament selection, carried the Minutewomen according to Olsen. Meehan had 15 kills and nine blocks in the match.

"She had some fantastic hits," Olsen said.

In UMass' first match of the tourney, the Minutewomen bolted out to a 6-1 first-game lead before the Quakers could stop the UMass assault and eventually tie the game at 8-8. From there it was all UMass. Senior outside hitter Julie Smith had two service aces in the final nine points, including one at game point, to capture the first game.

In all of the next three games, however, UMass let the Quakers take the early lead, something UMass coach Carol Ford said before the tournament that she wanted UMass to avoid. Statistically Smith led UMass with 12 kills in the match while sophomore outside hitter Nancy Sullivan chipped in nine.

continued on page 19

Women's soccer gets Wisconsin in quarterfinals

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

The University of Wisconsin-Madison women's soccer team will be the first team in the way of the University of Massachusetts' quest for the national championship.

The two teams will meet Sunday at 1 p.m. at Boyden Field in the NCAA quarterfinals. The winner advances to the Final Four the next weekend.

"I expected them," UMass coach Jim Rudy said of the Minutewomen's opponents. "This is a big win for Wisconsin."

Wisconsin won the rights to play the Minutewomen, by beating the University of Connecticut, 1-0 on penalty kicks, yesterday afternoon in Madison.

Due to a large snowfall which rendered the Badgers' regular field unplayable, the game had to be delayed for over an hour while a new field was found.

When play finally began, Wisconsin and Connecticut battled through 90 minutes of regulation and two 10-minute overtimes before the Badgers finally settled the score on kicks, 4-2.

continued on page 19

Get out and vote!!

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 44

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1988

INSIDE

- Dr. Ruth gets a rise at UMass. Page 3.
- Fishbone previewed. Page 6.
- UMass sinks and swims in water. Page 16.

Collegian photo by Dondi Abearn

HEY, HEY, HO, HO — Protesters in an anti-Klu Klux Klan protest burn a Ronald Reagan mask Saturday afternoon in Philadelphia. The mask was burned because of supposed Reagan imposed anti-Civil Rights policies.

More details in ATG hazing

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

One of the hazing activities being investigated by Amherst police at the Alpha Tau Gamma fraternity at the University of Massachusetts is a ritual of inserting carrots in the rectums of pledges, a University official said yesterday.

The official, insisting on anonymity, said another practice was waking up the pledges during the night and pouring cold water on them.

Fraternity members have refused to comment on the allegations.

The police began their investigation Thursday at the request of University officials, who are legally required to inform police of possible hazing incidents.

Several concerned parents and students contacted the University about a week ago, said Gladys Rodriguez, acting dean of students.

Rodriguez said her office "looked into the matter," and ordered the pledges to move out of the fraternity house.

ATG is affiliated with the Stockbridge School of Agriculture, which is a two-year program, and the pledges rush in the summer and live in the house while pledging in the fall.

Chancellor Joseph Duffey said the 14 pledges were assigned to University residence halls, out of "concern for their health and safety."

Rodriguez said University Housing Services provided vans to help the pledges move their belongings out of the house.

The police said they are still compiling information on the matter and will not take the results of the investigation to the Northwestern District Attorney's Office in Northampton for another week.

"I've got a long way to go yet," said Detective Sgt. Timothy Sullivan, an officer involved in the investigation.

Carlene Riccelli, director of Greek Affairs, said the University is also conducting an investigation and is sending out prehearing notices to members of the fraternity this week.

Riccelli declined to comment on the specifics of the charges.

She said disciplinary action could be anything from a simple reprimand to expulsion of the fraternity from campus.

Hazing is a violation of the UMass Code of Student Conduct as well as Massachusetts General Law.

The University warns its students in a widely distributed publication that victims of hazing can bring civil lawsuits against those responsible.

No disciplinary action has yet been taken against the fraternity members.

Approximately 1,200 students at UMass belong to the Greek system, which consists of 14 fraternities and 9 sororities.

The members of ATG live in two chapter houses located on North Pleasant Street.

Attack said to be unprovoked

Amherst Police believe a University of Massachusetts student who suffered a fractured skull late Sunday night was the victim of an "unprovoked" attack.

The student, who was taken to Cooley Dickinson Hospital in Northampton and transferred to Bay State Medical Center in Springfield, was walking on North Pleasant Street near Presidential Apartments, police said.

Officers investigating the scene found a rock and a fast-food milk shake container, and the rock had milk shake residue on it. Police said they suspect someone put the rock in the container and threw it from a passing vehicle.

Co-presidents elect comply with removal order

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz, Student Government Association co-presidents-elect, said yesterday they will comply with a senate order barring them from acting as SGA presidents.

"We've been saying all along that the senate is the higher body and what the senate says is law for us," Rabinowitz said.

"We're still co-presidents-elect, and we'll do as much as we can without overstepping the bounds the senate has created for us," he said.

At a news conference yesterday, Silkoff said she and Rabinowitz will continue to work on various committees and programs they have been involved with since the SGA Coordinating Committee ratified them as presidents in a partial capacity June 8.

The two won a March 15 presidential election, but since have been delayed from holding office because of ambiguities in the SGA Constitution and its bylaws. Conservative and some moderate factions of the senate have been working to keep Silkoff and Rabinowitz out of office.

Silkoff criticized the authors of the proposal to bar them from office yesterday, saying, "What they succeeded in doing is telling the students that their vote doesn't matter." She said the attitude of Sens. Brian Darling and W. Greg Rothman, who proposed the restrictions, is "'Democracy doesn't work unless you vote for what we want.'"

Rothman said he was not surprised by Silkoff and Rabinowitz's decision to abide by the senate order. He said

continued on page 11

Margins in presidential polls vary on election day

By GARY LANGER
Associated Press

NEW YORK — George Bush yesterday maintained his month-old lead in the polls over Michael Dukakis, but his margin varied from four points in one survey to 11 in another.

AP photo

George Bush

Pollsters blamed their differing figures on relatively higher levels of voter dissatisfaction and indecision, factors that increase the difficulty of determining who is likely to vote and make turnout a crucial element.

"When a vote is soft like this, the get-out-the-vote efforts take on a lot more importance," said Gallup pollster Larry Hugick. "People don't feel about it strongly. They can vote the way they say, they can stay home, or they can be urged by somebody to change their vote."

Twenty percent in Gallup's Final pre-election poll were undecided or said they could change their minds, easy enough to alter the outcome in the many big states where the election was considered close.

Nationally, the Gallup poll gave Bush an 11-point lead among likely voters, 53 percent to 42 percent. Apportioning the five percent who remained undecided by their background and ideology, Gallup arrived a 56-44 estimate.

A Harris poll conducted Wednesday through Sunday put the race at 50 percent to 46 percent, and pollster Louis Harris said his findings indicated that the race had drawn closer last week and through the weekend.

Gallup, however, said it had found essentially stable race, with Bush leading by 12 points on Thursday and by 11 on Saturday and Sunday. Its final estimate combined the results of those four days.

Even with the margin it gave Bush, Gallup found the race tightening in the East, the industrial Mid-west and on the Pacific Coast. "The South is a big blow out [for Bush]," said Hugick. "But there's a lot of states that don't look like the national race."

Only about half of each candidates' supporters in the Gallup poll backed them strongly, indicating the extent of voter dissatisfaction. In an example of the possible effect of vote turnout, Gallup found Bush leading by 8 points among all registered voters, compared with 11 points among likely voters.

An NBC News-Wall Street Journal poll Sunday found Bush out ahead by 5 points, while other polls found Bush leads of 10, 11, and 12.

AP photo

Michael Dukakis

WORLD/NATION

Soviets celebrate 71st anniversary of revolution

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union celebrated its 71st anniversary yesterday with a traditional display of military might on Red Square, and the top US diplomat attended for the first time since the Soviets intervened in Afghanistan.

The parade commemorating the Bolshevick Revolution took on less of a political character than in past years of higher international tension. Defense Minister Dmitri T. Yazov criticized Western defense policies during a short and comparatively mild speech, and banners displayed on the square had an almost exclusively domestic, economic character.

President Mikhail S. Gorbachev and Premier Nikolai I. Ryzhkov walked onto Lenin's Mausoleum and acknowledged the applause of the crowd alone at the center of the reviewing stand. In contrast to previous years, the other members of the Communist Party's ruling Politburo followed far behind them.

Moscow party leader Lev N. Zaikov stood on Gorbachev's right throughout the parade, a possible indication that he has moved up in the party leadership.

Yegor K. Ligachev, a conservative who formerly was regarded as as the No. 2 Kremlin leader, stood next to Ryzhkov, an indication he has fallen. in the hierarchy.

All 11 Moscow-based members of the Politburo attended the gathering marking the the anniversary of the seizure of power from the Bolsheviks in 1917. The annual event is often one of the clearest indicators of changes in the hierarchy.

Some of the Soviet Union's most sophisticated military technology including SS-21 surface-to-surface missiles. T-72 tanks, anti-aircraft weapons, armored personnel carriers and rocket launchers followed. Western diplomats said there were no new weapons.

Thousands of soldiers, diplomats and spectators jammed Moscow's main square under blustery, leaden skies. A light snow fell, the temperature was just below freezing, and Red Square was adorned with a giant red-and-white portrait of of Lenin and political slogans.

John M. Joyce, the US charge d'affaires, was at the parade, said Embassy spokesman Richard Gilbert.

It was the first time the top US diplomat in Moscow attended the Revolution Day parade since the Soviets sent soldiers to Afghanistan in December 1979. Gilbert said US Ambassador Jack F. Matlock was out of town and would have attended had he been in Moscow.

Ambassadors of other NATO countries also attended the parade. Their return reflected the the agreement signed in Geneva April 14 under which half of the 100,000 Soviet soldiers have been withdrawn from Afghanistan and the remainder are to leave by Feb. 15.

However, fighting continues in Afghanistan and the Soviet Union on Friday said it was suspending its withdrawal because of continuing attacks by Moslem rebels.

Yazov reviewed the soldier and sailors on Red Square and delivered a mild message criticizing Western military policies.

"The destruction of medium and shorter-range nuclear weapons has just begun, yet already there are calls for all kinds of compensation, modernization, the buildup of conventional arms and the stepping up of the 'Star Wars' program," he said.

Following the speech, divisions of the Soviet Union's top soldiers began the traditional parade through Red Square, past Lenin's Mausoleum.

Thousands of people began gathering in the early morning cold hours earlier. Music was piped into the streets that had been closed to traffic and marchers gathered on main thoroughfares carrying pink and yellow balloons toward the Red Square.

AP photo

Surface-to-air missles are paraded through Red Square during the annual celebration of the Bolshevic revolution. Signs hung on the GUM department store proclaim support for Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev's reforms.

Hirohito's condition stabilizes

TOKYO (AP) — Emperor Hirohito's vital signs stabilized yesterday one day afer his most serious loss of blood since falling ill seven weeks ago with internal hemorrhaging, an imperial palace spokesman said.

The 87-year-old Hirohito, who has received almost daily blood tranfusions since he first coughed up blood Sept. 19, received 4.66 pints in emergency blood transfusions Sunday, spokesman Kenji Maeda said.

Also today Hirohito's second grandson, Prince Aya, arrived in Tokyo after he was called back from Britain for the second time since the emperor took ill. Aya, 22, is studying at Oxford University.

He returned to Japan the end of September for nine days when Hirohito's conditions took a turn for the worse, and his latest return was expected to fuel concern over the fate of the bedridden emperor.

The world's longest-reigning living monarch was "in stable condition for the time being," Maeda told reporters. But "doctors fear he may bleed again," he said.

"His temperature and other signs are stable," Maeda said, but did not give the figures.

Hirohito received the transfusions Sunday because of considerable" amounts of blood lost during intensified hemorrhaging, palace officials said.

Looking for a perfect place to hold a party?

PEKING GARDEN

Our spacious banquet rooms can seat up to 200 guests.

Call today and reserve our party room for weddings, banquets, receptions.

586-1202

coupon
SAVE 10% OFF ALL DINNERS
with this coupon good thru 11/30/88
Limit one per party.
Open till 1 a.m. Fri. and Sat.

the all new PEKING GARDEN
A MANDARIN & SZECHUAN RESTAURANT
on Route 9, Hadley 北京園 586-1202

UMASS SKI CLUB
MANDATORY MEETING
Wednesday, November 9, 1988
for
The Great Ski Snatch
November 17-19, 1988

WE NEED YOUR HELP!

- Benefits & Lots of Fun-Don't miss out!
- Great chance to meet & work with people

Come to our information & sign-up meeting:
4:00 p.m. 163 CC
7:00 p.m. Hampden Dining Commons
(members and non-members welcome)

LOCAL

Dr. Ruth dispels sex myths at UMass

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

Outrageous.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Dr. Ruth Westheimer

"What we have to do tonight at this famous university is to bury some of the myths about pregnancy and masturbation."

Dr. Ruth Westheimer said those words last night and proceeded to explore some of the misconceptions about human sexuality in a free-wheeling speech and question-and-answer session.

Speaking to a largely female audience of nearly 700 in the Campus Center Auditorium last night, Westheimer broke up the crowd with an anecdote about a man who had called in and told her that he and his girlfriend were in love, and having great sex, and that she liked to throw onion rings on his erect penis.

When the audience erupted with laughter, she said, "I did exactly what you are doing . . . because as a good sex therapist, I try to envision what people do in their bedroom.

"There is an American myth that says if you masturbate you will grow hair on your palms, you will go blind, you will go insane."

She said that when she told this story to a Harvard audience, the men began looking at their hands.

"These are the myths that we have to bury here tonight," Westheimer said.

"A while ago a young woman called me and said she and her boyfriend went to a party and had a little bit too much to drink . . . She said she couldn't understand why she got pregnant, she thought the first time didn't count." Westheimer said the woman asked how many spermatozoa it takes to get pregnant, and she replied, "one fast one."

She used this story to set up her point: "I'm not a politician and I'm not a theologian, but from where I stand abortion must remain legal."

Thundering applause rang from the crowd.

Westheimer said she does not encourage abortion as a contraceptive, and advises people to stick by whatever they believe in.

She was asked by a member of the audience if women have a lower sex drive than men, and said, "What we have learned is that a women's libido [sex drive] is no different than a man's.

She made an analogy to the term "blue balls," used when a man is turned on and does not have sex. She came up with a similar term for women.

"Maybe what we have to do is coin a new term here in Amherst tonight — 'blue lips.'"

Westheimer also turned to serious problems, such as date rape. She did not come out against the term, but described it as "a dangerous concept."

The sold-out event last night was sponsored by the Board of Governors Program Council.

Dean toughens penalty for racism at Smith

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

NORTHAMPTON — The dean of Smith College has sent a memo stating that any student who is found to have sent racially harassing messages? Smith College Dean Ann M. Burger, sent the memo last week to every student attending the all female college. The memo was titled "Guidelines for Investigation of Anonymous Notes and Messages."

"Harassment of any kind has no place at Smith College," and delivering racist notes is "grounds for suspension and expulsion," Burger wrote in the memo.

The action comes in response to a series of recent incidents involving anonymous racist notes left under the doors several black students.

This semester three students have reported receiving notes with racist messages. Last spring, six students in one dorm reported receiving such notes.

The students who reported the notes this year live in three different dorms. Two reported receiving at least one note, and the third reported receiving five in a four-week period, the Daily Hampshire Gazette reported Friday.

The woman who received five notes found one under her door following a meeting in which the situation was discussed.

Burger said at the meeting handwriting experts have been called in to determine the author of the notes. The following morning the black student got a note with racial slurs and the comment, "How's this for handwriting?"

The notes also suggested the woman move out of her dorm, which she has since done.

According to the guidelines, once the harassment notes are reported, an investigation will be initiated immediately, which might include consultants from the Northampton Police Department or the Hampshire County District Attorney's Office.

Also, individual students might be called in to meet with the investigators.

Assistant District Attorney for the Hampshire County Michael Goggins said Smith officials have contacted the DA's office for assistance in the matter.

"They contacted this office sometime in the past concerning this investigation and we've been of assistance to them," Goggins said.

Goggins would not reveal the details or the kind of assistance the district attorney's office has done so far, since the investigation is still being conducted.

The college is still gathering samples of students' handwriting in their efforts to find the culprits.

Board undecided on frats

By LISA JOHNSON
Collegian Correspondent

Amherst Selectmen arrived at a stalemate last night over whether or not to stop fraternity/sorority growth along North Pleasant Street.

The board voted 2-2, with one member absent, to oppose the article and the motion died.

The two selectmen who were opposed, Allen Torrey and Elisa Campbell, said they had not yet made up their minds and wanted to wait until Thursday's selectmen meeting to vote.

Selectmen Richard Minear was not present at last night's meeting.

Article 17 would rezone North Pleasant and Phillips streets from campus residence to general residence. The change would stop growth of fraternities and sororities, hotel/motels and boarding houses.

Proponents of the article say its a step in the right direction to controlling noise, parking problems, and neighborhood damage.

Opponents say controlling growth will not solve the immediate problems.

Planning Board Member Richard Mitchell, told selectmen his board had voted against the article last week because they didn't feel it would solve the neighborhoods problems.

"The zoning change would be harmful to the area and wouldn't address the problems in the area of noise and litter," said Mitchell.

Mitchell said if the article went through almost half of the buildings in the rezoned package would be nonconforming, an extremely high number.

Campbell said more creative solutions were needed to solve the neighborhoods problems and urged resident, town, and campus cooperation.

"I share the neighbors frustrations," said Campbell. "We need to send a message to the fraternities that something must be done."

Selectmen will address the article again on Thursday before town meeting.

In other news:

- Selectmen referred Article 31 regarding the Galaxy C-5A's back to themselves for further discussion.

The amicus brief is still being prepared for submittal into the appeals case pending selectmen's approval.

- Selectmen voted to take no position on Special Article 7 regarding a polling place for Precinct 10 to be moved to a building closer to the University of Massachusetts campus.

The Selectmen felt they could not support the article as written but they did support efforts to make voting easier for students without inconveniencing Amherst residents.

For Your Information

The FYI column is a public service announcement to the University of Massachusetts comunity. Space is limited, so some submissions may not be published.

Radio show
Student Government Association Sen. Aram Hamparian is scheduled to discuss the issue of SGA co-presidents tonight from 8:30-9:30 on the radio program "SGA Today" on WMUA-FM, 91.1.

Course guides
Pre-registration guides for Spring semester 1989 will be distributed on the Campus Center Concourse starting Thursday. After Monday, they will be available in the Whitmore first floor lobby.

Racism meeting
White Allies Against Racism will stage its first meeting today from 4-6 p.m. in Campus Center room 811-815. Faculty, staff and students are invited to discuss issues of racism and cultural diversity. Sponsored by members of the School of Education. For more information call 586-2752.

CASIAC meetings
Pre-major meetings for CASIAC students are scheduled for 4 p.m. every day. Call 545-2191 or stop by Machmer E-20 for more information.

Banquet
Beta Alpha Psi is sponsoring a banquet tonight from 6 p.m. -12 a.m. The cost is $15 for BAP members and family, $25 for others.

Poetry reading
Poet Carol Forche will read from her work tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall. Forche is a visiting professor at The University of Massachusetts this semester from Brandeis University. The free event is open to the public and will be followed by a reception.

Biochemistry meeting
Majors and those interested in the biochemistry major are invited to a meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in room 1634 of the Graduate Research Center. Refreshments will be served.

Lecture
Chris Panagopoulos will give a speech tomorrow in Campus Center rooms 804-808 at 8 p.m. The event is free. Sponsored by Hellenic Student Association.

Photo by Andrew Rist

HORNY — University of Massachusetts marching band's brass section blew a few toots in Warren McGuirk Stadium at the end of last month.

Letters

A poor attitude for a debate

On Friday, Oct. 28, a rally in support of Dukakis/Bensten was held at Mount Holyoke college. This rally was disrupted by several University of Massachusetts Republicans, among them, the only one to identify himself was W. Greg Rothman.

The group entered waving Bush/Quayle signs and began chanting pro-Bush slogans with a megaphone. We were indoors; the use of a megaphone was totally unnecessary. We responded with pro-Dukakis chants, and their chants led to a recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance. Then the men in the group began shouting about Bush's "pro-life" stance.

Now someone should have told Rothman and his friends that you don't go to a women's college and tell people there how great a candidate is when he wants to arbitrarily take away their freedom of choice.

A member of the MHC faculty called for an end to the shouting, and made a plea to engage in a onstructive dialogue that would better reflect the atmosphere that one expects in a college environment. His words were met with chants of "Homo! Homo!"

That, for me, was the breaking point. Essentially, they were saying, "You don't agree with me; therefore, you must be some kind of freak." Their words were not only unfounded, but completely irrelevant. A person's sexual orientation has nothing to do with their intellectual ability and capacity to engage in a political discussion. Their willingness to label a man a homosexual and subsequently abuse him for it displays a hatred equivalent to calling a person of color a "nigger," both in its senselessness and ignorance.

Above all, however, the most appalling aspect of their behavior was their insulting our faculty. I don't care what anyone says, whether you agree with what he said, the verbal abuse of a faculty member is totally inexcusable.

I demand he and his cohorts come again, this time to apologize not only to Peter Scotto of the MHC Russian department, but also to the gay community. Their behavior displayed the intellectual agility of a tree stump — ignorance, intolerance and hatred which cannot be allowed to rest without facing consequences.

Margaret F. Judy
Mount Holyoke College

Question 3 is unfair to farmers

On Nov. 8, voters can preserve a Massachusetts agricultural tradition by voting "No" on Question 3.

I have worked closely with Massachusetts farmers, and I'm aware that Question 3 will have a devastating impact on them. Massachusetts livestock farms are small, family-run businesses.

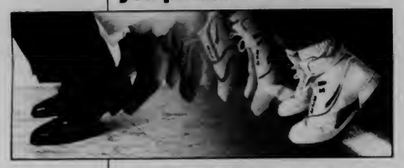
Question 3, the so-called "animal rights" initiative, could ironically mean an end to that proud tradition. This measure would impose sweeping, unnecessary new regulations that would cost farmers more than $90 million. It could be the ultimate obstacle for our already strictly regulated and struggling family farmers. Some 3,200 family farms could be forced out of business, leaving 4,500 men and women out of work.

This is a seriously flawed, misguided and costly measure. This fact has been recognized by the Massachusetts legislature, the Massachusetts Farm Bureau, the Massachusetts Veterinary Medical Association, the state Division of Animal Health, and Gov. Michael Dukakis, all of whom oppose Question 3.

A. Gordon Price
President, Massachusetts Farm Bureau

Opportunities for Computer Science Graduates

Jump into an entry-level career that will take you places at EDS.



In an EDS developmental program, your career potential can reach new heights. You'll gain the rewarding on-the-job experience you need to move your career years ahead — experience you can only gain from the world leader in the computer and communications services industry.

EDS is looking for achievers — people who make things happen. If you are interested in applying your talents in the information processing services industry, you won't find a better place to grow than EDS.

Our highly-respected developmental programs are nationally recognized as models for the industry. They provide technical challenge, professional expertise and the business savvy you'll need to become one of the industry's best-prepared professionals.

Research Systems Engineering Development (R-SED) Program

- A bachelor's degree in Computer Science with a minimum 3.5/4.0 overall GPA preferred
- U.S. Citizenship (or permanent residency)
- Willingness to relocate
- Excellent written and oral communication skills

The R-SED Program offers you a rare entry-level opportunity to conduct advanced research and development for an industry leader. During a brief six month preparatory period, we'll provide the perfect mix of classroom and "in the field" instruction to put you on top of our latest procedures and technologies. Afterwards, you'll work at the very heart of our intensive R&D efforts — creating the techniques that will keep us ahead tomorrow.

Positions also require: excellent communication skills, a strong record of achievement and flexibility to relocate nationwide.

Take the first step toward achieving your highest career potential.

Call Monday - Friday
from 8:00 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. (Eastern Time)
1-800-233-0029

Or, send your resume to: Harold Aderholt
EDS Developmental Recruiting
13600 EDS Drive
Dept. 2MD3138
Herndon, VA 22071

EDS also has outstanding opportunities for experienced Information Processing professionals.

Principals Only. An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F/V/H

EDS

Isle of Mykonos
Greek Restaurant
El Greco Pizza

Serving Authentic Greek Food
Moussaka
Spanakopitakia
Baklava

Also Serving Whole Wheat Pizza
Try our specialties-
Fresh Spinach
Fresh Broccoli
Eggplant
Pineapple

Call 253-9239
TAKE OUT OR DINE IN
Call 256-4196
460 West St., South Amherst
Beer & Wine Served

M, T & W 10% off w/ID Faculty and Student Discount (minimum order $5.00)
LUNCH: 11-3 PM DINNER: 3-10 PM MON.-SAT. SUN. 4-9 PM

LADYSMITH BLACK MAMBAZO
"South Africa's Grammy Award-winning Vocal Group"
with special guest
Karla Bonoff
Tues. Nov. 22 - 8 pm
FAC Concert Hall
Tickets: $16, 14, 12
Five college students ½-price ☐ Box Office 545-2511
THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS
PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

A pen, a pen, my kingdom for a pen

Greetings from Asbury Park, N.J.

Today's election day, but as I'm all electioned-out, I could see no better time to reminisce about my summer vacation.

As a reporter this summer for the Asbury Park (N.J.) Press, I did some diverse stories, and talked to a lot of diverse people. And as the adage goes, everyone has a story to tell.

I thought I'd share a few.

David R. Mark

In June I talked with Emilie J. Johnson. Johnson graduated from Stockton State (N.J.) College with a degree in sociology in 1980, and like most other college graduates, started looking for a job. She had a car, could type 45 words per minute, was articulate, and hopeful for her future.

Eight years and 100 resumes later, she found a job. In the eyes of her prospective employers, she said, the only possible handicap she had in trying to find a job was that she was handicapped.

Johnson is quadriplegic, and now has a full-time job as the Monmouth (N.J.) County Personal Attendant Services Coordinator. She screens and interviews personal attendants, people who work with disabled persons in their homes — helping them with shopping, preparing meals, bathing, dressing and anything else the disabled person needs.

"People are starting to understand there's not much difference between us (the person with a disability and the non-disabled)," she said. "And I've learned that, yes, with things built the right way, I can do the job."

In July I talked to Don Hyde, 69, who said he enjoys his relationship with Katherine, also 69. The two live together.

He never married; Katherine is a widow. They began living together in Hyde's home two years ago, shortly after his mother died.

"She needed company; I was feeling more or less at loose ends myself when my mother died," Hyde said. "Here I was in this big house with no one to live with. All the previous reasons for being here in the first place were all gone."

Both agreed that to live together was not a step toward marriage, but instead a step away from living alone. Just like younger people, Hyde said, older people need to be loved.

In August I talked to William E. Pollard, former deputy executive director of the NAACP, Baltimore. Pollard said he sees a new problem between blacks and whites: racial incidents on college campuses.

"People are doing things to blacks and other minorities today that they haven't done for years," he said. "White students are treating black students like their grandfathers and grandmothers and great-grandfathers and great-grandmothers were carrying on."

Among the schools he cited was the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

"I don't understand how we could inoculate our youth with that kind of venom," he said, adding that it hurts him to see young people today from different backgrounds — different races, creeds and colors — hurt each other so much and treat each other so poorly.

Finally there was Jeff Nodelman, who I also talked to in August. Jeff is among this year's freshman class at New Jersey's William Patterson College, where he hopes to be a part of the jazz band (he plays the drums; the trumpet; the tuba; the valve trombone, and the baritone, a small three-valved horn) and major in athletic training and physical therapy.

Jeff isn't a respected leader of an organization, and he certainly wasn't the most famous person I talked to this summer. But Jeff, who like me went to Marlboro (N.J.) High School, said something this summer that stuck with me — something as important as anything said to me by anyone else this summer.

"My goal is to become an athletic trainer, and my dream is to play drums like (Rush drummer) Neil Peart," he said. "A goal is something you can achieve by trying with a lot of hard work. A dream is something just out of your reach — but with luck you can get there."

Now you may wonder what all these people have to do with UMass. It's a fair question.

UMass just celebrated Civility Week. Despite that many of us still don't recognize how much alike we are — whether disabled or non-disabled, elderly or young, black or white, this or that.

Let's make it our dream to recognize that no matter who we are, where we came from, or what we stand for, we're all together. Without working toward civility, together we'll lose.

Hey, no one said it'd be easy, but with luck we'll get there.

David R. Mark is editorial editor of the Collegian

Apathetic voters forget our hard-won rights

In the spirit of keeping abreast of the 1988 presidential election, I turned on the news one day last week to get the latest sound bites, themes for the day, and general shenanigans from this election's illustrious opponents!

But what did I find? Mike Dukakis promising, "Good jobs at good wages," or George Bush demanding, "Read my lips!"

No! I got a report that despite all the important issues in this election, the major issue with most of the American voters is that they would rather not vote for either candidate, and many are planning not to vote.

Their reason? "I don't like either candidate. Out of some 240 million Americans, couldn't they come up with two better people?" Perhaps a valid argument, but it misses the point.

Half the problem with the election process is that not enough people bother to vote. Don't they care? Oh, sure, they complain, yet they take no action. I can think of a dozen of my friends who strongly support my candidate yet haven't taken the time to register to vote. Now it's too late. I wonder how they'll feel tonight if our man loses? Will they even think to share the blame?

In a world where people lose their lives every day fighting the oppressive tyranny of communism, gladly dying in a noble attempt to further democracy, why can't Americans take a few minutes on Nov. 8 to vote? It's a privilege and an honor, not a God-given right. Why doesn't that seem to make any difference?

Charles Mallio, Jr.
Central

Letters

Say no to the image

People our age have grown up experiencing no other administration except that of Ronald Reagan (we were too young to really experience Jimmy Carter). We have grown to generally accept him as the norm, and approve of him not really knowing why. We love his tough guy image and his traditional values.

Indeed, his concern for tradition is what is known in history as looking back to past times of glory (the 40s and 50s) in the shadow of a not so glorious present; it's a reaction to a changing reality. It blinds the eye to the nasty elements of society.

Yet during this time we have seen cutbacks in social services. Tuition at every university and college has gone up and up each year as financial aid has become less and less available. Are we UMass students here because of the good economic situation from the Reagan administration? No, we are here because tuition at other non-public institutions is too expensive even if we wanted to attend, with no financial aid available for middle class students. The choice becomes limited regardless of his ability.

The campaigns have taken a negative tone. We have repeatedly seen Bush attack Dukakis on such issues as Massachusetts furlough system, we see posters such as the "Mike Dukakis is a real American zero" poster and the "No Dukes" t-shirts, paid for by the "Dukakis Truth Squad." From the tone of their slogans and propaganda, they could be named the Lies and Mud gang, for that is their true purpose — truth is too bothersome a detail. Don't let the tactics of the Bush/Quayle campaign dupe you into voting for them, unless you know their real issues and approve of them. Knowing these issues may be difficult, as Bush and Quayle avoid them and go for soundbites and visual impression. Bush will not be the education, environment, or people's president. Education, environment, and social programs are not and cannot be on his agenda as long as he claims to be Reagan's heir. If you like Bush's tactics and dodging of issues, vote for his image. If you think you're intelligent enough to see past the surface, don't vote for Bush.

Sean Moore
Orchard Hill

Support child care

Three cheers to Sen. John Olver for sponsoring the Child Care Linkage Bill, which if passed would require most developers who build or renovate more than 50,000 square feet of space to construct an on or near-site child care center, or pay an in lieu of child care fee into a special fund.

Only one in 2,000 employers provide child care benefits, and only one-third of Massachusetts families needing child care can find it at a cost they can reasonably afford.

Obviously, working parents and community residents would benefit from this bill. Yet studies show businesses also have much to gain. In a survey of human resource managers, 90 percent said child care had a positive impact on morale; 85 percent said it helped recruitment, and more than half agreed on-site care reduces turnover and absenteeism.

The bill passed in the House of Representatives in July, and will be voted on in the Senate Ways and Means Committee this month. Smith College MassPIRG supports this bill and urges all concerned people to voice their support by writing:

Sen. Patricia McGovern
Chair of Senate Ways and Means
Massachusetts State House
Room 212, Boston, MA 02133

Ruthie Goldberg
Smith College MassPIRG

Editors note: Five other people signed this letter.

Fill in the blanks

George Bush radiates his negative points well enough himself, so unless you're living in a closet or a devout Republican, it's easy to see why things like the Iran-Contra affair, Dan Quayle, and his social agenda would make you not want to vote Republican.

Meanwhile, Michael Dukakis has more flaws than furloughing convicts serving life sentences. For instance, he says he's balanced 10 budgets. That's a lie. What about the last budget? In a June news conference he said he resolved a budget crisis. Ten minutes later his budget administrator said in a second news conference that $400 million had to be borrowed from the Federal government, $92 million from lottery funds (supposedly for local treasuries), and another $91 million cut in local aid. At the conference's end, the administrator corrected himself, saying only $200 million was borrowed from the government. But unless you watched PBS, you wouldn't know about the Machiavellian technique Dukakis used nationwide.

So what's the alternative, to not vote? No! Although the media would lead one to believe there are only two candidates, there seems to be another. Lyndon LaRouche? Ron Paul? Lenora Fulani?

Or maybe the blank box? Feel free to check this! If enough voters do, enough elections, maybe someone in authority will notice the discontent of having only two choices and initiate the reform we desperately need.

Joshua Christie
Orchard Hill

ARTS/LIVING

Fishbone fights injustice with musical madness

Moore thinks the group's latest album Truth and Soul is their most focused effort. The album touches on such subjects as divorce ("Ma and Pa") and the Howard Beach travesty ("Slow Bus Movin'), and Judgement Day ("Question of Life"). About "Question," he said: "A couple of years ago I was really bummed and I got a safety pin and razor blade and scratched a question mark on my chest. I wanted to know why there's all this pain and suffering in the world, and if it would ever end."

By DEREK LEIF
Collegian Staff

For ten years Fishbone has mixed cutting social commentary with just about every musical style to create songs where the melody never dilutes the message.

Lead singer/saxophonist Angelo Moore is the same way. He's intense about everything, going from bitter recollections over being chased by the KKK to an enthusiastic description of a dream he had the previous night in which he saved the world from becoming a living hell.

There's no halfway point with him; one moment he'll say "a ghetto's just a jail with bars, only the bars are in your mind;" next moment he'll say something like "if you don't believe in hope, what's the sense of living? You might as well be dead."

Moore's full throttle all the way. Just ask him what kind of music Fishbone likes.

"Aw, man, it would be a lot easier to tell you what we don't like," said Moore.

Fishbone doesn't like country music. They hate Whitney Houston.

"The trouble with Shitney Pukeston (Moore's words, not mine) is that it's just radio brainwashing. Songs have to educate. You can sing a love song, but there's a whole lot more important stuff to sing about."

Fishbone got its start almost 10 years ago when six junior high school kids met while being bused from their neighborhood to California's suburbs. Home was jazz, R&B, and funk; the valley was surf music, punk, reggae, and occasional cars that would stop so the driver could shout "nigger," Moore said. "The devil is the cause of all this shit," Moore said about racism. "All we have to do is close our eyes and get humble. Power causes nothing but evil and hate."

Finally, Moore on one of the best live bands around:

"I hate fights at our concerts. When we see people fighting, we just say 'shit, man, they've got the wrong idea.' I like it when people just lose it and have a good time. We want to make people happy and aware. If they leave without getting something out of it we get really bummed."

Fishbone. At Universal Joint Downstairs at Pearl Street; Thursday, Nov. 10; 9 p.m. 21 or over. 12 bucks. Go.

PAID ADVERTISEMENT

Elect

Miles Washburn
Your next State Senator

Hampshire - Franklin Counties

VOTE TUESDAY NOVEMBER 8, 1988

UMass Graduate
1987 Degree in Economics

Let's Bring Politics Back to the People

A Strong Independent Voice for Western Massachusetts

Paid for by the Committee to Elect Miles Washburn

PAID ADVERTISEMENT

Martha makes good; Decision done right

By COSMO MACERO JR.
Collegian Staff

Remember all the cool stuff that was previewed in last week's column? Well it's over with now; and if it all passed you by, here's what you missed:

Uncle Martha once again played the Hatch on Wednesday night, this time accompanied by the semi-legendary dinosaur Free Press. Although L'Oasis (birthplace of Uncle Martha) has been closed for quite awhile now, the open blues jams have moved to The Universal Joint, downstairs at Pearl Street, and it's a good bet that the men and women from Uncle will soon be setting up in this, the area's newest blues forum.

Local Vocal

Speaking of the Universal Joint, Friday night was the WMUA-sponsored show featuring Georgia jangle jockeys Dreams So Real and local boys Grave Goods. Musically, everything was real nice. Attendance? Let's just say that seating was not a problem. Guitarist Marty Marla peeled off some neat licks between verses of Dreams So Real's bouncy tunes, and overall the show was a quality one. Understandably, the band's enthusiasm was a bit lacking, seeing there was at least twice as many people upstairs dancing to the sounds of The Fat Boys.

There was no dancing Thursday night at the Hatch. Just plenty of loud rock'n'roll. Split Decision, who open up for Eastern Wind this Thursday night at Katina's, played an energetic set for everyone within earshot of the Student Union basement. Although the band finished a bit early (11:30), the show was solid and the bandmembers were clearly pleased by the substantial crowd. Definitely more to come from this hungry group.

Let's hear it for all you guitar slingers! it's no secret that the author of this column is a guitar fiend. So why not drop off a demo tape of your fretwork for scrutiny, comment, and enjoyment by all the local vocal folks? While your at it, drop off a tape of your whole band. As always, information on any bands is welcomed with open arms. Send said info to: Local Vocal, Collegian, 113 Campus Center. Don't forget . . . rock'n'roll lives.

Arts staff meeting

Interested in working for the Arts Desk next semester? Want to be a columnist? Editor? Associate? Co-editor? Come to a meeting this Sunday at 12 noon in the Collegian to discuss positions available for the upcoming term. Everyone is welcome and staff and correspondents are urged to attend this very important meeting.

Sonic's Nation a brilliant state

By GRAEME THOMSON
Collegian Correspondent

Daydream Nation
Sonic Youth
Blast First

How do you trip without dropping acid?

Simple; just take a journey through the Daydream Nation.

This year the acid culture has really come into its own, and now, Sonic Youth, the most wonderful rock band on the planet, have given us its greatest high.

The funny thing is, when I first heard this I really thought they'd finally sold out; clipped the guitars, forsaken the "whammy bars," tailored their unmistakeable, brilliant noise to suit someone else's greed. But I was wrong; because Daydream Nation is the glorious fruition of a process which began back on Sister with "I Got A Catholic Block" and "Hot Wire To My Heart," and continued when the band temporarily became Stooges to Iggy Pop, a few months back. Now the Sonics finally know that the only way to really subvert the mainstream . . . is from within.

So Daydream Nation is first and foremost an album of pop songs, but an album of pop songs like no other. "Teenage Riot" is as breezy as Jan and Dean, until you hit that middle eight, then you might as well throw your entire conception of reality out the window; "The Sprawl" is a masterpiece of obsessively layered guitars; but all this is mere child's play to Thurston and chums.

It's not until "Eric's Trip" that the band kick fully into gear, and in this respect Daydream Nation is like a Sonic live show; it takes them a while to get warmed up, but when they do, it's worth waiting your whole life to hear the result.

"Total Trash" rides on a brilliant 60s biker riff, before a sudden attack of schizophrenia turns it into some mad "axe-" wielding maniac, while "Candle's" mind-wrenching cacophony of feedback manages to out-weird even this. Sonic Youth "abuse" their guitars. They are unique in realizing that the musician should be master of, not slave to, his instrument.

With Daydream Nation they have shown that you don't have to step outside the boundaries of the form to be innovative; it's the sound that counts, and the possibilities of sound are "super- sonic." Album of the year.

If you care, take the time to listen.

Are you looking for a challenging, rewarding profession? You'll find it, and more, while learning to help people with speech, language and hearing disorders.

Boston-Bouvé College at Northeastern University offers two exciting master of science programs in Speech-Language Pathology or Audiology (the only one of its kind in the Boston area). Both programs are accredited by the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

You'll have the opportunity to gain practical experience in our on-campus speech clinic. In addition, both programs include clinical practice in many of Boston's prestigious medical institutions. Graduate assistantships and other financial aid are available.

Call (617) 437-2708, or write Graduate School, Boston-Bouvé College of Human Professions, 106 Dockser Hall, Northeastern University, Boston, MA 02115. Because some people's problems are worth listening to.

Boston-Bouvé College
Northeastern University
An equal opportunity/affirmative action university

When you've got a beer this rich and flavorful, why suck a lime?

Let's face it, amigos, any beer that needs a slice of lime to give it flavor can't be much of a beer. Discover Calgary Amber Lager... Its rich, imported taste is hearty and robust. Try it the next time you order beer, and hold the lime.

Calgary Amber Lager. Join the stampede.

A T-Shirt offer that's not for suckers.

Please send me the following Calgary T-Shirts:

Quantity	Size	Price	Total
	___M ___L ___XL	$8.00 ea
		Tax*
		TOTAL

*All Penn. residents add 6% sales tax

All prices effective through January 31, 1989. Void where prohibited

Mail to: Gold Medal Sportswear, Calgary T-Shirt Offer, 1011 Cedar Avenue, Croydon, PA 19020

Imported by Century Importers Inc., Baltimore, Maryland

(PLEASE PRINT)

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____ Phone _____

Payment ☐ Check ☐ Money Order ☐ VISA ☐ MasterCard ☐ American Express

Card # _____ Exp Date _____

Signature _____

Productions in the Valley

To mark the 50th anniversary of Kirby Memorial Theater, Amherst College department of theater and dance will present No Mercy, a play by Constance Congdon Nov. 9 through 12 at 8 p.m.

The play, directed by Professor Michael Birtwistle follows the story of Robert J. Oppenheimer and the effect of the detonation of the first atom bomb on those who were present at Los Alamos.

Tickets are $4 for general admission and $2 for students and senior citizens. For more information call 542-2277.

Carolyn Forche, UMass visiting professor from Brandeis University, will read her poetry Wednesday, Nov. 9 at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall at UMass. Force was winner of the Yale series of Younger Poets Award for her first poetry collection, "Gathering the Tribes". The reading is free and open to the public.

Hampshire College Theatre presents The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui by Bertolt Brecht.

Directed by Rhonda Blair, the play uses the story of the take-over of the Chicago and Cicer vegetable markets by a violent gangster as a metaphor for Hitler's rise to power in the 1930's.

Performances are Nov. 9 through 12 and 16 through 20 at 8 p.m. in the Mainstage Theatre, Emily Dickinson Hall. For ticket information call 549-4600.

Patty MacLachlan, author and Visiting lecturer at Smith College, will be on hand Nov. 12 at Jeffery Amherst Bookshop from 11 a.m. to 12 noon to sign copies of her latest book The Facts and Fictions of Minna Pratt. For more information call 253-3381.

Journalist Rob Okun will sign copies of a book he edited The Rosenbergs: Collected Visions of Artist and Writers on Thursday, Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Globe Bookshop.

CUT OUT HERE.

$99 takes you to Florida and back.

Our new low student fares are a quick study! Just $99 round trip on Continental's new nonstops from Boston to Tampa and Ft. Lauderdale only. Please present this coupon when you purchase your ticket (one coupon per ticket, originals only, no copies allowed). Tickets available for purchase only at Continental ticketing locations. Students must present valid college ID when purchasing ticket. This fare is nonrefundable and is valid only for full-time college students age 25 or younger. Travel must originate in Boston and be completed by December 14, 1988. Holiday blackouts apply (November 18, 19, 22, 23, 26-28). Round trip purchase required. Seats are limited and fare may not be available on every flight. This offer is not valid in conjunction with any other Continental fare promotion, and no OnePass℠ miles may be earned with this special fare.

Continental Agent Ticketing Instructions.

1. The original promotional certificate (no copies) must be presented. Verify travel for compliance with all conditions of the certificate. Verify student ID and customer age 25 or under.
2. Retrieve the customer's PNR and create a Stored Ticket Shell. Complete the ticket as follows:
   - A. FARE BASIS/TICKET DESIGNATOR: Enter "GH75"
   - B. NOT VALID AFTER: Enter "14DEC"
   - C. FARE CALCULATION LADDER: "BOS CO (applicable Florida city code) Q2.51 CO BOS Q1.85.87.51.91.67"
   - D. FARE/TAX/TOTAL: Enter "91.67/7.55/99.00"
3. Use Ticket Remarks to enter the following information: "Used CO Only/Non-Ref"
4. Issue a ticket using Even Exchange (EE) entry to enter the exchange document number (BOSTON--0054850899999X*5) and the actual form of payment used.
5. Draw a diagonal line across the face of the certificate and mark "Exchanged." Enter the form and serial number of the ticket issued and attach to the Auditor's coupon.
6. Student ID must be verified at time of airport check-in.

5-005-485-0899999-6

TO CUT UP DOWN HERE.

And take your cut of up to $200 savings on our new low student fares.
First, grab a pair of scissors. Then pack your swimsuit and suntan oil. Because students can now cut up in Tampa or Ft. Lauderdale, for only $99 round trip from Boston.
Just cut out Continental's low student fare coupon, above, and bring it with you when you purchase your tickets.
No advance purchase or Saturday night stay required and travel must be completed by December 14, 1988.
Just follow the instructions on the coupon. And you'll discover that sunny Florida is a mere snip, pack and splash away.
For reservations, call Continental at 617-569-8400.

CONTINENTAL
Working to be Boston's choice.

©1988 Continental Airlines, Inc.

NUMMO

103 New Africa House, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003. (413) 546-0061
Nummo is affiliated with the Collegian for distribution purposes only. TUESDAY, November 8, 1988

The Real Reason for a College Education: Andrew Young Speaks

Simone Nicholson

"If we spend our time with people just like ourselves, we'll end up socially retarded." This was Mayor Andrew Young's message when he spoke to an audience of about 200 people in the Campus Center Auditorium on Oct. 27.

Currently the mayor of Atlanta, Young has had a distinguished career in politics, from his work with Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in the sixties, to his ambassadorship to the UN and his work with South Africa. Much respected in the black community, his speech reminded people that in this world everyone is not the same and not like us. Because of this we must learn to except and understand not persecute and deprive people people for their differences. YOung also stated that many of the stereotypical attitudes we have towards people have been nurtured over many years. Knowing this we must work to dispel these attitudes in ourselves and in other people. He used as an example a personal experience wherein his daughter was spending the night over a puerto rican family's house. Young said he immediately jumped to conclusions and had negative thoughts because the family did not speak english. With this he made the point that anyone, even someone who thinks themselves above it will categorized and judge a person because they speak a different language, are a different religion or color, or are inherently different in any way.

Young stated that black people as a rule have a difficult and overbearing job because they often find themselves in the position of educator to white community. He said this can be unnerving to a college student who while to graduate and study must constantly explaing themselves to people who don't understand them. Young also said, that although this is a heavy load black people must to some extent carry it.

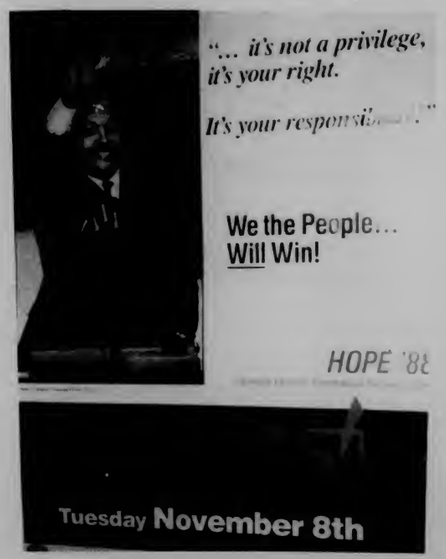
Photo by Rick DuCree

Rick Townes. Andrew Young, Chancellor Joseph Duffey. Thursday, Oct. 27, 1988, Campus Center.

He also said that white people or anyone who doesn't understand must take the time to educate themselves.

Young also spoke on the seeming inability for people to sit down and work together collectively because they couldn't or wouldn't take the time to understand the others perspectives on the situation. At this point he touched on an issue currently controversial on our campus: should Louis Farrakhan come or shouldn't he? Young said that when Farrakhan wanted to come to Atlanta, the black and

This mutual understanding is why a diverse education at a university such as UMass is so important. Young said, that in order to function in the outside world or the job market one must be able to deal with people that are different from themselves, and to some extent understand how they think. Only then will there be peace and an atmosphere where people of different ethnic backgrounds, colors, religions, and beliefs will not have to assimilate but to peacefully co-exist.



Free Tuition! Where do we sign up?

By CHRISTINE DILLON
Nummo Staff

Once you leave the undergraduate setting, what do you think your undergraduate degree will be worth on a monetary scale? Unfortunately probably not as much as you paid for it. You will be another graduate with another degree trying to break through the work force with an average starting salary ranging from $17,000 to $24,000, depending on your marketability. For some this may seem ideal or golden, but why settle for mediocre when there is so much more available at your disposal.

Being a minority with a Masters in Business Administration (MBA) may be the distinguishing factors necessary to seperate yourself from the ordinary others. Despite the increase of MBAs filtering into the market each year, the supply and demand for minority MBAs is not at an equillibrium point. To help alleviate this deficiency, universities and corporations have committed themselves to increasing minority enrollment through enticing scholarship packages, fellowships, and offers one can't refuse.

The Consortium for graduate study in Management may be your ticket to a full paid MBA program, a promising career with an impressive salary and a distinguished contact list. Sponsored by over 200 corporations, the 22 year old consortium is composed of a nine member school alliance consisting of Indiana University, New York University, Washington University at St. Louis as well as the Universities of Michigan, North Carolina, Rochester, Southern California, Texas and Wisconsin.

The MBA cirriculum at these outstanding private and public universities is geared toward developing one's analytical, problem-solving and decision-making abilities pertinent to the success of a professional manager or entrepreneur engaged in the multifaceted world of business.

Recipients of the Consortium's fellowship receive full tuition for their MBA program. Students also receive a $3000 stipend during their first year and $2000 their second year. The 200 plus sponsoring corporations actively recruit fellows for summer internships and extend offers for challenging well paid careers upon graduation. Alumni of the Consortium contest that an MBA today is a must-have degree and the fellowship served to reduce the economic burden that financing a graduate education can render. Also mentioned as a bonus of the program was it's strong support network organizing study sessions, corporate presentations and contact lists, to assist with the job search.

For more information on the Consortium for Graduate Study in Management contact:

Consortium for Graduate Study in Management
Brent E. Johnson
Director of Marketing and Recruiting
Campus Box 1132, One Brookings Drive
St. Louis, Missouri 63130
1-314-889-6353

For information on other programs and financial assistance available to minorities aspiring a graduate degree should contact

continued on page 4

"Blues for Mr. Charlie"

By Ramani Sripada and Solonia Jordan
Nummo Staff

"Blues for Mr. Charlie" opened at Bowker Auditorium on October 13 and continued through October 16. The play was based upon the case of Emmett Till, a black youth who was murdered in Sunflower, Mississippi in 1955, for the alleged crime of whistling at a caucasian woman.

The first scene in the play takes place in a church where Reverend Meridian Henry holds services. The people are talking of Richard Henry's death and who they felt was responsible for his murder. The name, Lyle Britten came to mind. He was a recently married man with a new baby boy, who is a sterotypical member of his southern white community.

Parnell James was a wealthy editor of a newspaper, interested in both parties concerned over Richard Henry's murder. He went to the sheriff asking for the arrest of Lyle Britten on behalf of the murder victim's father Reverend Meridian Henry. Parnell told his friend, Meridian, that a warrant for Lyle's arrest had been issued. Also being a longtime childhood friend of Lyle's, he went to tell him of the impending arrest.

Through a series of flashbacks we come to see the character of Richard Henry and the incidents leading to his murder. Richard has returned to Mississippi after eight years of being in New York. He came home to get over a drug addiction. Through his experiences of loosing his mother, watching his father unable to anything about it, and growing up in a prejudicious southern community made Richard very hateful towards the whites. He tried to make a new life for himself and intended to marry an old girlfriend named Juanita.

From the first time they met, Richard and Lyle, had a strong dislike for eachother. Richard did not like Lyle's attitude and wanted to prove to him that he was not afraid of him. A controversial incident took place in Lyle's store. Richard went there with his friend, Lawrence, to get some soft-drinks and to throw his weight around. Lawrence waited outside because the blacks were boycotting his store. Lyle had shot a black man and stated that it was in self defense. He had been having an affair with the man's young wife. Richard started to make sexually connotative remarks under his breath to Lyle's wife, Jo. He put down $20 to pay for a 20 cents bill. Jo called Lyle out after she told Richard that she didn't have any change and Richard started to be difficult about it. A fight broke out leaving Lyle holding his stomach on the floor.

The funeral for Richard coinsided with the Britten's first anniversary. A day after was the trial of State vs. Lyle Britten for the murder of Richard Henry. Jo Britten lied to the court about the facts that occurred in the store. She claimed that Richard grabbed her and pressed her against him. Lyle was acquitted, but before he left the courtroom, Reverend Meridian asked him what his son's last words were. Lyle admitted killing Richard and said he would do it again.

BLACK STUDENTS

FIGHT FOR YOUR RIGHTS

- Who is going to choose your leaders?
- DVP ejects all black students from organization!
- Can a black person be a distinguished speaker?
-  Rally forthcoming ***

STUDENTS FOR FARRAKHAN

"BLACK AGENDA"

7 p.m. Wednesday at the New Africa House

WOMEN OF BREWSTER'S PLACE

By Christine Dillon
Nummo Staff

With the exception of The Cosby Show, Frank's Place, A Different World, Roots, 227, The Jeffersons, Amen, Good Times, What's Happening and Black exploitation flick's when was the last time you saw a television sitcom/movie with more than five Black entertainers or better yet, the last time you viewed a powerful Black drama dealing with the lives of "sisterwomen?"

If you are an advent television watcher with a commendable ability or just familiar with the Black movie industry (if there is such a thing), you may be able to identify one or two or even possibly three— but that's just not good enough! There seems to be an underrepresentation of positive, non-stereotypical Black shows appearing on our television screens.

This winter, however, Gloria Naylor's National Book Award-winning novel, The Women of Brewster Place will air on ABC in a dynamic miniseries. Naylor's powerful and moving novel "follows the struggles of seven Black women whose varying paths converge in the Brewster Place projects where they all come to live."

The prominent cast of Brewster Place consists of Oprah Winfrey, who is also executive producer, Jackee, Robin Givens, Olivia Cole, Paula Kelly, Cicely Tyson, Lonette Mckee, Phyllis Yvonne Stickney, Lynn Whitfield, Moses Gunn and Paul Winfield among others. The casts admits to their enthusiasm for the opportunity to portray strong Black characters in a positve drama.

Despite all three networks originally turning down Brewster Place (without reading it), Oprah Winfrey approached the "big-wigs" of ABC entertainment with copies of Naylor's novel; after a brief persuasive opener, they were calling her on the telephone. You see if Oprah wants something, Oprah gets it and she was dedicated to seeing this novel produced for television.

Though the miniseries concentrates on Black women, it is not meant to be offensive in anyway to men. Winfrey points out in an Essence interview, that [they] tried to be very conscious of and sensitive to Black men; and hopes that people understand the pains taken to help relay why the men are portrayed as so. The male characters are complex individuals who show their love as well as their frustration an anger with life.

Naylor's novel received raving reviews and it is very rare that you'll find in the industry, a Black miniseries addressing the trials and tribulations of Black women.

Where is BMCP Heading?

By Andrea Harris
Nummo Staff

Black Mass Communications Project was started in 1968 by the third world community on the University of Massachusetts campus. The members involved were also members of WMUA, and had management positions there.

As time went on third world participation in WMUA declined. As a result hours granted for BMCP lessened. This was not the only problem, third world representation in the SGA dwindled and left no one to make sure funds were alloted for BMCP thus funding got cut more and more each year.

Tuesday night sparkles with Lady E on the turntables. Photo by Kevin Sibley

A Third World Affairs director position was created to mediate problems between WMUA and BMCP, this person has no power and can only voice opinions, suggestions, and oppositions of the members of BMCP but has no control in making sure changes are made.

* Members of BMCP are upset that no polls are taken to see how the campus feels about the programs WMUA has and from that decide what program should be cut. BMCP feels it not only has a lot of listeners in the pioneer valley, but also Springfield, that support them. The fact that it is the only program designed to fit the needs of the third world commuhity in the pioneer valley alone shows it's importance to WMUA. Collette, a sophmore D.J. at BMCP, explains,"WMUA doesn't think the third world community music is important enough to play it." Members of BMCP feel WMUA is more geared towards rock music and a majority of the students on campus don't listen to the programs on WMUA and some don't even know the college radio station exist. The program director of WMUA, who initiated the cut in time, would have cut more hours if it had not been for the director from third world affairs, Kevin Mitchell, defensive stand. The reason being that BMCP did not have enough qualified D.J.'s to fill in their time slots. A selected number of people go through a five week training session, before going the air. Because of lack in participation and the small selective process the D.J.'s BMCP has a fewer. Richard Gray, the general manager of BMCP, states,"The only way for BMCP to get more hours is if the third world community becomes more active in WMUA and make sure it happens." He feels that WMUA does nothing for the third world community. BMCP 20th anniversary is this year and WMUA has offered no support in light of this anniversary. The Big Daddy Kane and Boogie Down Productions concert last week was done in conjuction with UPC. BMCP will be conducting a poll of their own in the future to prevent further damage to the hours alloted to them. Black Mass Communications Project cannot survive withot the third world communities support.

EDITORIAL/ OPINION

What are Black Greeks?

By ROBIN PRATTS

The question "What the Hell is black Greek anyway?" repeatedly resounded throughout the Campus Center on Monday, September 26. However, for some, even after the lengthy, heated debate ended the question remained unanswered.

A myriad of issues were raised. The three, most popular and pertinent questions were; why is it necessary to have more than one black fraternity or sorority?, what are their contributions to campus life at UMass?, and what, if any role do black Greek organizations play in the community?

Fraternity is defined as a group of persons united by similar interests, backgrounds, or occupations. Thus, the suggestion of having one "generic" sorority for all women, or one "generic" fraternity for all men is not all reasonable or realistic one. Admittedly, we as black people share the same interests. Realizing this, the formation of more than one black sorority or fraternity is quite logical. Are you friends with all the black people you know? No, of course not. Some people you meet will end up only being acquaintances, while others will be your friends, best friends, or even your enemies. Does that mean that you're contributing to the disunity of blacks today? No, it simply means that you choose to associate, or fraternize with people who share your interests, background, or occupation. On this observation the formation of more than one fraternity or sorority is founded. Each organization is unique in the level of consideration or importance that is placed on different principles, beliefs, and values.

So, does all that mean that a person interested in joining a Greek organization should attend the smokers, teas, find their "type" of people, pledge and immediately disengage from all other forms of social interactions with the exception of their particular Greek organization? No. This is where the main point of confusion or ambiguity lies.

Allegiance to a fraternityy or sorority does not mean the abandonment of suppport to your fellow blacks, whether they are Greek or not.

Thus, the first and foremost role of the black Greek on campus is to be a "brother" or "sister" to all, exemplifying a positive model of behavior for all to respect and follow.

As far as the role of the black Greek in the community I am unable to speak out. Each fraternity and sorority has various levels of involvement and committment to the public, information that can be ooobtained from the members of particular Greek organizations.

Some outsiders looking in many see black Greek organizations in a negative light. Yet, others may see them as positive, worthwhile organizations. An individual in the former group may have extended a friendly hand out to one of your fraternity brother, or "sorors" and been respected. Or, an individual from the later group may have extended the same friendly hand to your Greek comrade and was accepted. Think about it.

I know one thing, and I'm sure I don't speak only for myself. When I walk into an auditorium, classroom, or dining hall, and I am one of a very few number of blacks in the place, I look for my other black can't always wear his Greek letters, and your "soro" can't always wear her Greek colors - but if we all make our first pledge to each other and our first allegiance to racial unity we would exemplify the true meaning of brotherhood and sisterhood.

A. Anthony Gee
Stop The Nonsense

Black Fraternities are fostering sexism with sweethearts. THe very act of "sweethearting" perpetuates a belief system that says the woman's role in society is to serve man. The woman has been made into nothing more than a piece of meat. This is exhibited in her role in religion, how many saviors were women, how many ministers are women, how many gods are refered to as "our mother"

The clothing that is being produced and marketed by men for women, has them believing that their only worth is in their her physical bequty. She is made to believe the way to attract men is to put on a skirt that barely covers her buttocks, or a dress that exposes her chest. THese disgraceful items are marketed in fashion magazines everywhere, loved and perpetuated by men and worn in ignorance by women every day.

The black woman has dealt with these things along with painful headaches caused by black men. The history of the black man in relation to the black woman leaves alot to be desired. It is sad at best. The inability of the black man to contribute to the black family, the constatndesire to dominate and control instead of communication and trying to understand, the funneling of frustrations to the black woman because the black man is unable to show and or prove his manhood in the world, and the chasing of white women, what the hell is that. Come on black man, there is beauty in the black woman, clean out your eyes and mind so you can exzperience and witness the wonderful black woman.

With all of this in mind black fraternity men how can you allow the role of the sweetheart to coontinue. We must undergo the pledge processed without the exploitation of women. We must realize that a satellite organization is not good enough for the black women we lovce. It is not good enough for the woman that has stood bvy our side when we were ignorant, who stood behind us when we did not have courage, who forgave us when we made mistakes. Listen black man, it is time to stop the nonsense. Encourage the black woman to envolve herself in events and activities that give her pride, dignity, and recognition for geing a strong black woman. "Not the role of an auxiliary puppet." And yes that is the role of the sweetheart no matter how you slice it. Sweeethearts, are unable to participate in the decision making procedss of the fraternities. They are not in the constitution of any of the fraternities and generally lack the respect of most fraternity members. This ad hoc concept is not supported by any of the fraternities national offices. No black man the nonsense must stop. THe time for rationalizing is over. It is time for the black woman and man to stand together as a team, on the same playing field, with the same rules. It is time for us to work togehter to take care of the things that we need to take care of like the liberating of our people. THe time of change is here black man, don't get caught on the wrong side of history.

And you black woman, Queen of the Nile, Mother of Civilization, bearer ofiife, please don't put yourself into these comprimising situations. You are too good to be a sweet heart. You don't need to be an auxiliary anything. You are the mother of civiliation. You must be PRIMARY at all times. Do not ever relegate yourself to the role of a sweetheart. You face so much black woman. It will take self-determination,m strength and self-esteem toliberate yourmind. THe very things that most men try to rob you of. You can beat the odds black woman. You have the power to do it, I know you can. Stay away from subservient roles. Stop demeaning and degrading yourself first and then "bust up" anyone or anything that tries to demean or degrade you or your sisters. Stand with the black man not behind him.

We can work this thing out brothers and sissters but it's going to take some work. We must destroy these old values that seperate us, these old values that allow us to hate ourselves. Let us work together, side by side to lift ourselves to levels of greatness. Come on sisters and brothers lets take care of business.

The idea behind pledging a greek fraternity is to further enhance one's college life. In becoming a black greek, one develops high spirited comradery enriched through sacred vows with the fraternity brothers or sorority sister of one's organization. As a black greek, one now represents more than oneself in the eyes of others. When one pledges a fraternity or sorority, which is usually for lifetime, one stands for what that organization stands for, and through careful selection. The ideals should be one in the same. I am John E. Phillips, a student at the University of Massachusetts who is a proud member of the first black fraternity for college men, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Incorporated.

John Phillips, member of Alpha Phi Alpha

A leader within his or herself who can overcome life's struggles to accomplish a even higher challenge of achievements, goals, or feats. It all may start in the mind. The mere fact of thinking, 'I can do it and I will get it done,' means much more to an individual's mind than having someone else taking care of it. Maybe this may seem far fetched, but it brings one to make a decision and point out whether he or she is going to live his or her ownor is someone going to live it for them.

Individuals, who can see this idea within themselves, come together and establish a working bond amongst each other. This bond allows one to handle life's struggles and persue to a more positive destiny. Pledging and becoming one in a fraternity or sorority provide this idea and allow it to work within a bond, body, or even just friends.

To add a little logic, life is a bunch of situations that one has to deal with and make decisions. Well, pledging is no different. Therefore, life experiences is pledging and pledging is a life experience. By your decision to accomplish an achievement, goal, or feat, you determine your own fate in life(pledging).

By VICTORIA BELL
Nummo Staff

"Don't Believe the Hype!

Some members of our community are perturbed by the pending arrival of Minister Louis Farrakhan. This is their perogative. I have trouble, though, accepting their assertion to disallow Mr. Farrakhan to speak here at the University. Several students whom I've questioned don't even know who Louis Farrakhan is or what he advocates. Many want to know. Because of the many rumors, students are being kept in the dark. Here's why they shouldn't be.

Louis Farrakhan is the leader of the Nation of Islam, a sect of the Black Muslems. He is a reverend. He denounces racism of any kind. He is against drugs, alcohol, poor education, broken homes, poverty and apartheid. Mr. Farrakhan's main objective is the Black Agenda. At a press conference this year in New York, Mr. Farrakhan's national spokesmen, Dr. Abdul Alim Muhammad, defined the Black Agenda as a cause which "actually represents the assetion of the human rights not only of Black people but of Latino people and other oppressed minorities in this country..." Yes, Mr. Farrakhan made a statement in 1985 which, in retrospect, was anti-Jewish. "Let those among [us] who are without sin, cast the first stone!" Here is a man with good intentions and strong commitments.

Mayor Koch of New York, although he is opposed to Farrakhan's "ways" of demonstrating these intentions, defended in an article in the New York Times, Farrakhan's right to speak. He said,"...when we go further and seek to impede his meeting or to stop him [Farrakhan] from speaking, we violate his right to speak...."

During his youth, Farrakhan was active in his local Episcopal Church. He received a full scholarship to Winston-Salem State University in North Carolina. From then on, he has worked hard to boldly speak-out against all oppression. He stands for unity: unity among the oppressed, especially in the black communities. He wants we, the black community, to be independent enough to be free of our oppressors.

Anybody who shares these sentiments and beliefs, should listen to Farrakhan speak. If you know nothing about the man, come and find out something about him for yourselves. But please, don't believe the hype!

Excerpt From Editorial I...
Oneida C. Fox

"It does not matter what they see, if I know who I am."

Johnson & Johnson Leadership Awards
Dr. Lea E. Williams
Director of Educational Services
United Negro College Fund
500 East 62nd Street
New York, New York 10021
1-212-644-9600

League of United Latin American Citizens(LULAC)
National Educational Services Center, Inc.
400 First Street, N.W., Suite 716
Washington, D.C. 20001
1-202-628-8516

National Black MBA Association
111 East Wacker Drive, Suite 320
Chicago, Illinois 60601
1-312-644-6610

Black Culture

One day I heard somebody say that Blacks were culturally deprived and I wondered how they had arrived at that conclusion

I was confused by what they said as it kept rumbling through my head

But it only took a while before I began to smile

You see I figured they simply didn't know that Black folks got sure nuff culture from our head down to our toe

It's the music that we sing and the style in which we talk
It's the preachin' and the prayin' and the way we even walk

It's the get-down way we move when the band begins to play and the looks we give each other without using words to say

M-M-M and M-M are some ways we communicate
that folks outside our culture may not appreciate

It's how we put the man on and he doesn't even know
It's how we keep on tryin' when someone tells us "no"

When they say we don't recognize the finer things in life
I know through all my education toils and strife

I recognize good music when I hear it on the air
and to say gospel, jazz and blues aren't culture isn't fair

With James Brown my brother you know
I've got soul
and frankly I find the string quartet performances rather cold

I surely recognize the finest there is in food
I don't even have to be in any special mood

To appreciate fried chicken, greens, barbeque and red Kool-Aid and I'd turn down caviar no matter how much they paid

It's our afros, curls and the way we do our hair
The clothes and fashionable styles we wear
It's the sisters and the brothers struggling for the cause
fighting economics, politics and unjust laws
But most of all it's the way we hang together and the kinship that we feel that makes our culture so natural and so real

When I think about our Blackness and what our culture is all about It's hard to keep on talkin'
'cause I think
I'm going to shout

"Black folks don't have any culture" I heard somebody say
and I just put my hand on my hip, rolled my eyes and looked the other way.

"You have no right to support something that you have given so much to and get so little from. You have no right to continue to support it, simply because you feel you have suffered under Mr. Bush and maybe you might do better under Mr. Dukakis. Who said so? That's like voting for Lucifer or Satan-- you catch hell either way."
Minister Louis Farrakhan

Lenora Fulani says:

"Dump the Duke!"

"Now as black people, we know that the Republican Party doesn't mean us any good But we need to let both parties of Big Business know that they cannot continue to take our votes for granted-- or count on us not to vote at all-- while ignoring, and rejecting, the Black Agenda. That is why the message that I am taking out to the Black communities of America is that in 1988 the way to advance the Black Agenda and the agenda of the Rainbow movement is to use our votes to dump the Duke! To do otherwise is a waste of that vote, which our people sat in for, marched for, struggled for, and died for."

VOTE
Tuesday
Nov. 8

Polls open 7am to 8pm.

Lenora B. Fulani
Independent Candidate for President of the United States

For more information (617) 445-0005

Paid for by Lenora B. Fulani's Committee for Fair Elections General Elections

NUMMO

Kevin Sibley
Editor-in-Chief

Simone Nicholson
Assistant Editor-in-Chief

Gina Sanon
Business Manager

Solonia Jordon
Production Manager

Cardethia Moore
Secretarial Manager

Richard DuCree
Photography Editor

Ramani Sripada
Systems Manager

Arthur Jenison
SGA Reporter

Layout Staff

Willie Vick Gregory S. Thomas

NUMMO STAFF

Suzette Hunte Brett Andrews Sonja Vaughan
Lori Perry Lorrie Ann Evanson Victoria Bell
Enjay Lowery Robin Pratts Nicole Monteiro
Christine Dillon

By SOLONIA JORDAN
Nummo Staff

To Do a Co-op, or Not to Do a Co-op. You decide!

Choosing a major, deciding on the right career, finding the right job, all these decisions to make but where do you start? The University Career Center located on fraternity and sorority park can help you make these decisions.

You can use the center for career advising, resume assistance, computerized job matching, on-campus interviewing preparations, pre-placement arrangements with the registrar, bursar and much more. You must first take the initiative to visit the center during your sophomore and junior year. The center has a alot to offer students but people are either not aware of what they have to offer or they simply won't take the time to go to the center and ask questions.

The Co-op program is a unique partnership between an employer and student. The program can combine periods of paid, pre professional employment with semesters of University study to understand your career and personal goals. You are able to work in your related field and decide whether that field is right for you.

The requirements of doing a co-op consist of being a sophomore, junior, first semester senior or graduate student having a 2.0 minimum grade point average. The student must have a declared major and be willing to complete at least two work periods before graduation. Approval of your designated faculty advisor is also important.

The next step to follow if you fullfill the requirements is to apply. In order to do this you must check the bulletin boards outside the co-op office at the center regularly and decide if you would like to take a semester off or do one over the summer. After you have chosen which company you would like to apply for you must enroll in an informational session which are held several times each week at the Center.

The advantages are there, we as students must take the next step and use them. In terms of outcome from the students using the co-op programm minorities make up only 13% Of those 13% only ten blacks were accounted for last year. THere is no excuse for these figures! We have the oppurtunity to get involve with recruiters from large companies through a minority recruiting program and we are not taking advantage of them. We need to ask more questions about who's coming to the campus and are they recruiting minority students. Keeping track of flyers and listings around campus for co-op would also work to your advantage.

What will you gain by doing a co-op? A paid work experience with top employers; Informed Career Decision - Making; Money for Your Education; Maturity and Self - Confidence; Professional Contacts in yyour field; New Perspectives on your academic work.

People that have done co-op's feel it was worth taking the time off. They felt they were doing something with their major besides just studying aboout it. The experience they learned helped them decide if that particular field was right for them. Some of them were offered jobs after graduation with the company they worked for. The pay ranges from $8-$15 an hour. Depending on the company some people are given company cars for the time that they work for them and many more benefits.

Now that you know the facts, you decide! Is it worth taking that long but meaningful journey to the career center? The choices for your tommorrow won't wait forever!

Student judiciary votes in new clerk

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

The Student Judiciary voted in a new clerk Thursday, which may pave the way for the Judiciary to begin dealing with some of the important issues facing the court.

Chris McClellan, a junior management major, was voted into the position of Clerk of Courts unanimously Thursday, replacing Paul Piccirillo, who was removed from office by the justices Oct. 14 on charges that he was politically biased.

The court has been enmeshed in the controversy surrounding Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz, Student Government Association co-presidents elect. McClellan refused to comment on the presidency controversy and the former clerk.

McClellan said the court will be issuing a statement on the co-presidents elect, probably before the senate meeting Wednesday.

He said one of the first orders of business for the court is to reorganize itself. Of a possible 19, there are currently only 10 justices, although two of those posts are supposed to be filled by the Stockbridge Senate, which has not appointed justices in at least three years. The current justices are undergoing training with the Legal Services Office on judicial procedures.

"My job is administrative in combination with being a legal resource," McClellan said. He added he would try to have more communication between the justices and the clerk to make sure everything runs procedurally correctly.

"It seemed like the clerk in the past got too involved with the cases," McClellan said. He said the justices would be responsible for the running of the court, and he would take on a role as facilitator, scheduling cases and interpreting the constitution.

He said the court would take on a more cooperative relationship with the senate.

"We're working right now on getting a strong relationship between the senate and the judiciary . . . because it is a complex situation," McClellan said.

The lack of an attorney general is also a problem for the court, according to McClellan. "For this office to work effectively, it would be beneficial to the judiciary and to the students to have an attorney general." This post is appointed by the SGA presidents, and with no president currently holding office, the appointment cannot be made.

He said one of the other things high on the agenda for the court is to redefine Chapter 4 of the Student Government Association Constitution to specifically allow for a trial court and appellate court.

"Chapter 4 hasn't been too specific on what our role is supposed to be," he said. "We're going to make recommendations to the senate, and the Clerk of Court's role is going to be redefined."

McClellan said he would also try to work on strengthening the court's relationship with the campus store. The court handles shoplifting cases in the University Store, collecting fines from persons caught shoplifting.

McClellan said he brings no prior experience to the job, but has served on the Judiciary as a justice.

Said Justice John Sanchez of McClellan: "It was easier because Chris was a justice with us before for about a year."

Correction

Because of a reporting error, yesterday's Collegian incorrectly identified a room that was searched by police. They searched room 204 in Pierpont Residence Hall.

Quality Copies For All
kinko's
the copy center
253-2543

Auto Glass Center
SAME DAY SERVICE
BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE CO.
WINDSHIELDS REPLACED
North Amherst Motors
70 Old Sunderland Rd. • 549-2000
No. Amherst
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

The Chequers

Weekly Specials

Baked Stuffed Scrod	$7.95
Chicken Cordon Bleu	$7.95
Roast Sirlon Teriyaki	$7.95
Veggie Melt	$4.95

(served with dessert only)

All are served with a garden salad, basket of warm bread, choice of potato or vegetable and dessert.
Sorry, no other discounts can be used with this special.
Served on Sunday 1p.m. til 9p.m., Mon-Thurs 5p.m.-9p.m.

Come and Dine with us for breakfast, lunch, dinner, or even a light bite!
Casual atmosphere, convenient location and most of all...Affordable Prices!
University Drive
Amherst ☐ 549-5861

"Why Should I Register... ... For Peer Education Programs? Let Me Count The Whys.

1. I can earn three academic credits.
2. It can help me to meet lots of people.
3. It can help me to improve areas of my own health.
4. It can improve my chances of getting a job, because I will represent the University Health Services.
5. It will teach me skills valuable in any career like leading a workshop, giving a presentation and developing marketing strategies.
6. It can really help me be part of a team working to improve UMass.
7. It will teach me about important public health issues likes sexually transmitted diseases and AIDS, alcohol issues, cardiovascular illness, cancer, accident prevention, eating disorders, stress and consumer health.
8. In short, it might be the most important course I take while I'm a student at UMass.

Public Health 216 - Tues. 2:30-5pm. Peer Health Promotion Focuses on a variety of health issues, one semester, just register.
Public Health 213 - Wed. 2:30-5pm. Peer Sexuality Education 2 semester commitment, call 549-2671 ext 181 for permission of instructor
Edu 291 D Wed. 2:30-5pm. Peer Alcohol Education 2 semester commitment, call 549-2671 ext. 181 for permission of instructor.

AMHERST CINEMA
"PERVERSELY FASCINATING" "PROVOCATIVE"

HANDMADE FILMS PRESENTS
A NICOLAS ROEG FILM
TRACK 29
THERESA RUSSELL GARY OLDMAN AND CHRISTOPHER LLOYD
R
1987 Hand Made Films (1987) Partnership.
2 showings 7:00 & 9:00 in the center of Amherst
Adults $3.50 Children & Senior Citizens $2.00
AMITY ST. 253-5426

The COINS 1988-1989

DISTINGUISHED LECTURE SERIES

presents

Dispersal of Information for Load-Balancing and Fault Tolerance

a talk by

Michael O. Rabin

T. J. Watson Sr. Professor of Computer Science
Harvard University

4:00 p.m., Wednesday, November 9, 1988
120 School of Management Building

Dr. Rabin is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and the American Philosophical Society, as well as winner of the prestigious Turing Award from the Association of Computing Machinery. Through his study of the theory of computation, Dr. Rabin has made several ground-breaking contributions to computer science, including demonstrating the broad applicability and power of nondeterministic and probabilistic algorithms; enhancing algorithmic efficiency by preconditioning of data and by introducing randomness into an algorithm; and making fundamental contributions to the areas of cryptology, security, and holographic representation of data.

Double car collision costs $1500 in damages

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

A vehicle travelling north on University Drive Saturday attempted to turn onto Stadium Road and was struck by a second vehicle. Total damage to both cars was $1,500.

In other police reports:

- A 19-year-old Newtonville man was arrested on University Drive Saturday and charged with operating a motor vehicle after his license had been suspended and being a minor transporting alcohol. Three hours later, police arrested the same man on North Pleasant Street for driving with defective equipment and operating a motor vehicle after his license had been suspended.
- A vehicle slowing down for a right turn on Sewer Plant Road was struck on the right side by a second vehicle attempting to pass. Damage to both cars was $1,500.
- An AM/FM stereo and speakers were stolen from a car parked in the Fraternity/Sorority Park lot after its driver's side window was smashed Friday.
- A car descending Clark Hill Road Friday was attempting a left turn when the accelerator on the vehicle became stuck, according to the driver. The car received $150 in damages after it struck a street sign and ended up on a lawn.
- The driver of a 1982 Toyota pickup truck lost control of the vehicle Thursday, when he swerved to avoid an oncoming car as he exited Dallas Mall. The car went over a curb and collided with a tree. The operator received minor facial lacerations and the pickup truck received $1,000 in damages.
- A 22-year-old Belmont man was arrested on an outstanding warrant Friday and further charged with possession of a dangerous weapon, throwing stars.
- Campus Center Staff reported Friday a wall mounted water fountain had been pulled from the wall during the concert that night.
- An 18-year-old Springfield man was arrested on Massachusetts Avenue Saturday and charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence and being a minor in possession of alcohol.
- A 20-year-old Beverly woman was arrested and charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license.
- Officers on patrol in Lot 22 Saturday discovered two vehicles with damage to their ignition systems. Damage was estimated to be $250.
- An attempt to steal the stereo of a car parked in Lot 22 was reported Saturday. The vehicle received extensive damage totaling $1,000.
- A Kenwood Stereo system worth $400 was stolen from a car parked in Lot 22 Saturday.
- A stereo system worth $500 was reported stolen from a car parked in Lot 34 Saturday.
- Police investigated a break-in at Bowditch Hall greenhouse after discovering its door had been pried open. Police were unable to determine if anything was missing.
- A vehicle parked in Lot 45 Sunday was left with the shifting arm of the car not in a secure park position. The car rolled out of the lot and more than 250 feet, striking a second vehicle pushing it into a third. There has been no estimate of damages.
- A soda machine in Totman Gymnasium had its front glass panel smashed out Sunday. The repair of the machine will cost $150.
- A camera and zoom lens, along with a collection of old photos worth $325, were reported stolen from an office desk in Clark Hall.
- A 19-year-old Norwood man was arrested on Massachusetts Avenue Monday and charged with operating a motor vehicle after his license had been suspended.

Need a change of pace?
The Spoke is the Place

Beer of the Month
Moosehead $1.50

Drink of the Week
Melon Ball $1.50
Vodka, Melon Liquor, Orange Juice

The Spoke
35 EAST PLEASANT ST., AMHERST

Same Bat Channel
Satifies all your Comic Book needs
Role Playing Games
Horror and Movie Magazines
Baseball Cards and Posters
586-8775
Hampshire Mall, Rt. 9
Hadley, MA

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!
From NEW YORK — one way
LONDON 179
PARIS 229
ROME 259
round trip
CARACAS 320
ST. THOMAS 260
HONGKONG 739
Taxes not included.
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes.
EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

LAGNAF

STUDENT AFFAIRS INFORMATION SERVICES
IDB/TIPS
ELECTION DAY - VOTE!
For Information about
LEGAL ISSUES
Call 'TIPS' (545-1540) and request tapes by number
2480 Community Legal Education
2492 Consumer Auto Repair Rights
2486 Disorderly Conduct
2484 Eviction Process
2487 False IDs
2493 Operating Under the Influence
2483 Small Claims Court
2491 Used Car Protection
2481 Warranties
Additional copies of the Student Telephone Directory available at 'IDB' 227 Whitmore.
IF YOU HAVE FURTHER QUESTIONS CALL 'IDB'(545-1555)
Information Data Bank(IDB)
Taped Information Phone Service(TIPS)

ATTENTION SOPHOMORE BUSINESS MAJORS

EXPERIENCE is a must to be successful in gaining the competitive edge in today's Business World.

THE COLLEGIAN is offering the opportunity to gain valuable business experience on campus.

Applications for the position of
•ASSISTANT FINANCE MANAGER•
are now being accepted.

This position requires
Responsibility, Dedication, and Time Commitment
-the qualities that future employers are looking for.

Come down to the Collegian Business Office in the Campus Center (Rm 113 - lower level 545-3500) and pick up a job application and description. Submit it no later than FRIDAY NOVEMBER 18, 1988.

The Collegian is an E/O/E.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn
READ ME SEYMOUR — Amherst College student Michael Davis reads a paper Sunday afternoon in the Amherst Campus Center.

■ SGA controversy

continued from page 1

he could not remember a time when more senators voted on an issue. The senate decided by three votes last week (47-44) that Silkoff and Rabinowitz could no longer use the office.

"I don't know how much clearer it can be that the full senate was involved in this," Rothman.

He said he agreed with their claim to be student leaders without the title. "I never disputed that they are student leaders. Shari and Jason did some good things."

What some senators are saying now is that they are sick of the issue and want it resolved soon.

Sen. Todd Lever, who claims to be a moderate, said, "The senate as a whole . . . from both sides of the aisle, are tired of the whole issue. I think we're going to move faster now that Shari and Jason are out because they want to get back in and the other side is gonna push for a new election," he said.

Staff member Rick Santos also contributed to this report.

Women's Forum

Amherst League of Women Voters:
Unit meeting: The Crisis in Childcare will meet at noon, Thursday, Nov. 10th, in the Jones Library. For more information call 549-3888.

Women of Color Film Festival: Sunday, November 13: The Double Day (Latin Americans), Simplemente Jenny (Latin Americans)

Sunday, November 20: The International Sweethears of Rhythm (Afro-American), Abortion: Stories from North and South (abortion issues), La Operacion (Puerto Rico).

Each program begins at 8 pm, on the 12th floor of John Quincy Adams in Southwest Residential Area. All are free and open to the public.

Speaker
Katherine Brady: Sexual Harassment, Date Rape, and Prevention 8 pm, Sunday, November 13, Gamble Auditorium, Mount Holyoke College.

Job Bank
The Resource/Referral Program at the Everywoman's Center has a Job Bank Book with local, regional and national job listings. Anyone looking for a job or with a position to fill should go to Wilder Hall, or call 545-0883.

ARE YOU PREGNANT & IN NEED OF HELP?
Birthright Can Help
• FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
• Same Day Results
Services that are Free, Confidential, Caring & Helpful
549-1906
Amherst Carriage Shops
An alternative to abortion

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

Ski 5 days pay just $219
UMASS SKI CLUB
QUÉBEC
JANUARY 8-13
Non skiers pay only $129
RIP INCLUDES
5 NIGHTS LODGING-CLARENDON HOTEL
WALK TO EXTENSIVE NIGHTLIFE
PARTY AGE IS 18
SHOPS, RESTAURANTS
CROSS COUNTRY SKIERS WELCOME
FOR MORE INFO, CONTACT UMASS SKI CLUB, 430 STUDENT UNION OR STOP BY THE SKI TABLE CCC TU-TH 545-3437
DON'T MISS OUT! SIGN UP NOW

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
Your chance to get ahead now.
Earn 3 Credits in 3 Weeks!
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Winter Session
Mail Registration—November 12-December 14
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 12. (Do not use campus mail.)
Walk-in Registration—
November 28-January 6
Room 615 Goodell Building
Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!
Classes start January 4, 1989.
For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN
WE ARE SEEKING TO FILL TWO POSITIONS ON OUR STUDENT MANAGEMENT STAFF BEGINNING NEXT SEMESTER.
ASSISTANT MANAGER - REQUIRES A MATURE, ENERGETIC AND FLEXIBLE PERSON WITH FOOD SERVICE EXPERIENCE.
ACCOUNTANT - REQUIRES A WELL ORGANIZED PERSON WITH GOOD MATH SKILLS AND COMMUNICATIVE ABILITY.
JOB DESCRIPTIONS AND APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE THRU NOV. 14TH AT BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN OFFICE, CLARK HILL ROAD

Commercials close a media-conscious campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — A made-for-television presidential campaign is ending with upbeat musical commercials and mellow network appeals as George Bush and Michael Dukakis seek to inspire voters after a long season of attack ads.

Quick, which one is using flags, children and old people in a sentimental media closing? The answer is both Democrat Dukakis and Republican Bush. The 60 and 30 second versions of their respective musical ads are part of a multimillion-dollar windup to a campaign season shaped to an unprecedented degree by television form 10-second sound bites and 30-second ads to extend interviews. The finale comes tonight, when each candidate airs 30-minute appeals on the three networks at a cost of $1 million for each campaign.

Even the ads acknowledge TV's pervasive presence. Bush's musical spot features several scenes of people watching a Bush attack ad and switching off the set in disgust.

The fall campaigns began with made-for-TV conventions awash in flags, balloons, children and TelePrompters, the halls carefully refashioned with seating, podiums and colors suitable for the small screen.

The Dukakis program at 8 p.m. EST showcase the Massachusetts governor answering questions in a town meeting setting and contains footage of his family and his running mate, Texas Senator Lloyd Bentsen. During the program Dukakis urges Americans to "look in the mirror and ask yourself - Is George Bush on your side? I want to give every American a chance to build a better life."

The Bush effort at 8:30 p.m. EST summarizes the vice president's resume, beliefs and plans for the nation.

The two candidates set records this year for money spent on commercials (expected to top $30 million a piece) and for free air time on news, talk and interview show (at all hours of day and night).

Some say the campaign also set a record for negative advertising. But while a mixture of ads remained on the air to the end, the mood of the newest spots was uplifting.

Sig Rogich and Jim Weller, part of the team that brought viewers the "Morning in America" ads of President Reagan's 1984 campaign, evoke the same mood for the vice president with the same song "God Bless the USA," a patriotic country ballad sung by Lee Greenwood.

The 88 Vote
An Election Day Celebration with many happy returns
Free Hors d'Oeuvres at 9:00 p.m.
TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE
Mon-Fri: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat & Sun: 4 pm-12:30 am

THIS ELECTION DAY
you have your choice . . .
LEFT Wing or the RIGHT Wing
But you'll always know where to get the BEST WING
Murphy's UNDERGROUND EXPRESS
549-7771 –FREE DELIVERY–

The question everyone is asking...
WHAT IS THE BUSH BASH?

SKIING: 5 day lift ticket on 2 mountains with 68 trails as easy as you like and as difficult as you can handle.

ENTERTAINMENT: 26 exciting restaurants and bars, including The Wonder bar at the mountain with a step off the slopes happy hour, The Blue Tooth with live entertainment, Barbeques and Condo Happy Hours.

LODGING: 5 luxury condo accomodations at the Bridges includes: indoor pool, saunas, tennis, nautilus, squash, exercise classses, game room, and every condo includes TV, kitchenette and fire place.

With all this - you may not even make it to the slopes. So now the question is....WHY HAVEN'T YOU RESERVED YOUR SPOT?

$40.00 Reservation deposit which goes toward the total cost of $235 Non-members welcome for an addtional $10. Lessons and rentals available.

SUGARBUSH BUSH BASH JAN. 22-27
RESERVE NOW!!! CONTACT UMASS Ski Club 430 Student Union Bldg 545-3437

F•R•E•E•••M•A•S•S•A•G•E
WITH 10 SESSIONS AT THE
Amherst Chiropractic Family Health Center
Dr. Virginia D. Harper D.C.
"Dedicated to treating the cause not the symptom"
6 University Drive at Newmarket Center
CALL (413) 549-6335

PC CLONES PRINTERS SOFTWARE ACCESSORIES
Sales • Service • Rental
DR. SOFTWARE
586-3210
M-T-W & F 10-6
Thurs. 10-8 • Sat. 10-5

JB's Roast Beef
50 Main St., Amherst
(across from Police Station)
253-7018
HOT ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES

JB's can drive even grown men to tears--

Brian says: Boo Hoo! I went out purposely to get myself a nice JB's meal, and Thick ate everything. Boo Hoo!
Doc says: Thick, before I have to use force, tell Brian you're sorry for eating his roast beef sandwich, chicken fingers and french fries.
Thick says: No way! Any torture you guys put me through will be worth it and I'd do it again. I can withstand anything when it comes to getting JB's in my belly.

GREAT FOOD • GREAT PRICES •OPEN TIL 2 AM

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

"Andrew, go out and get your grandfather . . . the squirrels have got him again."

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

GOOD MORNING, MADAM / HAVE YOU VOTED ? AH... WELL, WE'D LIKE YOU TO CONSIDER THE BILL / MONDALE ALTERNATIVE...
BILL MONDALE
WHY ? UH...
GIMME.
BECAUSE IF YOU DON'T, WE'LL COME TO 57 ELM STREET AND SHOOT YOUR HUSBAND, LAMAR.
NATURALLY, MADAM. YOU SHOULD TAKE THAT IN THE SPIRIT OF ALL CAMPAIGN PROMISES...
I'M THROUGH FOOLIN' AROUND!

"In my experience, the worst thing you can do to an important problem is discuss it."
– SIMON GRAY

Daily Crossword Puzzle
Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

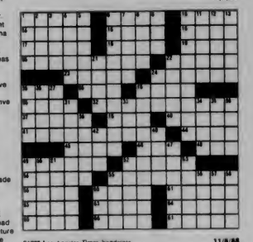
ACROSS
1 Sap sucking insect
6 Strike it out
10 Piece of land
14 Slanted
15 Doorway sign
16 Tibetan priest
17 Left-hand page
18 Valley in California
19 Parrots
20 Vestibules
22 Be frugal
23 Parts of a contract
24 Ample supply
25 Mineral fiber: Abbr.
28 Nero a $51
29 Go by boat
30 Make a trade
32 Laws or statutes
37 Traveling tinker
39 In the past
40 Cubic meter
41 Kind of highway
44 Do the crawl
45 Narrative
46 Recipe abbr.
48 Turning point for a ballerina
49 Lake ivy
52 YMCA et al.
54 Singer-actress Lena
55 Extra jobs
59 Mild expletive
60 Handle
61 Teheran native
62 Trick
63 Fish's respiratory organ
64 Long overblouse
65 Word with off or up
66 Fencer's blade
67 Lync poem

DOWN
1 Part of TAE
2 Hammer head
3 Forest creature
4 Map feature
5 Put in a silo
6 Designate
7 Student ordeals
8 Edges
9 Airline abbr.
10 Blood components
11 Rabbit fur
12 Catkin
13 Savory
21 Flesh border
22 Diets, British style
24 Bit of butter
25 Spore sacs
26 Ballet bird
27 Tease
29 Arizona resort city
31 Made believe
33 Muslim leader
34 Salamander
35 Kingston — 36 Scattered, in heraldry
38 Window dressing
42 Foxlike
43 Being
47 Courteous
49 Rock quartz
50 Rascal
51 Rub out
52 Usher's beat
53 Pancakes enhancer
55 Cut off
56 One billionth: Comb. form
57 City in N Oklahoma
58 Statesman, in India: Var.
60 Ripen

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

Z	E	B	R	A		S	A	S	H		D	U	A	D
I	D	I	O	M		M	A	T	I	E		U	R	D
G	A	L	L	A		O	R	A	L		E	A	G	L	E	S
		M	E	A	D	O	W		L	E	N	I	E	N	T
			R	E	X	I	T		A	N	O	N
T	R	I	A	D	U	C	I	N	G		S	T	R	A	W
W	A	D		S	A	M	E		D	E	L	E	T	E
I	D	E	A		R	E	V	U	E		V	I	O	L	E
L	I	N	N	E	T		E	N	G	E		S	A	D
L	O	O	T	S		P	R	I	E	S	T	E	S	S
			I	A	G	O		V	I	S	A
J	O	N	U	I	T		A	L	M	P	I	O
A	B	O	U		B	I	L	L		N	A	O	M	I
M	O	U	R		O	C	T	V		C	L	U	N	K
B	E	N	D		S	I	E	V	E		E	M	I	L	E

11/8/88



©1988 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 11/8/88

Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau

GOOD EVENING. PRESIDENT-APPARENT GEORGE BUSH FLEW TO CALIFORNIA TODAY TO MEET WITH THE CREW OF THE SOVIET ICEBREAKERS THAT RESCUED THE POINT BARROW WHALES.
THE BUSH VISIT WAS QUICKLY FOLLOWED BY THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT LATER THIS MONTH, DAN QUAYLE WOULD BE MEETING WITH THE WHALES THEMSELVES, AS WELL AS ATTENDING THE FUNERAL OF THEIR DEAD COMRADE.
IN OTHER NEWS, AMERICANS WENT TO THE POLLS TODAY TO MAKE THE BUSH/QUAYLE VICTORY OFFICIAL...
YOU UNDERSTAND THIS IS JUST A FORMALITY.
YEAH, YEAH...

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

AFTER LEAVES LAND ON THE GROUND....
SOON WINTER SNOW COMES IN A-BOUND...
THERE IT IS!! THERE IT IS!!
OH WOE IS HERE WHEN THE NEW FLAKES FALL...
WHO WILL GET HIT WITH THE FIRST SNOWBALL?...
SWAG!
PACK! PACK!
"BINK!
FLICK!

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

Menu

Lunch	Basics Lunch
Fishburger on a Roll Ravioli w/Tomato Sauce	Flat Bread Sandwich Ravioli w/Tomato Sauce
Dinner	Basics Dinner
Stir Fry Beef and Vegetables Baked Ham	Stir Fry Vegetables & Tofu Cheese Spinach Squares

Weather

Today: Partly cloudy. Upper 50's - Low 60's.
Tonight: Partly cloudy. Low 30's.
Tomorrow: Partly cloudy. Mid 50's.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....Tony Padovano
Copy Editor.....Jennifer Dempsey
Layout Technician.....Marc Infield
Photo Technician.....Dondi Ahearn
Production Supervisor.....Terry Starrner
Production.....Lauren, Joyce, Miguel, Celia, Kim, and Joe, do you know Ware you're going to?

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson, Managing Editor
David R. Mark, Editorial Editor
Robert Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Marc Infield, Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli, Business Manager
Barbra Hindin, Advertising Manager
Daniel Munroe, Finance Manager
Debra Botzenhart, Advertising Manager
Todd Fruhbeis, Circulation Manager
Mary Huygens, Subscriptions Manager

WORLD/NATION

Andrei Sakharov speaks in favor of political restructuring in the USSR

BOSTON (AP) Andrei Sakharov, speaking yesterday morning at the start of his first visit to the West , called for international support of perestroika or political restructuring in the Soviet Union, warning that its failure could force his homeland into expansion, creating a "great threat to all humanity."

"I think that perestroika is an extremely serious process. The goals . . are not false," he said. "This is not theater for the West, this is a geniune real process. . . the West must not fear perestroika.

"A greater danger to the world as a whole would be the failure of perestroika. International failure could be accompanied by external expansion. For the preservation of the system, expansion would be a necessity . . . it would be catastrophe form which would arise a great threat to all humanity.

"For that reason I think the West should be genuinely interested in the success of perestroika and in supporting it."

Sakharov, winner of the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize for his defense of human rights, is scheduled to spend two weeks in the US visiting relatives, undergoing medical tests and promoting a new international organization.

On his arrival Sunday, the tall, balding 67-year old declared himself a free man but called attention to a supporter jailed for a protest on his behalf nearly eight year ago.

The human rights activist spoke out for Vazif Meilanov, a 50-year old mathematician from the southern Russian city of Makhachkala who wore a sign around his neck saying "free Sakharov" two days after the Nobel laureate was sent in to internal exile in the industrial city of Gorky in January 1980.

"I feel it is my duty now, at this moment, to remember this man and many others who remain in prison," Sakharov said.

Meilanov served a seven year camp sentence for anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda and is now in exile in the eastern Siberian village of Namtsy, according to Joshua Rubenstein, a specialist on Soviet dissidents for Amnesty International.

"We consider him a prisoner of conscience," Rubinstein said.

Sakharov's trip comes less than two years after he was freed form internal exile in Gorky, where he had been sent because of his outspoken opposition to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

"Two years ago, I became a free man when I returned from Gorky to Moscow,"Sakharov said. "Now I have become even freer because I have been granted the right to travel around the world.

"But a man who staged a one-person demonstration on my behalf in January 1980 when I was exiled to Gorky remains in prison. The name of that man is Vazif Meilanov. He has been charged with once again with a very serous crime and faces a long imprisonment."

Meilanov was a cellmate of Natan Sharansky, who was deported in 1986 for his human rights work.

Sakharov is traveling without his wife, Yelena Bonner, who saw him off with a kiss at Sheremetyevo Airport in Moscow.

He was starting his trip with a visit to her daughter by a previos marriage, Mrs. Yankelevich, her husband, Efrem and their two teenage children in suburban Newton.

Sakharov is expected to visit Mrs. Bonner's son, Alexei Semyonov, his wife Liza Alekseyava, and their 4-eyar old daughter, Alexandra, in the nearby town of Westwood. It will be his first meeting with his granddaughter.

He is also scheduled to undergo a heart examination and may receive a pacemaker at Mass. General Hospital. Mrs. Bonner had cardiac bypass surgery at the hospital in Jan. 1986.

ELECTION DAY ROCKETTES

Is there a God?

You decide...

Come see Irish missionaries tell their amazing story of faith, adventure, and the real power of God.

Don't Worry.

There will be no sermon

no fire and brimstone
no accusations
no collection
no admission fee and
no nonsence.

When?

Wed. Nov. 9 at 7:30 pm

Where?

Campus Center Rm. 163c

You owe it to yourself to make a decision

FREE SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS WHO NEED
MONEY FOR COLLEGE

Every Student is Eligible for Some Type of Financial Aid Regardless of Grades or Parental Income.

- We have a data bank of over 200,000 listings of scholarships, fellowships, grants, and loans, representing over $10 billion in private sector funding.
- Many scholarships are given to students based on their academic interests, career plans, family heritage and place of residence.
- There's money available for students who have been newspaper carriers, grocery clerks, cheerleaders, non smokers ... etc.
- Results GUARANTEED.

CALL ANYTIME For A Free Brochure (800) 346-6401

FREE DELIVERY to AMHERST
11:30 a.m. -10:00 p.m.

mr. K's

13 North Pleasant St., Amherst

Open Hours
Mon-Thurs 11:30am-10:00pm
Fri & Sat 11:30am-11:00pm
Sundays 2:00pm-10:00pm

256-0286 256-0287

An education for those who can't look the other way.

If you gain satisfaction from reaching out and helping others, Northeastern University has a special place for you. At Boston-Bouvé College of Human Development Professions you can learn to assist others realize their full potential.

Most of our programs are offered on a part-time or full-time basis combining classroom theory with practical, hands-on experience.

Call (617) 437-2708 or write to us at 106 Dockser Hall, Northeastern University, Boston, MA 02115.

Master of Science Programs
- Counseling Psychology
- Exercise Sciences
- Human Resource Counseling
- Physical Education
- Recreation, Sport, and Fitness Management
- Rehabilitation Counseling
- Speech-Language Pathology & Audiology

Master of Education Programs
- Counseling
- Consulting Teacher of Reading
- Curriculum & Instruction
- Educational Research
- Human Development
- Rehabilitation Administration
- Special Education

Nondegree Certification Programs
- Counseling
- Elementary & Secondary School Teacher Preparation
- Special Education

Boston-Bouvé College

Northeastern University

An equal opportunity/affirmative action university

NOW... ON SATURDAY IN AMHERST!

FILM IN BY 11:00 am PRINTS OUT BY 2:00 pm

1-HOUR SERVICE ALSO AVAILABLE

The Foto Factory

257 TRIANGLE ST. / AMHERST

■ field hockey

continued from page 16

teams now have figured out how to slow us down. They've zoned us. They play very deep on us so we can't break away, so that's made our job very difficult as of late."

That was evident in last weekend's Atlantic 10 Tournament which the Minutewomen ended up winning with a 1-0 victory over Penn State University.

The Minutewomen didn't wrap up that game until the last 15 seconds when Mara Fratassio scored to ice the win for UMass. UMass had handled the Lady Lions pretty easily in the regular season, beating them, 3-0, at Totman Field.

It was also evident in the last regular season game where the Minutewomen lost to UConn, 3-2, on a poorly conditioned field and on a questionable call. UMass could get another crack at the Huskies Sunday.

If the Minutewomen do in fact win Sunday to earn a trip to the Final Four, here are the teams that they could possibly meet.

The No. 1 bracket in the South is a surprise. Old Dominion University and North Carolina are the No. 1 and 2 teams in the nation and even though they are in the same geographical region, Hixon thought that they might be placed into different regions for the tournament.

But the NCAA has decided that North Carolina will play the University of Maryland in a rematch of last year's national championship. The winner will play Old Dominion. Those games will be played at ODU. So it is guaranteed that at least one of the two best teams in the regular season will not go to the Final Four.

Out west in the No. 3 bracket, which will be held at Iowa, the University of Iowa will play the University of California-Chico on Saturday. The winner will play Northwestern University for the championship of that region.

The final bracket will be played at the University of Pennsylvania, where Delaware will play Penn State in the opening game. UPenn will play the winner of that game.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

The men's basketball team will play the Taby Club of Sweden at 7 tonight in the Cage.

■ Barbara Meehan

continued from page 16

"I've been much more relaxed [this year]. I'm happy with the way I'm playing. . .satisfied," she said.

Satisfied, but certainly not complacent. The Minutewomen are enjoying a season where they have consistently remained among the top teams in the Atlantic 10, and if Meehan has anything to say about it, it is going to stay that way.

"As long as we play like we can play, we can do well. We can possibly get to the finals [of the A-10 tourney]," she said.

Regardless of the outcome of the season, Meehan has learned more from UMass than volleyball in her four years.

"I've learned a lot about people. I just learned how to handle and communicate with people," she said. "I've learned to just tell people how I feel. . .I'm definitely less shy than I used to be."

She's become a blender with the ability to enhance other people's performances — just don't forget the cover.

Five College Students: Call 545-2511 For ½ Price Tickets

The Amazing Cambridge Buskers	Wednesday, Nov. 9
Peter Orth, piano	Tuesday, Nov. 15
Desrosiers Dance Theatre	Saturday, Nov. 19
Ladysmith Black Mambazo	Tuesday, Nov. 22
Quartet For The End Of Time	Saturday, Dec. 3
Neil Simon's "Broadway Bound"	Tuesday, Dec. 6
"A Christmas Carol"	Thursday, Dec. 8

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Come, Clean in Comfort!
Pleasant atmosphere, modern laundry facilities, plus ...
NEW EXPANDED HOURS:
Seven Days A Week, 7am - 10pm
Campus Coin-Op
107 Sunderland Rd, No. Amherst
Under New Ownership
SPEEDWASH
For a Quality Laundry
New larger Machines • Clean & Efficient, Friendly Attendants • Gas Dryers • Convenient Location
11 Pray St., Amherst, MA
549-1665
Self Service 7 Days 7am - 10pm

Come Ride With Us.

• Motorcycles • Scooters • A.T.V.'s • Power Equipment

Valley Motorsports 584-7303 731-9965
216 N. King St., Rte. 5 Northampton, MA
The 1989 Honda Motorcycles are ready for viewing.

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO • AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS • ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT • FOR SALE • FOUND • HELP WANTED • LOST • INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES • PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED • RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES • ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30); • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

THIS WEEK ON DAMAGE INCORPORATED Guitar's, guitar's, and more guitars! Wednesday from 9:30 to Midnight on WMUA - 91.1FM

UPC GENERAL MEETING tonight Nov 8 at 8:30 at Earthfoods Everyone welcome

PI SIGMA ALPHA Political Science Honor Society General Meeting Wednesday, November 9 - 8:30pm 620 Thompson Hall Current and interested members invited

VIETNAMESE STUDENT ASSOC. meeting tonight at CC 162-175, 7pm new members welcome

APARTMENT FOR RENT

LOOKING TO SUBLET your apartment during month of January Call 546-4940

AUTO FOR SALE

CHEVETTE 1982 Excellent condition 4 dr 4 sd $995 leave message 546-8081

77 PLY FURY 2 dr p.s. p.b. am/fm cassette Great running condition invincible 318 clean int slid body Mike 546-6472

1981 CHEVY MALIBU WAGON 73,000 miles standard Good condition $1200 253-5494

1978 FORD GRANADA low miles needs battery $275 549-3591 A steal

78 DODGE COLT 4 sp new radials radial snows new suspension runs great extras $300 Rich 256-0613, 549-9903

FORD EXCORT WAGON '83 ex condition A/C roof rack 50,000 miles 256-0933

81 HONDA ACCORD HATCH Silver, 89000 mi $1800 Call Teresa 549-0793

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 spd Dark grey new tires, rims runs very well $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184

1970 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires $2,500 Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE - Over 700 CD's Great Sound! All occasions 549-1421

ENTERTAINMENT

KLUBKAVE D.J. SERVICES - Professional music system at unbeatable prices 546-6518

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Disc-jockeys and large screen video dances Dorms/organizations 256-8526

FOR RENT

TWO BEDROOM APT. off rte 9 in Belcher-town on bus route available Jan 1 575 + contact Sage and Seever 256-0266

SINGLE ROOM IN HOUSE take over lease start Jan 1 ideal for grad student quiet, warm, homey on bus route call 256-8395.

1 - BEDROOM APT IN Cliffside Apts Sunderland, $450/mo. Take over lease for Spring Semester. Call Paolo- 665-4927.

2 BDRM APT on Main St take over Sept lease Grad students or professional people please. Call 256-8040.

FOR SALE

DATSUN 200SX FOR SALE. 1980 Hatchback in good running condition Interior is decent, rust on exterior. AM/FM. new alternator, battery, spark plugs and wires. $1000 or BO Call Tony at 546-5211 or 545-3500

BUD KEG TAPS You need them I have them Quality $20 Bill 549-6989

GUCCI WATCHES ONLY $35 Many styles great gifts Call Brian 549-5440

BRAND NEW HP-12C Business calc. only $50, list in BO Call 253-2908 ask for Jon

78 TOYOTA COROLLA engine in excellent condition. Good body must sell $650 or BO Call Pierre 545-2569

HONDA 750 CUSTOM 81, excellent condition, full face helmet and rain cover included, $850.00 or BO Must sell Leave massage 256-0998. Steve

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket Call David 1-566-8212

FOUND

MOOTORCYCLE HELMET and gloves Call 665-8238

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget. Futons, bookcases, tables and more Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Damin. We deliver

HELP WANTED

SUMMER BUSINESS EARN AVERAGE $7000 Excellent experience for more information contact Adam 665-2527

$8NEED XTRA CASH? PT/FT & intersession retail sales & cashier positions available downtown Northampton Nov 15-Jan 15 - 586-5824 Kathy

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information 504-641-8003 ext. 598

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring, excellent benefits. Call 1-312-741-8400 ext J-5931A

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring, excellent benefits Call 1-312-741-8400 Ext. J-5931A

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information 504-641-8003 Ext 598.

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings Come by Off Campus Housing Office. 545-0865.

LOST

LOST IN BARTLETT: Man's brown, zip, leather jacket Reward $30 549-8025

MOTORCYCLES

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD. Helmet, cover shield $850 Joe 549-7423 Evenings

PERSONALS

YO P.P. NOW THAT you're legal let's drink (you're buying!) Happy 21st! Huey and the news

PLEDGES OF KAPPA Kappa Gamma and Theta Chi Thanks for a wild morning. The Triple

FOR SALE: ONE PAIR of abandoned L.L. Bean Shoes Size 10½ Call 6-6141

WEN-JEN A thought for Erie Yaar Start each day with a smile and get it over with! Happy B-day beautiful, we love you! Friends at a!

SCOOTER PIE We think you're the greatest ever Love the 3 horse-women.

LISA GILBERT happy 19th love always, your big sister, Marissa.

TO KATHY GALLAGHER: Happy birthday you big boob! Have a great day and this is the only time I'm talking to you today! Scary roommates from hell! Love you, Joya.

"JARHEARDS" ...All former prior service marines meet me at the TOC on Nov 10th for a pitcher or two at 8:30pm. No Wannabees allowed. That means all you PLC and reservists unless you're prepared to buy for your betters. FTS.

TO MY FAVORITE INJURED MAN. Even though you can only use one hand now, you are still incredible. Thanks for the best week and weekend I love you always. Love, The real girlfriend.

CHICO- my favorite BUDDA belly goodbye "little boy" goodbye Steven HAPPY 21st! Love Sharon

PAUL PALADINO: Happy 21st! Have a great day but watch out for Illinois Nazis - Dan

UMASS JUGGLING FESTIVAL
• Workshops Demonstrations Vendors
• Fri, 11/11 3pm to Sun, 11/13 5pm
• in the Campus Center auditorium free with UMass ID!
• Also, a FREE public show Sat. 11/12 7pm in the SUB
"Sponsored by the Umass Juggling Club"

TO THE CUTE GIRL I MET Fri the 28th at the library near closing time. I liked talking with you, I like you and would like to see you again. If you want to see me again, I'll be practically living here for at least another week at the same place till 10pm.

"MAKE DAVID'S DREAM COME TRUE"
• Sigma Phi Epsilon will be sponsoring
• a drop off for pool cards. Take the
• time to bring a smile to David's face
• The table will be on the
• Campus Center Concourse all week.

EARN $60-$120/SHIFT! Drivers wanted. Must own an insured car and be able to work at least one weekend night until closing. Call Domino's Pizza 256-8913.

1989 COLLEGE SKI WEEKS
• Destinations, Lake Tahoe-heavenly
• Vermont-Sugarbush, Smugglers Notch,
• Killington Ski all day/party all night
For lowest prices call:
546-6612 or 546-5242

RESUME SERVICE

EFFECTIVE RESUMES Seven years experience. Bill 584-7316

RIDE WANTED

TWO PEOPLE NEED RIDE to Syracuse or surrounding area weekend of Nov 11-Nov 13 Please call Cathleen and leave message at 549-7785.

ROOMATE WANTED

ROOMATE NEEDED FOR spring semester at Southwood Apartments call 256-8745.

PUFFTON VILLAGE: large double room available, $140 per person. Rent includes heat, gas, water. Ask for Mike 549-2654

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550

SERVICES

TYPING. TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate. 253-WORD

DIRT CHEAP RESUMES. Very experienced Laserwriter quality. Pick-up/drop off. Overnight service. Lisa 367-9940

ACCURATE TYPING. Pickup and delivery 15¢ pp Basic editing Gloria 323-5140

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor Call Carolyn-leave message 253-5667

TRAVEL

MONTREAL HOLIDAY WEEKEND
• still spaces left! Don't miss out this is
• going to crazy,' nutty, cukoo time! You'
• snooze and you lose dude! Bars open'
• to 3 in the AM drinking age is 18
• Lowest prices Call Craig or Karl at 549-1949

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

DISSERTATIONS. CASES, PAPERS, reliable on-campus, affordable, spelling/grammar reviewed 584-7924 Nancy.

WANTED

HELP! TUTOR WANTED for Colins 102-Basic programming Call Evas 549-8164

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hurria) notes will pay money$$ Shirley 549-2710

WORK IN BRITIAN/IRELAND LEGALLY FOR UP TO 6 MONTHS

THE BUNAC/USIT FALL ROADSHOW will ba visiting UMass on Thursday 3, November. Information available between 10am and 3pm in the Campus Center concourse followed by a presentation between 6.30 and 8.30pm in room 168, Campus Center. Everyone welcome

SPORTS

Field hockey gets bye in tournament

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

This is what the University of Massachusetts field hockey team has been waiting for all season.

As expected, the NCAA invited the Minutewomen to its 12-team National Tournament, which will begin Saturday.

The goal the Minutewomen set for themselves at the start of the season was to return to the Final Four, where they finished third last year.

Right now it appears that it will be easier than last season for the Minutewomen, 17-2-1, and ranked No. 4 in the country by the NCAA, to accomplish that goal for two reasons.

No. 1, UMass will host the first round of this year's tourney. Last year, the Minutewomen had to travel to the University of New Hampshire in the first round and play the Wildcats on their home field, where the Wildcats were undefeated during the season.

"I think playing at home is the biggest advantage we have," UMass coach Pam Hixon said. "I definitely think its very good for us."

Number 2, the Minutewomen will be given a bye in the first round. Northeastern University, 13-2-2, will play the University of Connecticut, 14-3-1, at noon on Saturday. UMass will be able to sit back and watch that game knowing that it will be playing the winner at noon on Sunday.

Last year, the Minutewomen were in the same position that UConn and Northeastern are in this season. The Minutewomen had to play UNH on Saturday and then come back and play Providence College on Sunday. But a fired-up UMass team came away with two wins and a trip to North Carolina for the Final Four.

"We will fight the emotions of the team that wins, that's always difficult," Hixon said.

UMass has won its last two games, but they have been hard-fought battles. Earlier in the year, the Minutewomen were walking all over their opponents. But in its last few games, UMass has had struggle to get the win.

"I don't think we've played poorly and I don't think we've played consistently well," Hixon said. " I think

continued on page 15

Meehan: leading the charge

The two-sport athelete steps up to leadership role

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

Try this sometime: Put ice in a blender and run the blender on high without a cover. The relevance of this is that a machine needs all its components to run effectively -- nothing can be taken for granted.

The same thing holds true for the University of Massachusetts volleyball team. Senior Barbara Meehan is a soft-spoken co-captain who has a unique knack for giving 100 percent and getting the job done without a lot of attention.

Meehan does her job so efficiently and quietly that she frequently blends into the scenery, but without her the results would be worse than crushed ice on the floor.

Meehan is a blue-collar, no-nonsense player. She isn't especially fast or tall but look at the stats after the game and you wonder how she blended in when the numbers show she stood out.

She has had to fight off her shy and reserved image to become one of the leaders of this year's 18-6 team.

"She not a flashy player. She's a shy leader," UMass head coach Carol Ford said.

Opponents, however, probably wish Meehan was timid on the court as she is off it. The 5-foot-9 middle blocker from Holliston is having probably her finest season. Meehan leads the team in hitting efficiency and blocking, and has twice been nominated for the Atlantic 10 Player of the Week-- including this week (award selection is today). She was also selected to the All-Tournament team this past weekend at the Hofstra Tournament in Hempstead NY.

"I like to see everyone give their best," said Meehan, who characterizes herself as "aggressive and not a quitter."

Meehan is a two-year starter who has had the good fortune of playing with essentially the same nucleus throughout her four years at UMass. She is currently one of five seniors on an experience-heavy team.

But she has perhaps more experience than the others, although not in necessarily in volleyball. Meehan is a rarity in college athletics these days -- a two-sport athlete. In addition to nailing blocks in the fall, Meehan shags fly balls in center field for the UMass softball team.

Although she has no regrets about being a dual-athlete, Meehan realizes how much she could improve if she wanted to concentrate her energies on either sport.

Sports Information photo

UMass' Barbara Meehan has seen plenty of time above the net this year -- she's having probably her best season.

"I could have been better if I'd have stuck with one sport," Meehan said.

Ford said, "If she did just play volleyball she'd be a lot farther along. Without question she would be one of the better all-around players in the conference, and not just as a blocker."

This year, Meehan said she is taking everything in stride and enjoying her final season.

continued on page 15

Weekend starts one water sport, ends another

• Women's swimming opens with a win

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's swimming team successfully opened its season Saturday with a sound 207-93 pounding of Smith College at Boyden Pool.

Today, the Minutewomen look to add to their success when they travel to the University of Vermont for a 4 p.m. meet.

"We swam very well. Needless to say, I was pleased," said UMass coach Bob Newcomb.

The tone for the meet was set in the first event, as the 400-yard medley relay team of Laurie Schwarz, Melissa Waller, Sue Gorski and Keira Cruz won the race in 4:17.68, the fastest time for this early in the year, according to Newcomb.

Tracy Young and Melissa McCarthy took the top two spots in the 1000 freestyle, and then UMass swept the 200 free behind Cruz, Megan McCamy and Theresa Jacobs.

"That was a good indication of how we'd swim," Newcomb said of the sweep.

After failing to win the 200 backstroke, the Minutewomen took firsts in the rest of the events. Senior Regina Jungbluth won the 100 breaststroke in 1:12.91, and was the swimmer of the meet, according to Newcomb.

UMass pulled away as Schwarz took the 200 butterfly, and then Patty Pike and Kim Morin took the top spots in the 50 free.

Other firsts in the meet included Debbie Mullen off both the 1- and 3-meter diving boards, Cruz in the 100 free, Lori Carroll in the 200 backstroke, Waller in the 200 breast, Young in the 500 free, Sue Gorski in the 100 fly, Marcia Samsel in the 200 individual medley, and the 400 freestyle relay team of McCarthy, Schwarz, Jacobs and Pike, in 3:53.68.

"They're happy about the way they swam," Newcomb said. "They're really charged up."

• Men's water polo ends season at NEs

By DENNIS MADSEN
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts men's water polo team's season came to an abrupt end last weekend as the Minutemen could only come up with third place in the New England Championships at Boston University.

In order to advance to the Easterns, UMass needed a second-place finish, a hope which was shattered by a first-game loss to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Said UMass coach Russ Yarworth, "MIT was due to beat us. It was a close game and we didn't play how we had to [to win]. We were a little tight."

The team may have been anticipating the next round of play against Harvard (who they would have played with a win) and were ripe for the upset. The Minutemen dropped an 8-7 decision to MIT.

In the double elimination format, UMass then advanced to play Yale. The Minutemen took out their frustrations on the Eli, mixing good counterattack with excellent ball control.

Nine different players scored goals and seven got assists as UMass blew Yale out of the pool, 13-4, to advance to the third-place game.

Here the Minutemen met MIT again and were spoiling for revenge, and came away with a 12-6 victory.

"We didn't take the game too seriously," Yarworth said, and that allowed the Minutemen to take third place.

"We manhandled them," Yarworth claimed. "We played our best game of the season."

However it was too little, too late and the book was closed on the UMass season. The Minutemen finish the year with a 13-9 record.

Men's hoop team opens against Swedes tonight

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

Today is Election Day across the country, but more importantly, it is Inauguration Day in Amherst for the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team and first-year head coach John Calipari.

The Minutemen will play their first game of the season tonight at 7:30 in the Curry Hicks cage against the Taby Club of Sweden.

Calipari said he expects the Taby Club to play the European style of basketball.

"They're probably going to take a lot of three pointers, run it up and down [the court], and try to score 120 points. We'll have to try and control the tempo," Calipari said.

Calipari has said earlier this year, however, that he wants UMass to become a fast-break team. He said tonight's starting line-up will most likely be sophomore Rafer Giles, junior Chris Bailey, and seniors Duane Chase, David Brown, and John Milum.

"We're only a couple of weeks into practice and I'm using this game as a test," Calipari said.

"I want to see them [UMass] work real, real hard. I think they're going to come out strong," he said. "Every position is open."

Calipari will be trying on the glass slipper as a head coach for the first time tonight. He was an assistant at Kansas and Pittsburgh Universities.

Also , making their collegiate debuts will be freshmen Jim McCoy and Anton Brown.

Look for a full Collegian men's basketball preview in the coming weeks.

Football notebook

Injuries hit UMass hard

By MATT GERKE
Collegian Staff

In terms of the final score, the University of Massachusetts football team beat up on the University of Richmond in Saturday's 26-16 win.

But physically, it may have been a different story and, as a result, the Minutemen are stuck with their biggest injury list of the year.

Six players are on the injury list for Saturday's game with Villanova University, and all are from the defensive unit that has powered the team in recent games.

The Minutemen will be without the services of cornerback Garrick Amos, who has a sprained ankle, and linebacker Chris Tenkin, who injured a hamstring.

Linebacker Drew Comeau, who has come on strong and become one of the leaders on defense, is listed as doubtful because of a sprained wrist.

Cornerback Vaughn Williams and linebacker Brant Despathy are both listed as questionable because of sprained ankles.

And defensive tackle Dan Charron, who suffered a strained neck 10 days ago against Northeastern University, is also questionable for Saturday. Charron did not play against Richmond.

"It was a good win over Richmond but a costly one," UMass head coach Jim Reid said. "The injury situation is depressing."

Extra points: Senior linebacker John McKeown, who seems to have played through injuries his entire career, had 15 tackles against Richmond and is just 4 short of 500 for his career.

Referendum question results. Page 2.

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 45

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1988

INSIDE

- SGA may decide election tonight. Page 3.
- Campaign '88 gives lesson. Page 7.
- Field hockey's Tonia Kennedy featured. Page 16.

President George Bush

COMPILED FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

Vice President George Bush defeated Gov. Michael S. Dukakis last night to extend Republican rule of the White House. It was a split-decision election that left Democrats in firm control of both houses of congress.

"We can now speak the most important words democracy has to offer — the people have spoken," Bush said at his acceptance speech from his Houston, Texas headquarters.

Bush will become the 41st president of the United States in January. The vice president won handily from one end of Dixie to the other and added New Jersey, Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania to his column as the vote totals mounted. Missouri put Bush over the top in the AP tally.

In the popular vote, with 58 percent of the precincts reporting, Bush had 27,936,468 or 54 percent. Dukakis had 23,881,576 or 46 percent. According to ABC, Bush was leading in the electoral count 355-108.

Dukakis, who conceded in Boston at 11:20 p.m., won at home in Massachusetts and eight other states, including New York, Wisconsin and Washington. He also won the District of Columbia and was in close battles in Illinois and California.

"This nation faces major challenges ahead," Dukakis told a cheering crowd in his Boston headquaters after it became clear the victor was Bush. "And I extend my best wishes to Bush and to the Bush family."

Dukakis said he would continue to work for the goals he's talked about during his campaign, adding enthusiastically, "Above all, I'll be working with the people of Massachusetts."

Democrats moved out smartly in their bid to renew control over Congress, as former Gov. Charles Robb defeated Republican Maurice Dawkins in Virginia. Joseph Lieberman led veteran Republican Sen. Lowell Weicker with 93 percent of the Connecticut vote in, 51 percent to 49 percent, and NBC said he would win.

Republican Senate Leader Bob Dole, assuming a Bush triumph, said it was "probably correct" that there wouldn't be a mandate to go along with it.

Dole also said he hadn't changed his mind that Bush could have found a better running mate, although he said Dan Quayle would make a good vice president.

Dukakis campaigned even as the vote totals mounted. "It's a fight to the finish, a cliffhanger," he said. "It reminds me of 1960," when John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon battled down to the finish, Dukakis said before concluding a final round of interviews fed by satellite to Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri and Wisconsin.

Bentsen said on ABC that Republicans "did a job on Michael Dukakis with the negative ads . . . . And they distorted his record, to a remarkable degree." Bentsen was a cinch to win a new term in the Senate from Texas no matter which side claimed the White House.

Democrats expected to renew working majorities in both the House and Senate that will comprise the 101st Congress. The two parties vied for gains in 12 gubernatorial contests, races that held significance for a nationwide redistricting that takes place after the 1990 census.

There wee 33 Senate seats on the ballot, 18 held by Democrats and 15 by Republicans, and a full complement of House races. Democrats held a 54-46 edge in the old Senate and an overwhelming 255-177 advantage in the old House, with three vacant seats.

Democratic senators winning re-election included Edward Kennedy in Massachusetts; Paul Sarbanes in Maryland; James Sasser of Tennessee; Daniel Patrick Moynihan in New York, Don Riegle in Michigan and Frank Lautenberg in New Jersey.

Outgoing Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia also won, as did Maine's George Mitchell — one of three men who hope to succeed him as his leadership post.

Republican senators re-elected were Richard Lugar in Indiana, John Danforth of Missouri, John Heinz of Pennsylvania and William Roth of Delaware.

AP photo

President-elect George Bush and his wife, Barbara, wave to the the crowd at a victory celebration last night. Bush began the night by winning running mate Dan Quayle's home state of Indiana, then went on to win throughout the South as well as in Ohio, Michigan, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Missouri, according to the Associated Press, put him over the top in electoral votes shortly after 11 p.m.

AP photo

SON'S CONDOLENCES — Democratic Presidential Candidate Michael Dukakis receives a hug from his son John last night in Boston before conceding defeat to Vice President George Bush.

Profs drown sorrows in political brew

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

The results are in and celebration and consolation parties abound, but not before the University of Massachusetts political science department threw a small party of its own.

Drinking Miller beer and pondering the untimely exit of Gary Hart from the Democratic primary, about 20 professors and teaching assistants gathered in the sixth floor lounge in Thompson Tower last night, awaiting the predicted George Bush victory.

"I miss Gary Hart because he had 'new ideas,'" said teaching assistant Deaun Moulton.

"Yeah," quipped TA Dan Dunlop. "How to spend your weekends."

Professor Jerome Mileur said of this year's race: "It's the meanest campaign I've ever known in my lifetime. They attacked one another."

"In a way, they've demeaned themselves and demeaned the rest of us," Mileur said.

Professor Paul Herrnson disagreed, saying this year's campaign is no different from

continued on page 5

Local turnout heavy; vans help

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

Voter turnout at all ten precincts in Amherst was high and the workload at polling stations was heavy, said a majority of the people running them.

According to Diana Romer of the League of Women Voters, by 10 a.m. yesterday 20 percent of the register voters in Precinct 5 had already voted and expectations of a good showing by voters was high.

About 740 of Precinct 3's 1,200 registered voters had made their selection by 5:30 p.m. with a "good number of students" showing up as early as 7 a.m., said a Precinct 3 worker.

Some students were unable to vote because they had been deleted from the rolls for not being properly registered, not making a change of address known, or didn't respond to the census taken during the year.

Nancy Marion, warden of Precinct 3, said she tried to help as many of the people who had an error in registration or had been removed from the rolls. As warden, she said her job was to try everything in her power to allow persons the opportunity to vote.

The Student Government Association aided student voters by sponsoring a highly successful voter mobilization program that transported voters to the polls.

The SGA arranged for vans to run circuits to and from the polls between Precincts 1-4, 9 and 10, for the duration the polls were open.

Mike Greiner, who helped organize the

continued on page 5

CAMPAIGN 88

All referendum questions get resounding 'no' vote

BOSTON (AP) - Early results on Massachusetts' four statewide ballot questions yesterday showed voters decided not to close down the state's two nuclear power plants, voted against legislative pay raises, but were more evenly divided on repealing the state's prevailing wage law. Voters rejected the state's most hotly contested measure, which effectively asked if they wanted to shut down the state's two commercial nuclear power plants.

The returns showed 399,680, or 70 percent voted to keep the plants open.

The utility-backed campaign to keep the plants open spent more than $8 million to convince voters against the measure, exceeding spending on any ballot question in recent measure. Anti-nuclear groups who sponsored the proposal say the Plymouth and Rowe atomic power plants endanger surrounding communities. By closing them, the production of atomic waste would be curbed. Question 2, which asked if voters wanted to keep pay raises for state legislators that were approved by officials last year had 84 percent of the voters voting against it. Under the law, each member of the legislature begins at a base salary of $30,000, with a provision linking future raises to those of full-time state employees. On the prevailing wage law, early returns showed a slight majority favoring repealing a state law that orders all workers on public works construction projects be paid the prevailing wage, usually based on union wages.

Unofficial returns showed that 372,438, or 60 percent of the voters wanted to keep the law.

The construction industry was a main backer of Question 2.

With 27 percent of the precincts reporting in, 433,976, or 71 percent of the voters voted not to enact new standards for the treatment of farm animals in the state.

Question 3 asked voters to establish stricter regulations on the treatment of farm animals and an advisory board to ensure they be treated humanely.

Massachusetts farmers railed against the animal rights activists who sponsored the bill, insisting that the new regulations would place an overwhelming burden on them.

AP photo

VOTING TOGETHER — Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis and his wife Kitty leave the polling place near their Brookline home after voting yesterday.

Dukakis finishes his campaign continuing to predict a victory

BOSTON (AP)— Michael Dukakis cast his ballot yesterday then waited at home for the nation's verdict on his presidential candidacy, predicting he would confound the pollsters and begin "popping those champagne corks" when the results were in.

Arriving in Boston at the end of a 48-hour non-stop campaign finale, the Democratic presidential nominee and his family went first to their polling place before heading home for the first chance to sleep in bed since Saturday night.

"I voted for Mike Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen and I'm proud of it," Dukakis said as he left the polling booth in a Brookline housing project with his wife, Kitty, and their three children. His mother, Euterpe Dukakis, raised her hand in a V for victory sign.

Dukakis ended his campaign with a pair of huge rallies in California on Monday and a through-the -night flight eastward. He stopped in Des Moines, Iowa, for a 3:30 a.m. rally, where as many as 3,000 people showed up to see him speak on an airport tarmac. He stopped again in Detroit for a dawn rally before flying home.

"I think tonight we're not only going to surprise a few people, but we're going to be doing the celebrating," Dukakis told several hundred cheering supporters that greeted him at the airport in Boston.

"It's been an incredible experience. Let's go out and make sure that tonight we're popping those champagne corks," he said in Detroit.

John Sasso, a top campaign official, said Dukakis has been at his best in the final weeks and had presented America with an image of "a fighter . . . That's why we feel so good about the last three weeks."

"Enough talk about polls," Sasso said. "It's in the hands of the American people."

Dukakis struck sentimental notes at his final stops, telling the crowds that he loved them and reflecting on his long campaign.

On board his chartered campaign jet, nicknamed "Sky Pig" for its lack of speed and range, Dukakis strolled back and spoke with reporters, telling them he had enjoyed knowing and working with them.

"You all look like the walking wounded," he said with a smile to the reporters who had been with him along 8,500 miles of travel in the final 48 hours. Though he had to be tired, he insisted, "I feel great."

Bush ends campaign in Texas addressing thousands at rally

HOUSTON (AP) — George Bush wrapped up his 1988 presidential campaign with a three-state swing, an old-fashioned rally in his adopted home state and soft-focus 30-minute television ad that summed up his career and campaign.

After a final campaign swing through Michigan, Ohio and Missouri, Bush came home to a raucous rally Monday evening at the Galleria shopping mall in Houston. Country stars Loretta Lynn, Crystal Gayle and Mo Bandy revved up a crowd of several thousand.

Bush told the crowd that yesterday's election was "more than just a referendum on peace and prosperity."

"It's a referendum on a philosophy, a way of life that's well and alive right here deep in the heart of Texas," he said.

Yesterday Bush was casting his vote early, then paying a visit to the people working on get-out-the-vote efforts at local Republican headquarters.

He planned to have a quiet day out of the public eye before spending the evening with family and friends watching the election returns at his home in a Houston condominium-hotel complex.

In a half-hour paid TV advertisement Monday night, the Republican presidential nominee summed up the themes of his campaign and said rival Michael Dukakis "has no experience in national security affairs."

"I don't believe we can take a risk on an issue as important as our national security," he said on the ad broadcast on the three major networks right after Dukakis aired a half-hour spot.

Later, a soft-speaking Bush talked to viewers for a few minutes at the end of the half-hour commercial that featured biographical and campaign scenes set to music and narration, as well as an endorsement by President Reagan and various Bush family members.

"I respect my opponent, I admire his devotion to family, and I appreciate his decision to enter public service," Bush said.

ATTENTION
WINTER SESSION STUDENTS
ENGLISH 112
PLACEMENT TEST

For students planning to take English 112 during Winter Session 1989

Test will be administered

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1988
7 p.m., Room 206, Bartlett Hall

No one will be admitted into English 112 without this test. Bring ID and pen or pencil. This test is administered free of charge.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

LADYSMITH BLACK MAMBAZO
"South Africa's Grammy Award-winning Vocal Group"
with special guest
Karla Bonoff

Tues. Nov. 22 - 8 pm
FAC Concert Hall
Tickets: $16, 14, 12

Five college students ½-price ☐ Box Office 545-2511

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

LOCAL

SGA may ratify election tonight

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

It could be tonight.

After nearly eight months, the Undergraduate Student Senate could finally resolve the controversy surrounding the election results of Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz.

Then again, they've tried it before.

Silkoff and Rabinowitz are urging students to come to the senate meeting tonight and support them; senate members opposing them will try to get the senate to hold new elections.

Senators Brian Darling and W. Greg Rothman have had a proposal before the senate calling for new elections for three weeks. They wrote a motion last week that ordered Silkoff and Rabinowitz to stop using the president's office and the title of president.

In a statement sent to all senators, Rothman, Darling and Sen. Ken Rudy reminded other senators of the "in:portant motion" on tonight's agenda calling for new elections. "In this election, only one person will be allowed to hold the office of president, No matter who you support for the office of president . . . the office must be filled soon.

In a similar statement, Rothman said, "Remember, the students who have elected you have are counting on you to stick up for them. They, not the Minuteman, or the Collegian, or the Young Communist League, are the voiceless and sometimes helpless people who we represent. They are the ones who choose the campus leaders."

Rothman added in his letter that he is "unwilling to violate the constitution and the wishes of the Student Judiciary for expediency."

Meanwhile Silkoff and Rabinowitz are claiming that they want the senate to stick by the majority of voters who supported them in the last election. Rabinowitz said Friday that someone will try to suspend the rules of the senate and call for ratification.

They have promised a "mobilization" effort to get students to come to tonight's meeting and voice their support.

Rabinowitz said he is soliciting political and non-political groups for their support in tonight's meeting. He said he respects the desire of the judiciary to rule on the case, but, "the senate has to move first. A basic constitutional principle is that a court doesn't issue prior restraint on a legislative body. If after the senate ratifies the election somebody wants to take up a case, then we'll deal with that."

"We've decided to appeal over the head of the senate and to the people of this campus, and urge them to come to the senate meeting (tonight) and show the senate that students on this campus support democracy," Silkoff said.

Coincidentally, SGA Speaker Robert Fadel has sent a letter to all senators asking them not to suspend rules. Fadel said this has a "snowball" effect, pushing motions farther and farther back on the agenda, creating a logjam in the senate.

The Commuter Area Governing Board has thrown its support to the co-presidents-elect. Eight members of the 14-member board voted Monday to show their support for ratification from the senate. Silkoff, a member of board, abstained.

Collegian photo by Chris Hosford

DOING HIS DUTY — Senior economics major Mike Northover leaves a Precinct 10 voting booth yesterday in downtown Amherst.

Chronology of the SGA co-presidency

This is a history of the Student Government Association Presidency battle to date:

March 1: On the last day nomination papers can be submitted, Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz announce they will run for co-presidents of the SGA. Sens. Aram Hamparian and Guy Glodis are also on the ballot.

March 2: In a senate meeting, the co-presidency issue is first discussed. Speaker Bob Griffin argues that co's should be allowed.

March 6: The SGA Governmental Affairs Committee, which is in charge of elections, recommends that Silkoff/Rabinowitz be nullified as co-candidates. SGA Attorney General Bill Collins says Silkoff/Rabinowitz should be allowed to run an issues campaign, but not hold office.

March 7: Student Trustee Paul Wingle says Collins is working with Sen. Hamparian against Silkoff and Rabinowitz, and that the Governemtal Affairs Committee is biased against the co-candidates. Silkoff/Rabinowitz say they will run despite the Governmental Affairs decision.

March 10: The Governmental Affairs Committee votes to put Silkoff/Rabinowitz on the ballot, acknowledging the SGA Constitution does not allow co-presidents.

March 15: Elections are held, Silkoff/Rabinowitz get 1,454, votes, Hamparian: 1,093, Glodis: 492.

March 16: Senate does not vote on election ratification.

March 30: Back from Spring Break, senate again does not ratify elections.

April 5: Student Supreme Court issues restraining order saying co-presidents cannot be ratified.

April 14: Student Supreme Court calls for new elections.

April 20: Counsel representing Silkoff/Rabinowitz, Mark Friedman files appeal against restraining order.

April 28: Appeal of Silkoff/Rabinowitz against restraining order begins.

May 9: Student Supreme Court tribunal of justices hearing appeal issues decision saying a new, de novo hearing should be held. This means the original tribunal would have to hear the case gain with all new evidence presented.

May 11: Student Supreme Court issues restraining order barring Silkoff and Rabinowitz from holding office just before a senate meeting that may have seen ratification. In the final senate meeting, Republican factions stall the meeting to prevent ratification of the election.

June 6: The SGA Coordinating Committee, which acts as the full senate during the summer, ratifies Silkoff/Rabinowitz to serve as presidents in a partial capacity. They will not be allowed to have signature power, cannot draw a salary, cannot make appointments, and any money expenditures must be approved by the SGA Treasurer.

September 8: Senate meets for first time of new semester, decides to postpone meeting until Sept. 28.

September 28: Senate meets. Ratification does not get approved.

November 2: The senate again fails to vote on the ratification issue, and by a close (47-44) vote orders that Silkoff and Rabinowitz cannot use the office or title of SGA President. In senate meetings prior to this, the body has failed to vote on the issue.

CASA collects aid for hurricane victims

By JOHN SWANSON
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Central American Student Association is collecting donations of money, food and clothing for hurricane victims in Nicaragua.

CASA member Greg Smith said the organization has collected donations at a table on the Campus Center concourse and at a CASA-sponsored showing of the film Cover Up. Many individuals and organizations in the five-college-area have taken an interest in helping the victims, he said.

"Three doctors from Northampton flew down medical assistance and a planeload of medical supplies," he said.

From Oct. 22 to 24, Hurricane Joan passed through Nicaragua, leaving 50 dead and 300,000 — nine percent of the nation's population — homeless, according to the Nicaraguan Embassy to the United States in Washington DC, Nicaragua's capital, Managua, was flooded by 15 inches of water.

Apple Ahearn, manager of the Maplewood store in Amherst, said the store is being used as a collection area for contributed items. Other local organizations involved in the effort include Construyamos Juntos, Faculty and Staff for Peace in Central America, American Friends Service Committee and the Amherst Sister City Project, Ahearn said.

Although Smith said CASA has raised only $50, Ahearn said the store has collected over $1000.

"We really need blankets, tents, medication and food. People are bringing too many clothes," she said.

Charge d'Affairs Leonor Arguello, of the Nicaraguan Embassy, said, "The Government of Nicaragua is not requesting aid from the Government of the United States. If the US Government wishes to assist in the efforts of the international community, there are many ways to do it through the International Red Cross, the United Nations and other international organizations."

Smith said Nicaragua's resistance to US Government aid results from what he calls the Reagan Administration's previous hesitation to send aid to the earthquake-ravaged countries of Mexico and El Salvador.

The release stated that the hurricane destroyed a majority of this year's coffee bean crop, one of the nation's principal products.

Contribution checks should be made out to Quest for Peace/Hurricane Relief, and mailed to NCOCA, P.O. Box 1261, Northampton, MA 01061.

Radar detector stolen from car

A radar detector valued at $320 was stolen Monday out of a vehicle parked in a metered space in Lot 34, which had its window smashed.

In other police reports:

- A 1988 GMC vehicle parked in Lot 64 was broken into Monday. The contents of the glove compartment box were scattered inside the vehicle, which belonged to the University of Massachusetts parking office.
- A vehicle parked in Lot 43 had a tire valued at $80 slashed beyond repair Monday.
- A rock was thrown through the window of Hampshire House sometime over the weekend.
- Two antique bottles valued at $25-40 each and a cassette tape player valued at $60 was reported stolen from the third floor Clark Hall Monday.
- A motor vehicle parked in the Campus Center Garage was reported damaged Monday. The vehicle had a large dent and scratches on the hood area.
- A coat valued at $65 was stolen from a table in the Tower library Monday. The victim left the coat along with personal property and books on a table and returned to find the coat stolen.
- A leather jacket valued at $150 was stolen from the Coffee Shop in the Campus Center Monday.

—YANA DLUGY

Youth found with drugs

An employee of the Amherst Regional Junior High School called Amherst Police Monday to report a 14-year-old student found in possession of several marijuana cigarettes.

The male student will be summoned to court for possessing a class "D" substance, police said.

In other police reports:

- Two University of Massachusetts students reported being assaulted late Monday while walking on Lincoln Avenue near Fearing Street.

They told police that a red medium-sized car, 1978-80, stopped at a stop sign near them. The two men inside the car exchanged words with the victims. Then the men got out of the car and beat the pedestrians.

- A resident of Townehouse Apartments reported at midnight Monday his blue, 1979 Mazda RX7 stolen. He said he had last seen the car at approximately 9:30 p.m. The estimated value of the vehicle is $4,000.
- A resident of South Pleasant Street reported Monday that his Volkswagen Jetta was broken into and his $400 Kenwood stereo system was stolen. Entry was gained by smashing the rear window, police said.

—RICK SANTOS

Child care in Amherst reviewed

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

The affordability and quality of child care in Amherst is suffering and experts warn the situation is becoming worse when combined with rising housing costs, and low-paying jobs.

The Amherst League of Women Voters examined "The Crisis in Childcare," the title of a unit meeting Monday night, and said the town is failing to meet the needs of the community.

Meeting co-Chairperson Carol Gehlbach said the League is especially concerned with improving the cost and availability of child care, and warned the future looks bleak if the situation does not change.

"I think we [the town of Amherst] do not meet the need for child care by a long shot," she said. "The projections for population in the future is such that we are going to be in serious trouble."

Rising housing costs in Amherst are an added burden to parents seeking quality child care, Gehlbach said.

"It's very expensive to find good day care as a working parent," she said. "It prevents many families from being able to work."

The average cost for licensed, full-time, child care in Massachusetts exceeds the average national cost of $3,000 by $2,000 a year, Gehlbach said.

"Massachusetts does have higher standards," Gehlbach said. But, she added, the higher cost limits the parents' choice of day care facilities for their children.

"You're talking about a lot of money for people who may be in low-paying jobs," she said.

The limited resources for child care negatively affects work performance for many parents, Gehlbach said.

"If a parent is at work and is uncertain that their child is in a good child care system, he or she is less likely to be productive," she said.

Gehlbach said the need for child care does not end when children enter school, adding that the situation with "latch-key" children, who remain alone at home while their parents work, proves the inadequacy of the system.

"There's a terrific need for after-school programs," she said. "Latch-key kids call into the office and talk to parents about concerns, and that's not always a satisfactory situation."

The League supports the Act For Better Child Care, a federal bill that would supplement national child care by providing $2.5 billion in aid to expand and improve state child care systems.

On the state level, the League advocates the Child Care Linkage bill, which would mandate businesses constructing buildings of more than 50,000 square feet to provide on-site child care. The bill is currently pending in the Senate Ways and Means Committee.

The League will be holding a second unit meeting to update and discuss child care issues at 12 noon on Thursday, Nov. 10, at the Jones Library in Amherst. Community members are welcome to attend.

F Y I

The FYI column is a public service announcement to the University of Massachusetts community. Space is limited, so some submissions may not be published.

Course guides
Pre-registration guides for Spring semester 1989 will be distributed on the Campus Center Concourse starting tomorrow. After Monday, they will be available in the Whitmore first floor lobby.

CASIAC meetings
Pre-major meetings for CASIAC students are scheduled for 4 p.m. Call 545-2191 or stop by Machmer E-20 for more information.

Poetry reading
Poet Carol Forche will read from her work at 8 tonight in Memorial Hall. Forche is a visiting professor at The University of Massachusetts this semester from Brandeis University. The free event is open to the public and will be followed by a reception.

Biochemistry meeting
Majors and those interested in the biochemistry major are invited to a meeting at 7:30 tonight in room 1634 of the Graduate Research Center. Refreshments will be served.

Lecture
Chris Panagopoulos will give a speech at 8 tonight in Campus Center rooms 804-808. The event is free. Sponsored by Hellenic Student Association.

Films
An Islamic Film series will begin at 6:30 tonight in Herter 217. Sponsored by the Islamic Society. The film is free.

10 Belchertown Rd., at Rte. 9, Amherst 256-0252
The Best Chinese Buffet!
TAKE-OUT SERVICE — FULL COCKTAIL MENU
Open Sun.-Thur. 11-10 Fri.-Sat. 11-11
LUNCHEON SPECIALS Mon.-Sat. 11 am-3 pm
BUFFET & SUNDAY BRUNCH
Buffet served 5-8 p.m., Mon.-Thurs. • Brunch served Sunday 11:30 a.m.-3 p.m.
ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.99
Children under 10 - $3.00
1) Hot and Sour Soup 2) Chicken Fingers 3) Chicken Wings 4) Fried Wontons 5) Pan Fried Ravioli 6) Beef with Snow Peas 7) House Spiced Chicken 8) Sweet and Sour Chicken 9) Roast Pork Fried Rice 10) Vegetable Fried Noodles 11) Chinese BBQ Pork 12) Broccoli in Oyster Sauce 13) Shrimp and Cashew Nuts
256-0251 256-0252
家酒園南湖 Hunan Garden Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUAN CUISINE
We Deliver Every Day! 5-9:30 p.m.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS
Know Your Legal Rights
Call us for FREE answers
Concentration in injuries from: • Auto Accidents • Slips and Falls • Workers Compensation • Dog Bites • And All Other Accidents • No legal fee unless successful; costs payable at conclusion in most cases • FREE Consultation
SOFORENKO & GOGEL, P.C.
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
449-4443 • 1-800-245-5678
see us in the Nynex yellow pages

BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN
WE ARE SEEKING TO FILL TWO POSITIONS ON OUR STUDENT MANAGEMENT STAFF BEGINNING NEXT SEMESTER.
ASSISTANT MANAGER - REQUIRES A MATURE, ENERGETIC AND FLEXIBLE PERSON WITH FOOD SERVICE EXPERIENCE.
ACCOUNTANT - REQUIRES A WELL ORGANIZED PERSON WITH GOOD MATH SKILLS AND COMMUNICATIVE ABILITY.
JOB DESCRIPTIONS AND APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE THRU NOV. 14TH AT BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN OFFICE, CLARK HILL ROAD

UMASS SKI CLUB
MANDATORY MEETING
Wednesday, November 9, 1988
for
The Great Ski Snatch
November 17-19, 1988
WE NEED YOUR HELP!
• Benefits & Lots of Fun-Don't miss out!
• Great chance to meet & work with people
Come to our information & sign-up meeting:
4:00 p.m. 163 CC
7:00 p.m. Hampden Dining Commons
(members and non-members welcome)

■ professors

continued from page 1

past races. Herrnson was wearing a "No Dukes" T-shirt, which he said was a gift from UMass senior W. Greg Rothman, chairman of the Conservative Student Alliance. The shirt, he said, did not reflect his true feelings of the election.

Mileur said this year's election is not critical because "nothing of consequence is going to come out of it. It's not a terribly important presidential election."

Several TA's said the most important issue revolves around future Supreme Court justice appointments.

"A lot of the conservative pendulum swing is going to be turned into policy — policy that won't be undone for a long time," Moulton said.

Mileur said the role of the media in this campaign is overrated.

"The media has a role in that [the campaign], but it's not decisive," he said.

But graduate students Paul Petterson and Tim Cloyd said television's role in sculpting the candidates is significant.

"I think it's just another in a series of lousy, television oriented campaigns," Petterson said.

Cloyd, however, focused on television's prowess at candidate simulation. "The goal of the media is to simulate leadership," he said. "The reality of it is gone."

As the night wore on and it became apparent that the presidential victor was George Bush, the party began to dissipate, marked by cries of "It's over" and "Four more years." But some were more pessimistic than others.

"It probably means the end of democracy in America," said a graduate student who declined to give his name. "We are on the brink of becoming a one party state."

BOG: Dr. Ruth a success

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

The Dr. Ruth Westheimer show Monday night in the Campus Center Auditorium is being called an enormous success by an organizer of the event, and may spur similar events in the future.

The show is part of a new effort by the Board of Governors Program Council to generate revenue for the body. It is one of the few shows the council has ever charged admission ($5) for, and although it did not break even, the sellout crowd of more than 600 and the 150 people turned away at the door indicate to organizers there should be similar events in the future.

The council borrowed $7,000 from a BOG reserve account to bring Westheimer to campus, and also got donations from the Commuter Area Government and the Distinguished Visitors Program to help pay Westheimer's $8,000-plus fee. The loan must eventually be repaid, but Glassman said there is no set schedule for repayment.

"It was definitely worth the money we spent," said Jeff Glassman, Program Council coordinator. "I feel we should do more programs like this. This was one of the more successful events in the Campus Center in a long time. I think the students enjoyed the show from the reaction after it," he said.

He said the stage was rushed after the show by autograph-seekers, and Westheimer accommodated every one.

"She's the most wonderful person on the face of the earth," Glassman said, describing her as a very "personable" person.

He said Westheimer appreciated the cooperation of the audience during her lecture and the question and answer session following.

A closed-circuit television broadcast was asked for, but Westheimer's agency vetoed the idea because of copyright laws, according to Glassman. "She also doesn't like to get involved with video so she can be very open."

Glassman said nearly 300 questions were submitted by the audience. Westheimer took the unused questions, he added, which she may use in her next book.

■ voting

continued from page 1

van service, said he spent Tuesday traversing between the polling areas and conversing with the drivers of the vans.

"Most of the drivers said response to the vans was good. Some told me students remarked they had been grateful we had the service and that without it they may not have gotten to the polls. That's very gratifying," said Greiner.

SGA co-president-elect Shari Silkoff drove the Southwest leg of the van route from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

"In the morning I was picking up three or four people every ten minutes, she said. "Later in the afternoon I was taking seven or eight people per trip to the polls. I think it was very successful."

PC CLONES PRINTERS SOFTWARE ACCESSORIES
Sales • Service • Rental
DR. SOFTWARE
Software • Computers • Accessories
Pioneer Shopping Mall • 241 King Street Northampton, MA 01060
586-3210
M-T-W & F -10-6 Thurs 10-8 • Sat 10-5

Research on Diabetes
WHAT: A Presentation and Discussion: How Close Are We to a Cure– A Research Update.
WHEN: November 16, 1988, 7:15-9 p.m.
WHERE: Campus Center, Room 904
WHO: Persons with diabetes, their guests, concerned friends, and interested health professionals. Presentation given by Jeffrey Kortt, M.D., Baystate Medical Center
WHY: Learn, share information, experiences, and concerns.

AMHERST CINEMA
"PERVERSELY FASCINATING" "PROVOCATIVE"
HANDMADE FILMS PRESENTS A NICOLAS ROEG FILM
TRACK 29
THERESA RUSSELL GARY OLDMAN and CHRISTOPHER LLOYD
R
2 showings 7:00 & 9:00 in the center of Amherst
Adults $3.50 Children & Senior Citizens $2.00
AMITY ST. 253-5426

POW•MIA
TAKE THE TIME. SHOW YOU CARE!
VETERANS DAY SERVICE, NOVEMBER 10 12NOON AT:
HAIGIS MALL, UMASS
In memory of those who fought for our freedom...
Sponsored by Veterans Assistance and Counseling Services, Dickinson Building, UMass

$2.00 OFF new clients only
Chic Cuts
• Wash + Wear Perms, Body Waves
• Coloring and Dimensional Highlighting
• Facial Waxing
• Manicure
• Facials
• Body Wraps
Expires 11/15/88
We offer a 100% money back guarantee on all of our hair care products •Redken •Nexus •Paul Mitchell
make your fashion statement
Styles By Deborah
65 University Dr., Amherst
549-5610

DELANO'S
Proper Identification A Must
57 NORTH PLEASANT ST • 253-5141
Drink of the Week
BRONX COCKTAIL $2
Beer of the Month
DOS EQUIS $1.75
Sunday Night Movie:
Annie Hall with Woody Allen
at 9:00 p.m.

Mike Luckovich
Times-Picayune
Imelda Marcos, you and Ferdinand are charged with embezzling millions from the Philippines and buying U.S. real estate. What say you ?...
How much they asking for the Sears Tower ?..

Letters

Co-presidents illegal at the start

Right now as you read this the highest office in our student government is legally vacant.

The dispute is over the question of whether co-presidents is a violation of the Student Government Association constitution. The student supreme court has ruled that only one student can be elected SGA president.

Before last Spring's election, the candidates were informed by the student attorney general that co-presidents are unconstitutional and will not be allowed to take office.

Following the rules, Sylvan Area President Aram Hamparian and Greenough Sen. Guy Glodis ran for SGA president. Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz knowingly violated the rules by running for co-presidents.

In the election, Silkoff and Rabinowitz attracted sympathy by making martyrs of themselves. Their deceptive ploys brought them a plurality — 48 percent of the vote. A majority, however, voted against their candidacy.

After the election, the student supreme court ruled that co-presidents are unconstitutional. Now, Silkoff and Rabinowitz say they don't recognize the student supreme court. This long scandal could have been prevented if they had followed the rules from the beginning. Thanks to them, our student government has been in shambles for seven months.

Commuter Senators Brian Darling and Ken Rudy have proposed a fair and equitable solution to this crisis. They proposed a special election to be held this month. The office is vacant and common sense tells you that the best we can do is to let the students elect someone to fill it.

Dean Chambers
Northeast

Odds and ends

Thoughts from a sensitive guy

I'm no expert; I'm no politician; hell — I'm not even socially aware. I'm just a simple, sensitive guy. My words don't hold the weight and knowledge of an expert, but I will not lie. If my audience doesn't want to waste their time with so simple and ignorant an opinion, I beg of them, please stop reading.

Erik O'Brien

This isn't an article about abortion, gay rights, South Africa, or space, the final frontier. This is an article about the only frontier that matters, the one within each and every one of us, within our hearts. Being no expert on any of the world's biggest issues, I can only express an opinion of what I know. My thoughts, my feelings, and the wind blowing through my hair.

Couples walking together, children playing, and people laughing are things that I feel are good. Here at the University of Massachusetts these things seem common, but I ask myself, are they really? How many of my readers can look inside of themselves and feel content?

Even riding on the bus can be an experience of insecurity and loneliness. Everyone sits silent and alone if possible, unless they're lucky and happen to meet a friend. Heaven forbid that you are a foreign student, overweight, or a poor dresser. Your job is to sit meekly in the corner and be as quiet as possible. Hopefully, none of us Americans will notice you.

Just the other day I saw a pretty young lady (or is it a woman?) on the Northampton bus and she looked very sullen and depressed. Out of concern for the way things are supposed to be, I addressed her, a total stranger, OH MY GOD!

I told her I knew a secret Kung Fu technique that could heal all ills and bring happiness to the practitioner. I asked her to place her hands palms down in front of her and lace her thumbs together as she watched me do the same. I then had her mimic me as I placed my index fingers at the corners of my mouth and push upwards. I told her to smile.

I must ask myself, how qualified are we to interfere in the affairs of other nations, peoples, and lands, when we have so many problems of our own. We proclaim that we stand for equal rights for all, yet we've crammed the Native Americans into reservations on the poorest land and done our best to take the Black Hills away from them. Whose the "Indian giver?!"

I can't really change these things, I'm just a simple man. But when I see someone in trouble, I think about how they feel inside and ask myself, what can I do to help? Then, I do something really strange — I DO SOMETHING. The Messiah isn't coming, he/she was always here to begin with, inside each and every one of us.

I wear a jacket that says, "End of the line, Bub." I look as mean and ugly as possible. Hopefully, no one will find out that I'm a simple, sensitive guy.

Erik O'Brien is a UMass student

Students, demand ratified election

A few fanatical right-wing senators are posing a threat that cannot be ignored. In their distasteful and vindictive campaign to remove Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz from holding office, they have not only attacked the idea of progressive students from holding office, but have also attacked the idea of democracy itself. This goes beyond an example both for other universities and the nation. If the students and the general community allow these anti-democratic practices to succeed, then a message of the toleration of extremist oppression of progressive views will be sent to other campuses and the nation at large.

I strongly urge my fellow students, as well as the faculty and staff, to attend tonight's senate meeting and demand that the elections be ratified. The senate meeting will be at 7 p.m. in the Campus Center. Show your support.

Thomas L. Hotz
Thatcher

DISTINGUISHED
FACULTY
LECTURE SERIES

You are cordially invited to attend
a special lecture by
Ring T. Cardé
of the Department of Entomology
entitled
"Insects and the Language of Smell"

Mankind's interpretation of how animals communicate assumes that we can decipher their signals. Yet there is a rich array of information to which we are not attuned. Among insects, ultraviolet light, ultrasound, and a myriad of odors provide messages to which we are not privy. Of the 1,200,000 known species of insects, more than half use scents to find and identify a mate. Odor communication constitutes the most sensitive chemical detection system known.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Bowker Auditorium, November 10, 1988
8 p.m.

Reception immediately following, Campus Center 10th Floor

Sponsored by contributions from alumni of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst

ATTENTION SOPHOMORE BUSINESS MAJORS

EXPERIENCE is a must to be successful in gaining the competitive edge in today's Business World.

THE COLLEGIAN is offering the opportunity to gain valuable business experience on campus.

Applications for the position of
•ASSISTANT FINANCE MANAGER•
are now being accepted.

This position requires
Responsibility, Dedication, and Time Commitment
-the qualities that future employers are looking for.

Come down to the Collegian Business Office in the Campus Center (Rm 113 - lower level 545-3500) and pick up a job application and description. Submit it no later than FRIDAY NOVEMBER 18, 1988.

The Collegian is an E/O/E.

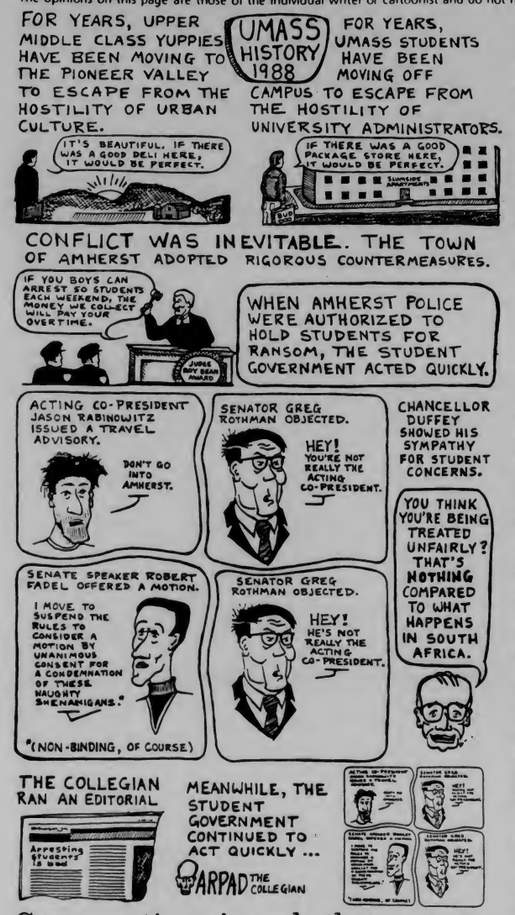
The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA	RICK SASSON	DAVID R. MARK	RICK SANTOS	MATT GERKE	JIM CLARK
Editor in Chief	Managing Editor	Editorial Editor	News Editor	Sports Editor	Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY	RICHARD BONANNO	MARIA SACCHETTI	JANINE WARNER	JOSEPH HILL	THOMAS MAMBANDE
Arts Editor	Photo Editor	Women's Issues Editor	Women's Issues Editor	Black Affairs Editor	Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted



FOR YEARS, UPPER MIDDLE CLASS YUPPIES HAVE BEEN MOVING TO THE PIONEER VALLEY TO ESCAPE FROM THE HOSTILITY OF URBAN CULTURE.
IT'S BEAUTIFUL. IF THERE WAS A GOOD DELI HERE, IT WOULD BE PERFECT.
UMASS HISTORY 1988
FOR YEARS, UMASS STUDENTS HAVE BEEN MOVING OFF CAMPUS TO ESCAPE FROM THE HOSTILITY OF UNIVERSITY ADMINISTRATORS.
IF THERE WAS A GOOD PACKAGE STORE HERE, IT WOULD BE PERFECT.
CONFLICT WAS INEVITABLE. THE TOWN OF AMHERST ADOPTED RIGOROUS COUNTERMEASURES.
IF YOU BOYS CAN ARREST 50 STUDENTS EACH WEEKEND, THE MONEY WE COLLECT WILL PAY YOUR OVERTIME.
JUDGE ROY BEAN AWARD
WHEN AMHERST POLICE WERE AUTHORIZED TO HOLD STUDENTS FOR RANSOM, THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ACTED QUICKLY.
ACTING CO-PRESIDENT JASON RABINOWITZ ISSUED A TRAVEL ADVISORY.
DON'T GO INTO AMHERST.
SENATOR GREG ROTHMAN OBJECTED.
HEY! YOU'RE NOT REALLY THE ACTING CO-PRESIDENT.
CHANCELLOR DUFFEY SHOWED HIS SYMPATHY FOR STUDENT CONCERNS.
YOU THINK YOU'RE BEING TREATED UNFAIRLY? THAT'S NOTHING COMPARED TO WHAT HAPPENS IN SOUTH AFRICA.
SENATE SPEAKER ROBERT FADEL OFFERED A MOTION.
I MOVE TO SUSPEND THE RULES TO CONSIDER A MOTION BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT FOR A CONDEMNATION OF THESE NAUGHTY SHENANIGANS.*
*(NON-BINDING, OF COURSE)
SENATOR GREG ROTHMAN OBJECTED.
HEY! HE'S NOT REALLY THE ACTING CO-PRESIDENT.
THE COLLEGIAN RAN AN EDITORIAL
Arresting students is bad
MEANWHILE, THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT CONTINUED TO ACT QUICKLY ...
ARPAD THE COLLEGIAN

Conservatives impede democracy

The University of Massachusetts ultra-conservatives, in classic anti-democratic style, are up to their dirty tricks again. They are out to rob the student body of the legitimately-elected representatives, co-presidents-elect Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz.

From behind the smokescreen of technical and parliamentary maneuvering, a handful of ultra-conservatives are trying to overturn the achievements of a democratic majority of students at UMass.

Last Spring the students of this campus voted for Silkoff and Rabinowitz to lead us for a year. This election represented a clear and overwhelming mandate from the student body for their message of racial equality, quality and affordable education, and student rights. This vote, along with the over 3,000 students who signed petitions to seat Silkoff/Rabinowitz, attest to the sentiments against the ultra-right and for a united campus.

The Silkoff/Rabinowitz campaign grew out of the fight for racial unity and against the activities of those who would divide our campus. This movement has continued to grow and is reflected in the 4,000 students who turned out for the Hands Across UMass.

But this movement and everything it represents are threatened.

Just as Oliver North worked out of the White House basement to bypass the wishes of the American majority, and of Congress, the ultra-conservatives are operating out of the "basement" of the Student Union Building to bypass the will of the majority of students. They operate this way because they are isolated on campus.

If the ultra-conservatives get away with overturning the democratic student elections, then the struggle against racist violence and for multi-racial unity, for student rights, for lowering tuition, against discrimination of women, and for gay, bisexual, and lesbian rights will have suffered a severe setback.

At 7 tonight in Campus Center room 101, there is a senate meeting open to the public.

The ultra-right is calling for new elections though the Senate has not moved to vote on ratification of the spring results when Silkoff/Rabinowitz won.

Defend democracy and come to the senate meeting tonight: Demand ratification, a constitutional responsibility of the senate. A show of hundreds of students at the meeting can force the senate to respect the will of the people that they are supposed to represent by ratifying the students' vote.

Steven Duplisea
President, Young Communist League

The Collegian accepts letters and columns from the UMass community and five-college area. They should be typed and double-spaced with your name and address. All submissions become the property of the Collegian. They can be sent to The Collegian, 113 Campus Center, UMass.

Any questions? Come down and ask for David, Pam, or Erin.

From the co-presidents-elect

Senate avoids the issue in the co-president saga

Tonight, the Undergraduate Student Senate will be asked to make a decision that it has been running away from for months. It is a decision that can't stand to wait anymore. That is the question of ratification of an election that took place on March 15 in which the students voted by one of the largest margins in years to have Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz represent them as Student Government Association co-presidents.

Silkoff/Rabinowitz

If you had told us that we would still be fighting for our right to simply take office nearly eight months later, we would have laughed in disbelief. But we are not laughing now. What a handful of right-wing extremists under the leadership of the Minuteman have been able to do to this campus and the student government is not funny. Actually, it's pretty terrifying.

The question before the senate is not co-presidents versus single presidents, or the constitution, or the bylaws. Those are all details to a much simpler and more basic question. Does democracy reign at UMass? Do students have the right to democratically elect their leaders and then see those leaders take office and serve them, without having to pass Greg Rothman's political litmus test? Will we allow a small band of right-wing extremists, whose real intentions should be clear to anyone who's paying attention, to tear apart our student government?

We believe most students are completely fed up with all the nonsense and because they respect the democratic electoral system we have on this campus, they would like to see us take office, regardless of whether they voted for us. That's why today we are appealing, over the head of the senate, over the head of Greg Rothman and Co., directly to you, the students, the people that voted us in, the people that support our right to take office and the people whose will is supposed to be supreme on this campus. We are urging all students and other members of the UMass community to come to tonight's senate meeting and show your senators that you support democracy. The meeting is open to all, as always, and will be held at 7 tonight in Campus Center room 101.

We urge you to come and let your voice be heard. We know that if a few hundred students are there at the senate meeting, demanding that the senate ratify the election, it will make all the difference in the world. The senate can't run away from the will of the students any longer.

Since the Coordinating Committee of the senate put us in office on June 9, we have spent all our time doing the work the students elected us to do, like sponsoring the enormously successful Hands Across UMass — Against Racism, in which 4,000 people joined hands to form a human chain from Southwest to Sylvan. But while we were working full-time to help build campus unity, a handful of far-right eggheads were working full-time to destroy it, and destroy us in the bargain.

What is really going on here is quite clear. Greg Rothman has openly stated that the only reason he is in the senate is to get us out of office. Not to serve students, not to fight for student empowerment, but to attack the students' elected representatives.

These same people are trying to get the senate to call new presidential elections, before the ratification of the old election can even come to the floor. The senate must consider the question of ratifying the old election first. If they vote it down, the question of a new election will be in order.

Let the senate and the nation know that UMass students stand up for democracy and are willing to fight against and ultra-right coup d'etat. Let the senate and the nation know the students of this universiy are united, and we shall not be defeated. Come to the senate meeting tonight and let your voice be heard.

Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz are co-presidents-elect of the SGA

Campaign '88 gives lesson

The elections are over. Now what? What are the lessons of this campaign? Too much ink has been spilled in recent articles of the Collegian on superficial issues instead of addressing the true reality of the United States in the world today. Personal attacks on the presidential candidates, abstract statements about the budget deficit and national defense, the drug crisis, etc. are a few examples of the important but narrowly conceived issues offered to the Collegian readers to reflect on.

Tony Guglielmi

This is so because the campaigns of both parties have been designed by technocrats, by managers whose main concern has been to get votes at any cost. As in the sale of commodities, the rules of the market economy to maximize profits are predominant as well in US politics. Ethics don't count.

For instance, the debate on US foreign policy in the presidential campaign. With few exceptions neither the articles in the Collegian nor the speeches of the candidates dealt with the role the US plays in terms of the rest of the world and humanity at large. One would not learn from this campaign the fact that millions of people are starving and dying because of malnutrition, lack of medical attention, war and savage exploitation. One would not learn either the role that the so-called superpowers play in the misery of third world people.

More specifically, while Dukakis himself in the campaign criticized the administration's policy of funding and directing the contra mercenaries against "the threat of a good example" in Nicaragua, the Democratic Party would not support a substantially different foreign policy which would respect the self-determination of other peoples and governments. So from the point of view of the poor in the third world in South America, Africa or Asia, neither party is telling the truth about the right to eat, the right to live a life of dignity, the right for third world societies to deal with their problems without superpowers' pressures and intervention. And neither party shows any concern for the historical record that the United States has supported dictatorships under the guise of "democracies" in El Salvador, Guatemala, as earlier in Iran, Vietnam, Nicaragua, and other countries.

But can politicians in this country tell the truth? Is it naive to ask such a question? What is the condition of our political development — that of "the most powerful democracy in the world"— if the candidates cannot or will not tell the truth because they risk not being elected? Donde Estamos, where are we now?

In the aftermath of the elections, we must evaluate what kind of political system we have here in order to shed some light on how this campaign has been orchestrated to ignore or neglect the most urgent issues of our historical moment. By discussing with one another and repudiating the current divorce between ethics and politics, we can make a difference in the future by working for a more humane society and politics. This is a very great task. The work is long-term. Many have started this struggle, but many more must join. Finally, to choose this path is to say "no" to complicity with the politics of distortion and manipulation, to say "yes" to united and disciplined effort on behalf of the values of economic and social justice.

Tony Guglielmi is a graduate student in economics. This column was co-written with Mehrene Larudee and Patrick Sullivan

ROOM CHOOSING PROCESS
For Spring 1989
PLEASE READ CAREFULLY: IMPORTANT INFORMATION

RESERVING YOUR ROOM ASSIGNMENT

If you intend to keep your present residence hall assignment, personally sign up your Residence November 15.
THE ONLY TIME TO RESERVE YOUR CURRENT ROOM IS TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 15.

CHANGING YOUR ROOM OR HALL

If you wish to move to another room in the same residence hall, you must sign up with your Residence Director/Residence Hall Manager on Wednesday evening,

November 16. All room changes will be determined by your seniority. THE ONLY TIME TO SIGN UP FOR A NEW ROOM IN YOUR CURRENT HALL IS WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 16.

If you wish to move to another residence hall, you must complete a Housing Preferance Form. DEADLINE FOR RETURNING HOUSING PREFERENCE FORMS TO THE HOUSING ASSIGNMENT OFFICE IS WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23.

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP YOUR CURRENT RESIDENCE HALL ASSIGNMENT WHILE ALSO SUBMITTING A PREFERENCE FORM YOU MUST DO THE FOLLOWING:
1. Sign up for the same room on Tuesday evening, November 15 or a new room on Wednesday evening, November 16.
2. Fill out a Preference Form. On the Preference Form in the lower right hand corner is a box you must 'check' if you wish to be returned to your current residence hall or area choices cannot be met.
YOUR OLD RESIDENCE HALL ASSIGNMENT IS GUARANTEED ONLY IF YOU DO BOTH STEPS.

ROOMMATE REQUESTS

If you wish to move to another residence hall to room with a student already assigned to that residence hall, you must together complete a ROOMMATE REQUEST FORM. DEADLINE FOR RETURNING ROOMMATE REQUEST FORMS TO THE HOUSING ASSIGNMENT OFFICE IS THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17.

If you wish to become roomates with a student ina residence hall to which neither of you is currently assigned, you must each complete a Housing Preference Form. These forms should be identical, (with the exception of the "check" box) and stapled together. DEADLINE FOR RETURNING HOUSING PREFERENCE FORMS IS WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23.

IN-HOUSE ROOM REQUEST FORMS

If, during the regular Room Choosing period, you were unable to secure a particular type of accomodation (a particular single or double room), please contact the Housing Assignment Office to fill out a blue In-House Room Request Form. Rooms that become available during the Intersession will be assigned, according to seniority, to those residents who filled out this form and returned it to the Housing Assignment Office.

PAY FEE BILL BY DUE DATE

Your Spring 1989 fee bill will be mailed to you at home in early December. If complete payment of this bill is not received by the January 6, 1989 Due Date, your assignment for the Spring semester will be cancelled. Be aware of this important obligation.

OTHER OBLIGATIONS

In addition to properly completing room choosing all residents are required to remain in good standing with the University at all times. Being withdrawn for any reason after the end of the semester automatically cancels your assignment. Check to make sure you do not owe any fees to the Bursar BEFORE you leave for intersession.

QUESTIONS?

If you still have questions about the Room Choosing process, please contact the Housing assignment Office (545-2100), 235 Whitmore. Thank you.

ARTS/LIVING

Herter and Hampden hold shows

The Herter Art Gallery is now presenting the exhibitions: Friends and Other Strangers by Jack Coughlin and Recent Works on Paper by Rosanne Retz through Nov. 23. Both Coughlin and Retz are faculty members of the University of Massachusetts Art Department.

Coughlin's Friends and Other Strangers consists of more than fifty portraits produced in pencil and watercolor, and his work can be found in the permanent collections of the Metropolitan Museum and the Museum of Modern Art in New York, as well as many other museums and university collections.

Rosanne Retz is a master of lithography techniques, and her Recent Works on Paper is an exploration of patterns enhanced by texture.

There will be a reception at the Gallery tommorrow from 5 to 7 p.m. Gallery hours are Mon-Fri 11-4 p.m. and Sun. 2-5 p.m.

Stephen Petegorsky and Terri Shatz's Altered Images Photo-Graphics-Photo-Collage is being shown at the Hampden Gallery through Nov. 29. Gallery hours are Weekdays 3-7 and Sunday 2-5.

The Center For The Arts in Northampton is requesting volunteers for its First Night, 1989 program. Volunteers are needed for ushering, hospitality, button sales, and limited technical and security work. The Center For The Arts is a non-profit organization funded through public and private contributions. The Center supports both local and regional arts. Prospective volunteers should call Stephen Calacgiano at 584-7327, weekdays from 9 to 5.

CORRECTION: Fishbone will be playing upstairs at Pearl Street tomorrow night.

A very important arts staff meeting will be held this Sunday at noon in the Collegian office to discuss positions for next semester. All those interested in becoming columnists, editors, or associates should attend.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

"Grace Notes" by Rebecca Muller is part of the Seven at the Midway exhibit now showing at the Student Union Art Gallery.

FREE FREE
Murphy's
UNDERGROUND EXPRESS
(The Buffalo Wing King)
PRESENTS
THE FABULOUS FREE FRENCH FRY FESTIVAL
and not just those skinny little fries but BIG, THICK & HEARTY STEAK FRIES!
So here's the deal...
With every..... ask for.....
10 pcs.....a small fry
20 pcs.....a medium fry
30 pcs.....a large fry
FREE DELIVERY
549-7771
(the call is FREE!!!)
FREE FREE
FREE

swatch PRESENTS
THE BLIZZARD OF AAHHH'S
A TRUE STORY
AN EXTREME SKI MOVIE FROM GREG STUMP PRODUCTIONS
UMASS SKI CLUB PREMIER!
Sunday Nov. 13 7 and 9 C.C.A.
SKI CLUB Members $1.00
Non-members and public $2.00

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Winter Session
Your chance to get ahead now.
Earn 3 Credits in 3 Weeks!
Mail Registration—November 12-December 14
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 12. (Do not use campus mail.)
Walk-in Registration—
November 28-January 6
Room 615 Goodell Building
Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!
Classes start January 4, 1989.
For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

UVC shows Africans; meeting on Thurs

The Union Video Center will be airing the series of The Africans this week from its monitors in the Student Union.

Beginning Wednesday at 10 a.m., part 1, "The Legacy of a Continent," will be followed by "Legacy of Lifestyles"at 11 a.m. After the UMass Video Update at 12 noon, the parts 4 and 5 will be shown.

On Thursday, beginning at 10 a.m., parts 6, 7, 8, and 9 will be aired.

Also on Thursday, a meeting of all club members or interested members will be held at 5 p.m. in the UVC/Commuter Lounge. The Center is located across from the Hatch.

Reggae great Winston Grennan will record a live album tonight at his show at Katina's in Hadley.

Nanci's best heard live

By GRAEME THOMSON
Collegian Correspondent

One Fair Summer Evening
Nanci Griffith
MCA

This May, in a small community hall in Govan, a small town outside Glasgow, I was fortunate to witness one of the most stirring live shows I've ever seen, given by Nanci Griffith and her Blue Moon Orchestra. On first hearing her new album, One Fair Summer Evening, recorded live at the Anderson Fair in Houston, the memory of that fair summer evening came flooding back to me.

On this record you will hear no drums, no axe solos; just beautiful, haunting melodies strummed lightly on accoustic guitar, and sung from the heart by the Lone Star dreamer who is fast proving herself to be one of the most talented singer-songwriters of her generation. Beginning with a delightfully understated version of her adopted theme song, "Once In A Very Blue Moon," Nanci Griffith leads us through many of her old favorites, as well as introducing some new material, so timeless classics like "More Than A Whisper" and "Working In Corners" are interspersed with new material such as the lovely, dancing "Roseville Fair" and less successfully, "I Would Bring You Ireland," a tribute to the country which she considers her second home.

continued on page 11

Custom Car Sound Wants to Help You Celebrate

Veterans' Day

In honor of the men and women of our armed forces who have fought to preserve freedom and democracy

EVERYTHING at Custom Car Sound is on sale!

FREE installation for Veterans

CUSTOM CAR SOUND
141 A Damon Road
Northampton, MA • 586-5258

FREE DELIVERY to AMHERST
11:30 a.m. - 10:00 p.m.
mr. K's
13 North Pleasant St., Amherst
Open Hours
Mon-Thurs 11:30am-10:00pm
Fri & Sat 11:30am-11:00pm
Sundays 2:00pm-10:00pm
256-0286 256-0287

"GREECE-USA: A NEW PHASE"
Lecture and Discussion
Honorable
Christos Panagopoulos
Consul of Greece at Boston
Wednesday, Nov. 9, 1988
8:00 p.m. Campus Ctr. Rm. 804
A reception with Greek Food will follow the lecture.
Organized by: Hellenic Student Association
University of Massacusetts at Amherst

Maxine
"Vincent Van Go-Go"
by J.M.D.
HELLO DARLINGS! IT'S ME, MAXINE, YOUR MISHEGOSS MAVEN OF MISCHIEF! FOR YOUR VIEWING PLEASURE, MY SISTER ROXANNE WILL ENACT HER OWN VERSION OF HAMPDEN THEATRE'S "VINCENT."
GOIN' to 3-GO-GOGH, GOIN' to 3-GO-GOGH...
SHEEEEESH! LET'S JUST HOPE VINNIE'S "RESTING" ON HIS GOOD EAR! KLAAS HOFSTRA CAN PROBABLY STOP SWEATING NOW!
WOULD IT HAVE BEEN BETTER IF IT INCLUDED THE 12 PINT SEVERED EAR, AND THE G PLANNER SOUL REVIEW?
I GUESS NOT.

Check out Vincent , Klaas Hofstra's solo show · Tonight 8 P.M. Hampden Theater
Tickets are available at the door · Reg.$6 Student $4

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

from NEW YORK	one way
LONDON	179
PARIS	229
ROME	259
	round trip
CARACAS	320
ST. THOMAS	260
HONGKONG	739

Taxes not included
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes, EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

Tim Beittel and Jonathan Doyle perform a scene from Constance Cogdon's No Mercy opening tonight at Amherst College.

■ Nanci Griffith

continued from page 10

Also much in evidence are her celebrated monologues, which combining a sharp wit with a genuine enthusiasm for the places she has visited over the years, serve as a perfect frame for songs such as "Love At The Five & Dime" and "Trouble In The Fields;" and that whispery Texas twang is just a joy to hear.

It would have been nice to have some of the excellent Little Love Affairs material, particularly "So Long Ago," or Harlan Howard's "Never Mind," but "The Wing And The Wheel" and Julie Gold's magnificent "From a Distance" more than adequately compensate for these omissions. Anyway, as the old adage says, you can't have everything, and for the time being, One Fair Summer Evening is quite enough for me.

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

TAN— now everybody can afford to be
Join alone: SAVE $5
Join in a group of 2-4: SAVE $10 ea.
Join in a group of 5 or more: SAVE $15 ea.
Up To 40% Off
with this ad
LE BON SOLEIL
264 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002
253-9454
Exp. 11-23-88
on 10 Session Package
FREE TRIAL VISIT

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT
Add Spice To Your Weekend!!
NOW SERVING BRUNCH
Every dish freshly prepared to order using the finest ingredients, and at prices that won't wreck the weekend budget
Saturday & Sunday
11:00 To 3:00
7 OLD SOUTH STREET
NORTHAMPTON

Choose Excellence . . .
LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND
The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN
• Do you want to learn how to write a news story?
• Do you have a story in the works that needs help?
• Do you still need to attend a Training Workshop to be a Collegian Staffer?
Come see Paul—
Collegian Training Director
Tuesdays & Thursdays
2:30 - 4
In the Newsroom
Come write for The Collegian
113 Campus Center

UMASS SKI CLUB PRESENTS
THE GREAT SKI SNATCH

OVER $1,500,000
WORTH OF TOP NAME
WINTER CLOTHING
&
SKI EQUIPMENT
PRICES THIS LOW SHOULD BE OUTLAWED
NOV 17 - 19
Thur. / Fri. HIGH NOON TIL 10 P.M.
Sat. 9AM TIL 3PM
STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
UMASS, AMHERST

McFerrin's vocal diversity become Pleasures

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

Simple Pleasures
Bobby McFerrin
EMI-Manhattan

Bobby McFerrin has been an innovator ever since he first broke on the jazz scene. Now he brings his extremely versatile voice, and distinct "a cappella" style to his first mainstream album, Simple Pleasures. This is McFerrin at his best.

His first track, the omnipresent "Don't Worry, Be Happy," tends to bring out a rather extreme reaction in the listener; one either loves it or hates it. It's a cheerful little tune which is often hummed, whistled or quoted. Perhaps if I listened to the radio more often, I'd be sick of the song too.

"All I Want" is a song reminiscient of early Prince, minus the raunchy lyrics. It's a really good dance track, even without a drum machine. He doesn't need any of the heavy production techniques common in dance music.

Next, McFerrin tackles the problem of covering classic 60's tunes; he does three covers. His version of the Beatles' "Drive My Car" works because he doesn't try to imitate the loud rock'n'roll sound of the original. Instead, he goes for jazzy subtlety, and the result is a sophisticated song that still retains some aspects of R&B.

The title track, like many other tracks on this album, has a jazz feel. The one problem with this song is that it sounds too much like the theme from The Cosby Show. Still it's a nice song, if you like to hear a positive message.

"Good Lovin'" has the unique distinction of being better than the original version by the Rascals. It's an extremely fast version, with McFerrin handling the background vocals and the lead. He sounds as if he's singing it too fast. It's fun.

Another good song is "Come to Me," which uses some elements of the 50's doo-wop sound, and some of modern funk. It's clear that McFerrin is more than a jazz singer; he can handle virtually any form of music.

The last track on the album, "Sunshine of Your Love," is a perfect example of his talent. In this cover of Cream's late 60's song, McFerrin manages to do Eric Clapton's guitar solo — with his voice. A lesser talent would not be able to pull this off.

Simple Pleasures is an excellent album. It features McFerrin at what may be the peak of his musical powers. Far from "selling out," he adds a new dimension to his art, while becoming more accessible to the mainstream. It's worth a good listen.

Catch comedian Richard Jeni tomorrow on the Tonight Show as a preview for his free show at the Hatch next Tuesday.

CASIAC Pre-Major Meetings

Communications Wed. Nov. 9 E-37 Machmer
Economics Wed. Nov. 16 E-23 Machmer
Environmental Design Thurs. Nov. 10
101 Hills North
Environmental Sciences Thurs. Nov. 10
231N Morrill
Landscape Architecture Thurs. Nov. 10
101 Hills North
Pre-Med/Pre-Vet/Zool. Wed. Nov 9
330N Morril

All meetings will take place at 4:00 p.m. for further info call 545-2191.

Ski 5 days pay just $219

UMASS SKI CLUB

QUÉBEC
JANUARY 8-13

Non skiers pay only $129

TRIP INCLUDES
5 NIGHTS LODGING-CLARENDON HOTEL
WALK TO EXTENSIVE NIGHTLIFE
PARTY AGE IS 18
SHOPS, RESTAURANTS

CROSS COUNTRY SKIERS WELCOME

FOR MORE INFO, CONTACT UMASS SKI CLUB, 430 STUDENT UNION
OR STOP BY THE SKI TABLE CCC TU-TH 545-3437

DON'T MISS OUT! SIGN UP NOW

Is there a God?

You decide...

Come see Irish missionaries tell their amazing story of faith, adventure, and the real power of God.

Don't Worry.

There will be no sermon
no fire and brimstone
no accusations
no collection
no admission fee and
no nonsence.

When?
Wed. Nov. 9 at 7:30 pm

Where?
Campus Center Rm. 163c

You owe it to yourself to make a decision

10 Pearl St. Pearl Street Northampton, Mass 413-584-7771

Fri & Sat DANCING DJ ROLAND
Sat 8 pm sharp COMEDY CLUB
Iron Horse Fishbone 11/10, Neville Bros. 11/19

THE UNIVERSAL JOINT

Every Tues. BLUES JAM w/WMUA's Blue Bill 8:30 pm $0
Thur. Nov 10 LOOSE CABOOSE (Fishbone upstairs)
Fri. Nov. 11 EVAN JOHNS & THE H-BOMBS 8:30 pm $5 "A Dixie fried Madman of the frets, a beer drinkin; hell raisin', Trashed out son of the south." Houston Chronicle; A mixture of Tex-Mex, rockabilly, R & B funk & dance music. The cream of Austin TX roots rock explosion.

Sat. Nov. 12 COMEDY 8pm sharp Featuring N.Y., Boston and L.A.'s finest.
MIGHTY SAM McCLAIN & THE THUNDER SOUL REVIEW New Orleans soul singer making internationally acclaimed comeback from a decade of hiatus. Strong live reviews across the country. Ceaseless comparisons to Al Green 10:00 pm $6

Sun. Nov. 13 THE SLICK! BOYS garagesters 8:30 pm 18+ $4

DUMPTRUCK (11/17) O POSITIVE (11/19) THE NEIGHBORHOODS (11/25)
RONNIE EARL (11/26) JAMES COTTON (12/1) BARRENCE (12/2)
TREAT HER RIGHT (12/9) THE SCREAMING TRIBESMEN (12/12)

The U-Joint downstairs at Pearl Street. Northampton 413-584-7771

LAGNAF

興旺樓

Chinese Kitchen

Quality Chinese Food at a Low Price

Spend $10.00 and get 1 pint of Pork Fried Rice FREE Exp. 11/16/88
Good Only In Hadley Store

Hadley-430 Russel St., 253-2571 Northampton-150 King St., 586-8221

Same Bat Channel

Satifies all your Comic Book needs

Role Playing Games

Horror and Movie Magazines

Baseball Cards and Posters

586-8775
Hampshire Mall, Rt. 9
Hadley, MA

The Far Side
By Gary Larson

"Eraser fight!"

Bloom County
By Berke Breathed

HELLO? CBS NEWS?
BUSH SECRETLY WANTS TO CONFISCATE HANDGUNS AND DUKAKIS WEARS HIS PRO'S POODLE PANTIES!
CLICK
HEE! HEE! HEE!
MILO... IT'S OVER... IT'S TOO LATE...
NEVER! WE'VE GOT EM HEE HEE HEE...
RRRRR! RRRRR! RRRRR!

Doonesbury
By Garry Trudeau

MR. BUSH, CAN YOU DISCERN ANY REAL MANDATE IN YOUR VICTORY YESTERDAY?
ABSOLUTELY!
I HAVE A MANDATE TO SAY THE PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE, TO NOT JOIN THE ACLU, TO NOT PERMIT MURDERERS OUT ON WEEKEND FURLOUGHS!
I THINK WHAT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE TOLD US IN NO UNCERTAIN TERMS YESTERDAY IS THAT THEY WANT SOMEONE WHO IS NOT MICHAEL DUKAKIS!
AND YOU ARE THAT MAN?
IT GETS BACK TO EXPERIENCE. I'VE SPENT A LIFETIME NOT BEING SOMEONE!

Calvin and Hobbes
By Bill Watterson

BOY, YOU'RE LUCKY YOU DON'T HAVE TO GO TO SCHOOL LIKE I DO.
YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT IT'S LIKE TO GET UP ON THESE COLD, DARK MORNINGS AND HAVE TO GO SOMEPLACE YOU HATE.
YES I DO.
OH YEAH? HOW COULD YOU?
YOU TELL ME EVERY MORNING.
OH, AM I KEEPING YOU AWAKE?! I'M SORRY!

Iggman on Campus
By Drew Aquilina

THE SNOWBALL FIGHT: FOR SOME STUDENTS IT'S THEIR FIRST TIME..
..TO AMHERST COLLEGE!
MEETING - DEFEAT EVERY YEAR IN THE - ANNUAL SNOW-BALL FIGHT,.... AMHERST - COLLEGE HIRES A PROFESSIONAL RUSSIAN SNOW-BALL-FIGHT - SQUAD.... INSURING - THE DEFEAT - OF OUR BRAVE STUDENT WARRIORS..
HEY! HOW WAS IGGY'S FIRST SNOWBALL FIGHT?
WE GOT HAMMERED!! WE WERE LUCKY TO GET OUT OF THERE ALIVE!!
THAT CRAZY LITTLE TURTLE LED THE FIRST ATTACK!!
SO WHERE IS HE?
...RETREAT! RETREAT!...

Zero-Sum
By Monte Morin

SOME MIGHTY STRANGE THINGS ARE HAPPENING AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS. LETS CHECK IN WITH OUR ON THE SCENE REPORTER, SCRATCHY UNDERWEAR.
THANKS, DAN. I'M STANDING ON THE STUDENT UNION STEPS AND THINGS ARE GETTING UGLY! A CONSERVATIVE STUDENT RALLY HAS GONE WACKY!
TROUBLE BEGAN WHEN SEVERAL CONSERVATIVES SACRIFICED A DOZEN LIVE CHICKENS AS PROOF OF THEIR MORAL SUPERIORITY. THEY THEN SPUN THE CHICKEN CARCASSES OVER THEIR TINY HEADS.
AND IT'S JUST GETTING WORSE, DAN. THIS MAKES THE EVACUATION OF SAIGON LOOK LIKE A BED-IN!
STAY TUNED....

"Our hearts are full; we love you all, we love this country."

— Michael S. Dukakis during his concession speech

Daily Crossword Puzzle

Edited by Trude Michel Jeffe

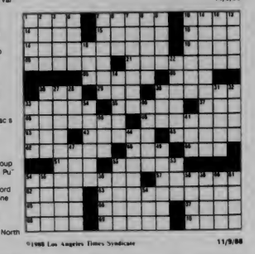
ACROSS
1 Leningrad's river
5 "— usted Espanol?"
10 Concerning
14 Word of woe
15 Flynn of films
16 Night light
17 Marital state?
19 Holiday event
20 Involve
21 Coffee breaks, Brit. style
23 A way up
25 Snake
26 Alas, to Hans
29 Bohemian religious leader Jan
30 Medical staffer
33 "A Lesson from — Fugard play
35 "A — in one's side"
37 Part of a week, in Madrid
38 Bell part
40 Evil spirits: Var.
42 River isle
43 Shone
45 Unfinished
46 East Indian cedar
46 Foot: Comb form
50 Sioux
51 Not many
52 Broadcast
54 Las Vegas types
57 Play a fife
62 One of Isaac's sons
63 Stationery feature
65 Check
66 Species group
67 "Winnie — Pu"
68 Converse
69 Weather word
70 Buck heroine

DOWN
1 Maine site
2 College in North Carolina
3 Broad
4 Nick and Nora's dog
5 Well-being
6 Knack
7 The — Isles
8 Recluse
9 Seaweed
10 Aid
11 Took a licking and left?
12 Story
13 Mine lines
18 Underworld god
22 Dyeing specialist
24 Cowboy Gene
26 Sherman of football fame
27 Metallic paint job?
28 Win it
30 A Gershwin
31 A Starr
32 "Candy is dandy" poet
33 Part of USMA
34 Awkward position
36 Doubly strange
39 Attention
41 Jersey expression
44 Correspondence
47 Expose phoniness
49 Hate
52 Of a district
53 Beetle
54 Actor Frobe
55 Sailing
56 Endangered trees
58 Glenn's state
59 Famed toxophilite
60 Tra follower
61 Utopia
64 Links platform

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

A	P	H	I	S		D	E	L	E		P	L	A	T
L	E	A	N	T		O	X	L	I		L	A	M	A
V	E	R	S	O		N	A	P	A		A	P	E	S
A	N	T	E	R	O	O	M	S		S	T	I	N	T
			T	E	R	M	S		P	L	E	N	T	Y
A	S	R		O	L	I		S	A	I	N
S	W	A	P		E	N	A	C	T	M	E	N	T	S
C	A	I	R	O		A	G	O		S	I	E	N	E
I	N	T	E	R	S	T	A	T	E		S	W	I	M
			T	A	I	L		T	S	P		T	O	E
C	R	E	E	P	Y		A	S	S	O	S
H	O	R	N	E		S	I	D	E		L	I	N	E
E	G	A	D		A	N	S	A		I	R	A	N	I
R	U	S	E		G	I	L	L		T	U	N	I	G
T	E	E	D		E	P	E	E		E	I	D	D	E

11/9/88



©1988 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Menu

Lunch
Grilled Cheese Sandwich
Duchess Meat Pie/Gravy

Dinner
Southern Style Scrod
Roast Turkey/Bread Dressing/Gravy/Cranberry Sauce

Basics Lunch
Tomato Torte
Grilled Cheese on Wheatberry

Basics Dinner
Southern Style Scod
Potpourri

Weather

Today: Some clouds then mostly sunny, highs 50—55.

Tomorrow: Cloudy, highs in the 50's

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.....David R. "Good Jobs at good wages" Mark
Copy Editor.....Pam "1,000 points of light" McCarthy
Layout Technician.....Marc "Where was George?" Infield
Photo Technician Chris "Quayle is a crisis that needs to be managed" Hosford
Production Supervisors Terry Starmer and George Francy, both of whom are no Jack Kennedy
ProductionThe awesome-late-election-night-power-crew, who are rockin' and rollin' AND slippin' and slidin' Wendy Rae, Ashe, Camille, Lisa Owen, Kristin and Joe, that cross-county beacon of hope, is driving to Ware

Executive Board — Fall of 1988

Pedro Pereira
Editor in Chief

Rick Sasson
Managing Editor

David R. Mark
Editorial Editor

Robert Ciappenelli
Business Manager

Marc Infield
Production Manager

Business Board — Fall of 1988

Rob Ciappenelli
Business Manager

Barbra Hindin
Advertising Manager

Daniel Munroe
Finance Manager

Debra Botzenhart
Advertising Manager

Todd Fruhbeis
Circulation Manager

Mary Huygens
Subscribtions Manager

■ Calipari

continued from page 16

But Calipari didn't promise any miracles, and the early results would indicate that there may not be many good times in the immediate future for UMass basketball.

In last night's game, an 85-69 loss at the Curry Hicks Cage, the Minutemen were far from playoff contenders.

"I'm disappointed. I thought our effort was okay, but we were really sloppy," Calipari said.

Whether it was missed lay-ups, missed free throws, bad passes or blown rebounds, there was a lot last night that could have made a coach cringe. But knowing that it was indeed just an exhibition game, Calipari can only use last night to his and the team's advantage.

"We've got to get better. We have to improve our execution," Calipari said. "Tonight was a good experience for us, to see what we had."

The coach saw good performance by seniors David Brown and Duane Chase, as well as freshman Jim McCoy.

But Calipari realizes that this is going to be a team effort, and will be looking for bigger and better things from other team members.

"We've got to have some players step up and do something," Calipari said. "We've got a long way to go."

Nobody said the job would be easy. One of the stipulations that was agreed upon when Calipari came here is to not expect success overnight. He knew that the rebuilding process would take time, and making a winner of a team that has had to face 10 straight losing seasons is a challenge that Calipari and his staff are willing to face.

Fortunately, it was just an exhibition, and Calipari can hope that the lessons learned last night will be worked on and improved before the real show gets underway Nov. 26 against Southern Connecticut.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno

John Calipari made his coaching debut last night as UMass fell to the Taby Club of Sweden, 85-69.

■ Minutemen

continued from page 15

kids. Hey it isn't going to be easy. Things don't happen overnight," he said.

If last night's game is any indication, it looks as though the Minutemen are intent on bringing Chase more into the offense this year.

"This year we're going to be inside-outside game instead of an outside-inside game and shooting the outside shots. I think I will be getting the ball a little more," Chase said. "If you get the ball inside, it opens up shots for good shooters like Rafer [Giles].

"We have to relax and execute as a team. It is going to get better because we are much better than we were last year," he said.

TAKE A BREATHER...

Join the Great American Smokeout on Thursday, November 17. Millions of Smokers across the country will take a break and try not to smoke for 24 hours. How about you? Or, if you don't smoke, adopt a smoker for the day and promise to help that friend get through the day without a cigarette!

GREAT AMERICAN SMOKEOUT — AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1988

The University of Massachusetts Great American Smokeout is being coordinated and sponsored by the Student Health Advisory Board (SHAB) the Peer Health Promotion Program and the Health Education Division University Health Services, UMass/Amherst 545-2671, x181.

Come to the Campus Center Concourse for Smokeout Survival Kits and other information November 14-17

STA TRAVEL
100 OFFICES WORLDWIDE
Special Student and Youth Fares
WORLD WIDE
FROM *BOSTON OR SCHEDULED AIRLINES
SEAT SHORTAGE
BOOK NOW
FOR THE HOLIDAYS

		OW	RDTRIP
LONDON	from	235	470
PARIS	from	258	500
SYDNEY	from	478	1078
HONG KONG	from	485	749
BANGKOK	from	538	915
TOKYO	from	—	829
ATHENS	from	330	660
ST. THOMAS	from	155	299
RIO DE JANEIRO	from	379	758

—ROUND THE WORLD—
BOSTON - LONDON - DELHI - BANGKOK - HONG KONG - BOSTON
from $1420

* FLIGHTS AVAILABLE FROM ALL MAJOR U.S. CITIES
* CALL FOR FREE INFORMATION BOOKLET
* ADVICE FROM THE EXPERTS
THE STUDENT TRAVEL NETWORK
1-617-266-6014
1-800-777-0112
222 NEWBURY ST. BOSTON MA 02116
STA

Seniors...
It's time to get shot!
(For the Yearbook!)
Senior Portrait Sittings are
Monday, Nov. 14 through
Friday, Nov. 18 9 - 5
C.C. Rm 177 545-2874
Sitting Fee $4.00
Last portrait sittings until March
December Grads MUST be shot now!
Sponsored by Index Yearbook

The question everyone is asking...
WHAT IS THE BUSH BASH?

SKIING: 5 day lift ticket on 2 mountains with 68 trails as easy as you like and as difficult as you can handle.

ENTERTAINMENT: 26 exciting restaurants and bars, including The Wonder bar at the mountain with a step off the slopes happy hour, The Blue Tooth with live entertainment, Barbeques and Condo Happy Hours.

LODGING: 5 luxury condo accomodations at the Bridges includes: indoor pool, saunas, tennis, nautilus, squash, exercise classses, game room, and every condo includes TV, kitchenette and fire place.

With all this - you may not even make it to the slopes. So now the question is...WHY HAVEN'T YOU RESERVED YOUR SPOT?

$40.00 Reservation deposit which goes toward the total cost of $235 Non-members welcome for an addtional $10. Lessons and rentals available.

SUGARBUSH BUSH BASH
JAN. 22-27
RESERVE NOW!!! CONTACT UMASS Ski Club 430 Student Union Bldg 545-3437

■ Kennedy

continued from page 16

could have caused rustiness and bad timing. She could have fallen out of shape.

But that's not Kennedy's style. For the first few months of last year, Kennedy's recuperation included swimming, biking and walking. By the end of January, she was back running and anticipating a big season ahead for her and the Minutewomen.

"I felt when I came back from pre-season, I was in the top shape that I had been in," Kennedy said. "Basically, it was just a matter of playing and getting my confidence back where it should be."

When she did come back, Kennedy had to make an adjustment right away. Hixon switched her from the center back to the left wing. She has settled in to her new position with no problem.

"I like both positions," Kennedy said. "I think you have to be a little more disciplined on left wing."

Kennedy fit right in when she came to UMass in 1984. In her freshman year, Kennedy won a job in the starting lineup. Despite her ankle injury, she went on to become a top scorer for one of the best teams in the country that year, scoring 13 goals and dishing out four assists, leading UMass to the NCAA playoffs.

"I felt it was pretty easy because I knew a lot of players before I got here from Olympic developmental camps," Kennedy said. "It was just getting used to a different style of play and competition."

In the next two years, Kennedy's production fell off. She scored four goals and one assist in 1985 and then just four goals the following season. Those, like all the others, were injury-ridden seasons for Kennedy, but her play has earned her respect from Hixon as well as her teammates.

"She plays hard all the time," Hixon said. "She gives 100 percent all the time. She is an inspiration to the players out there because she does play so hard and she's such an intense competitor."

Kennedy missed out on the Final Four last year and she hasn't been practicing much lately. Her goal is for her and the Minutewomen is to be in Philadelphia, Penn. at the University of Pennsylvania for the Final Four a week from Saturday if the Minutewomen win on Sunday.

"My goal is to get to the Final Four and let things take place from there," Kennedy said. "To leave the field totally satisfied and to do all that I can do."

In the three games that Kennedy has been missing from the lineup, UMass' goal scoring has dwindled. In those games, the Minutewomen scored five goals. In games with Kennedy in the lineup, UMass averages over three goals a game.

"If it's possible for her to play, she will play," Hixon said. She has missed a lot of games in her career, but don't be suprised to see Kennedy on the field this weekend.

■ water polo

continued from page 16

Yarworth.

On the second team was Eric Bebchick, who tallied 46 goals and 10 assists over the season.

"Eric had a shaky start but really came on toward the end of the season," Yarworth said.

Yarworth also said he felt that goalie Peter Koback was overlooked for second team honors, but Koback missed a few games with the flu, which may have affected the selection.

From here the team only expects to go upward. They are losing only Bebchick, Matt Katz, and Sean Powers to graduation and it is possible that Bebchick could return as he has another year of eligibility.

Said Yarworth, "All we need is some new blood and. . .committment to training in the off season and we could crack the top 8 [in the East]."

■ club sports

continued from page 16

In the women's division, UMass' No. 1-seeded player, Jessica Reimel defeated the No. 1 women's seed from both teams in two intense matches.

In the men's doubles, Colin Silva and Brian Gibson fared well against PC's number two doubles, only to be defeated in the tie-breaking match.

The racquetball team will play its next meet on November 19 in Providence, RI. Anyone interested in learning more about the team should contact Mike Vecchiarelli at 546-6472.

Two weeks ago at the United States Military Academy at West Point in New York, the bike racing club had its last race of the season.

The criterium course was .7 miles long. It had seven turns, one extremely tight hairpin turn 75 yards from the finish line. The race had four seperate catagories: the 35-lap men's A-race, the 25-lap men's B-race and the 15-lap women's race and men's race.

New rider Erin Lynch placed seventh in the women's race. This was only Lynch's second race. Chris Cavanna placed fourth in the men's C race.

The men's A-race was dominated by UMass. Peter Vollers came in first place 42 seconds ahead of the pack. He held his breakaway for twenty laps by himself. UMass placed second team overall.

The club is looking forward to a great Spring season, when UMass will host the Eastern Collegiate Championships. The club welcomes all new members to join. Meetings are held every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of Greenough dorm.

■ Clark

continued from page 16

UMass and North Carolina. Whether you believe it or not, your support did make a difference.

Now, you're probably asking how you can be in two places at once. To tell you the truth, it doesn't really matter. Just show your support for somebody. You'd be surprised just how much a raucous crowd can intimidate a visiting team.

Besides, these teams deserve your help. The football team is in the middle of a heated race for the Yankee Conference title, and the field hockey and soccer teams have been running up frequent flyer mileage to the Final Four.

So don't let the cost or the weather stop you. Two bucks isn't that much, and you've got to get used to the New England weather sometime. Show up at the Stadium on Saturday, and then take your pick of the two on Sunday. You won't be disappointed.

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
TOLL FREE HOT LINE 800-351-0222 in Calif. (213) 477-8226
Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information 11322 Idaho Ave #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

CLASSIFIED

ACTIVITIES • AUDIO • AUTO FOR SALE • CALCULATORS • ENTERTAINMENT • FOR RENT • FOR SALE • FOUND • HELP WANTED • LOST • INSTRUCTION • MOTORCYCLES • PERSONALS • RIDE WANTED • RIDERS NEEDED • SERVICES • ROOMATE WANTED • TRAVEL • WANTED • SUBLET

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON-THURS 8:30-3:30 (FRI-2:30) • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

GREECE-USA: A new phase Lecture and discussion by Christos Panagopoulos, Consul of Greece at Boston 11/9/88 Wednesday 8:00pm CC room 804.

MASSACHUSSETTS FREE PRESS general staff meeting--all encouraged to attend!! Planning for next issue today Wed. Nov. 9 4pm Campus Center 168C

PI SIGMA ALPHA Political Science Honor Society General Meeting Wednesday, November 9 @ 3:30pm 620 Thompson Hall. Current and interested members invited.

APARTMENTS AVAILABLE

SPACIOUS 2 BEDROOMS on 19 acres of country land. Ample off street parking and free bus service to UMass and shopping areas. Call 665-3656.

APARTMENT FOR RENT

LOOKING TO SUBLET your apartment during month of January Call 546-4940.

AUTO FOR SALE

82 FORD MUSTANG GT 302 87000 miles burgandy runs good all records on car. Call after 5:00pm 3600 or best offer. 256-8978

CHEVETTE 1982 Excellent condition 4 dr 4 sd $995 leave message 546-8081.

1978 FORD GRANADA low miles needs battery. $275. 549-3591 A steal

78 DODGE COLT 4 sp new radials radial snows new suspension runs great extras $300 Rich 256-0613, 549-9903.

FORD ESCORT WAGON 1983 ex condition A/C roof rack 50,000 miles 256-0933

81 HONDA ACCORD HATCH Silver, 89000 mi $1800 Call Teresa 549-0793.

82 VW SCIROCCO 5 spd Dark grey new tires, rims runs very well. $3000 Please call Tom 546-1184.

1970 MUSTANG COUPE. Excellent condition-mechanically sound! Great body, 4 new tires $2,500. Call 546-4908 weeknights-Jen

COMPACT DISC MUSIC MACHINE

DISC JOCKEY SERVICE - Over 700 CD's Great Sound! All occassions. 549-1421.

ENTERTAINMENT

KLUBKAVE D.J. SERVICES - Professional music system at unbeatable prices - 546-6518.

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. Disc-jockeys and large screen video dances. Dorms/organizations 256-8526

FOR RENT

PUFFTON APARTMENT- need a roommate for spring call John 549-7423

TWO BEDROOM APT. off rte 9 in Belchertown on bus route available Jan 1 575 contact Sage and Seever 256-0266.

SINGLE ROOM IN HOUSE take over lease start Jan 1 ideal for grad student quiet, warm, homey on bus route call 256-8395

1 - BEDROOM APT IN Cliffside Apts Sunderland, $450/mo. Take over lease for Spring Semester. Call Paolo 665-4927.

2 BDRM APT on Main St taka over Sept lease Grad students or professional people please. Call 256-8040.

FOR SALE

SKI BOOTS! Dynafit Superlite size 7½ great condition $50.00. Call after 11:00pm 546-4055.

DATSUN 200SX FOR SALE. 1980 Hatchback in good running condition. Interior is decent, rust on exterior. AM/FM, new alternator, battery, spark plugs and wires. $1000 or BO. Call Tony at 546-5211 or 545-3500.

BUD KEG TAPS You need them I have them Quality. $20. Bill 549-6989

GUCCI WATCHES ONLY $35 Many styles great gifts Call Brian 549-5440.

BRAND NEW HP-12C Business calc. only $50, list in 80. Call 253-2908 ask for Jon.

78 TOYOTA COROLLA engine in excellent condition. Good body must sell $650 or BO Call Pierre 545-2569.

HONDA 750 CUSTOM 81, excellent condition, full face helmet and rain cover included, $850.00 or BO. Must sell Leave message 256-0998, Steve.

1983 CHEVY CHEVETTE 4dr 4sp new brakes new clutch $1500 Kurt253-5406

YAMAHA SRX 250 Sport bike, 5 months old, $1,500, includes full facial helmet and jacket. Call David 1-566-8212.

FOUND

MOOTORCYCLE HELMET and gloves. Call 665-8238.

FURNITURE

QUALITY NEW FURNITURE FOR STUDENTS on a budget! Futons, bookcases, tables and more. Hamelin Furniture 1 Short St. Northhampton 586-7970 Bill or Darrin. We deliver.

HELP WANTED

EARN EXTRA CHRISTMAS MONEY and help others at the same time. Flexible hours. $5.00/hr. November 18-December 24, 1988. Call 586-5243.

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500. Now hiring, excellent benefits. Call 1-312-741-8400.

$$NEED XTRA CASH? PT/FT & interseession retail sales & cashier positions available downtown Northampton Nov 15-Jan 15.--586-5624 Kathy.

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information. 504-641-8003 ext. 598

GOVERNMENT JOBS $15,400-$72,500 now hiring, excellent benefits Call 1-312-741-8400 Ext. J-5931A.

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information. 504-641-8003 Ext 598.

WORK STUDY JOBS available! Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Come by Off Campus Housing Office, 546-0865.

LOST

LOST: SMOKEY BLACK LEATHER JACKET with large collar on 10th floor tower ligrary women's bathroom No ?'s Reward, please call 6-8733.

MOTORCYCLES

1983 KAWASAKI KZ550 LTD Helmet, cover shield $850. Joe 549-7423 Evenings

PERSONALS

CAMPUS WIDE BACKGAMMON tournament! Win cash! Call 549-9941 for info.

JARRETT SAUNDERS- HAPPY 19th! Now you're only a year younger than I am! Love Volkswagon.

JARRETT S. I LOVE YA BABE! Have an awesome birthday. Your the best, (even though you keep me up all night) Love Pammy

TRACY MCGINNIS
Happy belated 21st! Hope you have a blast in Springfield and we'll be sure to look for you in the "fourth" place anyone would look on Friday morning.

CARLA, BARRIE, RACH, SID, ALEX, MEL, & KEL, I love you all! Deb.

DAWN DELSIE- Let's have a talk about tweetie beetles. Tonight at 9pm. I'm waiting-Mark.

FREEZA? I love you pal! Kalifornia ripkin Jones is forever yours.

LYNNE, DON'T LET SCHOOL stress you out. The weekend is just 2 days away. You'll survive. Love always, Howie (by the way, happy birthday!!)

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS IS A crippling disease that can strike anyone at any time. Domino's Pizza and the Delta Chi Fraternity need your help in combatting this disease. Lawns raked for ten dollars ($10), proceeds to benefit the Multiple Sclerosis Society. Donations also welcome. Time is running out. Call 549-6505.

WERE YOU BORN TO BE WILDER? Come rock with Wilder Hall MHC and live band 4-Play Saturday, Nov. 12 at 10pm, Blanchard Campus Center. $2 with college ID.

TEE, I'VE BEEN watching you, babe I need to tell you that you're beautiful. Meet me tonight. -G.

LISA BROWN- Here's to an awesome little sister. Love ya, Tara.

JASON- HAPPY 21st BIRTHDAY you play Samson and me Delilah and let me cut your hair some Monday night. Love Tara.

PATTY, YOU'LL ALWAYS be world-class and top-seed with me. Love, Kevin.

DOUG, YOU MAY NOT be the most punctual, but you certainly get my personal vote for best looking Hatch employee. Rock and Roll. Guess who?

KIRSTIE Happy Birthday from the English speaking Gang at the Coffe Shop.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ERIC JACKSON! Are you surprised? Love, Amy

TO THE HOTTEST CHICK IN S2- Happy birthday Sherri! Nous T'aimons.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SARA (sniffles) Bunting Love your tissue supplier Laurie.

TOM COLEMAN The revolution is approaching! Wathhc out for Lenin

SUZY, CHERYL, thanks guys! I made it this year! Dawn.

MISH HAVE A happy B-day Love Otis.

KATHI KEELEY The last 2 months have been awesome. I hope this lasts awhile You're the best! Love always, Ron

PAPER-BOY, my "kinda strange" type heart's desire, I miss you incomprehensibly! "Wally"

HAPPY BIRTHDAY NUMBO! Have an awesome year I love you.

AMY MEET AT DELANO'S TONIGHT we can celebrate my raise from WAWA. Leigh

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TANYA you're the greatest! I love you Bob

AARON ROME - Happy birthday to the best roomate I ever had. Go Sickol! - Ken.

CHOLESTEROL. WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT and what can you do (in and out of the D.C.) to lower it? No registration, no fee, just show up at one of these dates and times below: For those NOT on DC meal plan: Nov 3,17 or Dec 1 5pm University Health Services room 302 for those on DC meal plan: Nov 10 or Dec 8, for more info call 549-2671. Ask for Clinic 4 or Health education.

CAMPUS CAKES
We will deliver a cake and a bundle of balloons for only $19.95 256-8745.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ALLISON at least you're legal in Montreal ona more day!! Stacey

"JARHEADS" All former prior service marines meet me at the TOC on Nov 10th for a pitcher or two at 8:30pm. No Wannabees allowed. That means all you PLC and reservists unless you're prepared to buy for your betters. FTS.

UMASS JUGGLING FESTIVAL
Workshops, Demonstrations, Vendors
Fri, 11/11 3pm to Sun, 11/13 5pm
in the Campus Center auditorium free with UMass ID!
Also, a FREE public show Sat, 11/12 7pm in the SUB.
*Sponsored by the Umass Juggling Club *

TO THE CUTE GIRL I MET Fri the 28th at the library hear closing time. I liked talking with you, I like you and would like to see you again. If you want to see me again, I'll be practically living here for at least another week at the same place till 10pm.

"MAKE DAVID'S DREAM COME TRUE" Sigma Phi Epsilon will be sponsoring a drop off for post cards. Take the time to bring a smile to David's face. The table will be on the Campus Center Concourse all week.

EARN $60-$120/SHIFT! Drivers wanted. Must own an insured car and be able to work at least one weekend night until closing. Call Domino's Pizza 256-8913.

1989 COLLEGE SKI WEEKS
Destinations: Lake Tahoe-heavenly * Vermont-Sugarbush, Smugglers Notch, * Killington. Ski all day/party all night For lowest prices call 546-6612 or 546-5242

PETE ROCK

HAPPY BIRTHDAY PETE ROCK to the new CEO of Pratt and Whitney Have a great dey, Peta -154

RIDE WANTED

TO CORNELL OR NEARBY for weekend of Nov 11. Will pay gas expenses. 6-6821.

TWO PEOPLE NEED RIDE to Syracuse or surrounding area weekend of Nov 11-Nov 13. Please call Cathleen and leave message at 546-7785.

ROOMATE WANTED

BRANDYWINE- 1 BEDROOM to share - female non-smoker $167.50 Call 549-4037

WRITER SEEKS QUIET roommate 665-7234

NONSMOKING FEMALE TO share Brandywine apt w/3 females for spring semester w/option to take over lease. Call anytime leave message. 549-5618.

1 BEDROOM BRANDYWINE, non-smoker please 240-heat included. 549-7157.

ROOMATE NEEDED FOR spring semester at Southwood Apartments call 256-8745.

PUFFTON VILLAGE- large double room available, $140 per person. Rent includes heat, gas, water. Ask for Mike 549-2854.

FEMALE ROOMATE WANTED to share a one bedroom Cliffside apt w/an easy going senior. If interested please call Beth at 665-4550.

SERVICES

TYPING BY KEVIN 24 hour service Delivery too 549-0116 students preferred.

TYPING, TAPE TRANSCRIPTION. Fast, accurate. 253-WORD.

DIRT CHEAP RESUMES. Very experienced Laserwriter quality. Pick-up/drop off. Overnight service. Lisa 367-9940.

ACCURATE TYPING. Pickup and delivery 15¢ pp. Basic editing. Gloria 323-5140.

ACURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING on word processor. Call Carolyn-leava message 253-5667.

SUBLET

1 BDRM IN family hoome, quiet area in Amherst, grad ? older student pref. Call David 253-5908 M-Th after 6pm.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

EARN FROM $6000 up next summer 508-543-3706. Leave message.

SPECIAL EVENT

TONIGHT AT 7:30 UMass Campus Center room 163 See the Irish Missionaries and decide for yourself if there's a god.

STEVE

STEVE- HAPPY 21st BIRTHDAY! (Tomorrow) Love, Heath.

TRAVEL

ROUND TRIP PLANE TICKET to Chicago for Thanksgiving. Travel Nov 23, 26. Call 546-8321.

TYPING/PROFESSIONAL

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS, reliable on-campus, affordable, spelling/grammar reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy.

WANTED

LATIN TUTOR WANTED. Call 549-6184 ask for Liz.

HELP! TUTOR WANTED for Colins 102-Basic programming Call Evas 549-8164.

HELP! I need Soc 103 (Hume) notes will pay money$$. Shirley 549-2710.

WORK IN BRITIAN/IRELAND LEGALLY FOR UP TO 6 MONTHS

THE BUNAC/USIT FALL ROADSHOW will be visiting UMass on Thursday 3, November. Information available between 10am and 3pm in the Campus Center concourse followed by a presentation between 3:30 and 5:30pm in room 168, Campus Center. Everyone welcome.

SPORTS

Minutemen stopped by Taby Club, 85-69

By RONN GARRY
Collegian Staff

Poikar var mycket bra.

Translated from Swedish: "The boys were very good."

That is exactly what the Taby Club from Sweden was when it beat the University of Massacusetts men's basketball team 85-69 in front of 1,442 at the Curry Hicks cage last night.

With 1:57 gone in the first half, Taby's Henrik Evers nailed a three-pointer for a 4-2 lead— UMass would trail for the rest of the game.

Last night's game was the opening game of the season for the Minutemen and first year head coach, John Calipari. [See related adjecent story] It seems, however, that UMass still has some rust to shake off in this young season.

"We didn't rebound well and tonight we started the game with the jitters. ...[In the beginning] we couldn't catch the ball, we couldn't pass the ball, we walked, we missed layups, and we missed dunks." Calipari said. "Things don't happen over night, we've only been practicing 18 or 19 days and we've got a ways to go."

Taby played typical European style basketball— three-point shooting and deliberate basketball. The Swedes jumped out to 18-9 lead with steady jumpers and two 3-pointers (10 total for the game). Behind the leadership of seniors David Brown (20 points) and Duane Chase (a game-high 24 points) the Minutemen cut the lead to six. Brown and Chase connected on UMass' next 18 points, which was capped off at a 35-29 deficit by a thunderous Chase tomahawk slam.

Chase and Brown were helped in the first half by freshman Jim McCoy who chipped in eight points in the half (11 total)— those three accounted for 30 of UMass' 32 first half points.

"I figured if I concentrated on defense the offense would come, and it did," McCoy said.

But that wasn't enough offense, UMass trailed 43-32 at the half.

It didn't get any better in the second half.

Late in the game (1:38 left) the Minutemen trailed by as many as 20— UMass couldn't get any closer than 11 for the entire 20 minutes.

"[Sweden's style] didn't confuse us. We knew what they were going to do. They were shooting threes and running the floor. We couldn't play any zone. . . we played zone twice and they hit two threes so we tried to play man and they tired us out a little," Calipari said.

Calipari remained optimistic after the game. "We're trying to teach the kids how to win. The effort was there, we just still don't have a good grasp on who should be playing.

"The kids are trying and we have to hang tough. To the fans and the students, you have to hang tough with the

continued on page 14

Calipari makes coaching debut

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

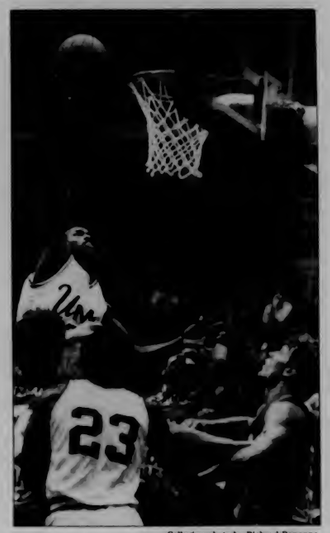
The beginning of the John Calipari era at the University of Massachusetts could have been better. Much better.

Last night's exhibition game against the Taby Club of Sweden marked the debut for Calipari as head coach of the Minutemen. Hired in March following the resignation of Ron Gerlufsen, after tours of duty as an assistant at Kansas and Pittsburgh, it is finally his turn to run the show.

Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno
John Calipari

Calipari played the part well, parading the sidelines, barking orders and encouragement and throwing in the occasional mandatory jab at the officials. He came in with high hopes for the UMass program, and the population has high hopes of him and his team.

continued on page 14



Collegian photo by Richard Bonanno
Duane Chase and the Minutemen fell to the Taby Club of Sweden, 85—69 last night.

Show some support

Ladies and gentlemen, it's sermon time. again.

When it comes to sports weekends at the University of Massachusetts, aside from Homecoming, this coming weekend may just be the biggest of all. Maybe even bigger than Homecoming.

Jim Clark

Three different UMass sports teams will all be playing at home, in what should be their biggest games of the season to date. The football team will host Villanova University at Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium Saturday at 1 p.m. in a huge Yankee Conference game, one which the Minutemen must win to have any realistic shot at postseason play.

Then on Sunday, the two most successful teams on campus will each take to the field in quarterfinal round playoff games. The field hockey team will host the winner of a game between the University of Connecticut and Northeastern University, Sunday at noon at Totman Field. Meanwhile, across campus, the women's soccer team battles the University of Wisconsin-Madison at 1 p.m. Victories for both teams would advance them to the Final Four of their respective sports.

Now granted this is a long weekend, and will probably be the last chance many of you will have to get home before Thanksgiving. But when it comes to school spirit, there isn't a better time than now to come out and show it.

As usual, the football games are free, with use of an undergraduate student ID. But there's a catch for the other two. Because the games are controlled by the NCAA (does this stand for Need Cash in Advance Always?), there will be an admission charge of $2 per student. But if you think that's enough reason to stay home, let's reflect a bit.

Last year, the women's soccer team hosted the Final Four at the Stadium. Despite the admission charge (and the Arctic weather), over 6,000 people showed up to witness a great game between

continued on page 15

Kennedy is a giant pain for opponents

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

Tonia Kennedy must wonder whether she spends more time on the field or in the doctor's office, something that would probably be pretty tough to figure out.

The senior left wing for the University of Massachusetts field hockey team has suffered through a list of injuries during her career at UMass that even Bill Walton cannot top.

In her freshman year it was an operation on her left ankle, in her sophomore year it was a hip pointer and an operation on her right ankle, in her junior year it was a back injury suffered while she was lifting weights.

Last year she missed an entire season with appendicitis. This year, Kennedy seemed to be on her way to an injury-free season, until, three weeks ago, she went down in a game against Boston University with a hamstring pull.

But Kennedy keeps coming back, and coming back to take more. She has not played in three weeks since her injury in the BU game, but when the Minutewomen take the field for the NCAA playoffs Sunday at Totman Field, you can bet that if Kennedy can even stand, she will be on the field in her starting forward position.

"I wan't to play so much, it doesn't matter how my hamstring feels," Kennedy said.

Whichever team (the University of Connecticut or Northeastern University) ends up playing the Minutewomen in the regional championship this weekend, better hope that Kennedy is on the sidelines. For when she is on the field, Kennedy has caused a lot of pain for opposing defenses.

When she has been healthy, Kennedy has been as potent a goal scorer as the Minutewomen have put on the field. Despite missing the last three and a half games, she leads the Minutewomen in goals with 12.

"She is very strong and a very aggressive player," UMass coach Pam Hixon said. "She's very dangerous around the goal."

Its been a pretty amazing comeback year considering the factors that could have worked against her. Missing a whole year

continued on page 15

Collegian photo by Andrew Rist
Senior forward Tonia Kennedy (with headband) has fought off injuries to be a consistent scoring threat throughout her career.

Water polo season successful

By DENNIS MADSEN
Collegian Correspondent

A third-place finish in the New England tournament over the weekend may not have been as high as the University of Massachusetts men's water polo team would have liked, but it nonetheless capped off a successful season.

The Minutemen ended up 13-9 (improving over 12-8 last year) with a much tougher schedule. They finished ranked No. 3 in New England and No. 9 in the East. What made their finish so impressive was that eight of the nine losses came against teams ranked in the top 20 nationally.

"The finish was overall what I expected," said UMass coach Russ Yarworth. "Our goal was to make the Easterns and to do that we had to be in the top eight. We ended up ninth so we weren't too far off."

He continued, "From a coaching standpoint. . .I'm very satisfied with our performance. We were not emotionally mature enough [but] I think we learned a lot about ourselves."

Two UMass players were selected for All-New England honors. Sophomore Jon Miller made first team after leading the Minutemen in goals (47), assists (19), quarters played (69), and steals (47).

"He was the backbone of the team," said

continued on page 15

Club sports roundup

The University of Massachusetts racquetball team kicked off its season over the weekend while the UMass bicycle racing club wrapped up its season the week before.

The racquetball team played Saturday in their first Eastern Collegiate Racquetball Conference tournament against SUNY Albany and Providence College.

Although the UMass team was unable to defeat either PC or Albany, the caliber of play was commendable. Saturday's events were highlighted by Juan Fernandez's overpowering of Albany's sixth ranked player in a heated tie-breaking match.

continued on page 15

LARGEST COLLEGE PAPER IN NEW ENGLAND

The Massachusetts Daily
COLLEGIAN

RSO-UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, AMHERST — 113 CAMPUS CENTER 545-3500 VOLUME CXXI ISSUE 46

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10 1988

INSIDE

●Juggling Club convention this weekend. Page 8.
●Meredith O'Brien on whales and humans. Page 11.
●It's Final Four Time. Page 24.

UMass officials shut down ATG fraternity

By YANA DLUGY
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts officials yesterday stripped the Alpha Tau Gamma fraternity of official recognition and gave the brothers until Thanksgiving to move out of the fraternity's two houses.

Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson said current results from the on-going University investigation into alleged hazing activities at the fraternity, have proved substantial enough for him to order the shut down of the fraternity. However, he declined to reveal details about the findings.

"The information is serious enough to pull their charter and shut them down," Madson said.

Amherst police, who are also conducting an investigation, said Tuesday they have at least two suspects, according the Daily Hampshire Gazette.

Madson said he also consulted with some of the faculty at the Stockbridge School of Agriculture to make his decision.

Because ATG is affiliated with Stockbridge, which is a two-year program, most of the brothers are sophomores, Madson said. Under University policy all sophomores and first-year students are required to live in University housing.

Since ATG is no longer a fraternity its houses are no longer considered University housing, the vice chancellor said.

The 32 fraternity members will be able to remain in the house for the next two weeks "under the condition they behave themselves very carefully," Madson said. "If there are any more allegations of improper behavior they will have to move out immediately," he said.

The Greek Affairs and Dean of Students offices are continuing their investigation, he said.

Amherst police began their investigation Thursday at the request of University officials, who are required to inform police of possible hazing incidents.

Hazing is a violation of the UMass Code of Student Conduct as well as Massachusetts General Law.

Officers of fraternities and sororities and all pledges are required to sign a statement saying they understand this law.

There have also been two workshops conducted by the Greek Affairs office on the hazing law, Madson said.

"There is just no excuse [for hazing]," he said.

He said ATG alumni, along with the faculty and administration at the University, are very upset with the situation.

"They are not happy with these young men," Madson said. "None of us are."

No disciplinary action has been taken yet against fraternity members.

Associate Vice Chancellor of University Relations and Development James Langley said disciplinary action could range anywhere from a simple reprimand, to suspension, to expulsion, depending on the charge.

The University ordered the 14 pledges to move out of the fraternity house last week out of concern for their "health and safety," said Gladys Rodriguez, acting dean of students.

Student senate fails to ratify elections again

By GEORGE FRANCY
Collegian Staff

Despite the presence of more than 200 students demonstrating in favor of the ratification of Shari Silkoff and Jason Rabinowitz as Student Government Association co-presidents last night, the Undergraduate Student Senate did not approve the co-presidents.

Is there a pattern here?

The senate voted 63 to 38 against considering the ratification. The move, which required a two-thirds majority, failed by four votes.

The meeting was originally scheduled for room 101 of the Campus Center, but was moved to the Campus Center Auditorium when more than 200 people showed up for the meeting, most in support of Silkoff/Rabinowitz. 101 senators were in attendance at the meeting.

The supporters carried signs reading "The students have spoken — Ratify," and "What happened to my vote?"

They often interrupted the meeting by chanting and yelling, but this demonstration still could not get the co-presidents-elect approved. When the vote against considering ratification was announced, much of the audience left.

Senate Speaker Robert Fadel gave a strong indication he would rule the ratification out of order because of two statements issued by the justices of the Student Judiciary as the meeting began which say the judiciary would not allow the co-presidents-elect to hold office.

Chris McClellan, newly appointed Student Judiciary Clerk of Courts, read the statements of the justices: "On April 13, 1988 the campus-wide election was ruled unconstitutional by the Student Judiciary," McClellan said. "The election is null and void and the Student Judiciary stands by the opinion."

Fadel said: "According to the two letters read, ratification is against the Student Judiciary. We cannot ratify." This was met by silence from the audience.

"My stances will be in compliance with the judicial orders the court has handed down," Fadel said.

On May 11, the judiciary issued a restraining order preventing Silkoff and Rabinowitz from holding office until an appeal of their case could be heard. The two are currently waiting for the judiciary to hear an appeal on whether it is constitutional for them to hold office as co-presidents.

Silkoff/Rabinowitz, and their supporters disagree.

"There's no question ratification is constitutional because the restraining order is only on Shari and I [holding office]," Rabinowitz said. He added that the restraining order was issued by a prior court administration that was biased against them.

"The judiciary itself has said the senate has to take the appropriate action, and the appropriate action is to ratify the elections," Rabinowitz said.

Sen. Ted Chambers, chairman of the SGA Governmental Affairs Committee, introduced the ratification proposal.

"The original injunction does not prevent the senate from [approving the elections], it prevents Shari and Jason from holding office," Chambers said.

Students protesting at the meeting were obviously upset with the decision.

continued on page 5

Bush appoints Baker

Former campaign chief named sec. of state

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press

Republican President-elect George Bush, saying "the people have spoken and the verdict was clear," moved swiftly yesterday toward forming his administration by designating his campaign chairman, James A. Baker III, as the next secretary of state.

Bush announced the choice of Baker, a friend of long standing who served as White House chief of staff and then as treasury secretary under President Reagan, at a news conference in Houston hours after his solid victory over Democrat Michael Dukakis was assured.

AP photo
President-elect George Bush and President Ronald Reagan outside the White House yesterday.

Voters tempered the Republican victory in the battle for the White House by strengthening the opposition Democrats' control of both the Senate and House.

When a reporter suggested that the victorious candidate looked subdued, Bush replied that he felt "somewhere between total exhilaration and recognition that the challenge ahead is going to be awesome."

Bush shied away form using the word "mandate" for his victory but said that "I don't think it was overly close."

He received about 54 percent of the popular vote, "which I think most people would consider a big win ... big strong support from many, many states. So, I could simply say the American people have spoken, the verdict was clear."

In addition to designating Baker as successor to Secretary of State George Shultz, Bush chose his chief of staff Craig Fuller and pollster Robert Teeter to be co-directors of his transition. Sheila Tate, his campaign press secretary kept her position for the transition.

The president-elect predicted "a major turnover" in personnel from the Reagan administration which he said would "revinvigorate the process."

With a bow to the man he has served for eight years, Bush said, "I note the obvious, President Reagan is still the president of the United States and I will not be using the transition to try to make or unduly influence decisions that are properly the president's."

After a campaign in which many voters expressed dismay over their choice between Bush and Dukakis, the president-elect vowed as soon as his victory was clear Tuesday night to work for the respect of those

continued on page 2

DVP tries to clear dispute over membership of eight

By FRANCIS HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

After recently deciding not to bring Minister Louis Farrakhan to the University of Massachusetts, the Distinguished Visitors Program has attempted to clarify controversy surrounding its membership by denying voting rights to eight black students who believed they fulfilled membership requirements.

On Monday, the DVP decided membership is achieved by attending and participating in three "full" meetings, and taking an active role in the program's projects, said Magaret Arsenault, Student Activities Office program adviser. The meeting included DVP co-chairperson Daniela D'Appolito, DVP committee member Judi Kohn, Arsenault, and four students affected by the decision.

The Distinguished Visitors Program controls a fund used to present speakers from a broad range of views on various topics. According to D'Appolito, she and co-chairperson Patrick Berkley felt the eight had not fully participated in the group.

The eight students say they are being denied membership because of their support for Farrakhan, who has been called an anti-Semite. "This is bogus," said Zouera Youssou-fou, a senior marketing major. "I've been to five DVP meetings, [and attended] the last three from beginning to end."

Youssou-fou said the obligations necessary to gain membership were never discussed in any of the meetings. "Why would we keep coming back if we aren't interested," she said.

There is a conflict over the attendance of the eight members at meetings. According to Berkley, most of the eight students in question did attend on Oct. 11 and 18. However, Berkley said the students representing Phi Beta Sigma fraternity presented a proposal on the 11th to co-sponsor the bringing of Farrakhan, a representive of the Nation of Islam, and then left the meeting.

The meeting on the 18th was considered the students first full meeting, Berkley said.

Some of the students designated as not being voting members said attendance was not taken at any of the meetings. "They would not have known if we attended three full meetings. They did not take attendance until the third meeting," said Gabrielle Buford, a junior communications major.

Buford said she believes the DVP felt "embarrassed" by the black students' participation in the meetings, because "they did not know what they were doing. We ran the whole thing." The DVP constitution states meetings operate under Robert's Rules of Order, but DVP chairpersons "did not know parliamentary procedures," she said.

Co-chairperson D'Appolito said the DVP did not feel embarrassed, but did feel "threatened." The organization does not generally have large groups of people coming to meetings to bring a specific speaker or agenda, she said.

According to Arsenault, the DVP has not used parliamentary procedures for nearly seven years.

WORLD/NATION

■See Bush, pg.1

continued from page 1

who opposed him and he moved to spell out some of his plans for his presidency.

Bush was up early yesterday, despite late-night celebrating, and went to St. Martin's Episcopal Church in Houston with family and friends. Leaving his hotel, he called out that he felt "just fine."

When a questioner suggested he would face problems in the Senate, now more firmly in democratic hands, he replied simply, "A few problems everywhere."

Later yesterday he was returning to Washington to talk over the election — and the future with Reagan in the Oval Office.

Bush won the election convincingly — the third straight republican presidential victory — but he fell short of the 49 state sweep by Reagan four years ago.

That was little consolation for the Democrats who now have lost five of the last six presidential elections.

"He will be our president and we'll work with him," Dukakis said Tuesday night in a gracious yet unbowed concession speech.

"God knows, there's lots of work to do," said the republican president-elect, looking ahead to next January when he will succeed Reagan after eight years as loyal understudy.

"The people have spoken," he told cheering supporters in Houston. "and with a full heart and with great hopes, I thank all of the people throughout America who have given us this great victory ... To those who supported me, I will try to be worthy of your trust and to those that did not, I will try to earn it."

Bush became the first sitting vice president to win the presidency since Democrat Martin Van Buren in 1836. An ominous note for Bush: Van Buren was defeated for re-election.

According to surveys of voters as they left polling places a big factor working for Bush was the continued popularity of his boss.

Dukakis closed out his campaign with an exhausting 46-hour race from state to state with no break for sleep. All the same, he was out power-walking on Election Day and when he appeared before supporters for his concession speech they chanted, "92, 92, 92, 92."

The weary candidate looked not quite ready to plunge into the next presidential campaign.

The man he beat for Democratic nomination, Jesse Jackson, said today, "Our next political season really does begin today." But Jackson, appearing on "CBS This Morning," quickly added, "It's much too early to talk about 1992 politics."

In the popular vote, with 99 percent of the precincts reporting, Bush had 47,601,312, or 54 percent. Dukakis had 40,767,121 or 46 percent.

In the critical tally of electoral votes. Bush won 40 states for 426 electoral votes. Dukakis won 10 states and the District of Columbia for 112 electoral votes.

Dukakis back at work after campaign loss

BOSTON (AP) — Defeated Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis yesterday congratulated President-elect George Bush on a "decisive victory," and said, "I gave it my best shot" in a losing cause.

At a valedictory campaign news conference in Boston, Dukakis repeated his charges that republican "media manipulators" resorted to highly negative commercials to defeat him and said the ads took their toll. He said he feared "this would ba a signal now at the national level that this kind of campaigning is effective."

Dukakis sidestepped a question about whether he might run again for the White House, saying he was now ready to return to his duties as governor of Massachusetts. "I will be digging into that vigorously and fully," he said.

Dukakis opened his news conference with a statement blending congratulations for Bush with a declaration that the Democratic Party is "truly alive and well and strong."

He made it clear that he intends to remain active in party affairs, saying he hoped to make his presence felt as the party picks a new chairman for the next four years.

Dukakis said he wasn't ready to offer a detailed analysis of the campaign, but noted that he lost several states by the relatively small margin of four percent.

"I wasn't successful in getting my message through in the South and some parts of the West," he said. But he quickly noted that voters in those regions continue to elect Democrats to local office, and said democratic presidential candidates "need to find a way to appeal to those regions."

"I gave it my best shot. We had our good days and our not-so-good days," he said.

Dukakis was asked several times about the negative commercials aired by Bush, and about the president-elect's

continued on page 19

JEFFERY AMHERST BOOKSHOP

55 So. Pleasant St., Amherst • 253-3870 • 253-3381

SERVICE • SERVICE • SERVICE!

PROFESSORS: Service is what we are all about. If you already order your textbooks at the Jeffery Amherst Bookshop, you're familiar with the many extras we offer. If you haven't yet tried the Jeff, please consider our range of services:

- We're open longer hours - 7 days a week and until 8pm during rush week.
- We have a full time textbook staff at your service
- We accept Visa and Mastercard for payment, as well as personal checks, without ID hassles.
- We make available updates on your course orders, if a title is out of stock, out of print, changed edition, etc. No suprises on the first day of class!
- We advise faculty well in advance of textbook returns to publishers.
- We provide faculty with desk copy loans, until publishers copy is received.
- We offer house charge accounts for faculty.
- We provide a host of everyday services, e.g. free gift wrapping, free special ordering of any book in print and we will mail books anywhere.
- We offer students the pleasant experience of shopping in a real book store, not a warehouse.

REMEMBER NO ORDER IS TOO SMALL OR TOO LARGE TO HANDLE. CALL US TO ORDER YOUR COURSE BOOKS FOR THE COMING SPRING SEMESTER.

Jeffery Amherst Textbook Service

安城中國飯店

AMHERST CHINESE FOOD

—WE DO NOT USE MSG, FOOD COLORING OR CHEMICAL ADDITIVES.

- NEWLY REMODELED
- MANDARIN & SZECHUAN DISHES
- HOME STYLE COOKING
- NON-SMOKING ATMOSPHERE
- FRESH VEGETABLES FROM OUR FARM
- EACH MEAL INDIVIDUALLY PREPARED
- FULL LIQUOR LICENSE
- EAT IN OR TAKE OUT
- OPEN 7 DAYS
- RESERVATIONS AND LARGE PARTIES ACCEPTED
- NO PERSONAL CHECKS

253-7835
253-2813
62 MAIN STREET AMHERST, MA

SAME DAY FILM PROCESSING

FILM IN BY 10 AM / PRINTS BY 4 PM
1-HOUR SERVICE ALSO AVAILABLE

A Different Money-Saving Special Every Day . . .

MON: 25% OFF FILM & ALBUMS
TUE: LARGE SAVINGS ON REPRINTS
WED: 2 PRINTS FOR THE PRICE OF 1
THU: 1 FREE 5x7 PRINT WITH EVERY 3
FRI: SAVE ON 5x7 SUPER PRINTS
EVERY DAY: A SECOND SET OF PRINTS AT A SUBSTANTIAL DISCOUNT

The Foto Factory
257 TRIANGLE ST. / AMHERST

LOCAL

ACLU chief to give lecture

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

Washington Chief of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), Morton Halperin, will give a lecture titled "Prospects For Continued Secret Government and Covert Action by the New Administration," at 7 tonight in room 101 of the Campus Center.

Halperin, executive director of the Center for National Security Studies (CNSS), an organization designed to prevent claims of "national security" from being used to bypass constitutional procedures, will analyze the concepts related to secret government the Bush Administration will have to face during the next four years.

"The officials behind the Iran-contra affair, in which arms were sold to Iran in exchange for American hostages held in Lebanon and the profits diverted to the Nicaraguan rebels, completely bypassed every democratic check placed upon the president," Halperin said. "Their actions vividly demonstrate the deep incongruity and dangers that unauthorized covert action poses to a democracy."

In 1986, Halperin received attention when he served as a witness for the defense in the trial of Amy Carter after she, and others, blocked the recruitment efforts of the CIA at the University of Massachusetts.

He says the Bush Administration has an opportunity and a responsibility to restore democracy and accountability to the foreign-policy process.

Halperin served as an assistant to Henry Kissinger during the Nixon Administration and is a noted authority on the workings of the intelligence community.

He co-authored "Lawful wars: Restoring Congress' Role in The Overt and Covert Use of Force," and has published numerous articles and books on the subject.

In 1969 Halperin was a senior staff member of the National Security Council (NSC), with responsibility for National Security planning. He also served as Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense previous to the NSC, and was responsible for political-military planning and arms control.

Halperin received a bachelor of arts from Columbia University in 1958 and a doctorate from Yale University in 1961.

Stolen checks worth $649 cashed

By THOMAS RODRIGUES
Collegian Staff

Stolen checks totaling $649.53 were reported cashed yesterday at the University of Massachusetts and Hampshire Mall. The checkbook which the checks came from and the jacket it was in, were stolen in early October.

In other police reports:

- A student reported Friday an AM/FM stereo cassette player and tapes stolen from his car parked in Lot 49.
- The passenger side window of a Volkswagon Golf parked in Lot 34 was reported smashed Monday.
- The window of a Volkswagon Fox parked in Lot 22 was reported smashed Monday.
- A license plate taken from a vehicle in Lot 34 Sunday was reportedly returned to its owner Tuesday. The plate had been slid under the owner's door.
- The side window or a car parked in Stadium Lot E was reported smashed Monday. The cost of repairs to the window was estimated at $300.
- A Volkswagon Golf parked in Lot 34 had its driver's side door opened and radio valued at $350 stolen Tuesday.
- A 34-year-old Medford man was arrested on Massachusetts Avenue and charged with operating a motor vehicle after his license had been suspended.
- A 1979 Buick was reported stolen from Lot E near Fraternity/Sorority park sometime since Tuesday.
- A 21-year-old West Springfield man was arrested Wednesday when an officer observed his vehicle operating erratically on North Pleasant Street. He was charged with driving while intoxicated.

Fees not lowering

University of Massachusetts officials said student fees would not be lowered although the state Board of Regents of Higher Education is asking state colleges and universities to keep student fees no higher than 30 percent of tuition.

UMass undergraduate fees are $795 each semester. The fee is equal to 56.6 percent of the $1,404 charged for tuition.

Although the Regents are not powered to control fees, they approved the policy because state college presidents agreed to the cap. Fee regulations are made by the Board of Trustees.

Yesterday the Daily Hampshire Gazette reported UMass Chancellor Joseph Duffey said Chancellor of Higher Education Franklyn Jenifer assured him the University would not be asked to comply with the cap.

Collegian file photo

RECORD BREAKER? — UMass Chancellor Joseph Duffey signs a postcard to be sent to a young lukemia patient in Florida. The boy "David" is trying to break the World record for postcards received. Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is sponsoring the postcard drive at UMass.

Does pornography lead to violence?

By SHARON WILKEY
Collegian Correspondent

A film exploring the connection between pornography and violence against women will be presented by the Women's Studies Program at 7 p.m. Tuesday in room 20 of Herter Hall.

Chantal Pierrat, an organizer of the event, described Not a Love Story as a documentary in which a stripper tells how she participated in the degradation of women through pornography.

Pierrat, a University of Massachusetts junior, said she decided the film, first released in 1979, should be shown here because people on this campus "tend to overlook the roots of violence against women."

Stacey Roth, coordinator of the Educator/Advocate program at the Everywoman's Center, will facilitate a group discussion following the film.

The movie, Roth said, "is a fairly graphic film that teaches you about certain aspects of pornography, by taking you into the lives of women involved in it."

Pierrat encouraged men and women to attend to gain insights into the pattern of violence against women.

"I think men should see this [film] because I don't think they see the connections between their attitudes toward pornography and their actions," Pierrat said.

"When you've got a guy going to a peep show and seeing a woman tied up and being abused," she said, "he will come out of that show and see women as something to be abused."

Even if they don't actually rape a women, she said, pornography may influence the way they treat the women in their lives.

Roth said pornography is an important part of the continuous cycle of violence against women.

The cycle begins with childhood socialization and is reinforced by images seen in the media through advertising, music, and television, she said.

This cycle then leads to pornography and can "finally escalate even further into actual acting out against women in things like battering, rape and incest," she said.

Not speaking out against pornography, she said, implies an unofficial acceptance of that violence.

Prof. to lecture about the scents that bug the insects

By JOHN SWANSON
Collegian Staff

Among mammals, humans are unique because they do not use chemical signals to attract mates, according to Ring Carde, former head of the University of Massachusetts Department of Entomology.

Carde, who will be speaking tonight on "Insects and the Language of Smell," said that nearly half of the 1,200,000 species of insects recruit mates by emitting natural chemicals. This includes many types of beetles and nearly all moth species.

PROFILE

People conceal their natural chemical odors by using perfumes and deodorants, thereby creating "an artificial substitute for the natural chemical signals that predominate in sexual communication of most other animals," he said.

"I don't think we use chemicals in a very meaningful sense," he said. "They're not a strong element of our ability to communicate or understand one another."

Insects emit chemical combinations of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen to attract mates. These non-toxic compounds differ in structure from one type of insect to another, he said. Scientists have figured out how to use these chemicals for controlling insect populations.

"Some of these scents are now synthesized and used for direct control of insect mating, and have supplanted toxic insecticides," he said. "This makes it impossible for the males to locate females that are emitting attractant."

Research includes studying the composition of the chemicals, their dispersion into the atmosphere, the mate's detection of the chemicals and how the insect navigates a course back to the source, he said.

"I'm interested in how insects find the proper mate by following a chemical trail, a plume, not different from what you see coming out of a smokestack," he said.

Born and raised in Farmington, Conn., Carde received his bachelor of sciences in biology from Tufts University in 1966. At Cornell University, he earned his master of sciences and his doctorate in entomology in 1968 and 1971, respectively. Carde did post-graduate research at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station in Geneva, where he began his study of the chemical aspect of insect behavior. In 1975, he joined the staff of the Michigan State University Department of Entomology.

Carde came to the University of Massachusetts as associate professor in the Department of Entomology in 1981. He became a full professor in 1984 and was head of the department from 1984 to 1987. He now teaches a course in insect behavior. This past spring, he was a visiting scientist at the Agricultural University in Wageningen, The Netherlands.

The free presentation is part of the 1988-89 Distinguished Faculty Lecture Series, which is sponsored by alumni contributions. The series includes speakers from the departments of psychology, public health and anthropology as well. The lecture will be presented at 8 p.m. in Bowker Auditorium. A reception will follow the lecture.

F Y I

The FYI column is a public service announcement to the University of Massachusetts community. Space is limited, so some submissions may not be published.

Course guides

Pre-registration guides for Spring semester 1989 will be distributed on the Campus Center Concourse starting today. After Monday, they will be available in the Whitmore first floor lobby.

CASIAC meetings

Pre-major meetings for CASIAC students are scheduled for 4 p.m. Call 545-2191 or stop by Machmer E-20 for more information.

Latina/Latino Awareness Week

Monday through Thursday next week will be Latina/Latino Awareness Week. The week will be celebrated with films at 7:30 p.m. each night in Gorman, Thatcher, John Quincy Adams and Kennedy. Mon. Kiss of the Spider Woman in Gorman. Tues. La Bamba in Gorman and The Official Story in Kennedy. Wed. El Norte in Thatcher and Milagro Beanfield War in John Quincy Adams (8:30). Thurs. Salvador in Kennedy. Thurs. Erendira in Thatcher.

adirondack music

NOVEMBER MADNESS SALE!

The price – busting continues...

CAR STEREO CRAZINESS!

Here at Adirondack Music we've got some great deals on some demo and factory refurbished units that are too good to pass up! How about an EPI LSR34 car stereo with 25 watts per channel, AM/FM digital tuning radio, auto – reverse cassette with Dolby "B" NR for only $99.95! That's right, folks, we got a few of these $369, units for only $99.95! If that's not wild enough, how about a pair of EPI LS81's for only $49.95! That's $50 off our regular price of $99.95 for these super sounding 4" two way plates speakers!

SPEAKER MANIA!

The mania continues! We have a few pairs of ADVENT speakers left at ridiculous prices! Legacy's for only $299 and Prodigy's for only $219 the pair! WOW! If it's rock and roll that you like, try a pair of CERWIN VEGA speakers! Save up to $350 per pair on our demo's of the D3's, D5's, and D7's, all at 40% off list! We also have a couple pair of EPI TE120's left, a super 10" 2 way system, for the ridiculously low price of only $179 the pair! That's more than 50% off the list price!

FREE HEADPHONES

Buy a walkman, get extra headphones FREE!

You got it! Buy one of these walkmans, and we'll give you a free, extra $20 set of Audio Technica SG410 headphones!

Toshiba KT – 4017 $49.95
AM/FM cassette with FF&RW
Toshiba KT – 4035 $79.95
AM/FM cassette with FF&RW, and Dolby NR
Toshiba KT – 4868 $169.95
Digital AM/FM cassette, alarm clock, Dolby NR, FF&RW, and built in 3 band EQ
Sanyo WR66 $99.95
Splashproof, rugged, weather resistant AM/FM cassette

PORTABLE CONCERT HALLS!

Just can't get that concert hall feeling humming to yourself?! Got the no – stereo blues? Adirondack Music has the answer... A JVC minature concert hall! We've got a couple of models that will blow your mind, but not your wallet! The PC–V100 and the PC–V55 both have built in EQ's, and detachable speakers with incredibly superior sound with more bass than your ever heard in a boom box! Stop by and check um out!

BEAM ME UP! SCOTTY!

"Damn, Uhura, can't you reach Starfleet on that contraption?!"
"Sorry, Captain, our system just can't get the signals in clear enough!"
"Sir, as science officer of the Starship Enterprise, I have come to the irrevocable conclusion that the only solution to this problem is a Parsec Beam Booster antenna from Adirondack Music."
"Mr. Sulu, warp factor 10..."

adirondack music

15 East Pleasant Street, Amherst 253 – 3100

Open Monday thru Saturday 10am to 5pm

Sale prices good thru November 16, 1988
Limited quantities. All items subject to prior sale.
No rainchecks. Not responsible for typographical errors.

MasterCard VISA

BACARDI rum. The mixable one.

CASE SPECIALS

BUSCH	8.99
PIELS	5.99
CARLING BLACK LABEL	6.99
COORS/COORS LIGHT/COORS GOLD	10.99
MOOSEHEAD	13.99

LABATTS BEER/ALE 10.99 Case

ONES, FOURS SIXS AND TWELVES

STEINLAGER 25 OZ.	1.69
SUN COUNTRY COOLERS 2L	2.99
GRIZZLY 6 pk.	2.99
ST. PAULI 6 pk.	3.99
DOS EQUIS 6 pk.	3.99
OLD MILWAUKEE 12 pk.	4.49
BUSCH 12 pk.	5.99

HARD BARGAINS

BACARDI RUM 750 ml.	6.99
FOUR SEASONS VODKA 1.75L	8.99
FOUR SEASONS GIN 1.75L	8.99
BAILEY'S IRISH 750 ml	14.99
SMIRNOFF VODKA LTR.	8.99

NAPA RIDGE WHITE ZINFANDEL 3.99

THERE'S NO REASON TO GO ANYWHERE ELSE

FOUR SEASONS

KEGS—ALL SHAPES & SIZES
MC/VISA WE DELIVER
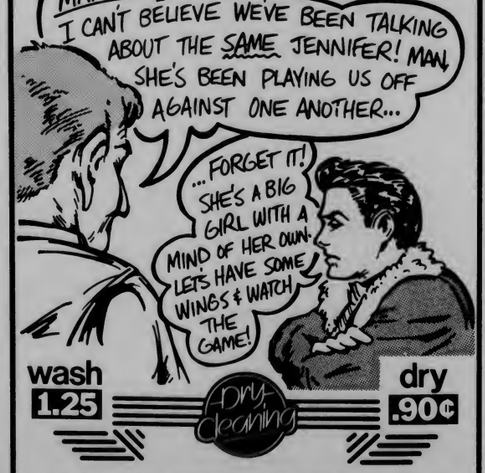
Located on Route 9, Hadley—Just beyond Burger King
OPEN MONDAY—SATURDAY 9 a.m. - 11 p.m.

584-8174

THE LAUNDRY CLUB

"ROMANCE!"



MARK! I CAN'T BELIEVE WE'VE BEEN TALKING ABOUT THE SAME JENNIFER! MAN, SHE'S BEEN PLAYING US OFF AGAINST ONE ANOTHER...
...FORGET IT! SHE'S A BIG GIRL WITH A MIND OF HER OWN. LETS HAVE SOME WINGS & WATCH THE GAME!

wash 1.25 dry .90¢

Dry Cleaning

6 UNIVERSITY DRIVE / NEWMARKET CENTER / AMHERST / (413) 549-2640

■Student senate

continued from page 1

William Curtis, a resident assistant from Southwest Residential Area, was carrying a sign reading "The people have spoken," which was attributed to George Bush.

Curtis said, "I've been here four years, and if the students say they want co-presidents, then it should be allowed." Curtis blamed much of the current confusion on new members of the senate, which he said were recruited by the conservative factions of the senate to vote against Silkoff/Rabinowitz.

Sen. Bill Hewitt felt otherwise.

"I'm ecstatic. I think the whole election is unconstitutional," Hewitt said.

New elections

Fadel also ruled a proposal by Senators W. Greg Rothman and Brian Darling calling for new presidential elections out of order, again citing the judiciary's earlier statement.

"I ruled it out of order in compliance with the judicial order," Fadel said. "I think the order from the Supreme Court [part of the judiciary] is clear that we cannot hold new elections until the controversy surrounding the constitution with regards to co-presidents is resolved."

Rothman said he was disappointed the senate did not get to vote on the new elections. He said the statement from the judiciary did not say anything about new elections. "Robert Fadel and I must be reading different statements," Rothman said.

Whately's H2O is now A-OK

WHATELY (AP) — Townspeople who lined up day and night for water from an elementary school tap because of tainted wells now boast about their basement meters and 500,000-gallon storage tank.

Nearly a year after 250 families in the farming town of 1,500 people got together to build a $4 million water system, there are few complaints about the cost — $3,500 to $5,000 to hook in, plus about $300 a year for water.

"We get our water bill, we pay it and we are happy," said Irene Hoynoski.

Eileen Haffey said, "The cost? It's worth it just for the peace of mind."

Haffey was pregnant when the family discovered the home they had just bought had contaminated water.

"We hauled water for drinking and used filtered water for washing from the summer of 1984 until the end of July," she said.

She said her children got so used to contamination that they automatically asked if they could drink the water when visiting out-of-town friends.

Frank Marchand, chairman of the town Water Resource Protection Committee and a neighbor of the elementary school, said cars lined up there day and night for water from the outside tap.

LAGNAF

PC CLONES
PRINTERS
SOFTWARE
ACCESSORIES
Sales • Service • Rental
DR. SOFTWARE
Software • Computers • Accessories
Pheasant Shopping Mall • 241 King Street
Northampton, MA 01060
586-3210
M-T-W & F 10-6
Thurs 10-8 • Sat 10-5

IT'S OUR FIRST BIRTHDAY BASH
COME AND JOIN US TO CELEBRATE
SWEATERS SKIRTS PANTS BLOUSES CARDIGANS DRESSES
20% to 50%
SALE
PICCADILLY STREET
ONE WAY ST. TO FASHION
THORNES MARKET, NORTHAMPTON
584-2896

AMHERST CINEMA
"PERVERSELY FASCINATING" "PROVOCATIVE"

HANDMADE FILMS PRESENTS
A NICOLAS ROEG FILM
TRACK 29
THERESA RUSSELL GARY OLDMAN and CHRISTOPHER LLOYD
R
1987 Hand Made Films (1987) Partnership. ISLAND PICTURES
2 showings 7:00 & 9:00 in the center of Amherst
Adults $3.50 Children & Senior Citizens $2.00
AMITY ST. 253-5426

Come Ride With Us.

• Motorcycles • Scooters
• A.T.V.'s • Power Equipment
Valley Motorsports
584-7303
731-9965
216 N. King St., Rte. 5 Northampton, MA
The 1989 Honda Motorcycles are ready for viewing.

NEW ENGLAND
Much more than just a great ski sale !

SUPER SKI SALES BY MT TOM SKI SHOP & RYAN'S SPORTS SHOPS
THOUSANDS OF $$$ IN DOOR PRIZES
NEW FEATURE LENGTH SKI FILM
FASHION SHOW
SKI RESORT BOOTHS
NONSTOP FILM FESTIVAL
VACATIONS & TRIPS
LIFT TIX DISCOUNTS
SKI & SPORTS CLUBS
plus much more...

EXPO SHOW & SALE
Featuring Greg Stump's New Ski Film 'The Blizzard of Ahhh's'
NOVEMBER 12 & 13
THE BIG E
Saturday Noon - 9:00 PM
Sunday Noon - 6:00 PM
PRESENT AD AT BOX OFFICE FOR .50 OFF ADULT ADMISSION

Advertisement

CELEBRATE DIFFERENCE

We, the undersigned members of the University of Massachusetts community, believe in a unique tradition. We strive toward an even greater understanding of our commitment to peace, justice, and equality. We take these words seriously and believe that they must be pursued with constant, rigorous action. Those ideals, and the strength with which we support them, are our communal pillars of support.

We sign this covenant as an expression of our beautiful and expressive differences in race, creed, color, religion, gender, sexual preference, age and ability.

We sign this covenant as a pledge to speak out when we hear prejudicial words in the community, in the classrooms and in ourselves.

We sign this covenant as a pledge to action--recognizing that words are often not enough--to recommit ourselves to active pursuit of our vision for a peaceful, just and equal world.

Sponsored by Hillel, Afrik-Am Society, SGA Speaker and Treasurer's Office,
The Collegian, Third World Caucus Dean of Students Office, and the Student Activities Office.

Advertisement

ARTS/LIVING

Lange makes All American more than a nostalgic look back

By JIM COLE
Collegian Staff

Nostalgia. Countless films look back fondly at the days of yesterday, make us wish we were still there, and Everybody's All American would at first seem to fit right into that category. First impressions can be deceiving.

The theme of this film is just the opposite. There's more to life than living off past glories. There has to be. Yet that isn't the case with Gavin Grey (Dennis Quaid), football star and champion from 1957. His whole life is the game, and his high school sweetheart Babs (Jessica Lange), whom he marries upon graduation. The film follows their lives during the turbulent decades of the '60's and 70's, often seen through the eyes of Gavin's nephew "Cake" (Timothy Hutton), a quiet loner who is the total opposite of his uncle.

THE SCREENING ROOM

The real power of the film lies in watching the leads grow older. Jessica Lange is remarkable as the loving wife who rolls with the punches and lives with her husband's single-minded attitude, always loving him even when there's no money left, or another move awaits. From day one, she knows what her life is, and always will be. It's a convincing portrait, and she changes in more ways than just the hairstyle. Quaid is the opposite: a man frozen in time. When his career finally ends, he can't let go, keeping the same outlook, and haircut over 25 years, even as his cheeks sag and wrinkles form. It may be Quaid's finest role yet.

Director Taylor Hackford (An Officer and a Gentleman) has made a surprisingly affecting movie, one that I wasn't that interested in but am glad I saw. The time periods are authentic, and the film, as a whole, feels right. Credit should also go to the makeup people, whose work was vital in maintaining believability. The leads really looked as old as fifty, or as young as twenty. It's downright amazing.

Everybody's All American won't sweep the Oscars or be remembered for decades, but it's well worth seeing for excellent performances — and a not so nostalgic look back.

The theaters in Northampton have had some interesting fare of late. Salaam Bombay is still featured at the Academy of Music, the critically acclaimed independent film about an orphan and the people he encounters in the streets of Bombay. It will be showing through next week. The Last Temptation of Christ, however, will be playing at the Pleasant Street theater only through Tuesday. Don't miss the opportunity to see the film that had the religious fanatics up in arms. It's supposed to be good.

Unsubstantiated Rumours and Self-Indulgent Musings Department:

(bullet) Some updates on flicks we've mentioned here before: Star Trek V is now rumoured to have a western type storyline. Oh, joy. Please, Shatner, spaghetti westerns are Eastwood's department. Meanwhile, Indy III was officially written by Jeffery Boam, the guy responsible for The Dead Zone and Innerspace, instead of Chris Columbus or Menno Meyjes (who adapted The Color Purple). And as for River Phoenix's part, now he's supposedly playing Indy himself — as an adolescent, of course. Make up your minds.

(bullet) This week's trivia question looks back to Dennis Quaid's early role in Breaking Away, the 1978 sleeper about four buddies in a midwestern town. The other roles were played by Dennis Christopher (as Dave) and Jackie Earl Haley (as Moocher). Who played Cyril?

Northampton artist Lydia Netter's charcoal drawings can be seen at Smith College's Hillyer Corridor Gallery.

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
BEST NEW RESTAURANT

ADVOCATE BEST OF THE VALLEY READERS POLL 1988
SECOND PLACE

Thanks to the Advocate Readers for voting for us in the Best of the Valley Poll. Even though we were only open for one month when the poll was taken, we are pleased we made such a great impression in such a short time span.

FULL LIQUOR LICENSE
261 King St., Northampton•585-0202•Ample Parking
Open 7 days a week•No MSG
TAKE OUT SERVICE AVAILABLE

WATROBA'S
SUNDERLAND RD.
NO. AMHERST, MA

MEAT GROCERY LIQUORS

Grocery Specials

Crush, 2 liter, Asst. flavors	89¢ + dep.
Hood ½ gallon Ice Cream, Asst. flavors	$2.19
Oreo, 20 oz.	$1.99
Nabisco Cheese Nips, 14 oz.	$1.19

Produce

Lettuce Iceberg	59¢ head
Tomatoes	69¢ lb.

Meat

Rib Eye Steak	$3.99 lb.
Perdue Whole Chicken	79¢ lb.

Grocery 549-0933 Liquor 549-6565
Store hours: Mon.-Sat. 8AM-11PM; Sun. 8AM-9PM

UNIVERISTY PLACEMENT SERVICES

IN COOPERATION WITH CASIAC

WILL PRESENT A WORKSHOP ON

CHOOSING A MAJOR

FOR LIFE AND CAREER

FOR UNDECLARED

FRESHMEN AND SOPHMORES

TODAY, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10
W21 MACHMER
4 - 5 P.M.

Cherelle and Luther make a party; Deniece doesn't

By GRAEME THOMSON
Collegian Correspondent

Okay! This is Disc Junkie's house, and when I say you got to party — you got to party!

This week I'm wearing my dancin' shoes, my Armani suit and I'm ready to get down. So check this out.

Disc Junkie

First up; something I've been waiting for for some time — a new Cherelle album. Affair isn't quite up to the standard of High Priority; very little is, but ace producers Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis have once again worked their magic, combining smart, catchy melodies with a very funky, driving bassline, and when you add Cherelle's exuberant, highly soulful vocals to all this you've got a surefire winner.

"Looks Aren't Everything" is a change of mind from Priority's "You Look Good To Me" and the hook's not as good, but the bait is as enticing as ever, while "Pick Me Up" picks up a different groove but one which is just as infectuous. Jam and Lewis really know how to construct an album; Hearsay's "party" concept was a perfect example of their ability to maintain brilliant continuity between tracks. So on side one of Affair the beat never relents, and it's not until side two, that things slow down. Songs like "Home," "Crazy (for Loving You)," and the customary duet with Alexander O'Neil, "Everything I Miss At Home" demonstrate that the dynamic duo are just as adept at writing beautiful ballads as they are dance tunes.

Turning to another saviour of modern soul music, Luther Vandross, his new album Any Love is a definite must, managing to top even the excellent, Give Me The Reason. You only have to take one listen to "Come Back" or "Are You Gonna Love Me," to know that this man is a veritable hit-machine, and what's more, his hits are destined to become dancefloor classics. He's not just a great songwriter and producer; he's got one hell of a voice. Partake.

Also in possession of a golden set of tonsils is Deniece Williams, but her new album, As Good As It Gets is sadly misinformed. This is the kind of airbrushed, blandola pop-soul fluff that both myself and Deniece can well do without. As its sickly sweet sentimentality seeps through the speakers, I wonder what happened to the breezy, effortless soul-simplicity of numbers like "Free." I guess she must have got lost along the way somewhere, probably around the fatuous, bubblegum pop of "Let's Hear It For The Boy," which much of this resembles. So the message is; pump up the volume on Cherelle and Luther; dis Deniece.

Compared to soul great Al Green, Mighty Sam McClain makes an appearance at Pearl Street Saturday.

How to run your own show.

The American Express® Card can play a starring role virtually anywhere you shop, from Tulsa to Thailand. Whether you're buying a TV or a T-shirt. So during college and after, it's the perfect way to pay for just about everything you'll want.

How to get the Card now.

College is the first sign of success. And because we believe in your potential, we've made it easier to get the American Express Card right now. Whether you're a freshman, senior or grad student, look into our new automatic approval offers. For details, pick up an application on campus. Or call 1-800-THE-CARD and ask for a student application.

The American Express Card. Don't Leave School Without It.™

© 1988 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.

TRAVEL RELATED SERVICES

Five College Students: Call 545-2511 For ½ Price Tickets

Peter Orth, piano	Tuesday, Nov. 15
Desrosiers Dance Theatre	Saturday, Nov. 19
Ladysmith Black Mambazo	Tuesday, Nov. 22
Quartet For The End Of Time	Saturday, Dec. 3
Neil Simon's "Broadway Bound"	Tuesday, Dec. 6
"A Christmas Carol"	Thursday, Dec. 8
Jazz All Stars	Saturday, Dec. 10

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

The Best Way Off Campus

Peter Pan

Hourly Express Service, Daily to
New York City & Boston

Serving: Springfield • Worcester • Newton • Hartford • Albany

Bradley & Logan Airports

Service Throughout New England with Connecting Service Nationwide

Student Fares from Amherst to

Boston	New York City
$20.95 round-trip	$34.95 round-trip

The People Professionals

Tickets and information available at:

U-Mass Hotel Tel #1 or #2 545-2006 549-6000	Amherst Center Bus Terminal 256-0431	Hampshire College Book Store 549-4600	Price Watch Parmacy So. Hadley 533-7115	Northampton Bus Terminal Roundhouse Pl. 586-1030

The Gizmo Guys will perform at the first annual Juggling Convention at UMass this weekend.

Juggling Club convention this weekend

By Susan Richardson
Collegian Correspondent

During Presidential election week, it is refreshing to hear someone talk obsessively about something other than politics. Bruce Wisenburn is co-president of the UMass Juggling Club, a society which has strengthened over the past few years.

"Our paid membership is about thirty-five now," Wisenburn said. "And we get about 20 to 25 people at our weekly meetings on Friday afternoons. Our boast is that we can teach anyone to juggle in half an hour or less."

It has taken a much longer period of time — approximately 18 months — to plan and organize the Juggling Club's first Annual Convention, which will take place this coming weekend. "We advertised in Jugglers World magazine, and mailed off about six hundred letters to members of the International Juggling Association," Wisenburn explained. "About eighty jugglers have pre-registered and they're coming from as far away as Minnesota and Philadelphia, as well as from all over New England."

Judging by the agenda, the event promises to be a spectacular one. "The convention will go continuously for fifty hours from 3 p.m. on Friday until 5 p.m. on Sunday; and entrance is free at any time to anyone who has a valid UMass I.D.," Wisenburn stressed. "We have attracted many professional jugglers who are very famous in the juggling world and they will be performing and leading workshops throughout the weekend."

These workshops are ideal both for the beginner and the more advanced juggling spectator. "You don't have to know how to juggle to come along to the workshops. Anyone can come and learn the basics, or just watch the more advanced stuff," he said.

The demonstrations are as varied as ball spinning, club swinging, and hat manipulation; and also scheduled to take place is a legal combat competiion between different jugglers.

The highlight of the weekend, however, is the free public show to be held in the Student Union Ballroom at 7 p.m. on Saturday. "The Gizmo Guys are the headliners for the evening," Wisenburn said. "They are a very talented duo. We've also got Jeff Mason who won the National Juggling Competition in Colorado, and Mark Nizer who specializes in ball spinning. A professional magician from Boston is going to be our master of ceremonies for the evening too."

It is clear that a visit to the Campus Center and Student Union at some point over the weekend would be worthwhile, as the first Juggling Convention to be held at UMass will surely be an entertaining event.

FREE SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS WHO NEED
MONEY FOR COLLEGE

Every Student is Eligible for Some Type of Financial Aid Regardless of Grades or Parental Income.

- We have a data bank of over 200,000 listings of scholarships, fellowships, grants, and loans, representing over $10 billion in private sector funding.
- Many scholarships are given to students based on their academic interests, career plans, family heritage and place of residence.
- There's money available for students who have been newspaper carriers, grocery clerks, cheerleaders, non-smokers . . . etc.
- Results GUARANTEED.

CALL ANYTIME — For A Free Brochure (800) 346-6401

In memory of those who fought for our freedom...

TAKE THE TIME. SHOW YOU CARE!

VETERANS DAY SERVICE,

TODAY

12NOON AT:

HAIGIS MALL, UMASS

Sponsored by Veterans Assistance and Counseling Services, Dickinson Building, UMass

HIGH NOON IN CANCUN

NOW IS THE TIME TO START PLANS FOR YOUR SPRING VACATION OF MARCH

CALL FOR RATES
586-8953

YOUR PARTNERS IN TRAVEL

FREE DELIVERY to AMHERST
11:30 a.m. - 10:00 p.m.

mr. K's

13 North Pleasant St., Amherst

Open Hours
Mon-Thurs 11:30am-10:00pm
Fri & Sat 11:30am-11:00pm
Sundays 2:00pm-10:00pm

256-0286 256-0287

Custom Car Sound Wants to Help You Celebrate

Veterans' Day

In honor of the men and women of our armed forces who have fought to preserve freedom and democracy

EVERYTHING at Custom Car Sound is on sale!

FREE installation for Veterans

CUSTOM CAR SOUND

141 Damon Road
Northampton, MA • 586-5258

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Editorial/Opinion

BOARD OF EDITORS

PEDRO PEREIRA, Editor in Chief
RICK SASSON, Managing Editor
DAVID R. MARK, Editorial Editor
RICK SANTOS, News Editor
MATT GERKE, Sports Editor
JIM CLARK, Sports Editor
JENNIFER DEMPSEY, Arts Editor
RICHARD BONANNO, Photo Editor
MARIA SACCHETTI, Women's Issues Editor
JANINE WARNER, Women's Issues Editor
JOSEPH HILL, Black Affairs Editor
THOMAS MAMBANDE, Black Affairs Editor

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

"OUCH!... AND WE THOUGHT DAN QUAYLE GOT LOUSY GRADES!..."

Letters

McCarthy's column 'anti-choice'

The first letter I ever wrote to the Collegian was an attack on a republican vice president who was running for president against the democratic nominee from Massachusetts. Then I was a freshman on the popular side of a hot issue; and the letter led to my becoming a Collegian editorial writer and columnist.

Now returning to the University as a graduate student and still a democrat, I find myself in the grip of a cruel twist of fate, compelled by a Collegian columnist to take the side of the political descendant of Richard Nixon.

The irony's instrument is Pamela McCarthy who did her best to contribute to a late-term abortion of George's campaign with her column labelling him as "anti-choice." ("A Choice only a woman should make," Nov. 3.) Let's look at her words:

"I just want to make a few things clear to him and the anti-choice advocates (I don't buy the term 'pro-life')."

"First, I believe life does start at conception. . . I simply think that abortion is a matter of priorities. . ."

"My life, my body, my choice are all priorities of mine. I refuse to give birth to an unwanted child."

In the space of these few words you established yourself as clearly anti-choice. You admit that life does start at conception. You recognize a life that is not yours, and a body that is not yours; but you refuse to recognize her rights over her life and her body. You do not recognize her right of choice, perhaps thinking she has no ability to choose (yet), so you choose for her. Some champion of choice!

George Bush was once pro-abortion. So was I. Like you, we were both anti-choice. As time passes, we all must emerge from the womb of protective slogans and deceptive labels and face up to honest choices that may be unpopular and sometimes even personally tragic. You have already begun the process with your honest recognition of life where abortionists must deny it. I pray she will go full term.

Ray Wilson
Northampton

Unwed dads do take responsibility

I just can't believe that Pamela McCarthy could say it. I understand that some people may think it, but I'm absolutely appalled that she wrote that society didn't expect the father of a child to care for a child ("A choice only a woman should make," November 3). Now I realize that not all fathers live up to their duties of caring for a child, but to say that society doesn't expect him to shows that McCarthy must have just awoken from a Rip Van Winkle scenerio.

In my entire life I have never met an individual of any moral conscience whatsoever that contended that handling a pregnancy, either wanted or unwanted, was the woman's responsibility. Even before adulthood most young men will attest that if a man and a woman create a life, both are responsible to make the decisions and sacrifices regarding that life. I admit that the difficult part of pregnancy, the physiological aspects of childbirth and abortion, must be burdened by the woman as a dictate of nature, but to say that the non-physiological aspects are viewed in 1988 as the woman's problem alone is to be out of touch with current values in America.

If you need further proof I invite you to review the docket of almost any court. Look at the number of paternity cases and tell me that society doesn't expect a man to care for a child that is his. Then go through and look at the number of, and amounts assigned to, child support cases.

I think it's pretty clear that although some manage to escape their duties, society as a whole definitely holds a man responsible for pregnancies. I also think it's time for people like McCarthy to stop implying otherwise. We all must own up to what is ours, Those few in society who don't know that, soon will.

Paul Del Gallo
Northampton

You built yourself a Fallout Shelter for protection from radiation? Those aren't Russians!...
It's not the Russians I'm worried about...
US Nuclear Weapons Plant
Wadsworth Times-Picayune

My observations

Holding hands is nice, teaching civility is better

Two years ago, the Southwest brawl after the last game of the World Series between the Sox and the Mets took place. I know you all are tired of hearing about it. You probably were sick of hearing about it two years ago.

Judge Fredrick Hurst investigated the incident and came to the conclusion that yes, the cause was racism. He recommended that courses on civility be included in curriculum for incoming freshman. He wanted to make them mandatory. I thought this was the most intelligent thing anyone had suggested at the University in four years.

Nancy Cohen

So where is this great idea? What happened to Hurst's suggestion? Where are the mandatory classes on racism, sexism, classism, homophobia, and anti-Semitism? When I look around the University, all I see are college students being forced to take science, math, English, and a foreign language. Core requirements were changed to General Education courses, which forced every student to try every department (at least the general ones). This system change was promoted in order to broaden the horizons of everyone who entered the University of Massachusetts.

Terrific. so now people are aware of tangents, chemical reactions, Plato, and major British writers. Does all this really make any damn difference if people are ignorant about how to treat each other? Should it matter that we can analyze, manipulate, and then spew out information to impress our professors, only to forget it the following day?

Why don't we concentrate on teaching incoming freshman things that they can actually use? Why don't we educate them on how to be kind to each other?

Instead of taking this form of action, people struggle to make a difference here by holding things like Civility Week and Hands Across UMass. I'm not saying these projects are not a valiant effort on the part of the few that participated. I feel, however, that our University could do better. It's almost insulting to believe that something couldn't be changed.

The University is quick to outlaw something which is politically wise, for example, the selling of cigarettes on campus and the public drinking policy. Maybe they saw a need for these things, I don't know. It's not really my point. My point is they instituted these policies practically overnight, but when there is a genuine need for some sort of change, UMass not only drags its feet, but plants them into cement.

When you think about having mandatory civility classes it can be quite disheartening, just because it seems ludicrous that we actually have to have classes to teach people how to respect others. Sometimes I question what kind of world we live in. These classes are more than necessary, they are imperative. If we don't start educating somewhere along the line, then how do we even attempt to try and stop bigotry and persecution?

There are classes on civility issues; they are called colloquia and they meet at 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. I've taken them and I have learned more about these issues than most people learn in a lifetime. I feel every person on this campus, whether they are students, faculty, or staff should be asked to take at least two of these colloquia simply because it's not just the students who need the education. No faculty member is infallible when it comes to civility issues. Just because they are professors doesn't mean they are educated in every way shape and form. They are human, aren't they?

To tell you the truth, I don't know why something hasn't been done. If you know why, I wish you would let me know. We lose valuable time everyday as we sit and wait for this administration to institute something good for the students for a change.

Nancy Cohen is a Collegian columnist

What's the matter with me?

Don't tell me to eat healthy

I was sitting in the Hatch one day, eating my lunch, when a friend of mine approached. He sat down, stared at my choice of cuisine, and said to me "You actually eat that?"

Now, I'm not sure if he meant Hatch food in particular or junk food in general. But regardless, my answer was, "Yeah, so what?"

Jim Clark

"Well, it's bad for you," he said.

Huh? The last time I checked, people needed food to survive. But here I was, trying to keep my body going, and someone was lecturing me on what I should be eating.

Terrific.

To tell you the truth, I really don't care what people say. I've heard every story about what goes into certain foods, how they are prepared, and the supposed harmful effects that they carry. They say that I should be eating sensibly. But I beg to differ.

First of all, if any kind of food was really that bad for you, then why is it allowed to be sold? It seems to me that if tests proved that butter was a direct cause of high cholesterol content, or if sugar was really rotting my teeth out of my head, then somebody somewhere would do something about it.

Wait, don't stop reading yet. It gets better.

What is even more incredible is that now we have a choice. You can have your food as nature intended it, or you can have food with artificial sugar, color, flavor or whatever. Well, that seems logical. Why have something natural, straight from this good earth of ours, when we can stuff ourselves full of some concoction brewed up in a laboratory?

Take artificial sweeteners. When health nuts went off about how sugar was destroying our bodies, science came up with the wonderful substance known as saccharine. Hey, there we go. Saccharine has been linked to cancer, but at least it won't run up our dental bills. Perfect.

When you were a little kid, did you ever open up a sugar packet and just chug it down straight? I did this with a thing of Sweet 'n Low once by mistake, and I almost lost it. Not only wasn't it sweet, but I felt like I had just eaten a box of baking soda. And this is better for us than sugar. Sure.

Now, there's decaffeinated coffee. Most of the people I ask drink coffee to keep them awake. It's surely not the taste that has me hooked. It's the caffeine, that wonderful drug that helps keep you up all night while you're cramming for that econ exam at 8 a.m. By decaffeinating coffee (with chemicals, no doubt), this is only defeating the purpose.

I always liked the cute phrase, "your body is your temple," and many people have informed me that I've been treating mine like the local landfill.

But you know what? I really don't care.

I've been eating this stuff for 20 years, and I'm still in perfect health. People remark about my eating habits and are amazed at how I haven't grown to be the size of the Astrodome by now. I can't explain it, but it works for me.

So give me McDonald's. Give me Domino's. Give me peanut butter cup sundaes and sugar till I pass out. But keep that artificial garbage, and all of your words of wisdom, to yourselves.

Jim Clark is a Collegian columnist

Just my opinion

Harassment is alive and well here at UMass

Her name isn't important.

Where she lives isn't important either.

What is happening to her is.

What is happening is she is being harassed. She is being harassed because she is woman. She is being harassed because she is black.

She has gotten phone calls, one here at school and one at home. The person on the other end has asked what she is wearing, and said he wanted to do things, sexually, to her.

Was it the same person? She doesn't know. If it was, that's bad. If it wasn't, it's worse, that means there is more than one.

She and her friends caught a white man trying to torch her door. He said it was a practical joke. Is he connected with the calls? She doesn't know. She is just scared.

Someone wrote on her door "I want to fuck a nigger." Are any of these incidents connected? She doesn't know. If it's the same person, it's terrible, if it's four people it's heinous.

She called the police about the phone calls. She said after they left she still felt afraid. They gave her a phone number to call in case she needed to talk to someone. The police said it was for the Everywoman's Center. The phone number was for housing.

Two weeks ago this University sponsored a week long program on civility. Most of the problems had occurred before civility week. The call at her home, happened after. Civility is still in short supply.

They were able to get the pyro out of the dorm. But the rest of the problems seem as if they are not being dealt with. The police said they could tap her phone, how nice to have someone being able to listen in on all her phone calls.

Peter Leon

She felt frightened. She still does. If she is alone at night she sleeps with a small light on.

She went and got counseling though. It made her feel better. More at ease. She found she was not alone. Other women have been harassed too. The counseling helped her deal with the harassment and other problems of life as a student, compounded they can seem insurmountable.

Going to get counseling took her a while though. Speaking out has taken even longer. She doesn't want her name, her picture, and her life's story splashed on the front page of the newspaper. But she does want to speak out. She wants other people to know that it is all right to talk about being harassed. More importantly she wants other people to know it is OK to go get help, no one needs to fight harassment alone.

She is right. Harassment is some thing we all must fight. Together! We all must say we will not allow harassment to occur.

I remember I was at a Halloween party. This guy came up to me and my two friends and said "Are you into Jewish jokes?" I walked away, leaving my two friends there. I should have said "NO". That would have let him know I don't like ethnic jokes, and I don't want to hear them.

Anyone who has been the victim of harassment knows what she is going through. If everyone who has been harassed spoke out, maybe not so everyone on campus would know it was them, but maybe like this, or maybe by writing a letter to the chancellor, a little more action would be taken.

Maybe instead of spending 50 million on a polymer research center, or God knows how much on a new hockey rink, we should spend that money educating people, teaching them that harassment is wrong.

Maybe someone might learn a thing or two. . .

Peter Leon is a Collegian columnist

Politics and other rhetoric

Examples of confused priorities

Two weeks ago a "crisis" absorbed national and global attention. Three grey whales were trapped beneath massive blocks of ice in Barrow, Alaska. The United States and the Soviet Union made a collaborative effort to save them.

Suddenly people throughout the world were concerned with the plight of the whales. Everyone awaited anxiously the latest development in the dire situation.

Meredith O'Brien

Meanwhile animal rights became a political issue with the introduction of Question 3 on the Massachusetts ballot. The referendum proposed that the government impose regulations on the treatment of farm animals. Activists want voters to realize the inhumane farm practices such as the suffocation of male chicks in plastic bags, and veal calves spending their existence in tightly-packed crates. People throughout the state are rallying around this question and pleading for the decent treatment of these and all animals.

All this concern is terrific. Seeing people band together for something positive shows that we are a country of loving people with a soft spot for animals.

But it is pitiful that our country is concerned about three whales and our state puts a referendum on the ballot concerning farm animals, while both ignore their own people. Have we just given up?

How many people were upset, or even cried at the end of Old Yeller, The Yearling, or Bambi? Now answer this, how many people were disturbed or cried for the people killed in Rambo or Nightmare on Elm Street, Miami Vice or Wiseguy? Human suffering is commonplace in the movies and television. But nobody cares.

While the media devoted their coverage to the whales away from the nasty, lackluster presidential campaign and the public offered its sympathy, the suffering people in our own country were ignored.

While everyone was concerned with the whales, child and sexual abuse, alcohol and drug abuse continued. Apartheid in South Africa, the Iran-Iraq war, and revolutions in Nicaragua and Israel went unnoticed.

Lives were being destroyed and people were dying.

More homeless people are on the streets now than ever before. Last week, syndicated cartoonists agreed to make homelessness the theme of their comic strips. A handful of cartoonists joined in, but media attention was minimal and few people noticed their efforts.

Disturbingly, people have become numb to these current events. Everyday the news is full of death: "two people accidentally killed;" "bodies were found;" "a plane crashed." One person or hundreds of people die needlessly each day but no one is moved by it.

They are not kidding when they say the dog is man's best friend.

Meredith O'Brien is a Collegian columnist

In other news...

Woolworth has been known as a place to buy hairpins, shoelaces, or holiday goods. Now customers can find something more pricey — and deadly — in F.W. Woolworth outlets in North Miami Beach and Hollywood, Fla. There, $600 buys an Uzi semi-automatic machine gun, a version of the weapon developed for the Israeli army and now admired by terrorists and drug merchants. Says Woolworth spokesman Joseph F. Carroll: "When a person can relate to his friends that he has bought an Uzi, it puts him in a different league." Some think Woolworth is putting itself in a new league. "It is outrageous, reckless, foolhardy, and perverse," says Lieutenant Mike Gonzalez of the Miami police homicide division.

— Time, Oct. 24

WASHINGTOON.

Mark Alan Stamaty

I WOULD LIKE CONGRESSMAN FOREHEAD TO EXPLAIN HOW HE JUSTIFIES HIS TWO WEEK 50-CALLED "FACT-FINDING MISSION" TO BERMUDA LAST WINTER ON TAXPAYERS' MONEY!
SAID DON DENIZEN, CHALLENGER FOR BOB FOREHEAD'S SEAT.
BOB'S RESPONSE MADE THE SAME EVENING'S NEWS
AS A MEMBER OF THE HOUSE COMMERCE COMMITTEE, I WAS STUDYING THE EFFECT OF RELAXATION AS A MEANS OF COPING WITH STRESS, A MAJOR KILLER OF WORKING MEN AND WOMEN!
THAT WAS GOOD, BOB. YOU MAY HAVE HIT A BUTTON, BUT WE'RE STILL ON THE DEFENSIVE ...AND LOSING GROUND.
I THINK WE HAVE TO CALL
NO, WAIT..
I WOULDN'T DO THIS IF I DIDN'T THINK IT WAS NECESSARY!
BUT
HELLO? I'D LIKE TO SPEAK TO SENATOR SYNNS.
HELLO, SENATOR. THIS IS MACK MUCKLEJ FROM THE FOREHEAD CAMPAIGN. BOB NEEDS A LITTLE BOOST AND I WONDER IF SURE, SURE! GLAD TO HELP. I'VE ALWAYS LIKED BOB.
THE NEXT DAY SENATOR SYNNS GAVE A RADIO INTERVIEW AND HAPPENED TO MENTION--
I HEARD SOMEWHERE THAT THAT GUY WHO'S RUNNING AGAINST BOB FOREHEAD. WHAT'S HIS NAME? UH, DENIZEN! YEH, DURING THE SIXTIES, APPARENTLY, HE NOT ONLY BURNED HIS DRAFT CARD
I HEARD HE ALSO BURNED DOWN A CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL AND NEVER GOT CAUGHT!
OF COURSE, BEHAVIOR LIKE THAT IS NOT UNCOMMON AMONG DRUG ADDICTS, ESPECIALLY DRUG DEALERS ...
DON DENIZEN WAS INCREDULOUS
THESE CHARGES ARE BASELESS, OUTRAGEOUS LIES!...
BEAUTIFUL! BEAUTIFUL! WE'VE FINALLY GOT THIS GUY ON THE DEFENSIVE!
THIS TROUBLES ME.
DON'T WIMP OUT ON ME NOW, BOB!
REMEMBER: IT TAKES A HEAP OF DIRT TO MAKE A FLOWER GROW!
LEADERSHIP MEANS SACRIFICE. SOMETIMES YOU HAVE TO SACRIFICE YOUR VERY CONSCIENCE AND ETHICAL VALUES FOR THE LARGER GOAL OF WINNING THE GAME
TOUGH LEADERS MAKE TOUGH CHOICES
BOB CHOSE TO SACRIFICE.
IN THE INTEREST OF FAIRNESS, I WON'T COMMENT ON THE SCANDAL ENGULFING MY OPPONENT UNTIL ALL THE FACTS ARE KNOWN

To whom it may concern

Changing your religion isn't like changing shoes

During the summer I read a news article about an offshoot of the Roman Catholic Church called the American Catholic Church. This church still considers itself Catholic, but, besides not believing in the infallibility of the pope, the church differs from the Roman Catholic Church in that its members are allowed to base decisions concerning issues such as birth control, divorce, and premarital sex on their own "personal conscience."

Bob Bobala

One woman (formerly a Roman Catholic) who was quoted in the article said she joined the church because she felt she couldn't live up to the Roman Catholic Church's expectations of her concerning the practice of birth control. "I didn't want to change religions," she said. So when she joined a new chapter of this denomination of Catholicism that was established in her area, she felt she could practice religion in a manner more suitable to her and remain a Catholic at the same time.

My intention is not to criticize this church, nor is it to give my opinion on birth control. It's what this woman said — "I didn't want to change religions" — that really grabbed my attention. What I want to know is, how can you just change religions?

Webster's definition is as follows: the personal commitment to, and serving of God, or a god, with worshipful devotion; conduct in accord with divine commands, especially as found in accepted sacred writings, or declared by authoritative teachers.

Now, I would assume that in order to have a "a personal commitment to God with worshipful devotion," and to obey "divine commands found in sacred writings," one must first have the conviction that there is a God — or at least, I assume, one would hopefully be on their way to such a conviction. So, at the foundation of all religion is God, or a god. Therefore, if you were to change religions, this would be a serious step in your life, wouldn't it? You'd be changing your perspective on God, on the meaning of life, and how you should live it. Maybe it's just me, but that sounds like a big deal.

And this woman was talking as if you could change your religion like you change a pair of shoes. Along the same lines, I think there are a lot of people like her who would like to make up their own religion, and their own God.

For example, a 1985 New York Times/CBS News poll of some of America's 50 million Catholics indicated that 73 percent of them thought Catholics should be allowed to get divorced and remarried. Well, that would be fine if religion were a democracy. But God's making the policies. This is where the part of the definition about conducting your life in "accord with divine commands found in sacred writings" comes into play. Unfortunately, for those Christians who were in favor of divorce, Christ had another idea (Matthew 19:9).

If you start to make up your own "rules" (now that's a lousy term for God's commandments), then you start to make up your own religion, don't you? Not that you wouldn't question some of the writings in the Bible, or in the Koran, or whatever holy book you use (not to say that they are all the true "Word of God"). If you didn't question and have doubts, you wouldn't be human.

Then again, you could question why you should base your religious beliefs on sacred writings anyway. But unless you've had a divine revelation, on what else can you really base your beliefs?

I suppose that's why religion is so controversial. Wars are fought because of it. People commit their lives to it. Others totally reject it. But if there really is a God, and if your religion is based on that reality, then tell me, how can you just change your religion as if you were changing health spas?

Maybe I just take this religious stuff too seriously.

Bob Bobala is a Collegian columnist

Photography and sculpture on exhibit in area

By KATHERINE T. LAMOTHE
Collegian Staff

There are several shows in the area in the short time before Thanksgiving. At H?Gallery there are two shows running until Nov.23. The first, titled Friends and Other Strangers, features prints and drawings in pencil and watercolor by artist Jack Coughlin, whose works have been shown in the United States and Europe. The second show is an exhibit of lithography by artist Rosanne Retz, titled "Recent Works on Paper." The texture in Retz's work is brought out with a background of varying color. As a result, the pattern of the work is similar to an architectural entablature. The Gallery's hours are Monday-Friday, 11 a.m.- 4 p.m.; Sunday, 2-5 p.m.

The Student Union Art Gallery is offering an exhibit of work by seven University students who are working in the Master of Fine Arts program. The show, titled Seven at the Midway, represents several different artistic media—sculpture, painting, printmaking, ceramics and computer graphics. The show will continue until Nov. 19. Student Union Art Gallery's hours are Monday-Friday, 11 a.m.-4 p.m.

Art Attack

Smith College has two big events at the Hillyer Corridor Gallery. First, Noho artist Lydia K. Nettler will be showing her unique, large charcoal drawings, entitled The Japan Series, from Nov. 14-Dec. 16. Her main emphasis is in wooded settings and other nature scenes, featuring tone, size, texture and the human experience within nature. Also, Smith's Department of Art is presenting Boston artist/photographer Jim Stone, who will give a talk on Monday, Nov. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in Hillyer 216. Stone has shown his work in the United States, Italy and the Netherlands and has written two books on photography.

Photographers Daniel Delevigne and Faye S. Frail will be showing their work in a photographic essay, titled Northampton: Reflections on Paradise. This exhibit is an extension of a previously held show titled Images of Paradise. APE Ltd., in conjunction with Northampton Center of Arts, is presenting a selection of prints from Images at Gallery 1 at Thornes Market, Northampton, from Nov.19-Dec.27. The opening reception will be held on Nov. 19, from 3-6 p.m. Gallery 1's hours are Monday-Saturday, 9:30 a.m. -5:30 p.m.; Sunday, noon-5 p.m. That's all for this week.

JB's Roast Beef
50 Main St., Amherst
(across from Police Station)
253-7018
HOT ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES
GREAT FOOD • GREAT PRICES • OPEN TIL 2 AM

Give me a "J,"
Give me a "B,"
Give me an apostrophe "S"...

What do you have--
JB's, JB's-Rah, Rah, Rah.
Cravings, Cravings JB's satisfies 'em

Roast beef, fries and great shakes.
JB's knows what it takes.
JB's is great. I wouldn't lie.
Take my word; if I didn't have JB's,
I know I would die

Rah, Rah, Rah!

(If this is you, take this ad in for a free order of chicken fingers)

Arts staff meeting

There will be a very important meeting for all those interested in being a columnist, editor, associate or writer for Arts next semester on Sunday at noon at the Collegian.

Staff members are requested and new writers are encouraged to attend this meeting that will focus on next semester's desk positions.

Tacos • Burritos • Enchiladas • Nachos • Quesadillas
Burrito Supremos • Fajitas • Chimichangas • Tostadas
Mexican Pizza and lots more

TACO VILLA
MEXICAN RESTAURANTS

Downtown Amherst Boltwood walk. (Down the alley between Time Out and Benetton)
Beer and wine served
256-8217

Downtown Northampton
Center St.
B.Y.O.B.
584-0673

Seniors...
It's time to get shot!

(For the Yearbook!)
Senior Portrait Sittings are
Monday, Nov. 14 through
Friday, Nov. 18 9 - 5
C.C. Rm 177 545-2874
Sitting Fee $4.00

Last portrait sittings until March

December Grads MUST be shot now!

Sponsored by Index Yearbook

swatch PRESENTS

THE BLIZZARD OF AAHHH'S
A TRUE STORY

AN EXTREME SKI MOVIE FROM GREG STUMP PRODUCTIONS

UMASS SKI CLUB PREMIER!
Sunday Nov. 13 7 and 9 C.C.A.
SKI CLUB Members $1.00
Non-members and public $2.00

Live Folklore a lot less than electrifying

By RICK SANTOS
Collegian Staff

Electric Folklore Live
The Alarm
I.R.S.

I can barely tell the difference between a violin and a cello, never mind sharp and flat notes.

But if you want my opinion "Blaze of Glory," the last of six songs on the Alarm's live album is alone reason enough to buy the record. Unfortunately, the tune is probably the only reason to buy the album, which is composed of songs from three of the Welsh bands four record releases.

The Alarm is a great live band, so I don't know how the producer of this mess put together such a sloppy collection of songs with absolutely no logical transition from one anthem to the next.

One reason for the album's poor quality may be all the songs were recorded at a concert at the Wang Center for the Programming Arts in Boston. From what I know — very little — the best live albums are made up of recordings from several concerts. Some examples are Stop Making Sense by the Talking Heads, Live at Leeds by The Who, and Under a Blood Red Sky by U2.

The album is plagued also by a very poor choice of song selections.

The band's best album Declaration, released in 1984, is represented only by "Blaze of Glory." Some of The Alarm's best songs like "68 Guns," "Howling Wind," and "Marching On" weren't on the album.

Nothing from the band's 1983 EP, their first-born, self-titled The Alarm is included in Electric Folklore Live. This record included one of the bands best all-time songs — "The Stand."

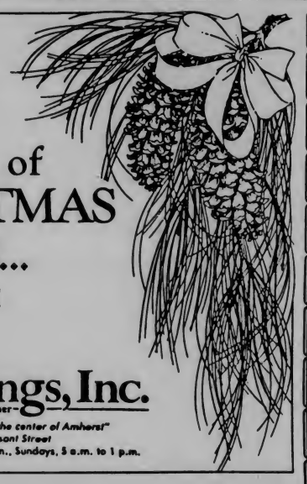
From the album Strength released in 1985 the songs "Strength" and "Spirit of 76" are featured on the album. I really don't like the song "Strength" whether I hear a live or studio version. "Spirit of 76" is a great song — this version is not as good as other live productions I've heard either in concert or recordings of other concerts.

The band's last album Eye of the Hurricane, which came out last year, is probably their worst record. Therefore, the makers of Electric Folklore Live decided to put more songs from this latest release on the live compilation.

I'll be fair. The songs "Rain in the Summertime" and "Rescue Me" are pretty damn good, but "Permanence in Change" is weak and weaker live.

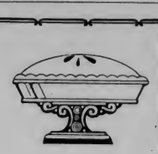
My advice to you — if you want to hear this band live and good, then get a recording of a show they did in connection with Boston radio station WBCN.

We have a great selection of CHRISTMAS CARDS...
Stop in today!



A·J·Hastings, Inc.
—Newsdealer and Stationer—
"Conveniently located in the center of Amherst"
45 South Pleasant Street
OPEN: Weekdays 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Sundays, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Ann Fields
Country Pie Restaurant & Take Home Pie Shop



Featuring Ann Fields Mexican weekend all you can eat Buffet including:
Tacos, Burritos, Mexican Chicken, Mexican Rice, and much more.
Fri. and Sat. 4-9pm Sun 12-8pm
$7.95
$6.95 for students with coupon

Pitcher of Beer $3.00

Bring Home a Delicious Pie for Mom on Thanksgiving

Located on Route 9, Hadley, adjacent to Howard Johnsons 584-0311

ATTENTION SOPHOMORE BUSINESS MAJORS

EXPERIENCE is a must to be successful in gaining the competitive edge in today's Business World.

THE COLLEGIAN is offering the opportunity to gain valuable business experience on campus.

Applications for the position of
•ASSISTANT FINANCE MANAGER•
are now being accepted.

This position requires
Responsibility, Dedication, and Time Commitment
-the qualities that future employers are looking for.

Come down to the Collegian Business Office in the Campus Center (Rm 113 - lower level 545-3500) and pick up a job application and description. Submit it no later than FRIDAY NOVEMBER 18, 1988.

The Collegian is an E/O/E.

Congratulations to the Winners of the Body Shop Fitness Centers' Grand Opening Prizes

$50 Gift Certificates
from
Fenton's Sports
Deanna Stern & Leonard Burd

Cross Country Ski Package
from Peloton Sports
Deborah Allen

Miyata Mountain Bike
from Peloton Sports
Nancy Katy

Fishbone, Evan John, PSD play this weekend

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

Things will be hopping tonight in the valley with the main attraction Fishbone playing at Pearl Street. Fishbone is currently enjoying success with their debut album, Truth and Soul, and their single, a cover of the Curtis Mayfield classic, "Freddie's Dead" has slipped it's way onto the commercial airwaves. Doors open tonight at 9 p.m. sharp; you must have a valid I.D. to enter, and sorry, but Schooly-D will not be appearing. Downstairs at the U-Joint are the Max Creek of reggae, Loose Caboose. They've been together as long as I've been in the valley (ten years), and after, having finally seen them for the first time at a party two weeks ago, it can be said that they've certainly accomplished something within that time. So if Fishbone are sold-out by the time you get there, check out Loose Caboose and help support a new club.

LIVEWIRE

"Hot dancing rock" act, Vantage Blue are playing at Sheehan's, and Koko Taylor is performing at the Iron Horse tonight, for those unfortunate enough not to get in Pearl Street.

Air Supply (look for a review in Monday's Collegian) are to play the Paramount Performing Arts Center in Springfield tonight. Rumours have it that a new album and single is due from them. Apart from that, Evan Johns and the H-Bombs, a curious "Dixie-fired" hell-raisin' ensemble of guitar stranglers originally from Northern Virginia, put their talents to the test by playing in front of a cynical Northampton audience at the U-Joint tomorrow night. Newsweek says they're one of the greatest Southern rock bands ever, while their sound-man thinks they suck and play too loud. The choice is yours. Tickets are only $5, and the beer is cheap. Cheryl Wheeler, writer of the number one country song "Addicted," is playing at the Iron Horse. While Will Smokey Logg with special guests, The Flame Throwers, get a word in edgewise at Sheehan's.

Mighty Sam McClain, a very talented blues, soul, and R&B artist who, like other artists in his feild, had to gain recognition in Canada and Japan before getting in the US music circuit, has agreed to play the U-Joint on Saturday. Mclain sounds cool, some even have compared him to Al Green, and has had positive feedback from critics.

Peter Rowan continues the country legacy this weekend at the Iron Horse as well as the Pajama Slave Dancers at Sheean's. They're brave old bozos, aren't they? Amherst College presents the Rude Girls, a cross between The Weavers and Carly Simon, also on Sunday at the Campus Center. U-Joint is hosting an 18+ with The Slickee Boys at 8:30 p.m.; tickets are only $4. And finally, the most interesting group to come over the weekend are actually playing Tuesday at the Iron Horse — The Dream Syndicate. They've been around for a few years, but their anti-commercialism has kept them in a quiet stage all this time. Now with the release of their album Ghost Stories on Enigma Records, they've silently crawled back into the indie scene with their dual/minimalist guitar, and their antropic lyrics. The Dream Syndicate are not boring as some speed-metal enthusiasts have insisted; they follow their own instincts allowing them to be "dreamy," but still nothing would put you to sleep. Heavily Recomended! Tickets are $9 in advance.

The Amherst College Choral Society will present its annual Homecoming Concert on Saturday, Nov. 12 at 8:15 p.m. in Buckley Recital Hall, Amherst College. The program will feature, under the direction of Mallorie Chernin, the Concert Choir, Women's Chorus and Glee Club.

Tickets are $5, $2 for senior citizens and children under 12. For reservations, call 542-2484. Some will be sold at the door.

Sundays at The Chequers
◆NEW ENGLAND◆ COUNTRY BREAKFAST served 9am-1pm
☐ Fresh Baked Blueberry Muffins
☐ Homemade streusel coffee cake
☐ Fresh squeezed juices ☐ Eggs Benedict - The best in the Valley ☐ Griddle cakes
☐ Country style sausage & bacon.
"Just a few of the special items on our new menu."
Serving our full menu 1:00 pm-9 pm
University Drive Amherst 549-5861

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT
Add Spice To Your Weekend!!
NOW SERVING BRUNCH
Every dish freshly prepared to order using the finest ingredients, and at prices that won't wreck the weekend budget
Saturday & Sunday 11:00 To 3:00
7 OLD SOUTH STREET NORTHAMPTON

STUDENT AFFAIRS INFORMATION SERVICES
IDB/TIPS
TOMORROW IS VETERANS DAY, NO CLASSES WILL BE HELD
Tower Library and Goodell will be open on a regular schedule. PVTA buses will be running on their Saturday schedule.
Call 'TIPS' (545-1540) and request tapes by number:
2800 Art Galleries
2477 Athletic Events
2685 Body Shop
1509 Concert Information
1515 Daily Events
1504 Fine Arts Center Events/Tickets
see page 17 of the Student Telephone Directory for a complete listing of TIPS tapes
IF YOU HAVE FURTHER QUESTIONS CALL 'IDB'(545-1555)
Information Data Bank (IDB)
Taped Information Phone Service (TIPS)

UMASS SKI CLUB PRESENTS
THE GREAT SKI SNATCH
OVER $1,500,000 WORTH OF TOP NAME WINTER CLOTHING & SKI EQUIPMENT
PRICES THIS LOW SHOULD BE OUTLAWED
NOV 17 - 19
Thur. / Fri. HIGH NOON TIL 10 P.M.
Sat. 9AM TIL 3PM
STUDENT UNION BALLROOM UMASS, AMHERST

Evan John and the H Bombs play Pearl Street Friday.

B.A.L.L. blast it at Hampshire Sat.

By GRAEME THOMSON
Collegian Correspondent

Get ready for the completely evil sound of B.A.L.L., the new kings of grungy 70s psychedelic noise, who play Hampshire College this coming Saturday night.

The New York outfit who recently released their second album, Bird, on the Shimmy Disc label are renowned for their unique brand of classic rock "deconstruction;" side two of Bird is a complete "reworking"— "working over" would be a better word — of the Concert for Bangladesh, on which many rock legends, including Dylan and Ringo Starr, are mercilessly butchered by these insane people. Who are these insane people?

Guitarist, Don Fleming has been known to play with The Velvet Monkeys and Half Japanese, while Kramer is basically Shimmy Disc's house drummer. David Licht, B.A.L.L.'s other drummer, can be found thumping the tubs on the latest King Missile album, where you'll once again find Kramer rearing his ugly head among the credits.

Supporting B.A.L.L. at Hampshire on Saturday are Galaxie 500, who are basically just your average jangly guitar band, a bit like the Chesterfields or the B.M.X. Bandits. But don't let that put you off going to see one of the weirdest bands to emerge from the underground this year. Believe me, you'll have a B.A.L.L.

LINGERIE
The intimate side of a woman...
Just between the two of you...
She'll Remember... So don't forget...
gazebo
14 Center St., Northampton

Thursday Night is Student Night at Burger King
BURGER KING
Present school ID and receive 10 % off purchase not good with any other offer.
OFFER GOOD 4 p.m. to Midnight
King Street Northampton Rt. 9 Hadley
Offer Expires 12/16/88

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
Your chance to get ahead now.
Earn 3 Credits in 3 Weeks!
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Winter Session
Mail Registration—November 12-December 14
All mail registrations must be sent via U.S. mail and be postmarked no earlier than November 12. (Do not use campus mail.)
Walk-in Registration—
November 28-January 6
Room 615 Goodell Building
Registrations are processed in the order in which they are received, so register early!
Classes start January 4, 1989.
For more information, contact the Division of Continuing Education, Goodell Building, or call 545-2414.

The question everyone is asking...
WHAT IS THE BUSH BASH?
SKIING: 5 day lift ticket on 2 mountains with 68 trails as easy as you like and as difficult as you can handle.
ENTERTAINMENT: 26 exciting restaurants and bars, including The Wonder bar at the mountain with a step off the slopes happy hour, The Blue Tooth with live entertainment, Barbeques and Condo Happy Hours.
LODGING: 5 luxury condo accomodations at the Bridges includes: indoor pool, saunas, tennis, nautilus, squash, exercise classses, game room, and every condo includes TV, kitchenette and fire place.
With all this - you may not even make it to the slopes. So now the question is....WHY HAVEN'T YOU RESERVED YOUR SPOT?
$40.00 Reservation deposit which goes toward the total cost of $235 Non-members welcome for an addtional $10. Lessons and rentals available.
SUGARBUSH BUSH BASH
RESERVE NOW!!! CONTACT UMASS Ski Club 430 Student Union Bldg 545-3437
JAN. 22-27

GAIN REAL EXPERIENCE WRITING FOR

The Massachusetts Daily

COLLEGIAN

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE NEWSPAPER

OPPORTUNITIES IN:

- ARTS
- BLACK AFFAIRS
- EDITORIAL
- NEWS
- PHOTOGRAPHY
- SPORTS
- WOMEN'S ISSUES

COME DOWN TO THE NEWSROOM
113 CAMPUS CENTER
AND FIND OUT ABOUT IT

We Build Careers.

Dream Syndicate play Pearl Street Tuesday.

Romeo's Daughter's debut gives British group a promising start

By KAREN KITSON
Collegian Correspondent

Romeo's Daughter
Romeo's Daughter
Columbia

Two and a half years of experimenting, rehearsing, and struggling to get it right have finally paid off for the rock group Romeo's Daughter.

This British trio's self-titled debut album is bound to be a ground-breaking success.

Craig Joiner, the group's guitarist and background vocalist exhibits his writing talents on the album. Joiner's insight shines through in his ability to create songs from a female point of view.

Joiner was originally paired up with Romeo's Daughter's keyboardist, Tony Mitman in a singer/guitarist and keyboardist duo, Arctic Fox. Convinced of their talent and perspective, the team's manager encouraged them to perfect their songwriting and style. The two men knew they were missing something. Leigh Matty, a virtual unknown, was the perfect addition. Matty has a singing style all her own. She has what it takes to stand out from the crowd of female vocalists. Matty's voice has the power and sensitivity to bring Joiner's music to life. The addition of Leigh Matty gave Arctic Fox a new style and identity, as well as a new name.

The music of Romeo's Daughter blends classic and contemporary rock music styles to form a new and distinctive whole. The group radiates feeling in all their songs, such as the powerful "Don't Break My Heart" (slated to be their first single), the lovely "I Like What I See," and the seductive "Heaven in the Back Seat."

The album was completed in less than four months, but the songs were at such an advanced stage when recording commenced that there was no need to fuss over them. The combination of Joiner's songs and Matty's voice seems to come from a single source, "a marriage of true minds indeed."

Romeo's Daughter are bound to be a grand new force in the rock arena. Their debut album is bound to make a groundbreaking impact they can sustain and expand.

"Why Should I Register...
... For Peer Education Programs?
Let Me Count The Whys.

1. I can earn three academic credits.
2. It can help me to meet lots of people.
3. It can help me to improve areas of my own health.
4. It can improve my chances of getting a job, because I will represent the University Health Services.
5. It will teach me skills valuable in any career like leading a workshop, giving a presentation and developing marketing strategies.
6. It can really help me be part of a team working to improve UMass.
7. It will teach me about important public health issues likes sexually transmitted diseases and AIDS, alcohol issues, cardiovascular illness, cancer, accident prevention, eating disorders, stress and consumer health.
8. In short, it might be the most important course I take while I'm a student at UMass.

Public Health 216 - Tues. 2:30-5pm. Peer Health Promotion Focuses on a variety of health issues, one semester, just register.

Public Health 213 - Wed. 2:30-5pm. Peer Sexuality Education 2 semester commitment, call 549-2671 ext 181 for permission of instructor

Edu 291 D Wed. 2:30-5pm. Peer Alcohol Education 2 semester commitment, call 549-2671 ext. 181 for permission of instructor.

ACADEMY of MUSIC Opera House on the park • northampton, massachusetts

ONLY AREA SHOWING HELD OVER A 2nd WEEK
CURTAIN AT 6:45 and 9:00

"ONE OF THE BEST FILMS OF THE YEAR." - Roger Ebert, SNEAK A THUMB & THE MOVIES

"REMARKABLY GOOD... SURPRISINGLY CHEERING... Mira Nair is a new film maker to watch." - Vincent Canby, NEW YORK TIMES

"ONE OF THE BEST FILMS OF THE YEAR." - Jay Carr, BOSTON GLOBE

"TERRIFICALLY WELL ACTED AND BEAUTIFULLY FILMED... an auspicious feature film debut." - David Sterritt, CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

SALAAM BOMBAY!
Cinecom

"THE ONE INDISPUTABLE MASTERPIECE OF ALL THE FILMS RELEASED SO FAR IN 1988." - Charles Taylor, BOSTON PHOENIX

★★★★ "A STUNNING ACHIEVEMENT." - Jack Kroll, NEWSWEEK

"STUNNING AND POWERFUL... may well be called India's '400 Blows'...a brilliantly achieved fiction film." - Sheila Benson, LOS ANGELES TIMES

AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

ATTENTION
WINTER SESSION STUDENTS

ENGLISH 112 PLACEMENT TEST

For students planning to take English 112 during Winter Session 1989

Test will be administered

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1988
7 p.m., Room 206, Bartlett Hall

No one will be admitted into English 112 without this test. Bring ID and pen or pencil. This test is administered free of charge.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

LADYSMITH BLACK MAMBAZO

"South Africa's Grammy Award-winning Vocal Group"
with special guest
Karla Bonoff

Tues. Nov. 22 - 8 pm
FAC Concert Hall
Tickets: $16, 14, 12

Five college students ½-price ☐ Box Office 545-2511

THE FINE ARTS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Photo by David Higashiguchi

STRUMMIN' AWAY — UMass sophomore Matt Flynn plays his guitar in a stairwell of Butterfield dormitory.

Proposed buyers of stadium testify

BOSTON (AP) — Prospective Sullivan Stadium buyers Robert Kraft and Steve Karp testified Wednesday that they would pour as much money as necessary into the property to keep it operating as home of the New England Patriots.

The testimony came on the third day of hearings in US Bankruptcy Court on objections to the proposed purchase of the property by Kraft and Karp for $25 million.

Chief Justice James Gabriel gave no indication Wednesday when he might reach a decision on the two competing bids for the Foxboro home of the National Football League's Patriots.

Kraft and Karp, under the corporate name K-Corp., submitted a bid of $25 million in cash when sealed bids were opened Friday. Then new majority owner of the Patriots, Victor Kiam II, was joined by partners Francis Murray and William Sullivan Jr. in submitting a bid of $19.85 million in cash and more than $7 million in other considerations.

Kraft, who owns a paper manufacturing firm and a controlling interest in the holding company for Boston television station WNEV-TV, said he and Karp will set up a firm to manage the stadium if his bid is accepted. The firm, Foxboro Stadium Associates, would have $30 million in assetts, $3 million in equity, and $5 million in working capital after the purchase is completed, he said.

He also said he would have enough capital to continue operation of the stadium "as long as everyone pays their bills."

Daniel Carragher, attorney for Kiam, was unsuccessful in efforts to determine whether Kraft's bid would involve any payments for debts or repairs at the stadium that predate the bid. His questions were met with repeated objections, all sustained by Gabriel.

Creditors are owned more than $52 million by the prior owner, Stadium Management Corp., which declared bankruptcy.

Robert Caporale, attorney for court-appointed stadium trustee Stanley Miller, asked Kraft if he wanted the Patriots as a tenant. "Absolutely," Kraft replied.

Karp, a Boston-area real estate entrepreneur, was asked only to give his personal business background and was not cross-examined.

In an interview after his testimony, Kraft said he expected Kiam to live up to terms of the existing lease.

"We know our obligations and I'm sure Mr. Kiam will too," Kraft said. "He's an honorable man and we look forward to working with him."

NOW OPEN in South Amherst
South Towne Commons
LAUNDROMAT
Proudly to serve you with New State of the Art Machines
OPEN 7 DAYS 7AM - 10PM
479 WEST ST. SOUTH AMHERST

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
No. Amherst 549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

James H. McManus eating place
OPEN 24 HOURS OPEN 24 HOURS
•BREAKFAST SERVED ANY TIME
•OPEN 6 A.M. - 3 A.M. SUNDAY - THURSDAY
•OPEN 24 HOURS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
•BEER AND WINE SERVED 'TIL MIDNIGHT
•PLENTY OF PARKING
CAMPUS PLAZA
Route 9 next to Super Stop & Shop
HADLEY/AMHERST 256-6889
We now accept Mastercard and Visa
Employment Applications Being Taken

DISTINGUISHED FACULTY LECTURE SERIES

You are cordially invited to attend
a special lecture by
Ring T. Cardé
of the Department of Entomology
entitled
"Insects and the Language of Smell"

Mankind's interpretation of how animals communicate assumes that we can decipher their signals. Yet there is a rich array of information to which we are not attuned. Among insects, ultraviolet light, ultrasound, and a myriad of odors provide messages to which we are not privy. Of the 1,200,000 known species of insects, more than half use scents to find and identify a mate. Odor communication constitutes the most sensitive chemical detection system known.

University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Bowker Auditorium, November 10, 1988
8 p.m.

Reception immediately following, Campus Center 10th Floor

Sponsored by contributions from alumni of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Pearl Street NORTHAMPTON, MA
10 PEARL ST
Fri & Sat DANCING DJ ROLAND
Sat 8 pm sharp COMEDY CLUB
Iron Horse Fishbone 11/10, Neville Bros. 11/19

THE UNIVERSAL JOINT
Every Tues. BLUES JAM w/WMUA's Blue Bill 8:30 pm $0
Thur. Nov 10 LOOSE CABOOSE (Fishbone upstairs)
Fri. Nov. 11 EVAN JOHNS & THE H-BOMBS 8:30 pm $5 "A Dixie fried Madman of the frets, a beer drinkin; hell raisin', Trashed out son of the south." Houston Chronicle; A mixture of Tex-Mex, rockabilly, R & B funk & dance music. The cream of Austin TX roots rock explosion.
Sat. Nov. 12 COMEDY 8pm sharp Featuring N.Y., Boston and L.A.'s finest.
MIGHTY SAM McCLAIN & THE THUNDER SOUL REVIEW New Orleans soul singer making internationally acclaimed comeback from a decade of hiatus. Strong live reviews across the country. Ceaseless comparisons to Al Green 10:00 pm $6
Sun. Nov. 13 THE SLICK BOY... Postponed until further notice ... 8:30 pm 18+ $4
DUMPTRUCK (11/17) O POSITIVE (11/19) THE NEIGHBORHOODS (11/25)
RONNIE EARL (11/26) JAMES COTTON (12/1) BARRENCE (12/2)
TREAT HER RIGHT (12/9) THE SCREAMING TRIBESMEN (12/12)
The U-Joint downstairs at Pearl Street. Northampton 413-584-7771

Isle of Mykonos
Greek Restaurant
El Greco Pizza
Serving Authentic Greek Food
Moussaka
Spanakopitakia
Baklava
Also Serving Whole Wheat Pizza
Try our specialties-
Fresh Spinach
Fresh Broccoli
Eggplant
Pineapple
Call 253-9239
TAKE OUT OR DINE IN
Call 256-4196
460 West St., South Amherst
Beer & Wine Served
M, T & W 10% off w/ID Faculty and Student Discount (minimum order $5.00)
LUNCH: 11-3 PM DINNER: 3-10 PM MON.-SAT. SUN. 4-9 PM

■See Dukakis, pg.2

decision to name the architect of his campaign, James A Baker III, to be the new secretary of state. "I believe in the redemption of souls," he said.

Dukakis returned to his office in the Massachusetts Statehouse yesterday and immediately began meeting with his staff. He also called successful congressional candidates to congratulate them on their election triumphs, according to Dukakis spokesman Steve Crawford.

It was a scene reminiscent of the day followig Dukakis' loss in the 1978 democratic gubernatorial primary in Massachusetts.

"This campaign has not been just about Mike Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen. It's been about all of us and the values and ideals that we share," the democratic nominee said Tuesday night in a concession speech shortly after polls closed on the West Coast.

Flanked by his family, Dukakis acknowledged Bush's victory and promised to work with the republican president-elect.

But in a forceful re-statement of the populist themes that animated his campaign in its closing weeks, he said his is an unfinished agenda - and he urged his followers to devote themselves to it.

"We've got to fight for that young family in Levitown on Long Island, NY, that wants to buy a home in the community in which they grew up and can't afford it," Dukakis said. "We've got to fight for that family in Sioux City, Iowa, that can't afford health insurance to pay the bills for its young son. We've got to fight for those high school students in Los Angeles who are saying 'no' to drugs and yes to their future.

"We've got to open up that door of college opportunity to every young person in this country who is qualified to do college work. We've got to fight to the end the shame of homelessness in this county and this great and good nation ought to be able to to that," he said.

"We're going to continue to fight with you and with the American people so that every citizen in this country can be a full shareholder in the American dream."

AP Photo

Massachusetts Governor Michael S. Dukakis back at work yesterday at the Statehouse in Boston, the day after he was defeated in his bid for the presidency by George Bush.

SHEEHAN'S CAFE NORTHAMPTON
Thursday, Nov. 10 VANTAGE BLUE
Friday, Nov. 11 Will Smokey Logg and the Flamethrowers
Saturday, Nov. 12 P.S.D. (Pajama Slave Dancers)
Monday, Nov. 14 Lil' Frankie and the Premiers
Wednesday, Nov. 16 Minibus Sandwich
For More info., 585-5149
(4 PLEASANT N.HAMP. 585-7749 24)

UNDOUBTEDLY Udelicious AT THE HAMPSHIRE MALL

"WHEN WE GROW UP WE'LL BE OFF THE MEAL PLAN!"

For Healthier Skin
Facials
Deep Pore Cleansing Facials
Lash & Brow Tinting
Hair Removal with Warm Wax
Lip • Brow Shaping • Chin
Bikini Line • Legs
Gift Certificates Available
Licensed Aesthetician
AESTHETICS
EUROPEAN SKIN CARE for Men and Women
34 Main Street, Amherst
253-9879

Council Travel
DON'T WAIT BOOK NOW FOR THE HOLIDAYS!
From NEW YORK — one way / round trip
LONDON 179
PARIS 229
ROME 259
CARACAS 320
ST. THOMAS 260
HONGKONG 739
Taxes not included
Also: Work-Study Abroad, Language Courses, Int'l Student ID, Youth Hostel Passes, EURAIL Passes issued on the spot!
call for the FREE CIEE Student Travel Catalog!
413-256-1261
AMHERST
79 So. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

HAPPY 21st Birthday Janine Zimnoch

Nov. 13

From the stocking stuffer to the big gift . . . MARVEL® COMICS AND BOOKS Available at:
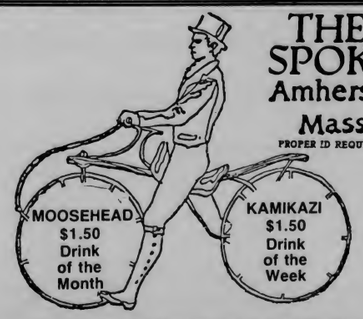
Same Bat Channel
All your comic book needs!
POSTERS! GAMES!
BASEBALL CARDS!
Hampshire Mall, Route 9
586-8775
TM & © 1988 Marvel Entertainment Group, Inc. All rights reserved.

Main St RECORDS
DANCE
The area's largest selection of imported 12" singles.
New titles daily
Monday-Wednesday 9:30-6:00
Thursday-Saturday 9:30-9:00
Sunday 12:00-5:00
213 Main Street, Northampton, Massachusetts 586-5726



THE SPOKE
Amherst, Mass.
PROPER ID REQUIRED
A DRINKERY, TO MEET, RELAX & ENJOY.
35 EAST PLEASANT ST AMHERST

Scott's
6 University Drive at Newmarket Center
Amherst, MA
LIQUORS
Open: Mon.-Sat. 8 a.m.-11 p.m. 549-2692
Foster's, 25 oz. cans $1.75 + Dep.
Schaefer, 12-pk. $4.39 + Dep.
Grolsch, 12 oz. bottles $13.99 + Dep.
Becks, 6-pk. cans $3.99 + Dep.
Captain Morgan, 1.0 ltr. $7.99
Piels Refills, 12 oz. $6.99 + Dep.
Stolichnaya 80°, 750 ml. $10.99
Jack Daniels, 750 ml. $9.99
We Want to be YOUR Liquor Store

■field hockey ready for quarterfinal match

continued from page 24

won, 3-2, on a poorly conditioned field and a questionable call by the official.

The one common factor in all these games is a very big one. All four of those games were played at the University of Connecticut.

But now, should UConn beat the Terriers on Saturday, UMass will have the the Huskies right where they wan't them, on the friendly confines of Totman Field.

"I think those games are a little misleading," Hixon said. "The games have always been amazing. We have lost on penalty strokes, three overtimes. The hardest thing for us was always having to play away."

The Minutewomen will not be away this weekend. After winning the Atlantic 10 Championship last weekend, they were given a bye in the preliminary round by the NCAA and also a home game.

"We've worked so hard to make an opportunity to play at home that I think its going to be a big mental advantage," Hix or said."I think just being at home in comfortable surroundings will really help us."

Now that the Minutewomen have got what they wanted, it's time for them to get down to business. Connecticut has been a hot team as of late. After a relatively slow start, the Huskies have won 11 of their last 12 games and their last six in a row.

UConn's attack contains three very dangerous scorers. Senior captain Diane Madl leads the team in scoring with 10 goals and 6 assists. Sophomore Dana Fuchs and Junior Pam DeGray each have scored 10 goals and one assist.

If the Minutewomen do end up playing UConn, they will have to find a way to break sophomore goaltender Megan Tiley. Tiley has registered a 0.75 goals against average this season.

Scoring goals has not been a problem all season for UMass. It was shutout in one game during the season, but that was to Old Dominion University, the No. 1 team in the country.

The UMass offense could hinge on the status of senior Tonia Kennedy. Kennedy, UMass' leading goal scorer with 12, pulled a hamstring in a game against Boston University almost three weeks ago and has missed UMass' last three games. Hixon lists her as probable for this weekend.

UMass' leading scorer, junior Kathy DeAngelis with 11 goals and three assists, is healthy and UConn will have to stop her as well as senior co-captain Ruth Vasapolli (4, 7), and freshman Dawn Trumbauer (6, 2).

Should Kennedy be unable to play on Sunday, Hixon has two very dangerous forwards she can bring off the bench to start for her.

Sophomore Elise McDevitt has seen a lot of minutes off the bench this season and has also filled in for Kennedy while she has been hurt. McDevitt has scored five goals.

Another option is Mara Frattasio, who has seen a lot of time off the bench this year and has scored six goals and two assists.

Whichever team plays UMass will also have to stop UMass' penalty corner. Senior Julie Stuart has scored a majority of her seven goals off slap shots from the top of the circle on the penalty corner. Vasapolli usually is the one that sets her up.

Senior Cindy Cox will get the call in goal for the Minutewomen on Sunday. Cox has appeared in all 20 of UMass' games and has given up just nine goals. UMass appears ready for this game.

"I think having the Atlantic 10 tournament last week helped us," Hixon said. "That put us into the playoff mode. This is something that this team has looked forward to since last season so I can't imagine them being complacent."

UMass will also have to be ready if they play Northeastern. The Huskies will be back to avenge their loss from earlier in the season.

NU has three dangerous scorers. Senior Ann Mucera (15, 4), junior Andrea Topping (5, 10), and senior Jenine Fisher (5, 10) have paced the Huskies' offense.

After a grueling 20 game schedule, the Minutewomen don't need much more practice. They know what they have to do.

"I've told my team that after Sunday, it is a new season," Hixon said. "We've just got to put everything on the line for that one 70 minute shot."

That one 70 minute shot could boost UMass right into the Final Four.

■women's soccer to meet with Wisconsin

continued from page 24

better shape for Sunday's contest, and then the Badgers will get their chance to show UMass what they are made of.

UMass coach Jim Rudy knows that the Minutewomen are going to be put to the test.

"Their basic method is that they try to outwork you. They get by by working harder," Rudy said. "They don't have a lot of tricks. They play straight forward, and there's not a lot of place changing or overlapping on the field."

"We're expecting a very physical game," Ryan said. "We were at UMass for the last game of last season (a 3-1 UMass win), and that was a physical game."

Accoding to Rudy, these Badgers are pretty much the same team that visited Amherst last November in the only previous meeting between the two teams.

"They're basically the same as last year, except that they're more fit and they have a higher work rate," Rudy said.
